County Provides For Right-Of-Way On Del Rio Road

Court Agrees To Furnish Title For State Maintenance

Members of the Crockett County Commissioners Court provided speedy action early this week to secure right-of-way on the newly designated state highway from Ozona south to Comstock in this Val Verde County.

Designation of the highway was made recently by the State Highway Department. Starting of the maintenance on the road, however, was conditioned on the parties involved furnishing 100-foot right-of-way, clear of all obstructions except standing timber, and at county expense on locations approved by the state highway engineer.

An order passed by the Commissioners Court in session early this week obligated Crockett County to furnish the necessary right-of-way, in accordance with state demands, from Ozona to the Crockett-Val Verde line.

County officials here are of the opinion that the new road will carry but little from the present state of the Ozona-Del Rio road, which was re-located seven or eight years ago. It will be necessary to widen the road some in certain places and short stretches of the route may be re-located, but it is believed the new route will follow the present one for the most part.

Three Persons Are Slightly Injured In Car Collision

Three persons were slightly injured when cars driven by Miss Katherine Childress, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Childress, and J. Kittle collided in front of the Young residence late Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Childress suffered a bruise on her nose and a companion, Miss Hazel Seahorn received a deep laceration over her eye. Miss Elizabeth Childress, third occupant of the car, was uninjured. Mr. Kittle suffered a painful cut on his forehead. Miss Childress suffered a bruise on her head. Mr. Kittle's two grandchildren, Daphne June and Buddy Hennecke, in the car with him, were unhurt save for slight bruising. Both cars were badly damaged.

Arizona Woman Suffers Broken Back In Crash

Mrs. O. I. Purdy Taken To Austin; Husband Uninjured

Mrs. O. I. Purdy of Florence, Ariz., suffered a broken back and other injuries Friday when the car in which she and her husband were riding turned over several times on the highway about 20 miles west of Ozona. Mr. Purdy was not injured beyond minor bruises. A tire blow-out is thought to have caused the accident.

Mrs. Purdy was brought here for examination and treatment. X-ray examination showing a crushed vertebra. She was taken to a Joe Oberkamp ambulance to Austin, where she is receiving treatment in a hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Purdy were on their way to Austin for a visit with Mr. Purdy's sister, Mrs. Fred Garrison, and her husband, who is a professor of education in the University of Texas.

In the excitement following the accident, Mr. Purdy neglected to remove the keys from his wrecked car, and before the wrecker could reach the scene to bring the car away, another one of the tribe of "mean" thieves had opened the trunk compartment and stolen luggage belonging to the injured couple.

Crockett Fur Crop Estimated To Have Placed $25,000 In Trappers' Pockets

Trapping varmints for their furs, a pastime for most ranchers and ranch families and a seasonal business with others, is in reality a cash crop the total of which is a sum not to be sneezed at in Crockett County.

For instance, the 1936-37 trapping season brought an estimated $25,000 in revenue to the trappers of furs in this county, according to figures compiled by M. C. Couch, Ozona grocer and the largest fur buyer in the county. Mr. Couch himself placed a little more than $10,000 in the pockets of the trappers, besides nearly $120 in tax to the government on better than 7,000 pelts.

Figures gathered from various buyers of furs in this county, part of them estimates rather than actual purchase records, and an estimate of the value of furs shipped out by individuals to out-of-town markets, on basis of reports from carrying agencies, form the basis for the estimated total value of this county's fur crop. This represents a catch of approximately 18,000 pelts, including ringtails, fox, coon, skunk, and opossum.

The two-months trapping season came to a close January 31, with trappers allowed five days of grace in which to dispose of pelts.

CROCKETT GETS SET TO SHARE IN GOV'T. RANGE CONSERVATION PROGRAM

Commissioners Agree To Employment Of County Agent After Ranchers, Court Hear Explanation Of Program

Crockett County set up its machinery for sharing in the benefits of the federal soil erosion and range conservation program after a group of nearly a hundred ranchmen of the county and members of the Commissioners Court heard a detailed explanation of the 1937 program outlined by George W. Barnes of the A. & M. Extension Service who addressed a mass meeting here Monday afternoon.

