LAUNCH PLAN FOR SWIMMING POOL AND CLUB

Commissioners Given Proposal For Community Project

TO SEEK WPA AID

Committee Of Women Ask County To Open Negotiations

A proposal for construction of a club house, or community center, with a swimming pool in conjunction was launched here this week when a group of women, representing the various clubs and organizations of Ozona appeared before the commissioners court Monday to lay the matter before that body.

The proposal was presented to the commissioners court after the committee from the various clubs had made necessary preliminary investigation of the possibilities of securing WPA grant to help finance the project and the court was asked to take up the plan and make further investigations to determine costs and possibility of its accomplishment.

Assurance has been given by WPA officials in San Angelo, members of the committee said, that such a project will be eligible for WPA aid. A grant to this community, which so far has shared but little in the WPA grants, would be conditioned on the amount of available relief labor, it was pointed out. On projects of this nature, WPA will finance two-thirds of the cost, the county to pay the remaining one-third, it was declared.

An architect's preliminary drawing of a plan for the club house and pool was presented to the court. The drawing was made as a starter on the project and may be changed as found necessary.

ONE THING and THEN ANOTHER

By FRED GIPSON

MEXICO, D. F.—When a man will try, he can make friends most anywhere. Way off down here on a little vacation, I make some friends.

My new friends live in a little stone hut among the tall cacti back of the Temple of the Sun, the largest of the San Juan Teotihuacan pyramids. The family name is Leva.

I first noticed Jose, the 10-year-old boy of the family, while we were sitting in a little pavillion, trying to catch our breaths after having made the climb to the top of the Sacrificial altar. He was peeping at us from around the end of a row of organ cacti, I smiled at him, which encouraged him enough to approach with a basket of clay gods and other relics he'd picked up in the fields and excavations around the pyramids. Some were obsidian knife blades, scraps of pottery, the heads of pagan gods carved out of jade.

I was already a little overstocked with such pieces, but I liked the dimple in his cheek and bartered a little with him, finally switching the conversation to other things.

I asked him about a tree I'd been taking for a mesquite all the time, until I noticed it hanging with red berry-like fruit, instead of beans. "China," he explained, then clattered away in Spanish so fast that all I caught was something about pepper.

His young eyes flashed with mischief as he watched me pull off one of the berries and nibble at it. I spat it out. The seed was definitely some sort of pepper. I grinned at Jose. He chuckled. "Come see my rooster," he in-

Report Infantile Paralysis Cases Found In Sonora

Health Officer Here Advises Against Assembly of Children

A reported outbreak of infantile paralysis in Sonora, 36 miles east of Ozona, where three cases of the disease are said to have developed, has caused some apprehension among people of Ozona and other nearby towns.

In order to minimize the possibility of an outbreak of the disease here, Dr. H. B. Tandy, county health officer, has advised against the assembling of children 14 years of age and younger in any kind of public gatherings until the danger period has passed.

As a result of this advice from the health officer, churches have suspended Sunday school classes for the smaller children and a vacation Bible school in progress at the Methodist church this week was called off to cooperate in the matter of preventing large gatherings of children. Children under 14 are being refused admission to the picture show as a precaution.

Although there is only slight danger that the disease might be carried from Sonora to Ozona, the results of the disease are in many cases so horrible that it is thought best to take every precaution to prevent its spread, Dr. Tandy pointed out. The disease is insidious in its attack, its symptoms being similar to many of the more common ailments, and for that reason it can be spread rapidly by a victim before its presence is suspected.

Dr. Tandy advises all Ozonans to stay away from Sonora until the danger is passed. The disease can be contracted by grown persons but this rarely occurs, he said. However, the disease can be carried by grown persons without their being ill, he declared.

There is no suspected case of infantile paralysis in Ozona, Dr. Tandy assured, the precautions being urged merely as a safeguard against its spread from the neighboring town. One case of scarlet fever in the Mexican settlement has been isolated, the health officer said, and no further spread of this disease is anticipated.

OST Towns Form Organization To Promote Route

Sonora Man Named President of Group At Meet Tuesday

W. R. Cusenbary of Sonora was named president of an organization formed at Sonora Tuesday when business leaders and city and county officials of towns from San Antonio to Van Horn met to perfect a subsidiary of the Old Spanish Trail Association to boost the Trail as the best route for Southern transcontinental travel.

