POSTMASTER AT ILLINOIS TOWN HELD FOR TRIAL

$100,000 Bond Is Set For Alleged Bandits

"CASE SOLVED"

G-Man Chief Declares Arrests Clear Up The Crime

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, G-man chief, Saturday announced the arrest of three men in connection with the kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer. "We think we have solved the Hamm kidnaping at last," Hoover said. He announced that those arrested were involved in the Bremer kidnap case and indicated more arrests were expected shortly. One of the suspects was acting postmaster at Bensenville, Ill. Hamm paid $100,000 for his release in June, 1933. Official announcements have said that Alvin Karpis was involved with the gang in the Hamm case. He is still at large. Edward Bartholomey, arrested postmaster, pleaded not guilty in St. Paul and was remanded to jail in default of $100,000 bond.

1000 Rabbits Slain In Friday's Drive

Approximately 1,000 rabbits were killed in the second big drive of the season held in the Prairie Lee community Friday, hunters reported. About 35 men took part in the hunting. A basket lurch was spread at the Troy Elland place north of Greenwood church.

Chambers Accept A Big Spring Position

Joe D. Chambers, for several months connected with the Scruggs Motor Co., left Saturday, accompanied by Mrs. Chambers for Big Spring where he has accepted a position with the Miller-Olden Co., International Harvester Co., dealers. His new position will begin Monday. Chambers came to Midland in 1927, in the employ of the Texas Electric Service Co., later becoming assistant manager and then serving months as acting manager. He has been a director in the chamber of commerce since 1933 and was secretary of the Lions club at the time of leaving here. Mrs. Chambers also was active in civic and social affairs.

Drill-Stem Test Made In Tubb Well Shows 600 Feet Of Oil, Mud in 17 Minutes

BY FRANK GARDNER
A drill-stem test made late Saturday in Sinclair-Prairie and others No. 1 Tubb, deep wildcat in the Tubb area of western Crane County showed 600 feet of mud and oil in 17 minutes. The column of fluid was reported to be about half oil. Although the showing was thought to appear promising, the order was given to drill ahead. Previously, after gas kick at 3,687 had blown a small amount of drilling mud from the hole, the No. 1 Tubb unit test had recovered cores from 3,687 to 3,998, first reported as all saturated but later said to show saturation only from 3,687 to 3,990 with the last eight feet dry and hard. Located in the southeast corner of section 3, block B-27, public school land, the unit test was originally completed as a small pumpout procedure from the upper Permian, but decision was made to carry it deeper when Humble No. 1 Tubb, a mile and three-quarters southeast, developed oil at the rate of 861 barrels per day after acidizing the "Tubb pay" horizon, about 1,900 feet in the lime. In the event the deep Permian zone does not pay out the Sinclair-Prairie and others wildcat may shoot at the deep pay in the Simpson, middle Ordovician, proven by the Gulf No. 1 W. N. Wadell discovery nearly two miles farther northwest.

LEFTISTS START DRIVE TO REMOVE FASCIST ELEMENT

Monarchist Leaders Arrested Over Country STRIKE SERIOUS General Walkout Is Paralyzing All Business

MADRID, April 18 (AP)—The new leftist republican government Saturday inaugurated stern measures to remove Fascist elements from Spain's armed forces. Monarchist and Fascist leaders are being arrested throughout the country in the aftermath of the fatal shooting of three persons Thursday. Several hundred followers of the militant sector of Jose Antonio Primo de Rivera's Fascist party were arrested. The government struck out in a stern attempt to prevent further disorders as two new fatalities Friday were added to three deaths in rioting Thursday. A general strike paralyzed business in the capital and an undetermined number of persons was injured in scattered clashes. A heavy guard was thrown around the building where the Cortes (Parliament) was in session after rumors persisted in the lobbies that the army was becoming more indignant over the number of recent disorders. Restaurants and movies in the capital were closed, several banks shut their doors but hotels and drugstores remained open.

Gannon Campaign For Governor Is Cause of "Firing"

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—A WPA official Saturday asserted that the specific reason for the dismissal of George Gannon as Washington state administrator was for solicitation of funds for the "Gannon for governor" campaign. Riddle local choir director, and Ruby C. Morris at the organ. Dr. Ham, who has had a great record as an evangelist, formerly was assistant pastor to Dr. Lynn G. Broughton of the Baptist Tabernacle, Atlanta. Later he was pastor, 2250 people joining the church and a debt of $114,000 being paid off, with $450,000 raised during that time. Traveling by airplane Dr. Ham is in great demand and loses practically no time in continuous evangelistic work.

