NEW GOVERNOR FOR VIRGIN ISLANDS APPOINTED BY FDR

Place for Wilson Is Made by Stannard "Resignation"

WASHINGTON, July 24.—President Roosevelt Tuesday cleaned house in the Virgin Islands as a result of the long and bitter political row which has centered around the administration of the West Indian possession by Governor Paul Pearson, a Hoover appointee.

The President nominated Lawrence W. Cramer, present lieutenant Governor, to succeed Pearson as Governor, while Judge T. Webster Wilson, with whom Pearson engaged in bitter controversy, has been transferred here to the Federal Board of Parole.

Pearson, central figure in the dispute, will take a position as assistant director of housing in charge of public welfare under Secretary of Interior Ickes, who championed his cause.

The White House also made public a letter to Governor Pearson and an exchange of correspondence between the President and Wilson.

The letter to Pearson stated it was a source of satisfaction to the President that "no facts" had been developed in the Senate investigation into his administration reflecting upon Pearson's "honesty, integrity or devotion to duty," but suggested he might wish to transfer to some other position.

"I want you to continue to be a member of my Administration," Roosevelt wrote the retiring Governor, adding that Ickes had informed him a position was open as assistant director of housing.

"This is a post of honor that ought particularly to appeal to you because it will give you a chance to assist in the social rehabilitation of those underprivileged fellow citizens of ours, who, on account of economic conditions, have been forced to live in slum areas," the President's letter continued.

Washington, July 24.—Attorney General Cummings disclosed today to have asked and obtained the resignation of Dr. Amy N. Stannard from the United States Board of Welfare and Rehabilitation, a place for Judge T. Webster Wilson, Mississippi, whom the President shifted in order to suspend indefinitely his hearing on the resignation of the Virgin Islands administration.

Four Counties for Silverton-Post Road

FLOYDADA, Texas, July 24. (AP)—Four counties have joined in urging development of a road project which would extend for about 100 miles from Silverton to Post.

Judges and commissioners of the counties, Floyd, Briscoe, Crosby and Garza, discussed the proposal at a recent meeting here. It was pointed out that the road probably later would become part of a through highway from Texhoma to Del Rio.

The county officials voted to send delegates to a meeting of the State Highway Commission and to announce with Harry P. Drought, state WPA chairman at San Antonio.

Fences have been set back and right-of-way obtained along most of the route in Floyd county and a survey is being made in Briscoe county.

George A. Linder, county surveyor, estimated that grading and drainage costs in Floyd county would be about $53,100.

Construction of New Highway Is Resumed

The highway eventually will be a complete connection between Pedras Negras and Saltillo, connection with the new Pan-American highway to Mexico City and the Sabinas stretch to be constructed is a long step toward completion of the entire project.

The new road will open to American tourists the most picturesque country of Northern Mexico, including the Don Martin lake and the rich mining section around Roda, through San Antonio and Eagle Pass.

More than a week ago he located a relative in Greenville, Texas, who informed him that his mother and brothers were in Childress and he came here immediately.

Aviator Killed as Plane Falls in Cal.

SANTA MARIA, Cal., July 24. (AP)—Utilization of advanced scientific methods to fight agricultural pests brought death yesterday to L. E. (Lucky) Andrews, killed when his airplane crashed after he had finished dusting a field for plant insects.

Andrews' motor apparently failed while the plane was 800 feet in the air, and the machine plunged downward.

Andrews operated the plane for the purpose of dusting crops. His pilot was unable to make the flight yesterday, so Andrews, himself a licensed pilot, went aloft. The accident occurred as he was returning to the local airport.

Frazier Hunt Finds That Most of the Farmers in Drouth Area Are "Coming From Under" Depression

Westward travels Frazier Hunt "Listening to America," and reporting what he hears for readers of The Reporter-Telegram. This is the thirteenth of a series of articles in which this noted author-editor-journalist writes about what Americans the country over think and conditions today under the New Deal.

By FRAZIER HUNT

The five men were teetering back in their cane-bottom chairs around the dead stove in the rear end of J. A. Kern's grocery store in Ridge-farm, Illinois. All were on relief, but their clothes from shirts to shoes and overalls were clean and fairly new. They'd got most of them off the "wagon."

A squint-eyed Legionnaire about 35 years old, with a humorous smile playing about his broad mouth, looked up at me. "What'll happen to our bonus now?" he queried.

"You tell me," I parried. "Well, we'll get it someday or other." Then he cutted across. "They already beat me out of $18 a month allowance I was getting."

I asked them to tell me on the level when they would start their real pension racket.

A second Legionnaire looked over at his squint-eyed pal and winked. "Sooner we start asking for it the sooner we'll get it," he answered frankly. "Everybody else in the world is taking' all they can get, so I guess we ex-soldiers might as well, too."

