Give Thanks

Thanksgiving approaches again this year, and on this occasion the presence of war abroad makes more important than ever our American habit of pausing for a day and counting our blessings.

What, in 1939, are some of the things for which we ought to be thankful? Surely it is worthwhile to pause in whatever we are doing at the moment and list some of the reasons we are glad that we are Americans.

We should be thankful, most of all, for two precious heritages our forefathers gave us, heritages that it is worth everything in the world for us to preserve.

We should be thankful, in a world at war, that we are at peace with all nations, and that there exists in this country a public will to peace.

While other nations are at war, or remain precarious neutrals with armies poised on their borders, we in America look forward to a future growing before our eyes in the laboratories of industry, where new products and new services are being developed that will mean more jobs and payrolls.

But we must not merely be thankful. This opportunity is also an obligation. That obligation lies in our making every effort to use the advantages we have here to the utmost—not to be fainthearted, not to neglect the opportunities that exist here, not to abuse the freedom we are granted.

Thus Thanksgiving this year ought at once to be a day in which we count our blessings, and one on which we remember the responsibilities that are ours.

Financial Crazy Quilt

"You can't have your cake and it, too," is a homely expression of basic economic law, and it is as true today as it was at the beginning of time.

The only difference is that today we have unconsciously declared a moratorium on reality. How else can the present deficit system and a $40,000,000,000 peace time Federal debt be explained?

Again, we are riding an economic crest—according to business indexes—just as we were riding one in 1937. And again no effort has been made to tighten the governmental fiscal belt, such as was promised under the theory of spending in bad times, saving in good.

On the contrary, there is again talk of still greater public spending to "take up the slack" the instant there is indication of a cessation in the upward trend. If we do not have a "war boom" we apparently are to again try to make our own boom by the bootstrap method—the same bootstraps that are already flimsy from stretching.

How long can this crazy quilt of public spending be continued? No man can tell. America is a strong nation, but like a strong man who takes to dope to enjoy fantastic hallucinations, she will meet a nerve shattering end unless her people are willing to swallow the bitter pills of reality and demand a government that "earns" more than it "spends."

Expert Condemns Burning Of Leaves

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 8.—Every year thousands of dollars "go up in smoke" because leaves are burned. The following summer gardens and flower beds will "burn up" for lack of moisture.

Leaves are valuable because they form humus, and almost all Texas soils need humus, according to W. K. Thornton, Jr., agricultural chemist of the Texas A. and M. college extension service. Humus not only holds moisture, but it improves the physical condition of the soil.

Leaves may be raked into a pile wet down, and left to decay. The pile should be broad and flat-topped. It may take as long as a year for the leaves to decay properly.

To hurry the decaying process, and to make really valuable humus, add super-phosphate at the rate of one pound to 10 pounds of dry leaves or 20 pounds of wet leaves and also one-half pound of some nitrogen fertilizer.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By John Craddock

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—BUSINESS—Repeal last week by congress of the embargo to warring nations on munitions and arms will give, of course, tremendous impetus to the aviation industry. As many as 7,800 planes may be bought by France and England, a number amounting to nearly 50 per cent of all the planes ever built in this country. Allied purchases are expected to cover a wide range of other products, too, including motor trucks and motorcycles, machine tools, field ranges, explosives, surgical instruments, hospital supplies, searchlights, gas masks, pontoon equipment, water-purifying units, ambulances, tents, saddles, telephones and radio compasses. But not all businessmen must look for soaring prosperity, for the word from London is that the English will have to curtail purchase of many other things they are accustomed to importing from America, including passenger autos, tobacco, women's apparel, shoes, dried fruits, and Hollywood's movies. Undoubtedly the same goes for the French.

WASHINGTON.—Because England, France and Germany had been principal competitors of this country for sale of goods in Latin-America, forced withdrawal of the European nations from that market is expected to boom demand for U. S. products. At the same time, however, Latin-America has lost part of the market for its goods in Europe. Latin-Americans therefore can buy more of U. S. merchandise only if we take up the slack in their exports to Europe. As a first step in solving this problem, the department of commerce is advocating establishment of a "trading center" in New York City where importers and buyers may get a comprehensive view of all the products South America is in a position to supply.

COMPLETION.—The depression-born project of erecting a new amusement and office center in Manhattan was completed last week, as John D. Rockefeller, Jr., drove a silver rivet into the final building of the skyscraper-cluster bearing his name. Lasting civic values have been made literally out of thin air. The two city blocks covered by the 14 buildings, which cost $100,000,000, are owned by Columbia university. They formerly brought in $300,000 a year rent. Rental now is $3,300,000 annually. Assessed valuation of land and improvements is $96,000,000—contrasted with $32,000,000 ten years ago. The development contains the largest theater in the world, seating some 6,000. Time has played strange tricks with this property. First acquired by Columbia as its university site, rapid development of mid-Manhattan prompted building the college farther uptown. It was rented by the Rockefellers for a new opera house, but the depression put the quietus on that project. So a new and growing industry—radio—was chosen as the nucleus for an office and amusement project.

