HOUSE INSTRUCTS CONFERENCE COMM. ADHERE TO PLAN

They Would Vote on Repeal and State Monopoly

AUSTIN, April 10. (P.)—A possible deadlock over the submission of repeal of state prohibition loomed in the legislature today when the House instructed its conference committee to adhere to the House dual submission plan which had previously been rejected by the Senate.

A strong opposition was manifested to the motion to instruct the House conferees but prohibitionists joined with some of the wets to carry the proposal.

Under the House plan the electorate would vote both on straight repeal and on repeal with mandatory state monopoly over liquor sales.

The Senate has instructed its committee to bring in an amendment barring saloons.

2 CONVICTS DIE IN FIGHT WITH POSSE

CAMDEN, April 10. (P.)—Two convicts were killed today in a fight with a posse pursuing the remnant of a band of six negroes who seriously wounded a guard in escaping the South Carolina prison farm Sunday.

Carnell Williams and Willie Jackson were the two members of the escaped men that were shot down by the posse today.

NEGRO NOT EXPECTED TO LIVE AFTER ACCIDENT ON HIGHWAY AT NOON

Lewis Ray, negro workman on the state highway project west of Midland, was believed to have been fatally injured at noon today when he was struck on the head by a flying rock after a charge of dynamite had been set off.

Seated with other negroes in an automobile, eating his lunch, Ray was struck by a single, large stone, the impact badly crushing his skull and immediately rendering him unconscious.

He was rushed to a hospital where an operation was performed but it was believed the injury would prove fatal. Portions of the brain were exposed in the jagged gash cut by the rock.

Premier Benito Mussolini is taking no chances of a repetition of the assassination of King Alexander of Yugoslavia, which he arrived at Marseilles, France, last October, on a good will visit.

A correspondent, arriving from Rome, found every road to this village on the side of picturesque Lake Maggiore, in the mountains of Northern Italy guarded heavily. The railroad is patrolled every 300 yards by carabinieri and railway military.

COMM. APPROVES AAA AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, April 10. (P.)—The Senate agricultural committee today approved the AAA amendment bill, the storm center of the last congressional session, after curtailing some of Secretary Wallace's powers to control farm production as provided in the original measure.

The bill, facing a doubtful future on the Senate and House floors, would give increased power to the secretary of agriculture which he contends is necessary if the nation is to avoid returning to the former state of abandoning agriculture to ruthless forces of individualism.

The most important restrictive amendment of the new bill would require the consent of the producers of farm commodities before the secretary could impose a license on its processors and distributors.

TEXAN'S BODY IS FOUND ON DESERT

PHOENIX, Ariz., Apr. 10. (P.)—The body of S. B. Finney, 40, former San Angelo, Texas, resident, was found yesterday on the desert, 15 miles east of Phoenix, where he apparently had been beaten to death with a club.

The body was lying in a small cutting about 100 feet from a canal along an irrigation canal. It was seen by a social service worker who was driving by in an automobile.

Finney's body was found with a blood-stained shirt and a pair of trousers, indicating that a terrific struggle ensued before Finney was killed. A blood-covered cottonwood sapling lay nearby.

Covered Harry Westfall said that Finney had been clubbed over the head numerous times. He had been dead about 24 hours, Westfall said.

Identification was made, sheriff's deputies said, through letter found in Finney's pockets, some bearing postmarks on a few minutes ago were addressed to him at San Angelo, Texas. Others bore addresses of Buckley and Peoria, small towns near here.

On Finney's body also were found ownership papers of an automobile that had been registered in Texas. The car later was found abandoned about 10 miles from where the body was discovered.

Officers said they believed robbery was not the motive for the slaying. Finney's purse, containing a small amount of money, was found on the body.

Finney, who is believed to have been in this vicinity about two months, had been staying at Tolson, where he had been working in the lettuce fields and packing sheds, officers said.

As its name implies, there will be no women and their handiwork introduced here. It has a multitude of curls at the back of the head and a row of curls formed in a tiara above the forehead. It is intended only for the evening.

ROSWELL, N. M., April 10.—Material reduction in acreage of cotton, alfalfa, grain and other crops in eastern New Mexico will be necessary unless rain falls within the next 30 days, crop experts announced here, following a survey.

Avalon and McMillan lakes, upon which the Carlsbad area depends, are only partially filled and will provide irrigation waters only for a portion of the season unless more rain falls.

