Remaining Passengers of Dixie Being Taken Off Ship

THREE BOATS ARE TAKING LAST 143 OFF STRANDED SHIP

Coast Guard Told to Not Stand by Longer

MIAMI, Sept. 5. (P)—Three rescue ships were removing the remaining 143 passengers and a part of the crew of the liner Dixie, grounded on a reef, today as the rescued unfolded a sea saga of courage. Operations were on a calm sea under overcast skies. The Dixie captain, E. W. Sundstrom, advised the coast guard that it was no longer necessary for the cutters to stand by. Only the captain and a skeleton crew were remaining aboard. The rescued told of how they sang in the face of death during an agonizing wait of two days and three nights. One passenger said "I fear seemed unknown as all were of the opinion that they would finally be carried down." Another reported that food and water were becoming low when they were finally rescued.

BIG SPRING ASKS $500,000 FOR LAKE

BIG SPRING.—City commissioners in a called meeting Monday authorized Mayor C. E. Talbot to sign an application for a $500,000 PWA loan to be used for construction of an artificial lake and water works equipment. The figure was based on preliminary estimates and likely will range downward by as much as one fifth, it was indicated. Included in the application are provisions for purchase of land, construction of a dam, purchase and laying of lines from a lake to Big Spring, a filter plant and a reservoir. A surface water supply survey has been completed recently by Montgomery Ward of Wichita Falls with Floyd and Lookridge as consultants. The contracting firm and consultants both have had wide experience in the building of lakes. Several sites were inspected in the county and bords and drainage areas checked to ascertain the most desirable locations for a dam. In approving the budget for the year, commissioners set aside a $2,000 fund for use in setting for once and for all the question of a surface water supply. It was indicated by commissioners that other things being equal, location of the site might depend upon the reasonableness of land prices. If and when the lake is impounded, swimming and fishing will be allowed. Spaces around the lake will be leased to citizens who wish to erect private cottages and boat houses. In applying for the PWA loan, the commission also has in mind the fact that the government makes a sizeable outright grant in conjunction with the loan. Thus, after all is said and done the lake and other equipment might cost the city as low as $200,000.

WOMAN CHIEF OF ZION CULT SLAIN; DAUGHTER IS HELD

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 5. (P)—Miss Lois Green was charged with murder today for the alleged beating to death of her mother, Mrs. Nettie Green, 76, head of the Christian Catholic Apostolic Church, with a candle stick holder. An acting coroner called the death slaying and the condition of the daughter, found in a gas-filled room yesterday, attempted suicide.

By The Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 5.—Mrs. Nettie E. Green, 76, ranking Texas officer of Christian Catholic Apostolic in Zion, local cult, was found dead in a blood-smeared bed in her home, and her daughter, Miss Lois Green, 37, found semi-conscious before an open gas jet in an adjoining room, was placed under armed guards in a hospital late Wednesday. Mrs. Green had been beaten on the head, bushes and bruises revealed. On the bed beside her lay a heavy broken piece of glass ware. A part of a similar piece was found beside Miss Green, whose wrists had been scratched. A bloody sheet was wrapped about her head. An inquest is being held by Justice of the Peace O. L. Wiley. Police, called to the home by an awning company employe, a n d neighbors who found the body and Miss Green, are not conducting further investigation. They attribute saving the life of the daughter to Rex Boccia, employe of an awning company who investigated when he failed to arouse anyone in the home after hanging an awning over a side door.

Talk on Peru Is Given at Rotary

Lester L. Grant, manager of the McElroy Ranch Co., Crane county, and a member of the Midland Rotary club, addressed that organization today on South America, (telling of geography, customs and industry in Peru, Brazil and Bolivia. He had spent three years in Peru, also visiting nineteen foreign countries. The chief "moral" of his talk was to exhort citizens of the United States to have consideration for those of other countries while in America. He pointed out that it is customary for Americans to derive much from the mistakes of foreigners, but declared that there is "very little funny about it" when the tables are turned.

"Pig Tight and Bull Strong" Fence Surrounds Arena for Midland Fair's Three Day $3,000 World Champ Rodeo

Construction of the most substantial rodeo arena in the southwest was well under way at the Midland Fair grounds today, with the first section of fence completed. The arena, 400 feet long and 250 feet wide, is "boat shaped", with the working pens at the south end and the catch pens at the north. Animals to be roped, ridden, bull-dogged or milked will be turned loose from the south end, passing in front of the grandstand as they run to the north. All catches and rides should occur near the center of the grandstand. The fence around the arena was described today as being "pig tight and bull strong". The posts are ten-inch sections of windmill casing, set four feet in the ground and six feet above. The rails are 3-4 inch steel sucker rods, welded to the pipe on the inside, so that contestants will not be bumped against the posts. There are ten of the sucker rods from bottom to top, with a two-inch casing welded to the top of the pipes, making the fence six feet and one inch high. Aluminum paint will be applied to the fence, so that grandstand spectators will have a maximum of visibility while the arena has a maximum of strength. The arena will be equipped with overhead lights for night shows, two of the three events being on Saturday and Monday nights respectively, and the other on Sunday afternoon.

BRITISH LINERS RESCUE 726 OFF STRICKEN SHIP

LONDON, Sept. 5. (P)—Two British liners today rescued 726 passengers of another British ship, the Doric, after it had collided with the French ship Formentor in the Atlantic off the coast of Portugal. S. late yesterday afternoon after the two ships had crashed together.

COMM. OF INQUIRY DUE BE APPOINTED FRI. BY COUNCIL

An Effort to Paralyze Shipping Is to Be Made

GENEVA, Sept. 5. (P)—Organized labor prepared today to take up the Italo-Ethiopian problem as the League of Nations council referred the matter to private discussions. It is understood that the council may meet tomorrow and appoint a committee of inquiry. It was reported that an executive committee of International Trade Unions would meet tomorrow to discuss how labor can paralyze Mussolini's enterprises if the League fails.

In London, Prime Minister Baldwin called a virtual "war cabinet" in session to discuss the eventualities of the Geneva crisis. Ethiopian Emperor Selassie telegraphed Pope Pius his gratitude for the Pontiff's peace declaration favoring Ethiopia. Selassie was pessimistic over the United States persuading the Standard Oil Company not to claim its concessions.