FLEXIBLE RENT.—While Rockefeller's project was making national headlines, another farsighted planner, Frederick Dreher, an architect in Ardmore, Pa., was making local fame for a real estate development equally brilliant in its own sphere of influence. The merchants of that town, a Philadelphia suburb, had been losing business to the big city stores, until Dreher got to work. He bought 20 acres of property along both sides of the main street. He tore down old structures, put up new stores with gleaming structural glass fronts, and incorporated new devices for convenient and efficient retail operation. By an ingenious use of glass and metal he had created in less than a year a shopping center of 44 units, which, because of its modern and business-like appearance, quickly restored the townspeople's confidence in their local merchants. To cap it all, Dreher's leases were based on a percentage of profits rather than a fixed rental, to protect his tenants during temporary business declines, and as a further protection he bought group insurance on his tenants. Ardmore is a thriving community now.

Prominent Baptist Leaders Appear On Convention Program

Seventy-five leading church and laymen will have prominent parts on the program of the Baptist general convention to convene in San Antonio Nov. 14-17. Outstanding among out-of-state visitors will be Chas. A. Wells of New York City—cartoonist writer and world traveler—who will speak to pastors and laymen at a preliminary meeting Nov. 13; Dr. Charles E. Maddry, executive secretary of the Baptist foreign mission board, Richmond, Va., will give a survey of mission work in many lands, making special statements concerning countries where Baptists are now suffering persecution; Dr. J. B. Lawrence, executive secretary of the Baptist home mission board with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., is expected to tell delegates of new accomplishments in work among negroes, Chinese, Mexicans and French in 17 southern states; Dr. George W. Truett, Dallas, internationally known church leader, will address the convention Thursday evening on "Baptists and Religious Liberty." A mammoth parade will announce to the Alamo city that Baptists by the thousands have arrived to attend the religious rally. Led by Dr. J. Howard Williams, Amarillo, president of the convention, the procession will include representatives from 3,156 churches, eight universities and colleges, five hospitals, two orphanages and 14 boards and agencies of the Baptist denomination in the State of Texas.

WINTER ISN'T AS DREARY SINCE WE GOT A TELEPHONE

Actually, it seems like a busy season! People call up to offer Jim or the boys a job somewhere. Betty keeps her 4-H Club girls going by telephone—and now and then the superintendent calls her for a substitute teaching job. I couldn't call it a dull winter—or lonely either, when I can talk to my friends any time on the telephone, no matter how bad the roads are!

IT PAYS TO HAVE A TELEPHONE—ESPECIALLY IN WINTER!

Want to Feel like a Big Shot?

WHAT we mean is, how'd you like to feel like you used to think a big shot must feel, cruising along in his big brawny Buick, envy of every youngster in town?

Fact is, a big brawny Buick — this year's beauty of a Buick — is within your reach right now.

A husky headlong 107-horsepowered giant valve-in-head straight-eight can be yours to command—you can roll around town in the staunch and steady carriage that's sure big, beautiful and a bearcat in action when its boss gives the word!

Yes, you can ride in the gentle lap of Foamtex-cushioned luxury—shift gears with a finger-flick, take bumps in BuicCoil Springing's "full float" comfort, even signal your turns by a touch on a lever.

And what do you pay for all this — budget-bursting prices?

Ix-nay! On the contrary, you can buy a Buick for less than some sixes! And you'll find when you look into what's included in these prices that they cover many an item that you will be asked to pay extra for elsewhere.

So lift your sights. This year, go after the car you really want—which means talking with your nearest Buick dealer—right now!

National Art Week Is Observed Here With Art Exhibit

"The level of civilization achieved by a nation in the past is judged more truly on the evidence of the works of art produced by its own artists than any other surviving records."

Applying the above quotation from the American Artists Professional League to present day America in the hope that when this age becomes history its achievements might be judged in a more favorable light, National Art Week was observed throughout the nation last week. In line with the national observance, the Ozona Woman's club sponsored an art exhibit in the high school building Tuesday.

Miss Elizabeth Fussell and Mrs. Stephen Perner were in charge of observance and exhibits, and about 270 visitors came during the day to see the 49 paintings by San Angelo artists. There were 25 small etchings painted by James Swan, one of Texas' most noted etchers.

Several business houses observed National Art Week by placing works of local artists in their windows.