The other three relievers chuckled. It was the sort of wisecrack they relished. They were all smart enough to know at least how to live by working only six or eight days a month. If the two old soldiers among them could hook on to a regular pension the other three wouldn't mind. Taxes didn't bother them.

Machine Takes Blame

So it was we fell to talking over the troubles of America. A lean young man with snapping black eyes brought down his chair with a bang. "It's machinery that's killin' everything," he said. "There's millions of people never will be able to find work again. The machine has replaced them for good."

The others nodded, and in a moment the young man on relief went on. "Yeah, and these tariff boys are helping to keep things in a mess. But there ain't nothing for Uncle Sam to do but raise our import duties even higher. Why only the other day a feller from south of town bought a roll of fencing in Danville and when he got it home he found a tag on it that said 'Made in Germany'."

I veered the topic of conversation around to Huey Long. At first no one answered an inquiry about how he stood locally, but finally the oldest man in the crowd took a well aimed shot at the open door of the old stove and then wiped his mouth with the back of his hand.

"Reckon he's too windy to suit us," he commented dryly. "How about Father Coughlin?" I questioned.

NO INKLING GIVEN OF JUDGE'S AIMS AGAINST NEWSMEN

Reporters Disregard Order and Print Testimony

ANGLETON, July 24. (AP)—Judge M. S. Munson today had given no inkling as to what action he intended to take against reporters covering the trial here of Clyde Thompson.

The judge announced yesterday that if the testimony were printed that he would hold the reporters in contempt.

Thompson is accused of stabbing Everett Melvin, another prisoner, during a fight at the retrieve prison farm.

Because of the publicity given Thompson, it was difficult to select a jury to try him, Judge Munson said in explaining his order against news stories about the current trial.

Two more defendants, Raymond Hall and Ed Ebers, both of them convicts, are still to be tried.

Jack Lamb Visits To Prepare For Fly Casting Exhibition

Jack Lamb, noted bass angler, was in the city this morning preparing for the exhibition of bass and fly casting which will be staged on the courthouse lawn at 6 p. m. Friday.

No man who fishes in Texas has to be introduced to Jack Lamb. He is the guy who is said to catch bass from a dry creek. During his long fishing career he has fished in all parts of the country and caught more than 42,000 bass, most of which are still swimming in the streams unless other anglers have come along and caught them. Lamb turns them all back.

He works in the Gulf offices in Fort Worth but every time he comes he dashes away to some secluded fishing hole to cast his lures for members of the flyny tribe. He says he knows that fishing interest is not as intense here as in places where there are beautiful streams and lakes, but since the records are not kept here, he has fished in all parts of the country and caught more than 42,000 bass, most of which are still swimming in the streams unless other anglers have come along and caught them. Lamb turns them all back.

Jack answers all trout fishing queries for Outdoor Life magazine, and he can tell you where, when and how to fish for bass and trout. Thousands of feet of motion pictures have been made of him battling with the wily bass, and one of his short fishing pictures will be shown as an added attraction at the Yucca Theatre today and tomorrow. Jack said he could not take any more fishing pictures. He would like to go with him, so he has motion pictures made to show everybody how it is done.

His exhibitions are nothing more than a free school of instruction for beginning anglers. If you like to fish and have not had much success with bait and fly casting, Lamb will show you the prime fundamentals of the sport and demonstrate how easily it is done. He cast a fly more than once and dredged feet and casts the plug 257 feet. His fishing is methodical and machine-like. He only allows ten minutes for each cast. He has a bucket of water in a lake, and then moves on to some other place. He says the angler must constantly cover his tracks with bait and fly casting consistently. Lamb's appearance here is made possible through the courtesy of his employers who allowed him a two-weeks leave of absence to fish in the Western part of the state. If you want to take free lessons from the champion of the sport, call for him at the courthouse lawn Friday at 6 p. m.

INSIST MUNGUIA AND SUBORDINATES RESIGN OFFICES

"Situation Peaceful" Is Report of General

BROWNSVILLE, July 24. (AP)—Rebel agrarians spent a peaceful night camped at Matamoros, Mexican city across the border from here, but today have not yielded in their demands to have Mayor Rafael Munguia and his subordinates ousted as a part of the general uprising in the State of Tamaulipas against Governor Rafael Villarreal.

General Gabriel Cervera, commander of a small detachment of Federal troops at Matamoros, said "The situation is peaceful."

Leading citizens of Matamoros were endeavoring to form a compromise with state and city officials to pacify both sides.

Leaders of the peasants who are besieging Matamoros said later today that the armed agrarians will march to Matamoros city hall and take forcible possession if the city administration does not vacate by four p. m.

Roberto Garcia, former Mayor of Matamoros, chosen as the representative of the peasants, said that he had sent a "final ultimatum" to Mayor Rafael Munguia. He said that people living in the vicinity of the city hall had been advised to vacate their houses in anticipation of firing if the peasants marched in.