Representatives were present from Balmorhea, Fort Stockton, Ozona, Junction, Kerrville, Comfort, Boerne, and Sonora. The Sonora meeting was called following a preliminary gathering held in Junction two weeks ago. At that meeting, Emil Loeffler of Junction was selected as temporary chairman and H. V. (Buzzie) Stokes of Sonora temporary secretary.

President Cusenbary is to appoint a secretary for the newly organized group, Stokes continuing as temporary secretary until the permanent appointment.

Plans were discussed for eliminating two low water crossings on the OST near Junction, straightening out the many curves in the highway east of Sonora and near

Martin Harvick Recovers Sight After Accident

Temporarily Blinded When Wire Knocks Him From Horse

Temporarily blinded when a telephone wire struck him across the eyes and knocked him from a running horse on his father's ranch last Friday, Martin Harvick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Strick Harvick, is reported to be regaining his eye sight and slowly recovering in a Dallas hospital where he was carried following the accident.

Martin was completely blinded by shock of the impact from the wire. He was taken at first to San Angelo where doctors examined his eyes and advised that he be taken to an eye specialist in Dallas. There an examination showed no damage to the eye balls, doctors declaring the blindness due to shock to the optic nerve. He was given treatment and at last reports sight was slowly returning to his eyes.

Young Harvick was riding with his younger brother, Jim Ad Harvick, and was attempting to rope a sheep. He failed to notice the low telephone wire and was struck squarely across the eyes and knocked from his horse. Except for being blinded, he was not otherwise hurt, and walked back to the ranch house, guided by his brother. It was reported by members of the family here this week that he would have to remain under the care of physicians for about two weeks more, but that the attending physicians were confident of his complete recovery.

TAX CHARGE ERASED

N. H. Hickman, who ranches in Crockett and Reagan counties near Big Lake, erased a $41 debt when he appeared before the commissioners court here this week in connection with a charge of that amount held by this county for taxes owed in 1935. Mr. Hickman made affidavit that as a resident of Reagan county he had rendered and paid taxes on all his property in that county and as a consequence did not owe this county. Crockett county had levied on a part of Hickman's livestock in a pasture on the Crockett county side. The charge was erased by this county.

Delinquent Taxpayers Rush In To Save Big Penalties Due July 1

To arrange for installment payments, or to make other arrangements satisfactory to the county, several delinquent taxpayers appeared before the commissioners court at its session this week, the last before the July 1 deadline set by the court for payment of delinquent amounts.

Under the court's order, a remission of delinquent penalties and interest, so far as the county's part of the delinquent amount is concerned, will be withdrawn July 1 and heavy penalties will apply, amounting to as much as 32 per cent on years from 1934 and before. Payments of delinquent amounts have been coming in at a fairly rapid clip this month, according to reports from the collector's office.

Hike Valuations Of 52 Taxpayers Total $112,000

Final Board Of Equalization Scheduled To Meet July 10

Raises in renditions of a group of taxpayers of Crockett county amounting to $112,288.61 were made by the commissioners court, sitting as a second board of equalization this week.

The court set July 10 as the date for the final board of equalization meeting when the readjustments in valuations will be made final. Meanwhile, notice by mail and by publication will be made of the proposed raises in valuations, and the taxpayers will be given an opportunity to oppose the raise in values at the meeting of the final board July 10.

A total of 52 taxpayers were involved in the raises, 30 of them being oil companies and royalty owners operating in the county and 22 individual ranchers. Renditions of the 52 affected taxpayers were raised from $369,977.81 to $482,266.32.

Lee Childess will take possession of his ranch now occupied by Morris Dudley when the lease expires. He has also bought most of the Dudley stock.

Invite Crockett Descendants To Statue Ceremony

Grandson and Granddaughter of Hero May Be Here

A special invitation has been sent to a grandson and granddaughter of David Crockett to be honored guests of Ozona on the occasion of the dedication of the David Crockett Memorial statue in the city park here on June 22.

The descendants of the illustrious Texas hero, nearest surviving kin of the Tennessean who died in the Alamo in the war for Texas' freedom, are Ashley W. Crockett, publisher of a weekly newspaper at Granbury, Texas, and his sister, Mrs. T. H. Hiner of the same city.

Mr. Crockett and Mrs. Hiner are children of Robert Crockett, only son of David Crockett. Both have lived in Granbury for many years.

The David Crockett memorial, carved from native Texas granite, and erected by the state Centennial commission last year, will be dedicated at a special ceremony in the park beginning at 12:45 p. m., Thursday, June 22, opening day of the Ozona stock show, rodeo and race meet.

