In Life of U. S.
Customs Officer

UVALDE, Aug. 13.—The life of the United States customs service officers, who spend much of their time in border patrol work, is far from humdrum routine, as a collection of pictures gathered by Harry P. Hornby, Uvalde newspaper publisher and U. S. collector of customs of the San Antonio district, will attest. Each is a photograph of a border patrolman killed in line of duty.

There are now nine in the group and he is anxious to receive information regarding any of the cases contained in his records or of which he does not have a record.

Patrolling hundreds of miles of desolate border country, stopping and searching suspected smugglers' cars and ambushes by liquor and gun smugglers are all part of the day's work to customs men, Hornby pointed out.

Until a few years ago killers invariably escaped to Mexico where internal disturbances and political chaos made it easy to escape pursuit. With conditions in Mexico more settled and officers on both sides of the border co-operating to wipe out the lawless element, however, conditions are improving. Two weeks ago the slayer of Loy C. Henry, killed near Del Rio in June, 1934, who had escaped to Mexico, was tried and convicted in a Mexican court at Piedras Negras. He received a 10-year sentence in prison at Saltillo.

Two of a group of suspected smugglers who shot down Bert Ellison, customs patrol inspector, near Hargis, Hidalgo County, August 9, received a life sentence in the penitentiary, but later escaped and is believed to be living somewhere in Mexico.

Other customs patrolmen killed in line of duty include Robert S. Rumsey, killed near Laredo, August 1922; Joseph Sitter, Fred Tate, killed in August, 1918; Frank Chapman, J. S. Howard, Robert D. Hines and James Wilson, killed near Del Rio in March, 1923.

"There are doubtless many other cases of customs patrolmen killed along their lives along the Mexican border while in the discharge of their official duties," Hornby said. "The customs service would appreciate it if friends of such officers would send in names and a short account of how these men met their deaths and the dates."

CONFIDES AIMS TO CONFEREES IN THE SENATE

To Enter Own Party If Defeated by Democrats

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP).—Senator Huey P. Long has confided Senate colleagues that he has decided definitely to run for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1936.

Long told them, furthermore, that if President Roosevelt were renominated that he would run as an independent, unless the Republicans nominated someone he could support.

Republican Senators in whom the Louisiana dictator confided were related feeling that the decision was a "big break" for the Republican party and that it might swing the election their way.

Long's opinion was that he could take Texas, Louisiana and other southern states if he ran as an Independent.

Big Spring Mail Service Extended

BIG SPRING, Aug. 13.—City mail delivery service, twice daily, will be extended to the postoffice located at 1800 block on Main, Rannels, Johnson, Nolan and Scurry streets, effective September 1, according to word received by the Big Spring postoffice Monday morning.

Approximately twenty-six additional blocks will be served in this new territory, postoffice officials said, in which about 300 patrons reside. Order to extend delivery service was received Monday morning from Assistant Postmaster General W. W. Howes of Washington, D. C.

Postoffice requirements for this service stipulate that each postal patron must have a suitable receptacle or slot in front door to get this mail service, and postoffice officials here request residents living in the new zones to call at the local postoffice and advise officials of their address and willingness to comply with the requirements.

For the past twenty-five years, according to Assistant Postmaster E. C. Boatler, this section of the city has not been served by mail delivery from the postoffice.

$100,000 Damage Suit Filed Against Miners Organization by Man Crippled by It in 1933

DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 12 (Special).—Pursuing the same course that has wrought a minimum of violence in the war swept coal fields of southern Illinois since last February, a civil suit for $100,000 damages against the First District of the Progressive Miners of America was filed Monday in the Federal District Court for Eastern Illinois.

Jacob Henry Baker, a resident of Pittsburgh county, Okla., is the plaintiff. Being a non-resident of Illinois, the action is filed in the Federal Court as the court of original jurisdiction. Baker was crippled for life by an assault in August, 1933.

