OZONA-MILES IN HOLIDAY SERIES HERE

Giants To Meet Strong
Nine In Games Sunday, Monday, Tues.

BARBECUE MON.

Committee Prepare For Big Crowd At Feed
In City Park

A three-game series between the Ozona Giants and the Miles nine, one of the strongest teams in West Texas, will feature the Fourth of July celebration in Ozona this year.

The first game of the series will be played next Sunday afternoon at Powell Field, with games scheduled for Monday afternoon, the Fourth, and Tuesday afternoon.

The Miles aggregation, outside of the first few games of the season, has swept all before it, winning the last five games without being scored on except in a game with Eldorado, that team scoring one run in a one-sided game in which the Miles team outdistanced them by a wide margin.

The Ozona Giants have also had one of the most successful seasons in many years and with a contemplated strengthening in the pitching staff the locals expect to give the Miles lads the stiffest competition they have met yet.

A free barbecue dinner is to be served in the city park at noon Monday, July 4. Committees from the Lions Club and business men have completed all arrangements for the feast and with plenty of meat donated by the ranchmen, committees are prepared to feed 2,000 or more persons at the barbecue. Serving will start at 11:30 Monday morning.

A dance Monday night and Tuesday night will complete the festivities in observance of the Fourth of July. The dances are to be held on the open-air platform at the fair grounds, with music to be furnished by the Six Red Hot Peppers, an orchestra from San Antonio. Joe Oberkamp is in charge of the dance.

8 New Families Here On Oil Job

More Members Of Drilling Crew Coming To Make Home Here

Eight new families have moved to Ozona within the past two weeks to make their home here for the next few months while the deep test well is being sunk on the J. S. Todd ranch in this county. Most of the newcomers are from Oklahoma City and Tulsa where the Noble Drilling Company, which will drill the deep well, has its headquarters.

Drilling operations at present are being carried on by the Eppenauer Drilling Company, using a machine. Eppenauer will drill the test until the Noble Drilling Company can move its big rotary here when that firm will take over operations. Hundreds of truck loads of materials and equipment have passed through Ozona in the last few days on the way to the well.

Irl Rhymes, head driller, with Mrs. Rhymes, have rooms at the Hotel Ozona. Charles Manning and family have rented the H. O. Word home and Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Davis have rented an apartment here. Others who have moved to Ozona to work on the Todd well include Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McKillips, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dickson and children, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clark, C. L. Barber and Jack Hoard.

Others of the rotary crew are expected to arrive soon and will probably take up temporary residence here.

Registered Stock To Be Given Away

Baseball Club Offers
Two Bulls And Two
Rams July 5th

Two registered Hereford Bulls and two registered Rambouillet rams, raised by Crockett County breeders and donated to the Ozona Baseball Club for sale in the auction ring at the annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet and Stock Show, are to be given away here on July 5 under a plan developed by officials of the baseball club this week.

The Hereford bulls were donated to the baseball club by Joe Pierce and Joe T. Davidson, and the rams were donated by V. I. Pierce and J. W. Owens and Sons, one animal to be given by these men each year for five years.

In view of the fact that no rodeo is to be staged here this year and consequently no stock sale, baseball officials have developed this plan of disposing of the animals. Full information about the plan may be secured at Joe Oberkamp's or at the Dudley Motor company.

Proceeds from the sale of the registered livestock donated by these ranchers will be used in making improvements on the athletic field, used both by town and school athletic teams. Construction of a net wire fence around the park, upon which honeysuckle vines are to be trained, is the first step in the contemplated improvement of the playing field. Erection of a grandstand, sodding of the field, planting of trees and flower beds, and other improvements are contemplated when sufficient funds are available.

Lions Install New Officers

Impressive Ceremony Marks Opening Of
New Year's Work

One of the most impressive installations ever held by the Ozona Lions Club was that held Monday at which new officers and directors of the organization were inducted into office for the coming year. The meeting marked the close of the club's fourth year in Ozona. It also marked the end of the term of John L. Bishop, who as president has ably led the club through one of the most difficult years in its history, turning the leadership of the organization over to his successor with the club in splendid condition and in optimistic mood over its future as an organization.

Leadership of the community service organization will be in the hands of Hugh Childress, Jr., for the coming year. Mr. Childress served two terms as secretary of the club.

One of the features of the installation program was the farewell address of the retiring president, Mr. Bishop. He drew a graphic picture of the meaning of the club's slogan of service and urged a closer understanding between the club and the community it seeks to serve.

Other officers inducted into office are I. G. Rape and Dr. F. T. McIntire, vice presidents; M. M. Fulmer, Lion tamer; O. W. Smith, tail twister; Glenn Rutledge, secretary, and John L. Bishop, J. H. Meredith, J. H. McClure and Evert White, directors.

TEXAS NO. 1 INGHAM HAS FISHING JOB

The first mishap in drilling of the Texas Company test on the Ben Ingham ranch on the Pecos River, loss of a bit at the bottom of the hole, resulted in the loss of less than an hour's time. The fishing job was completed with little difficulty and drilling resumed. The well is now down a depth of 200 feet, Mr. Ingham reported here Tuesday.

The Democrats Move In

Absentee Voting To Start Monday

Many Absentee Votes Expected Here For First Primary

Absentee voting for the first Democratic primary election July 23 will begin Monday morning, it was announced this week by County Chairman Houston Smith. Absentee voting begins 20 days before the election date.