NEW ORLEANS, April 10. (P.)—The police and fire departments of New Orleans today were placed under control of the state police and fire boards, dominated by the Huey Long political organization, by a four to three decision of the State supreme court setting aside the preliminary injunctions ordered by Judge Hugh C.age of the Civil district court.

The action was brought by city officials in an effort to keep control of the city's firemen and policemen under the jurisdiction of the city hall.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 10. (P.)—A delegation of 300 farmers, home owners, tenants and laborers marched on the capitol today to petition the legislature to submit to popular vote the proposed amendment for a graduated land tax.

Carnegie Trustee, Molyneaux, Says US Monetary Policy Bars Recovery

NEW YORK, April 10.—Peter Molyneaux, editor of the Texas Weekly, Dallas, Texas, returned from Europe from important conferences in Europe on behalf of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, of which he is a trustee. He is at the Hotel Astor during his stay in New York where he issued the following statement there.

"I return from Europe more convinced than ever that among the chief obstacles to world recovery, including our own, are the commercial and monetary policies of international nations. It was my good fortune during my short stay abroad to talk with many of the leading economists and authorities on financial and international affairs in the world. I found almost universal agreement among them that the reestablishment of a stable international monetary standard is absolutely essential to the restoration of normal economic conditions in all countries. But also found a practically general belief that unless the creditor nations, the United States and Great Britain, adopt commercial policies which will make possible the settlement of international obligations in goods and services, the maintenance of a stable international monetary standard will be exceedingly difficult, if not impossible.

"Early in March I participated, as one of the American delegates in the Carnegie Endowment Conference on Economic and Monetary Problems, held at Chatham House in London. About sixty of the best informed men in the world from eight countries sat down around the table at that conference and frankly discussed the whole situation. The sessions were executive and only the recommendations agreed upon were made public. Consequently there was the freest kind of expression of opinion. For three days these men thrashed out the world's problems with the object of arriving at practical measures, immediately applicable, and the remarkable fact was not merely that they did arrive at such measures and make practical recommendations, but that throughout the discussions there was substantially general agreement as to the real nature of the problems and the measures essential to their solution.

"Later in the month I was the guest to the International Chamber of Commerce at its Council meeting at London. At that meeting outstanding business leaders from all over the world reviewed the subjects to be passed on at the Paris convention of the international chamber in June. And here again there was general unanimity as to the nature of the problems and the measures essential to their solution.

"In this connection, the Carnegie Endowment conference adopted a resolution recommending to the trustees of the Endowment and to the officers and directors of the International Chamber that they consider a proposal to sponsor jointly the instituting of a competent commission to make a comprehensive survey and study of international economic relations. This was recommended to the end that a better understanding of these relations by the peoples of the world may be promoted and the cause of economic stability and progress may be furthered. Something important may result from this recommendation.

"Besides participating in these two meetings, as I have said, I talked to many of these men individually and as a result of all this I have returned home with the deepened conviction that the reversal of the commercial policy of the United States is essential to recovery and that the big recovery job is that of arousing the peoples of this country to a recognition of this.

"The Carnegie Endowment conference made a number of specific and very practical recommendations to the nations, recommendations that might be immediately put into effect were it not for the condition of public opinion. These recommendations and the reasons prompting them must be brought home to the American people. That is an essential first step toward recovery both at home and abroad."

Drunk, Said X-Ray, Doctor

FINDLAY, O. (P.)—It required an X-ray, a doctor and several nurses to discover that John Murphy had drunk some of the strongest alcohol. Police found him, apparently in pain, in a gutter. UNCLE SAM A REAL UNCLE

Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, tells the House insular committee that no country in the world has ever treated a subject colony more generously and kindly than the United States has treated the Filipinos.

This tribute is all the more worthy of notice in that it comes from an islander who has been working for the independence of his people for more than 20 years; and it is a timely reminder that our government has, after all, made a pretty fair sort of record in its dealings with its Oriental colony.

There is something unique about this whole Philippine situation, when you stop to think about it; a body of people seeking their independence without any anger or bitterness, and a parent government awarding it to them without waiting for violence to jog its elbow. All in all, the record is one of which the American people can be rather proud.

Pre-Easter Bridge Reflects Colorful Spring Theme; Mmes. Adams, Norris, Greene Hostesses at Tuesday Affair

Important among pre-Easter parties was that with which Mrs. Harry Adams, Mrs. J. R. Norris, and Mrs. J. L. Greene entertained on the Mezzanine of the Hotel Scharbauer Tuesday afternoon. Pastel colors prevailing in the party appointments marked the occasion as one of spring's gaieties.