Oldest Oil Lease Is Centennial Exhibit
NACOGDOCHES, Texas (AP)—What is believed to be Texas' oldest oil lease will be exhibited by R. R. Lambert of Nacogdoches at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas, which opens June 6. The instrument dated Sept. 18, 1886, was executed by Dr. E. M. Smith, Lambert's uncle, to President H. J. Litcher and Secretary J. A. Bentley of the Pennsylvania Oil Company. Texas' first oil field was discovered near here in 1866. Oil seeped through the surface of the ground and formed pools. There still are profitable oil mines in the Nacogdoches, the only ones in the state, so shallow is the producing strata. Oil is drawn from shafts in barrels lowered by windlasses. The Smith lease covered 231 acres near the town of Chreno.

French - British Get Together On New Plans

By Associated Press
Reliable Italian sources Saturday said that troops of General Rodolfo Graziani, commander of the Southern army, were engaged in fourth day of a powerful drive against Harar, Ethiopia's second largest city. It is believed that capture of the strategic point is imminent. Prime minister Stanley Baldwin declared the only way open to obtain European peace was to be ready to fight, if necessary. The Ethiopian government has established guards over American and other foreign legations in Addis Ababa, but claimed that they need not fear for their safety. Italy is preparing for any Mediterranean eventuality by the formation of a special naval landing force similar to the American marines. Navy leaves are expected to be cancelled and airmen are standing by. Italians are reported nearing Addis Ababa. Fascist spokesmen at Geneva told unsuccessful peace makers that "1000 motor lorries are already rolling toward the Ethiopian capital." As diplomats surveyed the collapse of peace efforts a French newspaper declared the plan to fortify Belgium against a German attack had developed in a conference between British, French and Belgian general staffs in London. The paper said it was understood that Britain had asked Belgium to build a defense line, two forts and to make provisions for flooding the line in the event of aggression. French league circles said that Britain and France have postponed discussion of additional sanctions against Italy until after the French elections April 26 and May third. The agreement is considered as putting to an end the French-English differences in the European crisis.

BROWNFIELD, Texas (AP)—A special census taken by an organization of business men shows 3,555 persons reside within the town's corporate limits compared to 1,907 counted in the Federal census of 1930. ## BEHIND THE SCENES

—IN—

WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The sooner Governor Landon—or whoever the nominee is—gets to Washington to take over Republican national headquarters, the better it will be for the Grand Old Party and all concerned with its immediate future.

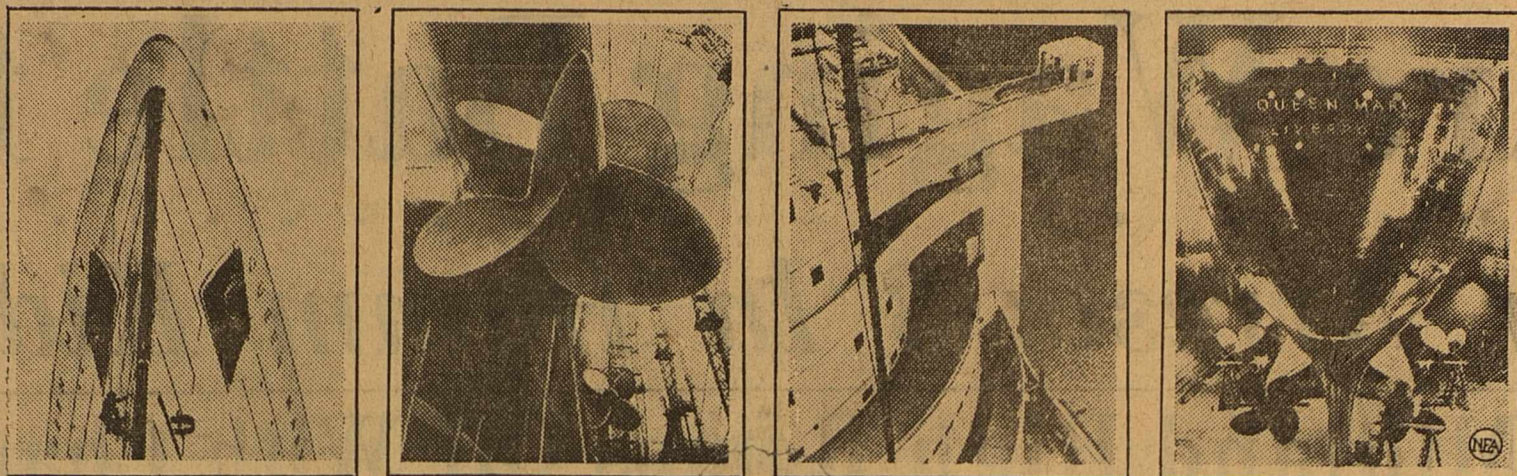

An almost incredible series of publicity blunders within the space of a few days has made the present national committee management a laughing stock among the newspaper correspondents—not to mention the gleeful Democrats.
Partisan Republican newspapers in the East already are commenting in tones denoting great pain. If you hear further repercussions, here are some of the reasons.
1—After many months of panning the "brain trust" of the New Deal—with choice sarcasms for Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard Law School employed by the administration—the national committee suddenly hired nine professors with a large staff, at the head of whom it

New Scientific Marvels Will Keep Liner Queen Mary Safe on the Sea

Looking up the "cutting edge"—the man dangling at the point of the towing eyes is seated still well above the water level.