Dorsey B. Hardeman, state representative from San Angelo, will make the dedicatory address. C. S. De n h a m, superintendent of schools, will preside and Miss Wanda Watson, who was Crockett county chairman of the Centennial year observance, will introduce the speaker. The dedication will follow the barbecue dinner to be served in the park.

Bill McVey of Houston, sculptor who carved the statue of Crockett, members of the state board of control and other state officials are expected to be here for the dedication.

Raise Of 5 Cents Made In '39 Tax Rate For County

Levy Of Last March Is Revised; Rates For Schools Raised

A net raise of 5 cents on the $100 valuation for 1939 property tax rate in Crockett county was effected when a new rate was set by the commissioners court meeting this week.

By action of the court in fixing the new rate this week, a similar levy made at a meeting in March was repealed and the new rate made effective. At the March meeting, the rate was fixed at the same amount as last year, a raise in the county rate being offset by a reduction in the school levy.

Raises of 5 cents each in the school house building bonds sinking fund levy and the school maintenance levy were offset by a reduction of 5 cents in the levy for interest and sinking fund of the Crockett county common school (Continued On Page Five)

Sprinkle Streets To Keep Down Dust for Show Next Week

Crockett county has engaged the services of D. C. Ratliff and his sprinkler truck to sprinkle the unpaved streets leading in the direction of the rodeo grounds to minimize the dust nuisance during next week's celebration.

The county is paying Ratliff at the rate of $1 an hour for the services of the driver and sprinkler truck to wet down the streets. Sprinkling of the streets has already started, the principal thoroughfares being given soakings at intervals in order that they may be thoroughly wet before the opening of the show, thus making it possible to keep down the dust with nightly wettings next week.

OZONA POISED FOR OPENING GUN OF SHOW

City to Welcome Thousands of West Texans Next Week

SNAPPY PROGRAM

Champion Ropers, Riders, Fast Race Horses On Daily Program

Ozona is poised, set and ready for the opening gun setting off its 12th annual Rodeo, Race Meet, Stock Show and Sale here Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. With larger purses, meaner, tougher livestock and some of the fastest race horses in the Southwest lined up, and rodeo fans throughout this section manifesting more interest than usual in this year's show, officials are looking forward to the most successful show Ozona has ever presented.

The annual sheep show, a parade of some of the nation's outstanding registered Rambouillets, is scheduled to open at 9 o'clock next Wednesday morning, the day preceding the opening of the regular three-day show. Vic Pierce and J. W. Owens are in charge of this feature of the celebration and report that a big field of entries will compete for the attractive cash prizes in the show. The biggest single purse in the sheep show will go to the winning yearling ram, first prize being $100 cash. The animal winning this event will be sold through the ring in the auction sale, to be held each morning of the final three days.

Jack and Earl Sellers of Del Rio, premier rodeo performers, are bringing the cussediest, orneriest bunch of wild broncs ever to snort out of a starting chute to entertain rodeo crowds and would-be bronc busters. Wild steer riders and ropers will have to contend with a herd of salty Brahmas recently purchased by Wayne West, fair association president, and calf ropers and their cayuses must be good to take the half-breed calves purchased by the association for this event. In this herd are a group of calves that are quarter Brahma, quarter Dur-

A NEEDED IMPROVEMENT

After many years of doing without, a group of Ozona women have at last launched a movement for one of the most needed improvements in Ozona, one that would be of lasting benefit to every person living in the town or county.

Ozona is forty miles or more from the nearest stream of water. As a consequence, the youth of Ozona, and the grown-ups as well who like an occasional dip, must resort to water storage tanks for a swim or else get in their car and travel that forty miles or more or go to some distant town where a swimming pool is maintained.

Nearly as badly as it needs a swimming pool does Ozona need a community center, some building which can be used for public entertainments, gatherings and as quarters for various organizations and clubs.

Now the group of Ozona club women who are promoting the project propose to combine these two needs, a club house or community center, and a swimming pool, to be built on public property or property donated for the purpose and open to the public with reasonable restrictions.

The matter was presented to the Crockett County Commissioners Court at its meeting Monday and that body took the matter under advisement with a promise to find out the proper procedure and to make further investigation.

participation of the federal government, the local governing body, in this county's case, the commissioners court, is the local agency which must handle details of the program.