TAMAULIPAS UPRISING OUSTS VILLARREAL

MEXICO CITY, July 24. (AP)—A State-wide uprising of peasants in Tamaulipas Tuesday forced the resignation of Gov. Rafael Villarreal and other State officials and ousted municipal councils in an undetermined number of towns and cities.

Simultaneously the Federal Government apparently moved to overthrow Tomas Garrido Canabal, dictator of Tamasco State and object of bitter hatred of Mexican students.

A permanent commission of the Federal Congress was reported to have recalled possession of the executive and legislative powers of the State of Tamasco.

Reports reaching the capital said the Tamaulipas movement, which apparently is confined to that State, was directed solely against Villarreal, long unpopular with peasants who have accused him of oppressive tactics and his supporters.

The Federal Government was not in any way involved in the uprising, first reports indicated.

Reports from Brownsville, Texas, however, said Emilio Portes Gil, former Governor of Tamaulipas, former President of Mexico and a close friend and supporter of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, is backing the peasant rebellion. Calles recently clashed with President Cardenas over matters of policy and retired to his home in Sonora.

Carpenier imposed after receipt of the first advices of the Tamaulipas rebellion apparently was lifted subsequently, for later reports arrived seemingly without interference.

Flaring up first in Ciudad Victoria, capital of Tamaulipas, where an estimated 20,000 peasants surrounded the Governor's Palace and forced Villarreal to quit, the agrarian movement spread swiftly to other towns.

First advices said municipal councils of twenty towns and villages had been overthrown, while councils at Tampico and Nuevo Laredo withdrew their recognition of Villarreal's administration.

Several previous attempts have been made to oust the Tamaulipas Governor whom peasant spokesmen have accused of assassinations, expropriation of property and unjust taxes. Up to now, however, he has clung tightly to his office, his power by the State city guards.

Ciudad Victoria advices said Federal troops, ranging Government buildings around with machine guns, were standing guard to prevent an attack on the deposed officials by the aroused peasants.

Garrido, former Secretary of Agriculture under President Lazaro Cardenas, drew the fire of students recently when his supporters allegedly opened fire on students from (See REBELS, page 6)

TEXAS POWER AND LIGHT COMPANY SPENT $33,777 ON UTILITY FIGHT

WASHINGTON, July 24. (AP)—An expenditure of $33,777 by the Texas Power and Light Company to oppose the administration utility holding company bill was described to the Senate Lobby Committee today by John W. Carpenter, President of the company.

The money was spent for trips to Washington, telegrams to Congressmen and $166 went to Peter Molyneux, editor of the Texas Weekly, for speaking on the radio against the bill.

Carpenter said that all the money was paid out of the company's operating expenses, and thus charged against the consumers. He denied giving anything to congressmen.

He testified that the company spent $326 for telegrams to congressmen against the Wheeler-Rayburn bill and said that he suggested to employees that they talk to customers, friends and security holders, telling them the bad effect of the bill on the company and the state of Texas.

Carpenter denied instructing his employees to pay for telegrams and said that the telegrams were also charged against operating expenses.

RELIEF TENSION IS EASED IN B'SPRING

BIG SPRING, July 24.—An unheralded pronouncement coming from the city Tuesday brought a change of heart in the city-county controversy over bearing of relief burdens and eased the tenseness of the situation.

Without warning, the city announced it had agreed to pay one-half of the rent on the building occupied by the relief organization.

Reason for the concession on the part of the city was summed up in the official statement: "Anticipating that the city of Big Spring would be selected as district relief headquarters for some 13 counties, and to prevent the closing of the Howard county relief headquarters for lack of payment of rent, the city of Big Spring has agreed to pay one-half of the rent on the building now occupied by the Howard county relief organization."

The so-called controversial issue between the city and county is conflicting views over the bearing of relief administration expense, i. e., the city clung to the position that it was the county's due to bear that burden.

In agreeing to pay half of the rental expense attached to maintenance of relief headquarters, the city did not alter its stand on other angles of the charity issue such as caring for paupers, hospitalization, burials, etc.

It has been indicated in high circles that relief as purely such is scheduled to go as quickly as possible. One of the first steps will be the abolition of the bulk of county administrative agencies, replacing them by modified district set-ups.

This apparently was what stimulated the city's action.

Members of the county relief committee and relief officials expressed satisfaction over the move. They had been in a peculiar spot for the past month while the two pressed satisfaction over the move. NO WAR CAN BE JUST, TO A REAL PACIFIST

The editors of the Modern Monthly recently undertook to poll a number of distinguished Americans as to their attitude in the next war. They asked these people three questions, as follows:

What will you do when America goes to war? Will your decision be altered if Soviet Russia is an ally of the United States in a war with Japan? Would a prospective victory by Hitler over most of Europe move you to urge U. S. participation in opposition to Germany in order to prevent such a catastrophe? From the wording of these questions, it seems clear that a large part of the pacifist strength in America today has definite Communist leanings; that the editors of the magazine, in other words, felt it likely that some of our peace-at-any-price spokesmen might sing a different tune if confronted with a war in which the survival of either Communism or Fascism were involved.