One of the four monstrous propellers, each weighing 35 tons—which had to be replaced, as obsolete before the ship's maiden voyage.

Enclosed bridge wings project 12 feet from each side of the liner, to give clearer vision for docking and for launching boats.

As trim and neat as a racing yacht—the hull of the Queen Mary pictured astern, showing the four propellers and giant rudder.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng.—So skillfully has shipbuilding science wrought that passengers on the Queen Mary, Britain's challenge to commercial supremacy at sea, will hardly be aware of the operation of the great liner's mechanisms and the delicate electric controls by which the 73,000-ton vessel is maneuvered.

There will be scarcely a flutter of annoyance when one of the greatest and most powerful ship's sirens booms out its warning to other ships. So low has it been pitched that it will not distress the most sensitive human ear, but so powerful will be its voice that it will be heard for five miles.

When, after the first considerable rumble from its sirens, the ship leaves its dock and churns the water astern, its one aboard will feel an uneasy stir despite the turning of 12 huge steam turbines below-decks, and the whir of four bronze propellers, each 35 tons in weight.

"Tops" in Marine Science
By these contrasts in delicacy of operation and immensity of its moving parts is the Queen Mary, known as the last word in marine science.

From prow to stern, along its length of one-fifth of a mile, the ship boasts innovations that are most advanced examples of trans-Atlantic passenger transportation.

The sirens are only a minute instance, observable to all, far below water level. 27 oil-burning boilers raise steam for the 12 engines that are cushioned against vibration.

Dual control systems, operated by electricity from the wheelhouse on the bridge, will make navigation of the vessel doubly secure.

There are two star board engine and two port engine telegraphs, each designed to operate the four main turbines independently, and the control of the four propellers can be turned at independent speeds to make steering easier.

Install New Propellers
So eager were the builders to equip the Queen Mary with the very latest mechanisms that they consigned the original propellers, obsolete, and installed four of a more advanced design when the ship was drydocked at Southampton.

Just as simple of the operation is the steering. A helmsman in the wheelhouse turns one of the two small twin steering wheels. Immediately, through four increasing stages of valves and levers, the massive 140-ton rudder astern turns as desired.

Two huge hydraulic rams, operated by the mounting pressure applied through this intricate steering system, move the rudder. Each ram controlled separately by one of the two steering wheels.

Out at sea, even a helmsman's hands will not be needed, for an electric gyro-compass, set to a given course, will take the wheel, so to speak.

Even the Wind Is Foiled
Out on the bridge, in front of the wheelhouse, officers on watch will be screened against storm by an ingenious arrangement which for ces onrushing wind to rise before and over them, and form a protective shield.

They will stand in comparative calm, while the wall of high pressure air, formed through a slot running along the bridge, will keep rain and snow clear.

At each end of the bridge, also, enclosed wings reach 12 feet beyond the sides of ship to enable officers to view the full length of the vessel for easier docking or launching of boats.

Men in the wheelhouse, furthermore, will have their own "wind-shield wipers" to see clearly ahead. These are discs rotated rapidly by an electric motor, to keep the glass clear of rain or snow.

Heat in Crew's Nest!
Further to enhance clear vision ahead, the crew's nest atop the hollow steel foremast has been made a comfortable and secure place for the men on watch.

Here, for the first time, heat has been brought up, while the nest is roofed in and a windshield provided for further comfort. As in other modern ships, communication with the bridge is conducted by telephone.

All these innovations are designed for safe operation of the ship at sea. Were these to fail, the commander would have a complicated radio system available, on 32 different wave lengths.

Were a fire to start in any part of the vessel, a unique switchboard arrangement would detect and locate it immediately. And should the ordinary means of quenching the blaze be inaccessible, the crew would open the carbon dioxide pipes at the nearest point to the fire. Nothing can burn in carbon dioxide.

Lifeboats Foolproof
Should all else fail, the 24 unshakable steel lifeboats could be lowered in a few minutes from an ingenious arrangement of davits that slide with the boats to the ship's edge and lower them to the decks where passengers may enter. All lowering is done by electricity.