This particular undertaking would be of such widespread benefit to the people of this county that it is to be hoped the commissioners court will make diligent inquiry into the matter and if there is any means of its accomplishment to follow it up to its fulfillment.

SENSIBLE NEUTRALITY

Secretary Hull's somewhat belated, but none the less forthright and effective neutrality pronouncement should serve to break the dangerous log-jam in Congress growing out of the confusing welter of conflicting views expressed there regarding neutrality legislation. The Hull proposals—and they are, of course, also Roosevelt proposals—are neither new nor radical. Most of them have had the benefit of actual trial in some form or another.

Gasoline and motor oil, of course—they're essentials; but how many more! . . . You get a spot on the upholstery which must be removed; you need a cleaner—and a polish—for the paint; tires, tubes and such accessories as fan-belts, windshield wiper blades, dustcaps and the like; batteries, battery cables, spark plugs; repair and testing equipment; a long list of special lubricants . . . And you yourself: on a trip you want an insect-repellent and a sunburn lotion; there's a hurry call from home to fetch a bottle of furniture polish, a can of household oil . . . reached on April 6, 1917. Secretary Hull, therefore, would ban loans and credits to belligerents and restrict private solicitation and collection of funds for foreign wars. The existing law contains similar provisions. Another provocative of war is the jeopardizing of American lives by belligerents. This hazard always is present when nationals of a neutral nation venture into a known area of combat operations. To reduce the possibility of involvement in this way, Mr. Hull would restrict drastically all travel by American citizens in war zones.

It has been a matter of common observation for some time that the Democratic President and the Democratic Congress are no longer seeing eye-to-eye in all things. Now comes the Democratic National committee's chief publicist, Mr. Charles Michelson, with stern rebuke for the critics of Mr. Roosevelt who insist that "he is carrying on government payrolls innumerable unnecessary officials" and must cut expenses along that line. And at what "critics" does Mr. Michelson take this crack? None other than the Democratic brethren of the House of Representatives, and this because they voted a few days ago an additional $750,000 to provide each of them with another clerk.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By John Craddock

NEW YORK, June 12.—BUSINESS—The second half of the year is going to be a lot happier than the first for workers, merchants, manufacturers and all the rest whose welfare is bound up in America's economic stream. Supporting this encouraging opinion expressed by leading economists is the fact that business news has been more favorable business news than it has been for some time. Operating rate of the steel industry, a big employer, has gained 20 per cent since the middle of May. Another large employer, the automobile industry, sold 325,000 cars in May, topping the April record. Woolen mills are gradually increasing production to take care of a heavy volume of new business booked recently. Air lines report that sky travel in May was 10 per cent better than in any previous month on record. During the last fortnight retailers of household appliances have experienced a sharp increase in sales, particularly of refrigerators and radios. Perhaps best of all was the announcement of reductions ranging from 33 to 70 per cent on war risk insurance rates for marine cargoes, evidence that London shipping quarters believe the chances for a European war this year are receding.

WASHINGTON.—The easy money situation is becoming easier. An interest rate of 3/4 of 1 per cent on more than $400,000,000 of five-year U. S. Treasury notes issued last week was the lowest ever established on a direct Treasury obligation of this duration. Other evidence that there is increasing difficulty in putting capital to profitable use was seen in an announcement by banks in the Chicago suburban area which cut interest rates on time deposits from 1 1/2 per cent to 1 per cent. Only a few days previously a bank in Newark, N. J., suspended interest payments altogether. Reason given in both cases was the inability of banks to reemploy money left on deposit at sufficient interest to cover banking overhead costs. Commercial loans to finance ordinary trade activities of business men at a low ebb, while high grade corporation bonds yielding more than 3 per cent interest are becoming scarce as hen's teeth.

BOOMERANG—Retail business men last week reflected at length upon two court decisions of far-reaching implication. The Colorado supreme court ruled that some 33 independently owned auto supply stores using the same name, having uniform store fronts and contractual relations with one distributor for supplying of merchandise, must pay the state chain store tax. A similar ruling by the North Carolina supreme court 42 dry goods stores was virtually upheld by the U. S. supreme in refusing to review an appeal. In both states avoidance of the tax was sought on the grounds that the stores were voluntary chains.

