The strike has been going on for months, with picketing and outbreaks of violence. Only recently several women were stripped nude in a street by women strikers.

Say Amendment 4 Is "Last Chance" For 32,000 Children

AUSTIN.—For some 32,000 children the fourth amendment is a "last chance" stand, said Mrs. Violet S. Greenhill, chief of the Texas division of child welfare in reference to the Constitutional amendments to be voted on August 24.

"While I do not believe that the welfare of one group of persons in need can be separated from that of any other, such as these 32,000 fatherless children from the 24,000 aged on the relief rolls of the State, or of the 20,000 dependent disabled, I feel that as the head of the children's division I have a peculiar responsibility to the 11,000 widowed mothers and their 32,000 young children who are to be shifted from relief rolls back to the county government in December.

"As the Texas Constitution now reads the State cannot share in this responsibility—a fact that will cost Texas approximately $500,000 for each of the two coming years. This money is available under the Federal Security bill for the dependent children of widowed mothers.

"The people of Texas will never feel that as the head of the disabled and sick actually starve, but the weight of so great a burden when returned to the counties of the state will result in great want and suffering. For all these the fourth amendment is really a 'last chance'."

The passage of the fourth amendment which provides that Constitutional amendments may be submitted by a special session of the Legislature would hold the matter open for further consideration. It would (See AMENDMENTS, page 6)

AMARILLO FAIR TO BE TEXAS' LARGEST EXPOSITION IN '35

AMARILLO, Aug. 21.—When the Tri-State Fair opens, Saturday, September 14, in Amarillo it will be the largest exposition in Texas.

For several years the fair has ranked second only to the Dallas fair, which this year was postponed on account of the Texas Centennial.

Long ago the Tri-State Fair became more than its name implies. Formerly it served the Panhandle Plains of Texas, parts of New Mexico and Oklahoma. But the exposition is recognized by major circuits throughout the United States, attracting from many other states.

Foremost breeders of livestock enter herds each year for Tri-State Fair prizes in some of these herds come from Oregon, Wisconsin, Illinois and other distant states.

The Hereford show of last year was the third largest in the United States.

The fair association, headed by Wilbur C. Hawk for the second consecutive year since 1931, offers and guarantees payment in full of more than $15,000 in cash premiums for exhibitors.

In addition to livestock, agriculture, art and industry will have complete entries.

Each year cities in the Tri-State Fair territory send large delegations and bands to the exposition. General admission is free and all exhibits are open to the public.

Entertainment attraction in the fair will be varied enough to suit every amusement taste.

Fairs are educational, but men, women and children should have a good time, too, and so the fair management has made arrangements for two daily circus performances, for the United States, for daily horse racing with legalized wagering and for many other entertainment enterprises.

At the Bailey Bros. and Harley Sadler three-ring circus, purchased just recently by the well known West Texan, will stage a mile long parade every other day during the fair.

The Beckmann & Gerety Shows will come to Amarillo direct from Detroit for the midway engagement. Mason King, racing director, reports more and better entries for the fall race meet.

Friday, September 3—one day before the fair. O. L. Taylor again this year is secretary-manager of the fair. The 1935 exposition will continue to and including Saturday, September 21.

Hill was allowed only a slight chance to recover by physicians who examined him in a Tulsa hospital. He suffered a skull fracture, crushed chest, two broken legs and a back injury.

R. T. Martin and T. F. Davis, who live nearby and who witnessed the crash, said that at a height of 400 feet the motor cut and the ship nosed straight toward the ground until it crashed.

The Life Story of Will Rogers

Horse-Sense Philosophy and Humor

I admit I'm one of them movie actors from Hollywood. But I'm an exceptional movie actor. I been married 20 years and I still got the same wife I started out with.

Perhaps the secret of Will Rogers' hold on millions of plain Americans lies in the story of a smart New Yorker who took a country relative to see Rogers in the Folies. The city man laughed gaily at the old truisms that many humorists are really very lugubrious fellows at heart. They are serious because they are thinking of what hard work it is to be funny. Rogers never bothered about that. He was serious because he was thinking of what might be the effect of his joke.

To Will Rogers a simple joke for the joke's sake was like cornflakes without milk—pretty dry going. He once said, "A joke has got to have its foundation in truth if it's going to enjoy the process of getting over to the audience."

