May Test Deep Todd Well Today

Stanolind Expected To Drill Plug For Final Test

Pressure will be released and preparations started to drill plug from Stanolind Oil and Gas Company et al. No. 1 J. S. Todd, Crockett County test seeking production from the Ordovician, on Wednesday or Thursday.

Seven-inch casing was set and cemented during the middle of the past week at 7,006 feet, where the first member of the Ordovician was encountered.

Ellenberger lime, from which several cores were taken carrying an odor of gas and oil, was topped at 7,247 feet and the hole is now bottomed at 7,357 feet.

Elevation of 2,660 feet, making top of Ellenberger 4,587 feet below sea level.

Deep wells in the Big Lake pool of Reagan County, 30 miles northwest of Stanolind et al. No. 1 Todd, have produced more than 14,000,000 barrels of high gravity oil from the Ellenberger lime.

Big Lake Oil Company No. C-1 University, a producer deepened to a new record depth for Texas at 9,562 feet, which started work of unloading for a test, was shut down for Christmas. Operators resumed work Tuesday, but no test of production had been completed.

Continental Oil Company No. A-1-23 Todd, one of the two new shallow tests in Crockett County started by that company since coring of formation carrying odors of oil and gas in Stanolind et al. No. 1 Todd, was reported drilling Tuesday below 405 feet. The test is in section 23, block WX, G., C. & S. F. Railway survey, about three miles west of Stanolind et al. No. 1 Todd, was reported drilling Tuesday below 405 feet. The test is in section 23, block WX, G., C. & S. F. Railway survey.

Continental No. A-1-26 Todd, section 26, block WX, G., C. & S. F. Railway survey, about three miles northwest of Stanolind et al.'s test, was drilling Tuesday at 530 feet.

The two Continental tests are being drilled with expectation of developing commercial production at less than 2,000 feet to validate leases due to expire in February.

An old test about a mile north of Continental's two projects had an oil showing around 1,700 feet.

Sufficient gas to furnish fuel for Stanolind et al. No. 1 Todd was developed around 780 feet in a shallow test drilled about a mile southeast of the deep project.

Childress Tree Wins Lion Award

Miss Ethel Childress Turns Prize Money Back For Charity

A beautifully silvered Christmas tree, decorated and set up in the front yard of her home by Miss Ethel Childress, was adjudged the most beautiful outside Christmas decoration by a committee representing the Ozona Lions Club and was awarded the $2.50 cash prize offered by the Club.

Miss Childress returned the prize money to the charity funds of the club for use in its community work.

The tree which won first prize in the contest was one of the most unusual ever arranged here. The tree was sprayed with silver paint and then sprinkled with artificial snow, decorated with the usual tinsel and other decorations. It was beautifully lighted with colored lights and the whole illuminated with flood lights placed underneath the tree.

A Himalayan cedar more than seven feet in height was beautifully lighted on the lawn of the Joe Oberkampff home. This decoration won first honorable mention from the committee of judges. Others winning honorable mention were M. T. Blackwell, Floyd Henderson, Roy Henderson, Mrs. Floyd Estes, S. E. Coose, Bryan McDonald, George Russell, Tom Hunter, Mrs. Charles Williams, John Bailey, Bill Conklin, N. W. Graham and W. L. Miller. Business firms whose decorations drew attention of the committee were Joe Oberkampff, Smith Drug Store, Ozona Drug Store, West Texas Lumber Co., West Texas Utilities Co., Ozona Hardware Co., Magnolia Service Station, Popular Variety Store, San Angelo Telephone Company and the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Elsie Fincher and sons, Oran and Claude Fincher and daughter, Miss Alma Fincher, are here from Houston to spend the week with relatives. They expect to leave Friday for their home.

Former Ozona Girl Writes Description Of Burning Gas Well

A graphic description of a burning gas well, near Corpus Christi, was given by Mrs. Gilbert F. Noakes of Corpus Christi, recently in a letter to her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Jones. The gas well has been burning for several months and expert oil well fire fighters have declared that it is impossible to extinguish the blaze.