I Can't Afford to Advertise, Business Isn't Good Enough . . .

Mr. Merchant:

You can't afford not to advertise. Probably you don't realize it, but if you did advertise consistently, business would be better. Oh, I know, your case is different. So was the case of John Wanamaker, Henry Ford, Marshal Field, Macy and hundreds of others—40 years ago. Look around you, Mr. Merchant. Who are the leaders in business and industry today? Name me one that isn't and hasn't been a consistent advertiser for years.

A few years ago several products were well known to thousands of Americans. Among them were Cream of Wheat, Force, Sapolio, Pears Soap, Sweet Caporal, Helmar, Egyptian Deities Cigarettes, Cole, Chalmers, Pope, Hartford, Mitchell Automobiles and many others. When did you last hear of any of them? Not for years. The reason is simple—someone was short-sighted to believe it was economical to curtail or stop advertising. The result—they soon dropped out of sight, lost business and today are either struggling along in comparative obscurity or have been forced out altogether by the more up-to-date concern that advertises and keeps on advertising.

Name me the biggest business today and you'll name the biggest advertisers—automobiles, cigarettes, radios, liquor manufacturers, bus lines, airways.

"Yes, but my business is different," you say. Oh Yeah!

things, smoking two and three packages a day. I've been doing this for years. And it's beginning to take its toll.

So last night I stopped. I didn't get off, like I'd been doing. I stopped.

So today, I'm pacing the floor, the whole house, the yard, the farm, giddy, stupid, longing for that soothing blessedness of a good smoke.

The Little Brother's here at home. He's just come in from South America. I want to hear the stories he's got to tell of the jungles, the monkeys, the pigmy men, the natives with hide-scar designs and patterns on their bellies and necks.

I listen to him. In a hazy, dreamy sort of way I get the drift of what he's saying. But I'm not interested. All I'm interested in is tobacco, burning, fragrant tobacco. Seems like I've got to have a smoke.

Mama's cooking up a good meal for me, backbone, sweet potatoes, cornbread. What more could a man want?

Well, that's easy to answer. Tobacco. Lots of tobacco!

I go out to stand and watch the man digging a hole out in front of the yard. A pole for an electric light wire goes in there. It's this rural electrification program, or something. I'm really not interested at all in that phase of the work. All I'm interested in is the man. Maybe he's got a smoke. I've thrown away my tobacco, you see.

I say: "You got a smoke?"

"Just finished rolling up the last of my tobacco a minute ago," he says. "Just threw the butt down in the hole, here."

I lean over and look into the hole. Sure enough, it's down there. And it's not very short, either. A man could smoke it.

One lick of his crowbar, and the butt's gone.

"Guess I'll be hard to get along with by quitting time," the holedigger says. "Can't get along much without my tobacco."

I leave, I'm already getting hard to get along with. I wanted to hit him for smashing that cigarette butt with the crowbar.

Still, I realize that I can't afford to smoke, because tobacco's killing me, and I'm afraid to die.

But I'm not nearly so afraid as I was early this morning. I didn't want a smoke so badly then.

Isn't it a disgrace for a man to let a habit make a slave of him! It's shameful. It's degrading. It's—I surely would love to degrade myself, just one more time.

Reckon how I'll come out, anyhow?

WHEN SHALL THE SENIOR PARTIES BE GIVEN?

"When shall the senior parties be given" is a question that I'm sure carries with it much delight.

It has been said that all the senior activities and parties should be "spread out" and not thrown in a stack, wherein one party crushes another.

Now I'm for senior parties and all those special activities, but why not enjoy them more by having them during the year?

Heretofore, the majority of the affairs have stacked up at the end of the school year, when everyone is really too busy to enjoy them. Having so many lessons, reviewing for tests, combined with a party each night, is just like alcohol and gasoline; they aren't what they used to be. And then, I'm quite sure that the hostess doesn't appreciate the students' attitude, when he appears so bored.

But, I ask you, is it the student's fault that he is worn out? No!

If these parties were given during the year, those effects would be changed. The students, as well as the hostess, would enjoy the party. It would be a treat for the seniors, instead of a "sleepy party."

There is only one necessity in such a plan—someone must start the ball rolling. Whoever that someone may be, whatever he may do, whenever he is seen, he will never regret having the first senior party! (My, what salesmanship.)

I believe that such a plan can't fail. It will create a greater joy for the hostess as well as for the senior!

SPEAKER'S STAND
SYMPHONIC RECORDS
EXHIBITS FOR MUSEUM

12-YEAR TRADITION

The seniors of 1939 voted to donate the funds of the senior class play, "The Charm School," to the school for the purchase of a speaker's stand for the auditorium. The stand, which is of solid oak, finished in medium color, carries conspicuously the words "Seniors—1939" on a bronze plaque. Such a practical gift as this adds much to the appearance of our school, as well as being useful.

