SCOUTS HONORED AT CHURCH SUNDAY

Ten-Year Award Granted By Commissioner of The Council

Presentation of charter of Ten-Year award, of Jubilee award, and of "Round-up" awards to Troop 52 and holding of the court of honor marked Boy Scout ceremonies at the First Christian church Sunday evening.

Claude O. Crane, commissioner of the council, made the awards. Under the Ten Year awards one of the requirements is an enrollment of 80 per cent of old boys for re-registration. Troop 52 stood highest in the council in this respect with 94 per cent re-enrolling. Troop 52 was one of three troops among the 43 in the Buffalo Trail circuit to receive this award and stood highest among the troops in advancement.

The Jubilee award was an honorary award presented to all new troops organized during the Jubilee year of scouting.

"Round Up" awards were made on the basis of work done and rankings attained in the recent "Round-Up" at Big Spring where the troop took second place among more than 30 troops and 850 boys competing.

Presentation of badges was made during the court of honor by Rev. J. E. Pickering to tenderfoot, Maurice Bratton (out of town) F. C. Wheeler, and Irid Harris; by Buster Howard to Harold Reid, second class, John Dean and Donald Griffin, first class, and Odell Carr, star; and by Mr. Pickering to Jack Reid, J. B. Thomas, Jr., and John Dean for safety merit.

J. B. Thomas, Jr., and John Dean Crane as a Junior assistant scoutmaster.

4 RESCUED AFTER FIGHTING WATERS OF LAKE FOR HOURS

One-Boat Navy Saves Group Adrift In Storm

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, June 1. (AP)—Four persons who fought the storm-whipped, strangling waters of the Great Salt Lake five hours after their boat capsized were rescued Sunday by the Salt Lake County Sheriff's office one-boat navy.

The rescued are Odrian Smith, 21, and Paul Madsen, 21, University of Utah students; Marlow Branigan, sports reporter for the Salt Lake Tribune, and Helen Woodhead, 21, nurse at St. Mark's Hospital, Salt Lake.

The four had been adrift in the lake clinging to their overturned boat since 12:15 p. m.

The boat capsized in a sudden squall which blew up as the group followed the progress of an attempted eleven-mile marathon swim in which Miss Hazel Cunningham, former San Francisco endurance swimmer, sought to set an official A. A. U. record for the distance between Antelope Island in Great Salt Lake and Black Rock, a lake edge resort.

Two other boats also were accompanying the swimmer on her record attempt.

When the Snipe, owned by Leon Stanley, Miss Cunningham's manager overturned, the squall had narrowed visibility on the lake to ten feet. The wind prevented those in the other two boats from reaching the capsized victims immediately.

DOCTOR DEFIED Former Aide Refuses To Disregard A Subpoena

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The House investigating committee today said that the Townsend organization was "empirically" in a "deplorable condition" and that reorganization was badly needed.

"We are presenting," Dr. Townsend said, "a common front against the dictatorship in Washington."

"We stood under the historic arch in Valley Forge and vowed to take over the Government," Mr. Smith, head of the Share-the-Wealth Clubs organized by the late Senator Huey P. Long, said Saturday night as he and Dr. Townsend, head of the old-age pension movement bearing his name, announced the merger of their forces, long rumored but often denied.

They left for Allentown, Sunday after an overnight stop in Philadelphia, and addressed a mass assembly there at night.

TUBB UNIT TEST DRILLING PLUG

Production Gauge May Be Made Later In Week

By FRANK GARDNER
Drilling of plug from 5 1/4-inch outside diameter casing set at 4,196 was scheduled to start at 6 o'clock this morning in Sinclair-Prairie and others No. 1 Tubb, latest of the Crane county Tubb area deep tests to reach critical depth. It is possible that more hole will be made after plug is drilled. The test is now bottomed at 4,469 feet in lime but is said to have been unutilized to go to 4,500 feet.

The unit test will probably be acidized for completion. It is two miles northwest of the Humble No. 2 Tubb, another deep Permian well which flowed 1,025 barrels in 24 hours after treating with 3,000 gallons last week. While the Sinclair-Prairie and others wildcat is not showing for as good natural production as other "Tubb pay" wells in the area, the acid injection might stimulate oil flow sufficiently to put in the commercial class. A drill-test made last week showed 627,000 cubic feet of gas and some oil present in the drilling-fluid.

BLACK LEGION INTERFERENCE WITH POLITICS UNCOVERED BY ATTORNEY

Attorney General Prepares to Participate In Examination of 13 Men Before Common Pleas Judge Tuesday

DETROIT, June 1. (AP)—Reports of Black Legion interference with the examination of 13 men before Common Pleas Judge Ralph W. Liddy Tuesday on charges of murder and kidnaping in the death of Charles A. Poole.

