WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Actual drafting of taxes to finance a new farm program was scheduled today by the president as he pressed forward with a series of major financial conferences.

Set White House as Their Goal

New definitely a First Lady of the Land possibility, Mrs. Theo Cobb Land, dimpling with happiness, is shown left at the Kansas Day celebration in Topeka at which she is the candidate of her husband, Gov. Alf M. Landen, for the G. O. P. presidential nomination was launched. Demanding "recovery before reform" and assailing the New Deal for "extravagance and fussy thinking," the governor is shown, right, as he spoke at the state's anniversary observance.

Girl Succumbs Late Tuesday To Illness

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the First Methodist church, for Miss Lela Mae Miles, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Miles and sophomore at Texas Technological college, whose death occurred at a Midland hospital late Tuesday.

Miss Miles became ill before coming to her home here for the Christmas holidays. Later, taken to a local hospital, her condition was found to be serious and two major operations were performed by a staff of surgeons. Since last Friday the outcome of her illness had been in doubt but she made a strong fight for life, succumbing at about 10 o'clock tonight.

A Vice-President's Flag at Last

Well may John Nance Garner regard this flag with interest and pride as his teeth clench down on his cigar. It's his flag, the first time in the nation's 147 years, that the U.S. vice president has had a flag of his own. The banner is white, with blue stars, while the presidential flag is blue with white stars.

Garner's flag is a 17-pointed star in the center of the field. It is a 17-pointed star, the number of stars on the flag of the United States when Garner was born.

GERMANY AROUSED AFTER SLAYING OF DR. GUSTLOFF

Jewish Student Held After Confessing To Crime
PUSH CAMPAIGN
Anti-Semetic Course Completion Asked By Leaders

DAVOS, Switzerland, Feb. 5. (AP). The political assassination of Wilhelm Gustloff, 40-year-old militant leader of Nazism in Switzerland and by Yugoslav medical student, David Frankfurter, a Jew, aroused fears today of grave international complications.

The youth said that he wished to strike a blow against the Nazis to avenge sufferings of fellow Jews in Germany. He told police that he went to Gustloff's home yesterday and shot him when Gustloff rose from his chair to receive him. The assassin at first fled but later telephoned police and was arrested. He claimed that he was incited to the murder by no one.

CIVIC WORK BY COMMITTEES

Announcement by President Clarence Scharbauer that standing committees of the chamber of commerce are going to be charged with much of the active program of work...

The projects capable of being promoted and carried out under this comprehensive list of committees would afford a year's work creditable to any city.

Any city can afford to set itself a budget of work just as a business institution sets itself a financial budget.

SCIENCE HAS SCOFFED AT BLEAK DEPRESSION

Ask almost anybody what kind of time the United States has had in the last five or six years and he will tell you that they were dead and hopeless years in which nothing was brought forth but misery.

The wheels all ran down and stopped, in those half dozen years, and time stood still while men gathered by the ashes of burnt-out dreams.

But things did happen, somehow, during that dead and hopeless time, to make the business of living easier and more pleasant.

Suppose you go traveling, for instance. You can ride on new, streamlined, smokeless, and dustless trains which will get you to your destination faster and more comfortably than any train in existence in 1929.

If you don't go by train at all, you have other advantages. You can fly from New York to San Francisco in a day, or take an aerial sleeper, going in far greater comfort and safety than you could have done in 1929.

Suppose you build your own home; there, too, you can get more for your money than you could have gotten six years ago.

Such improvements have been made all along the line. There new textile fabrics for your clothing; the range of your telephone has been increased; your radio is a better instrument, and some of the programs that come out have even been improved a little.

Future of the U. S. Cotton Linked To Control of the Ethiopian Lakes

Frazier Hunt goes "behind the scenes" to reveal the irritating source of the Anglo-Italian dispute over Ethiopia. This is the second of three articles concerning Italy's conquest of Ethiopia...

It is a queer twist of Fate that injects the American cotton states into the Anglo-Italian near-war over Ethiopia.

The outcome of this dispute may have much to do with the future prosperity of Texas, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama...

It is in this last line that the secret of much of the bitter contention lies. Quite as important as Italy's potential threat to the control of the road to India is the silent war over whether England or Italy shall control Lake Tsana and the headwaters of the Blue Nile.

