H. A. ELLEDGE IS APPOINTED POUND MASTER

Sheriff Willis Names Official To Enforce Stock Law

POUND FEES FIXED $2 Fee and $1 Day To Be Charged On Impounded Animals

H. A. Elledge, long time Ozona resident, was named pound master here under special appointment by Sheriff W. S. Willis, according to announcement made Monday by the Sheriff.

Appointment of the pound master was made by the Sheriff at the request of citizens who sought enforcement of the stock laws now in force in this county. Stray animals have been roaming about the city, doing hundreds of dollars worth of damage to lawns, flower gardens and expensive shrubbery and in most instances without penalty upon the owner by reason of the fact that a complaint in criminal court was the only recourse the property owner had.

With a pound master available to impound stray animals and to impose nominal fines upon owners who allow them to run at large it is believed that residents will not hesitate to notify the pound man when an animal is found running at large. It is also believed that payment of a few penalties will bring about a determination on the part of owners of livestock in town to provide secure pens for them or to see that they are securely tied.

Fee Is $2 Per Head
Mr. Elledge says that he accepted the sheriff's appointment to the post more in the belief that he could be of service to the community than for what small fees he might make from it. He, too, believes that the nuisance will be abated once owners of livestock are convinced that the law will be enforced and that if their stock is allowed to run at large a sure penalty will result.

A pound fee of $2 per head will be charged on all animals impounded. In addition to this charge there will be a day charge of $1 for each day the animal is kept in the pound and if it becomes necessary to feed impounded animals, the feed bill will be charged to the owner in addition to the other penalties. Animals not claimed in a reasonable length of time will be sold at auction to recover charges.

Mr. Elledge will be available at his residence, Phone No. 182, most of the time. He has a horse and saddle and will be equipped to take charge of any stray animals promptly upon being notified of their whereabouts. Residents are urged to notify Mr. Elledge immediately upon discovery of a stray animal in order that damage to neighborhood premises might be avoided if possible.

PLEAS CHILDRESS, JR. INJURED IN DIVING

Pleas Childress, Jr., suffered a severe gash in his forehead Sunday afternoon when he struck a rock or snag in diving into the Pecos River on the Ben Ingham ranch. Young Childress and a group of companions were in swimming when the accident occurred and he was given first aid treatment at the Ingham ranch before being brought here for medical attention.

Several stitches were required to close the wound. He is still confined to his bed, but is thought to be improving.

Clyde Leath who is employed in the rock quarry where stone is being taken out for the construction of the new school building, suffered a badly crushed right hand Tuesday afternoon when a rock which he was helping remove from the saw carriage slipped. It is feared that he will lose one of his fingers.

Legion Post May Be Formed Here

16 Names Signed To Petition For Charter During Concert

Sixteen names of former service men who served in the army or navy during the World War were secured to a petition to national headquarters of the American Legion asking for establishment of an American Legion post in Ozona during the street concert given by the 10th U. S. Cavalry band here Monday night.

Organization of the Legion post was sought upon the invitation of Harry Lambert of Pecos, Texas, commander of the Davis Mountains Division of the American Legion, who with Clyde Simmons of Pecos, accompanied the negro soldier band here. The band's tour through this section is being sponsored by the Davis Mountains Division of the American Legion and Mr. Lambert and Mr. Simmons are helping service men in towns where no post exists to secure a charter.

Mr. Lambert made an impassioned plea for organization of former service men in a talk during the concert. He pointed out the accomplishments of the organization and urged all local men who served the government during the World War to join the organization. A minimum of fifteen names is required for establishment of a post. The petition for a post in Ozona will be forwarded by the division commander to national headquarters and as soon as the charter is granted an organization meeting will likely be called by Mr. Lambert.

The 10th U. S. Cavalry Band, on a good-will tour of the southwest, drew a big crowd at its downtown concert in front of the North Motor Company. Previous to the concert, the negro soldiers, a crack troop stationed at Fort Huachuca, Arizona, paraded through the business section of the city to the place of the concert.

Beginning at 9 o'clock, the army band played for a dance on the open-air platform at the fair grounds. A small crowd of dancers took part in the event.

Giants Play Ft. Worth For Rodeo

2-Game Series Matched; Sonora Coming First Day

Ozona Giants will take on some big timber on the local lot during the coming sixth annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet, Stock Show and Sale next week.

