OZONA TO GET FIRE FIGHTING OUTFIT SOON

Modern Pumper Ordered By Commissioners Court

NORTH TO HOUSE Motor Dealer To Maintain Equipment In Approved Station

Fire protection for property in Ozona will soon be available with the placing of an order this week by the Crockett County Commissioners Court for a complete fire fighting equipment, including a new pumper and truck, hose, ladder, chemicals, etc. and completion of arrangements for a local fire station, properly manned.

After negotiations that have been in progress for several weeks the Court this week accepted a contract with the American Body and Equipment Co. of Dallas to completely equip a Chevrolet truck, purchased through the North Motor Co., local dealers, with all necessary fire fighting equipment.

The new truck will be equipped with a 200 gallon capacity rotary pump with power take-off and gauges and equipped complete with special mountings, including side running boards, rear steps and built-in fenders. The outfit is to have nickled railings and hand bars with built-in hose racks to carry a sufficient amount of 2 1/2 inch fire hose and booster hose.

Has 300 Gallon Tank

On the truck is to be mounted a 300-gallon standard approved pressure tank. With this feature it will be possible for the fire fighters to begin throwing water immediately upon arrival at a fire the 300-gallon tank being considered sufficient to put out small fires, but in any event a sufficient quantity to permit the playing of a stream of water on the fire until the hose connections are made to the pumper.

In addition to the equipment mentioned, the order for extra equipment included a 12-foot scaling ladder, a 20-foot extension ladder in two pieces, a 6 1/2 pound fire axe, a pipe pole, electric siren, two fire lanterns, a rotary search light, 400 feet of 1 1/2 inch hose, a crowbar and two shut-off nozzles. The chemical tanks, hose and other equipment still in good condition on the old fire truck will be mounted on the new in addition.

Cast Makes Home Run With Lively Baseball Comedy

"Three Strikes—You're Out" Scores Hit In Showing Here

"Three Strikes—You're Out" was the title of the baseball comedy presented in High School auditorium last night but the cast did everything but strike out—every member joined in a barrage of hits that never ceased to sail over the foot lights for runs (of laughs).

A benefit play for the Giants Baseball Club of Ozona, the comedy was directed by Mrs. W. J. Grimmer and assumed a cast from the local faculty and baseball team.

The rollicking hour and a half of fun found nucleus in the crazy quilt throwing together of events in which an average American family is catapulted into the throes of an American baseball "tragedy" where a bank failure, a father's loss of his job and the visitation of a likable baseball windy is stirred together for fun's sake.

Babe Phillips Is Winner Merchants' $100 Cash Prize

Second Of Monthly Awards Is Made Wednesday

Babe Phillips was awarded the $100 cash prize offered by a group of Ozona merchants at the second of the monthly cash awards held on the downtown streets Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Phillips' name was the first chosen and was on a ticket from the Joe Oberkamp store. He was present and received twenty five-dollar bills.

Fourteen Ozona business firms co-operated in this month's award. Participating in the event were Lemmons Dry Goods Co., Joe Oberkamp, North Motor Co., Popular Variety Store, Smith Drug Store, Ozona Drug Store, Ozona Tire and Battery Shop, Ozona Hardware Co., Miller Texaco Service Station, Ozona Stockman, Slaven Magnolia Service Station, Roy Parker, West Texas Lumber Co., and the Ozona Laundry.

Another $100 in cash will be given away by these merchants on May 10. If any other business houses join in the monthly award their names will be included in an announcement to appear in next week's Stockman.

Health Week To Be Observed By Mexican People

Settlement Here To Undergo Complete Clean-Up

Residents of the Mexican sector of Ozona will observe Health Week next week with a thorough clean-up of the settlement, according to plans announced this week by a committee headed by Sam Martinez.

Several residents of the area who own trucks will donate use of the vehicles during the week for the clean-up campaign and Crockett County has agreed to furnish disinfectant to all families who can not buy it.

A series of three night meetings will be held during the week for the purpose of acquainting residents with the objects of the program and to secure more widespread co-operation. A silent motion picture dealing with prevention and care of tuberculosis, furnished by the Texas Tuberculosis Association, will be exhibited during the week.

HERE'S COLOR PROBLEM

Wilford Price, three and one-half years old, has proved a color problem to all who have seen him, for he has two distinct colorings of hair, eyes and complexion. The hair on the right side of his head is red, like his mother's; while the left is decidedly blond, like his father's. His right eye is brown, while his left eye is blue.

Suffers Injured Hand In Mangle At Ozona Laundry

Suffering severe and painful injuries of the hand when that member was caught in a mangle at the Ozona Laundry Tuesday, Mrs. Shorty Thompson received physician's treatment and is confined to her home. Her hand was severely burned.

The accident occurred when the mangle operator let her hand slip into the mangle against the hot brass plating above. Before she could be released, nearby attendants had to unlock and turn the rollers back.

SHOPLIFTERS FINED

Two Mexicans were fined $14 each in justice court here yesterday on charges of petty theft. The Mexicans were arrested on shoplifting charges. They were alleged to have "lifted" a pair of shoes from the Chris Meinecke store.

I. G. Rape was a visitor in Iraan Wednesday.

High School Boys Forming Baseball Team For Season

High school boys are working out under the direction of Coach Ted White in preparation for the spring baseball season. Games will be matched with neighboring towns.

The sport is not a part of inter-scholastic competition and has dwindled in most schools during the past years but it will be revived this spring in the local school.

"We hope to revive the sport here and place it at its former status, later giving letters for participation," Superintendent C. S. Denham said Wednesday.

MASONS TO MEET

Work in the Master's degree will be given at the regular meeting of the Ozona Lodge No. 747, A. F. & A. M. at the lodge rooms here Saturday night. All Master Masons are urged to be present.