One of the most interesting answers received came from Archibald MacLeish, the poet. He made the point that the moment a pacifist admits he might support a "just" war, he ceases to be a pacifist; for, he points out:

"If enough people believe that a certain type of war might be justifiable, then the War Department will see that they get that kind of war—in print. The kind of war they have gotten in fact they will discover for themselves some years afterward."

And so, he concludes: "There is only one possible solution against the menace of militarism: absolute hostility. Any other is romantic. Any other supplies the forces desiring war with the means of securing it."

A good deal of loose talk has been indulged in about pacifism in this country during recent years. Much of it represents a very real and sincere determination to have nothing more to do with war; but some of it, as this questionnaire suggests, is not so much based on opposition to war itself as on opposition to certain kinds of war.

And as Mr. MacLeish points out, that kind of opposition puts no real obstacle in the path of war. It simply lays everyone involved open to a flood of propaganda. The uncompromising pacifist is at least logical. The man who says he would support a war under certain conditions will probably be found whooping it up for the next war that comes along, no matter why it is fought or with whom.

THERE MUST BE A LIMIT

One need take no more than a casual glance at the most recent figures on government relief expenditures to realize that, whatever the answer to the various recovery problems may be, the present rate of spending cannot go on indefinitely.

At the present time, one out of every five persons in the country is dependent on the government for support. In round numbers, between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000 persons are drawing money for their food, clothing and shelter from the U. S. treasury.

This includes government employes as well as people on the relief rolls, of course; but the total is a staggering one, just the same. The government is spending fully $3,000,000,000 a year on direct payments to employes and recipients of relief. We may not know how to end this situation, but it is perfectly obvious that it cannot go on forever.

That defeat of the utility holding company "death sentence" reveals there is still a lot of opposition to capital punishment. At least, capital didn't like that sort of punishment.

"Vomited 3 or 4 Times Every Day"

—18 years with a stomach like that! And in 3 doses of Gordon's: Wonderful! Think of finding relief in 3 doses, at 3¢ a dose! Read what she says: "For 18 years I suffered with what all said was gall bladder trouble. All but one said nothing but operating would do any good. Got to where I suffered untold agony. Vomited 3 or 4 times every day. Had acid, flatulent, sour stomach. Then I read a testimonial letter about GORDON'S COMPOUND that described just how I felt. Didn't suppose would do me any good but tried it anyhow. In three doses I felt better. By the time I had taken one bottle I felt like a new person. Took two and one-half bottles has been over a year now. Since I have had to take any GORDON'S I can eat anything now and all I want, and it digests. Felt better the next winter than for years. I tell all my friends. I can't recommend it too highly. I am so overjoyed with results." Mrs. G. W. Henderson, 246 South Schuyler Street, Ottumwa, Iowa. Take GORDON'S and eat what you like! "Accent on Youth" Is Delightfully Amusing Comedy

Editor's Note: The following review of "Accent on Youth" was prepared by Mrs. Powell for the Reporter-Telegram after she read the play before members of the Play Readers Club.

By MRS. EARL POWELL
"Accent on Youth" by Rachelson has much to commend it, aside from being delightfully amusing comedy. The plot deals with a playwright and his play that unexpectedly became his actual life. The characters are quite serious and philosophical. The humor is in the extremely clever and sophisticated patter and rapidly moving situations.

Kitchen Cupboard To Serve as Madam's Beauty Cabinet

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Although weekly visits to a beauty shop and a supply of special preparations on your dressing table makes the road to greater beauty a good deal easier, it still is possible for the woman with a limited budget or one who doesn't have access to a professional salon to have nice skin, hair and figure. With the help of some of the items in her kitchen cupboard she can accomplish wonders in her home.

Fresh lemons, for instance, are valuable for keeping attractive at minimum expense. The juice of half a lemon, diluted with equal parts of cold water, makes a bland bleach that will lighten the skin on your face and throat. For arms and legs, it isn't necessary to dilute the juice. If your fingers and elbows are slightly discolored, rub them vigorously with a piece of lemon.

Remember, too, that lemon rinses remove every trace of soap from your hair and tend to keep light locks from becoming darkened or dull. Furthermore, if you don't enjoy your two glasses of hot water before breakfast, put the juice of half a lemon in each one and see how much better they taste.

Olive oil is another kitchen product that can be moved into the bathroom in the name of beauty. Warm a bit of it and massage into your scalp the night before a shampoo. Smooth it on elbows and ankles to keep them smooth and soft. Use it on cuticle after a manicure and at least two nights a week.

Then, of course, there are home-made oatmeal and egg masks that involve practically no expense and are no more difficult to use than commercially prepared brands. If your skin is dry, always use cream after removal of a mask. Incidentally, theatrical cold cream, in half-pound jars, costs very little. You needn't fear that it will hurt your skin. After all, the majority of actresses use it several times a day to remove makeup and their complexions, generally speaking, are flawless.

