Miss Watson Weds Belton Man Mon.

Pretty Church Wedding Culminates Romance Of College Days

A romance which had its inception while Miss Gussie Watson was a student in Baylor College at Belton culminated in the wedding here Monday evening of Miss Watson to Henry Hugh Carden of Belton. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a large crowd of friends at the Methodist Church at 8 o'clock. Rev. J. H. Meredith officiating.

The church was beautifully decorated with smilax, fern and pink gladioli. Long streamers of fern and smilax hung from the choir arch and baskets of gladioli, ferns and other greenery formed a colorful bank around the chancel, with four candelabra flanking the rostrum. The nuptial arch was entwined with ferns and smilax and dotted with pink gladioli.

W. T. Childress, Richard Flowers, Marshall Montgomery and Ele Hagelstein were the ushers. John Pierce Bloomer of Belton acted as best man.

The bridesmaids were in costume dress, their gowns being of flowered net over silk crepe, with large taffeta bows in the back falling to the bottom of the skirts, with slippers to match each costume. Each bridesmaid carried large arm bouquets of pink gladioli.

The first bridesmaid to enter was Miss Helen Watson of Sanderson, a college friend of the bride, in pink and Miss Mildred North in green. Then came Misses Lucille Ingham in pink and Miss Beulah Baggett in green.

Next came the junior maid of honor, Mrs. Tommy Hunter in apricot net over yellow crepe, with a large yellow taffeta bow in the back, and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. The maid of honor was Miss Wanda Watson, only sister of the bride, in a yellow creation of flowered net over yellow silk crepe. She carried an arm bouquet of pink gladioli. The next to enter was the flower girl, little Miss Jamie Chapman in a pleated pink chiffon with a basket of rose petals to scatter in the path of the bride.

The bride entered on the arm of her father. She wore a dress of embroidered marquisette and her veil was fitted on the head in bandeau effect, with rosettes on each side with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Victor Pierce played Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus for the wedding march and the Melody of Love during the ceremony. She was dressed in pink chiffon with a shoulder bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Joe Pierce sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony. Mrs. Victor Pierce playing the accompaniment Mrs. Joe Pierce was dressed in orchid chiffon and wore a corsage of pink rose buds.

The bride's mother wore a grey georgette gown with a corsage of pink roses.

The bride's going-away dress was navy and egg shell, with a navy georgette coat and accessories of egg shell. The young couple will spend their honeymoon in Galveston and New Orleans and will be at home in Belton after July 1. Mr. Carden is connected with the Belton National Bank.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Watson. She graduated from the Ozona High School and from Baylor College at Belton last year.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were George Carden of Laredo, a brother of the groom, Miss Helen Watson of Sanderson and John Pierce Bloomer of Belton.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately after the wedding.

Mrs. H. A. Moore suffered a broken arm Wednesday when she fell on the concrete sidewalk near Moore's Cafe while roller skating. She was taken to San Angelo where an X-Ray examination showed a double fracture.

Advertising Tour Of West Texas Towns, Interest Of Rodeo

Driving a car supporting a huge sign advertising the fifth annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet and Stock Show in Ozona, July 3, 4 and 5 and laden with literature advertising the same event, Taylor Word left early Thursday morning on a tour of West Texas towns in the interest of the local celebration.

Mr. Word will be on hand for the horse show, race meet and celebration in Menard Thursday and Friday and then will start on a tour of some fifteen West Texas towns, passing out circulars, programs, books, posters and other advertising matter.

This is a brand new method of advertising the Ozona celebration adopted this year. It is expected to be of considerable aid in bringing one of the largest crowds ever in attendance here this year.

Hughes Given Option On 6,000,000 Pound Pool 8-Months Wool

D. E. Hughes, representative of Studley & Emory of Boston, was granted an option to purchase the six million pound pool of eight months wool of the Texas Wool & Mohair Warehouse Association at a sealed bid offering here yesterday.

How many bids were offered and the price at which this option was obtained were not made public. The best price paid this year for short wool has been 25 cents a pound while the general average for all wools this season has been about 25 cents a pound, eight to 10 cents a pound under prices of last season. The option, it is said, expires today noon.

It is generally believed that some disposition will be made of the pool today, either by sale or consignment. The sales committee is Robert Massie, A. C. Schreiner and C. C. Belcher. They represent the bulk of the warehouses of the state.

The Brackett clip of eight month wool, about 25,000 pounds, has been sold to Mr. Hughes. Mr. Peterson planned to attend the sale but was prevented from so doing by high water.

T. A. Kincaid, president of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas, arrived in town from Baltimore with Mrs. Kincaid and was at the sale. Ad Harvick of Ozona, C. C. Belcher of Del Rio, G. B. Wardlaw of Del Rio, Jim Henderson of this city, Fred Thalman, of Bandera, Robert Blum of Fredericksburg, W. P. Riley of Junction, Walker Ragsdale and M. O. Grooms of Rocksprings, A. G. Schreiner of Kerrville, E. F. Vanderstucken of Sonora, Frank Montague of Bandera, were among those in for the sale.—S. A. Times

FATHER OF OZONA WOMAN DIES IN ANGELO

T. R. Nesbit, 79, for many years connected with the Orient railroad, died at 10:10 o'clock last night at the residence, 124 West Avenue B. He had been a resident of the state for the last 50 years and a resident of San Angelo for four years.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock this afternoon from the Robert Massie Chapel with the Rev. Warren E. Starnes officiating. Burial will be in Fairmount Cemetery.

Survivors include the widow, three daughters, Mrs. P. B. Elliott of San Angelo; Mrs. A. C. Metcalfe of Ozona, and Miss Jess Nesbit, secretary to the city manager; and four brothers, Clyde D. T. G. J. W., and W. B., all of San Angelo and all employed by the Santa Fe railroad company.