DYNAMITE BOMB IN CAR IS FATAL TO KY. ATTORNEY

HARLAN, Ky., Sept. 5. (P)—The death he had predicted—assassination in the midst of Kentucky political turmoils—struck down Harlan County Attorney Elmon C. Middleton Wednesday in a dynamite blast as he started his automobile. The explosion, apparently set off as Middleton stepped on the starter, in front of his home here, practically destroyed the machine and hurled the county attorney dying to the sidewalk. Embroiled in the bitter democratic primary fight August 3 in which he acted with Adjutant General Henry H. Denhart, an national guard troops, Middleton was criticized by the Harlan county jury and various officials as a result of his role in a signed statement that the law required a county attorney to give legal aid advice to the national guard when requested in such cases. Middleton, a cousin of Sheriff Theodore H. Middleton, leader of the legal fight against Denhart and the troops, had told friends he "would not be surprised to be slain at any time as a result of my activities." He expressed fear for his life last December in testifying at a hearing here when General Denhart brought in troops to rescue United Mine workers organizers who were threatened in a hotel. Other automobiles have been dynamited in recent years during labor troubles and violence in the coal fields here, but this was the first that resulted in death. Seven unexploded sticks of dynamite and four undischarged shotgun shells were found in the wreckage. There was no way of telling how many sticks of dynamite and how many shells had exploded.

It is the largest industrial show of any one industry.

NINE GAMES SCHEDULED FOR BULLDOGS THIS SEASON; SIX OF THEM AT HOME

Nine games, six of them at home, have been scheduled for the Midland Bulldogs for this season. Five of the games are conference affairs while the other four are listed with schools out of the conference. For the first time in several years not a Class A high school team is on the list. Both McCamey and Colorado are to be met but both schools are back in Class B this year, after a four-year sojourn in Class A. The Bulldogs and the Wildcats of Wink, coached by Lee Johnson, are the favorites for the championship of the district. The championship is expected to be decided when the

Bound from New Orleans to New York, with Capt. Eimer W. Sundstrom in command, the liner had almost won her way through a hurricane when moderation of the heavy seas, passengers are being taken off and placed aboard rescue ships today. FLOOD STAGE IS REACHED BY RIO GRANDE IN SOUTH

EAGLE PASS, Sept. 5. (P)—The Rio Grande, swollen to flood stage by cloudbursts, rose swiftly today. Some residents of the lowlands near here evacuated. A 22-foot rise was recorded at Del Rio. The river was rising a foot an hour downstream, and was up five feet at Laredo. The fertile Quemado valley south of Del Rio was inundated. The Pecos river was reported on a 35 foot rise which had not reached the Rio Grande.

REPRESENTATIVE OF GOVERNOR SAYS MAY BE 1000 DEAD

Hurricane Soars Into Georgia and the Carolinas

MIAMI, Sept. 5. (P)—Florida rushed relief work today as the hurricane which struck here the last two days, with diminishing power, soared through Georgia. W. P. Mooty, representative of Governor Sholtz of Florida, advised the governor that fatalities "might reach 1,000," and said that words could not describe the horrible disaster. Everyone as far south as the Carabe colony had been moved out, the injured first. Fifty dead had been moved so far. Other estimates of the death toll ranged from 200 to 500. Relief was speeded to the coastal regions where the storm was the most severe. Countless injured were reported strewn about the battered and torn keys. Congressman Hardin Peterson wired Relief Administrator Hopkins for an investigation of the death of war veterans. He said: "Find out why they did not evacuate; they had plenty of time." The President immediately ordered an investigation. Georgia is not hard hit by the storm and it is expected that it will veer towards Macon, whirl across Savannah and the Carolinas to the sea. A dozen veterans were found alive at one camp and 220 were unaccounted for at others. Injured persons in the upper and lower Matcumbe keys were being taken to Miami.

ACE DIPLOMAT OF U. S. KILLS SELF

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. (P)—The state department received word Wednesday of the death of George C. Hanson, a jovial, 250-pound diplomat who was one of its ace "trouble-shooters." Officials of the Dollar steamship line reported Hanson died Monday of "a self-inflicted gunshot wound" while a passenger on the liner President Polk. He was returning to his country for treatment after suffering a breakdown at Saloniki, Greece, where he was named consul general in July. A veteran of 25 years service in the far east, Hanson spoke Russian, Chinese and Japanese—and was able to tell funny stories in any of these languages. He was consul general at Harbin, Manchuria, for 15 years. An intimate knowledge of political and economic questions there, and a widespread influence acquired as he ambled amiably around patching up rows, saving missionaries from bandits, and observing—made him famed as "the uncrowned king" of Manchuria. Hanson was rated as an especially valuable "listening post" for the state department because Manchuria during his service was the scene of a diplomatic battle between Japan, China, and Soviet Russia for control of the territory which later became the empire of Manchoukuo.

COSTLY ENTERTAINMENT

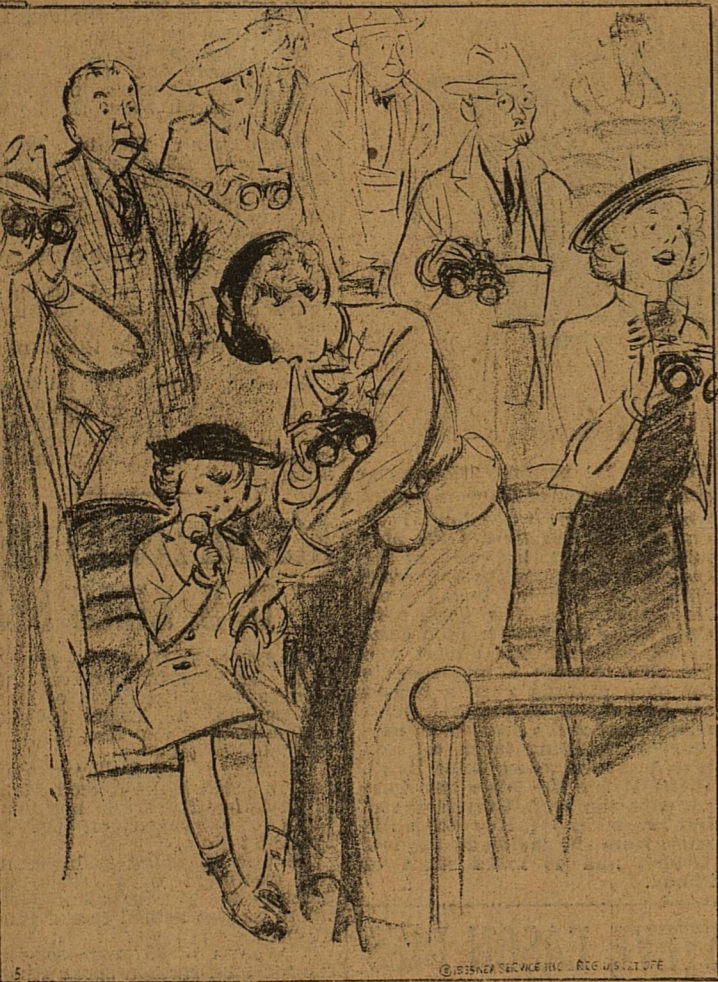

On the surface the activities of the "social lobby" in Washington, as outlined before the Senate committee by Bernard R. Robinson, were harmless enough. A government official, from a congressman on up, surely has the right to relax at parties and banquets in his off hours; if the parties and banquets are given by men who have large, blunt axes that need grinding, where is the harm, provided that all the rules of honorable conduct are observed?

