BILLION DOLLARS FOR WORKS GIVEN FINAL APPROVAL

Orders to Be Signed Following Budget Form Draft

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Recommendations of the allotment board for spending the first billion dollars of the $4,000,000,000 works program were approved today by President Roosevelt.

Actual orders will be signed as soon as the budget director drafts the desired form, it was announced. The president expressed the hope that the full program would be in operation by November 1.

President Roosevelt has started a study of projects which may be undertaken which do not come within the mandatory class specified by congress. He explained that the $4,000,000,000 fund has been split into state segments and will be carried through on this idea. Early announcement of state allotments was expected.

30,000 Scouts To Gather at the Nat'l. Jamboree

At the great Scout Jamboree to be held in Washington this coming August, 30,000 Boy Scouts from all over the United States as well as from several of the foreign Scout groups which have been invited, will encamp in the greatest affair of the kind America has ever seen, as announced by Walter W. Head of St. Louis, Mo., president of the Boy Scouts of America.

The broad democratic scope of the Boy Scout movement will be more strongly emphasized upon every Scout's mind; it will make 30,000 Scouts realize what a tremendous thing Scouting is—what a privilege and responsibility it is because of wearing the Boy Scout Badge, according to A. C. Williamson, Scout executive.

"Every father and mother of a Boy Scout should make an effort to see that their son is to be one of this great get-together of the keenest aggregation of youths in any civilized land, for the Jamboree will be one of the best known means for cementing international good feeling—the laying of a real foundation for world peace," he quoted Head as saying.

Prairie Dog War On at Fort Davis

FORT DAVIS, May 22. (AP)—Fifty miles of prairie dogs in Jeff Davis county are marked for destruction at the hands of relief workers in the near future.

County commissioners have agreed to furnish poisoned grain at cost and application has been made through the local relief office for a work project of 10 men for three months to spread the grain. The project has been approved by the district engineer, A. G. Classen, El Paso.

According to standard dog-town figures the population in the 50 square miles should be a half million. The average is eight holes to the acre; two dogs to the hole at this time of year, or 10,240 dogs to the square mile.

Thirteen Point German Policy Set Forth in Hitler Message to World

Germany Reveals Threats From Sea, Sky and Land

Dread that recalls the dark days of near-famine in the submarine blockade of 1917 stirs again in England, with Germany's blunt announcement that she has built 12 powerful new U-boats, breaking treaty shackles, and further revelation that the Reich has a new flying and naval base on the Isle of Sylt. The map indicates the short distance planes and subs would travel to reach the French and British coasts. At the left is Britain's answer to the air menace, an anti-aircraft gun in action near Aldershot, where the air de-

BERLIN, May 22. (UP)—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler told the German nation and the world last night that Germany will demand the return of her lost colonies and full equality in all respects with other nations, but has no intention of going to war or entering an armaments race.

He addressed the German nation, through the door of co-operation with the other nations of Europe.

He declared that Germany is ready to participate in a collective system of security to guarantee European peace.

Regarding Germany's current building-up of a submarine force—also prohibited by the treaty—Hitler said Germany would accept elimination of submarines "in case of equal international regulation."

His "13 points" of Nazi foreign policy were given as follows:

1. Germany rejects the League of Nations decision of March 17 condemning the Reich rearmament in violation of Versailles treaty.
2. Germany rejects the League of Nations decision of March 17 condemning the Reich rearmament in violation of Versailles treaty.
3. Germany will observe and fulfill all obligations which she signed or signs voluntarily and will observe the Locarno treaty as long as other signatories adhere.
4. Germany will participate in any system of collective collaboration for European peace.
5. Germany believes European peace cannot be rebuilt by force; methods but realizes that Nazi aims must be attained gradually.
6. Germany is willing in principle to conclude non-aggression pacts with neighbors "to localize the hotbed of war."
7. Germany is willing to complete the Locarno treaty with an aviation agreement.
8. Germany is ready to accept arms limitation equally with other nations.
9. Germany is willing to cooperate in regulation of arms, ban on production of size of warships, incendiary explosive bombs outside battle zones, etc. Suggested outlawing of bombing could be extended.
10. Germany is willing to join any pact leading to elimination of heavy aggressive weapons, chiefly heavy tanks and heavy bombers, in view of the French frontier arms, such action would give France 100 per cent security." Hitler points out.
11. Germany will agree to limitation of gun caliber on warships and limitation of size of warships or submarines, or even "complete elimination of submarines."
12. Germany believes all attempts to relieve tension among nations by pacts will be useless unless there is a systematic attack upon the poisoning of public through irresponsible writing, motion pictures, etc.
13. Germany is ready to enter any workable international agreement which hinders or halts external interference in affairs of any nation. If the word "interference" is given its exact international definition.

