

P. T. A. Appoints Its Committees For Year At Opening Meeting

Appointment of committees for the year occupied most of the business session at the first meeting for the new year of the Ozona Parent-Teachers Association at the school building Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Albert Kay, president, in her opening address, thanked the officers, patrons and teachers for their co-operation during the past year and expressed confidence that the same spirit would prevail during the coming year.

The following committees were appointed by the president: Program, Mrs. Joe Pierce, Mrs. Ira Carson, Mrs. Pon Seaborn and Mrs. Paul Perner; Membership, Mrs. Welton Bungee; Publicity, Mrs. W. J. Grimmer; Refreshments, Mrs. S. M. Harvick; Music, Mrs. V. I. Pierce; Critic and parliamentarian, Miss Elisabeth Fussell; Finance, Mrs. L. L. Bewley, Mrs. Ernest Sparkman, Mrs. S. L. Butler and Mrs. Bryan McDonald. Mrs. Kay was named ex-officio county chairman of the P. T. A.

The organization heard a report of the health survey conducted here recently by a public health nurse among school children, Supt. John L. Bishop making the report.

A committee composed of Mrs. L. B. Cox, Jr., Mrs. H. P. Vaughan and Mrs. C. J. Watts was appointed to meet with the school board and arrange for replacing the school zone safety signs.

Several members of the Ozona P. T. A. will go to Powell Field next Tuesday to assist in organization of an association in that community, it was agreed.

Miss Ethel Childreas will leave this week for Austin where she will resume her studies in the University of Texas.

A. H. McLeod, manager of the McLeod Motor Company, was called to San Angelo the first of the week to be at the bedside of his daughter, who is reported in critical condition.

Ozona Wicket Stars Cop 3-Game Croquet Series At Barnhart

The ancient game of croquet had its inning in inter-city competition Tuesday night when a team from Ozona clashed with Barnhart wicket stars on the latter's court, the Ozona mallet wielders completely vanquishing their opponents in a three-game series.

The Ozona team was composed of J. H. McClure, J. T. Keeton, Preston Williams and W. C. Carter, while the Barnhart quartet was composed of D. J. Taylor, T. L. Gill, H. M. McGlothing and Alton Newberry.

Carter and Williams made the first dent in the opposition by conquering Newberry and McGlothing in the opening frame. McClure and Keeton then sailed through Taylor and Gill, leaving the feature match of the evening, Carter and Williams against McGlothing and Gill to the last. By a last minute rally, a goal-line stand, as it were, the Ozona two-some came out victorious in this final match.

The Barnhart devotees of the mallet and ball plan a week or so of intensive practice before invading the local court seeking vengeance. This match will be announced in the next few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Miller left Wednesday for Abilene where they will be under a physician's care.

—And There's Only One Meter for the New Home Comfort Rate

Initial rate 12¢

2nd rate 7¢

Low rate 4¢-3¢

"Another big advantage of the new Home Comfort rate is that you have only one meter in your home. Regardless of the number of electric appliances you operate, there is only one meter to be read—and all electric service is figured on the same basis; that is, the lighting rate has been lowered to where it is now possible to use electric refrigerating service or heating and cooking service through the one meter. This is important from the standpoint of economy, for it means that everything electrical in your home benefits by the low Additional Service rate.

