HIS OBSTRUCTIVE TACTICS CAUSED LOG-JAM, CHARGE

Commerce Secretary Appears Before Investigators

WASHINGTON, June 21. (AP)—Making a sweeping defense of his commerce department against charges of his ousted secretary, Ewing V. Mitchell, Secretary Roper today in turn accused Mitchell of pursuing obstructive tactics which created a "log jam" of business in the department.

Roper appeared before the senate commerce committee personally to answer accusations of inefficiency and craft in the department. He described Mitchell as a man of "exceedingly suspicious temperament" who was "prone to treat every minor or unsupported statement as true."

VENUE CHANGE IN CRUSADER-MURDER TRIAL IS GRANTED

ORANGE, June 21. (AP)—District Judge Pat Adams today granted the defense motion for a change of venue in the case of the Rev. Edgar Eskridge, crusader, charged with murder for the street shooting of Police Chief Ed J. O'Reilly three weeks ago. The case was transferred to Houston.

The state presented an array of witnesses who testified they believed the Rev. Edgar Eskridge could be given a fair trial in Orange county.

They were called by District Attorney Hollis Kinard to refute testimony of nearly fifty defense witnesses in support of the motion for a change of venue.

Most of the witnesses testified that they had formed an opinion that Eskridge was guilty but that they could lay aside that opinion and decide the case on the law and evidence.

Some of the incidents of the minister's unorthodox career were recalled during a long cross-examination of B. F. Brown, wholesale hardware man, and J. J. Collins, chief defense counsel.

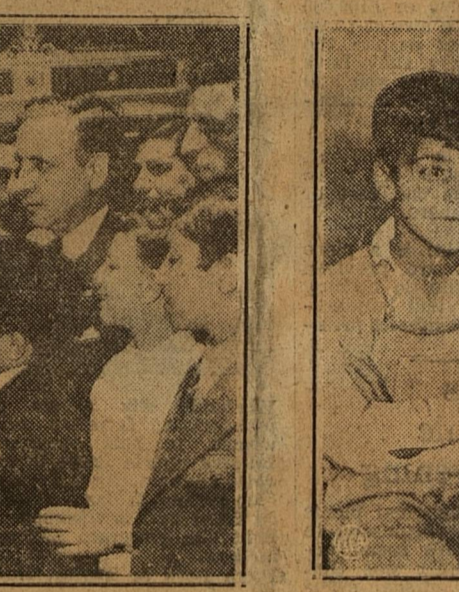

Collins tried to convince District Judge F. Pat Adams that the preacher had made numerous enemies by taking law enforcement into his own hands and by other activities.

Windstorm Which Damaged Homes and Business Houses Late Wednesday at Big Spring Is Described by the Daily Herald

Damage and freak antics of Wednesday night's windstorm at Big Spring were recounted in The Daily Herald yesterday, describing the plight of several families who were made homeless by the storm.

Accompanied by torrential rain and light hail, a wind squall swooped down on Big Spring 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, injured three people, completely destroyed half a dozen houses, and wrought thousands of dollars in damage before making a devastating exit in the southwest portion of the city.

It struck again at Forsan where a garage was blown down, telephone service disrupted and oil derricks badly damaged.

Roof blown away from the home of Joe Woods, south of the Ganue home. Half of it was smashed down quarter of a mile away. Trace of the remaining portion could not be found. "It sounded as if something just grabbed it and ripped it away," said Woods. "I looked up and there wasn't anything." Nothing in the house was disturbed.

Roof of Porter told of how the roof was jerked from over the heads of his family while they were eating late supper. He had gone to lower a partially open window when there was a crash. Mrs. Porter was knocked to the floor by the unharmed. The front wall of the house was cut away.

PRODUCERS FOR ANDREWS, WARD ARE INDICATED

Weekly drilling reports of Basin activity recorded principally advanced depths for wildcat operations, with two tests, one in Andrews county and another in Ward county, giving definite promise of becoming producing wells.

In central Andrews county, Honolulu and Llano No. 1-B Parker is reported to have pulled casing and drilled ahead to 4,841 feet. After 27 hours accumulation, 1500 feet of oil stood in the hole, and during the next three hours another 300 feet came in, indicating an increase in oil production coming probably from 4,841 feet.