FEMININE FANCIES

Add to list of most disconcerting things: speaking to some one who doesn't hear you, in the presence of a third person who does; telling some one a piece of news as a great surprise only to learn that he already knows it.

The only consolation about having done something foolish is to know that everybody else has done something foolish, too.

We've been noticing recently some press articles about Paula Hitler, sister of the noted Adolf. It seems that Herr Hitler is bent on being boss in his family as well as his country. It is he that supports his sister and it was he, so the tale runs, that broke up her romance with a young man of whom he did not approve.

People are never satisfied. When nights are beautiful in the summer, they don't get enough sleep and so feel bad next morning and fuss about it. Or they sleep too long and feel bad the next morning and fuss about that.

About the only time that a newspaper office is ever quiet is when two reporters are each trying to write a column for the day.

Planning All Meals Before House Guests Come Helps Hostess

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

One thing I learned years ago has added inestimably to my enjoyment of the role of hostess to house guests—that is to plan, before their arrival, the menus for the entire visit. Besides saving many a flustered minute, it is the most economical way to entertain. I plan to use up leftovers at luncheon whenever there are any and rely on an unusual dessert or hot biscuits or something special to make the meal festive.

Left-over chicken, for instance, goes into stuffed tomatoes. Combine the finely chopped meat with rice, season well and moisten with chicken stock. Stuff scooped out tomatoes with mixture, cover with buttered crumbs and serve with scrambled eggs.

A fruit omelet is delicious for Sunday morning breakfast or makes a splendid luncheon dish when there's not a left-over to be used.

Another interesting fruity main dish is a variation of a club sandwich.

Apricot Fluffy Omelet
Four eggs, 1 tablespoon butter, 3-4 cup milk, 2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca, 1 scant teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, apricot jam.

Put tapioca, salt, pepper and milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water and bring to the scalding point. Then cook five minutes, stirring frequently. Add butter and remove from boiling water. Let cool slightly while beating eggs. Beat whites and yolks separately, beating yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat whites until stiff. Add egg yolks to cooked mixture and mix well. Fold in whites of eggs and pour into a hot 10-inch iron frying pan in which butter is melted. Cook over a low flame for three minutes. Then bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for fifteen minutes. Cut across at right angle to handle of spider, being careful not to cut all the way through. Spread with jam. Fold and slide onto a hot platter. Dust with powdered sugar and serve at once.

Hot buttered toast, cheese, bacon, pineapple, lettuce, mayonnaise.

Put a thin slice of cheese on a piece of toast and melt in broiler. Cook bacon until crisp, fry slices for each sandwich. Saute sliced pineapple on melted cheese, cover with a leaf of crisp lettuce and add another slice of toast. Cover with lettuce leaves and on these put the bacon. Spread with mayonnaise, add more lettuce and top with a piece of toast. Serve with a pickle nap and radish rose on each sandwich.

Filled Cup Cake
This dessert is a winner every time. If you have the individual baking pans to make the cake shells, well and good. If not, bake cup cakes and cut out centers.

Four cake shells, 1 cup milk, 5 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-4 cup shredded coconut, 1 egg, 1 cup diced peaches.

Heat milk in double boiler. Mix and sift sugar, cornstarch and salt and stir in hot milk. Return to heat and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Cover and cook a few minutes longer. Cool and add vanilla and coconut. Fill cake shells with cream and chill in refrigerator for an hour or longer. Top with licor or sliced peaches or berries and serve.

BY JESS RODGERS

Well, they held the softball managers' meeting and, though everything went off peaceably enough on the surface—the results were not exactly pleasing to all present.

The managers, four of them, voted to spend the next four playing nights in making up games that were postponed during the first half because of rain. This rule was opposed by Managers Howard of the Southern Ice and Tidwell of the Hardware team.

The standings of the teams at the end of the first half of the season found the Gulf and the Ice teams deadlocked for first position with eight wins and four losses each. However, the Hughes Tool and Hardware entries have each one also lost only four games and Manager Blalock argued, in our opinion, rightly so, that it was unfair to rule his team out of a chance at the first half title because of the fact that his team had not been fortunate enough to play as many games as the other teams in the play-offs. We do not know where he gets his opinion because any team that can beat the Gulf twice in one night can hold their own in this league.

Howard did not voice any other objection other than the fact that the games would cause the games to end one week later in the season.

To impress bystanders that all of them could agree on something, though, the managers agreed unanimously to appoint a scorekeeper for the second half. Norman Woody was designated as the unlucky one.

The second half officially opened last night and it was more of a backfire than a bang of an opening. The first game, between the Hughes Tool and the Conoco clubs, was not a bad game to watch but the second one was worse than terrible.