Individual officers and members of the First District, Progressive Miners, are also named as defendants, to a total of more than 360. Tort judgments are demanded, so that victory for the plaintiff will make the homes of the defendants subject to levy to satisfy the judgments.

Chief among the individual defendants are William Keck, president; Lloyd Thrush, vice president, and Sylvester L. Jones, secretary-treasurer of the First District, Progressive Miners of America.

This action filed Monday follows the same legal course as the action filed last February in the same Federal Court by Alvin Karnes, of Madisonville, Ky., for $200,000 damages, against the same organization, and many of the same individual defendants.

Scheduled for early trial, that action is based upon a famous decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Danbury Hatters case. In that epochal case, the Supreme Court held that the responsible defendants include the actual participants, those who encouraged, and those who ratified the offenses upon which the action was based.

Encouragement and ratification were held by the high court to include all of the dues paying members of the defendant union, inasmuch as their money was used with their knowledge and consent in committing the offenses.

Since the filing of the Karnes suit, there has been a very noticeable decrease in the number of acts of violence in the region which had been stricken by a reign of terror for more than two years.

Punctuated with slugging, stabbing, shooting, bombing, arson and rape, the Illinois counties had been the scenes of ceaseless guerrilla warfare in the efforts of the Progressives to prevent operation of coal mines by members of the United Mine Workers of America.

Two hundred and twenty-six specific acts of violence during the period from September 25, 1932, to January 27, 1935, are listed in the action filed yesterday by Jacob Henry Baker, who, unlike Karner, was not a member of the United Mine Workers. He was a carpenter.

GIVES STATEMENT TO HOUSE RULES COMMITTEE TODAY

Describes Inquiries Into His Income As Unfair

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP).—Assertions that he and his associates took profits of $2,000,000 during the depression when stock dividends were being passed, were labeled as "distortion" today by H. C. Hopson, who controls the Associated Gas and Electric Company.

Hopson made the statement before the House Rules Committee after describing inquiries about his income as "unfair" and "prying".

When asked by Chairman O'Connor what his income had been the last two years, Hopson said that he could not tell. He said that he looked it up 12 years ago and it was about $100,000 per year.

Hopson, long sought witness, told the committee that he had been "very eager" for B. B. Robinson, Chicago utilities executive to complete his work against enactment of the utility holding bill.

Where Hopson was located remained a mystery as neither he nor committee members would say where he was found over the week end.

MAY CITE HOPSON FOR SENATE CONTEMPT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP).—A possibility that H. C. Hopson of the Associated Gas and Electric system might be cited for contempt of the Senate arose today after an agent of the Lobby Committee was prevented from serving a subpoena on him.

COURT OF INQUIRY INVESTIGATES THE DEATH OF POST MAN

POST, August 13. (AP).—With the holding of a secret court of inquiry here Monday came to light a mysterious death and a story of a Friday night ambush here wherein a man received a flesh wound from a shotgun he asserted was fired by his father.

The body of J. W. Huff, 48, was found floating on the surface of a lake about six and one-half miles northeast of Post Sunday afternoon. There was no evidence he had drowned, physicians said.

The test is located in the hole. Since Saturday operators have bailed steadily but have been unable to lower the column of fluid in the hole.

Due to strong gas pressure, type of bailer had to be changed in order to get out with a load of mud instead of oil.

It appeared possible Monday that a smaller bailer might be employed to get greater depth.

The test is located in section 22, block 34, T-2-S, T&P survey and is bottomed at 10,115 feet where operators think another pay level may have been encountered.

Among patients now in a Midland hospital are Mrs. W. B. Lord and L. W. Isler.

Twenty sisters will come from Mexico City to teach in the college and will be accompanied by a nun, who will be in charge of the building. The building is to be thoroughly remodeled and later it is planned to build additions. It is expected the college will be ready for opening in September.

The building was owned by Miss Beatrice Baker Porter and was built in 1890 by her grandfather, the late Quentin Villages.