Philosophy With a Grin

Typical of what he must have meant was this one, pulled during the Democratic convention of 1920: Bryan was cheered 15 minutes, then voted against six to one. There is a lot of pretty profound political philosophy in that one. Huey Long, take notice.

Rogers himself always thought one of the best of his cracks was, "America never lost a war—and she never won a conference." But he admitted he got a louder laugh with such rambling stuff as "Yeh, No Malice in His Recipe

Men who have followed Will Rogers' writings and stage performances for years insist that he never intentionally uttered an unkind or malicious word. Personal ridicule had no place in his scheme, and he was himself deeply embarrassed when, during a radio broadcast in the Coolidge era, he announced that the president would follow, and then Rogers filled in with his own version of Coolidge's nasal drawl.

Informed that protests were going to the White House from the few who had recognized that it really wasn't Calvin speaking, but Will, the cowboy comic wrote an apology. Coolidge replied in his own handwriting that he hadn't minded a bit. Even so, he didn't want to hurt anybody.

Because he liked people, once he said that of the thousands of people he had met he didn't recall one whom he really disliked. That was at once his strength and his weakness. Malice and hatred were not in him.

Yet he didn't hesitate to stick a wicked barb into general things sometimes. Witness this, from a comment on the presidential candidacy of John W. Davis: "Somebody worked for Morgan & Co. My Lord, that's what we all do, work for Morgan, only he was smart enough to get paid for it—and we pay Morgan."

Will's Niche Among Humorists

Much speculation attaches as to whether Rogers will go down as one of the line of American humorists. Bill Nye, Artemus Ward, "Mr. Dooley," and Mark Twain.

It will take time to tell, of course, but no one can deny that

THREE MILES OF PAVEMENT AT LOW COST PROBABLE

Application for Federal Loan Is Made By City

Opportunity for Midland property owners to secure at low cost as much as three miles of pavement in the residential sections is probable. It was made known today, following an application by the City of Midland for a federal grant under the public works program.

The application asked for funds of $129,000, of which 45 per cent would be an outright grant from the government. The remainder, to be paid by the property owners, would enable them to buy pavement at the rate of from $1.50 to $1.75 per running foot, including curbs and gutters.

This would provide a forty foot paved street, the same width as that on South Main Street, with a three layer asphalt or hot top pavement. Pavement which was laid here several years ago, where it was necessary for property owners and the city, under a bond election, to finance the entire cost, required an outlay of more than $5 per front foot for a 30-foot asphalt street.

J. Homer Epley has been engaged to make a canvass of property owners to determine whether or not the paving project is wanted. If a sufficient number on a given street, or section of same, desire the pavement, the application for the federal grant will be handled by the city.

"It is up to the property owners," a city official said, "and we want to help them get this reasonably priced pavement if they want it."

Residents, or property owners, in any section of the city desiring to have immediate canvassing made of their portion of the city were asked to communicate with City Secretary J. C. Hudman, at the city hall, and first attention will be given the first applicants.

A study of the street paving program has been conducted by the city authorities for sometime, seeking the best type of residential pavement at the lowest cost to the property owner. The federal grant of 45 per cent of the total cost would eliminate costly, long term bond issues, loans or carrying charges.

CITIES SERVICE COMPANY SPENT $100,000 ON BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (P)—The expense of the Cities Service Company in opposing the Wheeler-Rayburn bill was listed at $100,000 before the Senate Lobby Committee today. Other additional items were disclosed.

W. B. S. Winans, controller of the company, gave the total while under questioning. He admitted that it did not include large legal fees to John W. Davis and others.

The committee called him to warn that files of holding companies and subsidiaries would be subpoenaed to Washington, if necessary. Chairman Black said that investigators had been refused access to some records.

Winans reported that the company was willing to cooperate so a subpoena was unnecessary.

WHERE ARE WE GOING TO PUT THEM?

Housing facilities of Midland are being taxed! That isn't bad news. It's good news. However, the renter must be considered, also the prospective renters who want to move to Midland.

The fact that one large oil company has been taken care of is just another reason for making further preparation to house the other new citizens who would follow them.

