VOL. VIII Number 1

Immediate War Is Proposal of French

EMPLOYERS OFFER TO MAKE CHANGES TO AID HIRELINGS

Prepared to Accept Any Reasonable Agreement

NEW OUTBREAKS

Police Arrest Four After Clash in City

NEW YORK, Mar. 10 (AP)—The employers group announced today that New York building operators are ready to accept any reasonable agreement to eliminate sub-standard conditions in the building service industry.

Strikers started ordering workers from buildings vital to the grand central area after operators had rejected mayor LaGuardia's arbitration proposals, previously accepted by the strikers.

Four were arrested as the result of a clash between workers and pickets at the Atlanta Hat concern, The Province, Rhode Island, truck drivers strike ended as employers acceded to demands of higher pay and shorter hours.

Disorders marked the strike of building service workers at Newark, New Jersey. A Philadelphia meat shortage was predicted as the result of a strike by truckers for six paces concerns.

Figures in Probe

While an amazing story of a spy ring believed to have stolen U. S. navy secrets and sold them to foreign countries was being investigated by the federal grand jury in Los Angeles, Henry T. Thompson, 27, above, former U. S. sailor, was held on charges of illegal wearing of a navy uniform. A "cultured Oriental," said to be paymaster of the "ring," and believed fleeing the country, is sought for questioning.

MANCHU TROOPS TAKE CHINESE' MONGOLIAN CITY

Japanese Influence Is Pushed 200 Miles Nearer Russia

TRUCKS ARE USED

Motorized Soldiers Under Shohsin Take Town

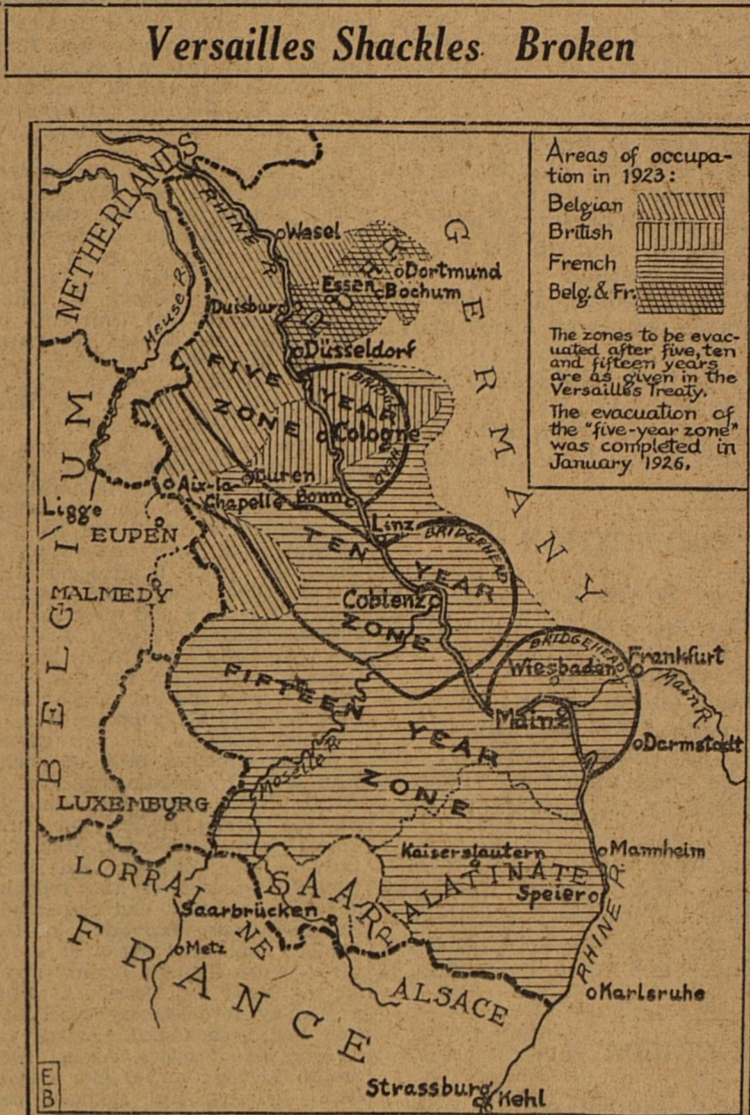

SHANGHAI, March 10. (AP)—Chinese press reports said today a small detachment of Manchoukuo troops had seized Pailingmiao, the capital of Chinese inner Mongolia, extending Japan's sphere of influence between Soviet Russia and China proper 200 miles farther westward.

The Manchoukuos were said to be commanded by Gen. Li Shohsin and were reported to have come in motor trucks from Changpei, in northern Chahar province of China. (Inner Mongolian troops were reported on Jan. 19 to have taken control of Changpei and to have set up a Mongolian regime friendly to Manchoukuo, Japanese sponsored state.)

Pailingmiao, the site of a huge golden-roofed Mongol lamasery, is situated 150 miles north of Kweihsia, in Suiyuan province of China. It is the key point on the ancient caravan route from China into central Asia.

Chiefly symbolic was the entrance of German troops into the demilitarized Rhine district, synchronizing with the address of Adolf Hitler to the Reichstag, in which he extended the hand of peace while denouncing the Versailles treaty and announcing that the Locarno pact had ceased to exist. A single battalion went first into Cologne, then a train of motor trucks, to be cheered by thousands. This picture shows parading troops of the new Germany.

The left bank of the Rhine, on which Cologne stands, was permanently demilitarized by the Versailles treaty. Germany was forbidden to maintain military forces there or fortify any part of the area, violation to be regarded as a hostile act against all treaty signatories. The map shows the zones of occupation, as fixed by the treaty, in which allied troops were stationed for 5, 10 and 15 years.

GENERAL APPEAL FOR SUPPORT IS ISSUED LEAGUE

Britain Refuses to Aid in Removal of Troops

READY TO FIGHT

Would Rather Have War Now Than Later

Paris, Mar. 10. (AP)—France today issued a general appeal to members of the League of Nations for support in their "fight for peace" program. Premier Albert Sarraut went before the chamber of deputies in an effort to gain sympathy for the French cause, declaring that if Hitler had been justified in violating the Locarno pact, "We must turn resolutely toward military alliances, armament races and war when the time favors."