Mr. Nesbit was a member of the Church of Christ and of the Women of the World at Santa Anna.—S. A. Times.

Mrs. L. L. Bewley and Edith Bewley are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Adams in Ft. Stockton.

Mrs. Edgar Schwarz and young son will return to their home Friday after spending the week with her father, Robert Cooke.

Auction Sheep For Cemetery

John K. Madsen Offers Donation Here During Rodeo

Again the Cemetery Association of Ozona will profit from the proceeds from the auction sale of a registered Rambouillet sheep to be sold in the ring here during the fifth annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet and Stock Show July 3, 4 and 5.

A yearling ram, "Royal Mixer" No. 4149B, has been donated by John K. Madsen of Mt. Pleasant, Utah, to the Cemetery Association for auction sale during the celebration here, according to a letter received by Mrs. B. B. Ingham, chairman of the association, from Mr. Madsen. Mrs. Ingham, who is in St. Louis at the bedside of her husband and daughter, Miss Jessie Ingham, notified Joe Pierce, president of the fair association, of the donation in a letter received here this week.

The ram donated was sired by a Madsen ram and is a good animal, according to information given Mrs. Ingham. The total proceeds from the sale will go into the treasury of the Cemetery Association.

Lions To Install Officers June 30

Club Employs Nurse To Care For Sick At Luxton Home

New officers of the Ozona Lions Club, elected at last week's meeting of the club, will be installed with special ceremonies the last meeting in June, on Monday, June 30, it was announced Monday at the club luncheon by President M. M. Fulmer.

Although the new officers will be installed at that meeting they will not assume their duties until the following week.

The club Monday voted to pay $17.50 for the employ of a nurse to care for the family of Bud Luxton during the illness of the mother and children recently.

Discussion during the meeting this week turned to the need for organization of a charity body in Ozona to take care of the numerous calls which come during a year.

His suggestion was acted upon some time ago and a committee appointed by the president outlined a plan of creating a representative body to serve as charity administrators of the city and to raise a sufficient fund by popular subscription to take care of the needs for the year. A representative of the Lions Club was appointed to membership on this board but the plan was not carried out. It will be discussed further, however, after the rodeo and if a practical plan can be devised such an organization will be perfected.

Pierce Sells 4,000 Head Of Lambs For $5.50 To Will Miller

Vic Pierce has contracted 4,000 head of lambs to Will Miller of Ozona at $5.50 a head. Delivery will be made in September.

This is one of the first sales of the 1930 lamb crop reported in Crockett County. Mr. Pierce will cut back about 400 head of ewe lambs.

Million Dollar Bond Issue At Stockton Carries By 709 To 37

FORT STOCKTON, June 14.—The million dollar road bond issue for Pecos county here today carried by a vote of 709 to 37. The Old Spanish Trail, Highways 67 and 82, and other highways in the county are to be paved with the proceeds augmented by Federal and state aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Pleas Childress are installing a central heating plant in their home.

Old Timers Take Another Drubbing At Giants' Hands

The "usta wuz" baseball players of Ozona took another drubbing at the hands of the Ozona Giants on the local diamond last Friday afternoon to the tune of 9 to 4. A fairly good crowd was on hand to witness the battle and to add to the fund being raised by a series of seven games between the Old Timers and the Giants for the purpose of erecting a grandstand at Powell Field.

This was the fifth game of the scheduled seven game series. The sixth game will be played at Powell Field Friday afternoon of this week beginning at 5:30 o'clock.

Murphy To Speak In Ozona June 25 In Interest Campaign

E. E. (Pat) Murphy of San Angelo, candidate for Congress from this district, is scheduled to deliver an address in the interest of his campaign in Ozona on Wednesday, June 25, at 8:30 p.m., according to notice of his itinerary sent out from campaign headquarters in San Angelo this week.

Mr. Murphy is on a return trip from El Paso where he invaded the camp of his opponents last week, after speaking in towns along the T. & P. Railroad. His schedule on the return trip includes speeches at Sierra Blanca, Van Horn, Balmorhea, Ft. Davis, Valentine, Marfa, Presidio, Alpine, Marathon, Sanderson, Del Rio, Comstock and Ozona.

Ozona Teams Win In Double Header

Campers Drub Sherwood 6-2; Giants Win 11-4 Over Junction

The home town did itself proud on the baseball diamond here Sunday afternoon by taking both winning scores in a double header at Powell Field. Mike Couch's Campers won easily over a team from Sherwood in a five-inning tilt preceding the main game of the afternoon between the Ozona Giants and the Junction Firemen. The score of the first game was 6 to 1.

The Giant-Firemen tilt was slated as the lead-off affair of the afternoon, but the Junction team did not arrive until late on account of high water in draws between here and Sonora. They went into the game wet to their waists, having waded the swollen draws and pushed their cars across.

The Giants showed marked improvement with the stick pounding the ball all over the lot to chalk up a total of 11 runs to Junction's 4.

Local fans experienced a sinking feeling in the opening of the game when two visiting batters got on and the third slammed out a three-base hit, scoring his two teammates. But the Giants relieved the situation when they came to bat in the same inning by driving in four counters. The first three batters up duplicated the feat of the three Junction batsmen, Frank and Claude Russell hitting safely and Red Greer bringing them in with a three-base wallop. Vernon Cox then bunted to score Red Greer and was himself safe on first. He then stole everything in sight, including second, third and home for the fourth tally of the inning.

In the second frame a Junction batter hit a long fly to right field which was barely fair and circled the bases while fielders looked on, thinking the ball was a foul. The Giants then scored two more in the fourth on a succession of hits off the bats of Jack Sharp, Bill Grimmer and W. T. Childress. The seventh became a riot when Giant batsmen again went wild and pounded the Junction pitcher out of the box, scoring another four runs. Junction squeezed over another in the eighth, while the locals did as well, the game ending 11 to 4 when the visitors failed to count in the ninth.

