Without Approval the Bill Is to Wait 90 Days

PASS SALES TAX

Income Tax Also Gets Approval From Lawmakers

AUSTIN, Nov. 12. (AP)—The house today adopted a resolution to make the old age pension bill effective immediately on the governor's approval but the senate delayed action.

Failure of the bill to get senate two-thirds majority on adoption in a conference report means a delay in effectiveness until 90 days after the session ends.

Senators passed a one percent selective sales tax which would be passed directly to the purchasers and adopted an income tax last night.

The measure scrapped the house omnibus tax bill. The income tax bill ranged from one percent on $1,000 to seven percent over $11,000.

The sales tax would be levied on all purchases over 50 cents on some necessities, like clothing food and life insurance.

FT. WORTH, Nov. 12.—Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer of Midland presented the Texas Jockey Club's trophy Monday afternoon to Polish Beau, three-year-old Corsicana Stables colt which won the $2,500 Armistice Day handicap at Arlington Downs.

West Main was second by a head and The Darb was in the show money, a length back.

Near freezing weather and rain which began falling around noon greatly reduced the attendance, with the 6,000 spectators huddling beneath the stands between races. It was Midland Day at the Downs and a good attendance was registered from that city and other West Texas points.

HICKMAN WON'T QUIT RANGERS

Demand for Resignation Is Refused by Noted Captain

AUSTIN, Nov. 12. (AP)—The ten-gallon hat of picturesque Ranger Captain Tom Hickman will be missing from the ranks of Texas' noted band of peace officers within 19 days—by request of the state department of public safety.

Booted, ruddy-faced Hickman, former cowhand, rodeo judge and performer, has been suspended and given until Dec. 1 to resign, said L. G. Phares, acting head of the department.

Characteristically Hickman drawled: "I have no intention of resigning."

Phares, Governor James V. Allred and Hickman himself were reluctant to talk of the cause for dismissal.

Phares said he had suspended the senior captain of rangers, who constitute a division in the safety department, on the "advice and consent of the commission" early last week.

He said the action was in line with the commission's policy of building up the efficiency of the state law enforcement agency and that when the department was organized last August all employees had been put on six-month probation.

"I didn't hire Hickman," Phares said. "I didn't promote him, and I didn't fire him."

"He was told by the commission, after an interview, that his services were not wanted, that he was not deemed suitable and that the commission would accept his resignation."

Phares denied any connection existed between the suspension and a raid on a gambling resort between Dallas and Fort Worth in which thousands of dollars of equipment was seized and several men were arrested. Hickman also said the raid, conducted by two other rangers, had nothing to do with his suspension.

Hickman, 49, was appointed senior captain of rangers last September.

YOUTH ARRESTED IN OKLAHOMA MON. ADMITS MURDERS

Remembers Killing of Aunt and Uncle in New Mexico

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 12. (AP)—Hollis Gravelle, 17-year-old filling station attendant of Altus, Okla., was quoted Monday night by Detective Sergeant Joe Jenkins as saying he shot and killed his aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Willard Shaffer, whose bodies were found Saturday near Hondo, N. M. Jenkins said after protracted questioning the youth declared he "remembered" shooting his aunt and uncle, but did not recall the slaying of their nine-year-old son, Tommie, whose head was crushed, apparently with a hatchet.

Police said when young Martin was arrested here he was driving a car believed to have been the property of officers and in the car was a large caliber rifle which Jenkins said Martin declared he used in the shootings.

When arrested the youth still was wearing his filling station uniform. At the police station last night, Martin said he would waive extradition to New Mexico, would talk freely with officers and "try to remember" what happened.

Peace officers throughout the Southwest were put on watch for young Martin after Sheriff A. S. McCamant at Hondo said the boy had been a recent visitor at the Shaffer home. Martin's parents live at Altus, Okla.

Martin was arrested by Sergeant J. M. Mabe and Fred Buckles, in southeastern Oklahoma and Patrolman Roy Nelson. Nelson said the boy told of driving steadily from New Mexico since Saturday night, and of spending Sunday night asleep in the car near Chickasha, Okla.

He had two boy companions when arrested. One had been picked up in southeastern Oklahoma and the other was an Oklahoma City boy.

Martin was quoted by Nelson as saying he remembered seeing his uncle fall with a fatal wound, but that he did not recall just what followed.

The bodies of Shaffer, 40-year-old farmer, and his wife, who died of a heart attack, were found lying between their farm home and the milking shed. The couple had been shot and the skull of the son had been crushed with a hatchet. The son's body was found in bed.

At Altus today, Sheriff Henry Savage said "The boy (Martin) had been with his father's car several weeks ago, but we had him picked up at El Paso, Texas, and his father brought him back. Then he left again after he spent some money, and went back to El Paso. His father heard from him in Juarez, Mexico, last week but had received no news since that time." No charge was filed against the youth at Altus.

Police were continuing their questioning last night.