Unfortunately, however, the influence of such a lobby goes below the surface. No one supposes that a lobbyist gets a congressman or a department executive off in a corner, hands him a sheaf of bills and issues orders. The thing is infinitely more subtle. You can imbibe a point of view along with a cocktail, if the thing is handled right, and not realize that you are imbibing it.

In accepting any entertainment, all government officials should realize that their position is an extremely delicate one. Like Caesar's wife, they must be above suspicion—or their usefulness ends.

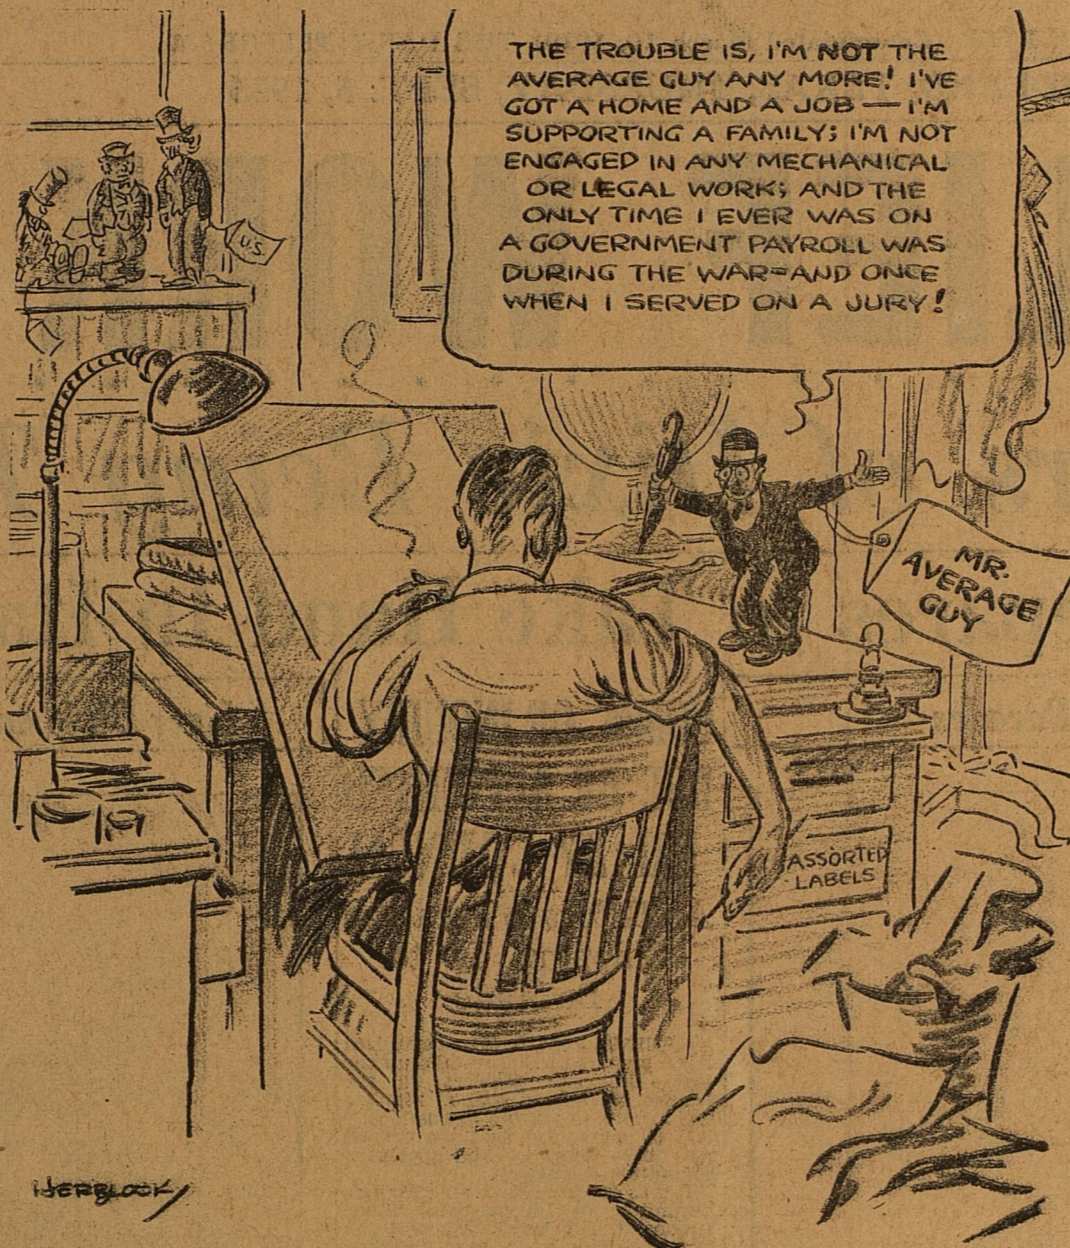

A recent whispering campaign aroused much indignation. And yet, a year from now, people will be wishing they were all that kind.

Side Glances.....by Clark

Look Out For Average Man!

The average man is the favorite figure of cartoonists, editorial writers, statisticians and orating Congressmen. Unfortunately, however, he does not seem to be the favorite of anyone else, and of late he has been getting it in the neck with dismaying and monotonous regularity.

Who is the average man, anyhow, in these days when all averages have failed? Well, he is a hard-working American citizen who has somehow managed to keep his job, his farm or his source of business all through the depression. He is the chap who buys the new autos and goes to the new movies and trudges hopefully off to the polls every so often to say who shall govern him.

