OZONA VOTERS SWAT JIM AND FAVOR DEMOS

Roosevelt Garner Ticket Carries, Bullington Beats Ma

TOTAL VOTE IS 421

Returns From County Boxes Expected By Last Of Week

On the basis of incomplete returns, Crockett County voters again swatted the Fergusons in favor of the Republican candidate for the governorship of Texas, Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, but favored the Democratic national ticket a little less than two to one in balloting in the general election here Tuesday.

Only the Ozona box had been reported up to this morning, returns from the county boxes being expected in the mails late this week. The total vote here was slightly below that of the total cast in the primaries, only 421 ballots being cast here. Only about 400 of these votes were registered for candidates of the two major parties, however, and all county officers were short approximately 40 votes off the total cast by reason of the fact that many voters who cast straight Republican tickets marked out the names of the county officers on the Democratic ticket without naming a choice in the Republican column.

Roosevelt and Garner adherents cast a total of 258 votes for the Democratic team for President and Vice President, while Hoover and Curtis partisans voted 141.

Orville Bullington polled a total of 278 votes to Mrs. Ferguson's 20.

Tom Casbeer, county treasurer, led the county ticket in the total number of votes cast for him in the local box. He received a total of 382. Other totals for district and county officers are as follows: K. M. Regan for State Senator, 363; Rabourn on the Liberty party failing to register a single vote; Coke R. Stevenson for state representative, 372; Weaver H. Baker for district attorney, 373; Charles E. Davidson, for county judge, 379; N. W. Graham for county attorney, 378; George Russell for county and district clerk, 380; W. S. Willis, for sheriff and tax collector, 380; O. W. Smith for tax assessor, 379; B. B. Ingham for county commissioner, 376 and Tom Smith 1; Bryan McDonald for justice of the peace, 377; and Tom Smith for constable, 379. Tot Grimmer received 68 votes for county surveyor against 23 for Clinton Glover. Glover won the nomination for that office in the run-off primary, but the Democratic executive committee failed to certify him as the candidate and his name was left off the ballot.

All of the nine constitutional amendments were approved by Ozona voters, most of them by majorities of around four to one. It is estimated that approximately 75 votes remain to be accounted for from the three other voting places in the county.

Lions Club Nets $45 From Picture Show Two Nights

The Ozona Theater was packed both Monday and Tuesday nights for the picture show sponsored by the Ozona Lions Club. The club treasury will be enriched by a total of approximately $45 as a result of the venture. Total receipts were near $100, with purchase price of the picture, use of the show house and advertising expenses leaving a net of about $45. The club thru its officers expressed appreciation for the support of the community in its venture.

Armistice Day Game At Sonora

Ozona Lions Take On Bronchs In District Tilt Friday

Local followers of the Ozona High School Lions are pointing their noses to the east and scenting hostilities over the horizon as the Lions prepare for their feature engagement of the season against the touted Sonora Bronchs on the Pony lot next Friday afternoon, Armistice Day.

Although the Bronchs have had some tough breaks in their district engagements this season and are out of competition for the district flag the same as Ozona, they are nevertheless rated as one of the stiffest opponents the locals will face for the season.

The ancient rivalry existing between the two schools and the fact that Coach Ted White is invading territory over which he once reigned as generalissimo extraordinary on the gridiron has put both teams on keen edge for the combat and fans who are planning on accompanying the locals to Sonora are looking forward to a real battle for the day's honors.

Coach White put his Lions through one of the stiffest workouts of the season last week, prior to the Sherwood game. In that one-sided affair he used his top squad men sparingly and ran in his second stringers for seasoning. The boys have been through only light work-outs this week and will be in splendid condition for Friday's fracas at Sonora.

WOULD-BE VOTER GETS BELLIGERENT AS BALLOT DENIED

Down in East Texas, especially in the oil field areas, elections are conducted in somewhat different manner from what they are out here in the open spaces of West Texas. At least, one would judge that from recent reports and developments and also from what one would-be voter who submitted himself for voting at the courthouse box Tuesday had to say about it.