The Fort Worth All-Stars, crack diamond aggregation from down "where the West begins," have been matched for a two-game series with the locals on Powell Field for the last two days of the celebration, Friday and Saturday of next week.

The Giants will be seen in action each morning during the three days celebration. The first day will be given over to stemming an attack from the Sonora Broncos. The Giants and Broncos are on an even basis at this stage of the season, each having won one and lost one and next Thursday's game will be the "sugar game" between the two.

The Giants are looking forward to three stiff games in this series, but Manager Sam Cox is building up a strong aggregation here and expects to offer the visitors plenty of entertainment.

The games will start each morning at 10 o'clock at Powell Field, at the south end of the main business section street and will end in plenty of time for the free barbecue at noon each day in the city park. An admission of 75 cents will be made, the visiting teams to take a percentage for their expenses. Proceeds above expenses will be applied by the local team to the fund being raised for a grandstand on Powell Field.

Truck Trouble Delays Clean-Up Campaign; Completed Thursday

Truck trouble interrupted the quarterly clean-up campaign sponsored by the Ozona Woman's Club this week but the drive will be completed today, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. W. J. Grimmer, president of the club.

The drive was to have been completed in two days, Tuesday and Wednesday, but one of the trucks went out of commission Wednesday morning and it was found necessary to extend the campaign into Thursday.

Persons whose trash was missed are asked to call Mrs. Grimmer or Mrs. John Bailey and the trucks will be returned.

Mrs. A. C. Hoover is ill with an attack of bronchial flu.

Giants Drop 2 At Sanderson

Lady Luck Frowns On Locals In Rodeo Series There

Lady luck frowned on the Ozona Giants on two successive days on their expedition into the Sanderson country the past week to engage the Sanderson nine in a two-game series there during the annual rodeo.

The gods of fortune were especially harsh on the local lads the first day in a twelve-inning fracas which ended when Con Cox and Bob Weaver figured in a center-field collision which allowed an easy high fly to plop to the turf, sending over the winning run for the Sanderson aggregation. The score was 6 and 5. The game was to have been called a tie at the end of the twelfth frame should no scores be made, under an agreement at the start of that inning. Ozona had batted and failed to push over a marker. Then the Sanderson team came up and with a man on second, two men out, the batter sent one skyward over center field. Weaver camped under it and Cox was pushing the ground under to sack it and—bang!—the game was over.

Lefty Hanna of Blackwell, a powerful southpaw hurler, was forcing the opponents to eat out of his hand when the center-field accident terminated the day's festivities. The second day, Saturday, it was a different story, however, when Sanderson kicked dust in the eyes of the locals to the tune of 15 to 5, with Con Cox, Sam Cox and Tot Grimmer trying their hand successively on the mound in an effort to stem the tide. The Giants made the Sanderson trip on a flat guarantee of $75.

Jake Goodwin of Montgomery, Ala., and Bob Hourigouchi of Japan, students in the University of Missouri department of journalism, stopped over in Ozona a few days this week on a tour which will carry them through Mexico and most of the southern states. Both young men are doing feature writing work on this tour to complete work for their degrees from the University and expect to get horses and saddles in Villa Acuna for their tour through Mexico.

N. H. Pierce of Menard, district governor-elect, who will succeed Lion Dugger following the International Convention in Toronto next month, was also invited to be present and address the local gathering but on account of a previous engagement will not be able to be present. Mr. Pierce has been here on several occasions and his ability as a speaker and his enthusiasm for the club's work is well known. He has promised to pay the Ozona Club a visit at the first opportunity.

Reports of retiring officers, acceptances of the new officers and special musical numbers will constitute the evening's program.

WELL KNOWN BREEDER TO OFFICATE AT SHOW HERE NEXT WEEK

John Burns of Fort Worth, secretary-manager of the Texas Marketing Association and reputed to be one of the best informed breeders of registered Hereford cattle in the state, will be the official judge in the registered Hereford cattle show in connection with the sixth annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet, Stock Show and Sale here next week, it was announced today by Mrs. Joe T. Davidson, secretary of the Hereford division.