Formation of voluntary chains has been at the instance of alert independent retailers, who, while retaining ownership of their businesses, sought to copy the efficient distribution and buying methods of chain stores which have done so much to narrow the spread between what the farmer or manufacturer gets and what the consumer pays for food and merchandise. Political sponsors of punitive taxes on chain stores have repeatedly assured voluntary chains that they would be exempt. Since in the food field alone more than 109,000 independent stores have organized as voluntary chains, the possible boomerang effect of last week's court decisions was believed likely to give sharply increased impetus to the growing public demand for repeal of chain store taxes now imposed by 20 states.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—Roof shingles made of glass and automobile brakes lined with glass fabric... A phonograph that will play records backwards; practical purpose seems to be for sending code messages... Mass production of a standardized television receiver at low prices to be put on the market in October... Revival in popularity of musical auto horns... A new plastic material made out of coffee bean said to be suitable for radio cabinets, wall board, flooring and roofing.

TWO PRICES.—Dry cleaning establishments in Dallas, St. Louis, Omaha, Topeka and St. Paul are trying a two-price plan to stop price cutting which has plagued this business for several years. Under the plan dry cleaners maintain their regular scale of prices for first grade service, and a low price "thrif" service at from 25 to 50 cents less per garment. To give habitual price cutters pause, there is nothing permanent about the second grade rate, which may be changed overnight as conditions dictate to 50 cents, three for a dollar or maybe 19 cents. The amazing thing found so far is that after the first few weeks of offering economy cleaning, volume of de luxe service comes back to normal.

Community Service Outstanding

Scouts in every part of the Concho valley council are performing outstanding services at community celebrations. More than ever before, Scouts are being found useful in the conducting of community affairs. Their services consist of information duties, guides, guards, aides to chairmen and guards of honor for distinguished guests. They are useful to the communication system of any large program and are adding to the success of these affairs. Scouts have aided in community celebrations and conventions held in San Angelo, McCamey, Fort Stockton and Sonora during the past six weeks. Events in the near future in which Scouts will play an important part include celebrations at Big Lake, Ozona, Brady and San Angelo.

Water Carnivals

Between the summer camp programs, Scouts will devote some of their time to preparation for water carnivals, rallies and weekend camps. The water carnivals will be held in Catarina, Del Rio, Texon, San Angelo and Fort Stockton. The various styles of swimming will be demonstrated. Games including water polo, and life saving exhibition and competition will be featured. Camp Louis Farr Eighty Scouts and leaders attended the first session of Camp Louis Farr. The outstanding features of the camp were the excellent food, the unusual aquatics program and pioneering. Many games and contests and the camp fires all added to the joy of the campers. The camp construction just completed for Camp Louis Farr added to the health and safety of the camp and were appreciated by the Scouts. The new showers and the water piped near the troop camp sites, the new diving board and the equipment secured for more efficient kitchen operation have improved the camp operation. The water carnival, stunt night, games of scallowag, the camporee and the adventure trails are program features new to some of the Scouts. Many leaders are securing special training for year-round activities. The third week of camp starts June 19 with the troops doing real camping in learning to cook their

Firestone
CHAMPION TIRES

FIRESTONE WINS 20th Consecutive Victory In Indianapolis 500-Mile Race

A merciless sun beat down upon the speedway as Wilbur Shaw drove to victory on Firestone Champion Tires. The blistering brick of the main stretch and the granite-hard surface of the turns and the back stretch put tire safety to the test supreme! Record after record was shattered. Speeds reached as high as 160 miles an hour on the straightaways, as 35 of the fastest drivers in the world waged a breathtaking battle for gold and glory.

Never before in all the history of the motor car have tires been put to such a torturous test. And never before has any tire so firmly established itself as a Champion in construction and performance, as well as in name. Here is dramatic proof of the extra strength which the revolutionary new Safety-Lock cord body provides in Firestone Champion Tires—of the extra protection against blowouts assured by the new and advanced Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process—of the extra mileage resulting from the tougher, wear-resisting rubber compounds in the sensational new Gear-Grip tread.

No longer can there be any question of which tire is safest. One tire—and only one—provides these exclusive safety construction features. One tire—and only one—has been on the winning cars at Indianapolis for 20 consecutive years. Motor car manufacturers enthusiastically adopted the Firestone Champion Tire for their 1939 models. Order your new car equipped with this amazing tire. Or drive in and let us equip your present car with a set of new Firestone Champion Tires, the one tire—and only one that is safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

WILBUR SHAW, the 1939 winner
On May 30th, Wilbur Shaw drove to his second victory in the 500-mile Indianapolis Race on Firestone Champion Tires at an average speed of 115.03 miles an hour. Champion race drivers, whose very lives and chances of victory depend on tire safety, know tire construction. That is why they select and buy Firestone Tires for their racing cars.