Crowley will co-operate with Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea in an examination of 13 men before Common Pleas Judge Ralph W. Liddy Tuesday on charges of murder and kidnaping in the death of Charles A. Poole.

He planned to confer today with Circuit Judge James E. Chenot, who has been named to conduct a one-man grand jury investigation into the Black Legion's activities.

A Wayne county republican leader reported to have tossed a bullet from one hand to the other during conferences at the recent republican state convention here, Crowley said.

Charges of kidnaping and assault were made against the 13 men before Chenot. Playing "catch" with a bullet has been described as a sort of Black Legion "passport."

Two judges also will be subpoenaed, Crowley announced, saying he was informed one walked out of a Black Legion meeting after hearing the oath required of candidates, while the other remained.

The 13 men facing examination Tuesday are were members of the Wolverine republican league, in whose ranks the Black Legion held a meeting from which Poole, a WPA worker, was taken out and shot to death. Some of those held said he was killed because he "knew too much."

John Doe murder warrants were placed against two other league members Saturday after Inspector John I. Navarre of the Detroit homicide squad announced Albert Stevens, 52, city park watchman, and Virgil Morrow, 29, admitted attending the meeting. Both denied, however, that decision to kill Poole was reached at the session, and both said they started to the spot where Poole was to be taken but became separated from other members and never reached the slaying scene.

Dayton Dean, chunky "executioner" of the legion, who has admitted he shot Poole, denied through his attorney, Bernard W. Cruise, the statement of an assistant prosecutor

WATERS SUBSIDE Danger Mark Thought Past As Creeks Go Down

GRANADA, Colo. June 1. (AP)—"Dust Bowl" residents began today digging out of mud and debris deposited by floods which claimed seven lives and widely damaged property.

Indications are pointing to an end of the high waters as crews continued to search for the last body of John Garzie, farmhand, believed buried in the sludge.

Garzie perished with three members of the Simon Gonzales family near Springfield, Colorado, in the most tragic episode of the floods. The quartet was caught when high waters of Butte Creek suddenly surged through the Gonzales bunkhouse.

Four persons were known dead and three were missing Sunday as high waters in the wake of Memorial Day floods receded slowly in Southeastern Colorado and Western Kansas.

The dead:

DON GATES, 27, Denver, drowned near Stratton.

Mrs. JOHN DYATT, drowned near Goodland, Kan.

A. C. BAUMGARTNER, farmer drowned near Pritchett.

SIMON GONZALES, 30, sheepherder, drowned near Springfield.

Missing are Gonzales' wife, their 3-year-old daughter, and John Garzie, 65, farm hand, who lived in the Gonzales home.

Water still was running high in most of the ordinary dry creek beds and arroyos, but in most cases was confined to the banks.

Sheriff M. R. Jackson of Springfield who led a posse of officers and CCC workers in the search for the missing trio, said there is little hope of their being found alive.

Gonzales' body was discovered half buried beneath a pile of driftwood and debris on the edge of Butte Creek north of Springfield, Jackson said search of the pile may uncover other bodies. He expressed the opinion it would be a task of several hours to reach the bottom of the driftwood heap.

The bunkhouse in which Gonzales and Garzie lived was washed three miles from where it stood on the edge of Butte Creek.

No other reports were forthcoming of extensive property damage.

