A boy is worth $9,333 when he is born. If his family has an income of $2,500 a year, an insurance expert calculates. That is what it would take, put out at interest at 3 1/2 percent, to rear him to the age of eighteen and produce the net income which he may be expected to earn from then on. It costs the average family $7,238 to bring up a boy and put him through high school. By the time he is eighteen, however, he is worth $28,654, again figuring his potential earning capacity.

On that basis the male population of the United States is worth one trillion, one hundred and forty-four billion dollars.

GASOLINE

Cheaper gasoline and a smaller surplus of heavy fuel oil are the results expected from the adoption in this country of a new German process for adding hydrogen gas to crude petroleum. This is one of the revolutionary discoveries of science, which are being made so rapidly that every industry has to be constantly on the lookout lest its whole methods have to be discarded over night.

Not so many years ago gasoline was a waste product. Then Daimler invented the gasoline engine and that part of the petroleum suddenly became the most useful. The Diesel engine, which uses heavy oil fuel, has not yet been sufficient developed to consume anything like the surplus left after the gasoline has been extracted.

DEFENSE

Thirty-seven ships of war steamed into New York harbor through the fog the other morning. Overhead 160 Navy airplanes, loosed from the deck of the airplane carrier "Saratoga" soared over the city. It was the Navy's demonstration of strength, and an impressive one.

Navy men do not like the program of reducing armaments. They would like us to believe that all the rest of the world is watching for a chance to pounce upon us and that only an enormous Navy can keep us from being gobbled up.

One does not have to agree with their point of view, however, to admit that a battle fleet in the Hudson River is a magnificent spectacle and that a flock of airplanes can draw everybody away from their desks and tools to the rooftops to watch the show. We older folk will never get used to seeing men fly. To the youngsters it is already commonplace.

ENERGY

Most people think that the brain needs as much food as the body does. People complain of fatigue after mental effort, and because they feel as tired as if they had been using their muscles they think they must have used up as much energy as if they had been working with their bodies.

Scientists at Wesleyan University have been studying the energy requirements of brain-workers for years, and have announced that all of the energy expended in a solid hour of the most intense mental effort can be replaced by eating half of a salted peanut! Five minutes spent in dusting a desk consumes more energy than an hour of hard mental work at the desk.

Much of the so-called mental fatigue is physical fatigue. The writer who is tired after a day at the typewriter or pen is tired because of the physical effort of writing. Many who complain of brain fog after a day of business conferences should rather complain of "talk

OVER $200 IN PREMIUMS FOR '30 GOAT SHOW

New Department Starts Off With A Bang On July 3, 4 And 5

SALE IS FEATURE

Allen Robertson Chairman; Committee Is Selected

Although attempted for the first time this year on a big time scale, the first annual Angora Goat Show and Sale to be held in connection with the fifth annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet and Stock Show July 3, 4 and 5, gives promise of being one of the major features of the stock show and sale.

Over $200 in premiums have been offered in the goat show and the first year of the show is expected to bring entries from all over the section to tax facilities provided for this department, according to Allen Robertson, chairman of the goat show and sale.

The committees to be in charge of the goat department were announced this week by Mr. Robertson. The general committee is composed of Mr. Robertson as chairman; H. B. Friend, Ed Bean, Warren Clayton, E. B. Ingham, Madden Read and Edgar Chapman. The sifting committee is composed of Fred T. Earwood, Bob Davis, Dr. W. W. Nipper, J. L. Gulley, O. O. Cowser, W. H. Dameron, Buster Halbert and Oscar Carpenter. Bob Davis will judge the goat show.

The auction sale of goats will be conducted under practically the same rules and regulations as those applying to the sheep sale, the chairman announced. The sale is open to registered stud and range bucks and registered stud does only. It is announced in literature being distributed to goat breeders of the area this week.

A list of premiums offered in the goat show follow:

Ranchmen's Roundup For 1930 Postponed Station Improved

Announcement is made by A. B. Conner, Director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, that the Annual Ranchmen's Round-Up usually held during the month of August at the Ranch Experiment Station near Sonora, will be postponed until next year. The Ranchmen's Round-Up is held under the auspices of the Ranch Experiment Station, the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas, and other interested ranchmen of the Edwards Plateau region.

Inasmuch as needed improvements under way at the Ranch Station will not only provide better

Double Header On Tap Here Sunday

Giants Play Junction, Couch Campers Tangle With Mertzon

A double header baseball game is slated for Powell Field Sunday afternoon with four teams participating in the two-pronged mix-up.

The lead-off engagement of the day will be between the Ozona Giants and the Junction Firemen. This game to be followed by a contest between the Mike Couch Campers and a team from Mertzon. Both of these games are return matches and both of the visiting teams are coming for revenge for recent defeats.

Last Sunday the Giants took a 4 to 2 victory from the Junction Firemen on the latter's diamond, taking a three-run lead in the opening frame and adding another in the fourth while the Firemen went scoreless to the eighth inning. Hicks, pitching for the Giants garnered nine strike-outs and allowed six scattered hits. The Giants got a total of eight hits.

The Mertzon team is coming to avenge a 17 to 13 defeat at the hands of the Campers in Barnhart recently. Last week the Couch nine took Christoval into camp on the local diamond and emerged with the heavy end of an 8 to 1 score. Both local teams have a string of unbroken wins to their credit for the past several weeks and promise some fast baseball here Sunday afternoon. The first game will start at 2:30 p. m.

equipment for the work, but better facilities for the Round-Up at a later date, it was decided to defer this meeting until next year and bend our every effort toward having the biggest and best meeting in 1931 ever held in the ranch country. The Station is exerting every effort to thoroughly equip a veterinary Laboratory in order to be in position to make more rapid progress in the study of sheep and goat disease problems of importance to the region. In view of these conditions and the further fact that numerous other events and meetings will be held this year it seems advisable to take this action in preparation for more effective work by the Ranch Experiment Station, and better facilities for holding the meeting in 1931.