Nile's Riches Are at Stake If England, on the other hand, can gain this lake and the plateau country she, in turn, can divert the waters and the rich silt from the Lower Nile and use them on her great cotton plantations in the Sudan.

With the cheap labor in the Sudan she might then be able to grow the cheapest cotton in the world. It is not impossible that this Sudanese cotton might in time replace the great prosperity-crop of our own southern states.

Britain After Control 50 Years To understand how this Lake Tsana question stands behind all the sentimental British desire for peace and fair play—and the bitter naming of Italy as the aggressor—we must turn back and review the dramatic sequence of events of the past 50 years, and frankly and openly give the Italian viewpoint in this long-drawn-out struggle with destiny.

In the early '80s England bombarded and occupied Alexandria, and seized Egypt. A little later the gallant English general, "Chinthe" Gordon, was killed at Khartoum, and the English were checked in the Sudan.

At the time the French were active in extending their own colonial empire. They forcibly occupied Tunis, in Northern Africa, conquered Indo-China, and threatened the great island of Madagascar, off the south-east coast of Africa.

The British, fearing that the French would occupy the shores of the Red Sea and thus control the route to India, virtually called upon Italy for help. The Italians then occupied Eritrea, before the French could grab it from their base at Djibouti.

In 1892 England signed a treaty with Italy guaranteeing Italy the possession of Ethiopia to a line west of—and including—Lake Tsana, the headwaters of the Blue Nile.

A few years later Kitchener defeated the Mad Mullah, recaptured Khartoum, and occupied the Sudan. Cotton Independence Is at Stake Since that day—according to the Italian viewpoint—England's policy has had the single motive of getting back everything that she promised Italy in this treaty of 1892.

Ethiopia's unimpressive Lake Tsana, pictured above, is the focal point of the present Anglo-Italian enmity. From here flow the priceless waters of the historic Blue Nile, which England has employed for vital irrigation purposes in Egypt.

wanted back was the control of Lake Tsana and its floodwaters. It is these waters that have brought to Egypt the silt that for 5000 years has given to the dwellers in the Lower Nile their life and prosperity.

Some years before the World War British capitalists—and a few important men highly placed in the government—started to develop large cotton plantations in the Sudan. For the irrigation of these lands they need the waters of the Ethiopian highlands, and especially of Lake Tsana and the Blue Nile.

Cheap Cotton Available There is important in this drama of business and empire is the fact that while the average wage of the semi-slave laborer in the Sudan is approximately 20 cents a day, it is only one-third the wage of the town-dweller Egyptian fellahin of the Lower Nile.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Things that attract our attention: That helpless look men have in a barber chair; anybody's new haircut, especially if we need one; love scenes in stories of the Zane Grey ilk; the smell of mesquite blooms on a hot spring day; any kind of fancy buttons, the bigger the better; blue shadows any place, any time.

As might be supposed, the fad for fresh flowers in the hair has caused the creation of flowers for those to whom the fresh blooms are inaccessible. We have noticed displayed for sale here in town, very small combs topped with celluloid flowers, some with green leaves accompanying. The roses are very pretty.

Watches are becoming more and more an integral part of one's costume. First they were carried in pockets or pinned to the blouse. Then they were strapped upon the wrist. Last year saw the fad for watches built into handbags. And now, 1936 presents the up-to-the-minute watch set into the belt of one's dress.

Who, having few earthly possessions, can afford to smile at the vanity of them, can scarcely suppress a grin at such efforts to develop a new style. After all, who wants to simulate a diving position every time she wishes to know the time of day?

It is perhaps a distinctly American trait that such a slogan as "bigger and better" should be applied to even the most trivial products. The humble lens drop—that panacea for childhood ills—has inflated itself like Mussolini's ambition and taken on a shape like its name. One of the new breed makes a satisfactory mouthful as none of the original flavor seems to have been lost.

For February parties the "wild cherry" candy is apt. On first holding these red pieces which more or less resemble their (shall we say?) name-fruit, we expected their consistency to be of the "jaw-breaker" kind. Having our teeth set for rockiness, we were again surprised to find, upon biting into one, that it was easily chewed.

A good example of foresight (We're not trying to pun) is the fact that the University of California now has a course in television included in its extension curriculum. We suppose that television is expected to become as commonplace as radio, if preparation is now being made to train citizens in it.