He is the fellow who provides the retail stores with their patrons, the railroads and bus lines with their passengers and the morticians with their clients. He is the wage-earner, the small-scale business and professional man and the ultimate consumer, all in one.

And he is the chap whose nose has been fixed firmly against the grindstone ever since the bottom fell out of the stock market.

Do the city fathers misgovern his town so flagrantly that real estate taxes go up, schools deteriorate, street paving goes to pieces and stick-up men roam the back alleys? The average man pays the taxes, sends his kids to the deteriorating schools (and provides the teachers with such pay as they are able to collect), rides on the bumpy streets and submits to the stick-up artists.

Does employment subside, so that some former workers are supported by relatives, others are carried by the Community Chest and still more are taken care of by Uncle Sam? Mr. Average Man plays the triple part of kindly relative, Community Chest contributor and federal taxpayer.

Do mismanaged banks fail and utility empires collapse? Mr. Average Man had his savings in the banks and his investments in the utility stocks; and he also pays light and phone bills which financial phengaling has caused to be higher than is necessary.

Does the federal government invest millions in an experiment with publicly-owned utilities? Then Mr. Average Man puts up that dough also.

Do strikes break out in the home town? The average man stands right in the middle. If the traction men strike, he walks to work. If the bakers strike, his wife bakes their own bread. If power men strike, the average man burns oil lamps and candles. If it is the filling station men who walk out, the average man does without gas for his car.

At all times he runs the chance of stopping a brick or a policeman's nightstick that was meant for somebody else.

It is the average man who supports the army and navy and furnishes them with the needed recruits; the average man who pays the real estate tax, the income tax, the sales tax, and all the hundred and one indirect taxes which keep the wheels turning. He gets it going and coming and in between, and all the time he keeps his mouth shut and hopes for the best.

But if he ever decides that he has had enough of all of this, and really gets up on his hind legs to squawk about it—then let politicians of all parties, persuasions and colors hunt for the nearest storm cellar!

foolish enough to talk, he might have found himself hailed before one of the dreaded Nazi People's Courts which hold their sessions in secret and have sent so many persons to the headsman's block.

Krupp-by-Marriage Heads Company

The present head of Krupp's was not born a Krupp. He married one and adopted the name, Gustav von Bohlen and Holbach, of an old German family, happened to be born at the Hague in Holland in 1870. He graduated as a doctor of law from Heidelberg University in 1893. He served his time in the German army, becoming captain in a Hussar regiment. Having passed successful examinations for a diplomatic career, he was assigned to the Foreign Office. 1899-1900 he came to America, serving as Secretary of the German Legation in Washington. He returned to Germany with the legation in 1901 and in 1904 was Prussian Minister to the Vatican.

But one of the crowning events of his career occurred in 1906. He won the hand of twenty-year-old Bertha Krupp, main heiress to the vast Krupp iron works, who, having died in 1902, he not only added Krupp to his own name, but from that time on, having given up his diplomatic career, he became directing head of the Krupp business. He became a friend of Kaiser Wilhelm. He largely supplied the arms and munitions for the German army, the high tide of his prosperity being the World War.

Turned to Products Of Peace-Time

Afterwards, when Germany was beaten, under the Versailles treaty, and the dictates of the Ambassador of the Allied countries, Germany was disarmed. Among other things, this meant that Krupp works must be changed over from a congeries of plants turning out war material to factories providing peace-time products. In those early after-the-war days, I was taken over the works. One of the directors insisted upon the peace-work—making the railway engines, steel railway cars, sewing machines, etc., in place of cannon and tanks. But—the same machines which Krupp had used to make peace implements could still, with slight changes, be used to bore that same steel for the rifle barrels of his guns.

In 1923 Krupp von Bohlen became a hero for all the German nationalists. There was a conflict between German workmen and French soldiers who were occupying the Ruhr. Some men were killed and others badly wounded. Krupp von Bohlen was arrested, tried by a French military court and sent to prison. Later in the year he benefited by an amnesty which he used to ally with Hitler as he used to ally with the Kaiser. Last year, by Hitler's nomination, he was the head of German industry. But he resigned early this year. This business of arming the Third Reich is taking all his time.

AUSTIN.—A full-page photograph of the new administration-library building at The University of Texas, Austin, is featured on the frontispiece of the Handbook of Texas Libraries, published by the Texas Library Association in observance of the Texas Centennial. The handbook is a volume dealing with general library work in Texas—the Texas, Southwestern and American Library Associations, library educational facilities, special collections, the union catalogue, the recent Texas Historical Survey, legislation, etc. Part Two offers a classified list of the libraries of the State, statistics on library materials, and sketches, historical and otherwise, of various Texas libraries. Part Three deals with library schools. Part Four takes up gifts to Texas libraries, research, etc. A section of photographs of libraries of Texas—public, county, college and university, school and negro—completes the bulletin. Copies of the Handbook may be obtained from Miss Julia Iteon, Houston Public Library.

The University of Texas Library has grown in the fifty-two years of its existence from less than a thousand volumes to more than 450,000. E. W. Walker, bibliographer and former librarian, pointed out in a section of the Handbook devoted to historical and descriptive notes of that collection. Besides its general reference material, the Library contains about 4,050 files of periodicals; 17,000 bound volumes of newspapers, the largest collection of newspapers in the South; and numerous special collections which provide invaluable information for research purposes.

INSURANCE
Today, the pay envelope of the German workman is among the slenderest in Europe. But he dares not complain. He may not strike. Something else was done, too. Rigid laws were passed by the Nazis making it treasonable to reveal information which might be detrimental to the Fatherland. That's where the Nazis and Krupp's were mutually of service to each other.

Before Hitler got ready to make a scrap of paper of the Versailles Treaty and reveal his intention of having a big army, a big navy and a big air force, it was necessary to have rifles and guns and tanks and armored cars and airplanes. Krupp's became suppliers of many of these things. None of it became known to the world because, if any workman had been

We do not believe that when these people tell us that they are as sincere as they think, for who of us would give up our automobile for the horse and buggy, and who of us would give our beautiful bath room to be replaced with a tin tub? Italy's War Preparations Take Glare Of Publicity Off Rearmament in Ger.

By MILTON BRONNER, NEA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Sept. 5.—With the world's attention diverted to Fascist Italy's noisy preparations for war in East Africa, the great munitions mills of Germany now go grimly about the business of rearming the Third Reich without being bathed in the glare of unpleasant foreign publicity.