BEHIND THE SCENES

WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 1—This is that period in Washington which always is marked by more weaseling, duty-dodging, and hypocrisy than any other.
The closing days of any session of congress are invariably more conspicuous for the legislation sidetracked than for legislation enacted.
In a campaign year the politicians in charge of senate and house machinery seems to have no scruples in ditching bills of great public importance.
Their efforts this year have met with no opposition from the president, who apparently takes the tact position that almost anything controversial—except taxes and relief—had better be put over until next year.
Lately it has appeared that practically anyone who wanted to hire a lobbyist to make a fuss could stop almost any bill he desired to have killed.
The only excuse for this state of affairs is that there are a couple of political conventions in the offing.
War Profits Bill Held Up
Congress can work with remarkable speed when it wants to and could pass the following measures if it stayed around through June.
Just as a check list, here are some interesting bills, the fate of which is in great doubt at this session, although all are in one or another stage close to final action.
The take-the-profits-out-of-war bill, modified from the senate committee's draft by a senate finance subcommittee, but which would still impose a total wartime tax of 89 per cent on a $50,000 income. This would have to pass as an amendment to the tax bill or not at all.
Ship subsidy legislation, finally in the form of a compromise between Senator Copeland and the ship owners on one side and Senators Guffey and Black on the other.
The Black bill, requiring registration of all lobbyists who try to influence legislation or administrative decisions, long held up on conference, due to difference between the senate bill and the house bill, which Senator Black believes would result in no registrations at all.
Anti-lynching legislation, deprived of the battling support of the sickened Senator Costigan of Colorado, which the southern congressional leadership may be depended upon to smother.
Housing Plan Stymied
Housing legislation as called for in the Wagner-Elleboggen bill, doom of which has seemed to be sealed by Roosevelt's conflicting statements about it and an apparent desire to compromise between those who would recognize housing as a permanent government responsibility and those who want no housing legislation at all.
Food and drug legislation, which everybody agrees is badly needed to protect health and human lives. A bill has been passed by the senate and another reported by a house committee. Each bill has clauses which strengthen and clauses which weaken existing protective legislation, so the outlook is messy.
The Kerr-Coolidge deportation bill, which would carry out labor department recommendations that 2862 aliens of good character, most of them closely related to American citizens and deportation of whom would cause hardship and suffering, be allowed to remain here. Although the bill also would make deportable 20,000 alien criminals now beyond reach of deportation laws, blatant "super-patriots" have blocked it and insisted that the 2862 be thrown out of the country.
Other Measures Halted
The Wheeler federal trade commission bill, which would outlaw some dishonest business practices which victimize the consumer, instead of merely limiting FTC action to complaints of business men against one another.
The LaFollette resolution for investigation of labor espionage and other violations of civil liberties.
The Bankhead farm tenant bill, representing the first attempt to deal with the social-economic situation in the southern cotton territory.
The Walsh-Henry bill, covering wage standards for concerns producing on government contracts.
Your correspondent doesn't suggest that all this legislation is desirable. But does anyone suggest that congress shouldn't be permitted to take final action upon these measures, instead of allowing them to be buried in committee, to die in conference, or to perish from inertia and the desire to "get away for the campaign?"

Hoover, Boss of G-Med, Lives Job Kill Gang "Glamour" His War Cry

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Big-time bond thieves and jewel robbers who go in for individual "takes" running into hundreds of thousands of dollars are next on the list of Director J. Edgar Hoover and his "G-men" in the Federal Bureau of Investigation.
There has been no important kidnaping now for a full year. The last of the important kidnapers have just been rounded up on a sentenced to long terms. Bank robberies have been cut from an average of 16 to a month since Hoover's men turned their attention to that brand of crime.
Important arrests and convictions have been made in the bond and jewel rackets, but some of the big shots are still free and there is much loot to be recovered.
Hoover isn't saying much about this phase but he is making what he calls a "bird-dog" survey to find the best spots to start a large number of his investigators, now released from the Karpis, Campbell, Mahan, and Robinson hunts.
POEM KEY TO CHARACTER
On Hoover's richly appointed desk stands a framed copy of Kipling's celebrated inspirational poem, "If—" This item, presumably a gift from the mother with whom he, a bachelor of 41, lives, seems something of a tipoff on the Hoover character.
Earnest, dynamic, high-powered executive, Hoover lives his job 24 hours a day, consecrates himself to it, and acts very much as though he were keeping one eye on the poem. And, as everyone knows, he has done an outstanding job.
Interviewing Hoover is an experience. I waited an hour and a half after the appointed time—an all-time record—gazing again and again at the Dillinger guns, and death mask, bullet-proof vests and hangman's hoods kept in glass cases in the big reception room.
Snappy-looking young men kept trotting in and out—visitors made the rounds of exhibits, escorted by bright young men who urge them to ask questions.
HE'S REALLY BUSY

FRENCH FINANCIAL CRISIS, DEFEAT OF FRAZIER-LEMKE ACT MONETARY NEWS

AUSTIN, Texas.—The French financial crisis and the defeat of the Frazier-Lemke bill in the house of representatives featured the monetary news of the month, it was pointed out by Dr. J. C. Dolley, University of Texas economist, in his monthly survey of the financial situation for the University's Texas Business Review.
"Capital has been moving out of France more or less steadily for considerably more than a year," he explained. "Since January, however, the flight from the franc has been almost continuous, occasioned by a growing belief in the inevitability of franc devaluation. This belief was greatly intensified by the general elections of April 26 and May 3 which placed the more radical parties definitely in control of the chamber of deputies. Fear as to the monetary policy which would be adopted by the new government when it takes office in early June induced a wild scramble to convert francs into foreign currencies or gold. This panic was temporarily allayed on May 10 when Leon Blum, higher borrowing rates increasing materially the difficulty in financing the treasury deficit.