Mr. Burns was formerly associated with the Texas Hereford Breeders' Association in an official capacity but for the last few years has been head of the marketing association. He is considered one of the best judges of Hereford cattle in the south and heads of the local show feel that his selection as judge will add much to the success of the event.

A large number of entries in both the Hereford show and sale have been received to date, Mrs. Davidson announced, and she and her husband, who is chairman of the division, are looking forward to one of the most successful shows and sales in years.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Bishop write from Boulder, Colo., and ask that their copy of The Stockman be sent to them there during the summer. Mr. Bishop is attending summer school there.

LET CONTRACT ON CROCKETT ROAD PROJECT

Fort Worth Firm Gets Award For Grading East End OST

COST IS $84,799 Estimated Work Will Begin In Two Or Three Weeks

The first award of contract on Crockett County's $1,500,000 highway building program was made by the State Highway Commission in its regular session at Austin Tuesday when a contract for grading and drainage structures on the east end of the Old Spanish Trail from the town of Ozona to the Sutton County line, a distance of 15.089 miles, was awarded to L. J. Miles of Fort Worth, at a total cost of $84,799.

Nearly four million dollars in contracts were awarded by the Highway Commission in its two day session. The contracts were awarded on an average of 21 per cent less than the estimated cost of the projects. It was estimated that the 15-mile grading and drainage project in Crockett County would amount to approximately $110,000.

Included in the awards this month were two other projects on the Old Spanish Trail, Highway No. 27. Contracts were awarded for construction of four bridges on this highway through Kerr County and for grading and drainage structures on 13.2 miles of it in the same county, from the Kendall County line to five miles east of Kerrville.

It is estimated that work on the Crockett County project will get under way in the next two or three weeks, depending on the speed with which the contractor furnishes an approved bond. It is thought that the contractor will begin moving in materials and men at once to get in readiness for starting the work as soon as the bond is approved.

EDUCATION

Education is of various kinds and may be acquired in various ways. The usual way of acquiring an education, of course, is to attend school and afterward some college, but this is not the only way.

In fact, school and college are the lazy man's method of instruction—if one has sufficient ambition—enough gumption—he can educate himself. Some of the best educated men in the history of our country never attended college, and some of them did not even
"enjoy" a common school education. Abraham Lincoln, for example, never even passed through what is known as the eighth grade
—did not even learn all, or much,
in fact, of what the ordinary country school had to offer him in a day when the country school in this country was at its worst. Yet Mr. Lincoln was a statesman and a scholar, whom no man would think of classifying as uneducated.

The easy way to acquire an education is to go to college, but if one has ambition, a college is not essential. Probably a hundred men who have made their mark in American history never saw the inside of a college, unless it were to be invited in and have college honors bestowed upon them for their achievements in education or in other lines.

Colleges nowadays are recognizing and are conferring degrees on men who have not attended college, but who have learned by experience many things not necessarily in the college course, but which even the colleges are recognizing now as being equivalent to the things taught, although these things may be of a totally different character. Colleges are thus admitting, by the conferring of these honors, that an educated man is an educated man, whether he has ever been to college or not,
and is entitled to the credit actually due him.

Thus it is clear that no young man without the funds to attend college need despair of becoming educated. His ambition—if he has any—can take the place of the dollars which are not in his pocket, and he may have his valued education just the same, provided he is willing to work for it.
Money for a college course is very desirable, but is in no sense essential.—News, Magdalena, New Mexico.

By The Town Gossip

The Gossip gave his customers
a much needed rest last week—not through any consideration for the said customers, of course, but the fact is that T. G. needed the rest himself. One of his customers forced him into a footrace on account of one of his recent wise-cracks and he was still panting when the time came to slip this stuff under the editor's front door.

And then we have been getting some threatening letters lately, passed on to us by the editor. T.
G. thought it might be more healthy for him if he laid off a week.
The editor, you know, gets all the cussings for T. G.'s misdoings, and of course, that doesn't worry T. G.
But things seemed to be getting warm and we were afraid the ed might weaken and—well, T. G.
couldn't muster the price of a bus
ticket out of town.

These Lions are having an inaugural ball or some kind of shindig next Monday night at the Hotel (bet there's something to eat in it, anyway) and a dime fine will be imposed on every Lion who doesn't bring along a lady—or his wife. Allan Jones is displaying his most charming ways in an effort to induce somebody's wife to accompany him to the affair so he can save that dime. Don't do it, girls, it's time he loosened up.

