Your Income Tax (CLIP THIS DAILY)

No. 25
Depreciation Allowances
The amount of depreciation shown in preference to lives of property, if acquired after February 23, 1913. It is acquired by purchase prior to that date, the basis is the cost of the property, less depreciation sustained prior to March 1, 1913, or the value on March 1, 1913, whichever is greater.

The proper allowance for depreciation is that amount which should be set aside for the taxable year in accordance with a reasonably consistent plan (not necessarily a uniform rate), whereby the aggregate amount so set aside, plus the salvage value, will at the end of the useful life of the property equal the cost or other basis of the property.

The depreciation rate for buildings is not based upon the number of years it will stand before being condemned and razed, but on the number of years it will remain habitable or serviceable for the purposes for which constructed.

If the taxpayer builds a new building, the period over which depreciation may be allowed in addition to depreciation on the old building, if it is clearly shown that because of economic or other conditions, property must be abandoned at a date prior to the end of its normal useful life, so that depreciation deductions alone are insufficient to return the cost or other basis, a reasonable deduction for obsolescence may be allowed in addition to depreciation. No deduction for obsolescence is permitted because, in the opinion of the taxpayer, the property may become obsolete at some future date.

Automobile Deductions
With the exception of an automobile owners registering in millions, the question of deductions for the cost of operation and maintenance of a motor car frequently arises. The purchase price of an automobile, whether it is to be used for business or pleasure, cannot be deducted from gross income. If used for business, it is a capital expenditure. If used for pleasure, it is a personal expenditure—both deductions being expressly prohibited by the income tax law.

Several deductions, however, are allowable in connection with the cost of maintenance and operation of an automobile, used either for business or pleasure. If used exclusively for business, deductions may be taken for the cost of gasoline, oil, repairs, garage rent, and other necessary operation and upkeep expenses. If used for pleasure, on the cost of the car and its estimable useful life, also is deductible.

Other deductible items are as follows: Sums paid during the taxable year for registration fees, drivers' licenses, personal property tax, and municipal taxes; interest on money borrowed for the purchase of a motor car, either for business or pleasure; loss sustained by reason of damage while car is being used for business, provided such loss is not covered by insurance or otherwise; damages paid for injury to another, provided that the car was being used for business at the time, and the damage was not covered by insurance or otherwise; and the amount paid for insurance on motor vehicles used for business purposes.

'Big Shot' Gets Thrill On Visit Back Home

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 25. (AP)—Truman "Pinkie" Tomlin, who crashed the movies almost overnight with his song, "The Object of My Affection," didn't even have a dream girl in mind when he wrote it.

Perched unromantically on a restaurant stool eating eggs, the self-styled country boy said he never day-night he was steering clear of all objects-of-affection until he makes a married man.

"There's no place for a married man in this climb up business," said the youth who used to sing for his meals. "Girls who make or break a singer don't care about hearing a married man."

"When I write that song I was singing for my meals in University of Oklahoma eating places," he explained. "I got tired of eating warm-up food and leftovers."

"Pinkie" disclosed that the biggest "kick" he got of going back to Durant, Okla., his home town, was the setting of an early boyhood grievance against a druggist who once refused him a job.

He said he told the man that some day he would "take down this town" and the biggest car you ever saw and I'll stop right in front of your store and honk until your ears ache."

During last week he drove up to the store in his "mile long" car and honked until the proprietor brought out refreshments.

Tomlin, who landed a big contract in Hollywood, is on his way to Chicago.

Tomlin was through Midland last week and stopped for a short while to visit a former schoolmate, M. E. Kline, Scout for the Shell Petroleum Corporation in this area.

Boston Firm Buys 400,000 Lbs. Wool

SAN ANGELO, (AP)—Several accumulations of mohair have been sold recently at prices of 16 cents for the adult and 26 cents a pound for the kid hair.

The largest transaction was the sale of the entire accumulation of 1934 hair of the Wool Growers' Central Storage company of San Angelo at current prices to D. E. and Jack Hughes of a Boston firm. It consisted of 400,000 pounds and came from a large number of counties in this area. This is the first year this firm has handled Texas mohair in volume and it has taken about a million pounds by purchase and consignment. It is estimated that 7,000,000 pounds of mohair remain in Texas.

Tom Hickey bought a quantity of mohair from the Val Verde Wool and Mohair company of Del Rio at 16 and 26 cents, bringing his total purchases this year to approximately 900,000 pounds.

The incoming clip of mohair, shearing of which starts the latter part of this year, is not expected by growers to be more than 5,000,000 pounds.

Some returns on 1934 consigned wools have been coming into West Texas at prices ranging from 21 1/2 to 26 cents a pound, Boston prices.

He estimated the grease equivalent of wool in the United States today at no more than 400,000,000 pounds. He believes the actual carry-over is not above normal.

EACH FOR ALL—ALL FOR EACH (An Editorial from The Dallas News)

Texas, more than any other of its sister States, is in itself an e pluribus unum. It has great centers of important historical traditions and several geographic regions each sharply defined and different in kind.

Texas is really facing a sort of crisis in its development. Its citizens are becoming dimly conscious of the approaching abdication of King Cotton and of the possibilities of great industries built on the State's natural resources.

By 1936, it is assumed that the worst of the Nation's depression will be past, that capital will again be seeking new forms of investment, that once settled industries will be on the move, seeking more favorable locations.

Texas should manifest to the visitors of 1936 a glowing pride in the State's history, its achievements and its prospects. Each region, proud of its own resources, should also generously extol those of other parts of Texas.