The French general staff contended that Germany is unprepared for war while France is at its best. They stated that if there must be war, they preferred to have it now rather than wait a year or two hence.

Foreign minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin failed to obtain British support for the French proposal that Alois Hitler be compelled to remove his troops from the Rhineland.

Flandin argued vainly in a three-hour conference with Locarno signatories including Belgium and Italy for drastic action against the Germans.

The British foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, demanded a sympathetic examination of Hitler's peace offer. Conferees decided to leave the decision to a meeting of the League of Nations next Friday.

JAFSIE SAYS HE CANNOT RETURN

Kidnap Intermediary Says "They Won't Let Me Come Back"

NEW YORK, March 10. (AP)—Dr. John Jafsie, kidnap intermediary in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, was quoted by a ship cruise conductor today as saying he "could not return home" from Cristobal, C. Z., "because they won't let me."

Richard B. Townsend, cruise conductor of the Colombian liner Colombia, returning here from a southern trip, recounted in detail a conversation which he said he had with Dr. Condon when the boat docked at Cristobal.

"I pressed him for an explanation of who 'they' were, but he wouldn't say, and he wouldn't say why he couldn't come back," Townsend said.

Townsend said that Dr. Condon appeared worried and in bad health, that the Lindbergh emissary was "haggard" and so thin his clothes hung loosely on his big frame.

OFFICIAL GAUGE IS COMPLETED ON WINKLER WELL

New Producer Tests 594 Barrels in 24 Hours

By FRANK GARDNER

The 24-hour production gauge taken on the Keys, Cherry and others No. 1 Central State Bank of Abilene set the well's potential at 594 barrels officially, but as high as 660 barrels also claimed. The discrepancy is said to be in the strapping of the two tall 500-barrel storage tanks.

The oil flow in the new producer was through 2-inch tubing set 180 feet off bottom and 7-inch casing, both opened. Whether the Keys and Cherry well will be classed as a new pool or an extension of the Sayre pool is still indefinite. It is two miles south of the present producing limits of the Sayre pool and is located 330 feet from the north and 2,310 feet from the east line of section 25, block 26, public school land.

Preparations are being made for nitro shot in the prospective one mile north extension of the Sayre pool, Humble No. 1-D State Walton. A flow of 40 barrels of oil was registered in six hours by the well. It is bottomed at 2,930 feet and is reported to have logged pay breaks at 2,760 to 2,762 and 2,792 to 2,802. Location is in the southeast corner of section 20, block 74, public school land.

No Increase in Oil

Gulf No. 1-A Daugherty, a half mile west of the recent Amara north extension well of the Sayre pool, has drilled to 3,214 feet without any increase in the four barrels of oil daily coming from pay sand at 2,925 to 2,930. It is in the southeast corner of the southwest of section 35, block 74, public school land.

In the Waddell pool of north-eastern Crane county, Magnolia No. 4 Edwards, 1,650 feet from the south and 330 feet from the west line of section 2, block B-23, public school land, tested 254 barrels of oil in three hours. Bottomed in line at 3,559 feet, the new flush producer encountered porous streaks at 3,542 to 3,544 and 3,550 to 3,552. Plans of operators are indefinite, but the well may receive the large acid treatment usually given to Waddell pool producers. It is the north offset to the Magnolia No. 3 Edwards, the largest well yet completed in the pool, with a potential of 14,312 barrels daily.

In the Tubb area of Crane, Humble No. 1 J. B. Tubb in the north-west quarter of section 11, block B-27, public school land, is waiting for cement to set around 8 5/8-inch casing set at 4,362 feet. The well has reached a total depth of 4,375 feet in line.

To Halt Drilling

Drilling was scheduled to be halted at noon today in the most advanced of the Gaines county wildcats, Wahlenmaier, York and Harper No. 1. Dr. E. H. Jones, steel line measurement will be taken and dismantling of rig will get under way. The No. 1 Jones when last reported had drilled to 5,208 feet in line, with no shows of oil, gas or water in the Permian line. Structurally low, it topped solid lime at 4,980 feet, and decision was made to drill it 200 additional feet below the former contract depth of 5,000 feet for more geological data. It is 17 miles northwest of Seminole in section 414, block G, C.C.S.D. & R.G.N.G. survey.

The majority of geologists are picking 4,545 feet as top of lime in the other Gaines wildcat, W. T. Walsh and Harry Adams Corp. No. 1 Avertit. Samples at that depth (See OIL NEWS, page 8)

ETHIOPIAN WOMEN KILLED BY BOMBS IN NEW AIR RAID

War Maneuvers Are Renewed After a 1-Day Halt

LONDON, Mar. 10 (AP)—A Reuters news agency correspondent today reported 20 women had been killed in an Italian air bombing raid at Erga Alem in the Sidamo province.

At Asmara, Eritrea, Italy continued war maneuvers after a one-day cessation of hostilities. Fascist air planes were reported to be cruising far into the unconquered territory, and new bombardments were thought planned.

Highwaymen Captured After High-Jacking Man

Oil Scout Recovers Car, Property in Marfa

A Midland man, John H. Regan, employed as geological scout by the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Co., was the victim of two hijackers yesterday, being robbed of a company car and personal belongings. Both highwaymen were later apprehended and are now incarcerated in the jail at Marfa.

The hold-up is said to have occurred when Regan, driving north-west on the road about 10 miles south of Valentine, slowed up to turn into a side road leading to an oil well. A Chevrolet sedan carrying Tennessee license tags sped past him, stopping suddenly upon blowing out a tire. One of the two occupants of the car walked back to Regan and asked to borrow a tire jack. Whereupon he was joined by the other man, and both individuals pulled guns on Regan, forcing him to give up his car and $23.