Continue to Bail on McDowell Deep Test

BIG SPRING, Aug. 13.—Bailing on the John I. Moore No. 1 McDowell, deep test in Glasscock county, was still in progress Monday with oil reported increasing in the hole.

Since Saturday operators have bailed steadily but have been unable to lower the column of fluid in the hole.

It appeared possible Monday that a smaller bailer might be employed to get greater depth.

The test is located in section 22, block 34, T-2-S, T&P survey and is bottomed at 10,115 feet where operators think another pay level may have been encountered.

SENATE REVERSES SELF ON TAX PLAN

Approves Completely Rewritten Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP).—Suddenly reversing itself under a burst of bipartisan criticism, the senate finance committee Monday rejected higher taxes for small-income Americans and approved a completely rewritten "wealth tax" bill.

It goes to the Senate floor conforming more closely to President Roosevelt's "Wealth Distribution" program. Some read in the statutory changes during a heated committee session evidences of administrative influence in ripping out levies on small incomes.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky) who spent the weekend fishing with President Roosevelt, made the move to reconsider Saturday's approval for the LaFollette low-income taxes. Speaker Byrnes, after lunching with the president, explained tax rates were not discussed, had predicted just previous to go into lower income brackets.

Then after the committee reversal, Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, emerged from the White House to say his action will materially shorten the session if adhered to. He foresaw possibility of adjournment some time next week.

Not only did the committee eliminate boosts in little incomes, but it dropped a substitute by Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) raising surtaxes only on income over $1,000,000—as Mr. Roosevelt had suggested in place of the house schedule starting the boosts at the $50,000 level.

It also placed a tax on intercorporate dividends as recommended by the president's message and increased the graduated corporation income tax above the figures it approved Saturday and beyond the house rates.

GETS INJUNCTION KEEP NEWS FROM BEING PUBLISHED

Telephone, Telegraph Services to Be Restrained

AUSTIN, Aug. 13. (AP).—Governor Allied today opened a drive to put horse race bookies out of business in Texas by obtaining an injunction restraining certain race information distributing agencies from further operations.

District Judge C. A. Wheseler granted a temporary injunction against the Daily Racing Form Publishing Company, Texas News Service, American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

The defendants were restrained from gathering and disseminating or assisting in the gathering and disseminating of horse racing information, or from elsewhere in Texas. A hearing on the injunction has been set for October 7.

"We intend to cut the bottom from under the bookie shops by stopping their sources of information," the Governor said, "and they cannot operate without obtaining information over leased wires from the race tracks."

FAIR OFFICIALS APPROVING PURSE AND PRIZE FUNDS

Executive committees, directors and committee members met this morning working out details of prize money, purses and expense budgets. Several of the divisions were approved, it was reported, when the meeting recessed at noon.

Committee in charge of the cattle show, including registered divisions and the carlot feeder show and sale, were said to have completed the making up of awards.

Carpentry work at the new $30,000 fair grounds continued to show progress this week. The agricultural building was practically completed and workmen had shifted to the cattle show barn and the first of three race horse stables.

WORK RELIEF HELD UP BY TOO MANY BOSSES

Somewhere back in January, Congress put through a $4,800,000 bill for work-relief. This was to be the final, triumphant, mopping-up drive of the great campaign against unemployment. It was to take 3,500,000 men off the dole and restore them to honest jobs. It was to "prime the pump" once more with such expenditures for capital as would finally set our whole productive machine in motion again.

That was just about seven months ago. Today, according to the most recent check-up, slightly less than 25,000 people have gone to work under this bill. The great public works that were to result are hardly past the blue-print stage. The whole campaign has bogged down in a manner utterly dismaying to anyone who hopes to see the government work its way out of the expensive business of direct relief.

One trouble—perhaps the chief one—seems to be that there are too many bosses. Harry Hopkins is Federal Relief Administrator. Secretary Ickes is Public Works Administrator. Frank C. Walker is a sort of middle man, head of the Division of Applications and Information.