"It has coughed up so much dirt and rock that there is a mound around it that looks like a volcano," Mrs. Noakes wrote her parents. "It has been burning about seven weeks or more. A man was here the other day from Mexico who has worked on oil wells for 35 years and he told of a well in the interior of Mexico that burned for 14 years. That well was exactly like this one, he said.

"The road near the well is burning just as if you had poured oil on it and set fire to it. The cone around the well is about 75 or 100 feet high. They say the only way it will ever be put out is for the mound to get too heavy and cave in."

Schools Resume Classes Monday

Only Two More Holidays In Store For School Pupils

The mid-year vacation period, the Christmas holidays, will end next Monday for students of the Ozona Schools and most of those who are attending colleges and universities, home for the holiday season, will be leaving the first of next week to resume their duties in their respective schools.

Local schools will resume classes Monday morning, January 2, with approximately five months more of the present term ahead.

The next holiday for school children here will not come until February 22, Washington's birthday. Texas Independence Day, March 2, will likely complete the days off allowed school children.

Santa Visits 25 Families Of Poor

Children Made Happy With Candy, Toys By Lions Santa

There really is a Santa Claus.

If you don't believe it, ask the hundred or more children who were visited by the jolly old fellow on Christmas Eve night, children who would more than likely have been passed up by Santa had it not been for the annual Christmas Cheer program of the Ozona Lions Club.

Approximately 25 different families with small children, youngsters whose promises from Santa Claus were meager, were visited by Santa himself Saturday evening under the auspices of the Lions Club.

Santa carried his pack of toys and goodies in ancient form and showered the children with toys, candies and fruits; toys that were donated by citizens of Ozona, repaired by boys of the manual training department and the Home Economics classes of the Ozona High School.

After visiting all of the children off Santa's beaten path, a number of toys and packages of fruits and candies were left and these were turned over to the local Mexican W.O.W. chapter, which engaged in a similar project among the Mexican children. A truck with a Christmas tree and Santa aboard, cruised through the Mexican settlement Christmas Eve and distributed goodies to children of the poor in that area.

RAINS SOAK SECTION

Heavy rains soaked most of the stock raising area of West Texas late last week, further insuring plenty of early spring feed and adding to the security of the ranching industry. The average fall over the territory was around an inch and a half.

Wool Firm Sells 2,500,000 Pounds

Price Average Reported 13½ Cents; Higher Prices Seen

The Wool Growers Central Storage Company of San Angelo Monday sold to C. D. Stokes, wool buyer for Winslow and Company of Boston, about 2,500,000 pounds of 12 months wool at a price average of around 13½ cents, according to reports. The top price was around 14 cents.

The price average for the big sale was approximately 4 cents above the Spring price.

"Should the average have been 12½ or 13 cents a pound for the wools, it would mean that the average ewe yielded $1 worth of wool in addition to a lamb which is worth about $2 this fall," says the San Angelo Times in commenting on the sale. "This makes the produce from the ewe in the year of 1932 for these flocks about $3 a head. They are priced today from $3 to $4.50 and with good range conditions assured by the rains that have fallen recently, the sheep business looks better to the ranchmen who have rainbows of grass around their shoulders.

"There will be more wool buying firms operating in West Texas this spring than ever and ranchmen can get from them today a pre-shearing advance of 50 cents a head on their sheep in 12 months wool. Many ranchmen will carry their lambs over and shear them in the spring, shipping them to the markets if they get fat.

"There is a feeling over the country that good wools will bring in Texas in the spring of 1933 from 18 to 20 cents a pound or even better. Texas wools in Boston are more than three-fourths sold out and the dealers have made some money. However, many a hundred thousand pounds was bought in Texas last spring on a commission of no more than one-half a cent a pound."

Strict Enforcement Of Tax Laws Urged By State Auditor

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Dec. 28.—Stricter administration and enforcement of present tax laws has been recommended by State Auditor Moore Lynn as one means of combatting declining state revenues and the consequent large deficit in the State's General Revenue Fund.

The Auditor's recommendations were in his annual report on the condition of the General Revenue Fund, in which a deficit of $2,854,171 as of August 31, 1933, is forecast.

Loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually was attributed to failure to enforce properly the laws relating to taxation.

"Appropriations for the agencies administering the tax laws should be sufficiently liberal to permit the officials charged with enforcement to detect evasions and vigorously attack every claim," he advised the Governor.

"Enforcement of the tax laws, however, will never be fully effective until tax administration is placed under some one agency of the government, that agency to be responsible for all enforcement and at the same time be required to make recommendations for improvements."

Lynn suggested that escheat laws be amended to require all municipal and court officers, banks, fiduciaries, trustees, etc., to submit regular reports of property, deposits and other things of value in their hands when the owner is unknown and where the property is unclaimed after a certain period.

He also highly recommended a close study of plans to be submitted by the Joint Legislative Committee on Organization and Economy, "which will present practical plans for reducing state ex-

YULE SEASON IS OBSERVED QUIETLY HERE

Merchants Report Holiday Business Better Than 1931

16 ARRESTS MADE

Mexicans Draw Fines On Drunk And Gambling Charges

The Christmas season was observed quietly in Ozona, with big crowds in the city for the season, many former residents returning to spend Christmas with friends and relatives.

Merchants report the best Christmas business in two years. Most of the business firms of the city enjoyed a splendid Christmas business, despite the depression, and hopes are high for the definite passing of the crisis during the coming year.

The Christmas spirit was more apparent here this year than in several past. Although rainy weather and consequent mud, coupled with the prevalence of illness throughout the city, marred the perfect Christmas, there was more real effort to engender the Yuletide spirit than in several years. Outside lighting effects, window decorations and Christmas trees showing through windows of homes, together with the crowds of shoppers that pressed through the stores all during the week added to the festive spirit.

Sixteen arrests were made by the sheriff's department during the week-end. Sheriff Willis reported. The victims were all Mexicans, however, that number having been taken in a raid on a gambling game in the Mexican suburb. All those arrested were hauled up in justice court and paid fines for drunkenness and gaming.

Usher In New Year Saturday

1933 Gives Promise Of A Lifting Of Clouds Of Depression

A New Year, fraught with promise of a decided rift in the clouds of depression that have hovered over the world the past three years, will be ushered in next Saturday night.

The year 1932 has been one of the most trying of the depression period from many standpoints, but its last few months have given new courage and new promise of a general betterment of business conditions.

The newest ray of hope for the stock raising section of West Texas is the higher price of wool, the fact that the wool stores of the nation have been depleted and an excellent promise in sight for much higher prices for the product this spring. According to the best predictions, the industry is staging a come-back and hopes are high for the year 1933.

One of the most promising oil plays in the history of the county, active leasing throughout the county and a considerable influx of new money from this source have further brightened the prospects of Ozona and Crockett County for 1933. Road work in progress in the county, making for employment of many men, has also helped and will continue to help throughout most of the new year. Business in Ozona has held its own remarkably well during the past year and the loyalty of a community-conscious people is being depended upon to pull the town through to the relief in sight.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurst Meinecke, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Augustine, and Mr. and Mrs. Hilton North were among the ranch folks who spent the holidays in town with relatives.

THURSDAY DECEMBER 29 1932

Every governmental official or board that handles public money should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent. This is a fundamental principle of democratic government.

NOTICE TO DELINQUENT TAXPAYERS OF CROCKETT COUNTY

It appearing that while the recent act of the Legislature permits all delinquent tax payers to pay up without interest or penalty if paid before the first day of January 1933; yet so far only one has made payment. It is considered the duty of this Court to remind delinquent tax payers that they should not be careless or indifferent about paying taxes; for taxes must be paid; and delinquent tax is a first lien on the property—the lien is prior to every mortgage or judgment lien and any other lien excepting only a widow's allowance or last sickness and burial expense. Every purchaser assumes the lien when he buys, and every mortgagee assumes it when he takes a mortgage. This Court has power to order tax collector and Sheriff to levy on and sell on ten days posting notice enough of any personal property sufficient to pay up the delinquent taxes, and this whether it has changed hands or not. Now this Court is not desirous of ordering these levies; but too much carelessness and indifference on the part of the delinquent tax payer will force this Court to do its duty up to the letter of the law. The Clerk will publish this order two weeks.