The meeting here was one of a series being held over the state by members of the Extension Service staff, acquainting ranchmen and farmers with the plans and objectives of the conservation program. The college organization will direct the Texas program under the act and the series of meetings are being held for the purpose of rushing completion of the county organizations to share in the benefits of the act.

It being strongly recommended by the soil conservation administration that each county's program be administered through a county agriculture agent, members of the Crockett County Commissioners Court passed an order, immediately following the explanation of the plan, to employ a county agent for this county. The agent's salary is paid jointly by the county, the state and the federal government, this county's part being $3,000 annual salary bill being $1,000.

The new county agent for this county will be appointed by the Extension Service and will be on the job as soon as his appointment can be confirmed.

Benefits Explained

Mr. Barnes explained to the gathering ranchmen in the district courtroom the various provisions of the conservation act, the range practices on which allowances are made, the county set-up for administering the program and the functions of the county committee and range inspectors.

Under the terms of the act, an allowance of $1.50 per grazing unit is to be made for land improved in any of the various projects outlined for soil and range conservation. A grazing unit has been fixed as one cow, or one horse, five sheep or five goats. The number of grazing units to be allowed for each ranch will depend on the carrying capacity of the range, to be determined by range inspectors and the county committee, subject to approval by the state administration.

Nine range practices for which allowances will be made were outlined by Mr. Barnes. These include reseeded by deferred grazing, contour listing or furrowing, ridging of range land, spreader dams, earthen tanks and reservoirs, range fences, fire guards, rodent eradication and rescuing range lands from prickly pear, mesquite, cedar and lechegilla.

The first, reseeded by deferred grazing, is the only practice on which a restriction is placed within the allowance granted for a given ranch. For this practice, no more than one-third of the allowance can be used. Stock must be moved from range from May 1 to Nov. 1 under this phase of the program.

For contour and listing or furrowing, a grant of 70 cents an acre will be made. Furrows must be 8 inches wide, 4 inches deep and not more than 3 1/2 feet apart.

Erosion Control Sought

Ridging of land is similar to farm terracing, throwing up ridges 10 inches high and six feet apart, to hold water and prevent erosion. For this practice an allowance of 10 cents a linear foot will be granted.

An allowance of 15 cents a cubic yard of dirt moved will be granted for spreader dams, to hold back water in draws and washes. Spreader terraces from the dams, to further spread water,

BUSBY COMING

Horace W. Busby, veteran Fort Worth evangelist, will pay his seventeenth annual visit to Ozona for his annual revival meeting at the Church of Christ starting February 21. Services are to be held twice daily.

17th Consecutive Busby Meeting To Start February 21

Record Crowds Expected To Hear Veteran Evangelist

Returning for his seventeenth consecutive year, Evangelist Horace W. Busby of Fort Worth will open his annual gospel meeting at the Church of Christ in Ozona Sunday morning, February 21, it has been announced by James F. Black, minister of the local church.

The following which the veteran Fort Worth evangelist enjoys among church folk of this community is attested by the growing interest in each year's meeting for the last sixteen years. Members of the local church look forward each year to his coming and visitors from many surrounding towns come here each year for the special services.

Crowds are expected to be even larger than usual this year in view of the special invitations that have been sent to church people of Del Rio, San Angelo and other towns. People of Del Rio, who sought unsuccessfully to arrange for a Busby meeting in their city, are expected to be here in great numbers for the services.