It is up to Mr. Hopkins to see to it that as many men as possible are given work—any kind and every kind of work, so long as it is work. It is Mr. Ickes' job to see to it that the jobs undertaken are as useful, as substantial and as permanent as possible.

It is Mr. Walker's job to harmonize the inevitable conflicts between these viewpoints, and that is something that takes a bit of doing; for the more successful Mr. Hopkins is the less successful Mr. Ickes will have to be, and vice versa. As a result, the whole program seems to be in a state of considerable confusion. At one moment it looks as if Mr. Ickes' program for substantial and enduring public works will carry the day; a little later it appears that Mr. Hopkins will have his way and will put men at work raking leaves and rolling tennis courts; now and then it almost looks as if nothing would be done.

What seems to be needed is a firm and definite decision from the White House. In some ways this work relief program is the most important single undertaking of the whole administration. Indecision and the conflict of varying plans should not be allowed to cripple it any longer.

COMMENDABLE GESTURE

One of the best good-will stunts of the summer is the action taken by James E. Van Zandt, national chairman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in inviting a delegation of Japanese army and navy reservists to tour the United States and attend the national convention of the V. F. W. in New Orleans on Sept. 15.

The invitation has been accepted, and four retired army and navy officers have been designated at Tokyo to make the trip. They will represent the Japanese Reservists' Association, which numbers some 3,000,000 ex-service men.

Little things like this can have a great deal of importance. The reasons why Japan and America should be friends are weightier than the reasons why they should be enemies. Bringing the representatives of two great service organizations together in a cordial host-and-guest relationship will help to remind us of it—and will make the maintenance of peace just that much easier.

Shimmering Locks Red Head's Best Beauty Bet

By ALICIA HART NEA Service Staff Writer

The red-headed girl, providing she appreciates and knows how to make the most of her hair and light coloring that goes with it, can be more fascinating than either blondes or brunettes.

If her hair is nicely groomed and in healthy condition, she need spend less time arranging a scheme than blonde. A simple hair style will be most flattering anyway, and her extra minutes can be used to figure out color schemes and makeup ideas that set off her natural beauty.

One with red locks, either bright or dark auburn, should be especially particular about colors. Black with white touches may give her a sleek sophisticated appearance, but black with pink is sure to detract from her charms. Generally speaking, pink and, of course, red, are two shades from which the tilian-haired beauty should steer clear.

She will find tones of green and blue to be best. Brown, providing it doesn't have reddish lights similar to her hair, is good, too. An all-white costume doesn't provide enough contrasting interest. While in combination with regular red-headed colors will be much more satisfactory.

Choosing right shades of cosmetics is another important task for the red-headed type. They must match perfectly her natural skin tones and they should be applied sparingly. If she is pink and white, she'll need pinkish rouge and lipstick and natural powder. Eyeshadow must be the palest green or blue. If she is the brown-eyed type with creamy brown, rosy tones, lipstick and rouge to match her natural coloring are the rules.

Stories in STAMPS By J. S. Klein

UNION OF THE GERMAN STATES

GERMANY as it is today had been divided into a northern group of states, dominated by Prussia, and a southern group antagonistic to Prussian dominance.

When war with France in 1870 brought these two factions together, the clever machinations of Count Otto von Bismarck had brought about a double victory by a threatening France and the union of north and south Germany into a powerful nation.

As far back as 1815, under the Congress of Vienna, the various German states had begun to feel the importance of uniting. But it took 55 years, and the ingenuity of a Bismarck, to bring this about.

MADE BY HAPPY PEOPLE

Every woman knows that the best cooks are those who really enjoy their work. A careless, dissatisfied cook can take the finest ingredients and turn out very ordinary food.

Kellogg's have always made the well-being of their workers a prime consideration. Long before the New Deal was heard of, our employees were enjoying shorter working hours without reduction in living standards. To supply the immense demand for Kellogg's Cereals the plant is kept running day and night. But under the four-shift system, no worker's day is longer than six hours.