Tables were laid with organdy in soft shades of yellow, green, blue, pink, and orchid over floral covers. Tallies and score pads repeated the spring note, and prizes were wrapped in white and orchid. Eighteen tables of bridge were played with Mrs. Alden Donnelly winning high score and Mrs. Gentry Kidd second high.

Tea cloths of white linen were laid at the refreshment hour and tables were centered with bouquets of sweetpeas which were awarded as table cuts. The party plan carried out the chosen scheme of spring coloring.

Out-of-town guests were: Mmes. Ledger Smith, C. A. Bradley, Ralph Pitt, Ernest Morgan of Mentone and Mmes. Earl Cramer, J. L. Alexander, and E. J. DeuFree of Westbrook.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EHLAND

So far, Midland seems to have done nothing toward celebrating the Centennial.

Some one has suggested that a San Jacinto program would be a good project. We second the idea. It would be a patriotic thing and a good step toward the Centennial. We think, if each school in the city and county and each civic organization should celebrate the day when Texas really won its independence with a program of some kind, no matter how simple and impromptu.

A few readings and songs, a good talk, a prayer for the continued progress of our state, these things are all easily arranged and can mean much to those who participate and to those who look on.

We notice that in Dallas a new idea is the place-mint. The name of each guest is written in candy on flat mints which are placed on the bread-and-butter plates. That is our conception of combining an appeal to the appetite and the artistic element of our dinner guests.

Bags are now being built into which are built watches so that lady can always tell the time at a glance. The bags are inexpensive and the watches are guaranteed for a year.

Have you seen the new net dresses for evening wear? They are captivating. In order to protect the wearer from night breezes, one such dress has a jacket-of net. Aside from the amount of warmth it gives, it justifies its existence by lending additional charm to the wearer.

The new washable purses which include a cake of soap in the fittings are the cleverest bid for favor with feminine shoppers that we have seen in weeks.

Christening suits for babies which have coat, cap, dress and petticoat of silk material in the same shade are very pretty. We saw a blue suit that would be just right for a yellow-haired baby.

Angelina County to Have Celebration

LUFKIN, Tex., April 10. (AP)—Angelina county's contribution to the Centennial celebration next year will be woven around the history of the area during the period when Texas was a part of Mexico and, according to stories recalled by old timers, the concentration point for gold and silver from all mines in east and central Texas. Angelina county's only silver mine has been blasted out by treasure hunters and the huge rock cliff in which it was located is to be converted by the state highway department into road-building material. In southern Angelina at the confluence of Shawnee creek and the Neches river is an outcropping of rock which forms a virtual plateau about 30 feet high, 100 feet wide and 400 yards long. As early as 1828 in the cliff facing the river from the north there was reputedly a silver mine from which the Mexicans took considerable quantities of ore. The mine ran into the solid rock

WHY AMERICA PREFERS BUDWEISER...

WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY DEFINES IT— and its taste tells you why

BUDWEISER must be famous indeed to be chosen from all American beers for mention in Webster's New International Dictionary, just published. You'll find it on page 349.

Here is just another distinction for the fine beer that has won medal after medal at world's fairs for more than half a century. Bohemia, in 1903, officially adjudged BUDWEISER the finest bottled beer on Earth, better even than native brews. France, as early as 1882, conceded BUDWEISER's superiority. The following is from the Paris Gazette:

"Experts reluctantly pronounced the St. Louis beer superior to any malt liquor ever drunk upon the continent and all Paris is now seeking to quaff the American nectar."

through a vault in which the silver ore was found. From the earliest days the old cave has attracted attention from residents of that locality. Now it is wrecked and buried through recent blasting by seekers after buried treasure. The highway department has been investigating the extent and nature of the rock formation and is planning to make little ones out of big ones so that Texans may ride on a firmer foundation. The walls of the old mine soon will be carrying a prosaic load of highway traffic. About 1828 the Mexicans built a fort across from the mine in what is now Tyler county, naming it Fort Teran for one of their generals. The stronghold was designed as a guard for the mine against invasions from the United States. Legends say that Fort Teran was a concentration point for gold and silver from the mines and that many richly laden burro caravans set out for the city of Mexico from this isolated little settlement. One of the minor battles of Santa Anna's campaigns is supposed to have been fought in the vicinity of Fort Teran. All that remains of the old fort is the crumbling ruins of the walls. A short distance north of the fort and the mine the Mexicans conducted salt-making operations in a large saline flat. A number of wells supplied the salt water from which the precious mineral was boiled. This locally supplied salt for communities 100 miles distant. Remains of some of the wells and equipment still are visible.