Ranch Theme Used

Variety is added to this year's meeting with the adoption of sermon subjects appropriate to the sheep raising territory. The sermon subjects announced for the morning services, beginning Sunday morning, Feb. 21, and continuing eleven days, are as follows: "Fourteen Hundred Sheep," "A Man or a Sheep," "Hunting Grass for the Flocks," "A Shepherd's Love for His Sheep," "The Song of a Shepherd," "Feeding the Sheep," "From a Hog Pen to a Dance in the Old Home," "God's Love for an Old Rancher," "Following the Good Shepherd," "Two Goats," and "The Sheep Fold."

DEATH POINTS AGAIN

Again the stark finger of death has been pointed at this community, taking during the past week two of its valuable and well loved citizens. After an all too brief surcease from a year of horrors for this community in 1936, the reaper has again reached in to bring sorrow and heavy hearts to the entire community.

Good citizens are hard to give up. Good friends take a part of our hearts when they leave us. It all fits into the pattern of the Creator's plan, which man is not privileged to understand, but the weakness of the human heart leaves it leaden and sorrowful when loved ones and dear friends are called to an untimely end.

To those bereaved families, to those children who have lost father or mother, this community's heart goes out to gather them in a protecting blanket of sympathy, that their sorrow might in some degree be lessened. May their wounds be healed by faith in the plan of the universe, and the future be sweetened by the mellow glow of a beautiful memory.

THE MAN IN THE WHITE HOUSE

A representative of the people speaking in the national Congress a few days ago on the subject of the president's startling proposal to pack the Supreme Court to override the constitution, made this observation concerning the chief executive: "He has finally let the sheep's clothing slip to reveal the wolf."

That may or may not be a too harsh estimate of the intent of the president, but the observation voices the fears of several million Americans who see in the plan the destruction of the last bulwark of the people's defense against a dictatorship, and destruction of the principles of government that have withstood the test of 166 years to raise this nation to a position of world supremacy.

The separation of powers in our form of government is constitutional, a check and balance to guarantee respect for the rights of all the people. If the constitutional weakness of the human heart of certain necessary reforms, the fault can be corrected by amendment. But to destroy the very form of this government by sweeping aside the judiciary balance wheel should be unthinkable to the American mind. One branch of the government already subservient to the executive will is fraught with danger enough. For the American people to allow this combination to make the final hurdle by destroying the third is to invite disaster.

[QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING]

"Are Banks essential to community welfare?"

YES, we believe that banks are decidedly essential to community welfare. Our modern business structure is so complex that it could not function without banks. As a simple illustration, more than 90% of all the business in this country is carried on by payments with bank checks.

Banks are the active hub of practically all business and financial transactions. Day in and day out they render useful, needed financial services. They furnish depositors with a safe, convenient place to keep money. They make loans to local borrowers of business ability and integrity. They furnish employment to local people and aid in making it possible for other activities to do so. They participate—directly and indirectly—in civic enterprises.

Among the many elements essential to the success of a bank our officers and directors believe the most important is soundness built on the enduring foundation of community usefulness.

1937 Frigidaires Feature Quick Ice Cube Release Lever

Housewives no longer will struggle with ice trays to release cubes of frozen water, electric refrigerator salesmen were telling prospective purchaser today following introduction in Fort Worth last week of the new 1937 model Frigidaire.

Nearly 1,200 representatives of refrigerator dealers in the Southwest, including R. G. Castles, sales manager for the West Texas Utilities Company in San Angelo, viewed the year's current models which feature a quick ice cube release operated by a lever loosening the cubes in an all-metal tray.

"It marks a forward step in refrigeration," T. E. Kuykendall, West Texas Utilities Company sales manager who headed the company's Abilene delegation, said. "Only metal trays are used in the new model Frigidaire. The lever serves to loosen ice cubes so that they drop from the tray quickly and easily, eliminating the loss in ice which occurs when the tray is held under a hot water faucet in the kitchen sink."

As a result of floods in the Mississippi valley, delegates from Memphis, Tenn., attended the Fort Worth meeting. The Memphis conference has been postponed.