The action of Midland citizens who bought the 23 Humble houses, to move them to Midland and rebuild them in first class condition, renting them back or selling them to employees of that important oil company, was one of the most forward steps to have been taken by a small city in years. Its meaning will be far-reaching. Another hundred citizens of various walks of life probably will want to come here immediately as result of the Humble's transfer to Midland.

Also, it is likely that other oil companies will want to come, as the majority of them now have district or home offices here. Midland has the office facilities, the hotel facilities, the highway facilities, the banking facilities and the business houses which are demanded by the progressive petroleum citizenship.

But we need more houses. Those who spent heavily for houses once before, only to have these houses sit idle or rent at a money-losing figure for a few years, are slow to get in the notion of doing more building. Others, thinking to profit by the experience of the former investors, say they will keep that money in some other form of investment.

But the present come-back is of entirely different nature. The new citizens are not tank farm builders. They are permanent citizens, here to carry on the oil business for years to come. With such an impetus, Midland can grow into a city. But there will have to be more houses built to bring it up to that point. Property, as it begins to be developed, will enhance its value. Rents should, according to the laws of economics, be held to a level which will not drive citizens from Midland but which will make them satisfied with the progressive, well located, forward thinking little city. Let's make our investments in such a way that our other property will enhance in value and that Midland's permanent growth into the city it deserves to be will be assured!

NOTHING BUT DREAMS

There is something rather pathetic about the election of a white-haired old refugee in Paris as "Hetman" of all the Don Cossacks now scattered throughout the world.

Driving taxicabs, acting as waiters or porters, or working at any kind of jobs they can get, these remnants of a once-proud breed find it hard to forget. So they continue as best they can to keep up the old forms and the old ways. By a world-wide mail ballot they have chosen Count Grabbe as their Hetman, and presented him with the "boulava" staff that was once the symbol of supreme power over the wild horsemen of the Don.

And the 67-year-old man could only say to the 2000 followers who witnessed the empty ceremony, "I have no plans, only dreams."

Even that is something. There are people who have lost even their dreams. They are the people really to be pitied.

Anyway, the question isn't who burned up those utilities telegrams, as it is who would be burned up by them.

Sophie Tucker's offer to buy the Boston Braves has been turned down. The club is funny enough without her.

Southern Belles As Well As Veterans To Attend Reunion

AMARILLO, (P)— Hundreds of southern belles of today and of yesteryear will be in attendance during the 45th annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans here September 3-6.

They will include many who were left behind when "the boys in gray" answered the call to arms more than 70 years ago. It is estimated that 2,000 sponsors, matrons of honor, maids of honor and chaperones, and wives, widows, daughters and granddaughters of veterans will attend. One chaperone, one sponsor, one matron of honor and three maids of honor may be named by the commander in chief; the armies of Virginia, Tennessee and Trans-Mississippi; the divisions of 16 southern states, the District of Columbia, New York and the Pacific; the brigades within each state and by each local camp.

Although the veterans will hold the center of attention they will be outnumbered greatly by other visitors. Simultaneous with the big reunion will be the annual parade of the Sons of Confederate Veterans and the 38th annual session of the Confederate Southern Memorial Association.

For the aged veterans it will be truly a reunion. Only one session during the four days will be devoted to speaking. That meeting, the night of September 3, will be addressed by President Roosevelt either in person or by telephone-radio, and by Congressman Marvin Jones.

Gov. James V. Allred is scheduled to extend a welcome on behalf of Texas, and Gov. Clyde Tingley of New Mexico on behalf of the Southwest.

The remainder of the time will be given over to reminiscing by the veterans and to a round of festivities. The grand ball for the U.C.V. will be the night of September 4, and the grand ball for the sons the next night. The annual parade will climax the last day's program. Teas and receptions will be scattered throughout the reunion.

Music will be furnished by the United States Marine Band. Congress appropriated $10,000 for the trip. Free quarters and meals will be available for veterans and one attendant each. They may stay in barracks patterned after a Civil War army camp, or in private homes.

About 1,000 of the old Southern heroes are expected. It is estimated that not more than 8,000 remain. Special trains will bring them from Georgia, South Carolina, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Alabama, and points in Texas. Special rates of one cent a mile each way east of the Mississippi, have been offered by railroads.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

Everybody is recalling his favorite story about Will Rogers. There are so many of them, and all of a nature to make the people of all nations, love that whole-souled statesman, that it is hard to find the best stories to repeat.