Only other Andrews county wildcat at interesting depth is Wallemaier No. 1-Biller and Goebie in the north central part of the county, which is reported drilling anywhere at 4,260 feet.

In Ward county, Humble No. 1 American National Lumber Insurance Company's wildcat test, drilling about two miles north of the prolific Durgin and Bennett areas of the southern Ward province, has reached a total depth of 2,548 feet and has recorded a natural flow of 434 barrels in 19 hours, there being also 6,000,000 feet of gas.

Empire No. 4 Cushing northwest Ector county wildcat, after unsuccessful attempts to fish out tools lost at 4,130 feet, unloaded the hole and tested 2,000,000 feet of gas, coming probably from 3,042-48 feet. Operators are now cementing whipstock at 3,825 feet, preparatory to drilling by tools.

Empire No. 1-A Scharbauer is waiting on cement after setting and cementing eight inch pipe at total depth of 3,770, where the formation is hard grey lime. Landreth No. 1-B Blakeney, nearly new wildcat test, is reported drilling anywhere at 1,658 feet.

In northeast Winkler county, where Gulf is drilling nine wildcats and Richardson one, Gulf No. 2 Keystone Cattle Company is near test to verdict, being reported as coring at 3,208 feet and showing some saturation and varying amounts of porosity for the last 200 feet. The No. 1 Keystone is drilling below 2,400 feet and showing some gas. Richardson No. 1 Walton, first test in the area, is coring at 3,100 feet in limestone, and reports some saturation from 3,040-42 feet and from 3,042-48 feet.

Just west of Kermit, Winkler county, Siosi No. 1 Lovett, wildcat, is reported loading hole at 2,727 feet, in limestone. Further south, Emperor No. 1 Halley is waiting on cement at 1,364 feet in anhydrite; Weaver and Hoffman and Page No. 1 Morton is shut down by engine repairs at total depth of 1,278 feet; and Sun No. 1 Halley has reached total depth of 3,173 feet and plugged back to 2,750 feet after encountering sulphur water.

In northern Crane county, Gulf No. 1 McKnight is bailing and testing at total depth of 3,575 feet, with an undetermined amount of oil showing, and the same company's No. 1 Henderson is drilling grey lime at 3,248 feet, with 2,000,000 feet of gas and a little oil showing.

JURY GETS CASE OF O. C. KENNEDY THIS AFTERNOON

Arguments in the trial of the state versus O. C. Kennedy, charged with rape, began early this afternoon, with expectation the jury would receive the case at about 3 o'clock. The charge of District Judge Chas. L. Klapproth was prepared late in the morning and was being read by attorneys during the noon hour, and exceptions being prepared.

The case, tried at Stanton in the last term of court, was transferred here after resulting in a mistrial. Edith Palmer, step-daughter of Kennedy, testified that he had forced her to have relations with him over a three year period, that she had not given her consent and that on or about January 15, 1935, at an oil well near Stanton he had dragged her to a nearby shed, threatening to choke her, and forced such relations again. She testified that she is an expectant mother and accused Kennedy.

Defense witnesses, introduced by R. W. Hamilton, attorney, gave damaging testimony to the reputation of the girl, one testifying that he had seen her and Lonnie Sisson in a compromising position. Another witness gave evidence which he believed indicated that she and Sisson spent the night at his farm east of Stanton. Others testified that she had been seen about the streets of Stanton and in disorderly crowds at dances about the county.

Taking of testimony, beginning yesterday morning, was completed shortly before noon today, court recessing until early afternoon.

Jim Johnson, a witness Thursday afternoon, was ordered to jail for a short time after he had become angered at questioning of attorneys and "talked back" from the witness stand. He was recalled shortly afterward to resume his testimony.

Jurors trying the case are W. Clinton Lackey, O. C. Harper, W. T. Forehand, Duane A. Dunn, C. N. Donovan, C. H. O'Neal, Roy Minear, Don Davis, Sam Cummings, B. H. Blakeney, Hugh Corrigan and Geo. T. Abell.

Correspondent for Reporter-Telegram, on Normandie, Finds Hull Lot of Statistics

By PAUL HARRISON
ABOARD S. S. NORMANDIE, June 21.—Scarcely had your correspondent crossed the gangplank at Havre into the biggest ship in the world (gross tonnage, 79,280; length, 1029 feet; beam, 119 feet, 6 inches) than he was seized with a case of statistics.