Ozona Giants Drop Listless Game To Humble

Locals Appear In Initial Game Of New Season

The Ozona Giants entered their 1935 season last Sunday in a non-eventful affair with the Humble Station A nine from near Sonora and lost the pre-season opener seven to six. Carl Dorley nailed out a two base hit at the proper moment in the eighth inning which started a rally that brought in three points but was too late to out-do the rivals.

No engagement has been secured by the Giant management for the coming Sunday afternoon but on report that Veribest of the Concho Basin is not busy, the Giants are trying to get a game with Red Weatherford's team.

The Cooper brothers from Gordon, Texas, pitcher and catcher, made a poor showing in their initial try-out with the Giants and were shipped at once after the game. Pitcher Cooper yielded seven hits and passed a total of nine Humble batters on balls. Several passed balls and stolen bases were chalked up against brother Catcher Cooper. Giant batters gathered a total of five safeties off the Station hurler.

Mrs. Mike Couch, who has been ill since last Friday, was reported improving yesterday.

Joe Cardwell was in from the ranch yesterday, a guest at the Hotel Ozona.

J. RODRIGUEZ ACCEPTS TWO YEARS IN PEN

Two of Remaining 3 Charges Dismissed By State

TERMS SUSPENDED

Alford and Brown Enter Guilty Pleas; Pass Dodson Case

Jose Rodriguez, San Angelo Mexican, was convicted on a charge of perjury before the grand jury by a Crockett County jury Tuesday afternoon and sentenced to serve a term of two years in the state penitentiary.

Rodriguez was under indictment on four charges of perjury and opposing arrest in connection with his alleged activities during the fall term of court here last year when officers were attempting to bring to trial Andres Borrego on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Rodriguez was charged by the state with having brought Borrego to Ozona from San Angelo on the day of the opening of the court term and with having hidden him from officers in the Mexican section of the city. Rodriguez' statement before the grand jury that he did not see Borrego during the week of the court term until he was arrested by officers and brought into court for trial led to his indictment on perjury charges.

Two of the remaining three charges pending against the Mexican were dismissed on motion of the state when Rodriguez agreed to accept the two-year sentence. One charge was left pending on the docket. Borrego was brought from the penitentiary at Huntsville to testify for the state but was not used when the defense objected to his testimony.

Another jury in the same court Wednesday assessed three-year suspended sentences against Ed Alford and Z. L. Brown, who entered pleas of guilty to charges of theft of 600 pounds of wool from the Charles E. Davidson ranch.

The case of Ed Dodson, charged by indictment with assault with intent to rape and attempted rape on a 4-year-old child, was passed until the next term of court.

Court adjourned finally Wednesday afternoon. The grand jury was recalled Monday for further investigations, but failed to report further indictments and was dismissed.

Good Crowds At Stockman's Free Cooking School

Splendid Interest Is Shown In Two-Day Course

Excellent crowds were on hand each day to greet Mrs. Johnetta Howard, home economics expert, who directed the Ozona Stockman's two-day Happy Kitchen cooking school in the Hotel Ozona ballroom Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mrs. Howard was brought to Ozona by The Stockman in co-operation with food manufacturers and a group of Ozona business firms, to conduct a two-day course in cookery and home management. She impressed the audience with her ability early in the session and ladies who attended the two-day course left with notebooks full of new and novel recipes and heads full of ideas on the new methods in cooking and home management.

A large number of prizes, donated by the co-operating food distributors and local business men, were distributed each day

Brand Record 'History in Hieroglyphics' of Early Day

By Bill Gray

Brands that were borne by cattle which grazed between the hill country of San Antonio and the Mitre Peak region of Alpine from as far back as 1880 to the present time are found in scribbled replica on the worn leaves of the Crockett County registry today depicting in retrospect the once huge grazing domains and once landed cattle kings.

From Spanish caricatures to American wine glasses, the brands represent hundreds of inscriptions which cattle men used to advertise ownership by sinking sizzling irons into flinching hides. Along beside 1106 brand descriptions in the worn ledger are the names of those who with lariat and spur compiled the history of the Old Spanish Trail in this sector. Because road brands were registered in the various county capitals by the driver, many county ledgers have fallen heir to names of the great in the early cattle industry. And Crockett County retains its share in autographs of the early vaqueros together with the "seals" of their herds which in range language gave mute connotation to the names of the owners.

First to come to Crockett County's courthouse and place his cattle sign on the county book was J. T. Gurley, who registered "J & O" as his herd mark. Ozona as his headquarters and the date of the entry November 14, 1891. The mark was used on all his animals and was to be found on the left side. Last to make an entry in the volume was J. W. DeLong, of Merton, who registered a "Y" with a dash across the stem to represent the brand on his herds that graze between the forks of Spring Creek not far from San Angelo. The "Bar Y" owner listed his brand Sept. 31, 1934. He is one of the successful ranchmen in the Merton area and resides sixteen miles southeast of Merton, cultivating one hundred acres of land to raise his own feed.

In twenty-five Texas counties are found headquarters for cattle outfits named in the brand registry. Some giving county and some designating only the town as headquarters, the cattle producers have listed frequently Merton, Hembrie, Sherwood, Sheffield, Eldorado, Big Lake, Lozier, Val Verde County, Menard County, Schleicher County, Rock Springs, Barnhart, Colorado, Langtry, San Angelo, Ballinger, Sonora, Del Rio, Hinde, Midland, Sutton County, Comstock, Paint Rock, Fort Stockton, Coleman, Dewey, San Antonio, Upland, Rankin, "Bear" (Bexar County), Uvalde County, Dallas, Edwards County, Marathon, Sanderson, Vigo and Camp Scharlett (an extinct soldier fort on the north side of North Concho River).

Humor Cropped In

An enthusiast in hieroglyphics would find a correlated interest in the study of cattle and horse branding. Prime motive of the early owner was in distinguishing his herd from the herds of the trail and from other herds which grazed on a mutual range. Strays could be recognized by their marking and then there was rustling "a plenty" but if the animals could be found in time (before the brand was revamped) they might be retrieved (providing the loser in chase could throw lead "fast like and handsome."

