Roosevelt Sets Deficit At More Than Billion For Yr.

NEW RELIEF COSTS GO UNESTIMATED IN THE STATEMENT

National Debt Will Reach New High This Year
NO TAXES ASKED
Balanced Budget Is Not Mentioned In Speech

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (P)—President Roosevelt today forecast to congress an estimated treasury deficit for the next fiscal year of more than $1,000,000,000 (billion) not counting the unestimated new relief costs. Unprecedentedly, he withheld a complete estimate of how much the government would spend. For the present he listed $6,752,606,370 (billions), but said that later requests for work relief money would be forthcoming. He gave notice that next year's deficit and public debt would amount accordingly.

The president foresaw a debt at the end of the fiscal year of over $31,000,000,000 (billions), which would be a new all-time high. He said that to run the regular activities of the government he will need over $5,000,000,000. No hints were given of an immediately balanced budget. Political leaders withheld comment pending a study of the message.

Roosevelt did not ask new taxes, but said that if processing taxes were invalidated, or if congress votes expenditures outside the budget estimated, additional taxes would be necessary.

He moved that public works, CCC and agricultural benefit payments be moved from "emergency" to regular federal activities, and said that "success" justified the change. He defended the New Deal financial policy, saying that figures prove it is succeeding.

McCORMICK IS NEW DEPUTY ASSESSOR

Ask Property Owners Make Renditions With Him At Court House

Geo. D. McCormick, former hardware dealer here, began today the duties of deputy tax assessor in the office of A. C. Francis, sheriff, collector and assessor.

McCormick's office is adjacent to that of Mr. Haynes, deputy collector, and the request was made by Francis and McCormick that property owners make renditions when they come to the court house to pay taxes, thereby saving time and expense for the county and the taxpayers.

It was pointed out that prompt renditions, as well as prompt payment of taxes, has played a part in making possible the recent reductions in county taxes.

McCormick, since leaving his post as manager of the Midland Hardware Co. two years ago, has been operating his citrus farm in the Rio Grande valley, near McAllen.

SANDERFORD IN GOVERNOR RACE

Temple Senator Announces Retail Sales Tax In Platform

AUSTIN, Dec. 6. (P)—State Senator Roy Sanderford, business man of Belton, Saturday announced his candidacy for governor on a platform favoring a substantial reduction of governmental expense and a retail sales tax.

I am a native of Bell County Texas and am in my 41st year. I have had fair educational advantages in the common schools, Wedemeyer's Academy, from which I graduated in 1914, and was for two years a student in Baylor University of Waco. I taught a rural school for one year. In the fall of 1917, I voluntarily enlisted for flying duty in the United States Air Corps in which capacity I served for 21 months.

I am married and have three children all within the school age. I have been a member of the Baptist Church for over twenty years. I served for two terms as tax collector of Bell County and have been engaged in business continuously since 1928. I am not a lawyer. I was elected to the State Senate from the 21st District over two worthy opponents in the first primary in July 1932.

When I am elected I shall respect the constitutional rights of the people to have a Governor who will stay on the job, cooperate with the Legislature and will neither squander the people's time nor abuse the opportunity for service by continuing to engage in a social and political and assurable affairs. I will not use the powers of the office to place my relatives on Government payrolls.

First: A substantial reduction in government expenses and where conditions will justify, I shall, if necessary, use the veto to prevent appropriations twenty-five per cent.

Second: A three percent retail sales tax for the purpose of paying the Old Age Pension and taking the place of the present real estate taxes for general revenue, schools and Confederate Pension.