900 Students Work Way Through Tech
LUBBOCK, Texas, April 10.—Ninety hundred and eleven students at Texas Technological College are working and are making an average of approximately $24,838.37 monthly. These students comprise 42 percent of the enrollment this semester, and are composed of 670 men and 241 women. Of this group 216 are afforded employment by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, and 238 are regularly employed by the college. The average monthly salary for men students is $28.63 at 30 cents per hour, while the average monthly salary for women is $23.47 at 25 cents an hour. Both men and women average working 3.7 hours per day, based on 26 working days per month. Applications for work were made by 495 men and 204 women enrolled in the college. Students desiring work but unemployed total 204, composed of 151 men and 53 women. There are 71 men employed as clerks, while 53 are working as waitresses, the next highest classification of employment. The 670 men are employed in 134 different fields. From working as dishwashers, salesmen, and waiters men students are financing their way through Tech by working in dairies, acting as undertaker's assistants, and manufacturing yarn to operating a freight line, and caring for children. Two men enrolled are pastors of churches. Housework employs 67 women and 28 are working as waitresses. Many others are caring for children, doing stenographic work, and operating telephone switchboards. While a large percentage of students are working in Tech it is by no means easy for a student to get a job. The competition is very keen for part-time places and no one would be justified at this time in depending upon securing work to pay his expenses through college. The employment bureau of the college renders every possible aid in helping worthy students secure work, but there are now more students than there are jobs.

'Behind the Evidence' Now Showing at Ritz

Although the old adage that "Crime Doesn't Pay" has been used so often that it is threadbare, the truth of it is even more apparent today than it has been at any time within the last decade. For many years it appeared that the underworld had secured a strange hold on American civilization. Now it is almost impossible to scan the headlines of any newspaper without learning that some Public Enemy, of small or great magnitude, has been caught in the toils or summarily executed by the guns of avenging officers. And very often the law is incalculably aided in its success by newspaper reporters. Assigned to a story or an investigation, a news-hawk will doggedly follow a trail with greater persistence than police. Such is the plot of Columbia's "Behind the Evidence," now showing at the Ritz Theatre, with Norman Foster portraying the role of a reporter who ferrets out a gang chief and brings him to justice. Sheila Manners plays the feminine lead in "Behind the Evidence," and others in prominent roles include Donald Cook, Frank Darion, Geneva Mitchell, and Pat O'Malley. Direction is by Lambert Hillyer.

TEXAS LEAGUE PRIES LID OFF NEW SEASON; GAMES TODAY AND TONIGHT

By BILL PARKER Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, April 10.—Spring training terminated Tuesday and Wednesday the Texas League inaugurates its twenty-eighth pennant campaign with a schedule of two day and two night games. The daylight battles will be at Beaumont and Tulsa where San Antonio and Oklahoma City will be the invaders. The flood lights will be turned on at Dallas and Houston where competition will be furnished by Fort Worth and Galveston. President J. Alvin Gardner said Tuesday night he was confident the 1935 Shaughnessy pennant race would develop into one of the most interesting of recent seasons, and that he believed attendance would be swelled this year at each Texas League stadium.

Record Crowd
A record crowd of 7,500 persons, including Governor Allred and several other state notables, will watch the Beaumont Exporters, pennant favorites, open against the San Antonio Missions manager "Dutch" Lorbeer Tuesday night was undecided on his starting pitcher but it will be either Joseph T. Hare or Clarence (Red) Phillips, both right-handers. Earl Caldwell will pitch for the Padres with Payton behind the plate. Along with Governor Allred will be President Gardner.

Rubber Increase in Making of Fords

DEARBORN, Mich.—The quantity of rubber used in Ford car construction has virtually trebled in the last eight years, an investigation just made by the Ford Motor Company reveals.