In an effort to improve the library of good music in our school, a set of the symphonic records, made possible by the San Angelo Standard-Times, has been reserved. This set contains symphonies written by the world's greatest musicians. The first symphony will be received this week. Both high school and grade school students will use the records.

The school has received several free exhibits from manufacturing companies advertising their products. These exhibits are to be placed in the school museum, together with information explaining the process by which each is manufactured. Two exhibits that have arrived concern the making of a manila fibre rope and the making of a carborundum stone, commonly called a "whetrock."

"We will keep up the 12-year old tradition of having not been defeated by Sonora at home," stated Captain Jim Dudley at a pep rally Monday morning. It is important that the band, drum corps, pep squad and townspeople give the Ozona Lions all the cooperation that they need, Saturday, to keep that tradition.

Last Saturday, the Mason Cowpunchers defeated the Ozona Lions 18-0. The furious and effective blocking of the Cowpunchers kept the Lions on the defense all afternoon. Only twice did Ozona penetrate Mason's territory.

Home Ec. Area Meeting Held In San Angelo

Over 1200 Girls and Sponsors Attend Area Meeting

The Area meeting of the Home Economics club was held in San Angelo last Saturday with more than 1200 girls and sponsors from towns in Area Three in attendance. Those attending from Ozona were Tincy Kirby, Margaret Russell and Billy Jo West and their sponsor, Mrs. Rex Russell.

The program began at 10:30 with a style show, which was given through the courtesy of nine clothing stores of San Angelo.

"Bendemeer Stream" was chosen by the delegates as the area song for the year 1940.

At 11:45 the meeting was recessed until 1:30, at which time all the girls and sponsors returned to the municipal auditorium for the remainder of the program.

A talk on China, Chinese customs, and Chinese clothing was given by Miss Eleanor Pierle of Fort Stockton.

The officers were elected by the delegates for the coming year.

The meeting was declared adjourned by Lois Gibbons, the president, and all who attended were invited to attend the next area meeting in Sweetwater the last Saturday in September, 1940.

ARMISTICE PLAY GIVEN

The Ozona student body met in the Ozona high school auditorium today (Thursday), for the Armistice assembly program. Directed by Mr. Springer, the Sophomore class presented an Armistice play in keeping with the Armistice holidays.

Billy Hannah, Gem Ella Dudley, Mary Frances Bean, and Mary Faye Lucas were the characters. After a talk, "A Summary of the European Situation," was given by Stanley Lemmons, everyone sang "God Bless America," and an old war song, "There's a Long, Long Trail."

Pictures of Band Taken Following Chapel Program

The band presented the following numbers on the assembly program, Nov. 2:

"Raleigh March" by Richards.

"Greig" (a selection of melodies by Edward Greig).

"Three Bears" (a musical novelty, narrated by Billy Jo West).

"Penny Serenade" (novelty band arrangement).

"Our Director" (school song).

Immediately after the assembly program, the band, in full dress uniform and with instruments, gathered on the north side of the high school building, where several pictures were taken by Mr. Lovelace. The pictures were made of the band in "still" marching formation and while marching toward the camera.

Before the Ozona-Mason football game, the band made an outstanding appearance while marching through the "main drag" of town on the way to Powell Field. In the center of town the band made a spiral (at least it is called that), which was very effective and attractive; it then resumed the regular marching formation and played the rousing "Raleigh March." For a little variation, the drum major and twirlers kept time to the music by doing a modern "swing" step.

After a long and somewhat endless march, the band reached its destination, Powell Field, where it provided music during the game and at the half.

Mr. Heath, Mr. Nevins, Mary Bess Parker, Doris Bunker, Tom Ed Montgomery, Dorothy Hannah, Joe Couch, L. B. Cox, Betty Lou Coates, Richard Miller, Bland Tandy, Miles Pierce, and Eloise Carson had a "jazz session" at the band house Saturday morning. It was started by Miles, Mr. Heath and Mr. Nevins, who were playing for their own amusement. They asked everyone who came in to play with them, and as a result, a nice sized band swung out on many familiar pieces.

"A man's as old as he looks when he needs a shave; a woman is as old as she looks just after washing her face."

Assembly Presents "The Willow Plate"

In assembly program recently, Mrs. R. J. Adams, speech teacher, presented several of her advance pupils in the Chinese play, "The Willow Plate." The above characters (left to right) Rosalie Lemmons as Tahoo Tso, the spirit of Cheng Lo Fah's great, great, great grandmother; Arthur Byrd Phillips, Mung Sin Chee, the spirit of Mun Chu-Po's grandfather; Eloise Carson, Cheng Loy Fah, a beautiful girl; Mrs. Adams, Mung Chu-Po, a boy of 18; W. B. Robertson, the dragon, and lower center, Billie Jo West, invisible property man.