Humor cropped into purpose when some found unique means of stamping their stock. Many of the signs were hieroglyphics after the fashion of the phonetic type (A, B, C, etc.), but many will fall under the titling of "ideographs" at the hands of the hieroglyphist.

Presenting to mind thoughts of pulp sheet drama, many of the letter brands were burned in such a shape as to be termed accordingly. There were odd looking "running 'w's", "leaning 'l's", "flying 'u's", and upside down this and that on down the alphabet. Cowboys were not always particular about places of slapping on the brand but the hot iron usually fell on hip or shoulder although the registry indicates places all the way from the nose to the hip. An "honey critter" was likely to get an extra branding for good measure when it acted "sorta unpleasant" during ceremonies.

Establishment Of State Police Force Advocated

Municipal Research Head Describes Model Set-Up

AUSTIN, Tex., April 9—A State police force for Texas is advocated and recommendations for its establishment are embodied in an article on this subject in the current issue of Texas Municipalities organ of the League of Texas Municipalities. The article is written by Paul E. Fidler of the staff of the University of Texas Bureau of Municipal Research.

Mr. Fidler proposed a number of recommendations embodying what he believes are the best principles for the establishment of a department of State police, as follows:

"The governor should have the power to choose the department head, who should be responsible to the governor only. The department should be headed by one man, not a commission. Specific qualifications and tenure of office designed to attract only well-trained men for the position of executive should be set up. Residence qualifications for high ranking department officers and employees should be eliminated. Full responsibility for the organization and operation of the department—within the limits of the principles set by law—should rest upon the executive head. The existing law enforcement agencies should be combined into a single force, to the extent that this is at all possible. Members of the force should have the power to enforce the laws of any bureau within the department.

"The administration of the personnel of the department should be entirely in the hands of the department head. The law should be general in its provisions for the training of recruits, the probationary period, the men to be trained, the examinations to be given, the size of the force, and the manner of organizing the force. The department head, because of his expert knowledge of these matters, should be given a free reign in the solution of his personnel problems.

"The bureau of fish and game should be under the department, and the State fire marshal's division should be a part of the department. The section relating to the creation of a bureau of criminal identification should be expanded in neither of the bills now pending in the Texas legislature are the provisions adequate to the creation of an efficient bureau. Jurisdiction over the sale of firearms should be among the functions of the bureau."

MOTHER PERNER ILL

Mrs. Mary Perner is recovering from a heart attack suffered Monday afternoon and followed by a very slight stroke of paralysis. Though still confined to her bed, the effects of the stroke are wearing off and Mrs. Perner is thought to be much improved.

A WORD OF CAUTION

Little Johnny on retiring one evening, was told by his mother to pray for papa who was traveling, for little brother who had the measles and for Bridget, the servant girl, who had broken her ankle.

Johnny reverently included them all in his devotions and then closed by saying: "And now, dear God, please take good care of your self, because if anything should happen to you we would all be in the soup."

Crockett County One Of Only Five With Under 5% Relief Load

AUSTIN, April 9—Only five Texas counties could boast a record of less than five per cent of their residents on relief rolls as of March 1, statistics compiled by the Texas Relief Commission reveal. These counties are Crockett, Kennedy, Lavaca, Ragan and Winkler.

Fourteen others, Hudspeth, Terrell, Upton, Farmer, Hutchinson, Carson, Hidalgo, Cameron, Nueces, Bee, Karnes, Gonzales, Fayette and Fort Bend, were in the respectable class in the eyes of state relief officials with not more than from 5 to 10 per cent of their residents receiving aid. Twelve counties had more than 40 per cent of their inhabitants on the relief rolls as follows:

Loving, Yoakum, Cochran, Gerza, Kent, Stonewall, King, Cottle, Titus, Cass, Llano and Zapata.

"These high case loads have got to come down at once," said Adam R. Johnson, state relief director, as preparations were being made to send out funds for April.

"Federal authorities have cut out applications drastically and this means we must reduce our caseload or the individual budgets of clients. We want to issue adequate relief to those in dire need and administrators have been instructed to examine their relief rolls closely and close out all cases where the need for aid is not clearly established."

A further reduction in the number of cases is hoped for in May as the peak will be reached for seasonal farm employment.

WHAT OIL MEANS TO TEXAS

This map, prepared from data supplied by the Texas Railroad Commission, shows how the 520 separate oil fields in Texas are distributed among 122 counties. Counties with the black dots contain one or more fields. Oil is worth more than $1,000,000 daily to Texas and contributes with its products $45,200,000 a year in State taxes alone, besides many additional millions in county and local taxes. The map gives a graphic illustration of why oil is important to so many Texas communities and citizens and why the Commission's successful fight to retain supervision by the State instead of turning regulation of Texas oil over to Washington bureaucrats has won favorable consideration by the Legislature of the Commission's request for a slight increase in the allocation of taxes paid in by the industry, so that efficient supervision can be maintained.

Historic Papers Of Swedish Envoy To Republic O Texas Given U. of T.

Austin, Texas, April 9—When Texas was a Republic, among her other distinctions she had the honor of being host to a number of official representatives of other nations. One of these envoys was Sir Swante Palm, consul from Sweden, who made his home in Austin for many years. He became keenly interested in The University of Texas, and made many gifts to the institution, particularly to the library. His benefactions are being continued through his niece, Mrs. Adele Bergstrom of Austin, who has just added to other recent gifts a chest containing letters of noted early Texans and printed materials of especial interest to historians. When modernizing "The Swedish Consulate" as the home of Sir Swante, on West Ninth Street is familiarly known, Mrs. Bergstrom found in the basement a box, packed over fifty years ago, filled with items that only a bibliophile would have saved—historical and literary items in English, French, German, Italian, Swedish, and Spanish concerned with Europe, America and particularly with the Southwest. Palm was at one time Swedish ambassador to Texas.