Houston Smith, presiding officer of the box, refused the man a ballot when he admitted that he had been in Ozona but 40 days.

"I've come here to vote and I'm going to vote," quoth the applicant.

Mr. Smith tried to explain to him that he was not entitled to a vote and that the duty of the election officials to bar his ballot was plain under the law.

"But the county clerk down in East Texas where I live said I could vote and I voted in the primary. And he's been holding elections there twenty years," the fellow roared. "He ought to know what he's talking about and I'm going to vote."

But he didn't vote, although he stood about the polling place for a quarter hour or more. More than 20 persons who attempted to vote at the Ozona box were refused ballots on grounds of non-residence, election officials reported.

Merediths Welcomed With Box Supper And Party At The Church

Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Meredith were given a rousing welcome on their return for their sixth year in the pastorate of the Ozona Methodist Church when they were honored guests at a surprise box supper and party given at the church Monday evening.

There were between 45 and 50 members of the congregation present for the occasion, all bringing good things to eat. After the supper, various games and story telling were enjoyed.

DEEDS TO CEMETERY LOTS NOW AVAILABLE

Deeds to lots in the Cedar Hill Cemetery are now available to those who have already paid for lots but whose deeds have not been delivered. Mrs. B. B. Ingham, chairman of the Cemetery Association, announced this week. Deeds may be obtained from Houston Smith or from Mrs. Ingham.

Persons who wish to acquire lots in the burial plot may now purchase them and secure a deed, Mrs. Ingham said. Applications may be made to her or to Mr. Smith.

Juvenile Music Club Organized

Senior Club Sponsors Children's Organization Here

A Juvenile Music Club, drawing its membership from children from the first grade to high school, was organized at a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the grade school building under the sponsorship of the Ozona Music Club, with Mrs. W. J. Grimmer, Mrs. Neal Hannah and Mrs. Bascomb Cox as counsellors from the club.

There were 48 children present for the organization meeting and enthusiastically entered into the spirit of the movement. The following were elected officers: Ora Louise Cox, president; Betty Dudley, vice president; Joe Thomas Davidson, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Hannah, critic.

The club voted to hold its monthly meetings the fourth Thursday of each month from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m. The meeting date will be changed this month, however, on account of Thanksgiving.

The purpose of the juvenile organization is to foster an interest on the part of the children in music and to teach them proper conduct in public assemblies. Three prizes have been offered by the senior club for the best behavior on the part of members of the juvenile organization at public gatherings of all kinds. A first, second and third prize will be awarded.

Organization of a Junior Music Club, with school children of High School age eligible to belong, is also contemplated by the Ozona Music Club and committees are now arranging for perfecting this organization, it is understood.

Lions Again Beat Sherwood 26 to 0

Visitors Easy Prey To Fleet Backs Of Local Squad

A 65-yard run for a touchdown, another 55 yards and a third of 35 yards, all done by the Millers, Jake and Morris, furnished the thrills in an otherwise uninteresting contest on the Powell Field gridiron here Friday afternoon when the locals trounced the Sherwood eleven for a second time this season, the score being 26 to 0.

On the first down after Ozona had received Sherwood's kick-off at the opening of hostilities, Jake Miller skirted the Lion end on one of their favorite trick plays, dodged and darted through the primary and secondary defense of

THURSDAY, NOV. 10, 1932

Every governmental official or board that handles public money should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent. This is a fundamental principle of democratic government.

WHEN A PRESIDENT GOES CAMPAIGNING

Under a law enacted after the assassination of President McKinley, it is a capital offense, punishable by death, even to threaten the life of the President. Nevertheless, the protection of the President's person is one of the chief worries of the secret service men. It is also a good deal of a strain upon the President to have to limit his movements, outside of his own home, within the narrow range wherein the secret service men can accompany him.