'Perfect '36 Dancing Girl'

Hollywood's perfect '36 dancer, it seems, is really a "perfect '34." Other charming reasons why Ann Meril was chosen by film directors as Screendom's perfect dancing girl for 1936 are revealed here. Among them are long, shapely legs, nimble feet, midnight-blue hair, and pep. She's 5 feet 5 inches tall, weighs 115 pounds.

Valentine Theme Is Employed at Bridge For Edelweiss Club

A carefully-planned Valentine theme marked the afternoon bridge with which Mrs. E. D. Richardson complimented members of the Edelweiss club and one table of guests at her home, 607 North D street, Tuesday afternoon.

Playing accessories and table covers carried out the holiday colors and symbols while prizes were wrapped in white cellophane with red hearts and ribbons.

High score went to Mrs. S. O. Cooper, while Mrs. John Adams cut high.

Guests for the afternoon were Mmes. R. B. Cowden, Rea Sindorf, Don Davis, and L. G. Mackey.

At the conclusion of the games a salad plate, specialized with molded salad in Valentine designs and colors, was served to the four guests and the following club members: Mmes. Cooper, Adams, S. M. Warren, Earl Horst, Bill Van Huss, Paul Moore, J. J. Kelly, W. P. Knight, and the hostess.

Mrs. Stokes Hostess To Edelweiss Club

Mrs. Maymie Stokes entertained the Edelweiss club and guests with a Valentine bridge at her home, 1300 W. Ohio, Tuesday afternoon.

Tallies and prize wrappings bespoke February's ever-popular holiday. Awards went to Mrs. Allen Tolbert for guests, to Mrs. Clyde Cowden for high score among club members, to Miss Leona McCormick for second high, and to Mrs. E. Hayden Miles for floating prize.

Club guests were Mmes. Allen Tolbert, R. T. Bucy, Elliott Cowden, and Percy Mims.

At the close of the games, a salad plate was served by the hostess to the guests and the following club members: Mmes. Ralph Barron, Cowden, John Dublin, J. E. Martin, Miles, Tom Nance, Foy Proctor, John Shipley, Harvey Sloan, J. M. Speed, Henry Wolcott, and Miss Leona McCormick.

QUESTION

By Helen Welshimer

THE ghost of you is in this room. Your cushioned imprint stays in any chair in which you sat. The laughter of you lags.

A SPELL across the quiet hearth. At times I've thought I heard Your voice, low-toned and gentle, Speak out in cherished word.

OH, why with all the world to roam, And all the world is wide, Must you come back to me, dear one, To ask a place to hide?

Recipes for Correcting Some Kitchen Catastrophes Are Recounted by Writer

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Modern household gadgets have contrived fewer mishaps for the cook to mourn over than in other days. But just so long as the telephone WILL ring when there's a pan of cookies in the oven or the small boy of the family comes in with wet shoes and stockings at the moment the vegetables are ready for buttering, there will be minor kitchen catastrophes.

The most common accident in every home is the boiling dry of sauce pans in which vegetables are cooking. When this happens, turn the contents of the cooking pan immediately into a fresh pan and don't under any consideration scrape the burned pan. Usually the burned portion of the vegetable will stick to the pan and the part in the fresh pan will be all right. If you are using an aluminum pan, as soon as the vegetable has been transferred to the fresh pan, put the burned one in a large vessel of cold water, but put no water inside.

When Gravy Goes Wrong Enamel ware cannot be treated this way because the sudden change of temperature might ruin the enamel.

For lumpy sauces, too-thick sauces and too-greasy ones, there is a remedy. To the too-thick sauce add more liquid. This may mean more seasoning because the extra liquid increases the amount of sauce. Too-thin sauces can be thickened by adding more flour, stirred to a ## smooth paste with cold milk or water. Add only a little liquid at a time, stirring vigorously.

To the too-greasy gravy add more flour, and since this naturally thickens the sauce, more liquid and then more seasonings.

Very often a lumpy sauce may be made smooth by beating with a Dover beater. If this fails, there is always the strainer to fall back on. Don't forget that the sauce will cool during straining and must be reheated before serving.

Curded custard and mayonnaise are best beaten with a Dover beater. The mayonnaise should be beaten into a tablespoon of lemon juice in a fresh bowl. Add the curded mixture gradually. Then all the rest of the oil just as if nothing had gone wrong.

Saving Burned Cake When cakes and cookies and biscuits and rolls are burned, the best thing to do is to take off as much of the burned portion as possible. Corners and edges can be trimmed away, relying on the frosting to cover the traces. Crisp surfaces such as cookies and rolls can be grated with a fine grater to remove the effects of too much heat.