The collection indicates that Sir Swante could never bear to throw away even a scrap of printed material and that his warm personal friendship for the leaders in political and social life during an extremely important period in Texas enabled him to gather data that otherwise would have been lost. Included in the gift are such things as comic valentines of the Civil War period, play bills and musical entertainments staged by local talent, circulars issued by politicians of every hue—Democrats and Whigs, radicals and conservatives, slaveholders and Unionists. It seems almost providential that even though some of the items have been badly damaged by water and "dirt doblers," chance intervened and supplied duplicates so that, in most cases, the entire text has been preserved.

Among the noted men appearing in the letters and papers so carefully packed away in the old chest may be named: S. M. Swenson, N. C. Raymond, Henry Raguet, Henry Smith, Barton Peck, Dr. Alexander Ewing, J. P. Henderson, Edward Burleson, David G. Burner, Mirabeau B. Lamar, Anson Jones, Edwin Morehouse, Thomas F. McKinney, and Sam Houston, whom Sir Swante visited daily during Houston's residence in the Governor's mansion.

The non-Texas material in Mrs. Bergstrom's gift may be described as newspapers, periodicals and pamphlets. The newspapers are mostly dated in 1849-51, published in the east, and include such titles as Arthur's Home Gazette, Barton Press and Post, Flag of Our Union, Omnibus, Saturday Courier, Saturday Evening Post. All of these were large weekly sheets, intended to interest the family on its day of rest, Sunday. The periodicals deal with agriculture, literature, art, free masonry, railroads, politics, silk growing, religion, etc. Like the newspapers, they were all published before the Civil War. The pamphlets include reports of State officers, catalogues of agricultural implements campaign literature, some paper back novels, phrenology. They, too, are nearly all ante-bellum. One would almost conclude that this box was packed during the War, and that it has not been disturbed since.

Sir Swante Palm's keen interest in the collection of such materials and his recognition of their worth is indicated in the following sentence written by his own hand in a volume which he later gave to the University: "Anyone that has taken the trouble to collect and save pamphlets knows the value of such collections."

The completeness of the collection, the wide variety of items included, and the unusually well-preserved condition, make this a gift of noteworthy significance, according to University librarians.

THE "PILOT" UNION

The Pilot Union is a good B.Y. P. U. for any young man or woman to belong to. We are now reorganizing into a larger and stronger union. We offer an interesting program and an educational Bible Study put forth in the form of a quiz. FORD ECONOMY

The 1935 Ford V-8 gives you the most economical car to operate Ford has ever built.

Why take less?

FORD has always aimed to make the automobile-buying dollar go as far as possible.

This year, the 1935 Ford V-8 gives you traditional Ford low prices, traditional Ford operating economy—and, in addition, riding comfort, body roominess, new beauty and new safety features that will satisfy the requirements of almost everyone.

Consider some of the major improvements in the Ford V-8 for 1935. Take Comfort: From this standpoint alone, what a completely rounded car this is! Comfort Zone Riding that gives "front seat comfort" even to rear seat passengers. Deep cushioned, high-backed, wider seats. Big, air-balloon tires. Easier steering and a newly-designed clutch that responds to the touch of your foot.

Consider safety: There's safety glass all around—on all models—at no additional cost. A new, welded all-steel body. New, more powerful brakes, with an unusually high ratio of braking surface to car weight. And a lower center of gravity that gives increased safety and stability on curves!

Why be satisfied to receive less than this for your money? Examine this new 1935 Ford V-8. Ride in it. You'll realize that it is truly a new automobile value.

IF EVERYBODY WERE LIKE HIM—

He was a prominent citizen of the community. He controlled quite a bit of property, and had financial power in the community, but he did not take his home paper. He either could not spare the small sum per year to pay for the paper, or he was too big a man to fool with taking a paper like that. At any rate he did not take the home paper. If everyone in the community had been like him there could have been no home paper.

His wife gave a swell reception. The local paper gave a good account of the affair. He would have thought it awful if it had not been in the home paper. But if everybody had been like him there could have been no home paper.

His daughter got married. It too, was a swell affair, and the local paper gave a proper account of it. He felt that a man of his importance was deserving of such notice by the home paper. But if everybody had been like him there could have been no home paper.

He got seriously sick and the home paper told all about it. His friends looked at the paper to know how he was getting along, and when his condition got worse they all knew it through the paper. But if everybody had been like him there could have been no home paper.

He died and was given an appropriate funeral. Care was taken to see that the home paper got full information regarding the important events of his life, so as to give him the final "write up" that a man of his standing deserved. But if everybody had been like him there could have been no home paper.

The family requested several copies of that issue of the paper, and sent in a card of thanks. But they acted as if seriously aggrieved when asked to pay for the card of thanks and the extra papers. Thought all this ought to be free too. And the minister who had charge of the funeral, a former resident of the place but now living elsewhere, wanted the paper to send him an account of the funeral—free, of course.

Sometimes the newspaper wonders how "prominent" a man can be when year after year he will fail to have his name on the list of the home paper, but expects that the home paper shall show him the same consideration as it does a patron.—Normange Star.

Texas, The Promised Land, Attractive To Anglo-Americans and French Alike, Thus Began Loosening of Spanish Hold

AUSTIN, Tex., April 9—In their desire for territorial possessions on the North American continent, the French had pushed south from Canada, down the Mississippi and thence westwardly up every tributary to the Father of Waters. In this way they had driven a thin untenable wedge between the narrow fringe of English settlements on the Atlantic Coast and the far-flung Spanish outposts of the Southwest.

