Your Income Tax (CLIP THIS DAILY)

No. 28
Deduction for Traveling Expenses
To obtain a deduction for traveling expenses, which form an important item in the returns of many taxpayers, certain regulations must be observed. The taxpayer is required to attach to his return a statement showing the nature of business in which engaged, number of days away from home during the taxable year on account of business, total amount of expense incidental to meals and lodging, and total amount of "other expenses" incidental to travel and claimed as a deduction. Among the "other expenses" are tips, provided they are reasonable in amount.
Traveling expenses are deductible only when the trip is on business. They are limited to such expenses as are reasonable and necessary in the conduct of the business and directly attributable to it.
Traveling expenses incurred in connection with a journey to another city to accept or seek employment are not deductible. Suburbanites who commute daily from their places of business are not permitted to deduct the cost of transportation, it being a personal expense.
Claims for deduction for traveling expenses must be substantiated, when required by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, showing in detail the amount and nature of the expenses incurred.

PRODUCTION GOES UP

Underneath all the much-discussed subdivision of the recovery program, there seems to be a slow but definite tide which is moving toward prosperity.

Thus the U. S. Chamber of Commerce reports that industrial production at the end of 1934 was 25 per cent above the low point of 1932, and that 1,300,000 more wage earners were on the payrolls of manufacturing plants than was the case two years ago.

The normal seasonal recession to be expected in January did not appear, coal was moving by rail at a greater volume than in any January since 1931, and the use of electric power was steadily climbing.

Whether our recovery is coming because of or in spite of the administration's efforts may still be a moot point. The important fact is that it does, definitely, seem to be under way.

Scientists have uncovered what is believed to be the oldest city in the world. Some of our own cities may not be as old, but they can appear just as dead.

Dr. Townsend says one of the first things beneficiaries of his relief plan would do would be to buy cars. But the very first thing would be to buy a square meal.

With the Hauptmann jury in vaudeville, people will begin to wonder whether Hauptmann really is guilty.

THEY'RE SAFE - IN AN ALL-STEEL BODY

-a feature of the big, rugged New-Value Dodge

THE first Dodge car ever built had an all-steel body. It wasn't chance... it wasn't "climbing on a hand-wagon" that led Dodge to the safety of the all-steel body. It was progressive engineering, the urge to pioneer, to lead and not follow in vital, important automobile improvements.

These Dodge bodies have been tested and proved by owners for over 20 years, everywhere, in constant daily use. Dodge not only pioneered the all-steel body but has constantly perfected it over the years.

So, too, with hydraulic brakes. First introduced by Dodge many years ago, Dodge has constantly developed them. Today, Dodge gives you hydraulic brakes that are long past the experimental stage. For in Dodge you get perfected, dual-cylinder hydraulic brakes—safer, more dependable, more economical than other types.

Now Dodge pioneers again the "Air-Glide Ride", in which you speed smoothly along with new comfort, skimming over bumps without a tremor or jar, taking the curves safely, without sideway. Another new contribution to motoring ease is "Synchromatic Control", which makes driving unbelievably easy and effortless.

You'll recognize this Dodge as a prize beauty the minute you see it. But you must drive it to see how far ahead of others it is in power and speed, comfort and economy, safety and performance.

FEMININE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN EILAND

For the hostess who wishes to hear herself called perfect by appreciative feminine guests, there are the transparent packages containing a supply of cleaning tissues and a selection of circular pads to be used for applying powder and then destroyed. Inclusion of one of these packages in the guest room furnishings is indication of gracious thoughtfulness on the part of the home owner. The packets are also a boon to the traveler.

It's queer how closely related the mental and physical are in the average human's makeup. After a hectic two or three hours trying to make the deadline with a sufficient quota of stories for the day's paper, a glass of orange juice can make an astonishing change for the better in one's mental attitude as well as in one's bodily comfort.

Our idea of earthly paradise is an income sufficient to permit us to read all the new books when they are first advertised for sale and to go wandering round the world wherever fancy may direct.

Why is it that we can never reach the limit of desire? We thought that all we really wanted was a new spring coat. But as soon as that is purchased, we find ourselves wanting a new hat and dress just as badly. Our idea of a "crushing retort": When, after announcing that we have had a headache and are going round to the drug store to "get something for our head," we return to find that the office force has sympathetically placed a rock-breaker's hammer on our desk as their contribution to the cause.

Minister Gives Review of Concert

The following review of the concert in which Shirley Ruth Jolly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Jolly, was presented Monday evening was written by the Rev. K. C. Minter, pastor of the First Methodist church: "The Watson school of music presented a real artist in Shirley Ruth Jolly in a piano recital at First Methodist church Monday evening. Shirley Ruth is only twelve years of age, but she plays with the interpretation, skill, and training of a mature musician. Her program included eight numbers from such masters as Mozart, Bach and Grieg; and when we add that she played the fine compositions of these great masters from memory, it seems truly marvelous. It is scarcely necessary to say that the audience was both astonished and delighted with such talent and training in one so young."

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people watch their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines but neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

Roosevelt-

phone and radio—with an investigation of American Telephone & Telegraph, world's largest corporation.

Appointment of Marriner S. E. Eccles, liberal as Federal Reserve Board governor.

Departure of Lew Douglas as budget director and continued disregard of bankers-business demand for balanced budget and relief cut.

Decision to give all employables jobs of some kind.

Current Roosevelt troubles are of varying importance.

Millions of wage and salary earners are restless in the face of mounting prices and living costs. If their earnings are no higher than a year ago, they're worse off.

The A. F. of L. says the average weekly wage increased 6.7 per cent last year while the price of food rose 11.3 per cent and that of clothing and house furnishings 15.3 per cent.

Industrial profits increased 50 per cent or more while real wages were declining about 2 per cent.

Snags in Congress, especially the Senate, are fretting Roosevelt. They are important chiefly as they represent a change in popular enthusiasm.

The work relief bill has aroused fears in many quarters. Confusion has been caused by Roosevelt's failure to take advice from NLRB, National Labor Relations Board, Federal Aviation Commission, social security experts, and others.

The fire on Jim Farley, Roosevelt's political boss, grows hotter. Small scandals crop up and Senate munitions revelations indicate the White House and its personnel have not kept free of contact with lobbyists for battleship builders.

"Purge" Irks Liberals
Liberals are incensed because of the AAA "purge," Roosevelt's attitude toward labor, failure to back up Section 7-A, the Ickes-Moses incident, Farley's continuance in power, and many other items.

Roosevelt's efforts to play a middle course between right and left, placating first one and then the other, has become increasingly difficult.

Summing up, three bright spots seem to stand out in the second year:

Farmers as a whole are much better off. Their income rose in every state except Oklahoma—where the drought hit cotton hard—increasing 28 per cent in South Atlantic states, and 26 per cent in western states.

More than a third of the total increase from five to six billion dollars was in benefit payments and a tenth came from payments for drought livestock. Although most of the gain represented merely a shift of national purchasing power from consumer to farmer, mail order houses and many factories benefited greatly.

The most unfortunate thing that happened to the farmer was that cotton exports fell lower than any year since the war.

Credit is Unhurt
The treasury had no trouble selling its bonds and the trend of interest rates was downward.

The fall elections gave Roosevelt the greatest mid-term party victory any president ever had and left him with unprecedented Democratic majorities in Congress.

Weakness of Republicans and the strong showing of "radical" candidates everywhere they ran indicated this wasn't entirely a personal victory. But nearly all the winners had endorsed the New Deal.

And it's worth noting that the year brought forth no semblance of clamor for the return of Herbert Hoover. Or for the election to the presidency of anyone but Roosevelt.
