A GREAT AMERICAN PASSES

The death of George Eastman by his own hand came as a shocking surprise to everyone in the United States. He had been regarded as almost as much of a permanency in our national life as was Mr. Edison for so many years.

Few men have ever done so much for their fellow-men, to make the world happier and to bring new beauty into life. He gave away more than $75,000,000 in his lifetime, to found schools and endow universities and especially to cultivate the popular taste in music. He was not himself a musician, but was a devotee of music and maintained at his own expense a magnificent public music hall and a symphony orchestra in his home city of Rochester.

It might be said of Mr. Eastman that he brought a new art, amateur photography, into being. Before he began making dry plates photography was a difficult and cumbersome task. He followed the dry plate with the flexible celluloid film, and then brought out the first foolproof camera for amateurs, relieving the ordinary person from the need of learning the technique of developing and printing. There is no doubt that this invention alone has brought more real enjoyment and happiness into human lives than almost any other one invention of our times. Who does not treasure the homemade photographs of those who have passed on, of the children when they were little, of themselves as they were when they were young?

It was a shocking end to a useful life that he should have killed himself; yet it is easier to understand than some other suicides have been. Mr. Eastman never married and had not a single near relative living. After a full and active life—at 75 he was on a big game hunting expedition in Africa and brought back the head of an elephant which he shot—it was a strain beyond endurance to drag on in ill-health and feel that there was nothing left in life to live for. So he wrote a note: "To my friends: My work is done. Why wait?" and sent a bullet through his heart.

Such a death is always more tragic than a sudden, natural passing such as Edison's was. But it was characteristic of George Eastman to die alone and by his own hand, as he had lived alone and fought his way up the ladder of success to fame by his own unaided efforts.

THIS LAWLESS COUNTRY

It is not to be wondered at that the press of Europe points to the Lindbergh kidnapping as proof that the United States is the most lawless nation in the world. We are. There is no doubt about that. There is no other country pretending to civilization in which the machinery of the law is so inefficient to protect the individual in which people generally hold the law in disrespect.

It is a disgrace to the United States that Col. Lindbergh should have felt it necessary to call, not on the constituted police authorities but upon acknowledged "underworld" characters to lead the search for his baby. We do not blame Col. Lindbergh; any father would do whatever he could, regardless of the law, to get his little boy back safely. But it is an amazing confession of impotence on the part of the police of New Jersey and of the country at large that kidnapping can be carried on without fear of punishment, as so many recent instances have proved.

Perhaps the public indignation arising from this dramatic disclosure of the failure of our law-enforcement and protective machinery may result in an anti-crime wave which will wipe out the shameful reputation our nation has earned by public indifference to crime. Perhaps we may see citizens taking the law into their own hands, as in the old Vigilante days in San Francisco, and hanging racketeers and gangsters from the most convenient lampposts. Perhaps.

And then, perhaps, nobody will do anything much about it. That is more likely, in view of our past history in such matters.

GOOD OLD DAYS

The old-time livery stable and corner saloon have given way to the ornate garage and filling station; the movie show has replaced the town hall; we go in an hour now a distance it formerly took a day to travel. One can go from coast to coast in a single day in the air. He can telephone from a ship at sea to any one of the 18,000,000 telephones in the United States. He can listen on his radio to speakers thousands of miles away. In a short time he'll be able to see them, too. Our homes are heated by scientific and healthful methods. We have our own cooling systems. Oil and gas and electricity have taken the place of coal. We have the news of the world on our doorsteps, morning and evening, thanks to the stride of modern newspapering. Our lives are full of events. We go places and see things. Our horizons have broadened. Back-breaking drudgery has been eliminated in every avenue of activity. Household appliances, electrically operated, have come to lessen the work of the housewife. We have more time for play, and the golf links is an adjunct of every village and hamlet as well as the larger cities. We have improved our highways and have made our cities sanitary and attractive. But, why go on? Truth is the so-called "good old days" are only a figment of the imagination. The days we are living now are the best the world has ever seen up to now. And "we hain't seen nothing yet."—News

DISCOURAGING PRIVATE BUSINESS

It matters not on which side of the political fence one happens to find himself, if he be at all reasonable he must admit that whenever the government, using the taxpayers' funds, enters into competition with its own people it is likely to be discouraging to the development of private enterprise.