For one thing, I couldn't find the porter with my bags. Plenty of porters were running around with luggage—4800 pieces, roughly, containing enough French perfume to pleasantly scent the Chicago stockyards, and enough lingerie to make three sets of intimate garments for the Statue of Liberty. But I wanted my own bags, in which were 36 different items, including twelve dirty shirts and the ash tray purloined from Feuguet's bistro.

Finally plunged into the Normandie's labyrinth of corridors, totaling a length of 44 city blocks and after a brisk hike came upon my cabin, which was 80 feet above the waterline, 50 steps and an elevator ride from the dining room, and next door to a voluble French couple who argued at a mean rate of 357 words to the minute. I also found the porter, No. 148, and my luggage.

Then for a stroll on the sun deck (two city blocks in length) to watch our departure from Havre and to meditate on some more examples of the ship's great size. If it were up-ended against the Empire State Building, Al Smith would be very much surprised. If it were placed in Times Square and Longacre Squares, just barely fitting in the space, Nils Granlund would try to rent it for a night club. If it were set down in Fifth Avenue, with the stern at Forty-second street and the bow past Forty-sixth, it wouldn't be of much use to anybody.

Both tubes of the Holland Vehicular Tunnel running under the Hudson River could be put into one of the Normandie's funnels. This would be difficult to accomplish, however, even though the stern funnel is just a dummy.

The swimming pool is 112 feet long, ranging in depth from 8 feet at the deep end to three feet at the shallow end. The water is so shallow that non-swimmers can practice partial immersion in highballs and Martinis.

One turn around the promenade deck is more than a sixth of a mile, an unfortunately long distance, because it doesn't allow a fellow to stroll past the marvelous blonde in the deck chair as often as he'd like. The theater seats 400 people when American films are shown; practically nobody when French flickers are run. There's a brokerage office aboard, cheerful forecast of the day when voyaging tycoons will watch the quotations and send buying orders—through the seven radio operators—to Wall Street.

The kitchen is so big it has traffic regulations for its 72 cooks and 76 assistants and the incoming and outgoing waiters. Any waiter carrying the captain's soup has precedence over all other traffic. I have not been able to count all the waiters, but am certain that if laid end to end they would look very silly. The electric range is 60 feet in length, two-sided, and has 60 ovens for baking 6500 rolls and cakes a day. No housewife would feel at home on the range. So much pastry is made and eaten that the Normandie has three doctors and a corps of nurses. They're secretly sorry that the ship is so steady, because it is much easier to take care of seasick people, who ask nothing more than to be allowed to die.

There are 49,330 pieces of silver in the dining service, which is more than souvenir-seeking passengers possibly can carry away for several additional voyages. Of the 5000 ash trays in the public

IDEALIST AND REALIST WAS BEN FRANKLIN

Grown weary of reformers whose idealistic yearnings outrun their common sense a harassed Michigan newspaper editor the other day suggested that a pretty fair sort of man to pattern after in these parlous times is old Benjamin Franklin.

Franklin, remarked the editor, was that rarity, a man who could work for radical reforms and at the same time keep both feet squarely on the ground and remember the importance of money in the cash drawer.

"Ben was a New Dealer, too, and wanted things changed quite a bit," the editor mused. "He liked women, built cook stoves, wrote editorials, negotiated treaties, fought the king, published a paper, and discovered electricity—but his perspective of things was eternally right."

At a time when the U. S. Supreme Court has sprayed some very chilly water on the skins of ardent reformers who remembered everything except the value of practicality, Franklin and his inexhaustible fund of common sense are worth remembering.

Franklin, as the Michigan editor points out, was a New Dealer. If we think we have public discontent with the status quo in our land today, we might remind ourselves that it is only a pale shadow of the discontent that was abroad in the land in 1776.

The old order was being put into limbo with bullets, then, and Franklin was one of the men who would have gone to the scaffold if the attempt had failed. If we are getting a new deal today, we got a new deal and a new game then.

Such times provide a field day for crackpots. They tempt a man who wants to see a new order of things established to follow his ideals until his feet leave ground.