When the President of the United States goes campaigning, or moves anywhere out of Washington, he is guarded and protected by secret service men every inch of the way. The Presidential special train has the right of way over everything else on the railroad line. Secret service men and railroad officials go ahead of it and see that every switch is spiked in place before the Presidential train passes, while a squad of government secret service operatives precedes the President to his destination and takes command of the local police situation to see that the crowds at the station and elsewhere are handled in such a way as to insure the maximum safety of the President's person.

The personnel of the President's train is selected from the most trustworthy railroad employees, from the engineer down to the waiter who serves meals in the Presidential dining car. The President's personal tastes in food are consulted, naturally, when the dining car is stocked. On one trip made by a certain president the refrigerator contained thirty-six dozen oranges and two dozen lobsters, these being delicacies of which the President was particularly fond.

IT MIGHT BE WISE!

Could things be worse? Listen to an Associated Press dispatch from Perth, Australia. It tells how the sheep raisers of Northwest Western Australia are destroying their sheep after shearing because they cannot get even as much as 12 cents a piece for them in the market. They take the wool and then destroy the sheep to get rid of the expense of keeping the animals. Things are far worse in Australia—and in many other countries—than they are in the United States.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Mrs. Skjold—What on earth are you applauding that last singer for? I think she was terrible. Mrs. Bjorn—I know, but I like the gown she is wearing and I want to get another look at it.

Mrs. H. H. Carden and small son of Belton are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Watson. They are both recovering from rather severe burns caused by spilling hot grease.

The 1932 poster of the American Red Cross Roll Call for members.

EVERY year, beginning with the World War, the Red Cross has issued a poster calling attention to its roll call for membership, which is held, traditionally, from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day. Many famous artists have painted these posters.

Usually they center about the figure of a Red Cross nurse, which carries sentimental recollections of her service during the war, and of her service in disasters in peacetime, as well as in the paths of public health. The poster this year is a timely reminder that the Red Cross needs help.

Every one who joins as a member of the Red Cross chapter in his community will be helping this humanitarian organization to help the needy throughout the nation.

PASSING JUDGMENT

The other sort of women were also attracted and impressed with Jesus—women of less fortunate experience and reputation—whose illusions regarding men were gone whose eyes saw piercingly, and whose lips were well-versed in phrases of contempt. As he taught in the Temple, one of them was hurried into his presence by a vulgar crowd of self-righteous Scribes and Pharisees. She had been taken in the act of infidelity, and according to the Mosaic law she could be stoned to death.

Bruce Barton

Shrinking, embarrassed, yet with a look in which defiance and scorn were mingled too, she stood in his presence, and listened while their unclean lips played with the story of her shame. What thoughts must have raced through her mind—she who knew men and despised them all, and now was brought to judgment before a man! They were all alike, in her philosophy; what would this one do, and say?

To her amazement, and the discomfort of her critics, he said nothing. He "stooped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground, as though he heard them not." They craned their necks to see what he wrote and continued to taunt him with their questions: "Moses says stone her; what do you say?"

"Come now, if you are a prophet, here's a matter for you to decide."

"We found her in the house of So and So. She is guilty; what's your answer?"

All this time he had not once looked at the woman's face, and he did not look at her now. Slowly he "lifted himself up," and facing the evil-minded pack, said quietly:

"He that is without sin among you let him first cast a stone at her."

And again, says the narrative, he stooped down and wrote on the ground.

A painful silence fell upon the crowd; he continued writing. He wrote—and one by one the thick-lipped champions of morality drew their garments around them and slipped away, until the court was empty except for him and her. Then, his glance was lifted.

"Woman, where are those thine accusers? Hath no man condemned thee?" he inquired, as if in surprise.

From the moment when the noisy vulgar throng had broken in upon him, he was complete master of the situation. Those were men not easily abashed, but they slunk out of his presence without waiting for his command. And she, who knew men so much more truly than men ever know each other, felt his mastery, responded to his power, and spoke to him reverently as "Lord."