Picturesque and individualistic for traders had built fortunes for themselves, and hides and hoofs and horns of the buffalo and wild cattle were part of the booty. At the same time, they had lost the rich territory for their nation. The first news of the movements of these couriers de bois that dribbled through to the Spaniards goaded them to defensive measures. The stories of riches and homes to be had in the golden west lured the adventure loving Anglo-Americans ever onward. The Boones, the Nolans, the Beans and their type began to concentrate on the Sabine and to seek for opportunities to enter Texas—the Promised Land. They, like the French, could handle the Indians, though not in the same way. The Frenchmen would take off his shirt to give to his Red brother; the Anglo-American more frequently resorted to extermination when Indians were "bad." Homes they wanted; and freedom they were determined to have from the Indian depredations and from any political or religious domination whatsoever. Such insistence could not be denied.

The story of the westward march of Samuel Davenport has been chosen as typical of the great Anglo-American migration. A record of this trek to Texas and the motives which actuated Davenport is given in the Bexar Archives, in the official documents of the Spanish government for the Department of Texas. These archives are now in the library of the University of Texas and are being translated from Spanish into English by University translators. Davenport's story is told in an "Affidavit of a Foreign Vassal," presented in 1809 to the commandant of the Province of Texas. It shows that commerce was the chief attraction which drew foreigners to Texas, and also illustrates the ease with which they secured entry through Louisiana at the turn of the eighteenth century.

It is significant that the Spaniards from the beginning feared the encroachment of other nationalities. "God save us Spaniards" was the prophetic exclamation uttered by one resident of Natches in 1787, when a group of commissioners, one of whom incidentally was a relative of Samuel Davenport, arrived from Georgia to mark the boundaries of that State.

In his affidavit to the commandant, Davenport set forth his story as follows:

"Don Pedro Samuel Davenport, general trader for the Indian nations of the Province of Texas, and citizens of the Pueblo of Nacogdoches, with due respect, make known to you that, in compliance with the proclamation of the viceroy of New Spain, published in this pueblo by order of the commandant-general of the Interior provinces, I do state:

"That I am the legitimate son of Don Guillermo Davenport and Dona Ana Davidson, now deceased, natives and former residents of the town of Carlisle, Cumberland County, Pennsylvania; in the United States of America.

"That, having lost my parents by death when still very young, I set out from my native country when sixteen years of age and, almost without delay, went to the Province of Louisiana, entering it twenty-four years ago. There, in different locations, I engaged in commerce, being employed by well known firms of that branch of business and engaging in said business on my own account.

"That, fifteen years ago, I came to this pueblo, where, without any difficulty, I settled; since, during that period I mention, Louisiana, where I was already known was, like this pueblo, under Spanish rule. Shortly after settling in said pueblo, because of my conduct and the honesty I have always shown, I earned the confidence of the Spanish government and was made a partner of Don Guillermo Barr, the general trader for the Indian nations of the province. This employment I have discharged for ten years to the satisfaction of the said government.

"That, seven years ago, I married Maria Louisa Canon, a native of Natchitoches, Louisiana.

"That my age is forty-five years my religion, the Roman Catholic. Of this I have given proofs to the public here that can be supported by witnesses and certificates. Likewise, I have proofs that I have always tried to show my personal affections for the Spanish government not only in this pueblo but also in Louisiana.

"That I have papers to prove my identity; but this is because, although I started from my native town with them, while I was traveling through the Indian country of the United States in company with other persons, the Indians attacked us, killed three of the company and the rest of us were able to escape only with our lives, all papers being lost, mine among them. Therefore, not having taken the precaution to secure others—since I have been and am known to the inhabitants of Louisiana and this pueblo and province—I present to you this statement—which I sign under oath—in fulfillment of the provisions of the said proclamation. . . . June 16, 1809.

(Signed) S. Davenport.

Ozona's Water Supply Stamped Pure By State

"Good, not contaminated"—this was the answer from the State Department of Health received by the Ozona Water Company a few days ago concerning water from the local supply sent in several days ago.

Samples sent in to S. W. Bohls, Director of Laboratories of the Texas Department of Health at Austin, were taken at random from hydrants in the city and sent for laboratory test to determine if injurious microbes existed in the local supply. During the coming months the Ozona Water Company will send in samples for testing about once a month according to the usual custom.

An O.K. from the State Laboratories stamps the local water supply as pure and consumers are guaranteed a safeguard through the coming months by the regular testing that is to be followed.

Brand Record—

Blacksmiths usually shaped irons for cowmen but a crooked rod or an iron ring may have hung from the saddle, coming in appropriately more than somewhat when a little ceremony of branding was on the program. They were called "running brands."

When Thomas Curry registered his brand January 25, 1892, the cattle "trade mark" which he gave leads to the belief that he was not in a happy mood or else he believed that he had hit upon a unique mark. The phonetics were "C R Y," and the "Y" swung artistically under the associate letters.

On a Full Stomach
Baker Phillips came to the County Courthouse Oct. 6, 1902 and registered his cattle iron as "A T E." Either he had eaten just previously and felt a hunch for hitting on a charmed brand for his herds, or he might have been in sarcastic mood because his "critters" "ATE" away his savings.

When W. A. Boynton registered his brand in the county ledger he gave the first three letters of his name and likewise fashioned the "Y" with swinging stem.

A herd owner by the name of Ed Rambau who lived in Crockett County had never lived to read the modern advertisement-made phrase which has spelled ruin to our heroine in so many magazine page dramas in four strips, nor had he heard of the wonderful savant which comes to rescue in strip No. 4, when he placed on his cattle the brand "B O"—and yet he might have coined the words that today are implied by the letters.

Among the brands filed in the clerk's office here is the familiar name and brand of William Perry Hoover, whose cattle roved the Trans-Pecos region and Edwards Plateau area at a time when Indians were depredateing on all sides. Hoover's first trip up trail was made when he was only twelve years old and he afterwards made many more along the trails which formed such picturesque romance for Texas history. His cattle brand was known over

Hoover's first trip up trail was made when he was only twelve years old and he afterwards made many more along the trails which formed such picturesque romance for Texas history. His cattle brand was known over a wide region, "H O O" cattle grazing in Llano, Kimble and Crockett Counties. It was July 12, 1893 that William Perry Hoover strode into the local courthouse and filed his brand with the clerk.