Hitler was forceful, speaking with his usual rhetorical vigor, but not closing the door to co-operation with the other nations of Europe.

His speech was listened to by Germans in every corner of the nation and by the press of all nations of Europe and North and South America.

FORMER GOVERNOR TO ADDRESS 1935 CLASS THURSDAY

The Hon. Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor University, will address the graduating class of Midland high school Thursday evening at the high school auditorium, that being the final program of commencement week.

Awarding of diplomas, delivery of medals to winners of general excellence and other honors for the school year and a well rounded program of music and singing will augment the baccalaureate address.

The speaker, former governor of Texas, has appeared before Midland audiences on several occasions in the past and preached the commencement sermon to the high school graduating class here in 1930.

1935 CLASS DAY PROGRAM GIVEN

Traditional class day exercises were held by the graduating class of 1935 in the High School auditorium Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock before a crowd of approximately 1000 persons.

The stage of the auditorium banked with pink roses was an appropriate setting for the girl graduates in their many-colored evening gowns and the more somberly clad boys.

Rev. J. E. Pickering led the invocation, followed by selections by the high school chorus.

Virginia Boone, Senior, led the concert readings given by the entire High School student body.

Selections were given by the girls' quartet and boys' quartet of the High School, the boys' glee club, the girls' choral club, and a men's chorus.

Eddie Blanche Cowden gave the class prophecy, forecasting the future of the class of '35.

Isabel McClintic, as class gliston, dispensed to her classmates gifts which indicated their natural talents or careers, either seriously or humorously. She then received from Maxine Sill the gift which the class thought appropriate for her.

Following the last musical numbers by a mixed chorus, Robert Rankin, president, read the last solemn will and testament of the class of 1935 bidding farewell to the four years of high school life which lay behind the Seniors.

Hog Prices Reach 55-Month High Mark

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, May 22. (AP)—The once lowly hog assumed a position of financial importance yesterday.

Hog prices here swept up 25 cents in an active round of buying to a top of $10, the highest in 55 months—since October, 1930. It was also ten cents above the previous 1935 peak.

The spectacular advance was reflected in other primary markets and was, of course, more than welcome throughout the corn belt. It was attributed to the old law of supply and demand. Only 9,000 porkers were received here, including 3,000 direct to packers. Coupled with Monday's 11,000 Chicago arrivals, the two-day supply in Chicago and seven other leading markets was the smallest in a generation. It failed to meet immediate requirements.

Re-Indict Men on Narcotic Charges

LUBBOCK, May 22. (AP)—Dr. V. A. Hartman, Post physician, and Dr. W. Kitchen, Post veterinarian, Tuesday were re-indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of violating the Harrison anti-narcotic act.

Federal District Judge James C. Wilson impaneled the grand jury after United States Attorney Clyde O. Eastus had conceded that original bills against the two men were faulty.

The trials were set for Wednesday.

On Thursday Doctors Hartman and Kitchen, Sheriff W. F. Cato, and Garza county, and Tom Morgan, a farmer, face trial on a charge of murder in connection with the machine gun slaying of Spencer Stafford, federal narcotics agent, at Post last February 7.

Clip These Amendments for Making Study

Seven proposed amendments to the constitution of the State of Texas, to be voted on August 4, 1935, are being published in this newspaper today. The proposed amendments, as prescribed by law, will appear on four consecutive times, weekly.

The proposed changes in the constitution, affecting prohibition or repeal, school tax matters, salaries and fees for public officials and other matters of importance to the citizens of Texas, are outlined in detail. The Reporter-Telegram requests its readers to clip the amendments from the paper today, preserving the copy for study of the proposals before the August 4 election.

DIPHTHERIA TEST DRIVE PLANNED

A special effort to have all school children Schick tested will be made in the next two weeks by the physicians of the city, it was decided yesterday at a meeting of the local medical society.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson, county public health nurse is asking the cooperation of all city and rural families in making Midland County free from diphtheria. "There will be no room for the frequent financial excuse, as the doctors will help the family in making necessary arrangements to take care of the cost of the test," said Miss Wilson.

"There is no good reason why we cannot prevent Midland county from being another case of diphtheria. The Schick test will show if the individual is susceptible to diphtheria. Toxoid or toxin-antitoxin injections will give artificial immunity to those who do not have a natural immunity to diphtheria. The thing to do is have your doctor make the Schick test to determine whether or not you have the natural immunity."