Ballots will be prepared this week in readiness for voters who expect to be away from their voting box on election day, who may mark their ballots now and file them with the county clerk to be turned over to election judges at election time. The last day for voting absentee is July 19.

A number of local voters have indicated that they intend to cast absentee ballots this year and officials are looking for a fairly heavy vote in this manner.

Filling Station At Ozona Motor Leased To Santa Anna Man

Richie Miller of Santa Anna has leased the filling station and accessories department of the Ozona Motor Company and will take charge tomorrow, July 1, it was announced this week by Joe Forehand, manager of the firm.

Mr. Miller will continue to handle the Magnolia gasoline and oils and will give patrons of the concern the benefit of lowest prices possible with prevailing markets. Terms will be strictly cash for gasoline and oil, it has been announced.

Mr. Forehand and Forrest (Stump) Palmer will continue to operate the service department of the garage. They service and repair all makes of automobiles.

Mr. Miller, with his wife and one child, will arrive tomorrow to make their home in Ozona.

EYES IMPROVING

Henderson White, employed on the Jeff Owens ranch west of Ozona, who suffered severe burns of both eyes last week when a can containing unslaked lime exploded in his face, was reported much improved this week. The boy is able to see fairly well and his eyes are said to be healing rapidly. No permanent injury is expected from the mishap.

Genuine Haynes Sealy Mattresses. $32.50. Oberkamp's.

Over Two Inches Of Rainfall Here

Livestock Area Gets Through Soaking
In Falls Monday

Ozona received more than two inches of rainfall in the general soaking which visited West Texas Monday.

The fall north of Ozona was sufficient to put Johnson Draw bank full and traffic over the draw was tied up most of the day. Other draws throughout the county were filled by the heavy fall and nearly every section of the livestock area received bountiful falls.

The rains came at an opportune time to revive pasturage for the hot summer and ranchers are well pleased with the feed outlook for the balance of the summer.

Big Crowd Expected At Chandler Ranch For Reunion, Rodeo

Several thousand persons are expected to visit the picturesque Chandler Ranch on Independence between Sheffield and Dryden Friday and Saturday of this week for the second annual Ranchmen's Reunion and Rodeo, which is being promoted this year by Herman Chandler and M. H. Goode, Jr.

Several Ozonans are expected to be present for the entertainment, which will consist of free barbecue, rodeo and racing events and a dance each night. Three meals a day, free camping grounds and admission to the rodeo and race events are to be secured for the general admission price of $1.

SENATOR BERKELEY HERE

Senator Benjamin F. Berkeley of Alpine, candidate for re-election as representative of the people in the 29th Senatorial district in the upper house of the Texas legislature, was here Tuesday in the interest of his candidacy. Senator Berkeley has a background of eight years service in the Texas Senate and is basing his candidacy for re-election on his record of achievements, his experience in legislative matters, important committee appointments and his knowledge of the legislative needs of the people of the 29th district.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bailey were here from their ranch near Sheffield Tuesday for a visit with relatives.

Giants Win 6-5 In Sunday Brawl

Iraan Hurler Takes A Pot Shot At Ump As Runners Trot On

Box, Iraan Hurler, lost his temper in the game with the Ozona Giants on the Powell Field diamond Sunday afternoon and as a result of losing his temper also lost a ball game, 6 to 5 in favor of the Giants.

It was in the last half of the ninth inning, with the Giants taking their last turn at the bat, with the visitors leading the locals by a score of 5 to 3 and two men were out. It looked like the Iraan lads had the game sewed up in a bag, despite the fact that there were two men on bases.

Childress and Murphy had been easy outs. Then Frank Russell and Ted White each singled and Jack Sharp was up. Jack shot a grounder down the first base line and the first baseman fielded the ball, the pitcher covering first. Again it looked like a certain out and the end of the game and of the Giants' chances to knot the count. But Pitcher Box overstepped the base, according to Umpire Oberkamp, and Sharp was called safe.

It was then that the visiting hurler aimed at the ump's head and let drive with one of his fast and awfully straight balls. Oberkamp ducked and the ball rolled deep into left field. Since the ball was still in play, the runners on bases loped around, all three of them crossing the plate before the ball was finally retrieved. Then the squabble began, finally resulting in an agreement from Manager Sam Cox to put Sharp back on third base and resume the game with the score tied.

Two more innings were played, the ground rule which permitted runners to advance one base when the ball hit the backstop resulting in the winning score for the locals in the eleventh frame. In that inning, Murphy, Giant pitcher, who, by the way, showed some big league form in Sunday's brawl, slammed out a two-base hit and went to third on Frank Russell's sacrifice. With White batting, Hassler, who had just gone into the box, made a wild pitch and Murphy walked home, chalking up the winning run.

Both teams turned in a total of eight hits in the eleven innings. Murphy struck out 16 batters and Box 11. The visitors were charged with seven errors and the locals three.

Topping Contract On East Road To Be Awarded Friday

Contract for surfacing the Old Spanish Trail, Highway 27, from Ozona east to the Sutton County line with one course caliche base will be awarded by the State Highway Commission in session at Austin tomorrow, according to announced plans.

Award of this contract will put three contracting crews to work near Ozona, contracts having been let for grading and drainage and construction of drainage structures on 9.13 miles of the highway from Ozona west. Contractors on this job were here last week looking over the job preparatory to starting the work. J. S. Wade and Son of Coleman were awarded the grading contract and the Dozier Construction Company of Austin the bridge work.