However, I like the one recalled by The Tactless Texan in the Amarillo Globe-News: My story, one that I have printed and re-printed, is about when Will imitated Coolidge over the radio. And then some folks wrote in to the radio company and complained that they believed it was extremely undignified for a comedian to imitate our chief executive over the air. And so Will Rogers answered them the next time he spoke.

"I am sorry that I have offended anyone," he said, "as I don't like to make anyone mad. And I particularly hope that I haven't hurt the feelings of the President himself as I always rather liked the little shrimp." And he got away with it. There is no denying the popularity of Coolidge, but do you know who made him popular? It was Will Rogers. He took him off good naturedly all over the United States and it made the people think that Coolidge was a human being.

Strange Fish in Texas Port Waters

PORT ISABEL, (P)— Residents of the Lower Rio Grande Valley are wondering whether fish are following boats to this port. They are catching fish which have never appeared here before, including ling, bonito, sailfish and dolphins.

It is thought by some that the fish follow boats because of the refuse. Drifts came here some time before completion of the port and it is thought some of the fish may have trailed these.

The ling, caught several times, resembles the cod of northern Europe and Greenland. The bonito is a member of the mackerel family. Flying fish appeared by thousands recently and Valley fishermen were hopeful they might catch some sailfish which feed on their flying fellows. Only one sailfish ever has been caught in Valley waters.

Shrimp also are more plentiful and tarpon have been caught as far from the pass as Redfish Bay. One section of the Pampa desert of Peru has not had a drop of rain for more than 40 years.

OLD TIRES STILL GOOD

MOALLEN, (P)— Discarded automobile tires will be used to save citrus orchards of the Valley from freezing this winter.

J. R. Cooke, owner of a 26-acre orchard, is said by citrusists to have nearly 400 per cent more fruit on his trees this year than the average for the Valley. He saved the fruit from a damaging freeze by burning oil soaked auto tires in his orchard. When his neighbors observed his crop this year they bought up all old tires in the Valley for use this winter. One tire saves four trees over about a four-hour freezing period.

When the sun is blazing hot, your motor heat goes up, too!

To protect your motor, use Germ Processed Oil, which has 2 to 4 times greater film strength and is less affected by extreme motor heat!