BALLOT ORDER FOR PRIMARY IS ARRANGED

Executive Committee In Session Monday Fixes Place On Ballot

SLATE COMPLETE

No New Candidates For Co. Offices As Time Limit Expires

Members of the Crockett County Democratic Executive Committee met Monday morning to arrange by lot the order in which candidates for state, district and county offices would appear on the official ballot and to assess candidates the fees necessary to take care of the expense of holding the Democratic primary election on July 26, and a run-off primary if one is necessary.

The executive committee is composed of Houston Smith, chairman, John Young, Paul Perner, Ewart White and John Bailey. The order in which the names of all candidates will appear on the ballots is determined separately in each county by lot.

There being three candidates in the race for tax assessor of Crockett County, the executive committee left up to a majority decision of these candidates as to whether or not a majority or a simple plurality would elect. A majority of the candidates favored a run-off if one of the candidates did not receive a clear majority and this rule will hold. Candidates have until July 2 to file their expense accounts with the Democratic chairman.

Following is the complete official ballot as it will appear in this county unless some of the candidates withdraw from the race before the ballots are printed:

For United States Senator—C. A. Michener of Irion County, Morris Sheppard of Bowie County, Robert L. Henry of Harris County.

For Governor—Earl B. Mayfield of Bosque County, C. E. Walker of Tarrant County, C. C. Moody of Tarrant County, Paul Loven of Comal County, Barry Miller of Dallas County, Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock County, Frank Putnam of Harris County, Thos. B. Love of Dallas County, James Young of Travis County, Clint C. Small of Collingsworth County, Miriam A. Ferguson of Travis County, Lynch Davidson of Harris County.

For Lieutenant Governor—Sterling P. Strong of Dallas County, J. D. Farnell of Wichita County, Virgil E. Arnold of Harris County, H. L. Darwin of Lamar County, J. F. Hair of Bexar County, Edgar Witt of McLennan County.

For Attorney General—Robert Lee Bobbitt of Webb County, Cecil Storey of Wilbarger County, James V. Allred of Wichita County, Ernest Becker of Dallas County.

For State Comptroller of Public Accounts—George L. Sheppard of Nolan County, Arthur L. Mills of McLennan County.

For State Treasurer—J. R. Ball of Fannin County, Charley Lockhart of Travis County, Ed A. Christian of Bexar County, Walter C. Clark of Travis County, John E. Davis of Dallas County.

For State Superintendent of Public Instruction—S. M. N. Marrs of Travis County.

For Commissioner of Agriculture—J. E. McDonald of Ellis County, Edwin Waller of Hays County, A. H. King of Throckmorton County, H. L. (Hub) Maddux of Cherokee County, Robert L. Freeman of Hill County, R. M. West of Grimes County.

For Commissioner of General Land Office—J. H. Walker of Hill County, C. E. Johnson of Hale County, Jockie W. Burks of Travis County.

For State Railroad Commissioner—W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas County, H. C. Johnson of Harris County, Pat M. Neff of McLennan County, Nat Patton of Houston County.

For Chief Justice of Supreme

BANKS
A. P. Giannini told a Congressional committee the other day that branch banking would eventually supersede the present system of independent banks in the United States, as it has done in Canada and largely in England. Small villages, he said, cannot support a bank with sufficient resources to meet the growing industrial needs of small towns.

Mr. Giannini is probably right. There are good-sized cities in the United States whose progress has been held back by lack of adequate local banking capital and by the narrow outlook of local bankers. The prejudice against "chain" ownership of any kind of business extends to banks as well as to stores, but as in the case of chain stores, the remedy is in the hands of the community. Independent banks, like retailers, can compete with "chain" institutions if they will adopt the modern methods of the chains and provide themselves with sufficient resources to make competition effective.

CRIPPLES
One of the things which we are beginning to learn is that the worst thing we can do for a person who has been disabled by disease or accident is to coddle him or her, and the best thing that can be done is to train the remaining faculties to useful work.

The Veterans Bureau has finished its rehabilitation work with men who were injured in the World War, and reports that every man who is capable of any sort of work is now at work somewhere. But the Federal Government is cooperating with the states to provide the same sort of rehabilitation training for victims of industrial accidents and of crippling diseases like infantile paralysis. Only a few states are giving cooperation but in those surprising results have been achieved.

Leaving out the benefit to society by not having to support the cripple in idleness, there is a definite value to the injured person in the discovery that he is still able to earn a living.

STUPIDITY
Customs officials in Seattle recently seized 120 copies of a German medical book, imported by a Seattle dealer for sale to the medical men of the Northwest. The ground for the seizure was that the contents of the book were "indicate." The book is a learned treatise on biology, which word is merely a technical term meaning "life."

Life, apparently, is indelicate, in the eyes of the United States Customs. But human life only. Nobody tries to suppress books which deal with the breeding of livestock dogs or poultry. Only when a book suggests that the life processes of human beings are similar to those of other animals do well-meaning but stupid officials interfere.

LOWDOWN

Victor V. Green runs what he calls "The Most Low-Down Paper on Earth." Its title is the Coachela Valley Submarine and it is published at Coachela, Riverside County, California, 76 feet below sea level.

Editor Green has a sense of humor, as is evidenced by the subtitle of his paper. He also has a sense of responsibility to his thriving agricultural community, as the local news in the "Submarine" clearly shows.

There are other valleys in California the bottoms of which are even farther below the level of the Pacific Ocean than this one. They are beds of ancient lakes which were once bays of the ocean before some prehistoric earthquake raised the land between them and the sea.

