ROBLES KIDNAP CASE IS SOLVED

HOOVER ASSERTS Hint That Several Are Involved; No Arrests Yet

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, justice department investigative head, today said that the June Robles kidnaping in Tucson, Ariz., had been solved and that government agents were presenting evidence before a grand jury.

The girl, 6 years old, was kidnaped and held in a desert pit not far from Tucson for 19 days before her parents received information with which they were able to discover her with the assistance of officers interested in the case.

At Tucson, officers hinted that several were involved, although only one has so far been charged in the crime. He is Oscar Robson, former night club operator who was alleged to have written extortion notes to the grandfather of the girl demanding $15,000 for her safe return.

SIX PERSONS SHOT BY TYLER MAN AS RESULT OF FEUD

TYLER, April 30. (AP)—Six persons were wounded, two of them probably fatally last night when they were fired on with a shotgun as they stood in a filling station on the highway four miles east of here.

Feud Is Blamed

The wounded: Mrs. Clint Ferguson, 37, shot in the shoulder and leg; Mr. J. J. Hawkins, 40, shot in the head; Mrs. H. M. Ferguson, 62, wounded in the neck and leg; Clint Ferguson, 41, near death from head wounds; Ira Ferguson, 32, brother of Clint Ferguson, shot in the abdomen; Mary Hawkins, 14, wounded in the leg.

Mrs. H. M. Ferguson is the mother of Clint and Ira Ferguson.

Three other persons who were in the station were not hit.

Deputy Sheriff Ross Parker said the shotgun fire came from a gasoline station across the road and blamed a feud between two families.

The deputy sheriff said that a few minutes after the shooting Jim Bryant, owner of the station across the road, went to the sheriff's office and surrendered.

Parker quoted Bryant as saying: "I shot it out with them. I did it all."

Parker said charges would be filed against Bryant today.

Witnesses said that lights in Bryant's station were put out earlier than usual and that the shooting started soon after the lights went out.

"It was nothing less than slaughter," said Mr. J. Hawkins as he was rushed to a hospital here. "The men folks were outside. I was standing in the door of the station. I heard a shot and felt a sting. Blood was running down my shoulder. There were two more of those awful shots."

"Then there were screams as we all fell to the floor, hunting safety from the fire."

Parker said he judged from Bryant's talk that a double-barreled shotgun used in the shooting was emptied and had been reloaded and fired again.

Parker said Bryant had taken his gun home before he surrendered.

Officers said there had been a feud between the Ferguson and Bryant families for over a year.

Sheriff Tom Sikes said Mrs. Hawkins told him that members of the Ferguson family had been blamed for the dynamiting of Bryant's station about a year ago.

Officers said that a station Bryant had prepared to open in Tyler caught fire on the inside last Friday.

Officers said he charged incendiarism.

Clint Ferguson, shot just behind the left ear, was given no chance to recover, and his mother, Mrs. H. M. Ferguson, who was shot in the neck and leg was considered in a critical condition.

Mrs. Hawkins, although shot in the head was not considered in a serious condition. She received a skin wound in the side from a pellet which hit a corset stave and glanced off.

H. M. Ferguson, operator and owner of the station, J. J. Hawkins, whose wife was shot, and a 12-year-old boy, James Hawkins, were at the station but escaped being hit when they dropped to the floor.

ALLRED PROMISES CENTENNIAL ACTION

DALLAS, April 30. (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred last night promised action by the end of this week on the centennial appropriations bill.

Allred flew here from Austin Monday to attend the Dallas advertising league's griddon dinner.

What action he would take, Allred did not say. He admitted there was a possibility that he would not sign the bill.

"I do not feel that it is intelligent to sign the bill when there is no revenue in sight to pay the money it would spend," he said.

War Profiteering Exposed By Investigations

War is Big Business. Checks for huge sums are written in the blood of the battlefields. Prices soar. The Dollar shrinks. Then the war clouds drift away, leaving in their wake an economically devastated land. A revealing word-picture of "This War Bustiness" and of current legislative efforts to take the profits out of war is contained in three articles which have been prepared by John T. Flynn, the nation's foremost journalist-economist, whose newspaper writings now appear exclusively in The Reporter-Telegram and NEA Service. This is the first article.