ALLOWABLE FOR WEST TEXAS SET 131,862 BBLs.

AUSTIN, May 22. (AP)—The railroad commission yesterday trimmed state oil production allowances to 1,044,309 barrels daily effective June 1, about 12,000 barrels under current production, and 14,991 barrels less than the federally estimated market demand.

The base allowable for next month, however, was 16,464 barrels daily more than prescribed for May. "Variable in order" may permit production at the end of June of more than that amount.

Chairman Ernest O. Thompson said the margin under the federal recommendation of 1,059,309 barrels would permit allocations to new fields during the month. Three new pools were brought in during this month.

The East Texas field allowable of 3.4 per cent of the hourly potential was not changed. Production on the basis May 18 was 452,706, and estimated as of June 1, 462,094 barrels.

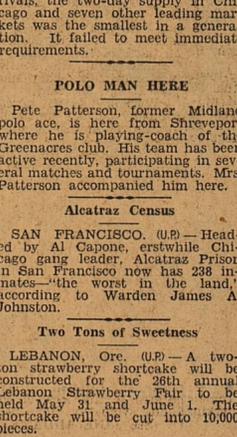

Allowables for other districts: Panhandle, 58,800 barrels; Moore county, 1,500; North Texas, 58,500; Fort Worth, 900; West Central, 51,936; West Texas, 131,862; East Central, 49,952; Southwest Texas, 88,697, and gulf coast, 140,068.

SHREVEPORT, May 22. (AP)—The search for Lieut. Wendell Holladay, pilot, and Private Ira Hicks, mechanic, army flyers missing since Sunday, centered in the Caddo lake region today after authorities received a report that a plane was seen flying through a heavy rainstorm toward Shreveport, its motor sputtering.

A farmer reported that he saw the plane losing altitude over the lake which was swollen and out of its banks in places.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

DESTRUCTION OF SAVINGS WARNED IN FDR ADDRESS

Printing Press Plan Of Money Unsafe, Is Declared

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Flaunting President Roosevelt's personal warning that the Patman bonus bill invites "disastrous consequences," the house overrode his veto today by a vote of 322 to 93, just after the president left the capitol.

The issue was thus placed squarely up to the senate. The administration was counting on a margin of a few votes in the senate to sustain the president's objections.

WASHINGTON, May 22. (AP)—Congress received its Patman bonus bill back from President Roosevelt today, tagged as an unsound and unfair invitation to disaster.

Before a joint session of the house and the senate, the president warned hostile bonus majorities of both branches of "ultimate reckoning in uncontrollable prices" and "destruction" of savings by way of the printing press money route, should his veto be overridden.

Nevertheless, the expectation remained that the house soon would vote the necessary two-thirds to override the veto and the administration would have to depend upon a narrow senate margin to win out. Should this happen, the veterans' bonus was ready to start on a new track for whatever it could get.

Counters Argument

Some legislators found in the president's message encouragement for the Harrison compromise, under which holders of bonus certificates could collect their current value.

One by one the president took the arguments for the Patman $2,200,000,000 paper money plan and countered them.

The main points of his veto argument were:

- (1) Full payment of the bonus is not due until 1945.
- (2) It directs payment to veterans of $1,600,000,000 more than was contemplated in the 1924 bonus act.
- (3) It would not aid to relief because it would not improve conditions necessary to expand those industries in which there is greatest unemployment.
- (4) Issuance of currency as a method of payment would raise similar demands for payment of claims of other groups, which "invites an ultimate reckoning in uncontrollable prices and in destruction of the value of savings."
- (5) Congress did not provide additional taxes to cover the expenditure of the sum contemplated in the bill.

Insect Gave Idea for International Exposition to Open San Diego, 29th

By MAGNER WHITE
NEA Service Special Correspondent
SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 21.—The California Pacific International Exposition, opening May 29, in San Diego, most southwestern city in the United States, owes its existence to an insect.

The insect, a termite, bored into a palm tree in San Diego's historic downtown plaza. The top of the tree fell off, killed a young woman.

That started a termite investigation by the city. In 1400-acre Balboa park were dozens of buildings, Spanish and Mexican type structures, heritages of an exposition. San Diego held 20 years ago. Termites were found to be destroying these.

Citizens raised $20,000 to save the buildings.

Then someone asked, "Why don't we hold another exposition in these buildings?"

"Because," was the reply, "there's a depression—and where would we get the money?"