Of the character brands on file, one of the most familiar in West Texas was that of the "Half Circle Six," a figure "6" with a half moon above. Cattle of this brand thrived along the green banks of Spring and Dove Creeks and were owned by a figure named Frank Tankersley who gained reputation on the trail and for whom the place near San Angelo was named. The "Half Circle Six" owner, once a Texas ranger, returned to the fertile Dove Creek territory and found a profitable grazing plot upon which he had first fixed his eye while a Texas ranger. Once he set out overland with a herd of 1,700 cattle and delivered 1,000 head of them in San Bernardino, California. Seven months after leaving the ranch, Tankersley returned to Texas by railroad via New York and Houston. On reaching home the ranchman emptied his pockets of $25,000 in gold and hid the money beneath the floor of his cabin. Two of the cowboys who started with him on the trail to the California town were killed by marauding Indians enroute but the "Half Circle Six" owner returned from the drive $25,000 the richer and bronzed and sinewy from the long drive. The "Half Circle Six" brand is listed on the ledger in a light blue ink that has faded but it was burned into smoking hides and safeguarded at the cost of blood and for the profit of gold.

A Mystery Mark
The famous O. I. Cattle Company which owned the "Jug Cross" herds registered their stock insignia at the Crockett County Courthouse April 23, 1902. It was one year previous that A. J. and J. J. Dull listed a brand which they called the "Wet'n Dry Moon." Two half circles marked Dull cattle which roved the Sanderson vicinity in the early days.

Mystery
Mystery surrounds the peculiarly shaped Spanish mark listed by a Leandro Hidalgo of Ozona on May 21, 1900. It was designated for cattle and took a radical turn from American brands. The nearest explanation would describe a scythe, crossed by a line near the knife end and mounted on the top curved portion by a capital "T."

R
Rex O. Davis ranges cattle in Kinney County and resides in San Angelo but his herd brand is registered in Crockett County, a circle with two "legs," resembling a crude "Humpty Dumpty."

AU
Bill West is a figure still dominant among West Texas cattle producers and his name is no more noted than his brand, "A" (and the drawing of a wine glass). The brand denotes a period characteristic of more moisture than today . . . moisture with two meanings.

On March 20, 1894, J. W. Friend of Crockett County registered a series of brands for all his cattle grazing the Edwards Plateau area, the markings being replicas of Spanish Gourds with accompanying letters, leaning, running or disfigured purposely. The brand was formerly the old Coates' brand and was widely known on the trail in the eighties.

Not unknown in the Pecos country is the "Apple Cross Bar" and "O" brands which belong to J. W. Johnson of Hembrie who listed his marks September 9, 1895. The "O" was burned on the jaw of the animal and the "Apple Cross Bar" (simple cross with circles on the four ends) was branded on the hip jaw of the animal and the "Apple Cross Bar" (simple cross with circles on the four ends) was branded on the hip.

Picked at random, these are but a few of the many brand listings to be found on the clerk's ledger, but a curious enthusiast of the saga of the branding iron would find a pleasant repast for the imagination in the hundreds of brands to be found in the book.

Curious and odd, all the brands represent a panorama of names that led in the establishing of an area that is the golden domain of the cattle raising industry. Names of the cattle raisers of this area are catalogued with the insignia of their trade in one antiquated ledger which connotes a colorful past in a galaxy of simple hieroglyphics.

tion to the new equipment. The complete outfit as ordered by the court will cost $1945.

The new fire fighting equipment is to be housed in a special fire station to be built by Joe North as a part of his garage. The fire engine quarters are to be building on the north of the garage building, a space 18 feet between the north wall of the building and the present gate to the open storage quarters on the north side to be roofed over, extending back 40 feet. A driveway at the west side will be constructed and the fire station quarters made as nearly freeze proof as possible.

Joe North, Fire Chief

Under a contract entered into by the Commissioners Court and Mr. North, the latter is to furnish quarters for the engine and equipment, keep it in good condition at all times, and maintain a man on duty 24 hours of the day to answer fire calls with the equipment. For this service, Mr. North is to be paid monthly and he is designated by the court as the official fire chief, with his garage organization as the nucleus of any volunteer fire department which may later be organized.

Purchase of this equipment and completion of arrangements for adequate care and man-power, will result in a considerable saving in insurance premiums for Ozona property owners, and will furnish protection which has been unknown here for the last several years.

and the last day, the ladies were permitted to sample the food prepared by Mrs. Howard, the Stockman serving punch with the eats. Interest manifested in the cooking school has inspired an ambition to make it annual feature here. Many of the ladies attending the school expressed the hope that it might be held annually and it is the present plan of The Stockman to bring Mrs. Howard here again next fall or spring.

Food manufacturers and business firms who co-operated in the cooking school included the Jacques Manufacturing Co., makers of K. C. baking powder, Interstate Cotton Oil Refining Co. of Sherman, Texas, makers of Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, Phillips Packing Co., West Texas Utilities Co., J. H. Williams and Sons, Flowers Grocery-Bakery, Ozona Laundry, West Texas Lumber Co., Snowwhite Creamery of San Angelo, Joe Oberkamp, Ozona Hardware Co., Smith Drug Store, Ozona Drug Store, Ozona Theatre, Palace Theatre and C. G. Morrison Co.

Nearly 75 were on hand for the opening day of the school. Conflict of a state Music Club meeting in San Angelo on Friday, together with a bridge party here that afternoon, cut the attendance down to a few more than fifty Friday afternoon, but sponsors were well pleased with the attendance.

Improvement Work On Phone System Completed Here

Improvements on Ozona telephone system, which included new wires and poles throughout the city and complete renovation of the local exchange and office quarters, was completed this week and the crew of workers that has been stationed here for nearly a year is returning to San Angelo. Several thousand dollars was expended by the company in the local improvement program. A vastly improved service has resulted from the work.