What we are afraid of is that Scott Peters will take his cue from the postoffice and hang up one of those signs in his bank—"No

"Have you any Life Buoy?" a sweet young thing asked Pascal Northcutt at the Smith Drug Store recently. "Just set the pace,
lady," was Pascal's reply.

Pascal, you know, has just returned from a trip south and possibly learned a few quick come-backs like that.

A young woman of our acquaintance with whom nature was not so generous in the matter of dashing good looks tells us that perhaps it is best after all that men marry the sweet, pretty young things, as any good, sensible girl can take care of herself.

Statistics show that a saxaphone is produced in this country

they were all piled in one place in the Sahara Desert it would be a good thing.

*SA "Special Brand" tire is made by a manufacturer for distributors such as mail order houses, oil companies and others, under a name that does not identify the tire manufacturer to the public, usually because he builds his "best quality" tires under his own name. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Baker are here from Mertzon visiting relatives.

A young salesman was seen to turn away from a prospective buyer of an electric washing machine, a disgusted look on his face. The "boss" immediately wanted to know why.

"She doesn't want an electric washing machine," the young man replied. "I explained in detail just how to operate it, turned on the current, and showed her how it works, and she finally pointed to the hole in the bottom and asked: 'What is that for?'"

"To let the water out," I said. "Oh, then, it doesn't wash by electricity, does it? You have to use water?"

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kersey spent the week-end with their daughter, Mrs. Albert Bailey, and family on the Bailey ranch near Sheffield.

Miss Mary Meredith, who has been teaching school in San Antonio the past year, is visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Meredith.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pierce are in San Angelo this week.

Yes, sir, the dairy business is good. The demand for that Good Mike Couch Milk at 10 CENTS A QUART has increased so fast that it has taxed us to keep up with the demand. But we are in the dairy business in a big way, and in order to increase our supply, we are adding four more cows to our herd.

Busy Main Streets

MAIN STREET is busy when factories are busy. The industrial development of the small and medium-sized cities is largely dependent on an ample and economical electric power supply. The grouping of many towns into a widespread electric service system brings to each of them an efficient power supply on which to build a sound industrial development.

The West Texas Utilities Company is making available this vital power supply to 120 prosperous cities and towns in West Texas, where three major generating stations, nineteen auxiliary plants, and a 2,500-mile network of high tension transmission lines insure a constant, dependable source of inexpensive electric power.

TIGER EYE

by D. M. Dower

"Well, nobody asked you to!" Nellie retorted. "You can suit yourself, you know."

"Shoah aim to, Miss Murray," the kid grimly assured her, and loped off down the canyon without once looking back.

He looked back up the canyon and rode into the willows. At the fence the kid turned and rode toward the dry creek bed where the ground was rough and bumpy, gouged with spring freshets and undermined by burrowing small animals. When he found a spot where the fence went up over a small ridge he dismounted and kicked the wires loose from three posts, forced them to the ground and anchored them there with a couple of rocks and led his horse across.

He kept going straight ahead until the willow growth ceased on higher ground and he could see what sort of place it was that had need of a fence like that.

Some one was running cattle in here, all right. The edge of the thicket was broken and trampled where stock had pushed in for shelter, and there was cattle sign everywhere.

The kid's nerves began to tingle a little. Cattle bawling!

Shoah would be funny if he was to run right onto her bunch of cattle. Be better if he'd let her come along, he reckoned. And somehow his spirits rose a little at the perfectly logical reason he had just discovered for wanting her with him.

The kid lifted his hat and swept the reddish waves of hair back off his forehead, settled his bullet-scarred hat at a careless tilt, pulled his holstered gun into position on his thigh and rode forward with an eager gleam in his eyes.

From the pole corral set back in a thin grove of cottonwood and box alder, a gray dusty cloud rose into the hot sunshine of noon. Within the corral fence a small herd of cattle tramped uneasily round and round, swerving and ducking aside when a cowboy's loop swished out like the vicious flat head of a striking rattler.

A man on guard outside unhooked the chain and swung open the gate to let out a rider dragging a husky bull calf over toward the branding fire, where two calf wrestlers grabbed and threw him on his side with a thump.