Playgrounds and gardens, careful medical supervision, and the most ideal working conditions that can be devised, all contribute to a healthy and happy group of employees.

They like their work. They take genuine pride in the quality of the foods they make.

Much of the superiority of Kellogg's Corn Flakes can be traced to this attitude among our workers. You reap its benefits when you serve your family these purer, crisper, finer-flavored flakes.

Ask your grocer for Kellogg's—the original—always the best.

FEMININE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN EILAND

What working girl doesn't have to rinse out hose and handkerchiefs in her room at night? And what one who doesn't worry over the problem of where to hang the articles while they dry?

A clever little jigger we saw in a downtown store today seems to have solved that problem. It is a tiny contraction similar to an "undersized coat hanger" and it carries four small clothespins with specially rounded clamps to prevent tearing hose or other silken articles.

The whole thing is only a few inches in length and small enough to put into an overnight bag but it provides room for two pairs of hose or two other small articles. It is nicely enameled, too.

A Midland physician tells us that there were 26 births and 4 deaths in Midland last week.

"A pretty good batting average," said the doctor and we agree.

Midland need not worry over the problem of race suicide so long as that ratio can be maintained.

One other thing that is comparable to the "last long mile" of the soldier's marching lament is the last hundred pages of a book that we think we ought to read and somehow can't get round to finishing.

Regular Removal of Surplus Hair Is Important

By ALICIA HART NEA Service Staff Writer

This is the time of year when the depilatory problem is tremendously important to any woman who prides herself on neatness and fastidious grooming. Dancing in sleeveless evening dresses, bathing in abbreviated beach costumes and playing in shorts outfits call for arms and legs absolutely free from superfluous hair that mars their beauty.

There are three or four ways to remove hair, of course. The amount of time and money you can devote to the process must necessarily influence your choice of a method.

But, whichever system you elect, be sure to employ it as regularly and carefully as you do any other important routine.

The wax depilatories seem to be the more satisfactory, especially for the legs. It's easier and sometimes a little better to have this done by a professional. However, by following directions carefully, it can be done perfectly at home.

The wax is heated, smeared on in narrow strips, allowed to cool slightly and then pulled off. You smooth it on in the direction in which the hair grows and pull it off the opposite way. Unless you have competent help, better not attempt to use it under the arms.

Shaving with a razor is probably the easiest procedure. Just the same, you run the risk of developing stiff, whisker-like bristles if you persist in shaving too frequently.

If you are a razor addict, you undoubtedly will like a new gadget, put out recently by a new company, that makes compact cases. A safety razor about one inch long, packed in a pretty, tiny case with diminutive blades to fit, this little item is handy to pack and decorative on the bathroom shelf. It's very small, makes it especially simple to use. No small hair, growing in a fine line in the skin, can escape.

Next to using a razor, removing superfluous hair with cream depilatory is the easiest method. You put it on, leave for from three to five minutes, depending on your type of skin, and wash off with tepid water.

PYRON AND WRIGHT PITCH HARDWARE AND SO. ICE TO COUPLE OF VICTORIES

Pyron of the Hardware and Wright of the Southern Ice showed the large crowd at last night's games some real pitching when they pitched their two teams to victories and gave up only one run in the two games. Pyron let the Cox Motor team down with four hits and one run while Wright let the Continental have five hits but not one of them was able to cross home plate for a run.

It was the second time this season that a shut out game has been pitched in the league and the Conoco has been the losing team in both instances.

While Pyron was smothering the Cox hitters last night his mates were landing on Matthews, Cox infielder turned pitcher, for 11 hits, good for eight runs. In the nightcap the Ice reached Newton for eight safeties and six runs.

The Hardware made all their runs in the first five innings of the game with one run in the first, two in the second, one in the third and four in the fifth. The Cox made their only run in the fifth when Chandler, first man up, walked, advanced to third on a couple of infield outs and scored on Bryant's hit.