Workers Can't Strike Or Even Grumble

The truth is that he and the Nazis can well afford to scratch each other's backs. They have been of inestimable service to each other. Time was, when Germany was a republic, what with trades unions and a Social Democratic party, the workmen were likely to complain if wages did not keep step with the cost of living. They might even strike. The big industrial kings of Germany hated this possibility. It was they who shelled out the millions of marks which in the beginning financed Adolf Hitler and his then infant National Socialist party.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

We notice a supply of "Midland" novelties in some of the stores. Among them are tie racks of natural color and varnished wood, what nots, address books, ash trays, powder boxes with wooden tops, and desk letter holders all with "Midland" stamped upon them.

We don't know much about merchandising but it seems to us that the Midland Fair should provide a considerable number of sales for such articles.

A saleswoman told us the other day that she believed 50 per cent of women's clothes for this winter would be black.

We were rather pleased to hear that, inasmuch as we had planned to wear black more or less extensively, or intensively, this season.

Satin and velvet are both popular according to style reviews and both are rich and effective in black.

Intricately carved buttons and fastenings of gold and silver join the regiment of unusual trimmings for the new dresses.

It is quite fitting that one of the moving powers behind the technical films now being made is a woman—the wife of Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus.

Mrs. Kalmus believes that the right colors photographed on actors will create new and appealing personalities for them.

She says: "Badly-chosen color in dress or for home decorations, not only reflects an un-educated color sense, but the character of the possessor. Negative persons do not throw off a strong color vibration.

"The superficially clever person, especially if feminine, will display desires and complexes by the use of vivid scarlet.

"The nervous, high-strung person has no greater friend than green, the cooling color, the soother and blender. For the dynamic person, too, it acts as an aid to peace. But for the slow and

Clever Comedy Tells of Actress And Village Lad

Editor's Note: The following review of "Personal Appearance" by Laurence Riley was written specially for The Reporter-Telegram by Mrs. J. Howard Hodge who read the comedy at the initial fall meeting of the Play Readers club Wednesday afternoon.

By MRS. J. HOWARD HODGE
"Personal Appearance," a new comedy in three acts, was first produced by Brook Pemberton on October 17, 1934, at the Henry Miller theatre in New York City. Crowds are still storming the theatre and the third act curtain still comes down to the loudest roar on Broadway.

The story deals with a motion picture actress and a personal appearance tour she is making and of a visit to a small village where she bumps a small town filling station lad. She offers to take him to Hollywood and introduce him to the big executive of the motion picture industry in an effort to help him sell a gadget he has invented to be used in taking pictures. However, his sweetheart saves him from her and she proceeds on her personal tour.

Some of the best and bawdiest gags of the year are to be heard in this very clever comedy of wit and mirth.

Fields' Type of Fun All His Own Ideas

Above all else W. C. Fields, screen comic, has a unique style of delivery which has endeared him to millions.

Fields, who is starred in Paramount's "Man on the Flying Trapeze," coming Friday and Saturday to the Yucca Theatre, declares he acquired his raspy voice as a youngster, and never has lost it. Few people know he started his career as a vocal comedian, turning to pantomime when he left for abroad.

The lines themselves, with the raspy Fields voice reciting them, gain a distinctive humor that no other funny man on stage or screen can imitate or equal.

Paramount put him in a picture called "International House." The public roared. He was given a film contract by Paramount and put upon his own, privileged to write his own pictures and his own dialogue.

In "Man on the Flying Trapeze" Fields is seen as a shy, down-trodden clerk, brow-beaten in the office and hen-pecked at home. The film tells how this "poor man" tries to sneak away from his office and his nagging wife and mother-in-law to attend a wrestling match.

'Over The Top' in U. S. Army's Private War

A fearsome sight to any real enemy would be waves of charging infantrymen such as those pictured above. These are part of one of the opposing armies concentrated in a 100-square-mile area near Pine Camp, N. Y., for a series of mimic war problems constituting the most extensive peace-time maneuvers the American Army ever has planned.

Whether the automobile really has outmoded the horse is one of the questions that may be settled by the large-scale mock war maneuvers being conducted by the Army in north-central New York State. The Third Cavalry, a detachment of which is shown above in a pistol charge, is one of many highly mobile units including more than 36,000 officers and men.

Too Much Get Up and Go for Rivals in This Tiger Troupe

G—G—in a New Disguise

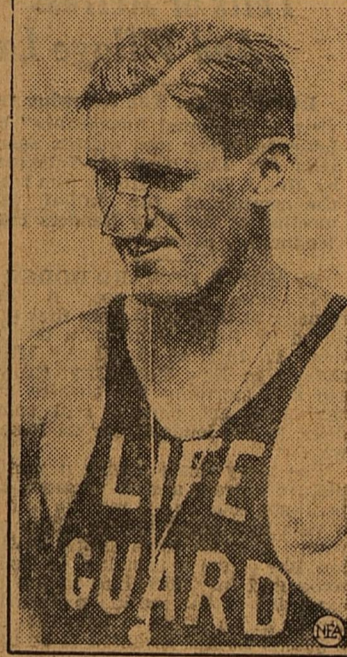

Guess who? You might not know Nerio Bernardi (left), Italy's leading Shakespearian actor, but the lady in the nurse-like headress and dark specs bears a familiar name. Greta Garbo, no less. The two were snatched while talking shop on the Lido at Venice, Italy.

Target of Soviet 'Pole Hop'