Leaving their car and taking Regan's two robbers then headed north to Lobo, stripping Regan's belongings along the roadside, among them his briefcase, boots, and suitcase. Turning west across the desert, they cut up into the mountains. Surveyors working on an underpass on the road nearby observed the curious actions of the car through the telescope on their transit, thus being able to definitely locate the two desperados when a party of officers arrived on the scene sometime later. The officers, summoned by Regan, included sheriffs and deputies from Van Horn, Valentine and Marfa. Both highwaymen were quickly captured and were taken to Marfa, where they were put in jail to await preferment of charges.

Regan is expected to return to Midland today, having recovered the company car and most of his belongings.

Red Flags Displayed At Nuevo Laredo Schools

LAREDO, Mar. 10. (AP)—Agrarians today threw their support to the striking school teachers of Tamaulipas, and labor unions backed the movement. Red flags were displayed around Nuevo Laredo schools, and troops were standing guard to prevent possible clashes.

Strikers are demanding increased salaries, charging that some of them are paid as low as one peso, 35 centavos per day.

Jurist Journeys to Pantless Prisoner

When a judge goes to jail to try a prisoner that's news, but that is what Judge Knowles, justice of peace in precinct one, city judge and bearer of other titles, was forced to do today.

The prisoner, an Odessa man, was discovered by officers Saturday night slightly befuddled from intoxicating libations, yet presenting an immaculate appearance, with one exception—he had no trousers. All other requirements of what the well-dressed man should wear were being conformed with except lack of the customary limb adornment.

At the suggestion of one officer, indeed, no positive charges were considered but were dismissed when it was pointed out that the man was wearing "long-handles". Explanation of the dismissal was given in the statement "that is more clothes than lots of persons appear on the streets with."

At trial time no lower appendage decorations had been found for the man, and as he could throw no light on where he had left the pair he had on at last memory, the judge was forced to try the man in the calaboose. He was fined $14, and was forced to remain in jail until he has served his sentence after his explanation that with no pockets in his "long-handles", he, therefore, had no money to pay the fine.

With the time of his sentence decided, his only worry now is where he can get a pair of trousers so that he can leave the bastille (and in all probabilities, the city) when his time has been served.

CHILD'S PROSPECTS

An economist at the University of Wisconsin, Dr. O. E. Baker, expresses the sincere hope that his boy, now 5, will eventually become a farmer. This is why, reasons the professor: The farmer has better food, even in times of depression, than his city neighbors; he has better health; he can accumulate more property; he is more likely to enjoy his work than town people; finally, and most important, the farmer is more likely to rear a family and do his part to promote the general welfare of the nation.

NEW WORD FOR COMPETITION

The regimented thinking of Soviet Russia is daily growing more entertaining. The latest kink is an order from Stalin banning use of the word "competition," for "competition" is anti-Bolshevik, we are told. Up to now the word has been one of the most widely used in the Soviet Union to urge individuals and factories to increase output. In the future, however, the term, "friendly contest," will be used under government order. It is said to imply "comradely aid to achieve general progress."

CONSIDER THE CHILDREN

The appalling growth of the delinquent child problem has stirred Michigan to action. Every year from 5000 to 6000 children face municipal courts in that state, costing the people almost $1,000,000 to handle the cases—and foreshadowing a tragic future crime bill. Now there is, under consideration, a "Michigan plan," for uniting churches, courts, schools, police, civic leaders and the state government in a sustained, co-operative drive to keep youth on the right track.

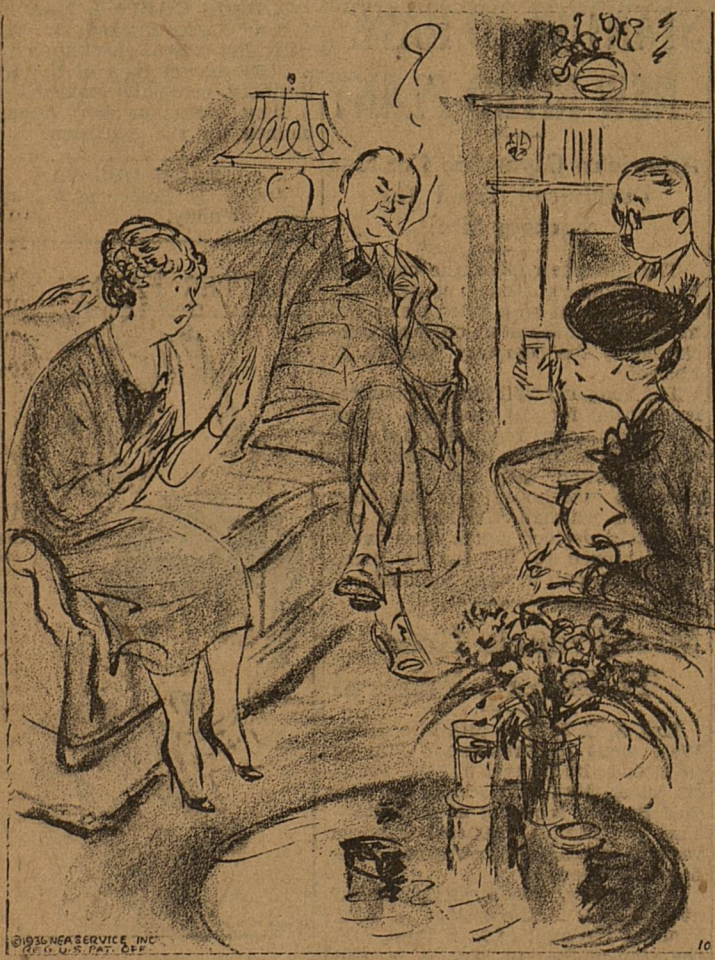

ART OR OBSCENITY?

Every so often there pops up some earnest soul who feels that the artist who paints an undraped female figure is committing a great obscenity. The most recent instance occurred in Richmond, Va., where the leader of a self-appointed committee caused the arrest of John Stewart Bryan, Jr., vice chairman of the Richmond Academy of Arts. Mr. Bryan permitted the display of mural paintings by Mordt Gassner. In these murals there were several nude and semi-nude figures. As usual, the complaint was that such things tend to corrupt the morals of the citizenry.