There are some public matters which the average citizen should just as easily discern as the problems of "two plus two equals four."

The matter of governmental subsidization of business, in whatever form it shows itself, should be equally intelligible to the average workaday citizen as it is thoroughly understood and properly evaluated by the thorough student of public affairs.

Governmental operation of the railroads during the war was a most glaring illustration of "inefficiency run wild." The annual postal deficit, running well above the ten-million mark, would not be countenanced by any private corporation. Everybody's money, like everybody's business, is nobody's.

Entirely too much paternalism has already been allowed to insidiously creep into our administrative structure. And paternalism is a half-sister to socialism and communism. Upward of a half hundred various commodities and types of service, from envelope printing to manufactured ice, are being fostered and financed under one guise or another by the federal government.

Let us tell our senators and congressmen in no uncertain terms exactly what we think of this growing tendency of self-seeking sycophants to hide economic inefficiency under the transparent cloak of governmental paternalism.—George Richard Luesch, Editorial writer, Republican, Santa Rosa, California.

era, J. M. Baggett, Joe Pierce, Leo Childress, Johnnie Henderson, George Montgomery, Strick Harvick, Roy Henderson, Early Baggett, Joe Oberkamp, Floyd McInnre, Wayne West, Bryan McDonald, Lowell Littleton, Hugh Childress, Jr., Florence Smith, Ben Robertson and Judge Montgomery.

Your Home Laundry Does It Cheaper

Since the establishment of this industry in Ozona, laundry prices have been on the SAME scale as the city laundries—offering our customers the same prices they would pay if the work were sent out of town.

Now, we offer you LOWER PRICES! Since our announcement of last week giving notice of a general reduction in laundry prices, we have gained new friends and customers and have received expressions of gratitude from old ones.

There Is No Santa Claus!

It's Up To You!

The myth of Santa Claus is fine for the little ones. It brings joy into their lives and joy to the grown-ups, too, at Christmas time. In the child's life there is a Santa Claus—a real, vitally alive Santa Claus.

But there is no community Santa Claus! There is no Santa Claus to bring you good schools, good roads, fine homes, thriving business houses, adequate amusements. There is no Santa Claus to bring you an aggressive community development program. There is no Santa Claus to keep your stores well stocked with the best merchandise ready for you at your convenience. There is no Santa Claus to build your community.

IT'S UP TO YOU! If you are waiting for a Santa Claus you are fooling yourself.

Just how much value do you place on the business institutions of your town in arriving at an estimate of what your town means to you? Would you consider building a fine home in the middle of a bald prairie? Would you consider living in a settlement which supported no retail business concerns of any character? You would not.

Suppose, then, that every business house in Ozona were to close simultaneously. How much would your investment in a home be worth? Picture the intolerable difficulties that would be attached to your daily routine—impossible to get drugs, a loaf of bread, fresh meat for your lunch, a pair of socks or other articles of clothing and all the other necessities of daily living without days of waiting while your order is being shipped from a distant city. Run over in your mind the hundreds of items, small and large, that you "run down to the store and get" every week, things that you must have at once. If you will draw an honest mind's picture of such a situation you can not but put a greater value on your home town business institutions.

If the business life of your town means that much to you and to your neighbor, why not give it your whole-hearted support? Maybe you buy very few articles from mail order houses or from out-of-town merchants. And maybe the small amount of business that you send out of town would not amount to much. But your few purchases, and the few that your neighbor sends out and the few that others here and there send out, all together amount to a staggering annual sum, which if spent with your local merchant would increase local circulation of money and help everybody in the community, including you, and would result in the building of your community and its business to a point where you would be proud to have a part in its enterprise and progress.

Weigh carefully your own interest in Ozona and its future. Don't wait for Santa Claus—do your part and encourage your neighbor to do his. Spend your money at HOME wherever possible, pay your bills promptly when due, and let's let the spirit of neighborliness, kindness, sympathy and sound business principles work together to lead our community from the morasses of stagnation and lethargy.