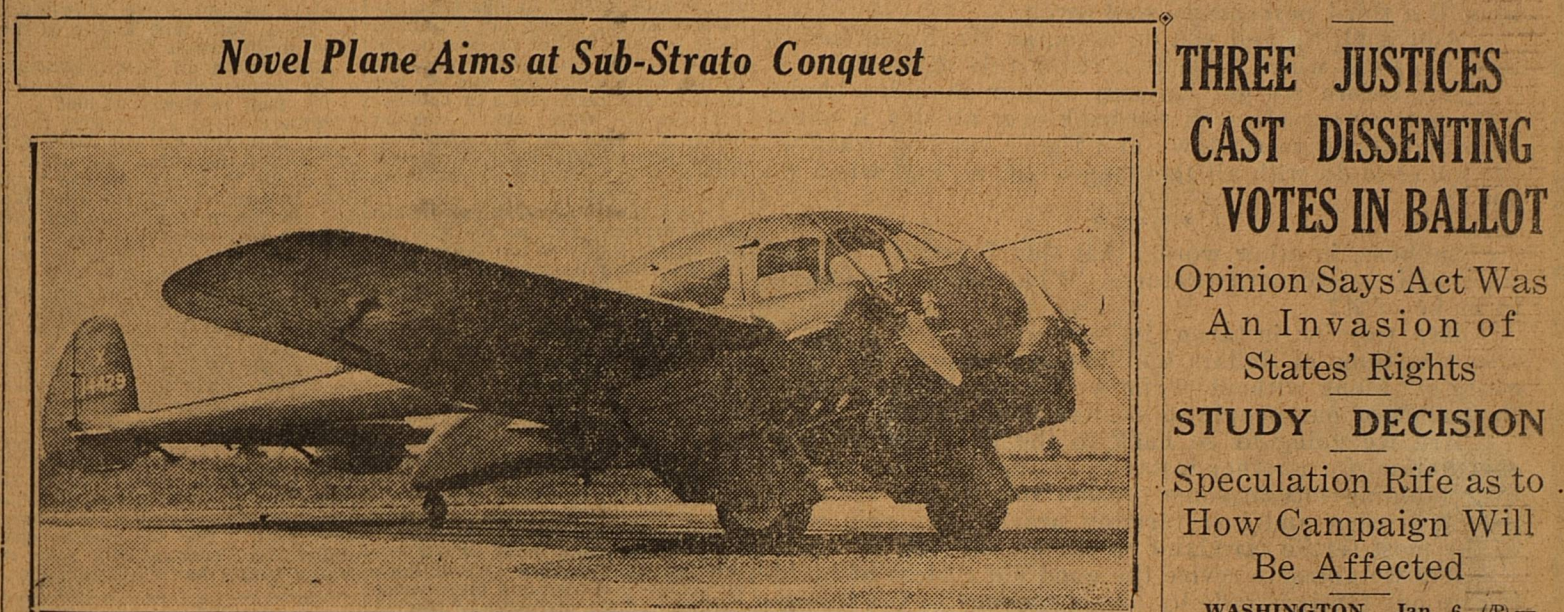

Third: I am opposed to any state debt as the Federal Government has already preempted the income tax field. It would be a wise state policy to prohibit enactment of such a tax by consistent refusal to grant approval to any bond issue.

Fourth: I favor a graduated land tax for county purposes beginning with small valuations. This will increase the value of land and discourage the holding of large tracts of land for speculative purposes.

Fifth: I favor a reasonable chain store tax providing that every body alike and does not exempt any special class of business.

Sixth: To promote employment, I favor a constitutional amendment exempting from taxation all textile, leather, paper and woolen mills, and other similar factories for a period of twenty years that have 50 or more employees.

SUPREME COURT RULES THE ENTIRE AAA PROGRAM UNCONSTITUTIONAL BY VOTE OF 6 TO 3 IN LONG-AWAITED DECISION

Novel Plane Aims at Sub-Strato Conquest

A new candidate for air conquest honors, a plane of novel design with which its builders hope to attain high speed and safety in sub-stratosphere flying, is today shown above in Miami, Fla., ready for its trans-continental test hop. The craft has no fuselage, but has two outrigger cylinders extending from each of its two motors to the rear rudder rack. Its designer, Thomas M. Sheltou, declares it capable of perfect flying with only one motor running, an important safety factor. The plane, as it stands, is not equipped for sub-stratosphere flying, but its builders say only a few minor alterations are necessary.