PAVING OLD SPANISH TRAIL

Pecos County voters, by a vote of about twenty to one, last Saturday approved the issuance of a million dollars worth of road bonds for the purpose of matching state and federal aid money to build good roads all over the county.

One of the roads on which a part of the money from this huge bond issue will be used is the Old Spanish Trail from one boundary of the county to the other.

Paving of the Old Spanish Trail through Pecos County will close another big gap in the unpaved portion of the Old Spanish Trail, a distance of approximately 125 miles across that county, connecting at the Pecos River with the hard surfaced road to be built across Crockett County from proceeds of a $375,000 bond issue voted in this county recently, with state and federal aid on the job. Completion of the paving of the Trail in Crockett and Pecos Counties will provide an unbroken stretch of paving on this historic trans-continental route of approximately 175 miles.

Success of the good roads movement in Crockett County attained when voters approved the $375,000 bond issue by a bigger majority than that piled up in Pecos County, has prompted Sutton County to start a movement for surfacing the Old Spanish Trail from Sonora to the Crockett County line. This movement is now being held up pending an agreement on a route for another road in the county which leaders of the movement plan to include in the improvement to be provided by the bond issue if passed. If this movement in Sutton County is carried to a successful conclusion, it will add another 25 miles to the stretch of unbroken pavement on the Old Spanish Trail.

West Texas counties are awakening to the need of good roads and before many years this section will see ribbons of pavement crossing in every direction. Big counties, supporting thousands of acres of untaxed University lands, sparse population and low valuations have contributed to the delay in birth of the present movement toward good roads in West Texas. But the last few years of unprecedented prosperity and the development of oil in many counties in the area have been responsible for the progress in part. The state and federal highway departments have taken cognizance of the factors which have deterred road building in this section and are displaying a liberal attitude toward this section in the matter of aid. West Texas certainly has something "coming" from the state government and a liberal policy at Austin is only justice to a section that has demanded little and gotten just that.

A GREAT COUNTRY

This is a great country. Uh-huh. We've heard that before. What about it?

Just this about it. Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, than whom there are few keener analysts in the world, has been figuring out how much better off we are than the rest of the world.

The United States has only 6 percent of the world's population, but we consume 15 percent of the world's wheat crop. That means that, if the rest of the world were able to buy and eat as much food as we do, the wheat crop would have to be two-and-one-half as large as it is.

We consume nearly a quarter of all the world's sugar, more than half of the world's coffee, more than a quarter of the world's cotton, one-sixth of all the wool, three quarters, nearly, of all the silk, two-thirds of all the rubber, about two-fifths of all the iron and copper, lead, zinc and coal. We use three-fifths of the world's petroleum, two-fifths of all electrical power, more than three-quarters of all the automobiles and three-fifths of all telephones.

And we number less than one-sixteenth of the world's population!

If the rest of the world was as well off as we are how prosperous we and all the rest would be. Our average family income is $3,000 a year. The British income is two-thirds of that, Canada's less than half, Sweden's still lower, Germany's only a little over one-third as large and France's about the same—personal income of the average man, that is. That's why we can, and do, consume more of the world's raw materials than any other nation.

We have set an example to the rest of the world, which it is slowly beginning to follow, in spots. The farther and more rapidly it extends, the sooner, more surely will we reach the stage of human development in which people will no longer die of starvation, in which every human being will have his happiness in his own hands.

There are those who say that in seeking material prosperity humanity is losing its spiritual ideals. It does not seem that way to us. It is one thing to forego riches for the sake of the higher life; it is quite another thing to have no choice in the matter. Poverty in itself is not a virtue. It was a wise man who said that it was useless to preach idealism to a man who didn't know where his next day's dinner was coming from. And that is the condition of more than half of the people of the world today, while a still larger proportion live under conditions which make more than a bare living possible.

This is a great country.

While the growers are laying plans for raising a million dollar fund to popularize lamb as a food, Ozona merchants are contributing their mite toward the drive through a cheap but none the less effective means of advertising the chief product of this section. "Eat More Lamb. It is Healthy, Tasty and Nourishing. Roast It, Broil It, Fry It. Now, You'll Like Lamb," is the message to be printed on the band of business envelopes mailed out of Ozona by local business firms. The first to adopt this means of contributing to the movement to popularize the sheep as food is Joe Oberkamp and other merchants of the city and ranchmen as well will no doubt join in the plan so that every piece of mail that goes out of Ozona will be an advertisement of lamb.

After eighteen months of effort Congress has finally passed the tariff bill, reported carry the highest schedules ever fixed. The livestock industry should feel an immediate benefit from this schedule which goes into effect immediately.

Commissioner of General Land Office—J. H. Walker, Austin; Jockie M. Burks, Austin; J. E. Johnson, Plainview.

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court—C. M. Cureton, Austin; Covey C. Thomas, Cotulla.

Associate Justice, Court of Criminal Appeals—O. S. Lattimore, Austin; James A. Stephens, Benjamin.

Sheriff W. S. Willis left this week for Huntsville with a prisoner for the State Penitentiary. The prisoner was J. E. Yarbrough convicted in Stonewall County on a liquor charge and charged in this and Reagan County with theft of a steel tank. The latter case against the prisoner has never come to trial.

An Announcement of Interest to Patrons of our Service Dept.

Effective June 1, we are turning over active management and supervision of our repair and service department to Arthur M. Quist and Louis Donaho, supervising mechanics, and after that date our repair department will be operated by these men on a commission basis.

Both Mr. Quist and Mr. Donaho are expert mechanics. Both were formerly connected with the Dudley Motor Company here and Ozona people know their ability as mechanics. We believe that under the new management patrons of our service department will find it more satisfactory to deal directly with the heads of the department where the work is to be done.