Child Health Day To Be Observed Nationally May 1st

Austin, Texas, April 9—"Texas will unite with other states throughout this country on May 1, in the celebration of Child Health Day", stated Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. The flag flown from government buildings the other 364 days in the year all symbolize some activity of or in behalf of grown-ups. They pledge loyalty to the government, commemorate great historical events, or the deeds of national heroes. But—in accordance with the Act of Congress under which Child Health Day was made a national day—for this one day the star spangled banner is displayed on public buildings as a reminder of the obligation of all citizens to care for and maintain the health and well-being of the children and young people of the nation, those upon whom the duties and responsibilities of citizenship will rest in the future.

"The purpose of the Child Health Day observance, national and State," Dr. Brown said, "is to focus attention on the inherent right of every child to health, happiness, and intelligent care; to opportunities for normal growth and development, physical, mental and spiritual, and to community responsibility for seeing that such care is available for all children. Child Health Day is not an end in itself. Instead, it marks the beginning of the year-round activities of all forces charged with the maintenance and well-being of the children and young people of this State.

"The right of every mother to adequate care, before, during, and after the birth of the baby.

"The right of every child to adequate care.

"The right of every young child to be protected against diphtheria and smallpox.

"The nutritional needs of growing children and the importance of milk, whole grain cereals, green leafy vegetables and fruits in their diets.

"The recreational needs of chil-

U. S. Wool Stocks Large But Mills Are More Active

WASHINGTON, April 9—Consumption of wool by mills in the United States since last November has been the highest since 1933, but domestic stocks of wool are still relatively large, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in its current report on world wool prospects.

A smaller domestic wool clip is expected this year. Shearing is now under way in Western States, and large offerings of this wool will be made in the next few months.

Domestic dealers are reported to be carrying an unusually large proportion of old wool, and large stocks of wool are still to be marketed from Southern Hemisphere countries.

Wool prices declined slightly in foreign markets in February and early March, and business activity has slowed in European wool centers. The bureau estimates apparent supplies of wool in the five leading wool producing countries of the Southern Hemisphere at about 50 per cent more on March 1 this year than last, and about 24 per cent more than the five year average on that date.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN, April 9—The Texas centennial appropriation bill, surging the most hectic legislative nightmare in memory, apparently weathered all attacks, and was safely to harbor in a free conference committee last week. It has every prospect of emerging within a week—possibly before this column is printed—in form satisfactory to everybody except some members of the Centennial commission. It probably will appropriate $1,000,000 for buildings at Dallas, $200,000 to equip them, $500,000 for advertising, $1,300,000 for local memorials which $20,000 is earmarked for a Legion memorial museum project in Austin. Control of state expenditures is vested in a special control commission, with Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul as chairman, two members appointed by himself, two by Speaker Coke Stevenson and two by Gov. Allred. The latter provision injured the feelings of some Centennial commissioners.

When the Centennial celebration has become Texas history, that grandchildren of certain legislators will recall with pride the valiant work their forebears did to save the Centennial appropriation bill. These will include descendants of the entire Dallas delegation; Duval, Fort Worth; Upper Hoskins of Gonzales, Bobbs of Brenham and Elmer of Corpus Christi. On the state side the Centennial heroes included Welly Hopkins of Gonzales; Tom Holbrook of Galveston, best-informed senator on Texas history, and Frank Rawlins of Fort Worth, who, beaten down in his own fight for a livestock appropriation, turned in and fought valiantly to help save the bill. Implacable foes of the Centennial bill who fought it to the last ditch were Gordon Burns, from historic Huntsville; Westfall of Stonewall and Roark of Liberty, another historic county.

On April 17th, before a sub-committee of the senate committee on mines and mining, in Washington, there will be staged a memorable battle on behalf of every Texan who owns an automobile. On that day Gov. Allred, Chairman E. O. Thompson of the railroad commission and Atty. Gen. Bill McCraw will defend Texas' position that she alone has the right to regulate her great oil industry. They appear in opposition to the Thomas bill, to establish bureaucratic Washington control over Texas oil. "It would mean higher prices to Texas gasoline users," says Col. Thompson, "who now enjoy the lowest price gasoline in the world." He adds it would destroy state jurisdiction over an industry that is contributing $45,000,000 a year in state taxes alone, which, if diverted, would have to be shouldered by other Texas industries and individuals.

Texas bids fair to become the scene of the No. 1 public works project under the $4,800,000,000 federal work relief program just authorized by congress, if plans for the 36-inch gas pipeline from the Panhandle to Detroit go thru. The legislature has a bill, recommended by the governor, authorizing creation of a state authority to negotiate a self-liquidating federal loan, and build the line. It would employ thousands of workers, keep steel mills that make pipe running for a solid year at capacity. And it would largely solve the gas wastage problem in West Texas by providing a profitable market for gas now being blown into the air. The scheme originated in the fertile brain of B. R. Anderson of Godley, brilliant young tax commissioner. It already has the coal producing areas which supply industrial St. Louis, Indianapolis, and Detroit, in a hysterical condition, and may encounter tremendous opposition before it bears fruit.

Sulphuric acid is the vehicle which takes most of Texas' sulphur to market. Once it was made exclusively from Texas sulphur deposits. Testimony before the house revenue committee showed that now more than half of the sulphuric acid used by the world is being made by a new chemical process from iron pyrites, a common mineral found in most states. The shrinking market thus revealed cooled the ardor of some legislators for a $2 tax on Texas sulphur.