If boiled frosting is too thick or begins to stiffen too quickly, add hot water a few drops at a time, beating constantly.

The frosting that remains runny in spite of beating should be put into the top of the double-boiler and cooked and beaten over hot water until the sugar begins to form crystals around the edge of the pan. Remove at once from water and beat until stiff enough to spread.

Bridge Tuesday Is Courtesy to Bride

Mrs. Tom Sealy, who is one of Midland's recent brides, was honored at an informal three-table bridge given by Mrs. Fred Turner, Jr., at her home, 211 North B, Tuesday afternoon.

The Valentine motif was followed in tallies for the games in which Mrs. Hugh West scored high and Mrs. Peters held high cut.

Mrs. Sealey was presented with a gift from the hostess.

At the tea hour a party plate carrying out the chosen theme in heart-shaped cakes iced in white with red bowknots was served to the honoree. Misses Lucile Thomas, Martha Louise Nobles, Mary Belle Pratt, Ruby Hodges, Mmes. West, Bill Blevins, Barron Kidd, Peters, Nancy Stevens, Alf Reese, Frank Stubbeman, and the hostess.

Wives of Visitors Are Entertained

Entertaining for Mrs. E. C. Moncrief of Wichita, Kansas, and Mrs. A. I. Levorsen of Tulsa, Okla., wives of visiting geologists, three tables of bridge were played on the mezzanine floor of the Hotel Scharbauer Saturday evening during the geological meeting which followed the banquet honoring the four visitors.

In the group playing beside Mmes. Levorsen and Moncrief were Mrs. R. E. Kannon of San Angelo and the following Midland women: Mmes. Chas. Vertrees, V. C. Maley, Paul Schlosser, Alden Donnelly, John Adams, Fred Wilcox, Dick Gille, Purzer, and Miss Josephine Hill.

Record Snow Turns New York Into Gleaming Fairland

The myriad lights of New York's skyscrapers, reflected by the season's heaviest blanket of snow, routed the night shadows in Central Park with the brilliance of a dozen moons. This was the glittering spectacle spread before the eyes of New Yorkers who looked south toward the business district across the frozen and silent lake.

Routing Pain from Dentist's Chair

"It works!" was the jubilant verdict of Edd Johnson, New York reporter, who offered himself for a test of the new tooth desensitizer developed by Dr. Leroy Hartman of Columbia University. The dentist is shown applying the desensitizer to a cavity in Johnson's tooth. Before application, Johnson reported, the ordeal was painful; afterward, there wasn't the least vestige of pain.

The last battle of the Civil War was fought on Texas soil. It was at Palmetto Hill near Brownsville at the mouth of the Rio Grande, several weeks after Appomattox. Centennial visitors will find this battlefield marked, and not far distant are the famous Mexican war battlefields of Resaca de la Palma and Palo Alto.

Texas was the scene of the first of the series of cross-country records. Cabeza de Vaca landed on Galveston Island on Nov. 26, 1528, and finally reached the Pacific ocean in eight years. That time has now been reduced to almost eight hours and the Centennial celebration in Texas this year will reflect that progress.

Texas, which celebrates its 100th anniversary of independence this year, helped Mexico win freedom from Spain in 1821. Texas was then a part of Mexico.

License Fits Driver
BRANTFORD, Ont. (U.P.)—Stanley Eighteen, railroad employe, has 1936 license markers for his car which tell his name. The markers read: "S-18."

Texas is represented by all three of the great geological phases of the United States. Visitors to the Centennial celebrations this year can see the coastal plains stretching to Central America; the great plains of the middle west that reach from northern Canada into Mexico and the Cordilleran highlands which extend from Alaska to the southernmost tip of South America.

The buffalo has not entirely disappeared from Texas. There is still a big herd on the famous Goodnight ranch in northwest Texas.

U. S. Highway 66 when it crosses the Texas Panhandle is the route followed by Geronimo, the 16th century explorer. This trail was laid out long before the settlement of Jamestown.

Austria's Aged Increase
VIENNA, (U.P.)—Austria rapidly is becoming a nation of elderly men and women, it is revealed by an analysis of vital statistics. In 1910, 47 per cent of the people were under 23. In 1934 there were only 37.5 per cent under 23.