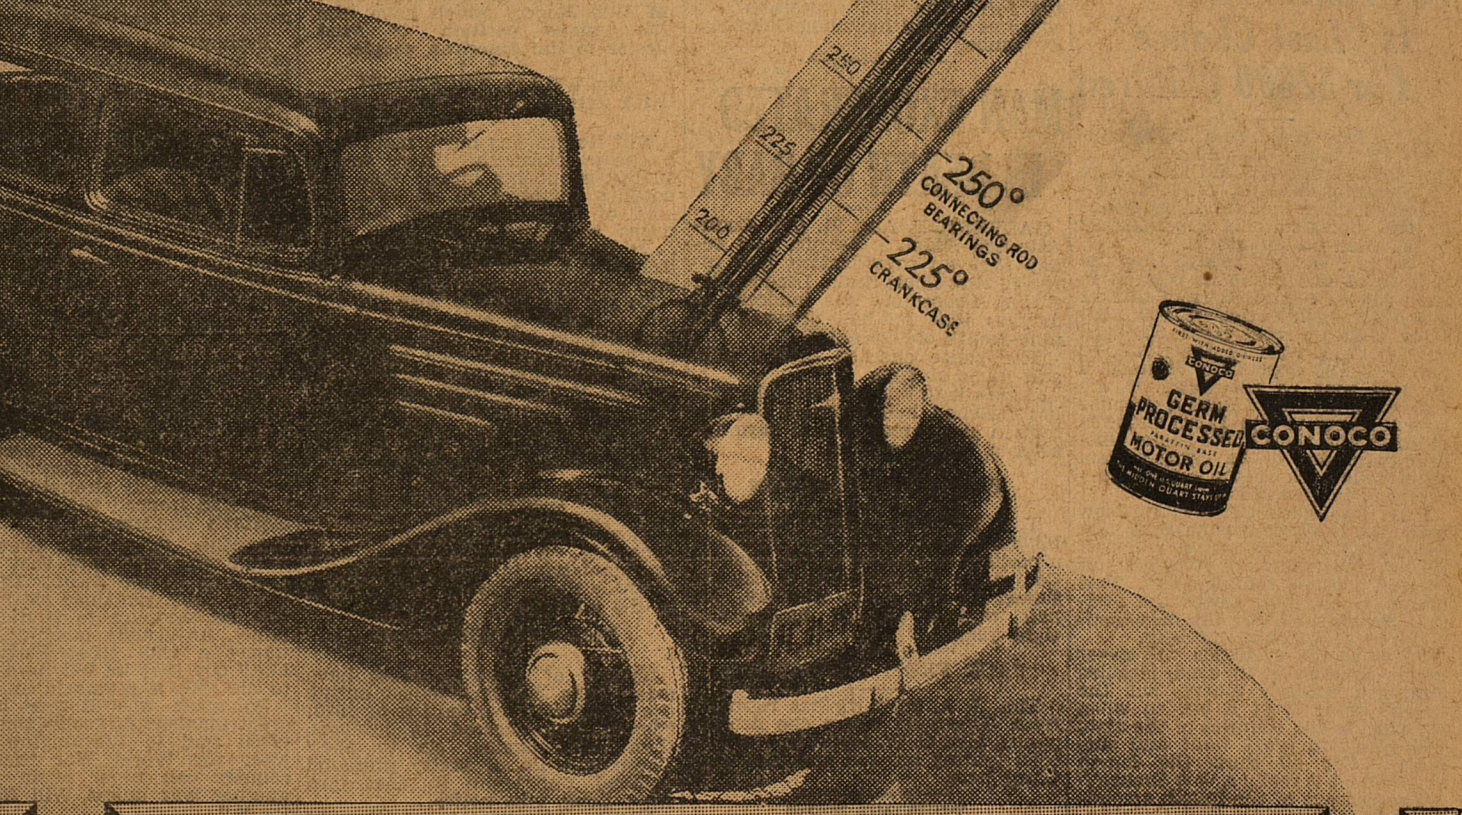

YOUR MOTOR runs lots hotter in Summer. That's why you must have oil that maintains high film strength under extreme temperatures to get safe lubrication. Otherwise, the lubricating film ruptures and the bearings and cylinders suffer damaging wear.

Plain mineral oils have little film strength and oils over-refined by new cleansing methods have even less. As motor heat goes up, these oils rapidly lose film strength.

You'll get better motor protection with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. Timken machine tests prove that it has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil and that heat above 225° does not lessen this advantage.

More proof—supervised road tests were made in identical cars fitted with the new alloy metal bearings used in many 1935 cars. The bearings lubricated with a high-quality plain mineral oil showed 45% more wear than those lubricated with Conoco Germ Processed, the first alloyed oil.

You'll be certain your motor is safely lubricated even at high temperatures if you say "O. K.—Drain" and fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—the oil with the "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

We think of the dramatics director of a girl's camp who said, "Every child is a princess at heart," was a wise person. In providing an opportunity for each girl to participate in plays and pageants, camps may go far toward satisfying that desire in each one's heart to regard herself as a princess—thus fostering self-confidence and the elusive charm that comes with it.

The youngest generation nowadays must keep in style step with their elders. So now a miniature version of the popular pigskin jacket is being shown available in sizes for those whose birthday cakes carry only two, four, or six candles.

We imagine that Midland mothers will have a sigh of relief at sight of the new "Popovey" and "Betty Boop" soap. We think that even a small boy's antipathy for soapy scrubbing, especially behind his ears, would melt away at sight of these cakes of pure castle soap inset with colored pictures of Popovey, Olive Oyl, Betty Boop, and other friends of the funny papers. The soap is packed three cakes in a box and is quite inexpensive.

What is it about the sight of fresh wallpaper and new paint that makes any normal man or woman become enthusiastic over planning a home? There is, by the way, nothing that is easier to become interested in than in furnishing a house, no matter how small, if one is to live there.

Right here would be a good place to quote one of the "eternal verities" about love of his own heartiness being one of man's primal qualities. But owing to certain turnings-up of the nose that we have detected when such phrases are mentioned, we'll "skip it" this time.

Some things are interesting for a season—and some are interesting all ways. In the latter class belong cowboys.

We met a newspaperwoman from one of the largest cities in Texas yesterday. Did she ask us about Midland's oil business or farming, or schools, or municipal activities? She did not!