New Driver License Required of Brides With Change of Name

AUSTIN.—It being June and all, the state driver's license division today took cognizance of romance. The brides were reminded of a provision in the law requiring them to notify the department of public safety of changes of names and address so that corrected driver's licenses may be issued. Such notification should be given the department within ten days of the name changing.

All in all, the newlyweds have been fairly thoughtful in keeping the division posted on marriage data, Chief Ralph L. Baell said. "We have two rush seasons on changing names—June and October," he commented. "And it looks like this June will be up to par."

Sad as the news will be to Dan Cupid, the name-changing works both ways. Divorcees also notify

Business In Texas Shows April Gain

AUSTIN, June 7.—In contrast to a national slump, Texas business climbed upward during April, Dr. F. A. Bueschel, University of Texas economist, said today.

Charting Texas business on the basis of employment, pay rolls, freight car loadings, runs of crude oil to stills, department store sales, and electric power consumption, Dr. Bueschel, statistician for the university bureau of business research, pointed to a composite index figure of 95.1 for April compared with 94.4 in March and 93.2 in April last year.

National business has slumped continuously during the past five months, but Texas has remained horizontal during that period, and took an upward movement last month, Dr. Bueschel said. He pointed to a number of elements which could contribute toward sustained business recovery:

- An abundance of cheap credit.
- Vast supplies of surplus raw materials both agricultural and

TO AVOID HEAVY PENALTIES DELINQUENT TAXES

MUST BE PAID BEFORE JULY 1!

To those who owe delinquent property taxes this reminder is given of application of heavy penalties which will apply on all such taxes not paid before the deadline of July 1.

Under action of the Commissioners Court of Crockett County early this year, penalty and interest on all delinquent county and school taxes were remitted if such taxes are paid before July 1.

After July 1, penalties amounting to 32 per cent will apply on taxes delinquent from 1934 and before, in addition to a like penalty on state taxes.

Likewise, these savings can be effected on taxes for years since 1934: for 1935, 26 per cent; for 1936, 20 per cent and for 1937, 14 per cent.

Penalties on 1938 taxes, now 3 per cent, will be raised to 8 per cent JULY 1.

I knew we were to be friends. We climbed atop a store fence. Jose's rooster was perched upon the low branch of another "china" tree on the other side. He had a green coloring than breeding.

"He sings me out of bed every morning," Jose explained. I could imagine how the little rooster would crow at day-break. He had the look of a crower.

"I've got a duck, too." We climbed down off the fence and wound through the cacti, headed for the hut and Jose's duck. In the way, I noticed some cactus apples ripening. They were a strange salmon pick in color. I stopped to examine them. Jose took his head.

"Not good to eat," he said. "Only for making candies. You like to eat the tunas?" "Are they good?" "Oh, si! Si!" he exclaimed, then he fed his shrill voice. "Mama! Mama!" he called. "The Senor must eat the tunas?"

That was a little fast for me, but I said nothing. A moment later, a slattern, barefooted Indian woman came pacing through the cacti. A baby girl was following, the baby was dirty-faced, but as beautiful as I ever saw.

Jose and his mother held a rapid-fire and prolonged consultation, of which I understood very little. Then the woman turned to me. "Un momento," she said, then hurried away.

We waited. Sometime later, she reappeared with her husband. He was a low, stocky man, apparently the only one of the family with footwear. Leather guaraches were strapped to his rusty feet. He was armed with a long pole, through one end of which was driven a steel spike. With the pole he reached to the top of a cactus and jerked down what looked like a green cactus apple. He handed it to the wife, then reached for another.

I was a little dubious. I'd eaten cactus apples as a kid, when they were ripe, mostly because Mama said not to. But they weren't particularly good, as I remember. And a green one, well—

But I'd gone too far to back out now. The little woman cut off the ends of the apple with a murderous knife, split the skin down the side and signified that I should catch the seedy pulp in my hands. Which I did, only to find myself suddenly being watched anxiously by the whole family.

I bit into the fruit. It had a strange flavor, but was sweet and delicious. I smiled at them. "It's good," I said, taking another bite. Not until then did I fully realize how badly they wanted me to like that tuna. Their happy smiles and excited chatter was good to see and hear. Jose's papa started reaching for more and the baby girl got her little hands slapped trying to pull one with her fingers. Jose's papa then showed me that the one I'd eaten was ripe. A tinge of yellow was in the stickier skins of the ripe ones. The others were solid green.