PITY THE CITY WORKER

Every one of our readers undoubtedly knows people who have had, and are still having, an extremely hard time to get along. But very few people in small towns and the country are face to face with actual destitution, with no friends, neighbors or families to fall back on for help, in proportion to the number of those who find themselves in that position in the cities.

The plight of the unattached worker, cut off from family ties and associations and adventuring alone into the industrial centers is the most difficult situation in which any American finds himself today, if he has not maintained connections back home to provide a refuge when the factory has shut down.

We are more and more impressed with the strength of the policy long since put forth by Henry Ford and which is being put into effect, we understand, in some of the young new nations of Europe, that there must always be a tie maintained between the industrial worker and the land.

It is difficult for those who have never lost contact with the land to appreciate the situation of the city dweller who has no possible means of obtaining food or shelter, except by exchanging his or her work for money and buying the necessities of life with the money received for work. When no work for pay is obtainable, the city dweller cannot rely upon the products of his own garden and penthouse, or the surplus of his neighbors for sustenance.

That is why the people who have jobs in the big cities are being called upon to help feed and shelter those for whom there are no jobs available, through what may prove to be the most serious winter of distress the nation has yet faced, but which, we have hopes, may be the last for many years to come.

PROGNOSTICATOR—A fore-knower or foreteller of a future course or event by present signs. That, customers, is the definition Mr. Noah Webster has ascribed to the rather awful looking word above. And that is just exactly what T. G. has decided that he is—not what that fellow in Lemmons' store called him a few days ago. Honest now, didn't I tell you all about the way the election was going? That Mr. Roosevelt was white House bound, that Ma and Jim already had their grip packed ready to start for the governors' mansion at Austin, and that Bullington was the man of the hour in Crockett County in spite of the strenuous efforts of Barber Brown and Gerard Smith? Huh? The Hell I didn't—well now if I didn't, it was just a slip on my part, for I certainly intended to. Anyhow, since it is all over except a small portion of the shouting—"Absit invidia," as the noted Phoenician scholar said. (Look that up—it's really a pretty pungent expression.)

Just one more fling at my good, tho misguided friends who saw fit to vote for Mr. Hoover in the late debacle—just this one. And I am off politics for another four years well, two years, at least. Two of our local darkeys were discussing the presidential race and the following little conversation took place: "Who's you gonna vote for, Rastus?" Rastus lowed as how he was sho gonna vote for Mr. Hoovah. "So'm I," replied his friend—"he th' only man in th' race, ain't he?" "Well, No, seems like I heard th' white folks had out a candidate, too."

W. L. Boerner, Former Resident And Father Of Mrs. J. M. Baggett, Dies Suddenly At His Home In Floydada

(From Floyd Co. Hesperian)

Funeral rites for W. L. Boerner, 76, pioneer resident of Floyd County, were held Monday afternoon of this week at 2 o'clock, following his sudden death Saturday morning, with Rev. I. A. Smith, pastor of the First Methodist Church officiating and assisted by Rev. G. I. Brittain of Plainview, a long-time friend of the Boerner family. The funeral was held at the home 602 South Fifth Street. A large number of friends of the family, including many pioneer residents were present.

Death Comes Suddenly

Death of the pioneer ranchman and town-builder came suddenly Saturday morning at 9:10. His condition had been serious for the past several months, a heart ailment having developed. He was not well during the latter part of the night of Friday but the attack which proved fatal did not occur until after 8:30. He expired within a few minutes after being moved to a bed from the chair which he occupied.

Surviving Mr. Boerner are his wife and five children, two sons and three daughters. The sons are Fred W. of Huntington Park, California and Frank J., of this city. The daughters are Mrs. E. P. Nelson and Mrs. S. W. Ross, city, and Mrs. J. M. Baggett of Ozona. Several grandchildren also survive. All the children were here for the funeral. Mrs. Baggett and Mr. Baggett arrived Saturday night and Fred W. Boerner, accompanied by his wife and by Mrs. Otto Faulkner, of Long Beach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Nelson and granddaughter of the deceased, reached here Monday morning at 7 o'clock after a forty-hour drive. Another daughter, Mrs. Florence Posey of Lubbock, preceded her father in death on February 6 of this year.