The Model-T Ford contained only fifty-six pounds of rubber, while the present Ford V-8 contains 164. So rapidly are new applications being discovered that the Ford company would not be surprised to see as much as 200 pounds used in future Ford cars. In the early cars, rubber was employed chiefly for tires and tubes. Now it is applied throughout the car to improve riding qualities and lengthen life, as well as reduce cost of manufacture. Today rubber is used for making steering wheels, batteries, switches, junction blocks, weatherstrips, running boards, floor mats, motor supports, axle bumpers, sound deadeners, fan belts, radiator hose, insulating material, grommets, door bumpers, spring shackles, bushings, and top materials, as well as tires and tubes. All Ford rubber compositions are made to strict specifications and severely tested before use in car construction. Steering wheels must withstand drops from heights of six feet after twelve hours exposure to a temperature of 20 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. Windshield weatherstrips are exposed to the hot sun and high humidity on the roof of the branch plant of the Ford Motor Company at Jacksonville, Fla., to determine anti-checking and anti-splitting qualities. Rubber matting is given ingenious tests for resistance to abrasion and, in addition, running-board stocks checked for their qualities in bonding to steel. Rubber used for motor supports and axle bumpers is subjected to a distorting force far in excess of what would be encountered while in use. As a result, the company reports that failures in service "are unknown to us." Fan belts are severely tested for strength, and improvements based on these laboratory findings have reduced the stretch in Ford fan belts to one-third of what it was, though the present belt is 50 per cent longer than that used on previous models. The Ford Motor Company subjects the tires it uses to the most exhaustive tests. In the laboratory, Ford-developed machines test for carcass and bead fatigue and indicate treadwear resistance. Other machines check for resistance to bruise-breaking. Tires are sent for testing to the River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Company from all company plants throughout the world. Regardless of where the tire was manufactured, Ford maintains control. To determine their stability at high speed, Ford tests tires on the road. To aid in determining the actual mileage given in service, the company periodically measures the non-skid design remaining on tires in use on employees' cars. The radiom is placed in thick lead containers to prevent emanation of rays and thus protects those who come in contact with it. Starr County Opens Work Center to Aid Rural Rehabilitation

AUSTIN—Completion and formal opening of the first rural work center in connection with the Texas Relief Commission's program of rural rehabilitation at San Isidro, Starr county, has been announced by C. T. Watson, assistant director of the rural program. The San Isidro center, located in the northeast end of the county near the community school campus, offers facilities whereby the community's citizens and rehabilitation families may come together and work cooperatively in providing commodities to supply their needs. Two buildings have been constructed at San Isidro. One houses the canning plant, sewing room and recreational center in its main portion while an addition at the rear contains a light and power plant, leather working and rope making room and storage space for canning plant equipment and supplies. A second building provides facilities for farm shop blacksmithing, tin and woodwork and hide tanning. Workers also will have access to a home economics building to be modeled by the community and use for a cooking laboratory. The community also will build a four-room house for the manager and will erect a small store and trading post. Activity in the center includes a schedule to process 5,000 cans of meat and a variety of fruits and vegetables. Relief officials said some grapefruit juice is being canned at this time. The canning plant will have a capacity of 1,000 cans per eighthour day. Mexican workers at the sewing rooms are making mattresses under the direction of emergency education teachers. At the tannery, workers are making halters, leather lariats, repairing harness, fashioning leather belts, and plans are under way to make light traveling bags or brief cases soon. These workers have taken over all hides from a coyote extermination project in the county and will convert them into useful articles. The wood duck carries her young around by seizing them by loose skin on the nape of the neck, much in the manner of a cat carrying a kitten.

FORD ECONOMY

With the introduction of the V-8 engine, Ford brought a new standard of performance to the low-priced field. Gives the ease, smoothness and comfort of a "front seat ride" even to back seat passengers—an important engineering advance.

Why take less?

FORD has always aimed to make the automobile-buying dollar go as far as possible. This year, the 1935 Ford V-8 gives you traditional Ford low prices, traditional Ford operating economy—and, in addition, riding comfort, body roominess, new beauty and new safety features that will satisfy the requirements of almost everyone.

Consider some of the major improvements in the Ford V-8 for 1935. Take Comfort: From this standpoint alone, what a completely rounded car, this is! Comfort Zone Riding that gives "front seat comfort" even to rear seat passengers. Deep cushioned, high-backed, wider seats. Big, air-balloon tires. Easier steering and a newly-designed clutch that responds to the touch of your foot.

Consider safety: There's safety glass all around—on all models—at no additional cost. A new, welded all-steel body. New, more powerful brakes, with an unusually high ratio of braking surface to car weight. And a lower center of gravity that gives increased safety and stability on curves! Why be satisfied to receive less than this for your money? Examine this new 1935 Ford V-8. Ride in it. You'll realize that it is truly a new automobile value.