LIONS ELECT NEW HEADS AT MONDAY MEET

Club Starts Off Third Year In Ozona With New Officials

INSTALLED JULY 1

White, Pres., Jones And Bishop, Vice Pres., Childress, Secy.

New officers for the coming year were elected by the Ozona Lions Club at the regular luncheon hour Monday. With the exception of one office, that of secretary, an entirely new staff of officers was elected, the secretary, Hugh Childress, Jr., being re-elected to that office.

Other officers elected were: President, Evert White; first vice-president, John L. Bishop; second vice-president, A. W. Jones; Lion Tamer, J. L. Littleton; Tail Twister, Jack Sharp; and Directors, M. M. Fulmer, P. T. Robison, Geo. Harrell and Scott Peters.

The new officers will be installed the first meeting in July. In addition to the election of regular officers, the club created a new office, that of director of publicity, and elected Clyde Barbee to fill the post during the coming year. The purpose of this office is not only to look after local publicity for the club but to see that club activities are given publicity in the national magazine of the organization.

The retiring president, M. M. Fulmer, has been the head of the Ozona Lions Club since its organization two years ago, being re-elected to the office for a second term last summer. He declined to accept another term in the office this year. Under his administration the club has grown to a membership now numbering approximately 45 and is one of the liveliest organizations ever existing here.

The entertainment program for the luncheon was a reading given by Marvin Rape.

Mr. and Mrs. Pleas Childress and Scott Peters were among those who went to San Angelo to attend the funeral of L. L. Farr Wednesday.

Mrs. A. E. Deland Out For Treasurer

Native Of Ozona Seeks Place Now Held By Tom Casbeer

Another contest for a county office in Crockett County developed this week with the official announcement of Mrs. A. E. Deland of Ozona for the office of county treasurer.

Mrs. Deland is in the race against Tom Casbeer, incumbent, who is seeking re-election for his thirteenth consecutive term in the office, having served as treasurer of Crockett County for 24 years. The new candidate filed her application the first of the week with County Chairman Houston Smith to have her name placed on the ballot in the July primary.

Mrs. Deland is a native of Ozona having been born and reared here. She was only assistant at the post-office here while Dr. Holmsley was postmaster and counts the experience thus obtained in public work as well as office management and clerical work among her qualifications for the office she now seeks.

"I feel certain that I can serve the people in the office of treasurer to the satisfaction of the voters and I am basing my candidacy on my own qualifications for the office," Mrs. Deland concluded.

Saturday Last Day For Candidates To File Applications

All candidates for county and precinct offices in Crockett County must file their application for a place on the primary ballot not later than Saturday of this week with Houston Smith, county chairman of the Democratic executive committee.

The county executive committee will meet next Monday, June 16, to assess the various candidates the amount necessary to print their names on the ballot and to determine by lot the order in which the names of the various candidates will appear on the ballot.

June 23 is the last day for candidates to pay the assessments to be made by the committee. County and precinct officers must file their expense accounts between June 26 and July 1.

LION TOURNEY DRAWS LARGE CROWD MON.

Many Prizes Awarded For Skill On Miniature Course

RECEIPTS TO CLUB

Evening's Play Will Net Organization Around $25

More than 100 persons took part in the Miniature Golf tournament staged last Monday evening at the Ray Phillips miniature course. Proceeds from the evening's play were donated by Mr. Phillips to the Lions Club charity funds, the gross receipts of the evening amounting to nearly $35.

A number of prizes were donated by merchants of Ozona to players participating in the tournament. The grand low score prize of the evening went to Joe Billy Keeton, young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Keeton, who turned in a 38, three under par for the 18 holes. Keeton was given $5 donated by the McLeod Motor Co. B. H. Murphy, manager of the Hotel Ozona, won low score for Lions with a 45, and was awarded a pocket knife by the Jones Saddlery Co.

Other prizes were awarded as follows:

Joe Oberkamp, low score for non-Lions, bill fold donated by the Ozona Drug Co.

Joe Weaver, high score for non-Lions, $1 worth of billiards at Jack Sharp's club.

A. W. Jones, high score among Lions belt buckle given by M. T. Blackwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Smith, couple with lowest combined score, cake given by Flowers Cash Grocery and Bakery.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Barbee, couple with highest combined score, one year's subscription to the Ozona Stockman.

Forene Adams, highest score among women, bottle of hair tonic given by John Pettit.

Mrs. N. W. Graham, low score for women, velvet placque donated by Joe Oberkamp.

Jack Sharp, most holes in par, Purina knife given by Luther and Newberry.

J. L. Littleton, most birdies, clean and press suit, by Jake Young tailor shop.

Evert White, first hole-in-one, tie given by Lemmons Dry Goods Co.

In addition to the above prizes every player who made a hole-in-one is entitled to a free shave and hair cut or hair bob for women at the Raymond Bennett Barber Shop. Also each prize winner is entitled to $1 worth of golf at the Ray Phillips course. Winners of the hole-in-one awards are as follows:

Joe Oberkamp, Evert White, Miss Sauda Wills, J. L. Littleton, L. L. Bewley, Miss Bernice Bailey, Eugene Montgomery, Paul Perner, Mrs. Joe Pierce, Miss Gladys Thornberg, Mrs. J. T. Keeton, O. F. Oathout, Rusty Smith, Ed Beap, J. T. Keeton, George Whitehead, and Mrs. Ruth Rutledge.

Intermittent Rains Soak Section Over Period Of Weeks

Intermittent rains, ranging from a slow drizzle to heavy downpours at intervals have continued practically all over this section for several weeks and will prove of inestimable value to the ranges in the stock raising area.