PICNIC CALLED OFF

The annual Baptist Sunday School picnic, scheduled for Wednesday of this week, was called off Sunday when it was found that only a few persons could attend the affair. A church social, to be held within the next few weeks, will take the place of this year's picnic.

Mrs. Bill Littleton of Abilene is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Ingham.

BOARD ADDS $300,000 TO RENDITIONS

Final Board Of Equalization Hearing To Be Held July 11

OIL VALUES HIKED

West Texas Utilities
Co. Gets Heaviest Value Increase

The Crockett County Commissioners Court meeting as a board of equalization last week tacked on approximately $300,000 to the taxable valuations of this county by raising the renditions of various firms, mostly oil companies, doing business in this county.

The court will meet as a final board of equalization on July 11 when it will hear representatives of the concerns whose valuations were raised and will finally fix the valuations to be placed on the properties for tax purposes. As required by the statutes, a notice of the meeting of the final board is published in this issue of The Stockman, showing the property values as rendered by the companies and the raise made by the board.

The West Texas Utilities Company suffered the heaviest raise of any of the companies listed, valuation of properties of that concern being raised from $123,300 to $300,000, a total hike of $176,700.

Republic Production Co. of Houston was raised $2,577; Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas Co., $2,290; Skelly Oil Co., $612; Fuhrman Petroleum Corp., $145; Associated Oil Co., $326; Pure Oil Co., $265; Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Co., $1,815; Honolulu Oil Co., $396; Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., $12,640; Sun Oil Co., $1,688; Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas Co., $120; Magnolia Petroleum Co., $3,099; E. L. Smith Oil Co., $10,000.

Rendition of the Cushing Refining & Gasoline Co. of Cushing, Okla., was raised a total of $28,912; Peerless Oil & Gas Co., was raised $1,905; Prairie Oil & Gas Co., $205; Amerada Petroleum Co., $875; Gulf Production Co., $6,675; M. & M. Pipe Line Co., $3,232; Empire Companies, $5,555; Grayburg Oil Co., $1,725; Texas Company, $2,230; Continental Oil Co., $2,780; Republic Production Co., $1,439; Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co., $845; Superior Oil Co., $1,290; Humble Oil & Refining Co., $12,294; the California Company, $16,900.

The bank and a number of other business firms of Ozona will be closed all or part of the day next Monday in observance of Independence Day.

WHO DARE ADVERTISE

USUALLY the argument is made that every business concern should advertise. Generally speaking, this is true, but there are exceptions. In fact, some concerns hardly dare advertise, because they can not make good according to the requirements of modern business practices.

When advertising is untruthful and misleading it does more harm than good. Only an enterprise which fulfills the promises made in its advertising can stand the spotlight of publicity. Hence when we find a firm boldly advertising its wares of service, month after month and year after year, we may generally conclude that it can and does give real values.

Observing the advertised businesses of any community, large or small, will enable one to identify the most dependable concerns in that community. Only efficient and reputable establishments dare to advertise.

Rathbone and Diana see only a hopeless future so long as Rosalie lives. Then Rosalie, who had gone for a stroll in the woods, does not return. What has happened to her?

THE STORY

Unless the fog lifted it might mean being out all night in the cold and wretchedness.

He turned to retrace his steps to where he had left the trap when suddenly a muffled cry broke the silence. It sounded weird and unearthly, coming, as it did, through the stifling fog blanket, and Jonas felt his skin rise in little pin points as he waited for it to be repeated.

Then it came again—a woman's wailing voice.

For a moment he stood petrified; then he went blindly forward as quickly as the hampering conditions would permit, in the direction from which he thought that cry came.

It was not exactly a call for help—it was more like a frightened wail, but it urged the boy on till suddenly he pulled up sharply, only saving himself with difficulty as he found he was on the river bank.

A sloping, muddy bank, broken away by much rain and weather; but now the cry was nearer—almost at his feet, it seemed—and he answered it with a shout, cupping his hands round his mouth to make it carry further.

"Hullo . . . there!" His own sense of helplessness was appalling; one might as well have been imprisoned by walls as by this blanket of increasing darkness. He shouted again with all the strength of his young voice, and then, suddenly, as if by a miracle, the fog bank seemed to break for the smallest fraction of a moment, like a curtain being slowly raised by a mocking hand in order to show him the thing he sought.

She was in the river . . . its width away from him . . . a half-drowned, piteous thing, clinging with frail hands to the overhanging bough of a rotting willow, her white face upturned, her flaming dark hair dank and horrible, her mouth wide open as if to give utterance once more to that wailing cry.

Jonas caught his breath; instinctively he began to tear off his coat, when the fog came silent lying down again shutting her out, leaving him there, shivering and helpless, on the muddy bank.

It seemed a lifetime before he could nerve himself to fresh action. Everything was unreal, uncanny; the silently flowing river like a half-dead poisonous snake creeping by at his feet, and the strange impenetrable menace of the fog-enwrapped world.

Jonas seemed suddenly to see Diana's face: her blue eyes, her sensitive mobile face . . . "Little head running over with gold. . . Diana would be happy again if he left Miss Rosalie to die.

He was shivering from head to foot, as with his whole body strained forward he started and stared into the fog to where she had been.

Of what use was her life? What did her happiness matter that another's, so much more precious, should be sacrificed to it?

In the few seconds of his hesitation it seemed to Jonas that he argued the whole question out with cold calculation before, with an effort that seemed purely physical, he pulled himself together and turned deliberately away.