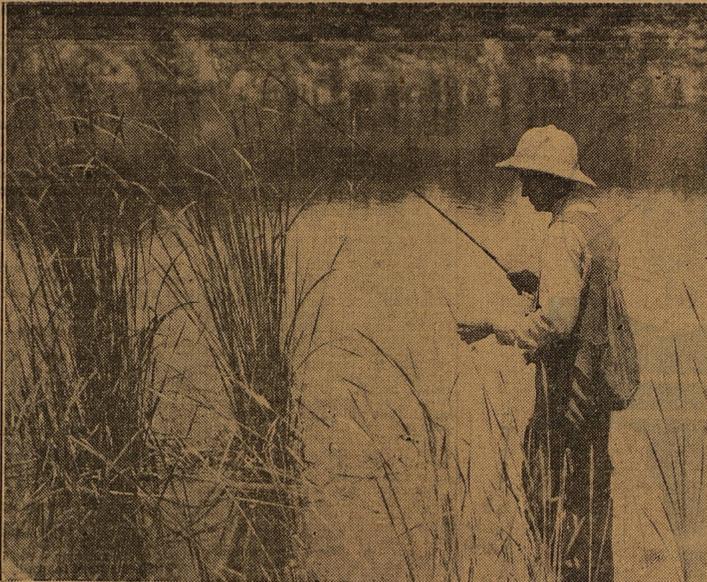

The Hardware had only three of their players for their games and after forfeiting to the Cox Motor team picked up seven men and went through the motions of playing. They were soundly trounced by the Cox team by a 14-8 score in a game that would have been better had it not been played.

Next Thursday, Friday, Monday and Tuesday nights have been designated as nights for playing off the delayed first half games and a new schedule will be announced in a few days for the remainder of the second half. No games will be counted in the second half except those of last night until the night of August 1.

Jack Lamb, world's champion bass fisherman, dropped in this morning to let us know that he will be here Friday afternoon and present his demonstration on the court house lawn of some plain and fancy tricks with the rod and reel.

By NEA Service

A good swimmer times his breathing with his stroke.

In learning to do this, walk into the water until it has reached your chest. Turn your face so that you are looking over your right shoulder and put your left cheek into the water.

Extend the left arm forward, palm turned down and fingers cupped, the shoulder slightly submerged. The right arm should extend backward, close to the body.

Gradually pull the left arm backward and down, taking a natural breath through the mouth as you do. At the same time, start the right arm forward, lifting it slightly above the water. Then plunge it in, dipping the shoulder as the arm goes deeply underneath.

At the time the right arm goes forward, the face submerges and the air is let out through the nose.

In pulling the left arm back, the right should always move up and be ready for the next stroke. Each time your left finishes a stroke, your face should turn upwards to enable you to take another breath.

NEXT: Finish of the stroke.

Chemistry Used for Agriculture Relief

As in many other countries throughout the world, South Africa has in recent years turned to chemistry for agricultural relief, according to C. C. Conannon, Chief of the Commerce Department's Chemical Division.

Having large quantities of molasses, a by-product of the sugar industry, and in normal years a surplus of corn, it has been proposed from time to time that extensive use might be made of these products in the production of alcohol which would be suitable for motor fuel blends.

Some progress has been made in this direction, Conannon stated. Several companies have produced limited quantities of motor alcohol from corn, molasses and other vegetable products, but it appears that the cost, compared with the landed cost of gasoline, makes the production of motor alcohol unpractical in that area.

Despite wide publicity given at times to the possible development of an industry producing motor alcohol from vegetable products, particularly corn, the South African Minister of Commerce and Industry sees little hope for such development. The Minister, in a public statement, called attention to the fact that there was no market for the by-products of such a scheme, which would have to be exported in competition with world prices, and pronounced such an industry as being unsound and uneconomical and not affording the South African farmer an assured market for his surplus crops, it was stated.

A number of firms have approached the South African Government in connection with the establishment of such an industry under guarantees and protection which would require special legislation, but according to latest information, such legislation has not as yet been enacted, according to Conannon.

HUGHES TOOL AND COX MOTOR START OFF SECOND HALF WITH EASY WINS

Construction Starts On Palo Duro Cabins

CANYON. (U.P.)—Permission to start construction of 20 new stone cabins immediately at Palo Duro State Park has been received by the Park's advisory board.

The cabins will follow the same general line of construction as those at Cow Camp. Temporary furnishings have been placed in the Cow Camp cabins pending completion of furniture being made from native cedar. Water lines are being built to the cabins from springs on the north side of the canyon.

Geologists making survey of the canyon will recommend the best method of obtaining a permanent water supply throughout the park.

First of the new cabins will be built along a ledge west of Coronado Lodge, which is still under construction. National Park Service plans call for sleeping quarters on the second floor of the lodge and the advisory board has recommended that a place for dancing be built.

Library Gets Antique Lamps

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., (U.P.)—Prof. James Thomas Beard, 80, of Danford, Conn., noted authority on bituminous coal field problems, has presented a mining engineering library, with a set of antique lamps. They were on exhibition at the Chicago World Fair.