Prison Fails as Reform
RALEIGH, N. C. (U.P.)—Robert McCoy, Negro, was released from Central Prison here one afternoon. Next morning he was behind bars again, arrested for drunkenness and lodged in the city jail.

Mexico, D. F. (formerly Mexico City), was built on land that was at one time a lake bottom. Sweet potatoes form the second largest vegetable crop in the United States.

EARTHQUAKE HITS JAPANESE CITY

No Casualties Listed From Kyoto As Tremor Felt

TOKYO, Feb. 5 (AP)—The city of Kyoto, already suffering from a terrific blizzard sweeping Japan, today felt a fairly heavy earthquake. No casualties were reported immediately. It was feared that storms pounding the coast of Japan had claimed the lives of 45 of the crew members of the freighter Unnan Maru as two rescue steamers found no trace of the ship.

GOP PLUNGES INTO SHOWDOWN TODAY

Borah Announcement Cause Of Consternation In Party

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Liberal and conservative wings of the republican party today plunged toward a showdown after Senator Borah had announced his entrance in the presidential struggle. A wide open race is forecast for the Ohio presidential primary as Borah's announcement was a declaration of war against the established party organization.

Grete Stueckgold Is On Ford Sunday Hour

Grete Stueckgold, brilliant operatic soprano, will be guest artist on the Ford Sunday evening hour, Sunday, February 8. The program which features music of the Ford Symphony Orchestra and Chorus, under the direction of Victor Kolar, will be broadcast from 9 to 10 p. m. EST over the complete coast-to-coast CBS network.

Mme. Stueckgold was born in London and educated in Germany. At sixteen she made her concert debut in Bremen and her first opera appearance two years later at Nuremberg. When Bruno Walter, the famous conductor, heard her, he arranged for an audition which led to a contract with the Stadtische Opera of Berlin. She later joined the Metropolitan Opera, where she has sung Marschallin in "Rosenkavalier," the Wagnerian roles of Elsa, Elisabeth, Eva and Sieglinde, and such Italian parts as Aida.

On the Ford Sunday evening hour, Mme. Stueckgold will sing "Die Meistersinger," including "Leise, Leise," from Weber's "Der Freischutz," Strauss' "Morgan," Coward's "Cigarettes," Del Riego's "The King," and "Wiegand" by Brahms.

Another orchestra and chorus presentation of the opening chorus from "Catharina Rusticana" by Mascagni will open the program. This will be followed by the orchestra playing the intermezzo from "Cyrano" by Grandos. After two selections by Mme. Stueckgold, the orchestra will play three of German dances from "Henry VIII."

The second portion will open with Strauss' "Perpetuum Mobile" by the orchestra, followed by three selections by the guest artist. The overture from "Le Roi La Die" by Delibes will precede Beethoven's hymn, "Evening," which will close the program.

Another short talk on current affairs will be presented during the intermission by W. J. Cameron of the Ford Motor company.

The minute detail with which the Soviet and its neighbors prepare for every war emergency is revealed in this scene at the Hottin Hospital in Moscow, where the doctors attendants—and even the patient—practise conducting operations under raid conditions. A masked cameraman stands by to record the event, believed to be the first time an operation was performed with everyone masked.

Recent Election In County Studied By 'Campaigners'

How Midland county voted in recent elections with reference to the liquor question was being studied today by "campaigners" for and against the sale of liquor, to be voted on Saturday.

Only three absentee votes had been filed at the close of the period prescribed by law yesterday evening. However, with the payment of 2-125 poll taxes, it was conservatively estimated that from 1,200 to 1,500 votes would be cast in the county-wide election, and almost as many in the precinct No. 1 balloting.

A review of the state-wide repeal issue last August 24 showed that Midland county cast 382 votes for repeal of the prohibition laws and 201 votes against. In precinct No. 1, the vote was 357 for and 273 against.

On December 7, when an election was held to determine if liquor sale should be legalized in precinct No. 1, the vote was 213 for legalized sale and 167 against. The election later was declared void by the commissioners' court because of an attorney general's ruling that the county must be voted wet before the precinct can be voted wet. Later petitions to the court caused the order of elections on both county and precinct for Saturday of this week.

The attorney general also has held that if the county is voted dry that all precincts shall remain dry even if they receive a majority in favor of legalized sale.

DON'T omit explanation when such information is essential to an intelligent audit. Attach memoranda to your return.