Contract Awarded For Littlefield Memorial Texas University

... Texas, March 30.—It is keeping with his love for the men who performed heroic deeds for their country that the late Major W. Littlefield, cattleman and banker of Austin, donated to the University of Texas, more than a year ago, the sum of $1,000,000 for the erection of the original 40-foot high monument at the entrance of that institution a memorial designed to keep alive the memory of the youth of today the spirit and sentiment of these leaders of a generation.

The fund given by Major Littlefield is finally to be used for the purpose for which it was intended, after being held in trust for a decade. The contract for the erection of the Littlefield Memorial, as it is called, has just been awarded by the Board of Regents to J. F. Johnson of Austin, $118,600, and the construction will be started immediately.

This sum will be largely paid for the cost of the material which is a part of the design for the heroic bronze statues for the memorial were moulded and cast by the famous sculptor Pompeo Corbelli who will receive $125,000 for this work. The remainder of $250,000 has been more or less taken up in payment of the cost of the statues and other incidental expenses. The portrait statues which will ornament the stone structure were designed by James Stephen Hogg, John G. Hogg, Robert E. Lee, Albert G. Johnson, Jefferson Davis, and Woodrow Wilson. During the past few years these great bronze statues have stood in the main hall of the State Capitol where they have attracted much attention of visitors.

The sculptor figures to ornament the memorial have been designed and cast by Mr. Coppini and are ready for immediate shipment from New York it was learned. The original plans for the monument were made several years ago. To meet the present architectural lay-out of the 40-foot high monument these plans have been revised by Robert Leon University architect, and the architect of Philadelphia.

One New York radio broadcasting studio, it is said, has banned the music of Saint-Saens. The announcers can't pronounce him.

In keeping with the times, a New York undertaker is announcing special rates.

There are shops here which sell nothing but sheet music for pianos and they do a big business. Despite the radio, there are thousands of pianos still in use in homes here.

Some men in New York are judged by the number of head waiters they know.

Lowell Thomas, world traveler, author and radio speaker, bought a Malacca stick at Tiffany's here in New York, and then had it stolen while in Malacca.

There is a man in New York who swears he saw the Coney Island ring-and-cane man take a day off, go to the Bronx Zoo and that there he blew smoke rings on to the horn of the rhinoceros.

New York has 670 dance halls.

Enter the new family album. It is getting quite popular here for the so-called fond parent to take motion pictures of his child at different ages and with persons of interest. The pictures start with movies of place of birth, a picture of mother with baby in arms, crawling, walking, and so on. Some day there will be a complete pictorial story of the life of the boy or girl, and all in motion pictures.

Heard of a man this week who has a job painting spots on rocking horses.

Here is a story making the rounds here:

A man had two sons. One went to sea and the other became vice-president of a bank. Neither has been heard of since.

New York is a place where people pay money to look through big brass telescopes at the moon.

A load of hay was seen crossing Fifth avenue and the event received newspaper attention.

A woman appeared on Fifth Avenue with a baby carriage. People turned to look.

Some New York banks have their vaults so constructed that they would not break open—so engineers claim—even if there happened to be an earthquake. One bank has vaults with walls ten feet thick. These walls are built of concrete and steel.

The WAY of LIFE

BY BRUCE BARTON

OPEN MIND AND THICK SKIN

Coming to work Monday morning, with a heart full of peace and good will, I found two letters on my desk.

"Sir: I long have been a reader of your pieces, but your last editorial was the best you ever have written. I have cut it out and am going to frame it and hang it in my office."

The other letter referred to the same identical editorial:

"Sir: Much of the time I have agreed with you, but after reading your last week's effusion I bid you farewell. Such a bunch of boloney!"

Being naturally a sensitive person, I suffered from criticism in my early days. Once, when an article of mine contained a blunder for which the editor received caustic letters, I felt so sick I stayed in bed all one day.

But as time went on I developed a philosophy as to criticism and so, it seems to me, must every man who is going to get anything done.

The first article in that philosophy is that you can't please everybody, and that much criticism, good or bad, is entirely uniformed.