Starting last Saturday night, the sun has hardly shown itself in Ozona during the week, reaching a climax Wednesday night and Thursday morning with a heavy downpour that brought the total to more than an inch here for the period.

MURDER

Ten persons out of every 100,000 are victims of murderers every year in the United States.

This is an appalling record. Nothing like that number of murders occurs in any other civilized country. But that fact, published everywhere, gives our own people as well as foreigners an incorrect impression of the life of the United States and in the cities which may be called "murder centers."

Think it over for a minute. How many people do you know who have had any contact of any kind with murder? How many people in this community have been murdered, in recent years?

Even in Chicago, from which we hear more of murders and murderers than from any other place in America, conditions are not at all like that. Americans unfamiliar with the ways of big cities hesitate to go to Chicago for fear of being killed. Chicago newspapers report that travellers with several hours between trains frequently do not dare to leave the railroad station to look around the beautiful city, because they have heard so much about Chicago gunmen. The International Rotary Clubs recently felt impelled to send out word to its members everywhere in the world, assuring them that they would not be killed if they came to a convention in Chicago!

The plain fact of the matter is that in almost every case of murder the victim is either a criminal, an associate of criminals, or engaged in some reckless undertaking which exposes him unnecessarily to attack. Leaving out the people who have invited murder by their own acts, and officers of the law taking the necessary risks of their occupation, our proportion of murders to population, even in Chicago, is probably as low as in England or France.

That does not dispose, however, of the fact that there has developed in America a criminal element which is almost defiant in its attitude toward the authorities of the law. These men do fear the law, because they have found so many ways of evading the punishment which is due them for their crimes. The basic trouble is with our courts and with the public sentiment which permits travesties on justice to go unheeded and unchecked.

BOYS

How much is a boy worth? We always had supposed the answer was from a million dollars up. But a statistical wizard of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has figured it out differently. He calculates that the economic value of a boy at birth is $9333 and increase progressively to $28,654 by the time he is eighteen. He computes the value of a boy at birth as the amount it would be necessary to put out at interest at 3 1/2 per cent to rear him to an age of eighteen and to produce the net income he is expected to earn throughout the working period of his life.

From now on, instead of saying that "boys will be boys," shall we conclude the boys will be statistics? Not much! How could a real boy keep still long enough to be a statistic? No "regular feller" would even try. On the same day that the juggler of figures thought the average boy a lad in Philadelphia popped into the news to prove that it can't be done. Boys aren't average boys—they're boys. The Philadelphia one was Roy Benson, a fifteen-year-old sophomore in the Northeast High School. A week ago he had decided to forego his life's ambition to become a great organist. He had a job working week-ends in a grocery store and was spending the money for music lessons. But the family encountered financial difficulties and he quit his lessons and turned the money over to his mother. His teacher heard about it, and was trying to see what could be done about the matter when anonymous donor contributed funds for "lessons for life on the organ, or for as long as he wants them."

A boy worth a paltry $9333 at birth and only $28,654 at eighteen! Away with the statisticians! Why, even a boy's freckles or his whistle or his smile are worth more than that. We dare the statistician to show his estimate to that Philadelphia mother!—Christian Science Monitor.

Many people spend their time "waiting for something to turn up." Three things turn up if we wait long enough: our toes, our obituary and our will.

There is some virtue in John Garner's proposal to divide Texas into five states. There are not enough Fergusons to be elected in all five.

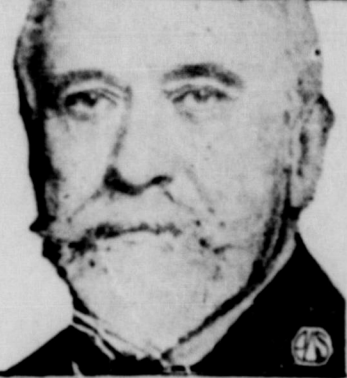

And then, just think, there would be five times as many candidates for governor.

The proposal might interest West Texas somewhat in view of the fact that should West Texas become a separate state it wouldn't take long to have a tax on University lands. As the situation now stands, East Texas has the University and West Texas supports it.

A few chunking stands, a shooting gallery, croquet court and horse shoe pitching ground and the south end of Powell Avenue would be named Carnival Row. It now supports two miniature golf courses, a skating rink, and tennis courts.

Special attention is called to the services next Sunday. Brother J. S. Newman of Junction is exchanging pulpits with me. Bro. Newman has been with the church at Junction for four years. He is a splendid preacher, a fine man and a church builder. He has builded one of the prettiest and most commodious church houses in West Texas. I consider it our good fortune to have his exchange and urge my many friends to hear him.

An Announcement of Interest to Patrons of our Service Dept.

Effective June 1, we are turning over active management and supervision of our repair and service department to Arthur M. Quist and Louis Donaho, supervising mechanics, and after that date our repair department will be operated by these men on a commission basis.

Both Mr. Quist and Mr. Donaho are expert mechanics. Both were formerly connected with the Dudley Motor Company here and Ozona people know their ability as mechanics. We believe that under the new management patrons of our service department will find it more satisfactory to deal directly with the heads of the department where the work is to be done.

This department is thoroughly equipped to do any kind of welding or machine work and to service and repair any make of automobile. Service rates will remain the same as at present and all bills for this work will be handled through the usual channel of the McLeod Motor Co. as at present.

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

Miss Adams remained in the taxicab at the club door while Hamilton went into the club-house and interviewed, in a small reception room, a psychiatrist who was at first somewhat resentful and then deeply interested. The Good Samaritan was soothed by the discovery that the doctor's surprise over the patient's disappearance was as great as his own. To Hamilton the suspicion that his carelessness was responsible for the girl's flight had been the turn of the screw.

"She left this for you," he ended, taking the envelope from his pocket and handing it over. "I'm hoping there's some clue in it."