A Soviet girl who makes delayed parachute jumps says that, on her hops, she had never seen "a trace of a Divine Being." She might try a longer delay.

A Michigan man poured kerosene on his clothing and ignited it. A less speedy but more satisfactory plan, these days, is just to hug the furnace.

Spain Is Stumbling Block to Fascism

By MILTON BRONNER, NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 10.—Fascism has been beaten and soundly beaten in the parliamentary nation-wide elections in Spain—that is the high spot of interest for every American who has been alarmed at the gradual spread of dictatorships. Everywhere in the Old World the Haves—the powerful, greedy Haves—seemed to be battling it out with the poor multitude of Have-Nots, and mostly winning.

No country aspiring to republicanism has had a harder fight than Spain. In 1931 democracy won, King Alfonso XIII fled, a republic was set up and very radical laws were passed. But they were never enforced up to the hilt. There was not time.

By 1933, when the Cortes was dissolved and a new election decreed, a new star had arisen on the political horizon in the shape of smooth-shaven, pasty-faced light-eyed Gil Robles, still in his thirties and a professor of political economy at the University of Salamanca. He created the party known as Action Popular. He proved himself a clever speaker and a crafty organizer. He soon became the white hope of all the dark forces of Spanish reaction.

Has Backed Robles The royalists who dreamed of the restoration of the monarchy, the aristocrats who hoped for the restoration of their ancient privileges, the great landholders who feared that their vast estates would be cut up and given to the starving peasants, the industrialists who dreamed of short, Fascist methods with their workmen—all these massed behind Robles and contributed to his campaign fund. Robles came to the new Cortes with the strongest body of partisans in it. In coalition with other forces of the Right, they controlled the Cortes easily. The first Cortes had been overwhelmingly Left. Alcala Zamora had been elected President of the republic and Manuel Azana had been made Premier. Those early days of the republic had been great days for the original fighters against monarchy. Back in December, 1930, a flaming revolutionary proclamation had been issued. Among its signers were Zamora, Azana, Alejandro Lerroux and Largo Caballero. Lerroux, the Radical, was Minister of Foreign Affairs in 1931. Caballero, the Socialist, was Minister of Labor.

Refused Cabinet Post But by the time Robles had come to the front in 1933, these former allies were all at sixes and sevens. Azana and Caballero still stuck to their colors. But Lerroux had deserted to the conservatives. As for President Zamora, he was cursed by both sides. The Azana ministry fell. Robles refused to form a cabinet. He preferred to hold the balance of power and dictate policies. So he put into the Premiership the 63-year-old Lerroux, of whom it was said he was a good republican when Spain was a monarchy, a good friend of the workers when the aristocrats bossed things, but turned his coat when republicans got control.

Later on Robles consented to enter the cabinet, taking the portfolio of war. Some of his political allies were royalists. But he gave lip service to the republic. It was feared by the republicans that he was only biding his time until he got a good grip on the army and would then impose a Fascist regime, if not a restoration of monarchy.

1934 Revolution was Premature The leaders of the Left, to prevent this, committed the foolish act of starting revolutionary proceedings in October, 1934. This played right into the hands of Robles. The Lerroux government, supported by the army and the police, put down the revolutionary

Never since the earliest days of the present Republic has Spain seethed with the excitement that has attended its recent pre-election and post-election demonstrations. This picture, just arrived in America, shows how cheering

movement with stern tactics. The jails of Spain were filled with men of the Left from former Minister Caballero down to humble workmen. In the mining region of the Asturias, the rebellious miners fought longest. Quarter seems to have been neither asked nor given there. The Robles adherents, through their big newspapers, published horrific accounts of cruelties alleged to have been perpetrated by the rebels. As there was a censorship, the leaders of the Left could not reply, but by word of mouth it got about that the government had authorized terrible repression. It was charged it had called in the Foreign Legion from Morocco and that nameless crimes were perpetrated.

Vote Campaign Was Savage So the battle lines faced each other when the elections took place in February, 1936. A government of the Centre was in power. It tried to hold the scales evenly between Left and Right, but finally made some sort of coalition with the Robles adherents. The electoral campaign was short, sharp and far more savage than anything known even in the bitterest American presidential elections. The parties of the right centered their fire on Largo Caballero, who had been jailed for his alleged part in the outbreaks of 1934 and finally acquitted. "The Spanish Lenin" they called him, this 64-year-old former plasterer, who had led in trades unionism for 45 years and had been Secretary General of the Trades Union Federation.

The republican coalition centered its fire on Robles. They called him the enemy of the republic, the proponent of Fascism. Hot shots from the locker were also aimed at Lerroux, under whose premiership his former friends had been arrested after the 1934 episode. And nobody had a good word for President Zamora.

Caballero Is New Boss The Left won. Its adherents began pouring forth in their thousands from the various jails and prisons. Many reactionaries who had taken part in the bloody events in Asturias, fled the country. Robles said he would resign from the leadership of his party, which still has the largest block of members in the new Cortes. Caballero, the so-called Lenin, refused to take seat in the new cabinet.

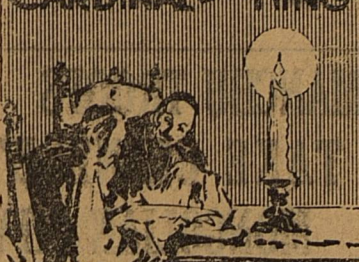

The government is once more headed by Manuel Azana as Premier, as it was back in 1931. The scholarly lawyer, the President of the famous literary club of Madrid, the Ateneo, which he made a hot-bed of revolt against King Alfonso, will once more try to consolidate republicanism in Spain, put democratic laws into execution, further republicanize the army, get land for the peasants and better conditions for the town workers.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

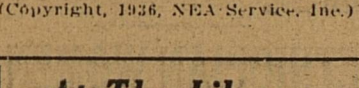

CARDINAL OF KING

YOUNG King Louis XIII was on the throne of France in the early part of the 17th century, but the real power of the country was wielded by the great cardinal, Armand Jean du Plessis, Duc de Richelieu.