Each lifeboat is equipped with a waterproof Diesel engine, preheated through a flexible pipe from the ship's central heating plant. And many of the boats have wireless transmitting sets.

Ordinarily however, the Queen Mary's passengers will play games on the many decks, enjoy a movie or dance, or loiter pleasantly on the sun deck, while the ship plows silently across the Atlantic in a total of four days.

Republican members of congress are tearing their hair over what they consider an unprecedented piece of stupidity.

Columnists Get "Boost"
2.—Mr. Theodore Huntley, boss press agent of the national committee, broadcast a notice to newspaper editors that he was prepared to furnish news stories and propaganda in accordance with whatever was wanted. He stood ready to arrange a weekly or daily Washington letter if there were sufficient demand, but suggested that most editors would prefer to run the syndicated columns of—and then he named four Washington correspondents with anti-New Deal leanings.

This official endorsement did those columnists no good and the reaction wasn't so good for Mr. Huntley, either, especially when Democratic Press Agent Charlie Michelson dwelt upon the implication that the G. O. P. had taken the four correspondents over.

3.—Either two or three young men claiming to represent certain newspapers or news agencies called around at Dr. Tugwell's Resettlement Administration to pick up information. It was discovered that they were employed or commissioned by the Republican national committee.

Whatever you may think this made the national committee look like, you may be sure that it made the newspapers and agencies whose names had been used good and sore.

Wrong By A Year.
4.—One of the national committee's most ambitious recent publicity blasts purported to expose the fact that the New Deal would fall short a billion dollars or two of spending its $4,000,000,000 work relief appropriation. The G. O. P. publicists explained that all the money must be spent by the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1936. Next day they had to apologize, having learned the money was available until June 30, 1937.

5.—Another blast concerned a sub-

Haight's Dreams

At Fifth Avenue and Nineteenth Street, New York City, stood the old Mendelssohn Hall. Many famous artists appeared there in recitals and concerts and the Man-script Society presented original compositions to critical judges for little-known authors in order to further their ambitions in music. Budding talent had the privilege of using its stage to bring themselves before the public and give them a chance in life. Adeline Patti, one of the worlds' most gifted singers, was a member. She died a few years ago leaving a fortune and a husband. During her lifetime friend husband got crackers and milk but he was a good waiter and a good looking guy so Adeline took him on as a sort of show exhibit. He delivered the goods and when she decided to kick off she left him the key to the vault and all that was contained therein. He is now rusticiating somewhere in Wales with more money than a goat can eat in a month. It is reported that he goes to London and gets cooked up once in a while but as that is his business and as the money is his it is no never mind to anyone. Kind 'o easy, but they say he's gettin' fat. That's bad. A fat guy is not attractive no matter which way you look at him, fore or aft. Well to go back to the Mendelssohn Hall: I had as a young fellow a desire to expand as a singer. I had a heavy head of hair, brown, and what I thought was an entrancing voice, I had sang in church choirs, church fairs and all sorts of entertainments and I thought I was some punkins which I guess I was according to the praise I received. I got ambitious and went to a Mr. Tompkinson who was an emperario and succeeded in getting him to listen to a test trial at Mendelssohn Hall. I wanted to get into opera and be something. He gave me the test. I got on the stage, opened my mouth for the first note of the song and nothing came out but a gurgle. I took another whack at it and got another gurgle. Then Tompkinson faded from view and I heard a comment from the next room to the effect that such unearthly sounds were better fitted to the insane asylum than a respectable bedroom. Ah, nuts. His grave will be marked and special ceremonies honoring his memory will be held during Centennial year. His grave is marked with an inconspicuous stone bearing this inscription: "N. T. Byars, born in Spartanburg, District, South Carolina, May 17, 1808, died Brownwood, Texas, July 17, 1888."

Wife Vs. Secretary

Following close upon such all star hits as "Matiny on the Bounty" and "A Tale of Two Cities," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer now brings three of its greatest stars together in the filmization of Faith Baldwin's best-seller, "Wife Versus Secretary," which offers a new slant on the familiar situation of a wife jealous of her husband's secretary. With Gable as the busy-business executive husband, Myrna Loy as his wife, and Jean Harlow in the role of the "other woman," the new triple-starred photoplay promises considerable dramatic fireworks. It is now showing for three days at the Yucca Theatre.

Junior Texas Ranger Force Announced

Junior Ranger Force Will Be Organized

DALLAS, Tex. Apr. 19 — In a recent interview, Colonel Louis, featured character of the radio program, "Riding With The Texas Rangers" announced plans to organize a Junior Ranger Force immediately for children of the Southwest.