Horseback riding is gaining such popularity that there are now more than a half million saddle horses maintained for that purpose in the United States.

The Hughes Tool and the Cox Motor clubs of the softball league opened the second half of the league last night by easily winning their initial games. The Hughes club easily defeated the Continental by 10-2 and the Coxmen were easy winners over the Hardware 14-8.

The Hughes club had two big innings, the second and third, scoring four runs in each to take a lead that was never threatened by the Conoco, who were able to get only three hits off the combined pitching of Straughan and Lewellen.

Six errors by the Conoco played large part in most of the Hughes scores but they rapped Newton for nine safeties, including a triple by Straughan.

In the second game the Hardware had only three of their players present and forfeited their game to the Cox then picked up seven players so that a game could be played. The "Hardware" got off to a seven-run lead by scoring five runs in the first and two in the second but the Coxmen made five in their half of the second and four more in the third to take a lead that they had no trouble maintaining.

Sherrod, McCumber, Brock and Wright all hit homers for the winning team.

You may be cool enough but your motor is hotter than Death Valley!

Protect your motor with Germ Processed Oil!
2 to 4 times greater film strength than plain mineral oil—even at motor heats of 225 to 425 degrees

BREEZES may cool you off as you drive, but your motor runs at terrific heats—from 225° in the crankcase to 425° in the cylinders.

To protect your motor, your oil must have extra film strength and maintain it at these high temperatures. Otherwise, the lubricating film ruptures and the bearings and cylinders suffer damaging wear.

Plain mineral oils have little film strength and oils over-refined by the new cleansing methods have even less. Moreover, these oils rapidly lose film strength as motor heat goes up.

You can protect your motor far better with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, for tests on the Timken Machine prove that at high motor temperatures it has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil!

More proof—supervised road tests were made in identical cars fitted with the new alloy metal bearings used in many 1935 cars. The bearings lubricated with a high-quality plain mineral oil showed 45% more wear than those lubricated with Conoco Germ Processed, the first alloyed oil.

Farmers' Views--

In this Elwood Township, of Vermillion County, there were exactly 240 homes, housing some 1,100 souls. P. W. A. was taking care of 40 families. Six were on direct township relief. And 97 others were on Illinois Emergency Relief, that twice a month sent a "wagon" with enough groceries and supplies to last each family. That made 143 families out of a total of 240 that were receiving either work or direct relief from the government, state, county or township.

"Had a funny thing happen here two days ago," he went on. "Two men drawing their $15 a week from PWA got drunk and had a knife fight. The township had to send them to the hospital in Danville to get them sewed up. Next morning both wives came to me and demanded money. I finally gave them $2 each. They were sore I wouldn't make it a fiver each, and when they went away one of the women said: 'Just sit right down on relief and you'll see a real civil war!'"

Drouth Is Thanked
That next day I drove over to the Wabash river bottom. I stopped and talked to two brothers farming side by side. One said: "Farmers should give the real credit for the raise in prices of their stuff to the drouth. I don't see that we've had much real benefit from the 3 A's. If we're going to have a processing tax it should include cattle and sheep. Of course the big problem is just what Henry Wallace says: whether we're going to pull down the tariff barriers and trade with other nations or live within ourselves. If nations are going to act like they're doing now, we'll have to keep on curtailing our crops or prices will drop to the cellar again."

His brother held a different view. "We'd have been in an awful fix without the 3 A's. We've got to keep it. It's the only way a farmer will ever get a break. Sure the farmers are going to vote for Roosevelt. And you've got to remember that it wasn't the Democrats who elected him before but the Republicans. We'll do it again, too."

Across the river in a little Indiana town of a thousand I talked long and earnestly with a sired and wise elevator man. "I've heard that's still dominating all of us," he said slowly. "As long as that is true we're going to continue to behave more like jungle beasts than human beings. One-third of the families in our town are on relief one way or another. Why, here's farmers near here who drive into town in their cars out of sight, and then go in and get a load of relief groceries and pack them up. I don't see any chance of beating Roosevelt unless something unforeseen comes up—and it'll have to be mighty big."

Farmers Riding High
Back in Illinois I spent a day with a county farm agent. We drove over the beautiful black earth belt that has made the middle-west the premier corn land of all the world.
"When city people talk about farmers giving up their tractors they might as well talk about their buying and selling their motors," he said. "Of course, power machinery coming to the farms has been the cause of a good deal of the unemployment in the small towns. Men who used to work crop seasons on the land as hired men are having their jobs taken by the more efficient machinery. It does almost as much harm to the country as to industry. But what are we going to do about it?"
Then he added: "One thing more; if the farmers don't get together and really control both their buying and selling they'll find industrial and financial combinations so all-powerful that they'll be reduced to the status of European peasants. The only hope for the farmers is to build their own tight organizations with both economic and political power."
But you don't worry so much about the farmers these days. They're the first to come out of the depression. They have high prices and, except for certain areas in the dust lands and drouth spots in the southwest, they're riding high, wide and handsome. And they had it coming to them.