Q. Was the capital of the Republic of Texas ever located in Fayette County?

A. In 1837, the Second Congress of the Republic in session at Houston appointed a commission to select and report on a site for a permanent capital to be known as Austin; the commission reported to an adjourning session in Houston, April 15, 1838, recommending the "John Eblin league" adjoining LaGrange; the report was adopted, April 17, but President Houston vetoed the bill, giving as his reason that "it was premature to select a new site in 1838, for any intervening Congress might at its will change it." Many believed that Houston did this to have the capital remain at Houston.

Q. Who was the first of the Sinks family to come to Texas?

A. George W. Sinks came to Texas in 1836 from Cincinnati, Ohio, and was in the Postmaster General's department of the Republic at Houston, Old Washington, and Austin, serving at one time as acting postmaster-general. He is credited with initiating mail service on wheels, while serving as chief clerk at Houston, using a gig. Later he was in the mercantile business at La Grange.

Q. What State produces most of the polo ponies of America?

A. Texas produces 90 percent of all American polo ponies and they are marketed in every country where polo is played.

Q. Why is the legendary silver mine on the San Saba River near Menard known as the Bowie Mine?

A. James Bowie spent a year living with the Indians around the old Spanish fort, built in 1756, for the sole purpose of learning the exact location of the reputed mine. Believing he had found the secret, he started from San Antonio with eight men to make explorations, but at Calf Creek, 20 miles east of Menard, was attacked by a large Indian band and forced to return to San Antonio, where he soon after was killed in the battle of the Alamo, without revealing whatever secrets he may have learned. The mine, for that reason, became known as "the lost Bowie Mine."

Q. Why was Texas more prosperous than other states during the Civil War?

A. Blockades were more effective in other southern states, preventing shipments of products; Texas slaves were easier to discipline; many slaves were sent to Texas to assist in farm labor, and good crops were raised, making the state fairly prosperous in the first years of the war. Despite shipping handicaps and the absence of so many of the men, trade with and through Mexico was good and Texas was able to furnish many supplies to the Confederacy.

Q. What tribe of Indians is still in Texas? Are they still near Houston?

A. There are two tribes, the Alabamas and the Coushattas, located on a 3,281 acre reservation in Polk County, about 65 miles northeast of Houston.

Q. Where did LaFitte establish his Galveston Island home?

A. At a place he called "Camppeachy," on the ruins of D'Aury's settlement, and in a house known as the "Red Mansion" around which there grew a settlement of more than 1,000 followers who called him "Lord of the Isle." (All rights reserved.)

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

Austin—Definite signs that the legislative honeymoon upon which the house of representatives embarked Jan. 12 is about at an end were seen as the regular session began its fifth week. Despite the fact the pension bloc forced thru resolution committing the house to allocating the first $12,000,000 new revenue it raises to augment the present $8,000,000 a year pension fund, and urging early consideration of pension liberalization measures, there were indications that the pension bloc was weakening its strength against the lack of leadership rivalry.

The pension issue, as forecasted by this writer when the original pension bill was under consideration, has become Texas' leading political football. The governor is reelected largely on his adroit defense of his old age pension "orphan baby"; most of the 73 new house members came to town around the pension bandwagon; and a vast majority of the house has indicated a desire to build a record that will get the votes of the oldsters.

Too Many Leaders
So hot is the issue that intense rivalry for the credit of being under threatens to disrupt the pension bloc. Farmer of Fort Worth and Island Johnson of Waxahachie, Jesse James of Crockett, Jasper Reed of Texarkana, Jap Lucas of Athens, and several others, aspire to lead the pension legion. It is every man for himself, and no organization or cooperation among the group. Farmer, the loudest and most vehement shouter in the house, he seized the job of spokesman, and held it during the first four weeks thru sheer lung power and persistence. But this week he heard himself called a "publicity seeker," a "rabble rouser," and the worst enemy the old folks have in the legislature" by his fellow members of the pension bloc, who don't agree with his ideas and are jealous of his press clippings.