She wanted to know about cowboys. How and when they came to town, what their recreations are, and so forth. Anything, in fact, that pertained to these characteristic picturesque reminders of the Old West.

Presenting Peachy Recipes Pleasing Particular Cooks

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Now come the days I've been waiting for, full of roasting ears and peaches. I wonder if in all the annals of good food there is anything as good as sweet, juicy, rosy-cheeked peach that has been fully ripened by the sun of summer.

There are so many ways to serve peaches that it's hard to choose. Should you have peach juice or cocktail for the first course, or should you have them for the main course and bake or broil them with the meat? Then, how about peach ice-box cake and all the other peach desserts, chilled and frozen, that you mustn't miss? It's a problem, I tell you!

Broiled peaches with lamb chops make one forget the weather. Who could say more than that?

Broiled Peaches
Remove skins from firm, ripe peaches. To do this, let stand in boiling water for one minute. Drain and cover with cold water. This makes the skins slip off easily. Cut in halves and remove stones. Dip in melted butter, sprinkle lightly with sugar and broil under flame until delicately brown, turning once to brown first one side and then the other. Sprinkle with minced mint and serve with broiled lamb chops.

These peaches are delectable with baked ham served either hot or cold. A slice of ham is inviting broil and serve with broiled peaches and spinach timbales, all on one platter.

There are almost as many peach salads as there are tomatoes, but one that we like is a frozen salad.

Frozen Peach Salad
Four large ripe peaches, 2 packages cream cheese, 1/2 cup whipping cream, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 4 marshmallows, 1/2 cup chopped salted almonds.

Whip cream until firm and fold in quarters, almonds and cheese worked smooth. Put in tray or mold and press peach halves into mixture. Pare peaches, cut in halves and remove the stones and let stand in French dressing while preparing the cheese mixture. Cut in squares, allowing one peach for each serving and serve on lettuce with extra mayonnaise.

Peach Freeze
Four peaches, 3/4 cup sugar, 1 cup water, 1 orange, 1 lemon, 1 lime, 1 quart bottle ginger ale.

Peel and dice peaches. Squeeze juice from orange, lemon and lime. Put orange and lemon rinds in a sauce pan with peaches, sugar and water and cook until peaches are tender and broken. Remove rinds and add orange and lemon juice and freeze. When ready to serve, put a spoonful in tall iced tea glasses, add 1 teaspoon lime juice to each glass and fill up with ginger ale.

Peach Ice-Box Cake
One and one-third cups sweetened condensed milk, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup sliced fresh peaches, 2 egg whites, 2 chocolate wafers.

Add lemon juice to milk and stir until mixture thickens. Add sliced peaches. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into mixture. Line a narrow oblong pan with waxed paper and cover with a layer of the peach mixture. Add a layer of wafers, alternating in this way until fruit mixture is used. The last layer should be wafers. Chill in refrigerator for six hours or longer. To serve turn out on a chilled platter and carefully remove waxed paper. Garnish with sliced peaches which have been sprinkled with sugar and chilled, closely covered, put in refrigerator for an hour or longer, and cut in slices. This rule will serve eight persons.

Keep Hands Still Is Good Rule For Seeker of Beauty

By ALICIA HART

The woman who sits quietly, keeping her lips and neck relaxed and her hands quite still, is ten times lovelier than one who fusses with her dress, fidgets in her chair and holds her lips in a tense, hard line. Not only does the calm person look better at the time, but her chances of getting wrinkles and premature lines are a good deal less.

When you sit down, let your hands rest in your lap. If you must use them occasionally in conversation, lift them gracefully and don't frown when you read or concentrate on a subject and don't toss your head up and down to emphasize what you have to say. Learn to make your voice do the work it was intended to do. Your speaking apparatus, used properly, needs no her dress, fidgets in her chair and holds her lips in a tense, hard line. If your hands are stiff, making you ill at ease, do some simple ex-

Seven Rehearsals, but Worth It

There doesn't seem to be anything very bad about Bing Crosby's wailing technique in this picture, but it seems Bing and the lovely Joan Bennett had to go through this scene seven times before the director was satisfied. Maybe Bing was just playing dumb, and who could blame him?

Ah! Roast Beef!