Baseball Scores Delayed for Day

It is hoped that the ticker will be installed by tomorrow and we will be able to give the scores as the games are being played.

War Profiteering Exposed By Investigations

States Mint, has actually managed that interesting institution. It is about a not a better man who did his bit during the war. His name was Benno T. Wirth. As millions of men made ready to go in our armies to France, the government was making frantic appeals to citizens to turn in their platinum. A platinum was needed in making shells. The platinum was all turned over to the munition makers. But it had to be made into platinum gauze and the secret for doing this, which was German, was not known. The munition plants were unable to solve the problem. They appealed to the government. Benno T. Wirth, a metallurgist in the Philadelphia mint, went to work on the problem and solved it. But he received no bonus—not even one million dollars, not even a thousand dollars. He got no more than the sixty dollars a week he had always earned. And, strangely, he was quite satisfied. What is more, he spent so many sleepless nights on the desperate problem that he undermined his health and died. A

Third Victim Dies, In New Hollywood Death Triangle

LOS ANGELES, April 30. (AP)—A third victim added today to the triangle of death in Hollywood's most fantastic shooting case in many years.

Henry E. Bolte, sociology and law student, died last night of bullet wounds in the back from bullets which investigating officers said were fired from the same pistol that brought death to Paul Ivar, young dress designer, and suicide to Ivar's chauffeur, William Howard, in a weird affray.

Bolte's death interfered with investigators now under way by the officers as he was the man from whom officers had hoped to obtain an explanation of the puzzling crime.

The sheriff's office reported soon after the death of Ivar that he had been killed by the chauffeur, Howard, who then shot Bolte before turning the gun on himself and committing suicide.

A woman, described as a "Countess," was questioned by officers after the shooting but was later released.

Officers said that Howard shot both Ivar and Bolte after a quarrel between the three men over money that the men were supposed to have owed the chauffeur.

GRAND PARADE TO OPEN TRADES DAY NEXT SATURDAY

It is also expected that a number of goats, sheep and dogs will be added to the parade list.

Among the 13,886 persons holding pilots' licenses as of April 1, 1935, were 7,093 transport, 933 limited commercial, 5,142 private, 720 amateur and 3,127 industrial pilots. The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports from chambers of commerce in 40 representative Texas cities give total permits amounting to $1,885,340, an increase of 49 per cent over a year ago, but a decline of 12 per cent from the previous month. Aggregate permits during the first quarter were $2,225,143, an increase of 156 per cent over the comparable period last year. Cities in which there was an increase both over March and over the previous month were: Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Palestine, Pampa, San Antonio, Tyler and Waco.

Colts Schedule Two Games for Week-End

Two baseball games have been scheduled for the Colts this week-end by Manager Joe Pyron to inaugurate the Midland baseball season.

Saturday afternoon the local team will play the Phillips 66 club of Crane on the Midland diamond and Sunday afternoon another game will be played here, this one with the Golden Oilers of Fortran.

The Colts have been working out daily for the last two weeks and are rounding into fair physical condition.

A list of the players on the Colts team is unavailable but it is probable that Fred Girdley will start on the pitcher's mound in Saturday's game while the burden of throwing them past the Fortran team in the Sunday encounter will be left up to D. D. Cooney Shiver.

The Midland outfield will probably be composed of Estes, White, and Baumgarten along with Redd. The pitcher's mound in Saturday's game will be manned by Pyron, who in all probability be found Pyron, White, Hurst and Pipkin.

The White House conference failed to reach an agreement on the proposal of Senator Clark to extend the present law, without any changes, until next March 1.

The present recovery law expires next June 18.

COURT REFUSES TO REVIEW RULING IN PECOS CO. SUIT

WASHINGTON, April 30. (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review the ruling of the lower Federal Court which offered trial of the accounting suit of Mrs. Viola Seely and Mrs. Ida Mae Ramsey involving valuable Pecos county, Tex. oil lands.

The defendants named in the action were James Cornell, W. H. Colquitt, C. B. Sutton, Brian Montague and Elliott, conspired to deprive them of their interest in the oil lands during receivership proceedings by withholding money collected in the proceedings.