U. S. Spends 600 Million To Aid Veterans in 1935

Hines, in Annual Report, Attributes Bonus Demands to Unemployment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (P)—Veterans Administrator Frank T. Hines today attributed increasing demands for immediate payment of the soldier bonus to widespread and continued unemployment of service men during the past several years.

Hines' statement was made in his annual report on affairs of the veterans administration, covering the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935.

"The unemployment of ex-service men in such large numbers throughout the country," said Hines, "has been experienced during the past several years, has resulted in increased demands for hospitalization, domiciliary care and monetary benefits."

Cost of the veterans administration during the last fiscal year was $618,522,341.50. Hines reported $328,701 adjusted service certificates in force with a maturity value of $3,478,187,436 and a present loan value of about $1,750,000,000.

Veterans now have taken up virtually all the cash value of increasing certificates. Hines reported 2,904,525 certificates pledged for loans and interest aggregating $1,679,669,983.97. In addition, he estimated banks had loaned $60,000,000 on certificates.

Deaths Above 2 Million

Hines said that a total of 3,732,435 certificates had been issued with a maturity value of $3,680,943,293. However, 2,031,784 certificates have matured because of death with payment of $202,755,837 to beneficiaries.

On June 30 the administration was paying compensation for service-connected disabilities to 336,670 veterans, an increase of 4,660 for the year. Payments on this account totaled $171,877,328, an increase of $32,431,505 for the year.

Meantime, Hines said, the number of totally disabled, non-service-connected veterans is rapidly increasing. He is expected with the advancing age of veterans and the hazards of disease and injury in civilian life. The June 30 total was set at 33,604, compared with 31,183 last year.

Hines reported extensive developments in the administration's medical service, especially in the field of cancer and arthritis treatment.

New Cancer Clinics Formed

"The question of the diagnosis and treatment of cancer is a very important one," he said, "at this time inasmuch as the number of veterans with cancer is increasing rapidly—so much so that five auxiliary cancer clinics have been established at strategic points throughout the country to take care of the increased cancer load."

"The question of the diagnosis of arthritis and the best type of treatment for this disease is receiving attention. This disease, which is increasing in incidence in the ex-service population, is characterized by a great deal of disablement and economic loss."

THREE JUSTICES CAST DISSENTING VOTES IN BALLOT

Opinion Says Act Was An Invasion of States' Rights

STUDY DECISION

Speculation Rife as to How Campaign Will Be Affected

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (P)—The supreme court today ruled that the entire AAA program was unconstitutional in a sweeping six-to-three decision. Justices Stone, Brandies and Cordozo dissenting.

In the opinion of the court, read by Justice Roberts, the original adjustment act was declared an "invasion of the states' rights," and beyond federal power under the "general welfare clause."

Speculation on how the presidential campaign would be affected started instantly when news of the decision reached the capital. Legislators turned from an examination of the budget to mull over the possibilities created by the ruling. It was indicated that no comment would be given immediately by the administration.

Roberts said that the farm plan was "not in essence voluntary. It had no compulsory purpose, but if the act called for only a voluntary plan it would be better. He said that the AAA amendments made no difference as congress could not ratify something it did not have the power to do originally."

He said that "congress might redistribute the whole industrial population if this act were upheld."

Petroleum Reserve Is Headed by Texas

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 6. (Sp.)—Texas has 5,500,000,000 barrels of proven underground reserves out of a total of 12,177,000,000 in the entire country.

Texas is first in petroleum reserves in the United States, California second, and Oklahoma third.

The relation of this supply to other fields of the nation will be shown on a huge map and geological display at the ninth International Petroleum Exposition here next May 16 to 23, says an announcement by W. A. Schluter, head of the exposition's scientific and technical committee.

Estimated reserves were made by the American Petroleum Institute committee on production and supply.

The reserves by sections are: California, 3,500,000,000 barrels; Rocky Mountain states, 322,000,000 barrels; Central and Southern states, 7,900,000,000 barrels; Eastern states, 455,000,000 barrels.

Schluter reports that the exhibits at the ninth International Petroleum exposition will exceed $100,000,000 in value and will represent the latest improvements in equipment and method as displayed by approximately 800 different firms.