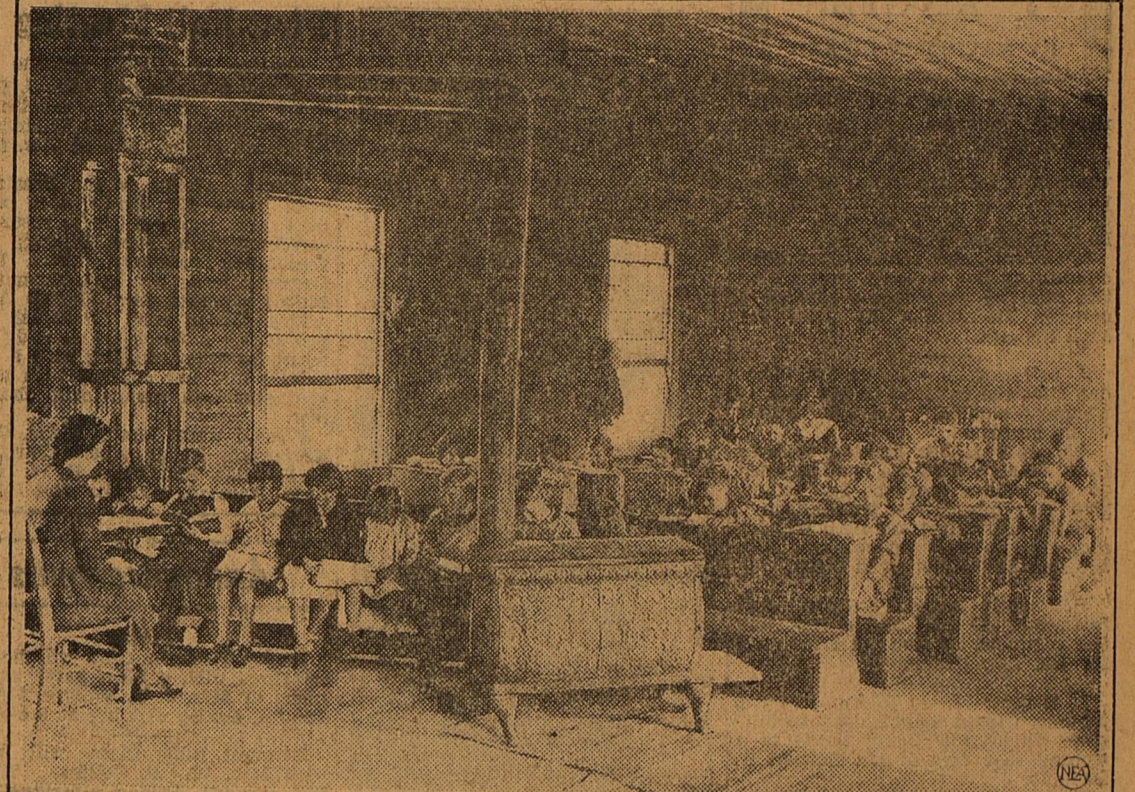

The target at which three intrepid Russian flyers are aiming from Moscow over the North Pole and 6200 miles of land and water is shown in this new view of San Francisco's great airport, Mills Field. If success crowns the journey of the Soviet trio headed by Sigmund Levanovsky they will land here in their mystery plane, between 60 and 70 hours after their takeoff, according to their calculations.

Saves Schnozzles

No, he isn't a football player with a nose guard, nor is he a plugging pugilist recovering from a sock on the bezer. He's Derwood Brough, Rochester lifeguard who is wearing a nose awning, invented by himself, to protect his beak from sunburn. The device is made of soft leather, and fastened to the nose with adhesive tape.

School Bells Will Ring Soon—But Not for Long Here

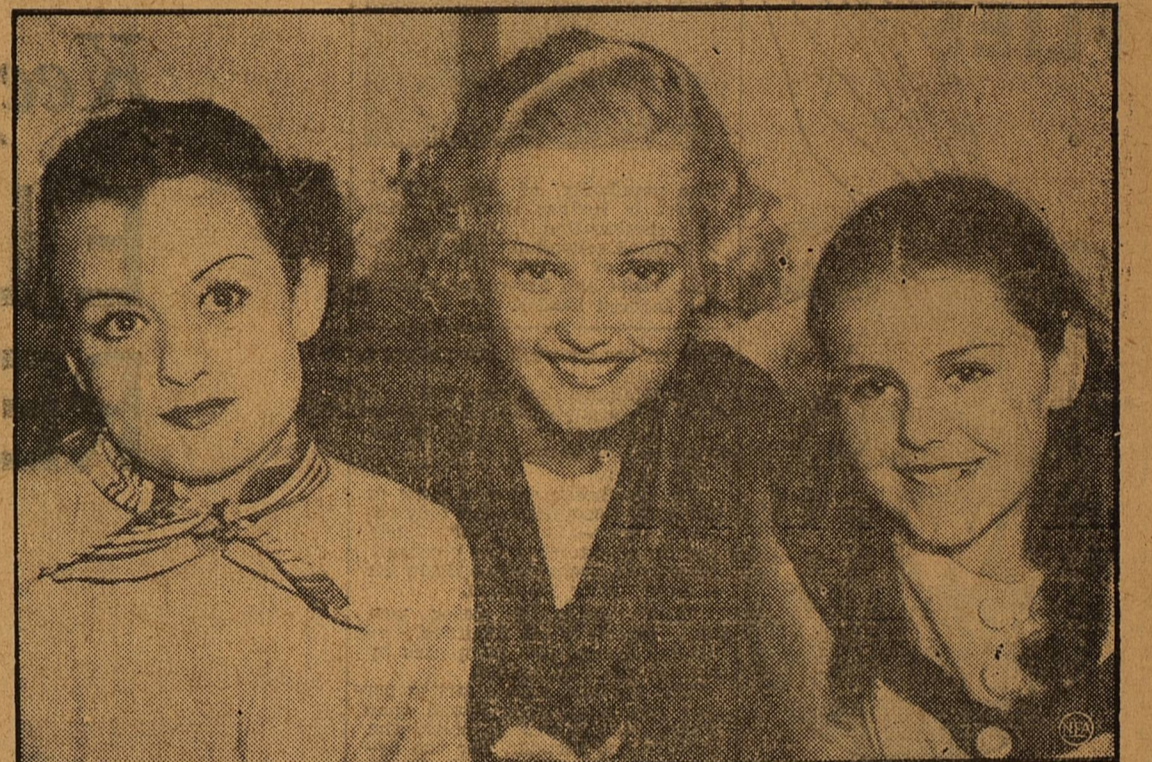

Eager young faces soon will reassemble in this primitive Tennessee rural school as in thousands of schools all over the country. But not for long. For this is the Oakdale school at Lovston, Tenn., and by midwinter it must be abandoned because of the rising of the great lake now backing up behind Norris Dam. The waters have not yet reached Lovston. Before they do, a new school will have been provided for these youngsters.

Doubly Serious About Career

Two heads are better than one when they're as pretty as Margon's and there's serious work ahead. The little Mexican star, whose twinkling toes won her international fame, has a reason for sober reflection. She's in Hollywood to make her debut as a dramatic actress in a picture built around a glamorous bandit of the gold rush days of '49.