"The Texas Rangers are idealized by nearly every boy and girl in this section of the country," the Colonel said, adding, "We believe children everywhere will welcome this opportunity to enlist in Kellogg's Junior Ranger Force—an organization that will attempt in every way to pattern itself after the high standards set by those men who have played such a great part in the rich traditions of Texas."

To encourage enlistments, the sponsor is offering a Junior Ranger "Commission"—a full color certificate printed on parchment paper and countersigned by the Colonel and W. K. Kellogg, in return for a corn flakes package top.

Explaining the constructive purposes behind the plan, the Colonel said, "Every boy and girl enlisting promises to live up to our Junior Ranger pledge: 'I'll be brave, honest, obedient, and always keep my eye open for danger.'"

"After receiving their commission" he continued, "the Junior Rangers are then entitled to apply for their badge and confidential orders."

The badge is a five-point star within a circle, designed directly from the official Texas Ranger shield. It is a nickel-finished metal with "Kellogg's Junior Ranger" etched in black on the face. "Riding With The Texas Rangers" is a quarter hour radio program of range songs and true stories of Texas Ranger adventures, broadcast every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon at 5:30 over stations WFAA-WBAP, KPRC, and WOAI. Inaugurated last summer by Governor Allred, the program is said to be one of the most popular radio features for children in this area.

MEXICAN ORGANIZATIONS APPEAL TO CARDENAS TO RESPECT BUSINESS

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Members of the most important commercial organizations of the nation have sent a petition to President Lazaro Cardenas asking him to take into consideration the businessmen's and industrialists' view of the government's labor policies. They asserted the outlook for the future of Mexico is one of "uncertainty and distrust."

Chambers of Commerce, bankers, exporters groups and similar organizations complain the government does not have "any chance whatsoever of getting a fair deal before the courts of labor boards."

In their petition, which represents the most outspoken attempt yet made by business to get a hearing for its side of the conflict with labor. The organizations presented an extremely pessimistic view of conditions but at the same time offered to help the government in its efforts to better conditions for the working classes.

"What we protest most energetically in the legitimate instinct of self-preservation," the industrialists said, "is the absence of any fixed rule and standard of law and of a clear and definite purpose."

"Without such marked line of conduct, equal for all and obligatory upon all, political life, economic life and even social life are impossible. We are not frightened by a program of advanced legislation for the working classes so long as this legislation is fair, legal and is enforced and observed scrupulously and honestly."

The petition traced the present labor situation—"as represented by the alarming number of strikes occurring daily with consequent damage to industry and the nation's economy"—to statement by Cardenas to the effect that labor laws "must be interpreted in a revolutionary sense."

Members of the Federal Supreme Court and of labor tribunals, declaring they are "revolutionists" before judges, have taken the president's words as justification for deciding every labor case against the employers, the petition said, with the result that there is no limit to workers' demands and no check on the strike movement.

The industrialists also complained the president did not give them a hearing with the same frequency he listened to the workers and, therefore, "it is not possible for him to reach a full and exact understanding of the present situation."

Referring to the statement by Cardenas made during labor troubles in Monterrey last month that "employers who are tired of the social struggle may turn their industries over to the workers or to the government," the petitioners said they did not believe the president made this declaration "with the intent and the scope which it has been sought to give to it."

"Nevertheless we are forced to state, Mr. President," they added, "that we are not revolutionists."

Visiting Singer Is Possessor Of Rare Range In Voice

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Mrs. Lillian Ares of Carlsbad, N. M., who has been here the past week as the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. W. Brunson, may count herself as born under a lucky star. Old Mother Nature, usually rather stingy in offerings of talent, bestowed upon her the gift of song—not a single but a quadruple one as it were—for her voice is that rare one of four ranges.

From coloratura to the thrilling depths of contralto, the slim, alert-dark-eyed singer knows and uses her gift.

Midland audiences who have heard her each day the past week have showered her with praise both from trained singers and from the general public.

Singing at the Baptist church on Easter Sunday in her initial program Mrs. Ares has broadcast over KRLL each day following through Saturday.

She does not specialize in any type song but includes sacred, and popular music in her repertoire along with the more classical selections.

Her sentimental numbers have been especially well received by audiences here as evidenced by messages received from local residents and from other towns.

"Boots and Saddles" which she sang and dedicated to all gentlemen of West Texas, brought a volley of applause from ranchmen, who heard it.

Mrs. Ares sang for two years in famous "Rock of Ages" number in the darkness of Carlsbad Cavern.

She has done radio work for about ten years, appearing on broadcasts from Kansas City, Lincoln, Nebraska, and Las Cruces, New Mexico.