Odds and Ends

By NOMA MILLER

The Ozona chapter of the Future Homemakers club met at the home of Priscilla Jean Baker last Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Following the business meeting, Dorothy Hannah, the program chairman, presented these numbers: the club song, by the members of the club; a talk on hair dresses by Willie Louise Luther, and a piano solo by Ethyl Mayes. The meeting closed with a social hour.

Last Monday morning at 9 o'clock, a study hall meeting was called by Mr. C. S. Denham for the purpose of making the plans for the band and pep squad this Saturday. This being national education week, Mr. Denham told the student body of the American way of education.

Jean Drake, taking charge of the meeting, had the student body sing the school song. Talks concerning the Sonora-Ozona game were given by Bobby Lemmons, Elton Smith, Donald Wilson, Harold Keeton, Jim Dudley and Coach White. The meeting closed by the singing of the school song.

The Ozona high school library has a new addition to its shelves. Mr. Denham put a stereoscope and some pictures to go with it in the library last Thursday. There are nine sets of pictures which are as follows: Washington, D. C., Life in the New England states, Western and Northern Canada, the East Coast countries of South America, Our Mexican Neighbors, the Rhine Region, a World View, Mediterranean Lands, and Switzerland.

Judge: "Before sending you to the chair, isn't there a last request you want to make?"

Prisoner: "Yes, your Honor, I would like my wife to cook my last meal."

Judge: "Would that make it easier for you?"

Prisoner: "Of course. Then I would feel more like dying."

Dramatic Club Plans Underway

Mrs. R. J. Adams, who presented the play, "The Willow Plate," in assembly on October 26, the cast of which is shown above, plans to sponsor two other plays before the end of the school year.

Feeling that drama acts as an important part in a speech course, Mrs. Adams would like to organize a dramatic club. All of her pupils will be invited to join, as well as all other pupils who are interested in such work. Mrs. Adams feels that this will help her speech pupils in their work very much.

She will attempt to organize this club before the Christmas holidays.

During the early months of 1940, Mrs. Adams would like to present a Cavalcade of Ozona, which plans will depend upon the interest shown by the people of Ozona.

The junior speech students are now working on a play, "Three Pills in a Bottle," which will be presented in a studio recital next week.

TARDIES DISCUSSED

The Ozona high school met in the study hall on Nov. 2, to discuss briefly, a few matters. The most important matter discussed was that of tardies. The comparison was as follows:

The Ozona Mexican school, with 178 pupils enrolled, was booked with only 14 tardies. The Ozona elementary and junior high school were said to have had 14 tardies, with an enrollment of 186 pupils. The Ozona high school, with only 87 students enrolled, had 50 tardies.

The figures were presented to prove to the Ozona high school that they were being tardy more than necessary. Because of this successive number of tardies, it has been found necessary to extend detention time for this offense from 30 to 45 minutes. This should be a reminder to those who have been tardy so many times this year. Better to be an hour early than a second late.

Canine Styles Set By Small Fox Terrier

What the well-dressed canine will wear this season has been decided by Mrs. C. S. Denham, Miss Dorothy Spain, Miss Norine Allison and Miss Jo Demmer. About two weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Denham bought a toy fox terrier in Fort Worth. The dog being so small, Mr. Denham became concerned about its warmth during cold weather. The teachers decided to keep our honorable superintendent from worrying himself to death about Tom Thumb, the dog, and made the tiny animal a sweater. Maroon and tan are the colors used in this two-tone knit jacket, which has a zipper front.

Last Friday at a coffee in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Denham, the beautiful gift which was made to ease Mr. Denham's worry, was presented.

When the dog sweater was given to Superintendent Denham, he said, "Come here, Tooter, this is what you have been needing all this time."

Since Mr. Denham has not had much time to make a fancy kennel for Tom Thumb, he has made a temporary home for his pet and put a light in it to keep the house warm enough.

A rather elaborate harness completes the perfect costume for the well-dressed dog this year.

SOPHS HAVE BONFIRE

All of the members of the sophomore class and their sponsor, Coach White, attended a Halloween bonfire, given by their home-room mother, Mrs. Charles Williams last Monday.

The bonfire was held on the hill back of Mrs. Williams' home. Everyone came about 7:30 o'clock Halloween night and ate doughnuts and drank hot chocolate. Everyone sat around the fire and told a ghost story. Starting with Mrs. Williams, the story went around the circle, and each added a little, the story finally ending with Mrs. Williams, who finished it as being a dream. After the bonfire, everyone went in different bunches to do his Halloween stunts.