Doctor Carrick opened the envelope. It contained a blank sheet of paper and a bank-note for twenty dollars.

He dropped the envelope and paper on the floor and Hamilton bent and picked them up.

"May I have these?" he asked, and put them into his pocket without waiting for permission.

Carrick got up and strolled around the room, in the manner of men who think best on their feet.

"You're sure no one else called on her, and that she didn't receive any telephone message?" he asked at last.

"Not to my knowledge. The telephone was in the sitting-room where I was reading, so I'd have heard it, and I suppose any card or guest would have come to the sitting-room door," Hamilton said.

"Probably," Carrick took another turn, while Hamilton sat still and gloomily watched him.

"Then what's back of it?" he muttered. "Just panic? In her condition she might easily have been afraid of me, and of the nurse, too; but I rather got a strong impression that she had confidence in you." He stopped and met Hamilton's eyes with a sudden keenly professional look. "You felt the same, didn't you?"

"Yes, I did. It touched me very much. It's one of the things that makes me feel that I can't let her down," Hamilton admitted. "I've simply got to find her and be sure she's all right."

"It's going to be a tough job to find her," he predicted. "And I'm afraid it's a job where I can't help you much. Left to herself, she'll give sanatoriums and doctors and nurses the widest kind of berth."

There seemed nothing more to say, but for a moment longer they faced each other uncertainly. Then Hamilton straightened his shoulders with a gesture his intimates would have recognized as characteristic of him in moments of final decision.

"I'll tackle it," he announced, referring to the "big job."

"Good!" said the doctor heartily. "And keep me posted," he added, not quite so heartily, for Carrick was a man hard-driven by his practice. "Let me know if I can be of any use."

They shook hands.

"Better go a little more fully into all the details of her leaving the hotel," was Carrick's final advice. "Interview every one who could possibly have seen her or talked to her. They do queer things when they're like that."

"He couldn't help much," Hamilton reported to Miss Adams. "Where shall I tell the driver to take you?"

She gave him her address and he paid the chauffeur in advance, adding, on a sudden memory, the amount due for a night's service. It was a comfort to watch the taxicab vanish toward Fifth Avenue. He had a frantic wish to be alone to begin his quest at once. In a case like this every minute counted. But . . . where could he begin? Carrick's club was in the Forties, off Broadway, and the roar of the city came to Hamilton from every side as he stood at the curb for a moment, looking around for another taxicab.

What a damned heartless world it was! There was a moon in the sky—a fat moon, which seemed to be leering down at him. . . . This town was an awful place for a helpless girl to be alone at night. . . . "Miss Nobody from Nowhere" . . . and she had confessed that she hadn't brought much money.

"God!" he breathed. It was as near a prayer as any he had uttered since he was a very little boy.

As if in answer to it a calming memory came to him. He saw her as she had been in the park, as she had been with him, as she had been with the doctor . . . thinking clearly, deciding swiftly . . . terrified, yes, but "holding fast" in a situation that would have appalled the strongest soul; and his nerves steadied. She was fighting with her back to the wall, but even in those few hours she had opened new windows of life to him, and he had gained in understanding. He would find her.

He leaned forward and gave to the waiting driver the address of a newspaper on whose staff one of his friends worked.

When Eve left her visitor in her hotel sitting-room and went into her bedroom, supposedly to get ready for the nurse, she absent-mindedly tripped over a projecting end of the cot she had ordered. The little episode underlined her dread of the night, and she stood staring at the cot as if already she saw its occupant there. It was in place, the chambermaid had gone, the room was in order, and the opposite door of the bedroom, which led into a rear hall of the hotel, was just closing on the modest exit of the porter. She stopped the man with a word, a ready hand mechanically reaching into her hand-bag for her purse. He was a young Frenchman, as he came back into the room in answer to her summons his expectant smile suddenly broadened into a look of pleased recognition.

"Good evening, mademoiselle," he said with the eagerness of a lonely person who sees a familiar face in a strange land; and he added in French rather blankly, as he caught her expression of surprise. "But Mademoiselle does not remember me?"

"No doubt I should do so," Eve answered in his own tongue, and again he smiled and brightened. "Just where did you see me?" she asked.

He began to explain, volubly and happily, enchanted it was clear by this unexpected encounter with a former patron, and perhaps foreseeing, too, agreeable possibilities of fees in the new association. They were standing near the entrance he had used, and with a gesture she drew him over the threshold and out into the hall, closing the door behind her.

It was in Paris they had met, the porter explained, in the little Hotel Voltaire of the Quai Voltaire on the left bank, when Mademoiselle had spent the winter there three . . . no, it was four years ago. It was not surprising that Mademoiselle did not remember him, he humbly admitted. He himself had then been of an unimaginable importance—not even her waiter, but merely a waiter's boy. Still, in that lowly capacity, he had daily seen Mademoiselle, and once or twice had done small services for her such as carrying notes to her friends.

Despite his Gallic courtesy, it was clear that he was disappointed by her failure to recognize him, and Eve sought to soothe his hurt pride by a larger fee than the cot-bringing justified, while with an increasing tremor she considered what the encounter might mean to her. The young Frenchman would earn much more than a fifty-cent tip before their interview ended, but the instinct of caution developed in her during the past few hours made her quiet her singing nerves and move slowly.

"And you have remembered my name all this time?" she asked in a voice she vainly tried to keep steady.

The young porter, however, observed nothing unusual about it, for here the entente between them so agreeable up to now received a sudden chill. He flushed and stampered. It was incredible; it was unpardonable; he abased himself before her; but the fact remained that for the moment he did not remember Mademoiselle's name. Her face, of course, one would never

The Way of Life

by BRUCE BARTON

WORRYING DOESN'T PAY

On his way back to a college reunion, one of my friends stopped off in the little town where he had spent his boyhood.