Certainly not! Even with your eyes shut, your taste would never let you make such a mistake. . . . Similarly, only in BUDWEISER will you find the delicious, age-old taste of BUDWEISER.

Now pull imaginary taffy. Stretch your arms wide, bringing fingers together. Then let them open again as hands come together. Open and close fingers rapidly twenty or thirty times. Do all the exercises whenever you are sitting alone.

Deed Signed By Second President Is Owned by Texan

BRYAN, August 19. (AP)—A deed for land signed by John Adams as President, countersigned by Timothy Pickering, secretary of State, and James W. Henry, Secretary of War, is the prized possession of A. D. Martin. He has been offered a substantial price for the document, but refuses to sell.

The deed transfers 1,777 2-3 acres of land on the banks of the Little Miami River in Ohio to George Matthews, colonel for several years in the "Virginian Line on the Continental Establishment." This was part of a great section in Ohio, reaching from the Little Miami to the Scioto River, set aside by act of Congress for soldiers of the U. S. Army who had served in the Virginia Line.

Martin was given the deed by a woman who was reared on the land in question and who was his neighbor in Harper, Kan., a number of years ago. She gave it to him "to remember her by" and sentimental attachment has prevented Martin selling the document on which Adams' signature appears at the bottom.

Why not own an EIGHT?

with the V-Type eight, Ford gives you a car as economical as a four

FROM the driver's point of view, 8 cylinders make the ideal engine for a car. They give responsiveness, smoothness, quietness.

And in the Ford V-8 engine, you get this performance at 4-cylinder cost. The Ford V-8 you buy today costs less to own than any car Ford ever built! Its initial cost is at rock-bottom, and includes many "extras," such as safety glass all around, big 6.00 x 16-inch air-hallon tires, built-in luggage space.

Operating costs have also been pared this year—in sparing use of gas and oil, and in improvements which cut down brake, clutch, and tire wear.

Drive this Ford V-8. There's a Ford dealer near you—see him today. Let a Ford V-8 tell you what it has already told to a record number of eager buyers the country over.

alotabs BILIOUSNESS

by HARRY GRAYSON

CLEVELAND, August 14.—Henry Louis Gehrig, suffering from lumbago while leading the crippled New York Yankees' desperate fight on their final western swing, early showed the stuff that was to lead him into the greatest endurance record in the history of athletics.

2 o'clock to lie down while the regular infielders had practice.

"Gee, I didn't know what to think, Wally Pipp, who was playing first base then, looked good not only for the rest of that season, but possibly for the next. But I was glad to get the chance, and I laid down again to get as much rest as I could before the game started."

"Then I went out there and got two or three hits, I don't remember which. They were out George Midgett, and we were playing the Senators."

Shortly after Gehrig broke in with the Yankees on June 1, 1925, Ted Lyons of the White Sox, struck him on the head with a ball thrown hard in an effort to pick him off second base as he slid head first.

"When Gehrig recovered consciousness, Chief Bender, then third base coach for the Chicago club, said to the groggy collegian, 'Kid, you'd better get out of here. Your shaking all over.'"

"Nope," replied Gehrig. "I'll play. If I get out of here now, I may never get back."

"Nope," replied Gehrig. "I'll play. If I get out of here now, I may never get back."

"That was in 1925, and you will recall that it was the worst season that Gehrig has experienced. He just did not know. Yea, Gehrig may be through," Krichell repeated, but I knew better and so did he, of course.

"Krichell kept raising the ante, but he was cheating. I got $9000 for signing with Detroit, but that wasn't the only reason that I listened to Jean Dubuc, who represented Navin."

"I had seen enough of Gehrig to know that I had no business with the Yankees—if I wanted to play first base."

HUGHES TOOL RUNS WIN STREAK TO 13 STRAIGHT; GULF WINS SLUGFEST 24-19

The Hughes Tool team ran their consecutive wins to 13 straight, probably the longest sustained win streak since the first season of the sport here, last night when they landed on Pyron for three runs in the third inning of their game with the Hardware and later added one more to come out on the long end of a 4-1 score. The win put them 4 games ahead in the slug chase.

In the other game of the evening the Gulf entered a triple tie for second place with the Hardware and Ice when they overpowered the Cox entry in a ding dong slugfest and finally came out on top 24-19.