A New Crop of Beauties for the Flicker Industry

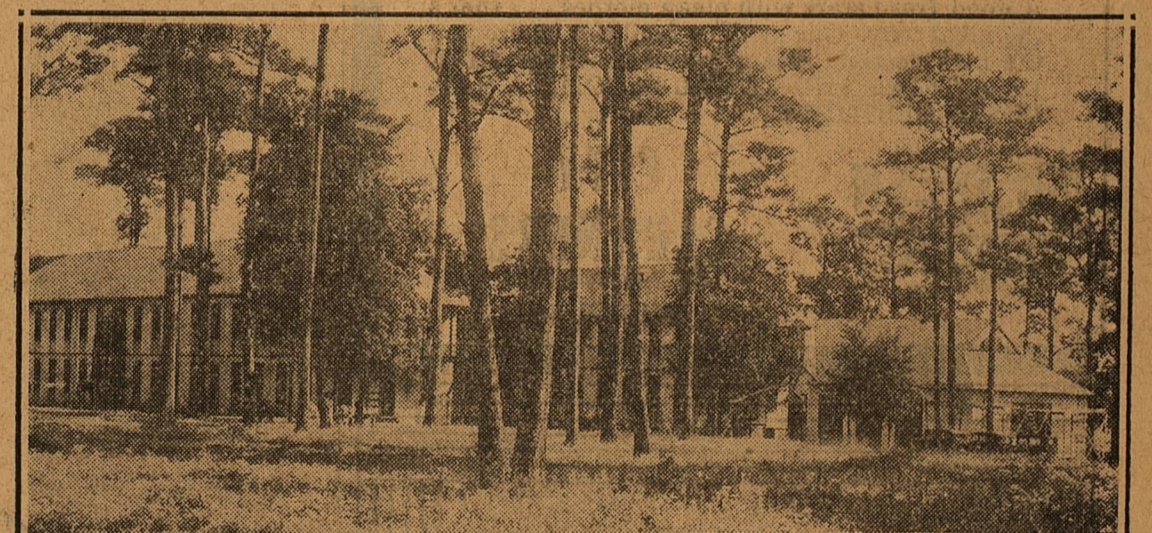

New charm for the movies is displayed here, three winsome misses starting their film careers with plenty of that vital asset—beauty. They're in high spirits as they receive legal approval of their contracts in Los Angeles court, at salaries ranging from $100 to $750 a week. Left to right are Evelyn Poe, 18, Phyllis Brooks, 20, and Helen Parrish, 12.

What! Not Pose With Lupe?

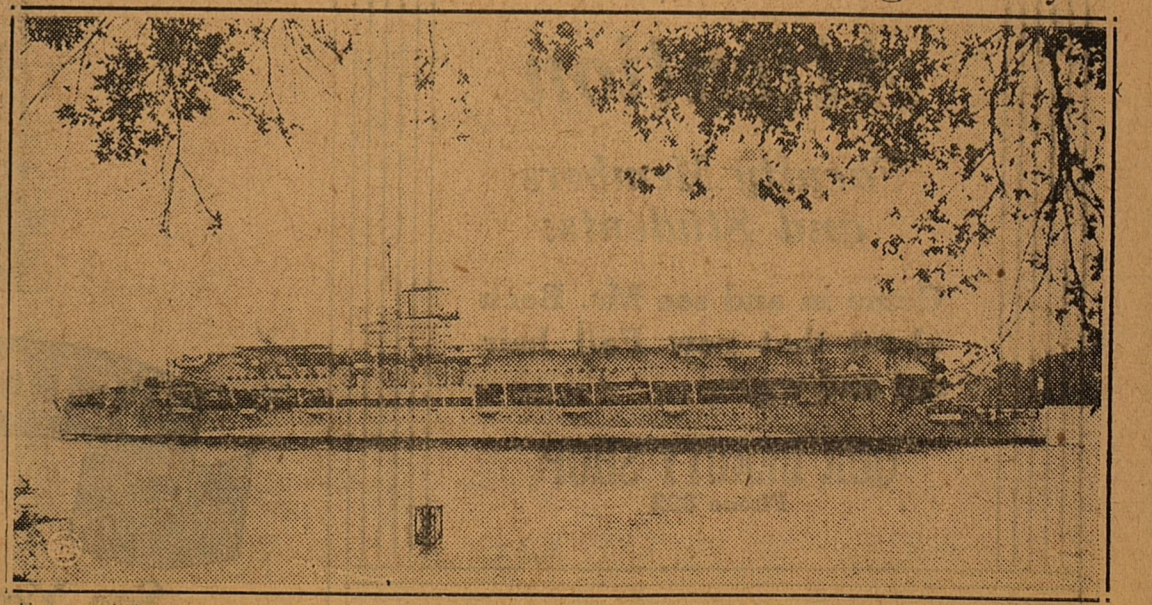

Gary Cooper's refusal to pose with Lupe Velez, when the two happened to meet at the Newark airport recently, didn't stop the Mexican actress for a minute. Finding herself a nice tall stuffed giraffe, with a very snooty nose, the fiery Mrs. Weissmuller had her picture taken to show the world that she was bound to get the last laugh out of Gary's snub.

TCU Team to Travel 7500 Miles in Season

FORT WORTH, Sept. 5. — The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University will travel some 7,500 miles this season, in playing out a 12-game schedule which includes seven contests away from home.

The Frogs' conference journeys include games in Fayetteville, Austin and Waco. But it is in four contests with teams outside the conference that the Christians will really pile up the mileage. They will make trips to Tulsa, Okla., Shreveport and New Orleans, La., and San Francisco, Calif.

Only one night game will be played by T. C. U.—that with Loyola in New Orleans, scheduled for Friday night, Nov. 8.

The Frogs will play away from home from Oct. 19 to Nov. 23, the schedule being thus arranged so as to avoid a conflict with the Arlington Downs races.

Seventeen different calendars are used in India.

Flubdubs

BY JESS RODGERS

The Rice Owls will win the 1935 football championship of the Southwest Conference.

At least that is what the sports-writers in that section say. When asked to predict the order in which the seven Southwest Conference teams would finish the season, the sports writers clamber aboard the Rice band-wagon with such a unanimity that the Owls led the field by a wide margin.

T. C. U. and S. M. U. tied for second place honors. The Texas Longhorns ran a strong fourth. Then, bringing up the rear, came Texas A. & M. for fifth place, Arkansas for sixth, and Baylor for the cellar position.

Our personal opinion is that the Owls will repeat, for the first time any Southwest school ever has done, but would not if Ray Morrison were still at S. M. U. or Schmidt at T. C. U. We believe that the weakest part of either of the last two named schools is their coaching staffs.

Matty Bell has had several opportunities and always failed to make good and Meyer did not look so hot in his first season last year.