Two sisters also survive the deceased. They are Mrs. Edd O'Leary, of Ennis, Texas, and Mrs. A. E. Vandervoot, of Dallas. Neither was able to be here for the funeral rites.

Married Fifty-Two Years

Mr. and Mrs. Boerner had been married nearly fifty-two years. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary here on November 21, 1929, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. E. P. Nelson, when a number of pioneer friends, as well as relatives and other friends gathered to do them honor.

The family moved to Floyd County in 1894 from Ennis. Mr. Boerner at that time obtained extensive land holdings and began operating a sheep ranch in southeast Floyd County, a property that is now in farm lands. After ten years here the family moved to Ozona and lived four years, returning here in 1908. Since that time he had resided continuously in Floydada, and was among the first property owners in the city to begin the construction of brick business houses, as the town took its first spurt toward permanency in 1911. Following the fire that destroyed the west side business district on July 4 of that year, he constructed one of the first brick business structures.

For three years, April 1917 to April 1920, he was mayor of the city and during the World War was named Fuel Administrator for this county when the lack of railway cars and the demand for fuel created a serious emergency. This emergency duty, along with the activities of mayor during the influenza epidemic, was coupled with other heavy duties in connection with the raising of funds for Red Cross work and the support of Liberty Loan drives and other activities incident to the community's full share in the prosecution of the World War.

The city's first paving program was initiated in the fall of 1917 during his first year of office as mayor and completed in the spring of the following year. From the organization of the Hesperian Publishing Company in 1912 until 1919, he was a director of the company and in April of the latter year he was elected its president. He served in this capacity until two years ago. During the past two years he had gradually withdrawn from active participation in business and during the past several months had given practically all of his time to the conservation of his health, which, he realized, was seriously impaired.

He was a native of Cincinnati, Ohio. He came to Texas in his youth and was married in 1875 to Ennis to Miss Emma Griffiths, who survives him. The family lived for a few years at Albany after leaving Ellis County, before finally settling here.

INSULL'S OPERATING COMPANIES

From Abilene Morning News
Samuel and Martin Insull's unpardonable sin was in running out from the consequences. They cannot be forgiven that. But what ever may be said of the Insulls, they have never run out on West Texas. Out here the most significant counter picture to the vast and reverberating fall of their house of holding-company cards is the going condition of the operating companies that were the real heart of the structure.

During this deluge of Insull news—all about Martin in the $20-a-week boarding house, Sarcuel's flight to Paris to Florence to Athens, Martin in jail, of Samuel the expatriate and fugitive—it is well to remember that the brothers dreamed of dependable electricity in small towns, on the farm; and that the West Texas Utilities Company remains, with the other operating units, to fulfill the dream. West Texas is not willing to put that company on the spot for offenses of which it was ignorant.

It has not missed on the promise to pay, a few weeks ago distributing $117,000 in hard coin of the realm to its holders of $6 preferred stock of whom 2,000 are West Texans. Last year it paid taxes amounting to $1,160 per day and salaries and wages of $3,000 per day.

More can be said. The West Texas Utilities Company has, every year, spent more money in the development and expansion of its properties than it has received in profits from their operation. In efficiency and good conduct it is one of West-Texas' finest assets. Last week its operation, viewed for the first time, won the admiration of two hard-headed business men from Chicago, the receivers of the Middle West Utilities Company, Messrs. Hurley and McCulloch. Those gentlemen issued an enthusiastic statement in which, however, they only said what the West Texan already knows.

The News pays it this tribute because, in the present emergency its personell have taken their medicine without complaint or whimper. Not one, from the president down to the porter in the general offices, has asked this newspaper, or any newspaper, to "go easy" or "give us a break."