Girl Killer to Be Guarded Against Mob at Trial

In a Peoria, Ill., courtroom where a strong guard will be posted to prevent violence attempts, Gerald Thompson, shown right, handcuffed, will face a first degree murder trial on July 22 for the criminal assault slaying of Mildred Hallmark, left, pretty 19-year-old cafe hostess. Thompson, 25, a mild-mannered factory hand by day, confessed the Hallmark killing and a score of other night attacks on women, then pleaded not guilty when arraigned. Following his arrest, he was hidden in three other Illinois cities when threats of mob violence were voiced in Peoria.

Midland Man, Former Designer, Discusses Women's Clothes

The weather man seems to be assuming more and more importance in the affairs of men—and women. Or perhaps the reporter is just now realizing how important the weather man is. We had always known his power in making and breaking picnics and interfering in plans generally. But now we learn that he should be consulted in matters of dress.

"It depends on the weather whether to dress in order to play up the eyes or the hair," said Roy Midkiff, S Pecos street, former dress designer, in discussing women's clothes. In answer to the reporter's murmur of surprise he explained, "Complexions harmonize with the weather."
On second thought that was easy to understand, of course. West Texas complexions incline to be red in winter, tan in summer, and just what color in sandstorms!
Colors, the Midland man believes, should receive correspondingly more attention than should design in planning a woman's clothes.
For a young woman with light brown hair and gray-blue eyes, he advises the wearing of a very light blue or light silver.
The red-head, he said, should wear a light blue and certain green (not dark green). She can also wear canary yellow, though he appeared not to be very enthusiastic over the combination of red and yellow.
A student in character reading might trace the connection between Midkiff's interest in the artistry of designing and his thin lips, topped by a shock of black hair and lighted by intense dark eyes which are vivid when he talks.
He is the son of Mrs. Jean Midkiff and the late Will Midkiff of Midland. He has been in ill health for some time and is making his home with his mother here.

Capacity of Trucks In Hauling Gasoline To Be Tested by Rack

AMARILLO, (AP)—The capacity of every truck used for hauling gasoline, oil or other fuels in 31 West Texas counties must be tested at Amarillo within the next three months, members of the state comptroller's department have announced.
A "fool-proof" testing rack has been installed here under the direction of J. C. Brown, state weights and measure inspector for the Department of Agriculture. Brown wants capacity figures so as to insure protection for filling station operators and consumers, and the comptroller wants the data for taxation purposes.
One man will go into the various counties and assign trucks certain days and hours for inspection. A nominal charge for the water used will be made by the city. It is estimated that about 500 trucks in the 31-county area will be required to take the tests.
The testing rack is constructed in the form of a tower, under which trucks are driven. Tanks on a platform above are used to gauge the number of gallons, quarts and pints each compartment of the truck holds.
"Water is the only liquid by which capacities can be measured accurately," Brown said. "All other liquids are subject to expansion and contraction."
Inspection certificates are issued for all trucks tested and it is required that they be attached so they may be seen by the buyers and inspectors.
Condition of tanks, indicators, expansion space, ventilation, whether complete delivery is assured by the faucets, and construction of the tanks also will be determined by the tests.

Watch Out for War, Here's Torpedo Egg

PECOS, (AP)—Watch for war—if the "torpedo" egg means anything. Last week H. C. Bryan, a farmer living near Pecos, found a perfectly shaped "torpedo" egg.
It is said that prior to the world war "torpedo" eggs were produced in different parts of the country.
On this egg perfectly etched was the letter "A" and Mr. Bryan figured that meant war in Asia or Africa.
The warlike specimen measured two and one-half inches in length by one and one-eighth inches in diameter. It came nearly to a point at one end.

80 Year Old Rancher Expanding Holdings

SONORA, (AP)—At 80 years of age, George S. Allison, for 50 years a ranchman and banker, is expanding his holdings. Allison, who owns 100 sections of ranch lands in Menard and Sutton counties, came to this section 50 years ago with a small herd of cattle, bought 100 acres of land and "grew up with the country."
His latest purchase was the 9,000-acre ranch of H. B. Oup on the San Saba river in Menard county. The deal, which included 4,000 head of sheep and 400 head of cattle, was for $20,000, mostly cash.
Allison is a director of the Wool Growers' Central Storage Company here and director and vice-president of the First National Bank in Sonora.

Four of the students and four Garrido men died in the ensuing battle.
Student protest flared in Mexico City and elsewhere. Young Liberals almost immediately began massing their forces to invade Tobasco to fight Garrido, they said, through the ballot box.
If confirmed, Tuesday's action on the part of the congressional committee almost certainly would be the first step in the Tobasco strongman's overthrow at the hands of the Federal Government.