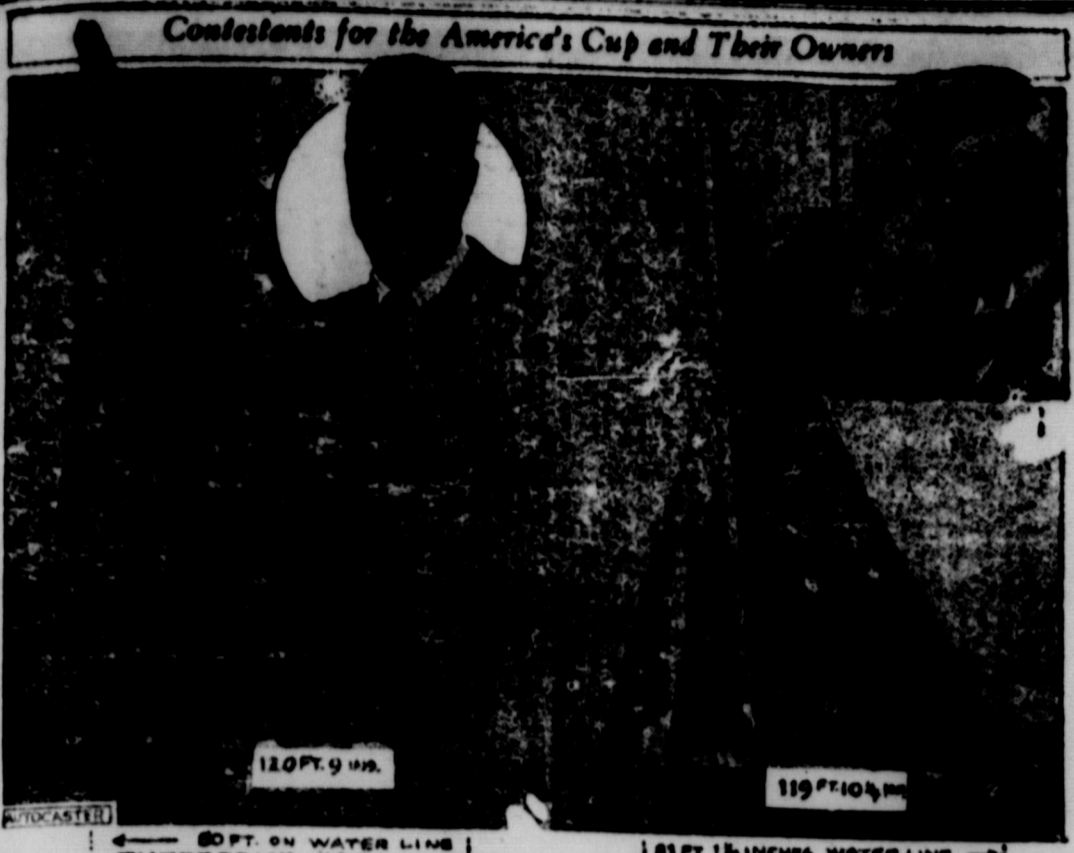

"For instance, in the average five room house, in a month ordinary lights and small appliances should utilize most of the service billed on the initial and second rates. Then your meter will record all additional use on the low 4c rate—3c where service is also used for heating or cooking.

"There will be no bother of two meter readings or two bills. Everything will be compact, definite and easily understandable.

"I'm thinking of new advantages so rapidly that I can hardly wait from week to week for the opportunity of explaining them to you. I'll be with you again next week, and I'm sure I'll have some interesting facts."

Twice in the past four years parts of the United States have been swept by West Indian hurricanes. The great hurricane of 1926, which struck the city of Miami, Florida, swept across the Florida peninsula and over the Gulf of Mexico to Pensacola. I was in Miami a few days after the event and saw the devastation which had been wrought there and in the surrounding country. The modern buildings of sound construction were not materially damaged except for the loss of window glass, but in the environs of the city piles of what looked like kindling-wood were all that remained of thousands of homes and other buildings. The greatest damage here, as in most other places, was by water, the wind having rolled the ocean up into the city streets. In the low-lying country around Lake Okeechobee where the flood water rose ten or twelve feet, whole villages were wiped out and no accurate count will ever be possible of the number of persons who were drowned.

Porto Rico has not yet recovered from the effects of the hurricane of September, 1928. More than 255 persons were killed, almost half a million left homeless, and property loss of more than $100,000,000 was sustained.

In September 1929, another hurricane swept the island of New Providence, in the Bahamas, damaging practically every building on the island and wrecking many vessels in the harbor of Nassau, the chief British port in the Bahamas, besides causing great loss of life.

If one wonders why people live in a region which is subject to the annual peril of the hurricane, it might be inquired why they live in California or Japan, where earthquakes are frequent, or in Italy, where Vesuvius is often in eruption, or in our own "cyclone belt" with the catastrophes of Omaha, St. Louis and Oak Park in mind. The answer seems to be that some of them live there because they like it and the rest because they can't get away.

September Is Hurricane Month

Storms Like That Which Wiped Out Santo Domingo Occur Every Autumn

By Caleb Johnson

Four thousand known dead, with the black country still to hear from, an entire city destroyed, farm crops ruined and the entire population of a nation plunged from moderate prosperity into want—that is the record of the 1930 hurricane which swept over the Caribbean Sea on September 1 and struck the eastern end of the island on which are located the Republic of Haiti and the Dominican Republic.

The city of Santo Domingo, capital of the Dominican Republic, received the full force of the hurricane, which blew at a rate estimated at 160 miles an hour. The property damage in this city of 40,000 people is estimated at more than $50,000,000. Not one person in four escaped without physical injury, and complete enumeration of the dead is expected to show that in the city alone one out of every eight inhabitants perished.

The hurricane hazard is one which every inhabitant of the islands which fringe the Caribbean Sea is exposed to every September and which often menaces those living on the mainland along the coast of the Gulf of Mexico. Like the typhoons which ravage the China Sea and the tornadoes or "cyclones" which have done so much damage in our own Mississippi Valley, the high winds of the West Indies are unpreventable, though modern methods of weather reporting, especially by radio from ships at sea, usually give ample warning of their approach.

The most serious damage done by any hurricane of which there is a record was in 1900, thirty years ago this month, when the city of Galveston, Texas, stood directly in the path of a wind which rolled the Gulf of Mexico before it in a great tidal wave which drowned thousands who had escaped the direct fury of the storm. More than 6,000 persons perished in the Galveston disaster and, contrary to the general rule of such storms, the hurricane swung northward and easterly, crossing the Great Lakes and Newfoundland and across Iceland, doing great damage all along its path.