I finally left, stuffed and happy, though I never did get to see Jose's duck. And the Leva family

Game Law Gives Protection To Javelina Hogs

Wild Porkers May Now Be Taken Only From Nov. 16 to Jan. 1

The Peccary, the only native North American wild hog, has finally attained the official status of a big game animal in Texas.

The ranks of the Collared Peccary, or Javelina, have been depleted through long years of being hunted for their hides and as food, but when Governor O'Daniel signed a bill introduced in the state legislature by Representative Fred Felty of San Antonio, they became legally protected and it is now lawful to take them only from Nov. 16 to Jan. 1. The bag limit is two per season.

Texas sportsmen, in general, are only now recognizing the Peccary as a game animal capable of producing considerable sport, but nimrods from other states are invading Southwest Texas in increasing numbers each year.

They find Peccaries are capable of doing considerable damage to the unwary hunter and his dogs. Peccaries reach a weight of 50 pounds and its meat is regarded as table fare, but in order to prevent the meat from becoming permeated with a strong taste, it is necessary to cut away a muskbag, found on the rump, immediately after the animal is killed. By doing this the sportsman not only finds he has a fine trophy to go along-side others in his den, but that he has supplies for the larder.

Wild hogs, now found in only 22 counties of Texas, formerly ranged over most of the state. Many references are found in the writings of early-day naturalists, hunters and explorers to the ferociousness of the Peccary when it is cornered. Many present day hunters and other residents of Southwest Texas, who have been forced to hastily retreat to the refuge of a tree or rock pile, where they sat for hours watching the milling wild hogs gnashing their ugly tusks and hearing the herd utter its shrill war cry, can attest to the gameness of the animal when it is aroused.

Short-legged, but fleet, the Peccary boasts long tusks and it is with these and its sharp hoofs that it does considerable damage to its natural enemies.

H. P. Attwater, Texas naturalist for whom the Attwater prairie chicken is named, related in his writings in 1896 that "the Peccary was widely hunted for its hide and as food, but that sportsmen also sought them." Too, he recorded the fact that the hides were used as currency in Zavalla county in 1886. Since that time the hides have been exported, mostly to France, where they were made into ladies' gloves. The bristles are converted into brushes.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt made a successful forage along the Frio river near Uvalde, Texas, in 1892 in search of sport with the Peccary. A Kentucky cavalryman reported the Peccary rushes his adversary with the ferociousness of a tiger.

Peccaries, unlike most hoofed animals, sleep in some sort of a den and take refuge, head out, in holes. The nests of the young, of which there almost always two in every litter, are found in hollow logs and holes. The animals' principal food during the winter consists of nuts of every description, but in the summer they feed upon fruits, seeds and roots.

The herd's biggest boss is boss of the tribe and it is he who stands guard at the opening of the herd's den while the others sleep. Many a hunter, seeing the big boss on guard, has shot him down. Immediately another member of the herd takes up the post and is shot down. In that way entire herds have been wiped out.

Peccaries now range over 22 southwest Texas counties. Robert Mauermann, assistant game manager for the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster commission, has found. Their range includes the following counties: Bandera, Edwards, Real, Uvalde, Dimmitt, Frio, LaSalle, Webb, Starr, Maverick, Medina, Live Oak, Jim Wells, Brooks, Kleberg, Kennedy, Willacy, Cameron Hidalgo, Zavalla, Zapata and Jim Hogg.

Urges Knowledge of Respiration Method For Emergency Use

AUSTIN.—"No elaborate equipment is needed to save a life from drowning," is the opinion of state health department officials. "In fact, actual harm has been done by the misuse of so-called lung motors. Modern resuscitation apparatus has been perfected so that oxygen and carbon dioxide can be used without inflicting more damage to cases of asphyxiation and drowning. It is tragic enough to have a drowning accident, but it is far more tragic if no one present at the time knows how to save a life by artificial respiration.

"The prompt application of artificial respiration is of primary importance, and for this purpose the prone pressure method is the easiest, simplest and most effective. This should begin at once and continue rhythmically until natural breathing is established—this may take four or more hours. Procedure:

First: Kneel, and straddle the patient below the hips placing hands on small of the back with fingers over the lowest ribs, tips of fingers just out of sight.

Second: With arms straight, while counting one, two, swing forward bearing weight on body firmly but not violently.