JUST A BOOMERANG

"Let the rich pay the tax." This slogan has been and is now a popular expression with a large section of the unthinking public, state and national legislators included. As a result the merican public is shouldering the heaviest tax burden ever borne by our people in times of war or peace; and that, too, in the worst economic depression in the history of our nation. For the last twenty years the Federal government has increased expenditures by its paternalistic tendencies toward assuming literally hundreds of important functions which rightfully belong to the states and to individuals. A few people have come to realize that whenever the Federal government spends money, it must dig down into the pockets of the taxpayers to get it. It is and ever shall be an eternal truth that the consumer pays the bills.

Every fair-minded person now has ample opportunity to observe the effects of reckless spending by the Federal government and "the soak the rich" tax theory. We are taxed for our land, our homes, every item of furnishing in our homes, every article of clothing, automobiles, automobile accessories, gas, electric lights, incomes, cameras, picture shows, matches, bank checks; in fact, rack your brain for one single item on which there is not a direct or an indirect tax. There is no use for you won't find one. To make things worse it is appalling to realize that on innumerable items we pay double tax and in some cases triple tax, as in the case of where the county, city, state and federal authorities all take a divvy off of gasoline, tobacco and incomes pour a certain figure.

These tax millions pour into the government coffers 365 days of the year; there is no ceasing. It is paid out for road building, improvement of rivers and harbors, salaries of government workers, upkeep of army and navy, erection and repairs on federal buildings, extension, work in education, health service, assistance to agriculture and industry, pensions to veterans of our wars, postal service, subsidies to aviation, merchant marine, inland waterways, etc. Federal legislators have found a way to spend our tax millions, and in the past two years three billions in addition.

How does this affect the average working man and that class of society which advocates "soak the rich." Naturally, the ones who pay the tax include it in their charge for their product whether it be a manufactured product or the labor of their hands. It means that the capitalist must get a higher price for his article and pay less to the labor that produces it, the buying public and laboring man cannot buy as much as formerly on account of higher prices and having less money consequently there is no need for the capitalist to manufacture more than he can sell and he begins to lay off men. The man who advocated "soak the rich" now has no job.

A better slogan than "soak the rich" is "live and let live." Don't be fooled into thinking the government gives you anything. You are the government and you will pay the bill. The poor man who buys a sack of flour, a slab of bacon, a pound of coffee and a pair of shoes for his child is the one who pays in the end. It is a universal truth that everyone must pay for what he gets.—Record, Stearns, Kentucky.

THE HOME-TOWN PAPER

The Journalism department of the University of Southern California has been delving into the buying habits of newspaper readers and has made some valuable discoveries. Subscribers to the home-town paper buy from 12 to 21 per cent more merchandise from local stores than do non-subscribers. Of the people in neighboring rural or smaller communities, subscribers buy from advertisers from 9 to 35 per cent more merchandise than non-subscribers. This holds true, regardless of spending power.

The local newspaper, it is estimated, makes one of the largest, if not the largest, contributions to volume of trade in the smaller cities of California, and doubtless in the other states. The relation of the newspaper to the business world is more vital today than at any time in the past decade. The investigators are convinced that retail business in the smaller communities would be from one-fifth to one-fourth below its present level without the push given it by newspaper advertising.

FALLING FOR FAKE SCHEMES

Never within the recollection of the present generation have as many fake schemes come to light as within the last two years. Almost every day papers in some part of the country are called upon to expose a new scheme. But, as a rule, the expose comes after the faker has gathered in the money and hied himself to other territory, where his game is still unknown. He manages to keep one jump ahead of the denouncers.

This section has come in for its share of schemes and fakers, and its citizens have contributed their share of coin to the schemers. It has never been plain why local citizens will bite at something a home-town citizen could not sell them in a hundred years.