Let her die . . . nobody would ever know.

"I would do anything in the world for you." He had told Diana that more than once, and he had meant it with every fibre of his being. He was conscious of a queer sense of triumph to think that even though Diana would never know, he was fulfilling his promises.

Then the cry came again: strangled, weaker, more despairing, the cry that might have come from a child or from one of the lost lambs which he and Shurey had sought for together one bitter March month after a heavy fall of snow.

For one second still Jonas hesitated, standing rigid, his head craned forward in strained attention; then he turned back with quiet deliberation, scrambled down the muddy bank, and plugged into the icy river.

CHAPTER XXIII

Anna was perturbed. Half a dozen times she had been in to Diana, and found her sleeping always in the same position, lying on her side, her face turned against the pillows, an arm flung up above her head.

Half a dozen times since the early morning when Diana had come home, and now it was past five o'clock.

Mrs. Gladwyn had been into the room once before leaving for another bridge evening.

"Has she been asleep all day?" she asked.

"Yes, madam—she seems thoroughly worn out."

She bent a little lover over Diana.

"I suppose she's—all right?" she asked uncertainly.

"Oh, yes, madam—just sleeping heavily," Anna said quickly, with a faint feeling of discomfort as she remembered that once in the past she had been severely admonished for administering a sleeping draught to Diana without doctor's orders.

Mrs. Gladwyn sighed. "She looks very like her mother," she said. "And her mother died when she was quite a girl." She pulled herself together and took up her gloves and handbag. "I should let her sleep it out," she said vaguely. "It will probably do her a lot of good."

When she had gone Anna quietly replenished the fire and went back to take another look at Diana.

She was very pale—even her lips and hair seemed colorless; and in sudden alarm Anna laid a hand on Diana's arm.

It was icy cold. For a moment she stood petrified with fear; then she turned and ran from the room.

"Miss Diana is ill—you must fetch a doctor at once. Run down and see if Mrs. Gladwyn has gone. If not, bring her back quickly."

The girl ran, returning breathlessly.

"The car has just driven away." But Anna was not the sort to lose her head in a moment of emergency.

"Tell Markham to call a taxi and to go at once for Dr. Rathbone—I'll give him the address."

She had made a mental note of it yesterday morning when she dispatched Diana's letter to him, and knowing that Rathbone had attended Diana during her illness, she thought he was the most suitable one to summon.

To expedite matters, she went down to interview Markham herself.

But Anna's evident anxiety whipped him to swifter action.

"If Dr. Rathbone is there, bring him back with you. If he is not there, bring the first doctor you can find, but don't come back without someone, or it will be the worse for you."

She ran back to Diana and pulled the curtains, opening both windows wide.

The fog was not quite so bad, one could see the lights in the street below now, like bleary yellow eyes, staring upwards.

As Anna turned away her glance fell on the bottle she had left on the dressing table.

She caught it up, holding it to the light; then her face whitened, for it was nearly empty.

Anna permitted herself the luxury of one moment's emotion.

"Oh, poor lamb!" she said pityingly.

She knew a great deal more about Diana than the girl had ever dreamed—knew all about the affair with Waterman, and understood that it had ended with Diana's illness, on his side, at all events, but she had never been able to make up her mind with regard to Diana—until now, when she believed that the girl had done this deliberately in a moment of overwhelming wretchedness.

She lifted her gently, laying her flat on her back, and began to chafe her cold hands.

Anna had only seen Rathbone once, when Mrs. Gladwyn had sent for him after the girl's break down; but she had been impressed by his personality and quiet strength, and she found herself almost praying (though Anna considered prayer "old-fashioned rubbish") that he would come.

She had always been rather contemptuous of Diana's weakness, realizing how easily, during her short life, the girl had allowed herself to be bandied about, the victim first of one and then of another, in the vain, unsatisfying search for something real and lasting, but there was only pity in her heart now as she tried by every means in her power to rouse Diana from her dreadful unconsciousness.

One of the maids came presently, with scared eyes to know if she could do anything to help, but Anna shook her head. She would not admit it, but she believed the time was already past when anyone could help Diana.

"Hasn't Markham come back yet?" she asked.

"Not yet. . . . I think that's a taxi now."

More breathless moments, Anna watched the door with strained eyes. If Markham had come back alone. . . .

The door opened, and she gave a little sob of relief as Rathbone strode into the room.

He came straight to the bed and bent over the girl lying there. Anna, watching his face—always watching him, as if she felt he was the only hope left to her—asked a broken question:

"Oh, sir . . . she's not dead, is she?"

Rathbone shook his head. "No . . . what is it? What have you given her?"

Anna explained as well as she could.

"I only gave her four drops; she seemed so worn out, and yet she couldn't sleep; but I left the bottle on the dressing table, and the poor lamb must have taken some more. It's nearly empty now."

Anna turned her face away and wept, and she would not have believed it had she been told that her tears were not so much for herself or for Diana as for the broken-hearted look she had suddenly surprised in Donald Rathbone's eyes.

CHAPTER XXIV

Diana was so used to dreams.

WE HOPE HE IS RIGHT

Charles G. Dawes, retiring from public life after nearly fifteen years of service which began with the War, included the re-organization of Germany's finances, a term as Vice-President of the United States, Ambassador to Great Britain, and culminated with the presidency of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, says that the nation has reached the turning point in the depression.