The Southern Ice made two runs in the second and one in the fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh. The only time that the Conocoites ever threatened to score was in the sixth when they loaded the bases on two walks and one hit but Adams fouled out to the catcher to lose it.

Edgar Allan Poe's Classic to the Ritz

Visions of the strange, the unreal, and the uncanny, are conjured up in "The Raven," produced by Universal and one of the most thrilling inspiring pictures, which comes to the Ritz theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

Based on the immortal classic by Edgar Allan Poe and co-starring those two super "monsters" of the screen, Karloff (Frankenstein) and Bela Lugosi (Dracula), the graphic architectural descriptions in the film are actually startling.

Although the story is laid in modern surroundings, the unique settings include faithful reproductions of the imaginative creations of Poe, such as his horror chambers, mystic mansions, bizarre inventions, etc.

A veritable underground city was erected for this production with the greatest care was given to every detail in the construction of the mechanical appliances seen in the picture. In sharp contrast to these Arabian-night-like scenes are exterior scenes of much beauty and an outward atmosphere of normality in every respect.

Perhaps the most unique and startling effect in the film is the air-tight chamber, the walls of which are seen coming together. It is a remarkable illusion.

More Than 1000 Cans Of Vegetables Put Up

HEREFORD, Tex. (AP)—More than 1,000 cans of beans, Swiss chard, squash and beets were canned during the first week that Hereford's community relief canning was in operation.

The vegetables came from a five-acre community garden. Homer Fox, relief administrator, estimated that the irrigated tract would furnish sufficient produce to fill about 30,000 cans in addition to providing fresh vegetables for relief clients during the rest of the summer.

Peas, carrots, tomatoes, sweet potatoes and turnips are to be canned fresh.

Eight women are employed in the cannery, which probably will be operated until October.

Aeronautical Lights To Be Given Ratings

WASHINGTON. — Private aeronautical beacon lights hereafter will be rated by the Bureau of Air Commerce, Department of Commerce so that airmen can determine from the letters in the rating symbol what type of light will be found at a given location and how effective it is, Eugene L. Vidal, director of Air Commerce, announced today.

Private lights include those maintained by airports, also airway, landmark and hazard beacons operated by private interests. The 600 or more private aeronautical lights supplement the assistance rendered to airmen by nearly 2,000 beacon lights on the Federal Airways System.

A beacon light's designation and rating will consist of three characters. The first will be a capital letter showing the classification—"A" for airport, "B" for airway, "C" for landmark and "D" for hazard beacon lights. This will be followed by a number indicating operation—"1" for full time operation between dusk and dawn, or "2" for reliable part-time operation. The third character, a lower case letter, signifies suitability—"a" for a light which conforms to the prescribed standards based upon Federal Airways practice, and "b" for a light which is of lesser effectiveness, but is nevertheless a true aid to air navigation and which will not be confused with standard aids.

This an airport beacon light meeting the standards in full would be designated and rated A-1-a, and this symbol would be published in Bureau of Air Commerce bulletins as a guide to airmen. The ratings will replace certifications of private aeronautical lights heretofore issued by the Bureau of Air Commerce. Lights now certified will be carried in the records on the present basis until these certifications expire and are renewed. Upon renewal, ratings will be assigned in accordance with the new practice.

As has been the case since 1926, the displaying of a false light, or in other words a light that is misleading or confusing to airmen is illegal, and the operator of any such false light is liable to fine, imprisonment, or both.

To Investigate New Native Bldg. Stone

AUSTIN, (AP)—Persons who visit the Texas Centennial at Dallas next year may find something new in native building stone.

The state board of control, supervising agency for all building constructed with the aid of state funds, has brought to light a new type of stone that is being investigated further. It is light grey and is sprinkled with myriads of shining particles, believed to be granite.

The sample caught the board's eye immediately.