"How is business?" he asked a local merchant.

"Awful bad," was the reply. "And what's more, I don't like the outlook."

"Why not?"
"Well, there's elements in the situation that might develop a lot of trouble. At least that's the way it looks to me."

My friend lighted a cigar, and leaned over the counter.

"George," said he familiarly, those are almost exactly the same words I used to hear from the storekeepers when I was a kid here twenty-five years ago. I've been a subscriber to the local paper ever since I left, and most of those old storekeepers have died. I have taken special notice of the size of their estates. How much money do you think they left? Between a hundred thousand and two hundred thousand dollars each. And here's the funny thing—every penny was made out of businesses which were always bad and always on the verge of getting ever so much worse."

I suppose that if gravestones told the real truth, nine out of ten of them would bear a line to this effect: "This man's life was shortened several years by the fear of bad developments, most of which never occurred."

Even very wise men, as their years have increased, have suffered from the evil habit of fearing the worst. The Rev. Dr. Cotton Mather, who died two hundred years ago in Boston, was the most eminent graduate of Harvard and virtually the founder of Yale. He had a fine and a wonderful mind.

Yet in his old age he viewed the future disconsolately. He concluded that God had brought the Pilgrims across the ocean to "a New England desert" for a very special purpose, but that this purpose had obviously been accomplished and that the whole colony would "soon come to naught."

The colony shows no signs of coming to naught, but there are doubtless a million men in it today who are losing the fun of their current success because of the dread that something unfortunate may be about to happen.

"One-fourth of life is intelligible," said Mark Rutherford, "the other three-fourths unintelligible darkness; and our earliest duty is to cultivate the habit of not looking around the corner."

Those of us who do not look get an unexpected bump occasionally, but how much faster we travel! And what a lot more fun we are having because of the imaginary bumps that we miss!

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

by JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

SELF-DRUGGING

It grows on people—the habit of "taking something" for every little discomfort they happen to feel. Self-dosing is never the wise thing to do; you would not employ a physician to treat you who made no pretense to any knowledge of treating the sick or indisposed; now, would you? Then why do it yourself.

A diagnosis of any indisposition is necessary before any sort of intelligent treatment can be instituted. Even the intelligent physician may be puzzled over the actual cause of a given complaint, often a comparatively trivial, yet a very annoying thing. Not long ago I met a lady who had spent over $500 on a peculiar neuralgic headache without more than temporary relief; she had taken every variety of "headache tablets" that she heard of—seriously impairing her blood and weakening her heart very perceptibly; I suggested examining her nasal passages and sinuses; "O, there's nothing wrong there—I have no catarrh," she insisted.

Nevertheless a few treatments to reduce the swollen turbinates cured the headache.

Many elderly men in the western section of our country are sure they have "prostate trouble." They hear their symptoms accurately described daily over the radio, by the advertising miracle-worker; they hear the promise of absolute cure by a simple operation—they make their own diagnosis, and drug themselves frantically without benefit; they accept the fakir's "simple operation," paying for it in advance with all the money they can scrape together; they reason that, if the quack were not honest, the government would not permit him to broadcast his ballduho! A nasty mess, isn't it? They do broadcast just the same; we are so busy trying to avoid foreign entanglements that we haven't time to protect our people from fraud!

Several men have recently lost their lives because of their gullibility, according to newspaper reports, in one of our western states.

The Blow-Out Proof Tire

Will Keep You Safe—End Every Tire Hazard

EVERY MILE on doubtful tires invites disaster. Your own tires may be ready to blow out at the next bump in the road. You can't tell by looking at them.

Blowouts hide inside your tires, hidden from inspection. They breed on summer heat from glaring pavements—grow nearer with every turn of a tire wearing and weakening through internal friction. They catch you in a crisis—when safety rests on your tires' ability to stand a sudden swerve—quick pick-up—a pounding break in the pavement.

When the blowout comes, you're helpless. Wrecked without a chance to save yourself. For modern road speeds leave less than one-tenth of a second before you crash, and no human can act in that brief time.

No motorist need face such dangers. General Dual-Balloons remove every tire hazard from modern motoring—Blow-Out Proof—their unmatched safety proved in the most spectacular tests ever witnessed by safety experts. They have defied shocks that the sturdy steel of your car frame could not stand—have taken punishment you'll never be able to give them. They are skid-safe, too—proved by tests on wet pavement, snow and ice—taking turns 15 to 25 miles faster than you dare take them on your present tires.

Come in now during our Fifth Annual and greatest sale. Get the whole story of greater safety and actually lowered mileage cost. Learn how our drastically lowered prices, specially reduced for this sale, and unequalled trade-in allowances will equip you with 100% safe, Blow-OutProof Tires at savings that take all the strain off your Budget.

L. L. Farr Dies In Temple Hospital

Pioneer Business Man And Rancher Of San Angelo Buried Wed.

Funeral services for Louis L. Farr, 65, prominent business man, ranchman and civic leader, were held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning from the First Christian church in San Angelo. Mr. Farr died at 1:25 o'clock Tuesday morning in a Temple hospital after a brief illness.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. W. H. Kindred, burial being in Fairmount Cemetery at San Angelo. Active pallbearers were J. Miles O' Daniel, Lee Aldwell, Frank Cargile, Vosberg Hall, J. W. Johnson, Jared P. Hill, Louis Yates and Leaman Walters.

Mr. Farr was one of the most active men in business, religious and civic affairs in this section of the state. The influence of his life is reflected in many businesses and in the lives of many individuals of the section.

He was vice-president and chairman of the board of the Central National Bank and president of the Central Loan Company. He has been a director in the Wool Growers Central Storage Company since 1919 and was active in its business management. He was business manager and associated with Ira G. Yates and was manager for the Sawyer Cattle Company of the huge Bar-S ranch, pointed out as a model of its kind. His business activities were far reaching and included the management of his own successful ranch near Water Valley.