Mr. Dawes, who was and is a successful banker as well as a statesman, ought to know what he is talking about. He does not hold out any glittering promises to the foolish folk who still believe that the end of the depression will be heralded by the over-night resumption of full production in every industry and the skyrocketing of stock exchange prices to where they were three years ago. But he points out that people are beginning to use more electric current, that the small business and industries are showing gains in many lines, and he sagely reminds us that recovery from depressions always starts at the bottom and works up. The big maker of motor cars or radio sets or other gadgets can't be expected to get into full swing until the smaller industries have been back in production long enough to make a dent in the number of the unemployed and put the mass of the people in a position where they can again become customers for the products of the big industries.

THE PEDDLER NUISANCE

House to house peddlers and solicitors of orders for this and that are becoming an ever greater nuisance to the American home, as any housewife might truthfully testify. Still the housewife whose home is constantly invaded by these itinerant super-salesmen has the remedy in her own hands.

A timely suggestion along this line is made by Prof. Conrad, of the New Jersey Teachers' College, who points out that the peddler who boasts that his firm has no store is trying to make a store out of your home. You are expected to furnish a place where he may do business free from the expense which other merchants must pay.

Besides, he insists on making you shop at his convenience, no matter how much it may interfere with your daily routine. He takes up your time arguing you into buying something that in most cases you neither want nor need. Sometimes you buy to get rid of him, when you ought to say:

"This is a home, not a place of business, and I am not going to allow you to use it as a store. Good day."

That might seem rather inconsiderate. But it is one way of discouraging the peddler, who has not the slightest consideration for your peace and comfort, but uses your home as a market place, in unfair competition with home merchants who pay rent, taxes, license fees, and in other ways contribute to the welfare of the community.—Herald, Sauk Center, Minnesota.

Have We Lost Our Backbone?

By Albert T. Reid

Declaration of Independence

The King established a direct tyranny. He has refused his Assent to Laws. He has obstructed the Administration of Justice. He has made Judges dependent on his will alone. He has kept armies in times of peace. He has imposed taxes on us without our consent. He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, and destroyed the lives of our people.

Young America: Uncle Sam, that's what gangsters are doing. Are they stronger than the King?

Albert T. Reid

POLITICS... AND PARTIES

The more we consider politics, the more difficult we find it to draw any exact line which separates the two major parties from each other. It seems as if the Republican party has become more Jeffersonian than Hamiltonian and the Democratic party more Hamiltonian than Jeffersonian.

Take the issue which seems to be causing more excitement right now among politicians than anything else, Prohibition. Certainly it cannot be said that the Republicans are lined up on one side and the Democrats on the other. There are Wets and Drys in both parties and the only issue apparent to us between the two is as to the means whereby each promises to give the people of the United States another chance to vote on the question. And here the Republicans beat the Democrats to it in making it a matter of State's Rights, which has long been a Democratic slogan!

On all other issues, the campaign just beginning seems like a repetition of old struggle between the Ins and the Outs. The Outs want to get in and the Ins want to stay in. The issue will be decided, as it usually is, by whether the majority of the electorate believes that a change would be worse than to stay as we are, or that any change must be for the better.

WHITHER TAXATION

If there is a more vital issue at this time than taxation, the average citizen and business man will have a hard time finding it.

In 1890 the total cost of government, Federal, State and local, was $875,000,000—$13.88 per capita. In 1919 it was $7,465,000,000—$71.10 per capita. In 1929 it was $9,792,000,000—$80.58 per capita. It is considerably higher now. What it will be in 1935, if the present trend goes on, challenges the imagination. The new revenue bill gives no cause for optimism.

Is the United States going the way of England, of Germany, of Australia? Are we going to be swamped by bureaucracy, waste, duplication, enlargement of governmental activities, paternalism and an eventual dictatorship of officeholders?

The future of industry, of employment, of home building and of individual progress is tied up with the problem of taxation. High taxes frighten the investor, take money out of circulation, paralyze business. The assurance of economical, efficient and restricted governmental activity would do more than anything else at this time to bring depression to an end.

THAT'S ME—

Im the hound that must have his argument. Makes no difference what you are talking about, I'll take issue with you. I always split hairs, and get it down to a fine point. I take it all very seriously, and can never be convinced about anything. In fact I always win, because they all get tired and leave me arguing.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT

We have always felt that taxpayers do not object to paying reasonable taxes, provided they get something for their money. Lately there has arisen a widespread outcry against the steady increase of taxes, Federal, State and local. That outcry has its roots in the general feeling that our governmental units are not giving us value received for the taxes we pay.

Almost all of our government units have been taxing, borrowing and spending beyond the means of the people to pay. Taxes are remaining unpaid. That causes forced sales of property and destroys values. Nothing but drastic retrenchment can possibly restore our governmental units to financial health. And one way to retrench—the best possible way as we see it—is to stop spending money on fads, on things which benefit only a few, and particularly upon the effort to regulate everything by law.

As a nation we are dedicated to the principles of individualism and a minimum of governmental interference in private affairs, and yet we have built up the biggest and most expensive governmental machinery ever created. We object to government in business, and yet we spend more money on governmental promotion and regulation of business than any country in the world except Russia. We talk loudly about the vast expenditures for armaments in Europe, and yet we spend more on armaments than any country in peace time in the world's history. Likewise, we spend more than any other country in the attempt to enforce the laws, and at the same time we have more crime of all kinds than any other nation.