Mrs. Williams has planned many more parties for the sophomores in the future.

Pedantic Youngsters Seem Nonchalant Before Reporter

"Teaching kindergarten is a little out of my line, but it seems to be an ideal life," Mary Faye Lucas stated after her experience last week.

"Amusing the children with games of 'Farmer in the Dell,' 'Cat and Rat,' and telling a few fairy tales (that I made up), seemed to keep all the kiddies, and I do mean kiddies, holding tightly to their little chairs.

"After being exhausted from answering of so many questions, I took them outside to play on the swings and merry-go-round.

"Joe Brown kept all the children laughing with his shallow jokes and speeches.

"All the children seemed worried over their intelligence tests they were going to take, and finally little Claude Hill said he was very sick. I was going to take him home to his mother, but—he decided otherwise. Just an old school house prank, but it seems they are never too young to learn, and it nearly always works," Mary Faye concluded.

LIONS STILL HOPEFUL

This may sound "fishy," but it is a fact! The Ozona Lions are going to win their first and most important football game Saturday against Sonora Bronchos on Powell Field. If you don't believe it, come and see for yourself.

In order to boost this football game, stickers have been made. The headline of the stickers carries the word "Rodeo," and then "Ozona Lions to Ride the Sonora Bronchos." In smaller type the time, date and place are given. The stickers are to be put anywhere that they will advertise the game, preferably on cars.

A large sign has been made on the same idea, which will be placed above the side door of the high school building.

Come and help the Lions ride those Bronchos.

Orchids and Onions

By Kirby-West

Orchids to Ella for having such good cakes. (It's a good thing Miles doesn't like coconut cake, he ate two pieces not liking it.) Onions to everyone who threw mud last Tuesday.

Orchids to Woots for being able to hold his own in the picture show.

Onions to Bobby for letting all out of the tires of Joe's pickup.

Orchids to Priscilla for making up a new football song.

Onions to our coach for having a stolen jack-o-lantern lighted on his front porch steps. Ain't it disgraceful?

Orchids to Miles for being a second "Fred Astaire." It often causes lumbago, but don't give up hopes.

Onions to Howard for trying to get some senior girls to miss a good show and ride around.

Orchids to Bess and Jean for giving a few pointers on the latest in "Jitterbugging."

Onions to Jim and Donald, who would rather play "snooker" than dance.

Orchids to J. K. for looking so "elegant" last Friday afternoon.

Onions to Gem Ella and Mary Faye for being so self-conscious about their clothes. Methinks slacks look nice.

Orchids to Frances Bean for rating so many boys Sunday afternoon.

Onions to Bobby and Ella for being too lazy to help wash a car.

It was a nice night for walking home; they should know.

Orchids to Margaret for so courageously protecting her "gift" from Mary Perner.

Onions to all can-throwers. Halloween night everyone had to practically swim out of beer cans.

THE Prowler

By

Howard Lemmons

There certainly are a bunch of tight boys in high school. A certain senior gave a dance Saturday night and the host, Miles, was the only boy that was lugging a date.

Shorty, I think, enjoyed himself very much in Sonora Saturday night.

Billie Jo and Eloise must think they are too dignified to be seen with a couple of lower-classes. They had a chance Friday night to go with Shorty and Bootchie, but would not go.

Gladys, you're losing your grip. Joe Couch was seen with a certain Texas Tech student over the weekend. Remember, in typing, "Don't Let Go!"

Joe Couch, did you have the date with the freshman girl you were bragging about?

J. K. why did you return home so early, Saturday night? Wouldn't your girl friend break a date for you?

Roy, what is the matter? Someone said that you were riding by yourself all day Sunday?

Dorothy, I wonder why you did not accept a date with a certain "ex" Saturday night? The excuse you gave was a very poor one.

Lion Cubs Trim Eldorado Eaglets, 13-0

Whew! The starting whistle blew to signal Captain Montgomery to kick to the curved-bill Eaglets. With a mighty boot, Captain Montgomery sent the ball about 50 yards into the enemy territory.

An Eaglet was ready, however, and without batting an eye he tucked the ball into his jersey and was on his way. Within a very few moments the Lion Cubs had the Eaglet pushing up daisies with his nose.

After four downs of successful running plays, the ball went to the Lion Cubs from the Eaglets.

The first touchdown of the game was made in the second quarter by Montgomery. It was made by a signaled pass that turned out to be a faked running play. With a few side-steps, Montgomery crossed the goal line standing.

The extra point was not made. At the end of the half, the score was 6-0 in favor of the Cubs.