PLAN NEW $350,000 GEOLOGY BUILDING AT UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Nov. 9—Plans for the $350,000 geology building at The University of Texas, now under construction, were worked out only after Dr. F. M. Bullard, professor of geology, had visited state universities in Oklahoma, Nebraska, Kansas, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, New York, Illinois and Ohio, and Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth, Cornell and Columbia universities. Dr. Bullard paid particular attention to the arrangement of laboratory spaces and to equipment in geology buildings at these institutions in an endeavor to ascertain the most efficient plan to use here. The building is being constructed as part of the University's mammoth building program financed by bonds purchased out of its own permanent fund. An auditorium, seating 356, and having a forced system of ventilation, is one of the features of the building. Another room will house the geology library, comprised of 10,000 volumes.

Texas Wool Industry

By W. E. TALBOT

Editor's Note—This is the ninth series of articles dealing with possibilities of the wool industry in Texas. Colonel Talbot, managing director of the Southland Industrial Development Bureau, is an acknowledged authority on the subject of industrialization for Texas.

Copyright, 1932, Southland Life Insurance Co.

As we now consider the wool industry. When it comes from the sheep it consists of long and short fibers. After the wool is washed the fibers can be separated by combing and combed into long short fibers. The long fibers, called "tops" and are made of the finest worsted cloth. The short fibers are called "noil" and are not so manufactured into cloth as the worsted process. It is, however, a textile process which utilizes the noil, together with some short wool and by-products. This cloth, of course, is naturally of an inferior quality. The worsted process requires thirty-eight operations to produce finished cloth, while the wool process requires only twenty operations.

Texas today produces as good—perhaps the best—wool in the United States. Again quoting a prominent textile man:

"I believe here that Texas is among the finest grown in the United States and superior to the Oregon wool for making the worsted fabrics. Many of our mills are operating on Texas wool. I wonder how many Texans know that the finest worsted suits wear are made from their own wool and could be made in Texas?"

There is a dark blue. There is a light blue with checks. There is a blue with stripes. There is a "ring home" gray and beautiful browns that compare in appearance and quality with anything that I have ever seen. Our wool is being used to make the finest cloth in other communities because they have said that would not do it down here. We can do it, people, if we will make up our minds that the solution of our economic problems must come from our own efforts. When a man has the will to work it is a travesty on economic conditions that he is unable to obtain employment. The whole effort of Texas must be devoted to the building up of industries that will give employment to our people and a sale at a profit of the products of our farms and our ranches.

In the next article I will show the markets for our finished products.

Next Week: Distribution.

Lions vs Sherwood

The visitors and struck out for the goal line, putting the ball over for the first touchdown in less than a minute after the game started. A well-aimed place-kick won the extra point.

In the second quarter, Jake again got loose on the identical play, skirting the ends to be away for another touchdown from 55 yards distant. This time the kick for point was blocked.

Visitors Take To Air

A momentary show of resistance made by the visitors as the close of the half neared gave the spectators a thrill. Receiving the Lions kick after the touchdown, the Sherwood lads opened up with a frenzied passing attack which carried the ball from their own 38 yard line to Ozona's 21 yard line where they were thrown for about a ten yard loss when Buddy Moore broke through and tackled the passer, just as the half ended.

An over-anxious Lion line contributed a part of the gain with three off-side penalties in that march.

Coach Ted White did not start his full first string at the opening of the battle, but practically the entire squad had a work-out in the easy game.

Early in the third period, with Moore, Westfall, Chandler and the two Millers temporarily in the line-up again, the ball was marched down the field from where it was received on the kick-off at the Ozona 42-yard marker to within eight yards of the goal, Morris taking it over for the third touchdown. Again the Lions failed to convert.