TWO DEPRESSION BEATERS

The two outstanding "depression beaters" last year were the two greatest users of newspaper advertising space, the American Tobacco Company and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

The American Tobacco Company not only did a greater business last year than ever before in its history, but its net profits exceeded those of any year, even those of the boom year 1929.

Atlantic and Pacific sold more than a billion dollars' worth of merchandise, moving into first place in the volume of business done by any one company in this country.—St. Louis Star.

500,000 TAX SPENDING BODIES

The statement was recently made from an authoritative source that there are upwards of 500,000 tax spending bodies in the United States.

It is estimated that during the fiscal year to end June 30, these bodies will have spent the sum of $14,000,000,000—one-fifth of the national income. Where, in 1903, the per capita annual cost of government was $19.39, it is now about $125—an increase well in excess of 600 per cent!

The present predicament of the country is largely the result of these tax increases, made necessary by political waste, inefficiency and selfishness, and by the creation of new bureaus and boards, each with its list of employees, and by unwarranted extension of government activities into fields which should properly be left to private initiative. Unless a start is made toward genuine government economy, which will lop off unnecessary commissions and eliminate waste and duplication of effort, the wealth and earning power of our citizens will be confiscated by taxation.

NO TAX SANTA CLAUS

Uncle Sam, tax collector, is the very reverse of Santa Claus, for whom some deluded people have mistaken him, says the Oregonian. He does not spread bounty; he collects with relentless hand from all of us, from the cradle to the grave. When we ask Congress for money, we might as well realize that it will be taken from our own pockets.

SCANDALS

By THE TOWN GOSSIP

"Doggone my high-tempered soul," quoth the Iraan pitcher Sunday after he had whizzed the ball at Umpire Joe Oberkamp's head and let in two runs to tie the score and ultimately to lose the game.

All of which just goes to show you why this scribe has no yearning to be an umpire. In the first place, we wouldn't like to be called all those names, and besides it's dangerous, as Joe Oberkamp will testify.

A quartet of Ozona young bloods, respectable enough by day, but just common, ordinary chicken thieves at night, have been carefully measured for a nice, shiny black box by at least two local chicken raisers. So, if you hear the boom of a shotgun any time during the wee sma' hours soon, prepare for a funeral the next day.

Arthur Kyle swears the dentist pulled that front tooth. But traces of a slight discoloration in the optic region might well be taken as grounds for suspicion.

Listening in on that Democratic dog fight in Chicago makes us feel like we are watching a baseball game in Ozona.

For information of the gentleman down at San Antonio who says you can "hear anything" in Ozona and who discredits our horse skull with the rope through it, Joe Oberkamp tells of his unfortunate fishing excursion recently. Joe and his party had made camp for a stay of several days on the river. The first few hours of fishing resulted in ten or twelve cats weighing from 20 to 50 pounds and two dozen or more small ones of ten pounds or thereabout. With such a discouraging start, the party broke camp in disgust and came back to town because they couldn't catch any big fish.

And then, A. W. Jones, custodian of the before-mentioned horse's skull and a man whose reputation for truth and veracity is unexcelled, comes forward with another discovery calculated to put Ozona on the map. Jones has recently developed a new kind of automobile top dressing which is not only finding favor among auto owners, but is fast coming into demand among ranchers and farmers on the great plains of north Texas, who are painting their net wire fences with it to make windbreaks.

And we prophesy that if enough of it is used around Amarillo this summer we may look for a mild winter this year.

Imagine the embarrassment of the baby duck when he found that his pants were down.

No matter who the Democrats nominate, we'll bet even money we can find a fellow along Agony Row or in the Sweaters' Club who knew it would happen and prophesied it long ago.

Flapper's proverb: Better the lips be calloused than the feet.

Things don't seem near so high when you can charge 'em, do they?

And, now, customers, with this little story we are through: "I've got a cow I want to sell you, Charlie," the neighbor said.

"Yes? Would she fit into my Guernsey herd?"

"No, I dunno as she would."

"Has she got anything to recommend her?"

"Well, I dunno as she has."

"Does she give lots of milk?"

"No, I can't say as she gives lots of milk, Charlie, but I can tell you this. She's a kind, gentle good natured old cow, and if she's got any milk she'll give it to you."

VISITOR COMPLIMENTED

Mrs. Alvin Harrell entertained with a luncheon for her sister, Mrs. Bill Littleton, of Abilene, at her ranch home Wednesday morning. A three course lunch was served to the following: Mrs. Bill Littleton, Mrs. Marshall Montgomery, Mrs. R. L. Flowers, Mrs. Hugh Childress, Jr., Mrs. Jerry Pace, Miss Ethel Childress, Miss Mary Childress, and Miss Jessie Ingham. After several games of bridge, mints and punch were also served.

Miss Louise Crowder, who has been visiting friends and relatives in San Angelo the past two weeks, has returned to her home here.

Heavy Equipment Is Installed For Deep Test On Todd Ranch

Equipment even heavier than that with which Stanolind Oil & Gas Co.'s No. 1 W. H. Williams in southeastern Irion County is being drilled is being installed for Stanolind and others' No. 1 J. S. Todd in north central Crockett County, scheduled to be drilled deep in search of production in the Ordovician lime.

P. O. Sill, contractor, is erecting for Stanolind and others a 126-foot Lee C. Moore tubular steel derrick, which is 26 feet square at the base. The steel derrick at Stanolind No. 1 Williams is 122 feet high and 24 feet square at the base. The derrick at No. 1 Todd is built to withstand a dead load of one million pounds. It will be set on steel substructure anchored in concrete. The only wood that will be used will be for the derrick floor. Late in the week the foundation for the derrick was being run.