She studied under Madame Helen Prince Wardle of the Metropolitan Opera company, being ranked as her star pupil, and under Virginia Lowrie Kauffman, now of Hollywood but with headquarters in Chicago.

Mrs. Ares is considering spending the summer in Midland and teaching a class of voice during the time.

"I love to work with young voices," she said enthusiastically in discussing the teaching project. She would, however, accept both young and more advanced students, and would include repertory work in her instructions.

James Walker, high school student who is attracting attention with his singing, has a "glorious voice," she said.

She does not believe in giving extravagant praise or in entering singers in contests where they plainly cannot compete successfully, she declared emphatically. And she will not promise to appear on a program unless she is certain she can fill the appointment.

After a recent attack of flu, she temporarily lost her voice and turned her class at Carlsbad over to another teacher. Since she has visited in various places including Detroit.

Spring Party Is Compliment to Joe de Vie

Spring flowers for table decorations and spring tints of pink, yellow, and green featuring the refreshments were favored by Mrs. Foy Proctor at the afternoon bridge with which she honored the Joe de Vie club at her home, 1301 W Illinois, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Three tables were laid for the games.

Mrs. Geo. Glass scored high for club members and Miss Jerra Edwards for guests in the afternoon's play.

Playing were: Guests, Mrs. Walter Cowden, Mrs. Houston Sikes, Miss Edwards; club members, Mrs. Ralph Barron, Jessie Cole, R. B. Cowden, John Dublin, Glass, J. R. Martin, Chas. Klapproth, J. M. Speed, Fred Turner.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Since the days of Moses, who inaugurated the idea, men and women have compiled lists of "Ten Commandments" for their fellow humans to live by.

Dean Lucy Jenkins Franklin of Boston University has followed this well-beaten track in listing ten rules by which she advises the co-eds of her school to conduct their lives—disregarding the well-publicized fact that most girls of today like to make their own commandments.

There is much common sense in what the Dean has to say and we reprint the ten commandments below:

1. Thou shalt never allow a stranger to take you to your destination.
2. Thou shalt never drink in public.
3. Thou shalt not sit out dances in cars.
4. Thou shalt not be seen with young men who are not careful to obey conventions of society.
5. Thou shalt not use a pet phrase in conversation.
6. Thou shalt use discretion in using slang.
7. Thou shalt not pat or nudge a person when speaking to one.
8. Thou shalt not indulge in careless affections.
9. Thou shalt not go to man's apartment alone.
10. Thou shalt not powder thy nose on the street.

Few things in style rouse much surprise these days. Nevertheless we had a faint flicker of it when we read of the combination of chiffon and linen in a pleated chiffon shirtwaist frock and a white linen coat.

The latter is in fitted jacket style with featured sleeves and may be worn with other costumes, just as the chiffon frock beneath it may go abroad minus its jacket.

There's one place in the world where one may send in an order for just as much of the elements as one wishes—100 feet of wind, for example—and be sure of receiving it, all for a cash consideration, of course.

That is at Hollywood's General Film Library. Among its 20,000,000 feet of film is just about everything, including wind scenes, dynamite blasts, Eskimos, spearing fish, Oriental at prayer, earthquake roars, monkey chattering, baby cries, and myriads of others.

This very curious collection has been gathered together over a period of 15 years by a Mr. Landres who rents the film out at $2.50 a foot, to producers who desire it in their pictures.

After all, there seems to be plenty of ways of making a living beside farming, or being a stenographer, or teaching school, or selling flour and sugar.

Manchukuo has a ban on child marriages.

Pretty Fingers Can Result From Care

By ALICIA HART NEA Service Staff Writer

A good lotion, small brush, some kind of bleach, a bit of pumice and the necessary manure accessories are important to anyone who wants to have beautiful hands.

The girl who uses a typewriter a good deal need not be surprised when she notices small, hard callouses along the sides of each finger. Pressure on the keys hardens fingertips, of course, but it also pushes cuticle and skin at the sides to fetch nail upward, making it stiff and thick. Pumice stone treatments at least once a week will solve the problem.

When you have washed your hands, moisten the pumice stone slightly and rub it briskly across the callouses. Don't press too hard and don't rub any one spot for more than 30 seconds.

Use a prepared bleach or fresh lemon juice to remove stains on hands, wrists and fingertips. A good many women keep half of a lemon on a shelf in the bathroom and the other half in the kitchen. Several times a day they simply dig their fingers into the juice and pulp.

Remember that a small hand brush with rather stiff bristles will remove imbedded dirt and grime on which ordinary washing has no effect. Get into the habit of scouring knuckles and fingers as regularly as you brush your teeth.