Months passed, and a man who had been ruined financially by the Long Beach earthquake of March 10, 1933, arrived in San Diego. He was Frank Druegan, formerly head of the Woodrow Wilson Memorial Foundation. Wanting something to do, he suggested an exposition.

"We could use the buildings in Balboa Park," he suggested. Few listened. He called on business leaders, went to Chicago and talked to big exhibitors at the Century of

The court of inquiry was of the opinion that "no offenses have been committed and no blame was incurred."

REGAIN CONFIDENCE—SEE AMERICA FIRST

You can hear a good deal of talk about the need for confidence, these days, if you listen for it; and after hearing about so much of it, you are apt to begin to wonder just why we need to do so much talking about it. Confidence is essential, of course; but confidence in what? In the honesty or good sense of a particular group of politicians, financiers, business men, or labor leaders, or in the general health and robustness of the country as a whole? In the long run, the latter is all that counts. America is so big and so husky that she has stood up under an awful lot of hammering from selfish and misguided people in the past. Politicians have misled her and robber barons of finance and industry have taken her for a ride, but nobody has ever been able to put her in the hospital for keeps.

Perhaps the best course for a person who feels this need of confidence would be to go out across the countryside and see what there is to be seen. He could drive across millions of acres of the finest farming land on earth, past big barns and comfortable houses and green fields, amid sun-browned and brawny people who are more self-reliant, more intelligent, and more ambitious than any other group of farmers that ever existed. He could go through the world's greatest workshops, where the most modern machinery on earth is teamed with the earth's most skilled workers under the direction of executives who know their jobs forward and backward, inside and out.

He could travel over the world's greatest transportation network, with paved roads, railway lines, waterways, and airplane fields to co-operate in the moving of people and goods on a scale never seen before. He could visit the world's greatest oil fields, its most productive deposits of coal and iron and aluminum, its most stupendous hydro-electric plants; he could see a series of colleges and technical schools such as no other country can boast, busy at the job of providing trained leadership; he could mingle with a people not yet discouraged by the ills of a long-drawn depression, but full of determination and brave optimism. Confidence! It ought to be a drug on the market. This country is simply too big to lick. Not folly nor selfishness nor blindness can stop it. The one thing that ought to seem certain, in a world of uncertainty, is that America will return to its old-time health.

KEEP TRACK OF ALL ARMS

Attorney General Cummings believes that all pistols and revolvers should be registered and taxed just as automobiles are. "I do not think the present federal firearms law by any means goes far enough," he told reporters recently at a press conference. "While progress has been made under the new law"—which requires registration of machine guns, submachine guns, rifles, and sawed-off shotguns—"it is not as drastic or as helpful as the department needed. The present act does not touch revolvers and pistols." It is hard to think of any good reason why the act should not be amended as Mr. Cummings suggests. The time when the ordinary man needed to carry a revolver about his daily errands has passed. Why not compel the man who owns such a weapon to register it—and make it hot for him if he fails to?

Arizona Takes to Early Pageantry

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 21. (U.P.)—While in other sections of the country attention is directed to "little theatres," and workers' theaters, the Southwest has developed an increasing interest in the historical pageant. Colorful dons of old Spain stalk across the stages, bringing back the days of Conquistadores. Indian slaves and chiefs, and miners and gunmen refresh memories of bygone times.

In rich natural settings, or in huge stadia of steel and cement, players have tried to recapture the past. The plays and themes, and the actors, too, are indigenous to the Southwest. Hundreds of persons commonly take part. The legends of Montezuma, great mythical Indian ruler, and adventures of Cortez, are recreated in what sponsors hope may lead to a permanent vogue of the pageant. A number of natural sites are being improved, and new ones being discovered, and used. The most famous of the natural stages is that of Red Knolls, east of Phoenix, where a pageant of Gila Valley history is presented annually. Above are the towering cliffs of red sandstone, which throw back the voices of the speakers to the audience in a hush. At both sides the cliffs stand close in a natural V.

At Flagstaff, Mesa, and Phoenix likewise, artificial or natural outdoor settings are used for elaborate presentations. Sound amplification permits productions for huge crowds. Choral effects so far have not been developed to the extent that enthusiasts foresee. In addition to these, "frontier day" celebrations are profitable and successful methods of combining business with fun—the celebrations being intended to attract attention of eastern visitors. Rodeos likewise are flourishing, promising that arts of the range will not be lost, even should their need disappear. Aside from a few big shows, most of the latter are staged for the benefit of local and neighbor audiences.