35-Yard Run

With Sherwood being forced to kick each time she received the ball, the Lions had the visitors backed almost to their goal line the balance of the quarter, marching the ball again and again deep in Sherwood territory until early in the last period when Morris Miller grabbed a desperate pass heaved by a Sherwood back and raced 35 yards for the fourth touchdown. A fake off-tackle thrust put the ball over for the point, and the score was 26 to 0. The visitors opened up with another passing attack which was

Lions Club Enjoys Bountiful Feast As Guests Lions Fulmer

Eighteen members of the Ozona Lions Club enjoyed one of the greatest treats of the year when they were guests of Lion and Mrs. M. M. Fulmer at the club's regular luncheon hour Monday noon.

Lion Fulmer extended an invitation to the club the previous Monday to dine at his home at its next meeting and it was enthusiastically accepted. Tables were arranged in the living room and dining room of the Fulmer home and Mrs. Fulmer spread before the Lions a feast the like of which they had not seen in many moons. After the hungry Lions had been served, Mrs. Fulmer entertained at the piano during the meal.

At the conclusion of the feast, Lion C. S. Denham was called upon by President Childress to express the club's appreciation for the treat, and Lion Denham paid a glowing tribute to Rev. Fulmer on his work as leader of the church, his interest in organization of the Lions Club and his service as its first and second president and his untiring efforts in behalf of all worthwhile community development projects.

Members gathered in a circle on the lawn to conclude their meeting, business of the club being transacted there.

LUNCHEON FOR GUEST

Miss Ethel Childress entertained with a luncheon Wednesday for her guest, Miss Flora Waggoner, before her departure for her home in Dallas, Thursday. Besides Miss Waggoner, Mrs. Bob Weaver, Mrs. Marshall Montgomery, Mrs. Hugh Childress, Jr., and Miss Mary Childress were guests.

gaining ground as the end of the game neared, but a pass over the goal line from scrimmage on the 12-yard line, put the ball in possession of the locals on the 20 yard line and the game ended a few seconds later.

W.M.S. Observes Week Of Prayer

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church observed its annual Week of Prayer with an all-day program at the church Wednesday. Week of prayer has been observed in the past with a series of meetings during the week but this year it was combined into one all-day program, with luncheon served at noon in the basement of the church.

The program opened at 10 a. m. with Mrs. J. A. Fussell as leader. Mrs. Floyd Henderson discussed the origin of prayer week. Other topics for the morning session were "The Founding and Purpose of Ewah College" by Mrs. N. W. Graham, "The Meaning of Millions of Koreans" by Mrs. Paul Perner and "Through a Tight Shut Door" by Miss Hester Bunker. Musical features of the morning were a hymn by the congregation and a solo by Mrs. Joe Pierce.

The afternoon session opened at 1:15 with Mrs. Charles Williams as leader. "The McDonald French Mission" was discussed by Mrs. Will Baggett. A duet, "O Jesus I Have Promised" by Mrs. Bright Baggett and Mrs. Bascomb Cox was followed by a discussion of the "World Outlook" by Rev. J. H. Meredith. "Understanding" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Scott Peters. There were 33 present for the session. A delicious luncheon was served by the ladies during the noon hour.

A Study.....

... in Contrasts

The above scene is a graphic representation of the homes of two housewives—just before guests arrive for the evening meal. The woman at the left has been working in a hot kitchen all afternoon... nothing has gone off well... she is nervous, tired, irritable... and looks it. But the modern home-manager at the right is cool, fresh, lovely and unharried. She has been away from home all afternoon, yet is ready to take a delicious, savory and attractive meal from her oven. Her meal will be an unqualified success... the success of the other housewife's dinner-party is extremely doubtful.

The difference is that the modern home-manager, at the right, has an Electric Range... The other housewife still cooks by old-fashioned methods!

You, too, should profit by the many advantages and superiorities of modern Electric Cookery. With one of the new General Electric Hotpoint Ranges in your kitchen you'll save money, work, time and food. You'll serve better, more healthful and more attractive meals. You'll be happy, cheerful and energetic. Take advantage of special prices and terms... TODAY! See one of our salesmen NOW. He will be glad to tell you the interesting and valuable story of Electric Cookery. There's no obligation, of course.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule... and adds only a small amount to your total bill?