Just to put ourselves on the spot more we will pick the Bulldogs to win the championship for the Midland high school. The first one in many moons for the home town. Wink will be their biggest obstacle. The game between the two schools to be played at Wink, should decide where the pennant should fly for the next year.

JUST FLUBDUBBING

Bill Terry has told members of the Giants, "Win the flag or out you go." New York fans want no cave-in on the part of the team such as they witnessed last year.

Euel Moore, who formerly pitched for Abilene in the West Texas League, has been turned back to the Phillies by the Giants.

Mickey Cochran's hardest job at present is keeping Tiger fans from completing World Series plans.

Oklahoma City is favored to win over the other clubs in the play-off. At least they are our favorites.

6000 Bass Received At Amarillo Lake

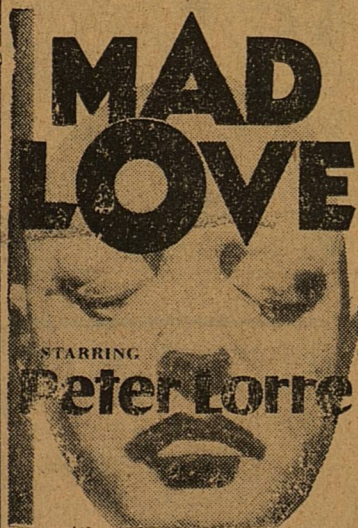

AMARILLO, (P). — Six thousand bass, most of which will be of legal size by next season, have been received at City lake, 20 miles southwest of Amarillo, from the federal fish hatchery at Dexter, N. M. The shipment was the first of several expected from federal and state hatcheries before next January 1.

Mayor Ross Rogers stated it was a result of a visit here last month by Frank T. Bell of Washington, head of the United States Fish Commission.

At that time Bell said that the federal government was ready to help stock every lake and stream in the Panhandle with native fish. On his recommendation, City lake will not be opened to fishing next year until June 15.

Opened this season to the public for the first time, the lake has attracted from 150 to 200 fishermen each Sunday.

'Hard Rock Harrigan' New Picture at Ritz

George O'Brien gives one of the best performances of his career in "Hard Rock Harrigan," which shows Friday and Saturday at the Ritz.

An unusual air of realism, fine performances by the rest of the cast and a story that builds from one peak of excitement to another drew applause from a large audience.

The story, which is replete with dramatic suspense, fast-moving action and pleasing romance, concerns a feud between a husky hard-rock drifter, played by George O'Brien, and his tunnel boss, portrayed by Fred Kohler, who are engaged in drilling a tunnel through a mountainside to complete a gigantic aqueduct project.

The action occurs principally in a construction camp and deep within the interior of the tunnel.

Irene Hervey, talented young leading lady, appears opposite the star as the operator of the camp commissary. Her charm and beauty offer a welcome contrast to the rugged, untamed background where the "hard rock" men fight nature in the raw.

15 Members Attend Geologist Luncheon

The Midland Geological Society, organization of all Midland geologists working in the Permian Basin, met at luncheon this noon for the first of the winter meetings. 15 members and three guests being in attendance.

R. J. Steel, who recently moved to Midland to take over the duties of district geologist for the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company was introduced to the group this noon, as were A. R. Denison, of Ft. Worth, division geologist of the Amerada Oil Company, and Earl W. Hummel, independent geologist of Abilene, both of whom are visiting here.

It was decided at the meeting today that election of officers for this year would be held at the next meeting and also that meetings would be held regularly this year on the first and third Thursdays of each month.

Announcement was made that a meeting of the West Texas geological society would be held in Midland some Saturday of this month. The speaker to be announced later.

The members agreed to send the recommendations of the Society to Works Progress Administration officials who are considering a proposed project for a mineral survey of West Texas to be handled through the State Bureau of Economic Geology.

May Goes to Electric Chair Tonight at 12

AUSTIN, Sept. 5. (P). — Governor Allred today refused to interfere in the execution early tomorrow of W. D. May, killer of Jack Sturdivant in the Handley triple murder.

HUNTSVILLE, Sept. 5. (P). — The death watch began Wednesday night for W. D. May, 40, convicted in the Handley triple murder, who is scheduled to be electrocuted in the state prison here early Friday.

May, who was released from bleak Alcatraz prison near San Francisco to return to die, was apparently unperturbed as his last hours began to speed by. Governor James V. Allred last week said he did not plan to interfere in the case and May began preparations to meet death.

Warden W. W. Wald said May was convicted with O. D. Stevens in the murder of three men, whose weighted bodies floated in the Trinity river near Handley. May was assessed the death penalty in the murder of Jack Sturdivant, one of the "Stevens" appeal from the death verdict is yet to be acted upon by the Texas court of criminal appeals. The other two slain were J. B. Rutherford, Dallas,

Watsons to Present Students in Recital

Summer students of the Watson school of music will be presented in a lawn recital at the studio, 210 W. 4th, Friday evening if the weather permits, Miss Lydia G. Watson announced today. The lawn will be strung with colored lights.

In case the weather is too inclement for an outdoor recital, the program may be held in the Methodist church, Miss Watson said. Definite announcement of the place will be made in Friday's issue of the Reporter-Telegram.

The Watson school's fall term will open Monday.

McMurry College Enlarges Faculty

ABILENE, Sept. 5. — New faculty members have been added and departments have been enlarged in anticipation of a record enrollment at McMurry College as the thirteenth annual session opens with registration of freshmen on Tuesday, September 10. Upperclassmen enroll on Wednesday, September 12, and the formal opening is set for Thursday, September 12, also first day of classes.

Dormitory reservations came in during the summer in record number, and with the opening still nearly a week away halls were practically filled. Dr. Cluster Q. Smith, president, announced.

The Indian band will vie with the football team for popularity as a student activity this year, with the addition of Harold Large Thomas of Chicago, composer of national reputation, to the music faculty as instructor of band and orchestra music, pipe organ, harmony and history of music. The band is to be limited to 50 members—the best-trained musicians on the campus.

An orchestra ensemble also will be organized. The band and orchestra will make frequent West Texas appearances and several tours will probably be arranged during the year.

Mr. Thomas has been orchestra director and associate band director at Northwestern University for three years.

Dr. David C. Chandler, four years associate professor of biology at the University of Arkansas, is the new head of the science department. He holds the M. A. and Ph. D. Degrees from the University of Michigan. Dr. A. V. Metler also will be in the science department again this year, and a new instructor is being added in the education department.