Meanwhile, the Eaglets were lying on the ground, between halves, with beady eyes scorching with vengeance against the Cubs.

The second half opened with the Cubs receiving the ball after the kick made by the Eaglets. The

What Next, Mrs. America?

The Southport (N. C.), Civic Club is prepared to ship collect one alligator — alive, perfectly sound and tough—to the first person who makes application. The 32-inch 'gator was presented to the club by Mrs. Frank Mollycheck, Southport woman angler, who caught it while fishing for large-mouth bass in a pond near Southport. Mrs. Mollycheck was using a light reel and rod. The alligator rose and struck like a fish. She reported: "It put up a terrible struggle. I thought it was a fish. If I'd known it was an alligator—ohhh dear!"

ball went straight to Captain Montgomery, sidestepping and twisting and his fighting partners, C. W. McDonough, J. H. Stevens and James Chapman, plowed their way to the Eaglet 45-yard line. (That's something for the Ozona Lions to try with Sonora.)

The second touchdown was made by a pass to Montgomery from G. W. McDonough after the latter had run about 35 yards for a first down. McDonough was tackled by a rooster Eaglet who had his feathers ruffled up as if he meant business, which he did. This time the extra point was made by the line-plunging, hard-tackling, two-fisted young buccaneer named J. H. Stevens. (He is said to have collided with an automobile going 60 miles an hour while he was running across the street. He had to pay a fine for tearing the car up when it hit him.)

The game ended with the score 13-0 in favor of the Cubs. The lineups are as follows:

Ozona: Dick McDonald and Earl Tillery, ends; Jimmy Read and Arthur Byrd Phillips, tackles; J. W. Terry and Jack Manning, guards; Chappo Morrison, center; Tom Ed Montgomery (C), quarter; James Chapman, fullback; J. H. Stevens and G. W. McDonough, halfbacks.

Eldorado Eaglets: George Finny and Hensel Matthews, ends; Marvin Homire and Harold Yates, tackles; Teddy Botton and Kenneth Royel, guards; W. A. Pointer, center; Bobby Boiller, quarter; W. T. Davidson, fullback; W. T. Edemstion and Paul Page, halfbacks.

Substitutes were Bernard Lemmons, that sensational tackling discovery, "Sparky" Sparkman and Pierce Reeves.

The Cubs' line made almost a sensational showing against the heavier Eaglets.

Surplus Money Of New Club To Benefit Needy

One of the most beneficial clubs to find its death in the Ozona high school vicinity has just been organized. At the first meeting, with naught present, the officers were elected by voting for the boner with the largest head. They are:

President, Jim Dudley; vice president, Gladys Willis; secretary Howard Lemmons; membership committee, Ethyl Mayes; treasurer, Shorty Colquitt; finance committee, Roy Henderson, Jr.; program committee, Jessie Hancock; social committee, Lloyd Coates.

The first work of the membership committee will be to encourage some of the members of the Ozona high school faculty and many of the students to join the club where they will be in the midst of other boners.

The finance committee will receive surplus money from the children's homes to help the unfortunately poor, such as Henry Ford.

The program committee will bring for us the famous speaker, Helen Mayes, and the orator, Gordon Rendall.

The highlight event of the social committee will be a Christmas party on Feb. 14, a Thanksgiving party on July 4, and a New Year's party on Oct. 31.

If you aren't interested in joining the Bonehead's Club, it doesn't matter, for we have enough boners as the Lion's Roar staff be-longing.

And with that we sign "30" and remind always to say, "Best Bet's Buick in Six delicious flavors."

Sincerely yours,
West & Pierce.

SOUTHERN WILDLIFE

1,000,000 Ducks Headed South!

The biggest crop of wild ducks in ten years will head southward from Canada this fall, according to an organized survey of the great Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta breeding grounds by Ducks Unlimited, Inc. A census of the duck population in the prairie provinces, which produce the bulk of our waterfowl, revealed an estimated 22 per cent increase over the number of ducks that flew southward last year.

Well... Maybe... It Could Happen, But...

Neighbors were astonished when George Stofflet calmly told them that a 12-inch bass dropped on his door step—fried and ready to eat.

George said he was standing in front of his house when suddenly a crane came flying overhead. The crane let go of the fish and kept right on going. Meanwhile, George said the fish hurtled through space, struck a high tension wire and then plopped down at his feet.

Said George: "That darn fish was fried by the electricity in the high tension wire. Yes sir, exclamation point."

Fox Chasing—In Reverse!

And now comes the report concerning a farmer who has his dog trained to run away from a fox and thus bring the animal around for the farmer to shoot!

It is claimed that foxes have a peculiar habit of chasing any other animal that runs away from them. The Oklahoma farmer has proven this to be a fact. His dog, baying in feigned alarm, brings a fox occasionally up close enough to the farmer's outlying barn so that he can shoot the "sly" animal!