This department is thoroughly equipped to do any kind of welding or machine work and to service and repair any make of automobile. Service rates will remain the same as at present and all bills for this work will be handled through the usual channel of the McLeod Motor Co. as at present.

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

When she reached the building that was her objective she was not at first favorably impressed by it. It was an old structure and a time-battered one, but it faced an open East Side square and its windows looked out on the green shrubs and trees of this square. The appearance of the entrance hall was better than the building's outward aspect. It was clean and cheerful, though the janitor, Marcel's friend, who somewhat deliberately responded to the bell, had the grey look of one who dwelt among ashes.

There were only two vacant apartments in the place, he assured the lady, while his eyes rested somewhat critically on the small satchel and the big newspaper bundle she carried. One apartment was on the ground floor and the other on the top—the latter three flights up and no elevator. The sitting-room of this one looked out over the park, though, and there was a kitchenette not much larger than a closet, with a gas stove in it, where the young lady could make her coffee in the morning if she liked.

The young lady accompanied him up three flights of carpeted stairs and approved the apartment at the top. The price asked for the rooms was reasonable.

"I'll take it," Eve decided, "if I can move in now."

"Tonight?" The janitor revealed a natural surprise at this expedition.

"Right now," the new-comer repeated.

"How about your references?"

"My references are the month's rent in advance, and I'll pay it this minute," Eve took out her purse, holding the name of Marcel in reserve. If she could for the present avoid mentioning that, she preferred to do so. The fewer who knew of her Garland connections, the better.

The janitor hesitated, looking her over again. Then with a shrug of his thin shoulders he took the offer and the cash.

The casualness of the transaction made Eve rather thoughtful. Still, Marcel had testified that the place was respectable.

She went to the door with the janitor, to get his final message about the delivery of milk and rolls in the morning.

"I can let you have a little coffee, too," he graciously admitted.

There were two apartments on the floor, and as the man talked the door of the opposite one opened and a girl came out. She was a blond girl, young and rather pretty, with very round china-blue eyes. She wore evening dress, far too elaborate for her environment, but it was her color and expression that caught and held Eve's attention. The color was a blue-white, and the look she cast at the two standing there was almost desperate—not at all the glance of a curious stranger, but the unconscious appeal of one who was suffering physical pain. She moved slowly, holding to the side rail as she descended the stairs, and responded to the janitor's off-hand greeting with an inarticulate murmur.

"Who is that?" Eve asked when she had disappeared.

"Miss Ivy Davenport. She has that flat. She dances in a cabaret, but she's a nice girl, jest the same. She ain't well, though. She's been sick a lot lately, an' it looks to me like she's sick again tonight." Evidently the janitor liked Miss Davenport. He was still looking after her with sympathetic eyes. "But I reckon she's got to go an' dance jest the same," he added philosophically.

"Poor girl! How can she dance?" The young person who had passed them was not Eve's sort, but she had a pang of fellow-feeling that surprised her. Here was another who was in trouble.

"Don't be scared if you hear her comin' home at four in the mornin'," the janitor remembered to add. "She won't bother you none daytimes. She sleeps till five or six G'night."

Eve nodded and watched him with unhappy eyes as he drifted in Miss Davenport's wake like a bit of gray fog. Looked at in retrospect the Garland seemed a vision of a wanderer's home, and the memory of Hamilton's boyish smile and dependable face brought an almost intolerable sense of nostalgia. But when she had turned back to her apartment and was moving about her bedroom, preparing for the night—the janitor had thoughtfully turned on the electric lights in both rooms—she reminded herself that she was safer alone. Whatever the dangers of her present course, she could not, would not, have remained among those to whom she was "a case." And there was Marcel, who had once known her and who at any moment might appear with a shining face to tell her who she was.

"I must be an amazing optimist when I'm myself," she reflected with a deep sigh.

It was an unkind trick she had played her Good Samaritan, but she had been driven to it. At the thought of the Garland her panic returned. Doctor's nurses, consultations, sanatoriums—there was no end of the possibilities Hamilton had set in motion when he called in that psychiatrist.

Better be anywhere and free than in the power of even the best-intentioned strangers.

The night was a bad one. For hours she lay staring out into the blackness of the narrow court while panic enveloped her like an icy fog. It took all the courage she had, all the strength of her soul, to hold on to herself. At intervals she switched on the light and looked at her watch. Eons might have passed since she looked last, but they hadn't. Sometimes it was only an hour, or even half an hour—

When the black court was growing gray she heard Miss Davenport's return; at least she assumed that the steps were her neighbor's and that it was Miss Davenport's door that was yielding to the urge of a nervous key. Eve's watch bore out the theory: quarter past four. She drew a deep sigh, turned again, and hoped that the girl felt better. With the approach of dawn some of the blackness lifted from her spirit. She slept.

The sun was shining when she awoke, and a lively tattoo on the panel of her outer door had brought escape from an especially unpleasant nightmare. She slipped into a wrapper, unlocked her door, and confronted the janitor. He carried a tray which held a tablespoonful of ground coffee in a cup, a dab of butter, and a glass of milk, with an egg as an added attraction.

Eve gave him a dollar. He served it for his leniency in that little matter of the references, but something deep within her sent up a warning signal as she handed it over. A young person in her situation and with less than three hundred dollars in the world must learn not to part with any of those dollars too lightly. This one proved a good investment.

"My name's Smith," the janitor volunteered. "Guess you won't have no trouble rememberin' it."