Cardinal Richelieu, one of the most astounding characters in European history, not only became ecclesiastical leader of France, but, from 1624 to 1642, principal minister to the king. It was through his tact and skill in diplomacy that the absolute authority of the sovereign was established.

In 1635 he established the French Academy, a famous society of letters; for the purpose of developing and purifying the French language. The 40 "Immortals" to whom membership of the Academy is restricted are among the world's most famous literary men.

On the 300th anniversary of this institution, France issued a commemorative stamp, and no better subject could have been chosen to illustrate it than the famous cardinal.

New books on the rent shelf are: "Love in Winter," by Storm Jameson; "This is a love story as simple in itself as all the remembered love-stories have been, but twisted from its proper growth by the unmanageable complexity of modern life. A story of intense interest, rich in incident; an honest and sentimental account of a serious passion; an exciting piece of social criticism.

"The Garden Murder case," by S. S. Van Dine; This is another Philo Vance story that will appeal to the many Van Dine readers. "Scandal of Father Brown," by G. K. Someone gently dropped this hint: "Tomorrow's forgotten man stopped advertising this week."

Today is the seventh anniversary of The Reporter-Telegram and the founding of the Midland Publishing Co. The paper was the outgrowth of two established newspapers, previous consolidations, absorptions and purchases having dated back to the old Midland Gazette of the late eighties. We won't try to sell you any ads congratulating us on our birthday, however. Just advertise your own business in The Reporter-Telegram and that will be all the congratulations we want. In fact if you keep it up consistently enough as many are doing, you will have good business to congratulate yourself on.

If you have missed Gilbert Ragsdale from around his peanut-popcorn business of late, he felt that the stock show at Fort Worth couldn't open very well without him. So, accompanied by Hyson Smith and other friends who talk the sign language, off they went the first of this week. Gilbert will go to Dallas for special X-ray treatment while he's down that way.

I'm late in commenting on the "something missing" in Sunday's paper. Of course, you know what I mean—Harry Haight's dream. The only excuse I see for his absence is that he suffered from insomnia instead of nightmares all last week.

A lot of Midland people are getting ahead of the game in the clean up campaign. Which is highly commendable. If you start early it's easier to get the yard man you want for the job. It's been many a year since there was so much pride in yards as I have seen evidenced already this spring. Or is it spring yet?

It is noteworthy that among the most attractive new yards in town are those of the so-called Humble houses. It would take an expert to figure out for himself that those houses were moved here. They look as if they were built for the spots on which they are located.

Good Coffee Is Worth the Money

You buy good coffee to get the full coffee flavor, but the true flavor can be captured only by making the coffee properly, and one requirement is the right amount of HEAT.

The heating element in an electric percolator or electric coffee-maker is designed to provide the exact amount of heat needed to bring out the full flavor of good coffee—and none of the bitterness that too much heat draws out of the coffee grounds.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

It is curious but true that a bouquet of flowers may actually rest the person who looks at them, even though he drinks in their fragrance and beauty for only a few moments in a busy day.

Some one hung a picture above our desk today, just an unframed cheap reproduction of an oil painting showing a green jar of pastel tinted flowers with a few deep-toned blossoms. When we look at it we have the same feeling of restfulness as when we look at a fresh bouquet.

Probably some readers of this column (if any) read a recent article by Elsie Robinson about life being muddled up by muddling, not by mistakes.

But it seems so apt that we reprint here a few paragraphs of it: It isn't the wrong things we do, in our anger or fear, that mess up life so badly. It isn't the mistakes we make.

Anger and fear and failure—they are plenty too! But they're part of the long lesson every mortal must learn and, no matter how much it hurts, we're the better for learning if we've gone at it clean and straight.

No, it isn't the bad acting or the blundering that makes such a hell of earth and causes most of our human misery. It's the muddling.

In speaking of muddling she refers to loose, messy thinking, uncharted emotions, and slovenly sentimentality about life conditions.

There is food for thought in what Miss Robinson says.

Everybody makes mistakes—and it he has the courage, goes on and up despite them.

But the person who doesn't think clearly, who doesn't sift out the really worthwhile things he wants from the smothering assortment that life piles down on us like an enveloping leather hat and hold stubbornly to them while letting other things drift past, will never know how really fine and joyous a thing life is.

The hard thing is not knowing what to select, but in having the courage to select it.

We know perfectly well that simple living and high thinking is what we should choose. But the luxuries do look so alluring and the temptation to drift with the crowd instead of thinking our own way through things is so strong!

No wonder there are so few great men and women in the world. It's a hard path to follow.

Don't Brush Permanent For Month

BY ALICE HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

The success of a permanent wave depends on the operator who winds your hair and tenses the machine, the condition your hair was in before you got the wave and the care you give it afterward.

A permanent ought not to be brushed for one month. During this four-week period, substitute massage for brushing. Any permanent, new or old, shouldn't be brushed while the hair is wet, or even slightly damp. Remember that hot oil treatments tend to alleviate the drying effects of the extreme heat to which your hair was exposed when you got the wave. Do plan to have one a week for at least two months.

Of course, a freshly waved head lends itself admirably to intricately swirled and curled coiffures. If you're tired of your old hairdress, this is the perfect time to plan something new.

Your new permanent can be set in wide, flattering waves that will stay in place regardless of their width. Ringlet ends will stay curled for days and, when they finally do become loose, can be brushed back into place over your finger.

In addition to a rather pretentious evening coiffure which, more than likely, your favorite hair dresser will design for you, think about a daytime style that is equally becoming but much easier to manage.

For riding, playing golf and motoring in the spring sunshine, you will need one through which you can run a comb even when no mirror is handy. It ought to be ever so simple, so you can arrange it easily all by yourself. The ideal hair dresser, of course, is one who fixes your hair for an evening party, then shows you how to comb it into a suitable, conservative daytime mode that will suffice the rest of the week.