Camels Approved As An Aid To Digestion

Smoking Camels has been found a definite aid in promoting good digestion.

This fact is announced in an extensive new campaign of newspaper advertising just released by the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, makers of Camel cigarettes. It is the latest development in the constantly widening field of knowledge regarding the physiology of food assimilation, made especially significant by the fact that millions already smoke and enjoy Camels regularly.

Results of Tests

Careful studies, now completed, show that smoking a Camel during or between meals strongly stimulates and promotes the action of the digestive juices. This conclusion, the result of objective measurements, means that regular Camel smokers enjoy maximum benefits, since digestion goes on for approximately four hours.

These new facts are popularized in the campaign through the slogan "For Digestion's Sake—Smoke Camels." The sheer smoking enjoyment obtained from smoking the choice tobaccos in Camels also contributes to their value in relieving the strain on digestion, since it is known that pleasure plays a major role in the proper digestion and utilization of food.

The Camel advertisements gain special attention through using illustrations of scenes in famous American restaurants where Camels are in demand among those who are in a position to enjoy the finer phases of enjoyable living. Among those restaurants featured are Knicker's, famous old Philadelphia restaurant; the Gold Coast Room of the Drake hotel in Chicago; and Keen's English Chop House in New York City, rich in memories of such congenial spirits as John Drew and that great gourmet, "Diamond Jim" Brady. Theodore Roosevelt's "Buffalo Bill," Taft, Belasco, and James Gordon Bennett, "Camels are a favorite here," reports William, of Keen's. "We value our guests who smoke Camels during and after meals seem to find more pleasure in dining."

Digestion Often Overtaxed Today

The rush, strain, and eternal hurry of modern living affects the digestion of people in every walk of life. The value of Camels in easing the effects of this unnatural stress and strain is reported in the advertising by many Camel smokers who lead strenuous lives, such as, Frank Buck, William LaVarre, the explorer; George Lott, Jr.; Lester Stoeften, the tennis champion, and many others.

"We're Only Human" Now Showing at Ritz

Preston Foster and Jane Wyatt form a new romantic theme in RKO Radio's gripping drama "We're Only Human," showing today and tomorrow at the Ritz theatre.

Both are from the New York stage. Foster deserted Broadway footlights about three years ago. Miss Wyatt, who is making her fourth motion picture, has a contract that permits her to spend half of her time on the stage.

In "We're Only Human" Foster plays the part of a New York detective sergeant, while Miss Wyatt is cast as a girl reporter on a Manhattan newspaper. The story has to do with the capture of a gang of criminals and the part that fear can play when an otherwise brave man is deserted by his friends at a crucial point of his career as a law officer.

James Flood directed the film, produced by Edward Kaufman. James Gleason, Arthur Hohn, John Arledge, Jane Darwell, and Moroni Olsen are also featured.

Nationwide Conoco Ad Program Boosts Texas Centennial

"Attend the Texas Centennial Exposition! Visit Texas scenic and historical shrines during 1936!" Continental Oil company, through its February newspaper advertisements, is inviting more than 25 million people living in 36 states and the District of Columbia to spend their vacations in the Lone Star state this year.

The first of this series of advertisements appears in today's Reporter-Telegram. It will also be reproduced in nearly 1,200 other newspapers, according to Wesley I. Nunn, Conoco advertising manager.

Today's advertisement includes an invitation to enjoy the Centennial, while the second of the series, due to appear during the week of February 9, calls attention to "famed San Jacinto" and the Centennial. The third and final advertisement of the Texas series, scheduled for the week of February 23, refers to "The Alamo—Texas Centennial highspot."

Readers are asked to make their jaunt to Texas even more pleasurable by taking advantage of the free trip planning service of the Conoco Travel Bureau, Denver, Colo., largest organizations of its type in America.

Two million tons of refuse are collected annually by London's boroughs.

WHY? WHY?

WHY do the liquor dealers want a legalized liquor traffic in our County and City?

WHY do the "dry forces" fight against a legalized liquor traffic?

Because we would protect the security and happiness of the homes.

We would stop murder and fatal accidents from drunken driving.

We would protect the physical, the mental and the moral welfare of our young people against the menace of the liquor traffic.

We solicit the help of every citizen. Work and vote to make and keep our County and City free from the blight of a legalized liquor traffic.

But the liquor dealers care far less about these tragedies than they care for their profits.