When Smith had reluctantly departed—it had also become clear that his was a companionable soul—she prepared her breakfast and, to her surprise, ate it. She had cooked it under a jogging sense of duty; she must "keep her strength up," as Hamilton had advised. But the coffee was good, the roll was crisp, the egg was fresh. The efficiency with which she performed the simple task proved that it was a familiar one to her. She must have prepared many such breakfasts in the past, some of them, no doubt, in Paris. Deep in her subconscious mind, just out of her mental reach, lay the memory of those meals, of those days. She saw—or did she see?—a studio with a sloping roof . . . a wide skylight with a glimpse of skyline and twin towers etching against it . . . Her absent hand reached at times toward a shelf that was not there, for utensils that were missing . . . Surely, surely Memory was stealing toward her, out of the black shadows . . .

As soon as she had washed the dishes, made the bed, and dusted the rooms (this last with one of the few towels!) she wrote to her Good Samaritan. She owed him that much. She had brought with her a pencil and a few sheets of the hotel's note-paper, from which she painstakingly tore off the printed headings. Then she penciled these lines:

My dear Mr. Hamilton:
Forgive me for seeming ungrateful; I am not that. But I must not be a burden to strangers, however kind and friendly they are; and I know it is best for me to be alone.

I have found a safe, quiet, respectable place, where I can wait . . . They say that those who recover from a lapse like mine do not remember what happened in the interval. So I shall write out an account of our meeting and put it away with your card. And when I am myself again I will write you and tell you so, and try to thank you properly.

In the meantime don't worry about me. And please don't try to find me.

Most gratefully yours,
Eve Personne.

THE TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS"

Most People Are Like Ducks

You read about "self-made" men. There is no such thing. No man ever made himself. Other people did it. The so-called "self-made" man was just smart enough to know that every time he did something for others, others would do more for him—and he did it.

You want to make money. You wouldn't be doing what you are doing if you didn't. Believe it or not, the fact remains you can not make money unless your neighbor does. Therefore, what you do to help him, helps you; and what he does to help you, helps him.

Your neighbor isn't just the man next door, but the man next door to him, and the man next door to everybody else in Ozona. In other words, your neighbors are the people who make up your community.

If your neighbors didn't do for you, where would you be? You can't do a thing by yourself. You can't eat, sleep, work or play without others entering into it in some way. Sounds ridiculous, doesn't it—but try getting along by yourself and see how far you get.

Socially, the fellow who does not hold up his end is a poor sport, a short horse, a tight-wad and a moocher. You say, "He has fish hooks in his pockets," which is anything but complimentary, and something that you would not want said about you. In fact, you detest such people.

There really isn't a great difference between things social and things civic, except that there are more short horses entered in the latter event. Many of you who are good sports socially are moochers civically—not always intentionally so, but so, nevertheless.

Most of you are like ducks. Ducks are used to water—in fact, can't live without it. While they have it, they don't worry because of the lack of it; but if their pond dries up, they quack their heads off.

Others are working to keep the water in your pond—to insure continual existence, growth and prosperity of your town that you and your neighbors may live, work, play and make money. Recognize it; appropriate it. If in the past you have unwittingly been a civic tight-wad, there is no time like the present to come out of it.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

OLD REMEDIES—AND NEW

Fifty years ago, we demanded just one thing of a drug—it must produce results. No medicine survived that did not measure up to this one requirement. The patient expected action in return for his effort at swallowing the massive, obnoxious dose with often the abominable smell; if it cured the malady, one considered himself amply repaid for the awful experience of swallowing the mess dipped up by the rusty knife-blade of the old family doctor. There were few drugs then that were of known reliability.

It is amazingly different today. About the most unpopular thing I know of is the coarse, unpalatable dose. The doctor who makes a practice of giving medicine without a supreme regard for the patient's aesthetic taste will, in time, work himself out of a respectable clientele. No matter what its supposed virtue as an eradicator of disease, people will have the doctor who dispenses the minute, sugar-coated, often forceless thing.

Hence the bobbing up of the highly commercialized pharmaceutical "houses," who have flooded the universe with their products—probably three-fourths of which might be done without a particle of risk! For all this stuff, people are supposed to be paying at the rate of a billion dollars a year! The business has grown and flourished, until the larger half of our country is the manufacturing half and where will it end?

I have a patient, a little woman of thirty-five, who had thirteen quarts of dropsical fluid removed from her abdomen two weeks ago by a surgeon—the proper thing was done, but—the fluid is returning slowly!

A happy thought—the old "compound jalap powder." She had never heard of it. One dose daily is removing the stuff at the rate of a quart every 24 hours—while I am attending to the underlying cause of it. What a grand old remedy that just won't fit into the discard. Let's honor the old remedies for awhile yet before throwing them all overboard.

Blowout-Proof

Over 400,000 People Injured Annually
In Accidents Due to Tire Failure
The Blow-Out Proof Tire
Will Keep You Safe—End Every Tire Hazard

EVERY MILE on doubtful tires invites disaster. Your own tires may be ready to blow out at the next bump in the road. You can't tell by looking at them.

Blowouts hide inside your tires, hidden from inspection. They breed on summer heat from glaring pavements—grow nearer with every turn of a tire wearing and weakening through internal friction. They catch you in a crisis—when safety rests on your tires' ability to stand a sudden swerve—quick pick-up—a pounding break in the pavement.

When the blowout comes, you're helpless. Wrecked without a chance to save yourself. For modern road speeds leave less than one-tenth of a second before you crash, and no human can act in that brief time.

No motorist need face such dangers. General Duaf-Balloons remove every tire hazard from modern motoring—Blow-Out Proof—their unmatched safety proved in the most spectacular tests ever witnessed by safety experts. They have defied shocks that the sturdy steel of your car frame could not stand—have taken punishment you'll never be able to give them. They are skid-safe, too—proved by tests on wet pavement, snow and ice—taking turns 15 to 25 miles faster than you dare take them on your present tires.