You like blondes, and I like brunettes; you like fiction, I like biography; you like Eugene O'Neil, I like Ed Wynn. No one can satisfy us both. Anyone who tries it will be colorless and futile.

Second, one can not be guided too much by the public because the public is so changeable. Every public character of any influence has been popular at some time in his career and unpopular at others. Wellington, after the battle of Waterloo, was worshipped by the English people almost as a god. A few years later he had to put iron shutters on his windows to keep these same people from throwing cobble stones through the glass.

Third, criticism is good for us. We need it, no matter how well meaning or careful we may be. One time when John Morley was being severely handled by the English press Gladstone said to him: "Take it from me that to endure trampling-on with patience and self-control is no bad element in the preparation of a man for walking firmly and successfully in the path of great public duty. Be sure that discipline is full of blessings."

FORTY-TWO PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Carson and Mrs. John Bishop were hosts to their forty-two club Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carson. The Easter motif was carried out in all the appointments including the refreshments, an especially attractive salad course, made to resemble an Easter nest and sandwiches in the shape of chickens. Those present were: Messrs. & Mesdames Ted White, J. L. Littleton, Claude Denham, Tom Hunter, George Bean, John Curry Rusty Smith, J. C. Montgomery, Massie West, Royce Smith, Evert White, Misses Lucille Williamson, Ada Moss, Maxine Murdock, Elizabeth Fussell, Sophie Haug, Ludee Mae Harrison, Patti Raiza, Mary Webb, Norene Allison, Johnnie Allison, Lone Reagan and Guin Carruthers and B. Carson.

MUSIC CLUB

The Ozona Music Club will meet at the home of Mrs. W. J. Grimmer next Thursday, with Mrs. George Bean assisting hostess. Mrs. Paul Perner is leader. The program will be devoted to a study of Frank Vander Stucken, James I. Reid and Lois Bersel. The program will be as follows:

Life of Vander Stucken—Mrs. John L. Bishop.
Piano Solo—Mrs. W. J. Grimmer.
Life of Carl Wiesmann—Mrs. Lowell Littleton.
Vocal Solo—"Morn"—Mrs. F. T. McIntire.
Piano Solo—"Navajo Dance"—Mrs. R. A. Harrell.

There isn't Any Doubt Left That Spring Is Here

If you've had any doubts about it, here's "Babe" Ruth, the Home Run King, signing his contract for the season to play with the New York "Yankees." Mrs. Ruth looks over his shoulder while Col. Kuppert, owner of the Yankees, wears a smile. Babe's salary for the season will be $75,000, a cut of $5,000 from last year.

SURPRISE AT HI-LEAGUE

One of the most interesting and enjoyable features of the Methodist Hi-League has been the social half hour each Sunday evening, for which the Leaguers are very grateful to the committee sponsoring this feature of their League work. But Sunday night a new feature developed from somewhere. A birthday surprise happened to Bill Friend. Seventeen years Bill has been waiting for some one to bake him a cake.

He trim it with candles and make him a surprise and it happened Sunday night at the League. The leaguers all enjoyed cutting Bill's cake and hoping for some good luck piece, and then enjoying it with the serving of ice cream that went with the cake. Why not make this a regular feature until all the birthdays are celebrated?

J. H. Meredith, Pastor.
Miss Margaret Deland and J. P. Pogue were visitors to San Angelo Sunday.

Miss Louise Crowder is spending this week in San Angelo visiting relatives.

Mrs. Marbury Morrison has been visiting relatives here the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Smith were visitors to San Angelo over the week-end.

Morris Dudley was in San Angelo on business the first of the week.

THURSDAY NIGHT CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Pierce entertained their club last Thursday night. Spring flowers were used to decorate the rooms, the tallies were in the shape of Easter Lillies. An ice course with cake was served to the following members and guests: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Oberkamp, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Early Baggett, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Childress, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Judge Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Strick Harvick and Mrs. Johnnie Henderson.

Howard Lemmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lemmons, suffered a broken bone in his right wrist Sunday afternoon when he fell while playing near his home.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Fussell and children spent the week-end in San Angelo.