Franklin, one of the foremost of the idealists, never once lost his contact with reality. He was able, that is, to build for the future without forgetting the necessity for living in the present. He could go to Paris and sell the most autocratic court in Europe on the beauties of democracy and freedom, and at the same time he could write down those homely bits of earthy advice that filled Poor Richard's Almanac.

He could help build a better world and simultaneously remember that Saturday night's payroll had to be met. All of which might remind us that it is not necessary to go off into the clouds when you are working for sweeping reform. The vexing argument about whether we are to have recovery or reform is wasted effort.

A stolid old idealist of the Franklin stripe would figure out a way to get both.

GREAT NEED FOR HOUSING

America's boast of its high standard of living is dealt a terrific blow in the PWA report that lists 11,000,000 of the nation's homes as definitely in the slum class.

If a third of the country's population is dwelling in houses and neighborhoods of a character "to injure the health and endanger the safety and morals and interfere with normal lives," then our boast is a hollow mockery.

Whether or not the time has come, as the report insists, "for private enterprise to abandon an impossible task and let the community take it over," conditions call for immediate action on a huge scale, whatever agency is chosen.

With thousands of building craftsmen idle, with material business at low tide, with thousands of householders willing to borrow money if reasonable credit terms can be obtained, and with surveys showing a growing shortage of good rental property, it seems that concentration on this problem would do more than anything else to help relieve depression and alleviate misery.

The trouble with congressmen who maintain they are carrying on the traditions of their predecessors is that usually they are just carrying on.

Amendment to Pennsylvania state liquor law would permit drinkers to stand at bar. After the first few drinks, they'd need more than permission.

FEMININE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN EILAND

We can't decide whether today's north wind is the first norther that presages the coming of fall or the last norther of the past winter. We are, however, perfectly certain of its disagreeable quality.

Some one asked today whether this morning's budding sandstorm was "natural weather" for this part of the country. All we can say is that, no matter how wise old Mother Nature is, she can make some terrible blunders when it comes to concocting weather. We've always been inclined to approve of the "natural," whether in makeup or other things, but if a sandstorm is natural weather, we just naturally will take the artificial for once.

Not even yesterday's unusually hot weather could faze the people who are gathering votes for the bicycle to be given away in a few days. They seemed to be on the job all day and even in to the night hours. Now-a-days if you hear people discuss $50,000 or $100,000, don't regard them with awe as those who are still affluent despite the depression. Most likely they have thin pocketbooks "even as you and I," and are discussing their accumulations of "prize" money.

The sun must not be as hot this year as usual. At least, so far, we've not heard of a single bad case of sunburn among swimmers.

Our idea of paradise is a place where working girls are provided with washdresses who do nothing but wash silk hose and handkerchiefs and keep all the dresses pressed.

Cloverdale Is Scene of Picnic Thursday Evening

Another of those informal picnic parties which are beginning to characterize the town's social activities for the summer was that given at Cloverdale Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Halton and Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Hays.

LOST FAT BECAUSE SHE HEEDED DOCTOR'S ADVICE

And Didn't Listen To Gossiping Neighbors! Mrs. H. H. Long of Clarinda, Iowa, writes: "Kruschen was recommended to me by my doctor. Weight when started was 226. Weight now after 3 jars is 208. Doctor says I'm doing fine."

When Kruschen Salts is prescribed by reputable physicians to safely take off fat and greatly improve health—why listen to gossipers who don't want you to be slender? Envious!

Have a mind of your own—get a jar of Kruschen today (lasts 4 weeks and costs but a trifle). Take a half teaspoonful in a cup of hot water every morning—tastes fine with juice of half lemon added. If you don't feel years younger, money back. For sale by City Drug Store, Petroleum Pharmacy or any drug store. (Adv.)

The farm is operated entirely by volunteer labor. Moore selects 40 young men each year from applications of high school graduates. The farm helps them defray their school expenses, serves as a laboratory for the college agricultural department and supplies milk to the dormitories and cafeteria.

Moore said the farm had completed a successful year. He listed construction of a five-room rock house and an irrigation project as the principal achievements. The house was built of native rock by student labor at a cost of less than $400.

A 14-acre pasture, irrigated from an artificial lake, helped to reduce feed costs for the dairy herd. About 200 trees are being planted around the lake in a program to create a college recreation grounds.