Condition of Clothing Is Important Factor In Every Woman's Beauty

NEA Service Staff Writer

Rules for good taste in dressing are the same for every woman, whether she has an extremely limited budget or a very liberal clothes allowance. She should buy simple dresses and suit—well cut and made of the best material she can afford.

It is far better to have one fine dress with two or three different collars, than three mediocre outfits that stretch out of shape, fade at the cleaner's and look shoddy after the first week.

Learning to care for your clothes is as important as knowing how to buy them. Why get a beautifully tailored skirt if you have no intention of keeping it pressed or a superior felt hat if you never use a hat brush?

Pay special attention to your shoes. I know several women who include cleaning and heel-straightening allowances right in their beauty budgets. Don't spend so much on hair and face that you have no money left for grooming. It really is better in the long run to have home instead of professional facials and to do your own nails than to spend huge sums on these and do without lifts for your run-down heels and stockings that actually flatter your legs.

Speaking of stockings, you know, of course, that you should wear fresh pair every day. Rinse the out in soap suds and warm water the minute you take them off. Be the kind and shade which make your legs look graceful and slender. Keep the seams absolutely straight. Unless you have legs worthy of beauty contest, don't go in for exotic nets and laces or contrasting arrows at the ankles. Be conservative when it comes to stocking and shoes.

Episcopal Women to Sponsor Style Show

Announcement of a style show to be sponsored by the Episcopal auxiliary, Saturday, March 21, was made at the regular meeting of the organization with Mrs. Allan Hargrave, 213 South L street, Monday afternoon. Further information on the show will be published later.

Mrs. E. H. Ellison was in charge of the lesson taken from "Forward Day by Day."

Fifteen members and five guests were present, the latter including: Mmes. Geo. Bennett, R. H. Henderson, Jack Brown, Chapelle Davis, and Russell Conklin.

Members were: Mmes. John E. Adams, J. L. Crump, Hugh Corrigan, I. E. Daniel, Alden Donnelly, Ellison, R. W. Hamilton, D. C. Hemsell, Frank Johnson, Eric Payne,

A LIGHT SMOKE
OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

Over a period of years, certain basic advances have been made in the selection and treatment of cigarette tobaccos for Lucky Strike Cigarettes. They include preliminary analyses of the tobacco selected; use of center leaves; the higher heat treatment of tobacco ("Toasting"); consideration of acid-alkaline balance, with consequent definite improvement in flavor; and controlled uniformity in the finished product.

All these combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke

THE PRISONER OF SHARK ISLAND. A novelization of DARRYL F. ZANUCK'S 20th CENTURY PICTURE with WARNER BAXTER, GLORIA STUART and a cast of 1000 players.

Yellow fever had "Shark Island, the Devil's Island of America, in its sinister grip. The Government supply ships, afraid of contagion, refused to land supplies. Dr. Samuel Mudd, sentenced to this hell-hole for life for conspiracy in the assassination of President Lincoln—he had unwittingly set the broken leg of the assassinator, John Wilkes Booth—was in a dungeon of the prison because he had attempted to escape. When the prison doctor fell victim to "yellow jack," the Commandant suddenly remembered Dr. Mudd. He had been forgotten when other stricken prisoners were rescued from the dungeon.

CHAPTER ELEVEN
In the dungeon cell below sea level, there was no light except a feeble beam which came through the small, barred window in the floor.
Dr. Mudd was lying face down on the dirt floor. Buck, the colored guard stirred restlessly in the corner.