'Hold 'Em Yale' Comedy Story By Damon Runyon

From the prolific pen of Damon Runyon, sports expert and short story writer, comes the new Paramount screen comedy, "Hold 'Em Yale," showing today and tomorrow at Yucca. The picture, which shows what happens when a group of Runyon's "very hard citizens" from Broadway get mixed up with a beautiful but determined heiress, features Patricia Ellis, Cesar Romero, Larry Crabb and William Frawley. Romero, the Casanova of this Broadway gang, manages to get himself engaged to Patricia Ellis on the strength of the beautiful aviation uniform he wears. But he changes his mind and runs off, leaving the boys with the beautiful young lady on their hands. She takes them in hand, polishes their manners and practices her cooking on the suffering Broadway-waiters until they plead with her millionaire father to take her back. But he wants no part of her, and tells them that their only chance is to get her married off to his friend's son, a student at Yale. The uproarious climax is devoted to showing how Runyon's citizens get the boy into the Yale-Harvard football game and palm the girl off on him.

Mrs. Edd Dick Cowden Entertains With Buffet Bridge Luncheon Today

FEMININE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN EILAND

We've often heard it said that life's finest things come cheapest. We have decided they do, since reading that New York's poets held a sale with traffic in poems brisk at 25 cents each.

There might, of course, be some difference of opinion as to the degree of fineness of the poems put up for sale.

It's a good thing we're telling this in a woman's column for any masculine reader, we are sure, would chuckle with glee and shake his head wisely-cracked about the story.

According to a report on a medical case made at Washington the other day a woman's mental power was improved after the removal of nearly all the parts of her brain that control thinking.

The entire right prefrontal lobe of the brain and most of the left lobe had to be removed because of a tumor. These parts are supposed to be the seat of reason, logic and intelligence.

Now intelligence tests rate her as well as the average American adult, her power of concentration is greater than before, and she says she can do more work without fatigue. Her temper is better. In fact, this "brainless" woman seems to have risen above the level of the personality she was while she retained the usual amount of gray cells in her cranium.

There's only one drawback—her husband says she has feelings of superiority. (Justly no doubt!) Come to think of it, this case seems to demonstrate the superiority of the female of the species. Who but a woman could ever get along without the supposedly essential brain—and make just as good a showing as before?

At last, the redheads are coming into their own. For years the red-headed girl has had to struggle along using cosmetics designed for her blonde sister, or worse still, her brunettes. Now at last, powder, rouge, and lipstick have been devised especially for red heads. Who knows? There'll be more red-headed girls (or perhaps we'd better say Titan-haired ones) on the front pages of the magazines in the future.

In ancient times the seventh child of a seventh child was credited with supernatural powers.

A profusion of pink and red roses and pale lavender larkspur made background for the buffet bridge luncheon with which Mrs. Edd Dick Cowden entertained at her home, 307 W. Wall today, naming Mrs. Ed Whitaker honoree. An imported Italian cloth covered the serving table while smaller tables for luncheon were laid in white with rock crystal appointments gleaming amid the china.

A silver tray laid upon a flower-decked table bore the silver bowl from which punch was served.

Playing appointments for the afternoon's bridge games continued the floral motif with tables bearing decorations of tiny painted bottles.

Don't Over-do When Attempting a New Sport, Is Advice

BY ALICIA HART Written for NEA Service

Taking up outdoor sports in too strenuous fashion is one of the biggest mistakes an exercise-minded woman can make. During the summer months it's an excellent idea to substitute golf or tennis for the regular setting-up and reducing exercises you've been doing. But if you accept the substitutions with unnecessary vigor, you'll do your body more harm than good.

If you've been doing exercises for only ten minutes a day and walking very few miles per week, it stands to reason that it would be foolish for you to play eighteen holes of golf the first time on the course, and even more foolish to swim a mile or so across a bay. You might get across the bay, and even back again, but you'd be completely exhausted as well as disgusted with the idea of being a sportswoman.

Take your sports in small doses until you're used to them. Don't play with people who expect you to keep at it for hours. Don't lose interest and give up a good outdoor game simply because you can't see a golf ball or swim moderately high score. That you are getting exercise in the fresh air and that you keep happy while getting it are the important things.

Hiding and swimming are fine sports for beginners. They exercise all of the muscles and, in addition, can be done alone. You don't really need company for either. Just be sure the horse is gentle and that the beach where you swim your few strokes a day isn't considered a dangerous one.

As a member of the court, Miss Thomas and her escort, Mr. Jim Gardner, took part in the special figure led by the Queen at the dance following the Fete.