Walsh & Harry Adams Corp. No. 1 Avertit in section 228, block G, W. T. R. R. survey. Pipe is being run into the well after sidetracking tools lost at 3132.

Production from the Simpson, middle Ordovician, in Gulf No. 1 Water, Tubb area, deep discovery, is holding its own by performing on swab. Early yesterday morning with top of fluid at 3575 swab was run for 3 1/2 hours, during which time fluid was lowered to 5825 feet with yield of 57 barrels of oil. The well is cleaning out today at 6125 feet. Located in section 4, block B-27, the Tubb area of Crane county, the No. 1 Waddell is plugged back to 6317 feet in the Simpson, after originally drilling into the Ellenberger at 6450 where black sulphur water was encountered.

A 1000-gallon acid treatment failed to increase production in the Water No. 2 Howard, Fisher county well, so tubing is being pulled and preparations being made to drill again. The well had been making about 2 1/2 barrels of oil per hour. First pay was picked up at 3645 and total depth is 3651 feet. Location is in the northwest part of the county in section 180, block 2, H. & T. C. survey.

HOW WOULD WE REACT TO PROSPERITY, NOW?

Daniel C. Roper, Uncle Sam's secretary of commerce, spread himself as the old year died and announced that we are all gradually getting richer.

Mr. Roper had the figures to prove it, too. Factory employment has gone up by such and such a percentage, factory payrolls by some other percentage, retail sales by still a third percentage, and so on.

Add it all up and you do seem, as Mr. Roper insists, to get a total which reflects a rising tide of wealth.

But before we get calluses on our shoulder blades from patting ourselves on the back over all this, it might be sound for us to sit down and figure out just what we are going to do with all this money—if, as, and when we get it.

Suppose, in other words, that that feverish condition we recall as prosperity returns. What use are we going to make of it?

Are we, for instance, in our great cities, going to spend millions of dollars building skyscrapers we really could get along without, while we permit thousands upon thousands of our people to swelter in slums?

Are we going to go back to the old fever of land speculation, for another instance, so that we go squirrelly over building lots in some seaside subdivision while we permit erosion and bad farming practices to ruin some of the most fertile farmland on the globe?

Are we going to revive the good old custom of building up our foreign trade by loaning money to the foreign customers, always increasing the loans just a little bit faster than the trade increases, so that in the end both they and we go broke?

Are we going to get our feet all tangled up once more in the kind of high-pressure installment selling by which an honest white collar man is induced to mortgage his income for two years ahead to buy things he could really get along without?

Are we going to go speculation-crazy again, so that we ask of any industrial concern, not what it produces or what its balance sheet looks like or how its dividends are running, but what the current quotation may be on its common stock, and who has been buying it lately, please?

Questions like these grow tiresome, of course; and, anyway, since we sometimes seem to learn very slowly, it is probable that the answer to all of them is "Yes—to a certain extent, anyhow."

But we might as well ask them, and think about them, just the same. For we did all those things the last time we had prosperity—and look what happened to us. Do we want it to happen again?

FROM PETTY GRIEVANCE

Two men were next-door neighbors in a comfortable Ohio residential suburb. One man's driveway encroached on the other man's lot a matter of two or three inches. They argued about it, and their ill-will didn't die; instead, it kept increasing, as the years passed, built up by an endless series of little, unimportant squabbles, retaliations, and grievances.

Finally it burst into flame and brought on open combat. Result: one of the men is dead, with two bullets in his body, and the other one is in jail on a homicide charge.

Could there be a more tragic argument about the virtues of being a good neighbor? Here were two men—ordinary, useful, respected citizens, both of them—letting an utterly insignificant little dispute color their lives, embitter them, and finally lead them to a break that ended one life and wrecked another. And all for nothing at all.

For the embattled legal "and/or," the timid wife, about Christmas time, can find a use, as in "I'd like a fur coat and/or a roadster."

A cable from the front says that Italians have lost more men in motor accidents than in combat. All Ethiopia has to do now is to lighten the traffic laws.