The rotary equipment is being installed by the Noble Drilling Co. at Tulsa, which has the deep contract. Six-inch drill pipe will be used, Stanolind No. 1 Williams uses 4-inch drill pipe. A 4-inch line has been laid to No. 1 Todd from Stanolind and Mid-Kansas' No. 1 Massie, an 18-million cubic foot gasser at 1,271-73 feet, to provide fuel for four boilers, each of 125 horsepower, that will develop 430 pounds pressure each. No. 1 Todd had drilled to 290 feet in lime Saturday morning. It will be drilled by Eppenauer Drilling Co. of San Angelo with a machine until the rotary is ready. Eppenauer had drilled a water well to 630 feet. It probably will be shot Sun. with 100 qts.—Times

Cowboy Reunion Starts Monday

Stamford Expects Largest Crowd In History For 3rd Annual Event

STAMFORD, June 30.—With the opening of the third annual Texas Cowboy Reunion only four days away, preparations are being completed for the entertainment of the largest crowd in the history of the Reunion. The meeting opens Monday, July 4, and will continue through Tuesday and Wednesday.

Pioneer cowboys will begin pouring into the city Sunday, as registration will begin at 9 a. m. Monday and the first meeting of their association will be held at 10:30 a. m. Active cowboys who will participate in the rodeo contests also will begin coming in Sunday, bringing with them their favorite roping ponies. Attractive girl sponsors from surrounding cities will come, bringing their mounts.

A dozen ranch outfits from various parts of West Texas will bring their own chuck wagons and camp here during the Reunion. Free beef, wood and water is being provided for the visiting chuck wagons. Among the ranches which have indicated that they will bring their chuck wagons are Ed Bateman, Strawn; D-Z Ranch, Sweetwater; S. M. S. Flat Top Ranch, Stamford; Matador Ranch Matador; S. M. S. Throckmorton Ranch, Throckmorton; Paddle Ranch, Clairemont; S. M. S. Spur Ranch, Spur, and Judge J. A. Matthews, Albany. Many others have been invited. The Reunion will have a wagon on the grounds at which meals will be served to members of the Pioneer Cowboys' Association. Visitors wanting the novelty of a chuck wagon dinner will find a wagon on the grounds at which such meals may be purchased.

It was definitely determined this week that four brass bands will appear in the grand parade which starts at 1 p. m. on the Fourth of July. They are the Lone Star Gas Company Band of Ranger, the Haskell Municipal Band, the Aspermont Band and the Stamford Band. Cowboys, pioneer cattlemen, chuck wagons, junior cowboys, girl sponsors, decorated floats and individual entries will make up the big street parade. A new rodeo attraction was added by the management in the form of a cutting horse contest, with $100 in cash prizes offered for this event. In the contest, the ability of the horse will count one-third, ability of the rider one-third and speed one-third. This brings the total rodeo prizes to $1,500. The regular rodeo contests are in calf roping, wild cow milking, bronc busting, steer riding and old timers' calf roping. Two rodeo performances will be held daily, at 2:30 p. m. and 8 p. m.

RAIL TRANSPORTATION IS EFFICIENT AND ECONOMICAL

● THE RAILROAD is the most efficient and the most economical transportation agency the human mind has ever devised.

The ability of commercial trucks to operate with various charges for their services has been because they are not required to carry all kinds and classes of freight. The truck can choose its freight and is privileged to reject that which it cannot handle, either because it is not equipped for such heavy service or the rates are too low to be profitable. The railroad CANNOT DISCRIMINATE but must accept all freight offered it.

In 1930 the shippers of Texas paid the railroads $225,223,142 in freight charges. If the same volume and character of traffic had been carried by trucks it would have cost the shippers, according to the best available data on trucking costs, $900,000,000, or four times as much.

What will be the effect on the shippers of Texas if only the traffic which the trucks cannot handle is left to the railroads? If traffic paying the higher rate is taken from the railroads by the trucks, it will be necessary for the rail carriers to increase their rates on the low grade traffic or go out of business. The total transportation bill will be greatly increased.

The railroad rate structure is a composite designed for the purpose of enabling the free movement of ALL ARTICLES OF COMMERCE, making it possible to bring even the cheapest commodities into general use and distribution. Were it not for the low rates made available by the railroads on many low grade commodities and raw materials, their distribution and use would be impossible and all commerce and industry would be seriously affected.

● THE RAILROADS CANNOT SUBSIST ON LOW, GRADE TRAFFIC ALONE.

Man Made The Town

Nearly every night lately, half awake and half asleep, she had imagined with one part of her senses, even though the other part knew it could not possibly be true, that she was back at the Creature's cottage, in the little room with the chintz wall paper and muslin-petticoated dressing table with Rathbone sitting beside her.

It wasn't such a bad dream until one quite woke up!

She wished she could make him smile. Down at the cottage, no matter how cross he had been with her, or how grimly he had looked at her while she hurled her silly little troubles at him, in the end she had always managed to make him smile before he went away.

Diana said, "Thank you," in a little whisper, and closed her eyes. The tears couldn't get through if she kept them tightly closed, and Donald hated to see her cry.

"Things always turn out badly if people take—what you and I might take."

Donald had said that after she had asked if he would let her live with him. She supposed he must have been horribly shocked really, though he had only looked at her with eyes that seemed to understand.