Like all of the other hurricanes, the Galveston storm started somewhere in the Atlantic Ocean, between the African coast and the Windward Islands. The origin of these storms is not definitely known, but they are supposed to be caused by the equatorial heat causing a column of heated air to rise so rapidly as to start a vertical circulation. When the heated air encounters cold air at a great height, condensation of water vapor begins, the falling water made a clean sweep, therefore the starts a downward circulation over a wide area and the whole body of air affected begins to revolve in a "counter-clockwise" rotation. The center of the disturbance travels westward at a comparatively slow rate, not more than 10 or 15 miles an hour, but the outer circumference of air revolves around this center at a speed up to 150 miles an hour, or more. There is thus a comparatively calm area twenty miles or so in diameter, in the middle of the hurricane, but for 150 to 200 miles each side of the center there is a storm in which no ship can live.

Experienced sea-captains navigating hurricane-infested waters in the hurricane season try to run for the calmer center of the disturbance as soon as the falling barometer gives them warning of the approaching storm. As the storm always revolves in the same direction, it is easy to tell where the center lies.

Some years ago I voyaged into Caribbean waters on a ship whose captain had sailed those seas for forty years. The month was August, and I was impressed by the captain's solicitude over the barometer readings.

"Too soon for hurricanes," I suggested.

"Not too soon to watch for them," he replied. "They usually occur in September, but they have been known in August, if the early summer has been hot, and sometimes they occur in October."

Then he taught me the rhyming doggerel which sailors, who like to put everything into verse, have made up about the hurricane season:

Raise Funds For Amendment Drive

ed at the McCamey conference, is composed of Penrose Metcalf, chairman, Congressman elect R. E. Thomason of El Paso, State Senator B. F. Berkeley of Alpine and Representative Lee Satterwhite. Representative Metcalf nursed the resolution submitting the amendment through the House and Senator Berkeley was instrumental in its passage through the Senate. All of these men are enthusiastically interested in passage of the amendment and have pledged their time and talents without cost to the cause.

TO CAMPAIGN FOR LAND TAX

Tax Not On School
 "The first thing which we must put across to the public is the fairness of the measure," Metcalf told the audience. He pointed out that the tax which would be paid on University lands would not come from the University funds but from the general revenue fund of the state of Texas. He also impressed on the group that the amount paid would not be set by the county in which the land is located but rather by the state tax board and the money paid the 17 counties in which more than 2,000,000 acres of tax free land lies. A Garland Adair, publisher of the McCamey News, was temporary chairman of the meeting which was sponsored by the McCamey Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club. C. B. Coulter, president of both organizations made a brief talk.

Measure Outlined
 Coming quickly to the point after being named permanent chairman of the association Metcalf outlined the measure from the time the late Joe Boggs, former representative first introduced a similar measure which passed the house but failed in the senate, until Saturday. The measure passed the legislature with but two dissenting votes and passed the senate solidly. Since then Rep. Metcalf has had influence in the endorsement of the amendment being included in the resolutions of the Democratic state convention at Galveston last week. It also was endorsed by the Republic state convention.

Col. Tom Perkins of Alpine, eighth district chairman of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, announced that he had been advised by officials of the organization to offer the campaign any aid at its disposal and to help conduct the campaign until the election which is six weeks hence.

It was indicated that not only the West Texas Chamber of Commerce would be called upon but also the South Texas and East Texas organization. In addition a committee likely will meet with the board of regents of the University of Texas this month to thoroughly explain the matter to them and if possible to get the important endorsement of that group.

The counties and subcommittees representing them so far appointed are: El Paso, Judge E. B. McClintock and Joe McGill; Crockett, Will Baggett and Ralph Watson; Irion, Judge R. J. Atkinson and D. L. Taylor; Reagan, John Hoffman and H. L. Puckett; Pecos, C. E. Casebier and J. M. Rooney; Hudspeth, T. D. Love and Judge Jess C. Williams; Culbertson, Judge R. Durrell and Horace Pyle Upton, Judge C. H. Latson and C. P. Coulter; Crane, Judge Ben F. Allen and Thomas Durham. Others will be appointed in the remaining counties the first of the week.

Counties Are Listed
 The 17 counties affected and the amount of University land acreage follows: Andrews, 294,400 acres; Crane, 63,680 acres;

Crockett, 356,480 acres; Culbertson, 46,080; Ector, 6,080; El Paso, 11,520; Irion, 22,729; Hudspeth, 435,120; Martin, 14,080; Loving, 22,400; Pecos, 184,950; Reagan, 194,560; Schleicher, 57,600; Terrell, 61,440; Upton, 77,440; Ward, 80,640; Winkler, 53,120.