Society and Clubs

FEMININE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Since we have to have winter, we are no end grateful for sunny sunny days like yesterday that are not too cold to be pleasant and for various bright mornings like several we have had recently. With a sprinkling of such days, we can survive the winter months.

Some one once wrote us that: "He who sees a new star in the Heavens is no more fortunate than he who finds a new deep-hearted friend."

Besides the beauty of the expression, we are inclined to believe it deals with sound philosophy. Friendship is one of the finest blessings bestowed upon the human race.

When we speak of friends and friendship we do not mean those casual but shallow likings that exist because two people can help each other in the social or business world or the equally shallow but pleasant likings between people who do not know each other's ideals or beliefs.

Sometimes, too, real friendship exists between two people who do not regard life from the same angle but who have learned the sincerity of each other's beliefs and respect that sincerity.

That man or woman is fortunate who possesses either of these two types of friendship.

While we are on the subject of friendship, we'll add that we think the average community would be much better off if there were more intimate gatherings of friends. Not noisy parties where only superficialities of thought and speech are permitted, but quiet groups where leisurely conversation leads to the expression (and to the formulation) of beliefs and theories and creeds that can be the mainstay of the individual's strength and poise in the hurly-burly of modern life.

A more or less discerning acquaintance once made a statement implying that we were a reformer. To our indignant denial that we were not such a person, he retorted, "No, but you'd like to be," which didn't soothe our ruffled feelings altogether.

Reading over the above paragraphs, we feel that there might be an indication of such a tendency. If so, we'll merely explain that that is the way we happened to feel like writing this morning, when the time came that we must write.

Pork Tastes Best If Cooked Slowly; Should Be Accompanied by Milk Dishes

By MARY E. DAGUE NEA Service Staff Writer

The loin pork chop is the choicest, containing, as it does, the tenderloin on the underside of the bone. Not only is it juicy, tender and of excellent flavor, but there's less waste in bone and fat than in other pork chop cuts. For these reasons, loin chops usually are somewhat higher in price than the rib and shoulder chops.

Next in desirability is the rib chop, juicy and of good flavor, but minus the tenderloin on one side of the bone.

Then comes the shoulder chop, which is larger but of darker-colored meat and with more bone. The rib and loin chop can be cut single or double. Double chops are especially nice for stuffing and baking. On account of the thickness of the meat, they take longer to cook than single chops.

Always cook all pork products at a low temperature. Panned chops are cooked in the frying pan on top of the stove. Trim off enough fat from the edges of the chops to lightly oil the frying pan. In other words, rub the bit of fat over the surface of the pan until it looks very shiny but there is no surplus of fat. Add chops and sear lightly first on one side and then on the other. Sprinkle salt and pepper on both sides after searing, allowing about 1/4 teaspoon salt for each chop—1/8 teaspoon to a side. Now cover the spider, reduce heat and cook slowly until done, about twenty minutes for single chops and thirty minutes for double ones.

When a meal is built around pork chops, it's a good idea to include one vegetable in a cream sauce unless there's chile gravy. Creamed celery is a good vegetable to serve with pork. Use the coarse outer stalks for cooking and save the tender hearts for relish next day.

Museum Links Gas Bombs to Chinese

CHICAGO, (U.P.)—Gas bombs are a comparatively recent invention to most people, but to Chinese they date back almost to invention of gunpowder, the Field Museum of Natural History reveals.

On exhibit at the museum are several "thunder stones," or "stink pots" as they were named by the Chinese, which were used in besieging cities, especially by the pirates who infested China's numerous rivers.

These bombs were jars filled with gunpowder, sulphur, shot and nails. The jars were encased in a bag to which was attached several ignited incense sticks. When the bombs were thrown they were smashed on landing, whereupon the incense sticks ignited the powder and sulphur, which exploded, wounding victims with the nails and shot while the fumes from the burning sulphur blinded and suffocated them.

Physically Below Normal No Reason Why Students Should Miss College

By NORRIS G. DAVIS

AUSTIN.—Should a boy or girl who is physically below normal refrain from going to college?