The following description of the occasion was sent by the school special to The Reporter-Telegram: The May Fete and dance at Southern Seminary on Saturday afternoon, May 18, was the most beautiful of a long succession of such occasions. The ideal setting on the west campus with its background of green and the more distant mountains made a beautiful background for the young women in the Court as well as the various groups of dances.

Miss Suzanne Marchand of Pittsburgh, her Maid of Honor. The sixteen girls forming her Court represented almost as many States as the Union. The queen wore an ivory satin dress with a court train and carried an arm shower of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Marshall wore a dress of blue lace with a short train and carried pink roses and delphinium. The sixteen maids were dressed in identical costumes of blue chiffon over which they wore stiched taffeta capes of the same shade. They carried bouquets of spring flowers. The Pages and Master of Ceremonies were dressed in white satin court costumes.

The pageant which was presented for the entertainment of the Queen and her Court featured the part that play has in life. Miss Honi Rowe, of Bowling Green, Virginia, was the spirit of play. She introduced the four seasons represented by Miss Madie Barrett, as spring; Miss Betty Warren as summer; Miss Maye Lou Breneman as autumn; and Miss Henrietta Williams, as winter. They in turn presented groups of dances typical of each season. Notable among the dances were the Scarf Dance, April Showers, May Pole Group, The Dance of the Flowers, Summer Moon, The Triumph of the Thunder Clouds, Skaters and the Christmas Dolls.

The sixteen maids were dressed in identical costumes of blue chiffon over which they wore stiched taffeta capes of the same shade. They carried bouquets of spring flowers. The Pages and Master of Ceremonies were dressed in white satin court costumes.

The pageant which was presented for the entertainment of the Queen and her Court featured the part that play has in life. Miss Honi Rowe, of Bowling Green, Virginia, was the spirit of play. She introduced the four seasons represented by Miss Madie Barrett, as spring; Miss Betty Warren as summer; Miss Maye Lou Breneman as autumn; and Miss Henrietta Williams, as winter. They in turn presented groups of dances typical of each season. Notable among the dances were the Scarf Dance, April Showers, May Pole Group, The Dance of the Flowers, Summer Moon, The Triumph of the Thunder Clouds, Skaters and the Christmas Dolls.

As a member of the court, Miss Thomas and her escort, Mr. Jim Gardner, took part in the special figure led by the Queen at the dance following the Fete.

The following description of the occasion was sent by the school special to The Reporter-Telegram: The May Fete and dance at Southern Seminary on Saturday afternoon, May 18, was the most beautiful of a long succession of such occasions. The ideal setting on the west campus with its background of green and the more distant mountains made a beautiful background for the young women in the Court as well as the various groups of dances.

Miss Suzanne Marchand of Pittsburgh, her Maid of Honor. The sixteen girls forming her Court represented almost as many States as the Union. The queen wore an ivory satin dress with a court train and carried an arm shower of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Marshall wore a dress of blue lace with a short train and carried pink roses and delphinium. The sixteen maids were dressed in identical costumes of blue chiffon over which they wore stiched taffeta capes of the same shade. They carried bouquets of spring flowers. The Pages and Master of Ceremonies were dressed in white satin court costumes.

Gives Recipes to Make Strawberry Preserves

Now that strawberries are in season again, many housewives will be purchasing this nationally-liked fruit. Used in strawberry shortcake or eaten crushed with sugar and fresh cream, strawberries are calculated to bring down praise upon the housewife who serves them.

For those who desire to preserve them for future use, Miss Myrtle Miller, home demonstration agent, gives the following two methods of preserving:

Strawberry Preserves
1 quart sugar—1 1/2 quarts strawberries (Never double this recipe). Wash and grade the strawberries into two classes—large and medium sized. If there are any over-ripe berries these may be used for making jam. After the berries have been thoroughly washed in the colander, then remove stems with a stainless plating knife.

After removing stems from berries, place in colander and let water run over them lightly to remove any grit.
Place layers of berries and sugar alternately in an enameled lined or extra heavy aluminum kettle. Heat slowly and stir gently until the sugar melts. Cook very rapidly from 15 to 20 minutes or until the syrup sheets from the spoon.

Remove any skin with a silver spoon. Allow to cool, when cool and before jelly stage is reached, pack the fruit in jars. Wipe surplus fruit or syrup from the jars. Seal.

Allow to stand over night and process for 15 minutes in hot water keeping water just below the boiling point. Remove lid at once and pour hot paraffin over surface 1-1/2 inch thick. Seal at once.