Apply hand lotion or cream many times a day and always at night before you go to bed. When you use a suntan oil before hours of exposure to the sun put some of it on hands as well as arms.

The Fighter Cops Texas Derby Race

by HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK. — Old Man Boxing looked like a hobo. Hit by the depression, he needed a new wardrobe in the worst way.

Comes In Length Out In Front of Rushaway

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Apr. 18. (AP) — The Fighter, odds on favorite, took the $15,000 Texas Derby here today with a characteristic stretch drive that brought him in one length ahead of Rushaway at the finish line.

Months passed. Then, one day, you could have knocked down Mr. Fan with judge Landis' felt hat, for Fan with judge Landis' felt hat, for Old Man Boxing returned to Broadway attired in a brand new black outfit which became him exceedingly well.

When It Isn't Louis It's Lewis — Haynes. Once this little matter has been disposed of, Louis will stretch his ebon arm in the direction of James J. Braddock, who still professes to believe that white is much more becoming to Old Man Boxing than black.

Billiards Expert Will Appear Here

Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, former world's champion three-cushion billiard champion and today ranked among the world's "first ten," three rail stars will appear at the Midland Recreation Club April 20 at seven p. m.

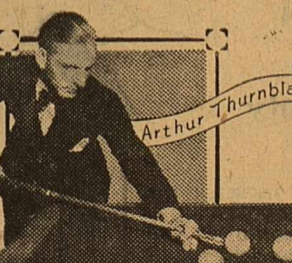

The first time Thurnblad's name came into billiard prominence was in 1924 when he won the Chicago Billiard League championship against a representative field. Seven years later in 1931 he came through to win the world's three cushion title, defeating the youthful Allen Hall in the final contest, when the latter was a prohibitive favorite to annex the most coveted of all angle crowns. Thurnblad's coolness completely baffled Hall, however, and another favorite hit U.S. dust.

CROWELL, Texas (AP)—The playing schedule of the Cotton Belt baseball loop opens officially Sunday, April 19. The league will have six clubs, O. O. Hollingsworth, acting president, said. The league members are Truscott, Crowell, Quanah, Chillicothe, Paducah and Eldorado and the opening games will be Chillicothe at Eldorado, Truscott at Crowell and Paducah at Quanah. The Shaughnessy play-off plan has been adopted. The regular schedule calls for 20 games and will close August 30.  reils daily. Operators are circulating wash water alternately through casing and tubing while crew rotates the tubing by hand. A special shoe on bottom of tubing enables them to cut through the finely powdered silt which has clogged lines and delayed gauge. The test had been swabbing about 6 barrels an hour. It is bottomed at 3,044 feet in lime and located in the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 10, block 26, public school land.
MEANS EXTENSION DRILLING PLUG
 Drilling of plug was under way Saturday in Humble No. 1. Jesse M. Spinks, prospective mile and a half northwest extension of the Means pool in northern Andrews county. The oil string was set and cemented at 4,250 feet after the well recovered oil-stained cores from 4,498 to 4,521, the total depth.
 Farther north, about midway between the Means pool and the Walsh and Adams gasser at Seminole, Land reth No. 1 Kirk, the only active Gaines test, is drilling below 1,612 feet in red rock. It is located in the southwest corner of section 22, block A-21, public school land, and will probably be one of the most interesting tests in West Texas when it reaches a critical depth.
TUBB AREA TEST IS STANDING CEMENTED
 A quarter of a mile southeast of the Humble No. 1 Tubb, Humble No. 2 Tubb has set and cemented 10 3/4 inch casing at total depth of 1,740 feet in anhydrite, while Gulf No. 2 Tubb, a quarter mile west of the Humble producer, is building rig and moving in material.
 In section 18, block B-21, public school land, about mid-way between the Gulf No. 1 W. N. Waddell, deep pool opener, and Gulf No. 1 McKnight, upper Permian producer, rotary equipment is being moved in and engine and pumps have been set at Gulf No. 2 Waddell and others. The test is expected to prove interesting since it may find production in the upper or lower Permian or the Simpson, middle Ordovician.
NORTH ECTOR TEST DRILLING AT 4,131
 Depth of 4,131 feet in lime has been reached by Devonian Oil Company No. 1 B. H. Blakeney, North Cowden extension test in section 22, block 43, township 1 north, T. & P. survey, Ector county. A slight show of oil was reported present in cuttings from 4,110 to 4,131 and the test is now drilling ahead. Gas from 4,075 to 4,080 is said to have tested 9,300,000 cubic feet.
 The prospective mile and a quarter northwest extension of the Foster pool in Ector county, Standlind No. 1-B E. P. Cowden in the northeast corner of section 14, block 43, township 2 south, T. & P. survey, is waiting for cement to set around the oil string of casing run to total depth of 2,920. Lime was topped at 1,905, and the Standlind test is reported running about level with the Barnsdall No. 1 H. C. Foster discovery well. The No. 1-B Cowden will drill into the pay zone with stand-