Funny that people, especially those whom the world called good people, should think anything physical such a deadly sin, much worse than anything else.

She moved restlessly, and Rathbone spoke her name gently: "Diana!"

Her eyes turned to his face and rested there for a moment.

"I'm so thirsty," she whispered. Her mouth felt all dry and hot.

"A STRAIGHT LINE IS THE SHORTEST DISTANCE...."

YOU NEED an automobile or a pair of shoes. Somewhere the automobile or pair of shoes that will satisfy both you and your pocketbook is offered for sale. . . . And advertising is the straight line that shows you the shortest distance between the two points!

In the advertisements in this newspaper, you'll find straight lines drawn direct to the products you need. Look for them. Follow them. They'll save you hours of aimless wandering, hours of weary rummaging, hours of saying to solicitous sales-people, "No, thank you. I'm just looking."

And more than time, they'll save you money. Advertised products are worthy ones. They MUST be. To advertise an inferior product means only that more people will find out its flaws. The merchandise consistently advertised in these pages has proved itself by public test. You can buy it with the assurance of getting the fullest value for the fairest price.

DO You Want Your Town To Be A WINNER?

Competitions in the Olympic games between champion athletes of the leading nations of the world are thrilling because of the human factors involved—the urge to win for nation, state and town. There is thrill of pride when a fellow countryman, or mayhap a native son from our state . . . or even a fellow townsman flashes across the line a winner in these classic games. . . It is youth parading its nearness to perfection in athletic form . . . it is the human glory in achievement . . . but it seldom is attained except through great struggle in long hours of discouraging work and practice.

As a matter of fact a sense of competition must enter into everything individuals or groups do, if they are to carry on to the point of successful achievement. . . With groups, especially, it is in proportion that the individuals comprising the group, get into the spirit of competition, that the success of the effort is scored.

All of which brings us up to the fact that the growth and the development—the achievement of Ozona to make of itself an ideal community in which to live, depends entirely upon the approach each individual citizen makes to his responsibility in helping to make Ozona a winner.

There rightfully is and must be a sense of competition between towns in respective territories. There must be a struggle for leadership. Call it town-pride or any other name—it must be there, the spirit to have our town a winner—a fine place to live and work, and enjoy life.

Can you imagine a situation where athletes of the United States would, as individuals, be rooting against their fellow-countrymen, in events in which they themselves were not competing? . . . Neither can we. . . But in civic affairs, right here in Ozona this situation exists every time a citizen takes his money and goes to city shops for needed supplies or amusements, or sends his money to mail-order houses which contribute not one penny to the development and the building up of Ozona.

Every citizen in this town is in fact carrying Ozona colors—and all of his fellow-townners are expecting him to do nothing less than his very best to help make Ozona a winner. If each citizen in his respective "event" will pull for his town with the same inspired enthusiasm that American athletes carry into the Olympic games at Los Angeles next month, we will one day have a town here of which to be extremely proud.

Trade at home; support home merchants; take active part in civic affairs; pay your bills promptly; boost Ozona, and keep the wheels of business turning. Step into the spirit of the game,—of helping to make Ozona a better town.

BAPTIST CHURCH

July 3, 1932

Sunday School 9:45 a. m. We begin a new quarter's study. General theme, "The Life of Moses."

Morning Service 11:00 a. m. We were mighty sorry that Brother J. J. Kellam of the Orphans Home was providentially hindered from being with us last Sunday, but both he and Dr. Hal Buckner are planning to be with us next Sunday, July 3rd. They will speak at the morning hour. Brother Hal is a son of the late Dr. R. C. Buckner, the founder of the Home, and with his brother Joe, operates the home as co-managers. There is a real treat in store for those who attend this service. For more than a generation the name Buckner has been connected with the care of orphan children, and no one is in better position to represent the home than Brother Hal Buckner, who returned from China to take the work upon the death of his noble father.

B.Y.P.U. meets at 7:30 p. m.

Evening Services 8:30 p. m. The pastor will preach. We urge you to worship with us.

M. M. Fulmer, Pastor.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY?

Does advertising pay? No, says the man who sticks his ad in some timetable or directory and expects people to walk around, look it up and by seeing his name break their neck to get to his store. The man who wants to get results out of advertising places his message in the home paper that goes to the homes of his prospective customers and the readers appreciate the paper enough to pay to get it. A real concrete example as to whether newspaper advertising pays or not was shown in the strike of printers in New York city when the newspapers came out without any advertisements. During that time business in the department stores fell off 50 per cent. A wedding announcement stuck up on a fence or a billboard might be read by a few but the same announcement in the local paper would be read by every subscriber. Don't put your light under a bushel, says the Scriptures that are printed for people to read—Loveland (Ohio) Herald.

$150 Saddle Award Postponed to Sept. 15, 1932

With the kind indulgence of our customers, we have decided to postpone award of the $150 saddle from July 4 to September 15, giving our customers additional time in which to secure their chances at this valuable prize to be given away free.

When announcement was first made of this award, fair officials had announced that the annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet and Stock Show would be held as usual. Later the celebration was called off, upsetting our plans to give away the saddle during the celebration.

Since so many of our friends and customers will be away on the ranches most of the summer, we feel that in justice to them we should extend the time limit to share in the award of the grand prize of a $150 saddle and many other valuable prizes, until Fall. Come in and let us explain the plan—you may win this fine hand-made, hand-carved saddle—ABSOLUTELY FREE.