He was born in Greenville, Texas, Aug. 19, 1865. Survivors include the widow and two sons, Louis L. Farr, Jr., foreman of the Bar-S ranch and James Farr of San Angelo, and a daughter, Mrs. Paul D. Thomas of El Paso, who has been seriously ill there.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Kincaid, Sr., and Miss Mary Kincaid were in San Angelo the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Coates of Pecos County were in Ozona over the week-end.

Old Timers Crowd Giants In 11 To 12 Game Here Friday

Sam Cox's Old Timers, pounders of the diamond dust of twenty years ago, were nipping the heels of the Ozona Giants when the last man was out in the seventh and last inning of the fourth of the seven-game series on the local diamond Friday afternoon. Six scores pushed across in that last frame were almost sufficient to tie the count with the Giants, but not quite, and the game ended with the Giants credited with twelve and the Old Timers with eleven.

The Giants got off to a healthy lead in the first inning when they pushed over three runs, following in the next with another one. The Old Timers managed to get over two markers in the fourth, but the Giants countered with four in the same frame. In the next inning the Old Timers got three more but a gain the Giants pushed them back with four more.

The opening of the seventh saw the Old Timers trailing 12 to 5. Madden Read's home run with three men on bases in that inning started a riot but when the smoke cleared the Old Timers were one run short of a tie and the game was over.

If weather will permit, the fifth game of the series will be played at Powell Field Friday afternoon of this week, beginning at 5:30.

For Rent—Two unfurnished rooms. See Mrs. H. O. Word or phone 90.

Rodeo Feature Of W. Tex. Exposition

Wild West Performance To Be Given At San Angelo Fair

SAN ANGELO, June 11—Outlaw horses and wild cattle that will be gathered from the ranches of West Texas will match wits with cowboys and cowgirls who have won recognition in the great rodeo shows of the nation at the West Texas Exposition here Sept. 22 to 27, according to Jess Elrod, member of the executive board of the exposition in charge of plans for the rodeo.

Announcement that three rodeo performances will be given in front of the grandstand overlooking the one mile fairgrounds race track during the exposition has been made by Mr. Elrod's committee, of which John P. Lee and Jax Cowden are members.

In addition to having supervised rodeo events for the exposition here, Mr. Lee is a member of the executive board of the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth, and for years has had an active part in arranging rodeo events for the Fort Worth show. Some of the talent that has contributed to the success of the Fort Worth show will participate in the events at the local exposition in September, Mr. Lee pointed out.

Construction of chutes and pens about the fair grounds arena will be under way soon, Mr. Lee pointed out.

SKATING RINK COMES

Another amusement feature for Ozona makes its appearance here this week. A skating rink is under construction on the lot just south of the Forehand Tire Company and its operation will be under the direction of Joe Forehand. The new rink, a portable affair, is 40 by 90 feet and is covered with a tent. More than 200 pair of fine skates will be available for use of patrons of this class of amusement.

reasons why it's wise to choose a
"SIX"

1. It's Smooth! Chevrolet has a 50-horsepower six-cylinder valve-in-head engine that delivers its power with a smoothness and silence that are impossible with anything less than six cylinders.

2. It's Comfortable! Chevrolet offers modern spring suspension, roomy bodies, and a smooth-running six-cylinder engine.

3. It's Easy to Drive! Chevrolet provides an extra-easy ball bearing steering mechanism. And six-cylinder flexibility means unusual simplicity of control.

4. It's Beautiful! Chevrolet is the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. Hence, its style compares favorably with that of costly cars.

5. It's Economical! The Chevrolet costs no more for gas—oil—tires—or service. And six-cylinder smoothness holds down costs, by protecting the car from destructive vibration.

6. It's Easy to Buy! The G. M. A. C. payment plan, with its easy terms, is available to all Chevrolet buyers. Come in! Confirm all the reasons why it's wise to choose a Chevrolet Six.

forget. Even though he himself had been a mere boy of seventeen when he last saw it, had he not remembered it at once, after four years? Eve let the flow of compliments pour forth. Her mind was working clearly and rapidly. She had merely intended to get away from the hotel, without knowing how she was going to do it. Now she realized that this youth could help her and that she meant to establish a relationship between them which would enable her to keep in touch with him. Mentally she considered a plan while her brain subconsciously registered what the porter was saying.

Undoubtedly, he assured her, the name would come to him at any moment. This, she knew, was possible. Sooner or later he ought to recall that name. He might recall, too, if he did not now remember them, the names of the friends to whom he had carried those notes, the names of friends who had come to see her, episodes of the life she had lived in Paris—all or any of which, when he told them to her, could be the clues she needed. Yes, in those gesticulating and not overclean young hands might lie the strings that would lead her back into the normal world.

"What is your name?" she abruptly asked him.

"Marcel Carpentier, mademoiselle," he told her.

"Listen, Marcel," she said, still in his own language. "Listen attentively. I have a plan and perhaps you can help me. If you can, I know you will, for we were acquaintances in France." She stopped with a gesture his eager assurance, looked understandingly at his brightening face, and went on: "Besides, I will of course pay you well for any time and trouble you give to my service."

"I desire to leave this hotel, Marcel," she continued, "and to find a new home in this city. I must, of course, see the clerk and pay him when I go. But there are reasons why I wish no one to know where I am, except you. You, I am sure, I can trust."

The tribute, she was glad to observe, left him speechless.

"What I can do for Mademoiselle will be done," was all he could bring out, his black eyes avid with interest.

"Thank you. Then tell me, first, do you know of a good place where I can go and live?—one which is not expensive," she added. "A place simple and clean and respectable, like the one you speak of in Paris."

She took it for granted that the little hotel in Paris had these qualities, and apparently she was right for Marcel nodded and gave himself to ostentatious thought.