The University of Texas says no. Part of the job of every university and college is to look after the physical well-being of its students as well as their mental development. At the University of Texas every student is given a physical examination and exercises prescribed for him. Most men students are sent for two years into regular physical training classes; but there are always some who have ailments that are peculiar to them.

Stop in Gregory gymnasium some day and watch the boys. One is playing with marbles, but he is using his feet instead of his hands. With the marbles between his toes he walks about for a time. He drops them. He struggles to get them between his feet. Here the student walks some more. Beside him on the wall a chart states that this is an exercise for flat feet.

This is a part of the boys' class in corrective physical training in the university, the only class of its kind in the Southwest. Here boys who have some physical defect which makes it impossible for them to take part in the regular physical training classes are cared for. The class at present has 61 members. In an inner room there are nine cots arranged around the walls. Cots in a physical training class! Yes, for corrective physical training includes a course in rest. Here the students who are recovering from serious illness or operations spend their thirty minutes stretching on a cot. Weary and discouraged from his struggle in the classes, the student retires here to a clean, white cot and does nothing but rest.

Classes meet three times each week. Standing in the door to his office, S. N. Eckdahl, instructor, watches the correctives come in. With a sympathetic but stern glance he watches them dash here and there at the beginning of the period. Some climb a rope, and over hand. Some play basketball. Until the bell rings they amuse themselves with the bell sounds. Eckdahl's voice rings out. "All right, boys, get started on your regular programs."

The physical training workers in the University of Texas know what they are doing. They are fully capable of caring for any students who for one reason or another are not completely able to care for themselves. Mr. Eckdahl has spent his life specializing in the teaching of corrective work. He used it in rehabilitation work for the government after the war. The University also has a class to train students who plan to teach corrective physical training.

1 of Every 150 Dies From Tuberculosis

EL PASO. — If I were to tell the 1450 students who assemble in the auditorium of the El Paso high school, I am sorry but 10 of you will be dead of tuberculosis before you reach the age of 25, and as statistics now stand there is no possible way of escape for you, there would be a shocked, unbelieving, fearful silence on the part of the students; and mothers and fathers when they heard of it would raise a howl that would reverberate through the city.

Rural Schools

Among new students in attendance at the Prairie Lea school are: Jack Taylor, Billy Jean Taylor, Gracie Taylor, Beatrice Taylor, Wandia Lou Wren, and Juanita Wren.

Among old students who have re-entered are: Lloyd Nichols, Charles Nichols, Ellen Patterson, Leona Casbeer, Billie Patterson, Inez Danley, and Virgil Casbeer.

The assistant agent wants the boys to feed calves for a period of 300 days for showing in the Midland Fair and in the Texas Centennial show at Dallas next fall.

Mrs. Barney Hightower taught her class in music last week on Monday and Thursday afternoons. Chapel was conducted by Prin. A. M. Bryant Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings. Programs were composed of songs, prayer, and readings.

As a result of a contest among the various groups of the BYPU of Greenwood Baptist church during the last three months, the senior union entertained the primary, intermediate, junior, and adult unions in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Mills Friday night.

A large crowd was in attendance. Games furnished recreation for the evening at the close of which roast weiners, marshmallows, and coffee were served to the guests.

In conclusion, A. M. Bryant, general director, made a short talk on "Working Together" and offered resolutions of appreciation for the hospitality of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mills. The resolutions were unanimously adopted. The group was dismissed with prayer led by J. M. King.

Present from the primary and junior unions were Bettie Joe Stewart, Mary Lou Smith, Bettie Jean Graham, Clayde Graham, Ann Beth Graham, Ray Claunch, William Smith, Jola Livingston, Morgan Stewart, and Jackie D. Tisdale; from the intermediate union, Charles Mills, Wayne Stewart, Harrison Stewart, Ruby Blansett, Gerald Livingston, and Morris Bryant; from the senior union, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Mills, Billie Hinman, Lola Livingston, Ernest Kennedy, Sarah Ann Stewart, Mildred Mills, J. School re-opened at Pleasant Valley, Dec. 30, with good attendance, Miss Tommie Smith, principal, said.