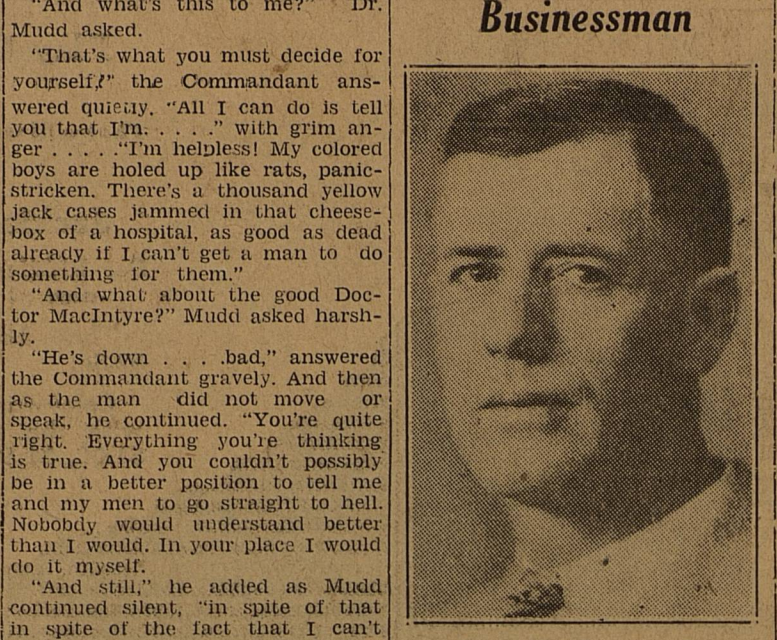

"And what's this to me?" Dr. Mudd asked.
"That's what you must decide for yourself," the Commandant answered quietly. "All I can do is tell you that I'm . . . with grim anger . . . 'I'm helpless! My colored boys are holed up like rats, panic-stricken. There's a thousand yellow jack cases jammed in that chess-box of a hospital, as good as dead already if I can't get a man to do something for them."
"And what about the good Doctor MacIntyre?" Mudd asked harshly.
"He's down . . . bad," answered the Commandant gravely. And then as the man did not move or speak, he continued, "You're quite right. Everything you're thinking is true. And you couldn't possibly be in a better position to tell me and my men to go straight to hell. Noboddy would understand better than I would, in your place I would do it myself."
"And still," he added as Mudd continued silent, "in spite of that in spite of the fact that I can't even promise you any reward—that I can offer you nothing but exposure to death and—'smiling faintly—'possibly a better cell if you live . . . in spite of it all, I ask you; will you help me?"
His face gray and tired, the Commandant waited, fully expecting a refusal. But Dr. Mudd had already made up his mind.
Smiling triumphantly, he said in his hoarse cracked voice, "One night four years ago, sir, I was a doctor, I'm still a doctor."
It took an instant for the Commandant to interpret this. Then in relief that he made no attempt to hide, he whipped a key from his pocket and unlocked the bracelets that snatched the doctor's hands.
"Thank you," he said simply.
"Thank you, doctor."
He stepped aside for Mudd to precede him out of the cell, but the doctor had gone over to where Buck lay, half unconscious on the damp earth.
"Buck," he said softly.
"Yas, suh,"
"We're going up in the open."
Dr. Mudd, freshly shaven and clothed, stood beside the Commandant staring into the parade ground outside the prison.
"When they heard Doctor MacIntyre was dying they all quit," the Commandant was saying bitterly. "They are all in the mess hall now . . . barricaded . . . guards and all."
"But we've got to get somebody to help," said Mudd. "Have I any authority?"
"You give the orders and I'll take the responsibility," the Commandant replied grimly.
Followed by the reluctant orderly Dr. Mudd started to walk slowly across the parade ground toward the mess hall. A rifle leveled from a window spat at them.
"Put that gun down nigger," said the doctor sharply.
Still approaching across the parade ground, he said steadily, "I'm not asking you to come out; I'm just telling you you're going to get hanged . . . every last one of you!"
The rifle wavered. Several black faces crowded to the window, staring out at the white man as glancing worriedly at each other.
"At ain't no Yankee jes' tawkin'—'at's a Southe'n man. He means it," one of them muttered through chattering teeth.
"Us doan wan to go neah dem yellah fevah men," one of the black men quavered.
"You aren't going near those yellow fever men," said the doctor quickly. "I need water boys, workers. If you boys help me I promise to save you from hanging."
Obviously they were impressed. There was the sound of voices raised in argument. Suddenly the door opened, one man came out, another and finally with a rush all the soldiers were in the yard. In the hospital Mudd went from

The doors of the new establishment will be opened Wednesday morning for the first time and the citizenship of Midland is invited to come in and look over the store.

Several nights later as Mudd sat wearily by the cot of Buck, the Commandant wearing a raincoat approached him.
"How does it look now?"
"All right, I suppose. No new cases today and their temperatures are down."
"No deaths today, either?"
"But wait until tomorrow and the next day and the next!" bitterly.
"What do you mean?"
Irritably, his nerves at the breaking point, Mudd cried, "How long do you think these supplies are going to last? Where's the medicine coming from now? Out of the air?"
"Steady now," murmured the Commandant.
"And how long do you think I'm going to last—forever."
"You must get some sleep," said the Commandant placatingly. "You've had five days of this and you're exhausted."
Staggering to his feet Dr. Mudd pointed wildly out of the window.
"And right out there, not a mile off shore, there's a ship full of supplies, and a half dozen doctors . . . not country doctors brought up on bellyaches and babies, but real city doctors. And the whole United States Government of America can't make that boat come to help us!"
The whole United States Government can't make the ship come to the aid of the stricken prison island, but Dr. Mudd can and does. Don't miss the powerful concluding chapter of this unusual story.

Sea-Going Jaguar Caught With Rope
PORT ISABEL, Tex. (AP)—The first sea-going jaguar known here was caught a few days ago by J. F. Cunningham of Mission and Jimmy Moore of Port Isabel, Tex.
They found the animal under a section of piling at a wharf in the Shary Yacht club turning basin. They managed to slip a noose over the big cat's head. Even after being chased out of the water once by a small dog, the jaguar plunged back into the basin.
If the jaguar proves unmanageable, Cunningham plans to have a brand new rug for his parlor floors.

Dalhart Keeps Bell To Recall Founding

DALHART, Tex. (AP)—A flat NO. was Dalhart's answer to the Clarendon Beaux Arts club which wants the historic old bell that hangs silent in the belfry of the First M. E. church in north Dalhart.
The old bell recalls the days when Dalhart was only a sprawling mile of shacks, shanties and sod—when no man lived to a ripe old age because his gun play got rotten before his age could ripen.
The old bell is steeped in Dalhart history and tradition. The two men most responsible for bringing it here are Dave Robinson and George E. Walker, both of Dalhart. Robinson was the first mayor of Dalhart. At the same election Walker was named one of the councilmen.
Robinson was senior engineer and Walker second on the Rock Island construction from Libera, Kan., west to Santa Rosa, N. M., in 1900-01. Dalhart was founded June 19, 1901, when the Rock Island crossed the Fort Worth and Denver. Robinson was retired several years ago. Walker is still in service.

Walker relates the story of the bell. "In the late 1800's a northern colonizer brought northern settlers into what is now Clarendon. While this project was under-way the colonizer went to the exposition at Philadelphia. There, this old bell, then fresh from its makers in Baltimore, had won a prize. The colonizer tried without success to buy it from the membership of the First M. E. church in Clarendon.
"Later the owner donated the bell to the church on condition it pay the freight from Philadelphia. Dodge City was then the end of the railroad. From there the bell moved by bull team an ox cart to Old Tascosa, Adobe Walls and finally to Clarendon.
"By 1902 southern had established an M. E. church, South of Clarendon. Members of the old First Methodist Church offered to sell the building entoto for the indebtedness against it—$28. Robinson and myself head of the offer and with a few others sent men to get the church and its equipment.
"The church was razed and loaded in box cars. The organ was rounded up out in the country. The glory of the old bell and went. Then Clarendon citizens realized down to take it off the train, but

Couple of Babes Stepping Out

The Babes were still in the wood when this picture was taken if the driver that Babe Ruth drags along means anything, for beside the king of swat marches Babe Dirks, sensational girl athlete. The two Babes met in an exhibition golf match at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Weighting 24 pounds and about 35 inches long, the world's record large-mouth bass caught with rod and reel was taken by George J. Nichols from the Tombigbee river, in Alabama, in April, 1926.

behind six-guns the Dalhart crew kept the bell aboard.
"The bell for years rang all the church services. In clear weather its silvered tones could be heard for more than 20 miles."
There is now a general move underway to honor the old bell and its two courageous guardians with some sort of Centennial observance. If agreeable with the church members, the bell may be taken down and re-established in an elaborate setting on the court house lawn—there to continue its vigil throughout tite years.