He had been in the city less than half a year, and he had little knowledge of either hotels or lodgings; but now he remembered something. A friend of his, he told her, was the janitor of a downtown house which had little apartments of two or three rooms—a sitting-room, a bedroom, even a bathroom, and of a price very reasonable.

Eve came to a prompt decision. She went back into the bedroom and returned with a sheet of paper and a pencil.

"Write the address for me," she directed, "and your full name, too. I will go and look at the house you speak of. If I do not settle there, I will let you know. Unless you hear from me, come there at eight tomorrow evening. I desire to have a long talk with you."

She took the slip he gave her and handed him five dollars.

"Remember," she warned. "I am trusting you. Not a word to any one."

Marcel took the bank-note and pocketed it. His face was very serious. It was odd—all this. There was much in it he did not understand. She had not been thus in Paris. But he would serve the lady to the best of his ability.

Eve packed in seven minutes.

She was out of the hotel twenty three minutes after she had left Hamilton. She walked across to the next avenue and there picked up a taxicab.

Alpine Merchants Show That Barnum Knew His Garden Stuff

Barnum knew his stuff when he made the famous statement about the public liking to be humbugged. For proof of this statement the Avalanche would refer you to the two alleged "advertising" schemes staged here this week. One was a "rule card" which was to be posted in a large building in Alpine, the "rules" in the center of a 11x13 placard with "advertising" spaces at top, bottom and down the sides. The boys took this in, hook and sinker, paying at the rate of about ten bucks an inch for the "privilege" of getting their respective businesses "advertised" in the rooms of the building.

The ambitious "advertisers" of Alpine were just as gullible, reports indicate, when a second salesman "came along with a menu—the old stand-by. When you can't sell 'em anything else, try a menu 'advertisement on 'em. This nearly always works. The boys like to see their ads smeared with him and, apparently, the space on this menu probably sold for about the same rate per inch as the "rule card". Alpine Avalanche.

The GOODYEAR Double Eagle

We are showing a tire such as the world has never seen—the new GOODYEAR DOUBLE EAGLE.

Built without limit as to cost—Goodyear's 30th Anniversary achievement. Admittedly a better, costlier tire than most people need.

It should last as long as the average owner uses his car. Virtually puncture-proof and free from risk of blowout, no tire has ever, we believe, withstood such abusive tests of speed and endurance.

Mrs. Grady Mitcham returned to her home in San Angelo Sunday. She was accompanied home by Miss Ethel Childress who went to Galveston for a visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oberkamp returned to their home in San Angelo Saturday after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Oberkamp. Mrs. Joe Oberkamp accompanied them.

Mrs. Clark Barton and Miss Dorothy Barton of Galveston are visiting Mrs. Barton's mother, Mrs. W. F. Coates, and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barton and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Baggett and Mrs. Kate Baggett will return from Temple Friday. Mr. Baggett is recovering from a recent operation. Mrs. Kate Baggett has been visiting a sister.

Mrs. Tom Smith and Miss Tommy Smith returned Wednesday from San Angelo where Miss Smith has been receiving medical attention for an infection in her ears.

Mrs. R. A. Evans returned to her home in Eldorado last Saturday after spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Smith. She was accompanied by Mrs. Smith, who will spend a few days visiting in Eldorado.

Mrs. W. E. Smith has returned from a visit of several weeks to San Antonio and San Angelo. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Taylor went to San Angelo for her Monday.

Scott Peters was in San Angelo over the week-end to visit Mrs. Peters, who is recovering from an operation in a San Antonio hospital. Van Fitz went with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Smith were in San Angelo over the week-end.

John Rochelle is spending the week in Dallas visiting his family.

CARD OF THANKS

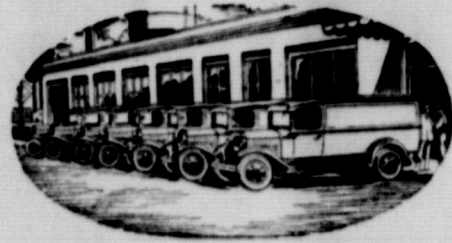

With much gratitude from the depths of our hearts, we wish to thank our many friends who so kindly befriended us during our deep grief occasioned by the passing away of our precious little Lois. The floral offerings were beautiful.

May God bless you all and sustain you in such an hour is our prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Deland and Margaret.

Mrs. M. T. Blackwell is visiting her mother in Harper this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Davidson, Jr., were in San Angelo Monday.

SERVING MANY BUSINESSES

Experience of large fleet owners reveals the unusual reliability and economy of the new Ford

A SIGNIFICANT TRIBUTE to the value of the new Ford is found in its increasing use by Federal, state and city governments and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most instances, the Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests of every factor that contributes to good performance—speed, power, safety, comfort, low cost of operation and up-keep, reliability and long life.

Prominent among the companies using the Ford are the Associated Companies of the Bell System, Armour and Company, The Borden Company, Continental Baking Corporation, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, General Electric Company, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Kellogg Company, Knickerbocker Ice Company, Morton Salt Company, Pillsbury Flour Mills Company, The Procter and Gamble Company, and Swift & Company.

Each of these companies uses a large number of Ford cars and trucks. The Associated Companies of the Bell System use more than eight thousand.

Modern business moves at a fast pace and it needs the Ford. Daily, in countless ways and places, it helps to speed the production and delivery of the world's goods and extend the useful service of men and companies.

Constant, steady operation over many thousands of miles emphasizes the advantages of the sound design of the Ford car, its high quality of materials, and unusual accuracy in manufacturing. Beneath its graceful lines and beautiful colors there is a high degree of mechanical excellence.

An example of the value built into the Ford is the use of more than twenty ball and roller bearings. They are hidden within the car and you may never see them. Yet they play an important part in satisfactory, economical performance. Their function is similar to the jewels of a fine watch.