So, notwithstanding his loudest shouting of the session, Farmer saw members of the pension bloc help to beat overwhelmingly his hysterical resolution demanding the head of Pension Administrator Orville Carpenter, after Carpenter, with his naive penchant for sticking his neck out, advised legislative committee to bar pension recipients from the privilege of voting. The house hastily adopted a substitute resolution, declaring it opposed taking away the voting privilege from the pensioners, but Carpenter's name was not mentioned, and members cheered reference to him during the debate as "an able administrator." Carpenter told the committee he thought pensioners could be kept about 105,000 and urged against liberalizing the present law.

farmer, to donate $9,000,000 a year for the next five years to the counties to spend on erosion control, reclamation and other similar work, be remitting general revenue ad valorem state taxes. The bill would impoverish the general revenue fund by $9,000,000 a year, at a time when it is already some 15 millions in the "red." It gathered a motley array of sales tax advocates, higher natural resource taxers, and soil erosion enthusiasts behind it on two favorable votes on the floor, but went back to the committee when the strong anti-sales tax group combined forces with some pensioners who would vote a sales tax, but only for pensions.

FRANCHISE TAX
Surprising nobody, the house revenue committee brought out the bill of Herman Jones of Decatur, proposing to increase franchise taxes on all incorporated business—large and small—in Texas by 700 percentum, by a vote of 11 to 7. Those voting for the bill were Baker of Rosenberg, Bell of Cuero, England of McKinney, Jones of Decatur, King of Garner, Langdon of Glen Rose, Morris of Greenville, Palmer of Normangee, Skaggs of Deport and Tarwater of Plainview. The vote came after two days of hearings at which representatives of ranching, public utilities, manufacturing, and other industrial lines testified the bill, if enacted, would wreck corporate business in Texas. Jones has estimated the bill would increase franchise taxes paid by corporations from $1,500,000 to $12,000,000 annually.

EDITORS MEET
More than 100 Texas editors came to Austin at the weekend for the midwinter session of the Texas press association heard legislative Chairman Sam Braswell of Clarendon urge support for bills requiring publication in newspapers of certain legal notices now posted on the courthouse door, and of periodic financial statements by governmental bodies.

They heard Lowry Martin of Corsicana, report on the questionnaire sent out to ascertain sentiment on Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul's plan to appropriate $500,000 a year for advertising Texas, and listened to Woodul outline the plan which calls for constitutional authorization. The editors adopted a resolution opposing a pending house bill which would prohibit public utilities from selling electric and gas appliances. They were guests of Austin Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon, and of President Benedict at Texas university at an evening banquet.

THE 25-MILLIONTH

HAS JUST BEEN BUILT

It has never occurred before in automobile history that 25 million cars of one make, bearing one name, have been manufactured under one management. The 25,000,000th Ford car rolled off the Ford Rouge Plant production line on January 18, 1937.

25 million cars since 1903... more than one-third of all the cars ever built... enough cars to transport the entire population of the United States.

The figures represent a remarkable contribution to the social welfare, the industrial stability and the general progress of our country.

People respect Ford efficiency. They know Ford uses fine materials, the best workmanship at good wages, the most exact precision measurements. They know these things are passed along to purchasers in the form of extra value. Naturally, they like to do business with such a company. This is the only reason it has been required to produce 25 million cars.

Naturally, too, they expect more of a Ford car, more this year than last year—more each year than the year before. They have every right to. The experience gained in building 25,000,000 cars enables Ford to produce today a really superb motor car at a really low price—with the Beauty, Comfort, Safety and Performance of much more expensive cars.

The 1937 Ford V-8 combines advanced design, all-steel construction, extra body room, and brilliant brakes with a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines—the most modern type of power-plant on land, sea, or in the air.

The 85-horsepower engine provides top performance with unusually good economy for its high power.