There will be no special session before September, best informed opinion here declares. Most of the ambitious new taxation program promulgated when the 44th legislature convened has failed, or will die by adjournment. When the state learns the exact amount of the tremendous sum of delinquent taxes it has collected, next August, under the Pope tax remission bill, the deficit likely will be substantially reduced. The liquor question will have been decided at that time, and if legalized control is approved by the voters, providing another $5,000,000 a year in state taxes from liquor will be made available. Then the legislature will know approximately how much, if any, additional revenue is needed, and can meet and levy taxes to raise it. Meanwhile, business and individuals of Texas who still own anything taxable, may rest easier until fall, at any rate. Business recovery, progressing steadily, but slowly, may increase income from present taxes substantially by fall.

The first legislative wedding of the session united handsome Traylor Russell, Mt. Pleasant legislator, and the charming Miss Arline Wilson, assistant chief clerk of the house. Engagement of the senate's most eligible bachelor, Welly Hopkins, to Mrs. Alice Wyatt, secretary to State Treasurer Charley Lockhart, has been announced.

Texas Building Permits Increase

Austin, Tex., April 9—Building permits in Texas increased sharply in total value during February in comparison with February, 1934, according to a report by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. It shows there was a decline, however, from the previous month mainly as a result of a marked falling off of permits in one city. Reports from 38 Texas cities give total permits of $2,139,644, an increase of 130 per cent over February a year ago but 49 per cent below that of the previous month. Cities showing gains both over the previous month and the comparable period last year included Brownsville, Cleburne, Del Rio, Denison, El Paso, Galveston, Longview, Lubbock, Port Arthur, San Angelo, Sweetwater and Wichita Falls.

Cast Makes Home-

Mrs. Samuel Phelps is the mother in whose home the nightmarish episodes transpire and she attempts to predict, explain and guide the events which are happening about her by her mental catalogue of superstitions. Norine Allison enacted the part with a convincing skill.

Haddon Is Father

Samuel Phelps is the husband. He is the average American father, loses his job, worries his head off and stands in amazement at transpiring episodes. Joe Haddon filled the role completely, giving his character skilled mannerisms.

Leis Phelps is the only daughter, is crazy about baseball. She discards a staid school in waiting for a "Dix" to come along. He comes along. She finds the scientific young man is more capable even at the bat. Nita Nelson was equal to the part in portraying the athletic-minded girl.

Minnie Hanks, the maid, drops in on the scene often enough to keep the laughs up. Mildred North exhibited an excellent acting ability to portray the role.

Dizzy Wynne loves baseball and himself. He meets Sam Phelps, finds in him a pal and a meal ticket. He spins off three reels telling of his baseball ability and when he is supposed to hit the ball in the last act, he is grazing in the grandstand like there wasn't any ball delivered. Walter Kyle kept the character ticking it off at high speed, throwing up-shooting wisecracks even if he did miss the only ball like Casey did.

Mrs. Ethel Potter is a sister to the mother in the "drammer." She comes in weeping crocodile tears and gets everyone jumpy but finds her lost husband with a knot on his head that Dix put there because he thought he was a thug. It was the only hit the Dix made. Elizabeth Tibbory scored in the part.

To gather up a winding plot, Edward Potter arrives rubbing his head. He would have been here earlier but he got to town and nobody answers the phone at his sister-in-law's so he thumbs a ride out to the ball park. He rides with father and Dix. Father misses his watch, which is at home; and Dix hits Edward hard-like for being a thief which causes Eddy to lay out of the play for one act. M. M. Collins gave the part excellently.

Ducley Raps Hit

Mortimer Weidon despises base ball (yes he does). The part is played by Carl Ducley and he scored a hit about the same calibre as the one which brought in the runs last Sunday on the baseball field.

Lita is his daughter and most sympathetic. She breaks the news to father and mother in the final minutes about the lost baseball game which meant ruin to them and success to her father manager of the winning club. Mildred Davis portrayed the part with marked ability. But the news is broken too fast. Our side wins when (and here is the paragraph about the hero):

Studiosness marks Russell Rozna, a young civil engineer who loves boisterous Lita and finally wins her . . . by hitting a home run when the great Dix strikes out . . . saving his own thousand dollars investment . . . winning his girl. Guinn Carruthers portrayed the character with a technique that won great applause and added to the success of the play.

Hester Trader is studious and imperious, disdaining the lesser things of life. She gets engaged to wettaman Dix before it's over though and adds comical paradox on to a stack of funny paradoxes. Myra Bishop put a trained ability into the role.

A piano ensemble formed by Misses Dixie Davidson and Norine Allison and a quartet composed of Bryan McDonald, Neal Hannah, Ross Hufstodler and L. B. Townsend entertained between acts.

DINNER, THEATRE PARTY BIRTHDAY OBSERVANCE

Mrs. Max Schneemann commemorated her daughter, Eda, Friday, her seventeenth birthday, with a dinner and theatre party. The guests were Eda Schneemann and Miller Robison, Willie V. Couge and James Baggett, Esther Kate Pierce and Dempster Jones and Vicky Pierce and Carl North.

Tex. Supervisor Commends Local School System

Facilities For Mexican Children Complimented

Word recently from J. W. O'Banion, Director of Supervision, State Department of Education, to Superintendent C. S. Denham of the Ozona schools complimented school officials here on the "many evidences of standard work observed in the Ozona schools." The report follows a visit last fall by department supervisor J. T. H. Bickley, who visited the local schools in the work of classifying and accrediting the public schools of Texas.

In the report received a few days ago from Supervisor Bickley and signed by Director O'Banion, the state directors said: "Commendations are due the Ozona schools for the special endeavor made by the school board to take care of the Mexican children in the educational system of Ozona."

The state education official also thanked local school officials for courtesies extended the director while here and in the report suggested that the "school board, in cooperation with the teachers, endeavor to develop a professional library for the convenience of teachers, board members, and patrons interested in the study of modern literature on the present-day school curricula."

The work of classifying and accrediting the public schools of Texas is under the direction of the State Committee composed of fifteen members representing the high schools and colleges of the State. This committee by establishing educational standards, determines the conditions upon which high schools are classified and accredited and is interested in encouraging schools to attain these standards and in certifying those that have attained them.