Come in now during our Fifth Annual and greatest sale. Get the whole story of greater safety and actually lowered mileage cost. Learn how our drastically lowered prices, specially reduced for this sale, and unequalled trade-in allowances will equip you with 100% safe, Blow-Out Proof Tires at savings that take all the strain off your Budget.

BRIDE IS COMPLIMENTED

Mrs. V. I. Pierce entertained with a breakfast bridge party Saturday for Miss Gussie Watson, who was married the following Monday. Fruit, eggs, chipped beef, jelly, rolls and coffee were served. Miss Watson, the honoree, was presented with a piece of lingerie while Mrs. Roy Henderson was given a fancy powder puff for high score. Those present besides the honoree were: Mesdames Marshall Montgomery, J. W. North, Joe Pierce, J. W. Henderson, Jr., Lee Childress, Tom Smith, S. M. Harvick, Early Baggett, Roy Henderson, Hugh Childress, Jr., Mary Childress, Wanda Watson, Kathryn Baggett, Mary Frances Bowers, Lucille and Eleanor Ingham, Mildred North, Mary Augustine, Mary Kincaid, Carolyn Montgomery and Tommy Smith.

CRUDE PRODUCTION UP

Austin, Texas, June 18—Crude petroleum production in Texas made a material gain during May, according to Bervard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, issued monthly by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas. This increase offsets all the progress made in the past six months, Mr. Nichols pointed out. Output in May totaled 26,877,000 barrels, against 25,350,000 barrels in April and 25,034,000 bar-

LAS AMIGAS CLUB

Miss Kathryn Baggett entertained the Las Amigas Club last Friday, naming Miss Mary Frances Bowers, her guest, as honoree. Miss Bowers was given a piece of lingerie and Miss Gussie Watson, a bride-elect, was also given a gift. High score prize, a vase, went to Miss Eleanor Ingham; cut, a fudge apron, to Miss Mary Kincaid; and low, a "him" book to Miss Mildred North. The other guests present were: Mesdames Marshall Montgomery, Wister Ross, Hugh Childress, Jr., Misses Lucille Ingham, Linora Dudley, Mary Kincaid, Mary Augustine, Beulah Baggett, Mary Childress, and Wanda Watson.

rels in May, 1929. Daily average flow was 867,000 barrels, an increase of 22,000 barrels from April. This compares with 808,000 barrels in May last year. During the month, 562 wells were completed, of which 299 were producers, compared with 726 completions and 373 successful wells in May, 1929. Crude prices were unchanged, but motor gasoline prices were reduced 1-4 to 1-2 cent in the Texas Panhandle.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Childress, Sr., are having their house remodeled to allow a larger reception room.

She made a long journey up-town. She must mail that letter in a part of the city remote from where she lived, for of course Hamilton would regard the postmarks as clue. After that she took a long walk in Central Park and bought her necessary household supplies and a few magazines.

After all this it was only eleven o'clock, and the long day stretched before her as an appalling blank to be filled. However, there was Marcel's visit in the evening to look forward to, and she killed the seemingly endless interval by a visit to the public library, to write at a table there the account of her meeting with Hamilton. She wrote the bald facts from the time of the memory lapse, putting down the episodes without comment, save in the matter of Hamilton's kindness. On an impulse she included his Chicago address.

The writing kept her occupied for more than an hour. Then she read for two hours. She entered a drug store and had a glass of milk as a late luncheon. Then she went back to Central Park and killed an additional two hours watching children at play.

Marcel arrived at eight that evening, wearing his best garments and a highly pleased expression. She had decided to tell him the truth. It was a risk, but he was already partly in her confidence, and it was probable that he had been questioned about her. Better to let him have the facts than to give his Gallic imagination rein.

He listened with interest, but wholly without understanding, and obviously with relief. This little matter explained very well the oddness of Mademoiselle. But of a certainty it was a trifle, over in a few days, as Mademoiselle had suggested. His optimism cheered Eve, while she realized its source as ignorance. Marcel admitted that he had not as yet found her name, but his mind was busy on it. Nor could he remember the name of any of Mademoiselle's friends in Paris. But he was thinking of these things constantly, and very soon...

In the meantime, if Mademoiselle so wished, he would write to Leon, who had been Mademoiselle's real waiter and who was now working in a big hotel on the Rue de la Paix. He would beg Leon to tell him all he remembered about the young lady of four years ago.

"But that will take two weeks," Eve cried, "to write and get a reply, even if he answers at once. Two weeks more of this!"

Marcel was overwhelmed. He had forgotten that detail.

"However, please do it," Eve sighed, "Though I hope I shan't need it when it comes."

Something about that exclamation made Marcel take a less cheery view of her situation as he left her.

Ford Offers New De Luxe Sedan

Ford De Luxe Sedan

THE De Luxe Sedan, recently added to the Ford line, is designed for those who desire distinctiveness and unusual comfort in an automobile. The interior is inviting and roomy with wide doors to both compartments. Absence of rear quarter windows gives the car a striking individuality and affords privacy to the occupants.

Interior trimmings and appointments are luxurious. Upholstery is either in brown mohair or a deep tan Bedford cord patterned after that used in high-priced cars.

Other refinements include arm rests for the rear seat, mahogany finished garnish moldings on the windows and beneath the windshield, flexible robe rail and hardware in an attractive pattern.

The front seat is adjustable within a range of four inches to suit the convenience and comfort of the driver. It is moved quickly and easily by a small, inconspicuous handle in the front center of the seat just above the floor.

The De Luxe Sedan, like other Ford body types, can be obtained in any one of several color combinations.

COOKE FAMILY REUNION

R. J. Cooke had the pleasure of a visit from all of his children last week-end. Those who were in Ozona on a visit to the old home were: Greene Cooke and family of Sanderson; Jack Sawyer and family of Spur; Mrs. Edgar Schwarz and baby of Rockport; and those who are now at home, Mrs. Clafin Elledge, Mrs. Virgil Oden, Miss Cara Mae and Cleophas Cooke.