Strawberry Preserves
2 pounds of berries, 1/2 cup of berry juice, 1 1/2 pounds sugar.
Wash, grade and stem the strawberries. Make syrup of the sugar and juice and add the berries. Cook to 222 Fahrenheit of 105 1/2 Centigrade, or until the syrup is very thick. Cook quickly, pack into sterilized jars, and seal (See directions in recipe No. 1 for pocking and sealing).

Rayburn Bill "Pressure" Is Moot Question

NEW YORK.—None of the major objectionable features of the Wheeler-Rayburn bill affecting electric and gas utilities have been eliminated in the revised bill reported out of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce, according to C. E. Groesbeck, chairman of the Electric Bond and Share Company. In a report mailed to more than 250,000 stockholders of the company, Groesbeck questioned the "pressure" that is being used to hasten the bill through Congress, despite the hundreds of thousands of protests from stockholders and others, and pointed out that the only proponents for the bill are Government employees.

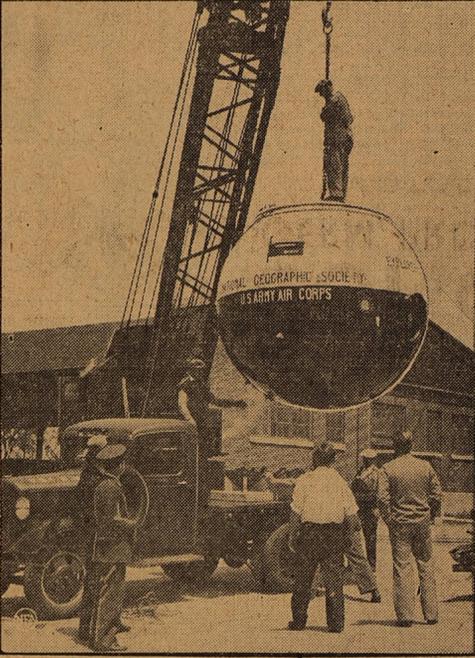

"The statement of Groesbeck follows: 'We are advising our more than a quarter-million stockholders that despite all reports to the contrary, the public utility bill, known also as the Wheeler-Rayburn bill, still provides for the dismembering and destruction of our companies and other utility holding companies. 'We feel it is our duty to keep our stockholders informed and to point out to them that if they want to protect their investments quick action is necessary in expressing their opposition to this bill, because of the extraordinary efforts being made to rush this destructive bill into law. 'We have advised our stockholders it now appears a vote may be taken on this bill in the United States Senate within the next few days. One would think from the ardor with which advocates of the bill are pressing for its enactment that there was a general demand from the American people that it be made a law. Everyone knows that this is not the case. 'During the hearings held by the House and Senate committees there appeared before these committees a long and distinguished list of citizens, representing a cross-section of American life, to record their opposition to this bill. In this group were representatives of insurance companies, saving banks, local investors, state regulatory commissions, economists and many others who opposed the bill as unfair, un-American, discriminatory, unnecessary and vicious. 'Besides, it has been publicly stated that many thousands of letters and telegrams protesting against the passage of this bill have been received from all parts of the country, by members of Congress and the President. 'Who appeared for this bill? No one, except a few employees of the Government. Not one person representing the millions of investors; not one person representing the millions of electrical customers appeared before either of the committees to speak in favor of this legislation. 'In view of the lack of public support of this bill and the all-out protest against its enactment it is not natural that the people should look askance at efforts being made to rush this bill into law? One can not help but feel that there is an unexplained motive behind this extraordinary procedure. 'I am forced to the opinion that the ultimate plans of those who are trying so hard to speed this bill into law includes not only the avowed objectives of destruction of holding companies but also embraces as their primary purpose the weakening of local privately-owned companies so that they will have to seek financial aid from the Government at its dictated terms, thus hastening the day of socialization of this industry without recompense to the investors who built it. 'As was recently expressed, 'the

A City With No Smoke Evil, No Chimneys! Coulee Dam Is Reason

Three thousand people live in the new city seen here on the far side of the Columbia river in Washington. But there's no smoke, and not even a chimney in the whole town. It's Mason City, erected below the Grand Coulee Dam to house the dam builders. The town, whose two principal streets are Roosevelt and Ickes avenues, was built with PWA funds, and will be permanent. With its landscaped homes, combined theater and church, hospital, recreation hall, airport and baseball diamond, Mason City is a far cry from the shantytowns that used to house construction workers.