Poison Proof

According to Sir Henry Johnston, the bat is practically immune to poison. A living specimen of the noctule, a British specimen, had a drop of prussic acid placed on its tongue and was some time dying. In the meantime, its parasites, with which all bats are much afflicted, dropped off . . . dead from the poisoned blood.

Methodist Women Observe Annual Week of Prayer

Daily Services Being Held; Offerings To Mission Projects

Daily worship and meditation programs are being held this week by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church in observance of the annual Week of Prayer.

The week's program opened with a vesper organ recital Monday evening by Mrs. Bryan McDonald at the church.

Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock "The Sacrament of Work" was the topic of a worship and meditation service directed by Mrs. Ele Hagelstein.

Wednesday the society held an all-day Retreat, a worship service. The morning topic was "The Ever Expanding Church," with Mrs. Floyd Henderson directing. The afternoon program, beginning at 1 o'clock, was devoted to the topic, "The Ever Widening Fellowship of the Church," Mrs. Paul Perner directed the afternoon service.

This afternoon (Thursday) at 4 o'clock, Mrs. Eugene Slater will direct the worship service on the topic, "He Needs Young Hearts." The week's observance will close Friday evening with another vesper organ recital to be given by Mrs. Alvin Harrell on the electric organ at the church. This recital will start at 7 o'clock.

During the series of services, an opportunity was given to those attending to contribute to the Week of Prayer fund, which is to be used this year for the Collegio Bennett in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, supported by the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. In the home field, the fund this year is being used toward the support of Amherst Dale, a settlement house in the coal mining district of West Virginia, and for Rankin Mission, a mission house in West Dallas.

No Grapes of Wrath Are These

European war failed to dampen the ardor of the 50,000 Italians who celebrated this year's bumper grape crop in Rome, the eternal city. This gay tableau on one of the floats depicts Bacchus undergoing temptation.

Norval Nichols, Geologist, Formerly Stationed Here, Writes Interesting Description Of Work In New Zealand

Copies of two very interesting letters from far away New Zealand, one of the far-flung British dominions now at war with Germany at the side of the mother country, were received recently in Ozona.

The letters, one dated August 18, and the other September 26, were written by Norval Nichols, geologist and oil drilling crew employee who was employed as a member of the drilling crew on the Humble deep test drilled on O. B. Trap Co. land south of Ozona this year. Nichols went to New Zealand as a geologist for the Superior Oil Co. of New Zealand, Ltd., and is engaged in exploring the islands for possible production.

The letters, written to his father, were sent by the latter to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Jones, with whom young Nichols roomed while living here.

"It is a beautiful country, but sadly behind along the lines of comfort," Nichols wrote his father in describing his trip from Auckland to Palmerston where he was first stationed. "There is very type of scenery—snow-covered mountains, green rolling country, beautiful seacoast—all within a few hours drive of each other.

"Heating goes back many years in this country—wood fires and hot water bottles in the bed being the extent of it in all private homes and in every hotel, except in Wellington, the capital. Considering that it has been pretty cold, I have gained a new respect for the old radiator. The food is generally good, although I have to make a definite effort to get green things to eat. What it all boils down to is that New Zealand is a young country. Horses still do all the farm work. Tractors are comparatively scarce. What was good enough for father is good enough for son. Furthermore, the country is laboring under a complete lack of diversification of industry. Sheep, meat and dairy products complete the list.

"There is quite an unemployment problem, because there isn't enough people, ie., there is no occasion to keep any shops open on double shifts or to step up production, because there are not enough people to cause the demand. The towns close up at 5:30 in the evening and stay closed. Gasoline costs about 50 cents per gallon, due to a 26 cents government tax. Strange to say, the island is covered with automobiles, big and small, which cost about three times as much as ours, particularly second hand. The government parallels our own very nearly. Soak the rich, extremely high taxes on everything, tremendous amounts spent on public works and government projects, which will never pay, a consequent fast rising national debt (at present about $600 per capita) strikes, all making it hard on private enterprise. Everyone agrees that something is going to pop soon, unless they can better the trade balance and borrow money from the States and England. For all this, the people are extremely nice, which counts a lot."

In the second letter, written late in September after the outbreak of war, Nichols gave a brief account of the reaction in the island to the war.

"There is very little news," he wrote. "War is on everyone's mind down here, and is all too prominently the topic of conversation most generally."

Nichols mentioned the near approach of Spring in his September letter. "Spring is just about here, although I doubt very much that I will ever suffer from the heat in N. Z. The flowers and trees are on their way, and before long the countryside will be even more beautiful than it is now."