A man lifted a branding iron deliberately out of the blaze, looked at it, waved it to and fro in the air, looked at it again and decided that it was about the right heat, and walked over to the calf lying there, with two sweating cowboys braced and holding him motionless, one half sprawled across his head, the other hanging for dear life to a leg.

"Aw'right," he signalled carelessly after he had branded the calf and turned to thrust the iron again into the fire. It was at that moment that the three of them and the gate tender discovered that they had a new arrival in their midst.

"Well, I'm damned!" jarred from the slackened mouth of the man with the branding iron, Joe Hale, range foreman for the Poole

"Howdy, Joe," said the kid, and felt for a match. He nodded to the calf wrestlers, who were on their feet and mopping their perspiring faces with soiled bandannas. As the man at the gate came toward him, the kid's yellow eye changed curiously to the steady stare of a tiger.

Babe Garner! Babe with hollowed eyes and a sallow, indoor tinge to his swarthy face. Babe, with a question in his cold gray eyes and a smile on his face.

"Hell's brass buttons!" cried Babe, swearing his very choicest oath kept for special occasions. "Where the hell did you drop down from, Tiger Eye?"

"Rain washed me down the canyon, Babe."

"Old Man send yuh over?" Joe Hale tried to make his voice sound casual, but there was an undertone of constraint which he failed to control.

"Nevah did see Waltah Bell since that night I toted Babe into the ranch."

"Oh," Joe studied on that. "Thought likely you come from the Poole."

"Awn my way to the Poole, but I done changed my mind!"

"Oh. Kinda outa the way, this calf pasture, and I just kinda wondered. Want to see me for anything? Wanta go to work again?"

"Much obliged to yo'all. I taken a job of riding, Joe."

"Yeah? Sorry to se yuh quit the Poole."

Polite. Too dawgoned polite to be natural. Peahed like Joe was getting kinda suspicious. Babe too. Babe was edging around uneasy like, as if he wanted to get in back of the bunch of them. Had that cold look in his eyes. The kid knew that look now for the killer look. Get around behind and send a bullet into a man's back—that was Babe's stripe. The kid shifted his position a little and looked at Babe.

"What outfit yuh ridin' for now, Kid?" Joe looked up from kicking a half-burnt ember back into the fire.

"Ridin' foh Missus Murray, down in the valley. Widow woman. Old man that was killed and put the nestahs on the fight the time they shot Babe, that was her husband. The one Babe got the bounty on."

Eyes turned sidewise to meet other guarded glances. Babe's shoulders jerked backward as if from a blow on the chest, but no one spoke.

"Lost some cattle last night," the kid continued, in his purring drawl. "I come out aftah them."

The atmosphere of the Poole men froze for a second. Only Babe, knowing the kid of old, went for his gun and dropped it as the kid's pitiless bullet went crashing through the knuckles of his hand. The hands of the two calf wrestlers went up as if they had been jerked with pulley and rope. The man on horseback clapped spurs to his horse and galloped like mad away from there. Joe Hale knew better than to try a shot. He remembered too vividly how Jess Markel had failed with the kid over at the Poole.

Babe remembered too, and a horror grew in his face as he stared at his numbed and bleeding hand. He'd rather be dead than crippled—he always said so—and now his knuckles would be stiff and useless to pull a trigger. But when he glanced up and saw the kid looking after the fleeing horse man he chanced a shot with his left gun. But the kid didn't seem to need his eyes to tell what was going on. He caught Babe's movement and fired almost without looking.

"Line up with yoah backs this way," said the kid softly to Joe and the two calf wrestlers.

They did so in haste—all but Babe, who had crumpled down limply in the sand, with his bleeding hands crossed above his head and his face hidden in his arms. The kid pulled their guns from the sagging holsters, emptied them of cartridges and tossed them into the bushes behind him.

The meekest-looking wrestler worked with trembling haste under the cold stare of Tiger Eye Reeves. When he had tied Joe Hale and the other wrestler to posts ten feet apart and had helped Babe Garner into a shady spot where he would be perfectly safe with his feet tied together, the kid was going calmly about the business of tying his assistant to a third post when Nellie arrived.

CONCLUDED NEXT WEEK