Marlin Men Make Hydraulic Studies
 MARLIN, Texas (AP)—One of ten experimental watersheds the watershed and hydrologic studies section of the soil conservation service is to establish the next few years in the various typical agricultural regions from the United States, has been assigned to Texas.
 The site chosen, it is announced from headquarters of the service, is known as "Bushy Creek" lying between Riesel and Mart in McLennan and Falls counties. Operations will begin as soon as arrangements for control of the land are completed, a statement from group headquarters here said. The first watershed selected in the north Appalachian region within the boundaries of the Muskingum watershed conservancy district.
 The purpose of the studies, it was announced officially, are to determine:
 One—The effect of erosion control measures and rational land use on soil and moisture conservation.
 Two—The effect of erosion control measures and rational land use on flood flows.
 Three—Amounts and rates of runoff from agricultural areas ranging in size from five to 5000 acres.
 An official statement of the object and scope of the work states the studies "will furnish valuable information to the soil conservation service, to flood control and conservation and reclamation districts such as the Brazos River district. They also will furnish needed information on runoffs from areas under various conditions, which will enable engineers to design dams, bridges, culverts, levees, reservoirs, terraces and other engineering and erosion control structures safely and more economically than now is possible."
 The nature of the information the studies will develop, the statement explains, is such as to make it more valuable the longer the studies are continued. Therefore it is planned to continue them 20 to 30 years, possibly indefinitely.
 To obtain the determinations desired, the statement continues, accurate measurements of precipitation, ground water, stream flow, surface runoff, evaporation and transpiration will be made. Intensive studies will be pursued on a large number of small watersheds of five to 15 acres each, on which recommended erosion control practices and rational land use will be employed.
 "For three to five years these watersheds will be kept under the same treatment and measurements of runoffs from them will be made to determine their inherent differences. After this information is obtained different practices will be employed on the various small watersheds. On the remainder of the watersheds measurements will be made of the various factors outlined, with present prevailing methods of cultivation for a similar period. Co-operative arrangements will be signed with the landowners by which best known practices could be applied to all the land within the master watershed at the end of the preliminary period."
 Equipment similar to that in use at the Temple soil erosion experiment station will be installed on the small watershed and gauging stations like those in the United States geological survey will be placed along major streams and tributaries in the watershed. A large number of ground water observation wells will be dug and standard rain gauges and other meteorological equipment installed throughout the area.
 To residences, laboratory, machine shop and other buildings will be erected on a 40 acre plot owned by the government and roads leading to gauging stations will be improved.

NYA STATE QUOTA PLACED AT 12,000
 Will Take Care of All Youths Now At Work On Projects
 AUSTIN.—The Texas labor quota for the National Youth Administration has been set at 12,000, Lyndon B. Johnson, state director, has announced.
 Johnson said that the established quota will take care of all youths who are now at work on NYA projects as the total number employed is slightly less than 12,000. A sum of $859,000 has been set aside for the prosecution of NYA projects in Texas.
 A report from Washington shows that on more than 6800 work projects the National Youth Administration is employing approximately 210,000 out-of-school young people. Falling under four general classifications—Youth Community Development and Recreational Leadership, Rural Youth Development, Public Service, and Research—the projects are adapted to the needs of the individual communities and approved by state directors.
 The big majority of Texas youth projects are sponsored by local public and quasi-public organizations which furnish equipment and supervision.
 "In this way," Director Johnson states, "the NYA is enabled to spend more than 85 per cent of its project fund for youth labor." Preference in placing youths on jobs is given to members of large families so that where the need is greater the family income may be supplemented.
 A survey of projects underway in the Lone Star State reveals that the largest number sponsored by a single organization is approximately 130 under the supervision of the Texas Highway Department. Youths on these projects are building "pocket-size" parks, school bus stops, and improving other highway areas.
 Youths working on 90 projects sponsored by county school superintendents are rendering office assistance. Miscellaneous school projects call for boys and girls to enlarge and maintain rural libraries, improve school grounds and athletic fields, and to do minor repair work on school buildings.
 Twenty projects are located in the offices of the Texas Relief Commission where youths render services outside the normal budgeted scope of the organization. County agents and home demonstrators are sponsoring approximately 50 projects which take youths into the field. The work consists of spreading better health, sanitation and domestic science practices and disseminating information on improved farming methods.
 On other youth projects youths improve parks, supervise recreational activities, sew for the needy, bring files up-to-date and in general render many public services.