This gathering is the first time in the past three years that all of the children have been present, and came as a surprise to Mr. Cooke, who incidentally was given several nice presents in commemoration of Father's Day, which the children celebrated last Sunday.

Edgar Schwarz, too, was the only one of the in-laws who was absent, he being detained in Rockport on account of business.

Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Swinney left Wednesday morning for Frederick, Oklahoma, where Rev. Swinney will preach Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fussell returned Tuesday from Temple where Mrs. Fussell received medical care.

Rev. J. S. Newman of Junction occupied the pulpit of the Church of Christ Sunday.

After the First Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration, and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancaes road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

WE CAN'T FIGHT CHANGE

When I was a small boy in the country we had a good old neighbor named Daniel Roe, who owned a cranberry meadow. He brought the water for flooding his meadow through a deep ditch from a lake about a quarter of a mile away.

Half of every summer of his life he spent digging out the dirt and stones which had fallen into that ditch.

We kids used to go over and watch him dig. There was a big stone by the side of the ditch, shaped roughly like an arm chair. There he would eat his lunch at noon, and smoke his pipe. We called the stone Mr. Roe's chair.

In fullness of time he died. His son sold the meadow, and it was abandoned. My father bought the ditch, most of which ran through our woods, and every summer we fill a little piece of it up with junk and garbage and cover it over with dirt.

Last summer I walked through the woods and stopped at Mr. Roe's chair. Already the ditch is half destroyed. In five years more it will be gone.

All his sweat and strain and backache for nothing. No trace of his life work left!

In a New York club I talked with an eminent architect, who said that the glorious days had vanished from his profession. The architects of Greece and Rome left monuments that are eternal. The modern architect has no such hope. He himself had designed three houses in New York so magnificent that he expected them to carry his name to future generations. All three have been torn down to make way for apartment buildings.

I talked with a clergyman who had recently visited a city parish where he had labored successfully thirty years ago. That portion of the city has now become a slum. The old families have scattered to the suburbs. The church is closed. "What is left," he exclaimed sadly, "to show for all my labor?" I told him that people are left—the sons and daughters of the men and women to whom his sermons were preached.

"Your hearers trained their children in righteousness," I said, "and they will train their children."

We can't fight change, and it is well that we can't. How dull life would be if everything were permanent. How wonderful that each new generation has the fun of taking the world apart and putting it together again.

The church may be closed, the house torn down, the ditch filled up. But Mr. Roe and the architect and the preacher each built a monument in the lives of the people whom he served.

We can do as much; and it is all that we can do.

The regular meeting of the Ozona chapter of the Eastern Star will take place on the 3rd Tuesday night of each month.

Today & Tomorrow

Old ocean beds make good farms everywhere. Holland's farms are almost entirely on reclaimed seabottom, and another 300,000 acres of ocean has just been diked off and is being pumped out to add to the agricultural area. Much of Florida's best land has only lately been reclaimed and now a project is on foot to irrigate the Sahara desert and make it the world's garden spot.

WASHINGTON

The National Capital is rapidly becoming the most beautiful city in America, one of the most beautiful cities of the world. I first went to Washington as a boy, nearly fifty years ago, and have seen it grow from a mudhole ornamented in spots with beautiful structure and monuments, into something which now begins to resemble the harmonious, stately design of the great Frenchman, Major L'Enfant, whom George Washington employed to lay out the city named after himself.

Just now there is being spent in Washington on public buildings and grounds, parkways and the like, a total of $314,250,000.

Washington was planned to face East and South from the Capitol and the White House, respectively. Real estate speculators of the 1790's bought up the desirable lots and held them at such high prices that the city grew North and West instead and new fronts had to be put on the White House and the Capitol, the back doors of which faced the city as it is now.

TALK OF CHANGING HIGHWAY TO OZONA

There is some talk here that engineers will start surveying in O.S.T. highway from Sonora to Ozona. One suggested route would throw the O.S.T. to pass through Sonora between the courthouse and J. W. Trainer's corner and continue for several miles on the San Angelo highway before taking a westerly direction to Humble Station A and thence to Ozona.

Four state highway engineers are in Crockett county now surveying a new route for the paving of the O.S.T. in that county to the Pecos county line.

It is thought that when the work in Crockett county is finished the engineers will start surveying in Sutton county.—Sonora News.

Miss Mary Childress, Ethel Childress and Kathryn Baggett were initiated into the Ozona Chapter of the Eastern Star at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Miss Aline Friend will leave San Angelo this week, where she has been recovering from an appendicitis operation, for Kerrville where she will enter a camp for girls.

... and is Hidden

The Ostrich sticks its head in the sand and thinks it is hidden from sight. That is the popular conception of this quaint little act which the Ostrich does.

It is the same way with a lot of people who do business on a credit basis. They stick their heads into the sand of "Charge It" and don't realize that it is only closing their own eyes. There has to be a reckoning some day . . . and that is when the credit buyer finds himself in embarrassing circumstances.

There is no percentage in staying blind to the advantages of paying cash. Why not trade with a first-class firm, doing business for cash?

"WE GO THE LIMIT TO PLEASE"

KING TUT'S PYRAMIDS

King Tut's Transportation Problems were settled in a way that is the marvel of modern engineers. His methods, in a way, were crude compared to modern ideas. . . barges, big carts and man power. With this crude method of transportation the Pyramids were built. If the labor had not been organized it is more than probable these large engineering structures would not now grace Egypt.

The economic forces which made organized transportation a paying proposition then are the same that make it so now. Call phones 168 or 275, or place your order at Ozona Tire and Battery Co. for the Best Hauling Service.