Throughout the Ford chassis, a ball or roller bearing is used at every place where it is needed to reduce friction and wear and give smooth, reliable mechanical operation.

At many points, as on the transmission counter-shaft, clutch release, fan and pump shaft, and front drive shaft, these ball and roller bearings are used where less costly types of bearings might be considered adequate.

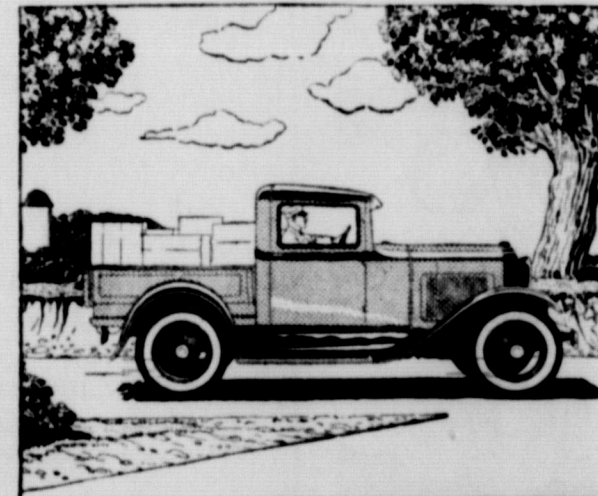

Additional instances of the high quality built into the Ford are the extensive use of steel forgings, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, Rustless Steel, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, three-quarter floating rear axle, and the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield.

The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part and then, through large production, give it to the public at low cost.

Rodeo Catalogs Are Off Press

Distribution Of Hand- some Programs Un- der Way Now

The 1936 Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet and Stock Show catalogues, containing the complete program of the three days celebration here July 3, 4 and 5, attractive local pictures, rules and regulations of the stock show and sales and advertisements of merchants and business firms through out this section are off the press here this week.

Distribution of these books will begin immediately, officials of the fair association and individuals here circulating them throughout the state.

The 1936 books, outlining the fifth annual event here, are the most attractive ever issued for the local show. The books contain sixty pages and the cover.

Publication of this book, one of the most attractive pieces of advertising literature circulated on behalf of the local fair, is made possible by the liberal co-operation of business houses throughout this section. Most of the business firms in Ozona have space in the book and a number in San Angelo and other towns. These merchants who advertise in your fair catalogue are not only contributing to the success of your fair, but are thus making an earnest bid for your business. They have arranged attractive ads which go far toward making the books more effective and you are urged to study the ads of merchants represented therein and give them the consideration due them for their part in making the publication of these catalogues possible.

fag." The physical effort of continuous speaking is a great energy-consumer, as every orator and actor knows.
Most often, so-called mental fatigue comes from the failure to eliminate wastes properly from the body. The one thing the brain-worker needs most is physical exercise in the open air.

MOVIES

Mr. Will H. Hays, President of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, very courteously writes to me concerning a comment in this column a few weeks ago to the effect that the movies do not give a real picture of life, and sends me a quantity of printed matter to prove that the picture men are doing their best to keep the movies pure. Purity is one thing and intelligence is something else again. You can lay down rules which if followed, will prevent the movies from giving offense even to the most prudish mind. There are no possible rules by which people who do not know the difference between truth and falsehood can be prevented from putting false ideas on the screen.

The motion picture is today the most influential force in the world, because it impresses the very young through the most effective channel for impression, the eyes. For that reason, the movies are a fair target for criticism all the time.

FAMOUS "DOUBLE" CRASHES CAR INTO BRICK WALL

A 10-TON brick and concrete wall was moved inches from its base, three feet under ground, when a 3,000 pound, eight-cylinder touring car was driven head-on into it at 37 miles an hour by Capt. Dick Grace, Hollywood's most famous crasher of airplanes and autos to make movie thrills.

The full impact of the terrific blow was received by the General Dual Balloon 8 Blow-out Proof tires, on the car. Although the rims were bent out of shape, the tires were not damaged in any way, inside or out.

In the upper picture, Capt. Grace is shown being hurled from the car when the crash came. In the lower picture is shown Capt. Grace with one of the tires photographed just after the crash.

Grandstand Fund Still Under $100

Sorrels Donates $43 ; Attendance Off At Friday Games

A fund which Ozona baseball players and fans are attempting to raise for the purpose of constructing a grandstand at Powell Field for the comfort of sport fans for many years to come is still far short of the goal, according to backers of the move. Less than $100 has been raised to date.

Four of a scheduled series of seven weekly games between the Old Timers, baseball stars of the Ozona team of eighteen or twenty years ago and the present day weather permitting.

Attendance has been light at these contests. A nominal admission charge of 25 cents is made

... and is Hidden

The Ostrich sticks its head in the sand and thinks it is hidden from sight. That is the popular conception of this quaint little act which the Ostrich does.

It is the same way with a lot of people who do business on a credit basis. They stick their heads into the sand of "Charge It" and don't realize that it is only closing their own eyes. There has to be a reckoning some day... and that is when the credit buyer finds himself in embarrassing circumstances.

There is no percentage in staying blind to the advantages of paying cash. Why not trade with a first-class firm, doing business for cash?

"WE GO THE LIMIT TO PLEASE"

KING TUT'S PYRAMIDS

King Tut's Transportation Problems were settled in a way that is the marvel of modern engineers. His methods, in a way, were crude compared to modern ideas... barges, big carts and man power. With this crude method of transportation the Pyramids were built. If the labor had not been organized it is more than probable these large engineering structures would not now grace Egypt.

The economic forces which made organized transportation a paying proposition then are the same that make it so now. Call phones 168 or 275, or place your order at Ozona Tire and Battery Co. for the Best Hauling Service.