Along comes a perfect stranger selling advertising space on a time-card, calendar, cook book or some other fake scheme. He sells his space readily, in a form of advertising that usually isn't worth the paper it is printed on, pockets the money and is on his way. And then, when the advertiser fails to get results—as he does ninety-nine times out of a hundred—he goes around declaring that "advertising doesn't pay." The fact of the matter is such schemes are not legitimate advertising, and that is the only kind that ever did or ever will pay.

There is something funny about human nature when it comes to these fake schemes. Nobody can understand why merchants and professional men will "fall for them" when they wouldn't buy a nickel's worth of space if a home-town man was doing the soliciting. But a perfect stranger comes along and they bite—hook, line and sinker. It's a problem no one has so far been able to figure out.—Slaton, Texas, Slatonite.

Ramsey's Nursery, Austin, Texas, has been selling home-grown trees of the highest quality for 57 years. Their products give returns in health and beauty, and help fight the depression. VIRTUE OF PATIENCE

One of the greatest aids to worthwhile accomplishment is the quality of patience. This applies to laying the foundation for a successful career in any profession or business. The person who depends upon short cuts and quick action devices frequently meets with bitter disappointment, if not disgrace.

This is particularly true with respect to the accumulation of wealth, as many misguided individuals now behind "prison bars" can regretfully testify. Many men who go wrong through speculation with other people's money do not set out deliberately to be criminals, but they think they see an opportunity to make a "killing" and take the chance. They intend to replace the appropriated funds if they win, but they usually lose in the end. Some instances are related by a recent writer on thrift:

One man used money not his own in what he considered a sure thing real estate deal. The venture failed and one more was added to the suicide roll. Another lost in playing the market, then stole from his firm, lost again and went to prison. Innumerable cases like these might be cited.

On the other hand, the patient plodder, who builds upon a sound and honest foundation, frequently achieves success which is denied to the spectacular plunger. In fact, patience is generally one of the surest aids in the accomplishment of any worthy purpose.—Spirit of Jefferson, Charles Town, West Virginia.

ROUGH to your finger

MEANS... ROUGH IN YOUR STOMACH

It's easy to say they're all alike—and easy to prove they are NOT. Dissolve a genuine Bayer Aspirin tablet in water, pour it off, feel the fine powder that coats the glass. Do this with some other tablet; see what coarse particles are left! They feel as sharp as sand, even to your finger. How must they affect those delicate membranes which line your throat—your stomach? For immediate relief from headache, colds, sore throat, neuralgia or neuritis, lumbago, rheumatism, there's nothing like Bayer Aspirin. It cannot depress the heart.

It's something anyone can do—something you can start today and see results in a week! All you do is give your vital organs the right stimulus. 1933 MAKES ITS BOW!

A New Year--A New Deal

The dawning of a New Year invariably brings with it a new sense of hope—a new beginning—a new deal. There is no marked change in the way the world wags on, but a new year brings something to the human breast that no other change can bring. It is a time for wiping the slate clean, for letting the past bury its dead and turning faces to the dawn of a new day—a time for new resolve and new activity.

The year 1933 holds particular charm for a hopeful world. We see in it the glowing hope of relief, of surcease from the pangs of depression that have gripped us for more than three years. The world is definitely on the upswing and it is freely predicted that 1933 will see the curve making rapid upward progress.

The depression has taught us many valuable lessons—not the least of which is a better understanding of our fellow beings and a more sympathetic interest in their problems. It is our firm belief too that the past few years have brought about a greater civic interest in Ozona—a more pronounced feeling of pride in our community and a greater sense of community brotherhood. If that is so, then we all have a wonderful blessing to count in a year where most of us feel the blessings were all too few.

In our resolutions for this new year, let's all resolve to give our town and the community which we call home a new deal. Let's resolve to live within our incomes and to pay all bills promptly when due. Let's resolve that we will buy at home—buy everything we need and use in Ozona wherever and whenever it is possible to do so. Let's resolve to bring ourselves to a new consciousness of our civic interest and responsibilities and to do everything within our power as individuals toward making ours the best, most up-to-date, thriving little town in Texas. With your help it can be done.