The Federal District Court before which the case was brought, dismissed the suit because other heirs to the Smith estate who lived in Texas had not been made parties. The circuit court for the fifth circuit reversed this ruling and ordered the case to trial.

Both the appellants and those named with him brought the appeal.

FEMINE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Speaking of clever and inexpensive entertainment ideas, the most novel things we've seen lately are the bridge-luncheon sets which combine a set of four paper plates with four bridge talles in a cellophane wrapper.

If laughter means good digestion, these plates should certainly stand in high favor for they carry an assortment of jingles and wise-cracks all pertaining to bridge, such as "Two peeks are better than a fustse" and similar witticisms. The talles also bear comic verses related to the game.

We always did like a grandstand seat when interesting things were going on. And are we pleased because Trades Day will be staged right in the Reporter-Telegram's front yard, as it were, and we'll get a bird's-eye of the whole thing!

These were mere samples. There are many far worse cases. When one says the Senate is attacking the "profit system", one may ask, "What profit system? Is anyone in favor of this kind of profit?"

Along with this went price rocketing. The old war dollar shrank. When you went to buy round steak your old dollar was worth but 55 cents.

To Hold Feeders Day Program in B'Spring

BIG SPRING, April 30.—The eighth Feeders Day program will be held at the U. S. experiment station at Big Spring on Friday, May 10, beginning at 10 o'clock. The forenoon will be devoted to appraisal of the cattle by a packer representative and observations of the lots.

Lunch will be served at the noon hour by the chamber of commerce. Forty head of high grade Hereford calves purchased from E. C. Dickenson, Stanton, were put on feed November 9, 1934, and will have completed a 180-day feeding test at the time the experiment is closed.

The purpose of the test this year is to study rate and economy of gains as influenced by grade and type of steer. All of the cattle were graded and measured when they were put on feed. Twenty head are being fed individually so that an accurate record is obtained on the cost of gains made by the various types of animals. Twenty head are also fed as a group as a check against the others.

"Stella", Noted Art Work, to Be at Expo.

SAN DIEGO, April 30.—"Have you seen 'Stella'?" That famous "war cry" which harks back to the days of the 1893 World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago, will soon be heard again the length and breadth of the land.

In fact, it may become as famous as the "Where's Elmer?" cry of Chicago's most recent exposition. "Stella" will be displayed by Julian Harvey of San Jose at the Panama Pacific International Exposition, which opens here May 29. The famous painting will be the stellar attraction of Harvey's unique "Lens Wonders of the World" exhibit, which will present 500 works of the greatest camera pictorialists.

In 1848, Lotie Comstock, famous artist, began work on her famous canvas, which took years to complete and has since become one of the most widely discussed art works in the world.

The picture has been copied several times, and has been widely reproduced in Persia, where the artists of that nation consider it typical of their country. Most of these copies were made after "Stella" was exhibited at the 1893 exposition in Chicago.

It was again displayed at the Panama Pacific Exposition in San Francisco in 1915, the original being removed after a short period and a very fine copy substituted. The copy was made by the famous San Francisco artist, La Rosa, who died in 1925.

Aside from its artistic merit, "Stella" is unique because of its third-dimensional effect. It is one of very few paintings ever produced in flat colors, possessing no shine or gloss, that has helike quality. Many critics have declared it to be the finest work ever produced by an American woman artist.

The original canvas will be displayed at the exposition, according to Harvey, who also recalls that many legends have sprung up around the origin of the painting. Stories have been published to the effect that "Stella" was part of pirates' loot that was uncovered in this country in 1848, but the origin of the painting has been established beyond any doubt.

Featured with this painting will be the camera works of leading pictorialists, many of them from California. These works of foremost photographers were selected over a period of 10 years by Harvey, and they cover a wide range of subjects from nude and babies to scenic and scientific works. Among them will be photographs by Dr. Max Thorek of Chicago, noted pictorialist and world famous cancer surgeon.

The collection will include works that have been hung in every large city in the world, some of them having been awarded up to 100 salon prizes. Straight photography and so-called "trick" photography will be included in the exhibit.

California has more first-class camera artists than any other state or Nation, Harvey declares, and the display at America's Exposition will present the best works of these Californians.