Where Will Was, There Was Sure To Be Plenty Of Fun

Wherever Will Rogers was, there was certain to be fun and amusement. He was always doing and saying the unusual because it was unexpected.

During the filming of "Steamboat Around the Bend," Director John Ford noticed that Will Rogers was missing from the set. He sent out an assistant, who found Rogers in the dressing room rehearsing a chorus of a dozen negroes in the singing of spirituals. Will, who didn't sing himself, was tilted back in a chair, eyes half closed, listening.

"Mr. Ford needs you right away," the assistant informed him.

"Tell him we're on the last chorus of 'Swing Low, Sweet Chariot,'" cried Will. "When it hits the ground, we'll be right over!"

Will Rogers was once dickered with Amos G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Fort Worth, Texas, for a reporter's job for his son, Will, Jr. They were discussing the wages the young cub reporter was to receive.

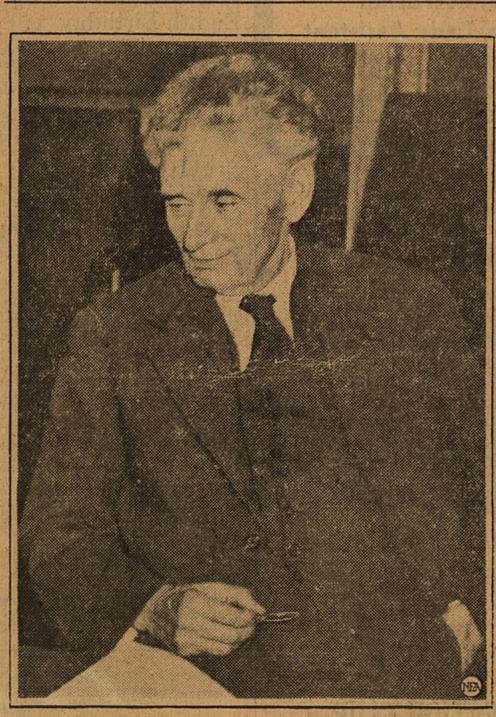

"Tell you what," said Carter. "I'll give the boy his board and room and the regular cub's pay."

"Better not," Will advised.

"Just bonding that boy will break you."

Millions now have an opportunity to contribute to the memory of Will Rogers. Famous friends have organized The Will Rogers Memorial Commission. It is hoped every one who smiled with Rogers will come forward with a subscription. Take it or send it to your bank—or any bank—or use the accompanying coupon to send your subscription to

FEMININE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN EILAND

The biggest news in a long time breaks when we're taking a weekend off. However, we're more glad than otherwise to miss tragedy whenever and wherever it occurs. After all we can see enough unhappiness without even witnessing the major tragedies of life.

It is strange how a few hours off the job can make such a change in one's feelings. And we still think that the best way to take a rest, when on e's days are noisy, busy ones, is to spend a weekend in the country.

This idea of being a working girl has its disadvantages as well as its advantages. One of the former is having to spend one's holiday's laundering, mending, or otherwise getting one's clothes in shape.

Wonder why we couldn't be a working girl in some tropical tribe where clothes are a minor consideration and the state of one's fingernails and teeth does not have a bearing on one's social and business status. Now would that be Utopia or wouldn't it?

A boarding house breakfast table after a holiday weekend bears a slight resemblance to a "hone coming" in the old home town. Everybody is just a little gladder than usual to see everybody else. It is just one of those things that keeps alive faith in the essential loveliness of human nature.

And one of the nicest things that can happen is to have somebody telephone in a wedding story on a morning when there is practically no society in sight.

Rural Schools

The Stokes girls received their new basketball and basketball suits last Wednesday. They were very glad to get them. The visitors this week were Barnett Collier and Mrs. Annie Collier. A large crowd attended the literary society Friday evening. The program was presented by the school pupils.

Women's and girls' club work is progressing nicely, Bryant said. Miss Ozella Bryant won second place on a quilt which she exhibited with the women's clubs at the Midland Fair.

Among visitors at school last week were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Livingston and Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Livingston.

"Prospects are brighter for the school as harvesting is progressing rapidly," Prin. Bryant said. "Attendance will now continue to increase until harvesting is over. Interest among the patrons is good."

STEERS; BOBCATS BATTLE TO 0-0 TIE BEFORE 6,000 FANS

San Angelo Claiming Game on Downs, Penetrations

The Big Spring Steers and the San Angelo Bobcats put up 60 minutes of thrilling fight before an estimated crowd of 6,000 persons Monday, but at the end were exactly where they started as the game ended in a scoreless tie.

The game was played in a bitter cold that made fumbling altogether too frequent for consistent gaining, San Angelo losing the ball on the Big Spring 10 once by a fumble and the Steers missing their only scoring opportunity in the third quarter, when they had the wind to their backs and seemingly getting a pass attack-clicking.

RETURN FROM HOUSTON T. O. Wright of the Humble company has returned from his home at Houston where he spent the weekend. He was accompanied by Douglas Salsberry. While there they saw the Rice-Arkansas game.