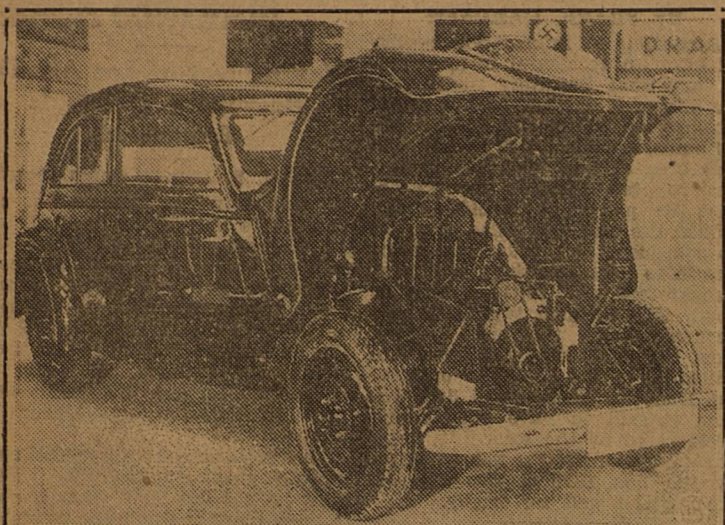

Wild Turkeys Caught On Brady Preserve

BRADY, Tex. (AP)—Fifty wild turkeys caught on a game preserve near Brady have been sent to Bryan through the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission for restocking game resorts near that section. The turkeys are only half the number to be sent to various sections over the state for restocking purposes.
The wild birds were trapped on the Martin game preserve, south of Brady, and the first time the improved trap was sprung 35 turkeys were caught.
The Martin game preserve consists of about 25,000 acres of ranching country where a gun is not permitted and its is estimated 2,500 wild turkeys, 300 deer, a large number of quail, squirrels and various fur-bearing animals subsist there. A short distance from the main ranch houses, Game Warden Morrell estimates 300 of the elusive fowls roost nightly, possibly the largest single roose in the country.

A temporary lull in the number of new drilling operations was reflected last week when only 16 new locations were announced, one of them an old well to be drilled deeper. Ward county headed the list with five first reports, followed by Pecos with four, Winkler with three, Upton with two, and Ector and Glasscock with one apiece.

Dollar Days Coming Last of This Week

Dollar Day at Wadley's are being held earlier this month, opening Thursday of this week and continuing through Saturday. Two full pages of special attractions and values for the monthly event are run in this issue of The Reporter-Telegram.

For several years the Addison Wadley department store has maintained the practice of staging Dollar Days each month except when semi-annual sales or holiday events conflict. The sales event is advertised over a large area and brings many out of town shoppers to the city.

As it nears critical depth, the Walsh and Adams wildcat commands the interest of practically all Basin oil operators. It is exploring a totally wild area, and, if successful, will open a large territory to further drilling.

ATTORNEY SPEAKS ON HEALTH RULE

Stubbeman Explains Health Division of Social Security Act

Attorney Frank Stubbeman explained the public health section of the national Social Security Act to members of the Midland County Public Health Board Monday night at the monthly meeting. Title VI of the act authorizes congress to spend $8,000,000 a year on aid to state and territorial health departments in giving better service to the people. Thesurgeon general of the United States Public Health Service will be in charge of allocations, and will decide upon the eligibility of the states to receive aid.

After Stubbeman's talk a round table discussion was held and general opinion expressed was that, although congress was becoming more enlightened on the need for more attention to social matters, there will be no appropriations made this year for this work.

Reports were given by Mrs. E. R. Ellison and Mrs. J. R. Ashley on the progress of the tuberculin skin testing and the radio programs.

Mrs. Nety C. Romer was elected executive secretary of the board, to be in charge of tuberculosis work, and to keep up the Board files.

One new member, Rev. Edw. P. Harrison, was voted on, and elected. It was also decided to renew the contract with the Texas Tuberculosis Association to sell Christmas Seals.

Explosion Kills Oil Well Worker in N. M.

By FRANK GARDNER

According to information received here, an accidental nitro-glycerin explosion Saturday night took the life of J. T. Donnoval, a driller working on the Skelly Oil Co. No. 1 Simms, a wildcat well in the sand-belt area of Lea County, South-eastern New Mexico. Reports are that 345 quarts of solidified shot run in the well had failed to go off as scheduled and bailer was being run in to clean out the gravel tump preparatory to setting another bomb. The accident is said to have occurred when the nitro charge went off unexpectedly, blowing the bailer up in the hole and entangling Donovan in the sand line. The man is said to have been nearly decapitated by the steel line, death coming instantly. He was employed by the Lea Drilling Co. who are drilling the well for Skelly.

South Texas Joins in Folk Lore Movement

DALLAS — Miss Gertrude Knott, who returned to Dallas this week after a 12-day trip into South Texas in behalf of the National Folk Festival, which will be held in Texas this year and of which Miss Knott is director, was highly pleased with the reception given her in the communities visited.

During her brief trip to South Texas Miss Knott found Fredericksburg, Austin, San Antonio, San Marcos, Houston and Galveston, beginning elaborate plans to produce local folk festivals featuring the lore of their respective localities.

Fredericksburg plans a festival that will feature German singers from several communities in South Texas, May 9 and 10. Austin will hold its festival in connection with the Texas Folk Lore Society in April. San Antonio will feature things typically Mexican and Spanish, including dances, songs and some of the early prayer chants. In Houston, the program will include singing games, square dances and old harp singers. From the Galveston docks will be featured the negro work songs and sailors' chants.

Bandera and Huntsville have also announced initial plans.