WORKS DRIVE FOR TEXAS LAUNCHED

WASHINGTON, June 21. (AP)—The speedy transfer of 150,000 Texans from relief rolls to new jobs on projects of permanent value through a hard-driving, non-political agency became the goal last night of H. P. Drought, Texas works progress administrator.

With Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief and works progress administrator, and Texas members of congress, Drought prepared to return to his San Antonio headquarters to initiate the program which he hopes will be in full operation by Oct. 1, with all state and federal agencies co-operating.

if the works progress administration in Texas could lift thousands of farm houses out of the mud. The administration can do this if the counties will do their share, and their share will not be large.

WOMAN ON STATE ACCIDENT BOARD

AUSTIN, (AP)—A Good Samaritan to 600,000 Texas workmen is Mrs. Espia Stanford, woman member of the state Industrial Accident Board and only member of her sex to hold such a position in the state.

Hurt and maimed workers, their widows and children, pass in review before her seeking compensation for their losses.

"It's a fascinating job," admitted Mrs. Stanford, member since 1924. "I think there should be a woman member of every industrial accident board in the country."

Seven states now have women accident board members. Massachusetts, one of America's leading industrial centers, requires by law that one member of its seven-member board be a woman.

Another woman, Mrs. Jewell Swoford of Kansas City, is chairman of the United States workman's compensation commission.

The board meets each Tuesday for hearings. Members are Mrs. Stanford, appointed from the employees class; Earle Adams of Crockett, an attorney; and A. M. Graves of Clarksville, appointee of the employers' class. Makeup of the board is provided in the workman's compensation law.

About 50 cases are presented to the board at each hearing. They are studied individually by board members.

DOCTOR SAID SHE NEEDED "BULK" FOR HER CONSTIPATION*

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief to Mrs. Maneely "Up to five years ago, I knew no end of suffering caused by constipation. I used all kinds of laxatives but only found relief till I got used to them. My physician told me to get some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and instructed me how to use it.

"I did just as I was told by my doctor, and today I send my highest praise for what your ALL-BRAN has done for me." — Mrs. Jas. Maneely, Jr., 9 Kilburn St., Valley Falls, R. I.

*Due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to help overcome common constipation. It is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN is often more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Joe E. Brown in "Alibi Ike" Shows Here Over Weekend

Joe E. Brown is coming to town again. He appears at the Yucca Theatre in "Alibi Ike" preview Saturday night, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Warner Bros. home run comedy, based on the popular story by Ring Lardner.

Joe, in the title role, is both a crack pitcher and the best batter of his club. He has an alibi for everything—not just for mistakes but for plays any other player would have been proud of.

Joe falls in love with the sister of the Captain's wife, but when he alibis on his romance, the girl leaves him and turns him down cold.

Thrills follow in which Joe is kidnaped by a bunch of crooks, but he escapes, and the romance is patched up by the players in one of the most comical climaxes imaginable.

Olivia de Havilland, the stunning eighteen year old girl who made such a hit in Max Reinhardt's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," has the leading feminine role opposite Joe.

Others in the cast include Ruth Donnelly, Roscoe Karns, William Frawley, Eddie Shubert, Paul Harvey, Joseph King, Joseph Crehan, Adrian Rosley and a score of expert baseball players of national reputation.

Duck Stamps Sold To Anyone Under New Law Passed

WASHINGTON.—Stamp collectors and friends of conservation who are not hunters, may now purchase 1934-35 duck stamps without having them affixed to hunting licenses or certificates. A new law provides that the stamps may be purchased by anyone, and in unlimited quantities.

The new law making this effective, approved by President Roosevelt on June 15, opens to the public the sale of the first migratory-bird hunting stamp, designed by J. N. (Ding) Darling, and required of hunters of ducks and geese last season. Provisions of the original law that authorized the duck stamp made it difficult for nonhunters to purchase stamps and also required that each stamp sold should be attached to a hunting license or a special certificate. The stamps may now be purchased at post offices at one dollar ($1.00) each, either singly, in block, or in full sheets of 28 stamps to the sheet. All these stamps remaining unsold after June 30 will be destroyed.

This announcement is issued by the Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture, so that persons and organizations desiring to make their contributions to the migratory waterfowl program in this manner, and stamp collectors who have previously bought the stamps unaffixed to a license or a certificate, may now obtain as many as desired before they are withdrawn from sale.