The citizens of Texas also should stand unitedly each for all and all for each in kindly fellowship under the flag of the Lone Star, whether they are residents East or West, North, South or Central, or of the Golden Valley along the Rio Grande.

TRYING WRONG CURE

Delaware legislators are reported on the verge of passing a bill which would prohibit public attendance at the floggings of criminals.

The legislators say that the state has received favorable publicity lately because too much attention has been focused on the whippings which are provided by the state's criminal code.

Five youths recently were given from 10 to 20 lashes apiece in below-freezing weather, and the general reaction has been unfavorable.

The unfavorable reaction is easy to understand, but the remedy seems a trifle mixed. The theory back of a punishment like flogging is that it will have a deterrent effect.

It might be more sensible to abolish the floggings altogether than to try merely to abolish the publicity.

What fooled the captain of the Australian cruiser in the South Pacific was that he thought the call for help from the Seth Parker sounded too much like a radio news broadcast.

Mother Dionne, after a week in Chicago, wishes she were back home. So did many Chicagoans even before the week was over.

FEMININE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN ELLAND

Despite what the thermometer may say, we think spring is not far off. When we went into the Post Office one morning recently, we heard babbling chicks chirping loudly. When Midland county farmers start ordering chickens, they are looking forward to spring.

Huge flower bouquets of dimly colored geraniums may be purchased to match gloves with the same decoration. Odd but pretty.

There must be such a thing as woman's intuition. What else could make her upset her neatly-planned wardrobe and her monthly budget in one reckless gesture when she finds a dress that she feels is "her dress"?

One dress that we have cast an approving eye upon recently has been of narrow, not insertion set into the sleeves lengthwise.

They say that linen will be good for spring. That's another thing to be glad for. Linen has an air as well as good wearing qualities.

Hope Foreign Band Visit Texas in 1936

COLLEGE STATION, (AP)—Plans to invite the American Bandmasters association to hold its 1936 convention in Texas during the Texas Centennial were considered at a recent meeting in Abilene of the Texas Band Teachers association.

The idea contemplates bringing an outstanding foreign band to Texas for a special concert appearance. Texas A&M College Bandmaster Dunn, secretary of the Texas Band Teachers association, has announced. "If possible," said Dunn, "we hope to sponsor the appearance of an internationally known band in Texas during the Centennial. Our plans as yet are in the making but it is possible that the band might be presented in outdoor concert in some such place as Fair Park Stadium at Dallas. We also hope to present other big musical attractions during the Centennial possibly a fine symphony orchestra among them."

Where the convention of the American Bandmasters association would be held if it comes to Texas is to be determined. Dunn said if the association accepts the Texas invitation it would mean the attendance of numerous outstanding bandmasters of North and South America.

Among members of the association are Edwin Franko Goldman, Herbert Clarke, Frank Simon, A. A. Harding, Capt. Chas O'Neil of Canada, Major Ramon Hernandez of Mexico, Arthur Pryor and others. The four members of the association in Texas include: Dunn, Everett McCracken of Baylor University, N. J. Whitehurst of Sam Houston State Teachers College and R. A. Dhosche of Beaumont.

ONLY CHILDREN ON A U.S. STAMP

CHILDREN who like to have their pictures taken may envy the two pictured on the Arbor Day stamp issued April 22, 1932, on the 100th anniversary of the birth of Julius Sterling Morton, founder of Arbor Day.

These children, Alvin W. Hall, Jr., and his sister Ruth, whose father is director of the U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing, are the only youngsters ever to have their pictures on a United States stamp. They are shown planting a tree in their back yard in Washington, D. C.

Nebraska City, Neb., had the honor of selling the first of these Arbor Day stamps.

HUNGARY'S ROGUES' GALLERY

BELA KUN

HUNGARY'S short-lived Soviet Republic, established shortly after the World War by Bela Kun, has left a weird memento of its existence in a set of five postage stamps. Issued in 1919, the stamps represent five revolutionary leaders of Europe—Karl Marx, Friedrich Engels, Gorgy Dozza, Alexander Petofo, and Martynovics.

The dread sketches on these stamps have led collectors to dub the issue "Hungary's Rogues' Gallery."

Bela Kun's power lasted only 143 days. It was known as "Matsyar Tanaeskozarsasag," or the Hungarian Soviet Republic.

Jackie Cooper Star in Film at Ritz Theatre

The Fox Film production "Peck's Bad Boy" starring Jackie Cooper is showing for the last time today at the Ritz Theatre.

This story is delightful in its simplicity and humor. Edward F. Clive, the director, is evidently at home with children, particularly with boys. From Bill's small-town "gang" he derives all the values possible while from Jackie Cooper, the sturdy, blonde star of the cast, he extracts the finest performance of that young actor's career.

Jackie Seari, in another important role, gives a notable performance as a youngster "who takes after his mother." The mother is Dorothy Peterson and she is seen for the first time as a "heavy." She accomplishes the feat with sly, insinuating grace.

A separate paragraph should be devoted to Thomas Meighan, who has the most important of the "grown-up" roles—that of Jackie's father. This actor's art matures and mellows with the years.

O. P. Heggie, as a "beloved vagabond," village style, plays with his customary gusto. The story has not a single lagging moment. It furnishes an unbroken sequence of pathos, charm and humor.

MIDLAND, Ont. (U.P.)—Arriving at his barber shop Dick Lethbridge found a cat outside his door. He discovered the animal was frozen solidly in the snow. After a little attention the cat appeared to suffer no ill effects.