Takeoff Day for Strato Gondola

It was takeoff day for the stratosphere balloon gondola when this picture was snapped, but no altitude marks were made. The nine-foot metal ball was merely derricked a few feet in the air and then placed on a truck to start its trip from Dayton, O., to Rapid City, S. D., near where the ascent, aiming at a 14-mile height, will start in June. Lighter than aluminum, the magnesium alloy ball has tremendous strength, having passed the most severe tests.

Barbara Sees Cameraman; Just Get That Glare!

The adoring look of a bride vanished when Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow looked past her new husband at their honeymoon dinner in San Francisco and beheld that base of her life, a cameraman, this explaining the glare she's directing to her left. The dime store heiress and her Danish count, creating a sensation in the city of Barbara's school days, are to be guests at a round of lavish social functions before they depart for Europe to make their home.

I do believe they will take part in it more largely in the future, and I have faith that their influence will make for social amelioration. As yet they are not politically conscious, but when they become so they will be able to correct many of the existing disorders."

bill remains as before, unsound in substance, punitive in spirit and destructive in its effects. 'What America wants is not more destruction but more construction; greater payrolls instead of more people on relief; more confidence in business invested instead of fear. 'The Wheeler bill is not aimed to regulate or to build or to protect; it is aimed to strangle, to harass and to destroy. It will retard instead of advance recovery."

man, scores of peanut and popcorn stands—the amusement center greets like Topsy.

Art treasures—paintings, sculpture, photography from all over the world—have been assembled for display.

Education, science, music, and industry will be the motif for special exhibits. San Diego's mammoth zoo, third largest in the country, covering 23 acres, with the only two gorillas reared in captivity, is located within the exposition grounds.

Surveys were made to estimate probable attendance. One accommodation agency sent in reservations for 342,000 beds. Inquiries and surveys by transportation companies indicate now a probable attendance of 8,000,000.

Southern California's famous state societies—made up of former residents of other states and territorial possessions of the United States—have arranged a series of state days. One-half million have indicated they will attend these programs.

The fair is scheduled to close Nov. 11. Its run will be 187 days. During that time, more than 500 "special days" will be observed.

Ten palaces of Spanish Renaissance design house the principal exhibits.

Fifteen foreign nations are represented in 15 cottages in the Plaza of Pacific Relations. Special days of time, more than 500 "special days" will be observed.

An unusual feature is a replica of a 49 mining camp, Gold Gulch, complete from weekly paper to Chinese laundry. Here visitors will pan gold from sands.

In addition to the exposition, many events of national interest are scheduled for the summer. June 10 the United States fleet will be concentrated off San Diego and engage in a spectacular water pageant, convoyed by hundreds of fighting planes. In August, 700 yachts will take part in a series of regattas. A year ago the town was quiet. Then—the termite bit the palm tree.

*MOTORISTS WHO KNOW THESE FACTS WILL SAVE MONEY!

Motor oils refined by the usual methods have some oiliness and film strength, but they may form carbon and sludge, which lead to expensive motor repairs.

Other oils may form almost no carbon and sludge, but are so over-refined that they are robbed of oiliness and film strength they need to prevent motor wear.

Germ Processed Oil is refined to eliminate carbon and sludge troubles and then the Germ Process adds extra oiliness and 2 to 4 times more film strength than any straight mineral oil, as tests on Almen and Timken machines have proved.

DID YOU know that idling along at 10 miles an hour or picking up suddenly can cause as much motor wear as high-speed driving?

All three put extreme pressure on your connecting rod and crankshaft bearings. If your oil does not have enough oiliness and film strength to withstand these high pressures, your motor parts suffer damaging wear. That's why you need oil with the greatest possible oiliness and film strength.

Straight mineral oils have no more oiliness and film strength than they had 10 years ago. Some, because of over-refining, have less!

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has more oiliness and 2 to 4 times more film strength than straight mineral oils! The Germ Process—adding concentrated oily essence to highly-refined, paraffin-base oil—puts into this oil more film strength and oiliness than any oil possesses naturally, no matter what crude oil it is made from!

That extra film strength and oiliness enable Germ Processed Oil to stay on the job and prevent wear under the most extreme pressure and heat. It helps Germ Processed Oil give long mileage with greater motor protection, as proved by the famous Indianapolis Destruction Test.

Germ Processed Oil protects your motor another way. Because it penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, it forms a "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and cuts down wear during the starting period.

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is the oil you need in this day of slow city driving, speed on the highway and sudden acceleration everywhere. It protects your motor and saves you money!