The Hughes club landed on Pyron for 13 hits but so well did he keep them scattered that the third and fifth innings were the only ones in which they could score. In the third, after Parrott had singled and Taylor walked, Burris came through with a four base blow to score behind his other two mates. The other daily came in the fifth when Burris, Estes and Whitmire got consecutive singles.

The Hardware's only run came in the sixth when Pierce landed on one of Straughan's pitches for a home run. They only got three safeties all night.

The Gulf took a one run lead in the first inning of their game with the Cox team but it did not last any longer than a snowball in Georgia for the Coxmen came back in their half of the same inning to chase seven runners across home.

After going scoreless in their half of the second while the McCumberites added two more to their total the Gulf really broke loose in the third and sent 10 men all the way around the bases.

From there on it was just a question of which team could outlast the other until the game ended and the Gulf proved to have the more stamina. They made two more runs in the fourth, three in the fifth, two in the sixth and six in the seventh. The Cox made two more in the third, four in the fourth and three in the seventh for all their runs.

The coldest temperature ever recorded on the earth was 90 below zero.

Duds Instead of Thuds. Wrestlers Waltz Wonderful

By JESS RODGERS The show was rotten. That is a perfect description of the so-called wrestling show in Big Spring last night.

To say that the much advertised fireworks backfire would be putting it too highly. There was not enough life in them to backfire—they were strictly dud.

The chief entertainment for the evening was furnished by the wise cracks that came from the stands all during the matches. Such cracks as "Who's supposed to win this one?" "Aw, turn out the lights and let them love in the dark," and other witty sayings kept the crowd far more amused than the matches themselves.

We were lucky enough to miss the special event between Pat Dowdy and Slim Dooly but from ringside comment as we entered it was evident that persons already in attendance considered it a new form of dance that had been pulled on them after they had paid to see a fight.

In the semi-final match Buck Weaver, drop kick expert of Indiana, won a showing, contest against Don Hill of some wit on the west coast, no town would claim him on his wrestling ability. Hill spent most of his time either outside the ropes or backed up in a corner pleading for the referee to disqualify the other man. The only times that he did mix it up any his work was so dirty that most of the time he was both the referee and his opponent fighting him.

In the main event Sailor Moran, who admits that he can't win any body, won over Bob Cummings, advertised as the Alabama Avalanche, but who was only a gentle zephyr for most of the time he took the first and third falls.

The Sailor resorted to his usual line of hair-pulling, kneeling and various unsportsmanlike tactics to win the match and he came in for his usual jeering at the hands of the handful of spectators present. There was no need for him to get dirty either as Cummings was no match whatever for him and everyone knew that he could win whenever he got ready.

Tennis Tournament Will Start Friday

The City Tennis Club of Midland, aided by the generous support of many of the city's firms and individuals, last year staged a West Texas Invitation Tournament which attracted players from all over the state and emitted many statements such as "The best small town tournament we have ever entered" from many seasoned campaigners, will be repeated this year. The tournament will start Friday.

In justice to the players of last year and to the donor of the two very handsome main trophies, Andrew J. Fasken, and in justice to the town as a whole it is felt that the tournament MUST be repeated this season.

Plans are being made to stage the tournament this week-end and members of the club are again calling on the business houses and individuals to help make the event what they hoped and believed that it will soon be—the best tournament put on anywhere in West Texas between the two largest cities, Fort Worth and El Paso.

The following firms and individuals have been approached and have been very generous in their response: Petroleum Pharmacy, Addison Wadley, Scharbauer Hotel, Scharbauer Coffee Shop, Wilson Dry Goods Company, M System, Scruggs Garage, Chamber of Com-

Relief Roll Lowest Since Established

Family Enters 5th Generation

SALT LAKE CITY, (UP)—Few youngsters of 2 can boast the living ancestor record of Don Frith. He has two grandmothers, a great grandmother and a great-great-grandmother.

Each case averages 4.7 persons making the number of persons benefited by relief in July approximately 745,000, compared to 1,112,000 in July, 1934.

Previous lowest figures since the FERA began with the exception of June this year, was for June, 1934, when the case load totaled 189,000. This however is not considered a true reflection of the unemployment situation as the FERA had just replaced the CWA and the case load did not indicate the degree of destitution. This is made pertinent by the fact that the next month, July, 1934, saw the case load jump to 235,000.