Third: Swing backward while counting one, straightening up and thus relieving pressure—this allows air to be drawn into the lungs.

Fourth: Rest in this position for two counts.

Fifth: Repeat these movements rhythmically, forward and backward, without interruption, about 12 to 15 a minute, until natural breathing is restored.

Sixth: Meanwhile, if assistance is at hand, a physician should be sent for, the patient's tight clothing should be loosened at neck, chest, waist and he should be kept warm.

The patient should not be moved until he is breathing normally and then should not be allowed to get up but should be carried in a lying position to a place where he can be kept warm and receive medical attention.

Less Often, Heavier Watering of Flowers Is Recommended

COLLEGE STATION.—Watering flowers a little every night may be fun, says J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist of the Texas A. and M. college extension service, but the flowers will do better if they are watered thoroughly once a week and allowed to dry out somewhat in between times.

A summer mulch of peat moss or a similar mulch will prove more than worthwhile in holding back weeds, keeping the soil cooler, and reducing surface evaporation. A more robust plant and larger, brighter flowers will result.

Some plants will do better if they are pinched back when they are six to eight inches high. Such plants as the zinnia will develop into a much bushier plant if this method is used.

Another pointer listed by Rosborough is the removing of blooms. As blooms reach their prime they should be removed before they have a chance to go to seed. This will not only result in more blooms, but a longer blooming period.

Oil well gasses yield helium, which is used in lighter-than-air craft, and of which this country has a virtual monopoly, at a cost of 1 per cent per cubic foot.

New Type Of Screen Helps Keep Out Heat

Window and door screens are necessary in the summer to keep out insects, but a new product is being manufactured that doubles the screen's function. This new type screen also helps exclude heat.

The appearance of the new wire-screen cloth, is much like any other except that the vertical wires are one-half inch apart, and there are 18 horizontal wires to the inch. The horizontal wires are flat and set at a slight angle. The effect of this design is that when the sun is 40 degrees above the horizon the horizontal wires exclude the rays from the room.

CHEVROLET SALES GAIN

DETROIT, June 7.—Chevrolet dealers achieved a 36.4 per cent gain, during the second 10 days of May, over their sales for the same period in 1938, selling 25,891 new cars and trucks at retail. The announcement was made at company headquarters here today. In the same 10 days a year ago, Chevrolet delivered 18,963 units, figure comparisons showed.

The second 10 days showed an 11.1 per cent increase over sales for the preceding period, which totalled 23,307 units. It was greater, by 695 units, than the second 10 days of April, the heaviest volume month thus far in the current model year.

Truck sales increased from 4,673 to 5,165 units, as compared with the previous 10 days, and used car sales also registered a gain.

Chevrolet's world sales of new cars and trucks, for the 1939 model year to date, total more than 600,000 units, the figures revealed.

The current cost of being governed in the United States averages $523 per family.

SICK OF HIS BARGAIN

"I feel like a sick pup every time I look at my new house. I thought I'd save money by using cheap lumber but man-o-man what a headache it's turned out to be. The doors and windows jam . . . the floors squeak . . . cracks in the walls and other faults that cost me good money just to keep repaired."

The preliminary drawing provides for a big club room, suitable for community gatherings, dances, etc. with cloak rooms and smaller club rooms and storage quarters for chairs, tables, etc.

Members of the commissioners court expressed themselves as being in sympathy with the proposal and the court took the matter under advisement with a promise to make further investigation.

Property belonging to the school east of the high school building was also suggested and Mrs. Joe Oberkamp, president of the Ozona Woman's club, and head of the committee of women, has offered a site on land which she and Mr. Oberkamp own in the north part of town.

As usual, there'll be something going on from early morning to late at night, with the sheep show and sales occupying the mornings, the free barbecue at noon in the park, the rodeo and race meet program in the afternoon and possibly some more sales, and then at night dancing on the open-air platform at the grounds to the music of Joe Buzze and his orchestra, and the carnival attractions of the Valley Shows.

Of interest to fans of the western art of calf roping will be the daily featured matched roping contest between Jack Sellers of Del Rio and Roy Seawald of Brownwood. Each roper is to catch and tie five calves daily, for a final purse of $100 offered by the fair association.

Mrs. A. W. Clayton, Mrs. John B. Hemphill and small son, Warren, are staying on the Joe Clayton ranch while Mr. and Mrs. Clayton are in California seeing the fair.