The 60-horsepower engine gives good performance with the greatest gasoline mileage ever built into a Ford car—and wears the lowest Ford price tag in years.

People expect more of a Ford car because it's a Ford—and they get more, for the same reason. It is undeniably the quality car in the low-price field.

will draw an allowance of 40 cents per linear foot.

Similarly, earthen tanks and reservoirs constructed to catch and hold rain water, will bring an allowance of 15 cents per cubic yard of dirt moved. An allowance of 30 cents a rod will be made for construction of new fences. This allowance, according to Mr. Barnes' explanation, is restricted to fence construction necessary in carrying out other phases of the conservation program.

Fire guards may be cut along public roads or at advantageous point on an allowance of 3 cents per linear foot. There fire guards must be at least four feet wide and cut down to the mineral soil.

An allowance of 7½ cents per infected acre will be given for eradication of prairie dogs, and 5 cents per acre for eradication of kangaroo rats, Mr. Barnes explained. For this purpose, the Extension Service provides poisoned grains at actual cost.

Pear Eradication

A phase of the soil conservation program in which ranchmen of Crockett County are perhaps most interested is that of rescuing range lands from prickly pear, mesquite, cedar and lechegilla. Mr. Barnes said. For the eradication of these range pests, allowances ranging from 50 cents to $2 an acre will be given, depending on the grade of infestation, which will be classified as light, medium or heavy. For eradication of prickly pear, the allowance will be from 50 cents to $1.50 an acre, depending on the degree of infestation. For mesquite eradication, the allowance will be from 50 cents to $2 an acre of infested territory. Seventy-five cents to one dollar will be allowed for cedar eradication and 50 cents an acre for lechegilla.

The 1937 program does not include funds for eradication of bitterweed, loco, golden rod and other poisonous weeds, Mr. Barnes said. The reason for this omission, as explained by the speaker, was the fact that ranchmen interviewed were unable to give administrators an idea of the cost of such a program, nor the proper manner in which to undertake the control of these pests. Rather than delay the whole program, it was decided to omit these until further data can be assembled, with the hope that such activity will be included in the 1938 program.

Within the next few days, possibly by the end of this week, county agents from all over the state will be called to the College for a full explanation of the plans and operation of the conservation program and as soon as the agents return to their respective counties the first move toward actual start of the program will be made.

To Call Another Meet

Another county-wide meeting will be called by the agent for the purpose of distributing blanks designated application for determination of grazing capacity. Ranch operators signing these applications then set up their own county machinery for administration of the program. From their number, the applicants select three men to act as the county committee, which will be the executive head of the county operations, responsible to the state administration. This committee will select the necessary number of range inspectors, whose duty it will be to visit ranches of applicants for the purpose of determining and recommending the range capacity of the ranch. These range inspectors are to be local men, the Extension Service representative said. Both county committeemen and inspectors will be paid thru the state organization.

From reports of inspectors, the county committee will assemble grazing capacity figures for each ranch applicant for forwarding to the state headquarters. On the basis of these figures, the total grazing capacity for Crockett County will be determined and this county's allotment made on the basis of available funds.

Answering a question from the audience, Mr. Barnes explained the lessor or landowner could handle the program, money to be paid for any part of the various improvement plans adopted being paid to either the land owner or lessor, the matter being left to them to settle the question of which should make the application.

The 1937 allowance must be spent within the year, the speaker said. Employment of labor for accomplishment of any of the projects is left entirely in the hands of the ranch operator, it was explained, the act setting no restriction on the type of labor or the rate of pay.

Mr. Barnes was introduced by County Judge Charles E. Davidson, who also presided over an informal session of the Commissioners Court in passing the order for employment of the county agent. At the conclusion of Mr. Barnes' talk, Judge Davidson submitted to a vote of the assembly the question of whether or not ranchmen of this county are in favor of participating in the federal program. The vote was unanimously "Aye."