"That would make a beautiful building with the sun bringing out the richness of the colors," Claude Teerl, chairman, commented.

The board will determine if the stone can be found in commercial quantities and easily worked. If it is not too expensive it likely will be used extensively. If it is found to be impractical for major construction it will, in all probability, be used on a small scale.

The stone is found near Llano but the board has not been advised of the quantity or workability and its properties. Several samples are being tested at the University of Texas laboratories to ascertain its tensile strength.

Teer said Texas materials would be used where possible in all state Centennial buildings in conformity with the board's policy to use Texas products in all construction, price and other considerations being approximately equal.

Irrigation Cheap In the Miami Area

MIAMI, Tex. (AP)—Gardens may be irrigated for as little as $8 an acre in the shallow water area near here, Leon M. Kinney, Roberts county relief administrator, states.

Kinney based his figures on costs of operating a four-acre community relief garden here. A centrifugal pump, powered by an electric motor, has been used for the last two years to pump from a well in which the water is about 36 1/2 feet from the top.

The garden was flooded with about 2 1/2 inches of water last summer, but less was required this year because the rainfall was heavier and the land had been terraced to lessen water run-off and evaporation.

Corn-Hog Officers Elected at A., M.

COLLEGE STATION.—Officers of the Texas Corn-Hog Advisory Committee who were elected here during the 26th annual Farmers' Short Course were: J. P. Strader, Canadian, chairman; J. S. Sharp, Paris, vice chairman; and S. M. Ainsworth, Gonzales, secretary-treasurer.

The committee, which acts for the approximately 38,000 corn-hog producers in 225 Texas counties, commends the national administration for its effort to give farmers parity prices for commodities and to give producers of agricultural commodities a protection similar to that given manufacturers and other commercial interests. In setting forth plans for the year, the committee insisted upon the continuation of agricultural adjustment programs and processing taxes and expressed the determination of Texas farmers to hold the adjustment program regardless of attacks made on them.

In endorsing the Texas Agricultural Association in its effort to expose the unconstitutionality of high protective industrial tariffs which have been of great damage to the interests of the majority of farmers, the committee said: "We call on all the people of Texas to assist us in our struggle for a fair deal which is of great importance to the people in all occupations just as well as to those engaged in farming."

The committee commended the corn and hogs section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in Washington for the splendid way in which the program was carried out in Texas and expressed appreciation of the farmers to the Extension Service for the capable way in which the program has been handled. It also endorsed the actions of the members of the present corn-hog review board and the way they handled the job of allotment.

The corn-hog advisory committee is composed of nine members, one from each district of Texas, elected by the presidents of the corn-hog associations in the district. Members are J. P. Strader, Canadian; J. S. Sharp, Paris; S. M. Ainsworth, Gonzales; O. J. Keller, Crosbyton; R. E. Lee, Mason; George Slaughter, Wharton; Otto Morris, Laneville; Judson Wood, Sherman; and W. J. Fritts, Comanche. All were present at the first meeting of the committee except W. J. Fritts.

It has been estimated that the distance from the center of the earth to the center of the moon is about 238,857 miles.

Historical Murals In Pampa Schools

PAMPA, (AP)—Murals depicting important events in the early history of Texas have been placed in Pampa schools in connection with the state's centennial celebration next year.

The paintings, 15 in all, appeared on floats in the pre-Centennial here last June. Painted by Tom Sims, they were obtained by the school system from the pre-Centennial committee. Title plates are to be made by manual arts pupils in the school.

Except for the picture of Sam Houston among the Indians, which went to Sam Houston school, two copies of each scene were available. One copy of each was hung in the senior-junior high school building, and each ward school received two murals.

Other paintings depicted Deaf Smith at Cince's Bridge, Bowie in the Alamo, the Goliad Massacre, Drawing of the black beans, Recapture of Cynthia Ann Parker, Indian attack on wagon train near Wheeler, and Origin of the "Texas."