"It is believed by many commentators that the position of the franc is all but desperate and that an overnight devaluation similar to Belgium's in 1935 is imminent. Such a step would undoubtedly remove one of the greatest obstacles to international currency stabilization but would involve the possibility of further competitive currency debasement by other countries.
"The highly inflationary Frazier-Lemke bill providing for federal refinancing of distressed farm mortgages up to a total of $3,000,000,000. Refinancing was to be on the basis of lending 75 per cent—originally 100 per cent—of the appraised value of the land at 1-1/2 per cent interest, the loans to be amortized over a period of 47 years. Funds for the refinancing were to be provided by the sale of long term treasury bonds carrying a 1-1/2 per cent interest rate. Should it prove impossible to sell such bonds in the open market, as it assuredly would, the funds were to be supplied by the simple device of printing $3,000,000,000 in paper money.
"The defeat of this thoroughly unsound measure should be credited to administration opposition. The significance of the three to two adverse vote on the Frazier-Lemke bill lies in that it points definitely to the waning popular demand for fiat currency inflation. It seems evident that the movement for inflation by monetary manipulation reached its peak in 1933 and since then has been steadily losing ground. As evidence of this fact the changed attitude of the American Federation of Labor might be cited. It is much to be hoped that this trend in public opinion will continue and at an accelerated pace.
"The administration tax bill was passed by the house in virtually its original form, but has encountered difficulties in the senate. It now seems probable that the measure will be largely rewritten by that body. Instead of the proposed prohibitive tax on undistributed corporate income, there is in prospect a sharp increase in the present corporation income tax rates, perhaps to 18 per cent, a flat additional tax

Morning Ceremony Unites Miss Hines and Mr. Connor

In a quiet ceremony read at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Winston F. Borum, Miss Obera Hines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hines, became the bride of Mr. Eddie Frank Connor, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Connor of Corsicana, Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. Rev. Borum read the single ring ceremony.

The couple had no attendants and only the bride's parents, her sister, Miss Dorothy Hines, Miss Mamie Belle McKee, and Miss Marjorie Ward were present at the service.

The bride wore a navy blue alpaca two-piece dress with trimming of white. Her accessories were white. After the ceremony, the family group and Miss McKee went to the Hines home where the wedding cake was cut and refreshments were served. The cake, which was a gift to the bride, was appropriately decorated with pink and white rosebuds and green leaves.

Mr. and Mrs. Connor left by motor, after the informal reception, for a wedding trip to the Centennial at Dallas and to Corsicana where they will visit his family. For traveling Mrs. Connor chose an effective costume consisting of a one-piece dress of yellow crepe with a jacket of brocaded linen displaying pastel embroidery. Her hat was of yellow felt and she wore white slippers. On their return the couple will be at home at 111 W. Pennsylvania street. The bride is a popular member of her social set in Midland. She is a graduate of Midland High School and has been prominent in church and BYPU work. For the past year and a half she has been employed as secretary of the Baptist church.

Baptist Boys, Girls Organize a Choir

Boys and girls from eight to 14 years of age of the Baptist church have organized a choir to be known as the Three B's.

The organization will meet each Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock for an hour of songs and good times and will be featured in special numbers at the Sunday night church service.

Mr. Everett Milan, church secretary, and Mr. Richard L. Denham will be directors of the group.

High Hats for a Texas Swim

Those Rangerettes of the Texas Centennial Exposition, which will open in Dallas June 6, can't seem to go anywhere without their 10-gallon hats. Here are five of them trying out an already completed Exposition swimming pool behind the $5,000,000 Midway.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

It is still an unsolved puzzle to us why after a Sunday supposedly of rest, we feel less like working on Monday morning than any other time.

Sombody accused us the other day of "striking a typewriter as we thought—spasmodically." We readily admit the accusation so far as using the typewriter goes. But it is pretty hard to admit that we think spasmodically—in fact, we're not going to admit it.

Anyway, the point is to think at all, whether spasmodically or otherwise.

Why is it that newly-weds always want to lend a helping hand in getting their best friends married off?

And why is it that those who have been married for many years are not so quick to do so?

The Zionchecks are still making the headlines regularly what with their funny and not-so-funny antics. In a story we once read, the heroine said that being married to the hero would be like riding the tail of a comet. We wonder if Mrs. Zioncheck doesn't find being married to the representative something similar—minus whatever glory might surround the comet.

To do what one wishes regardless of what others think, in some instances argues a healthy power of will and independence of character—but carried to an extreme it denotes too little consideration for others or a vain desire for the limelight.

Activities of County Health Board Reviewed Briefly

Editor's Note: The following brief history of the work of the Midland County Public Health Board given by Miss M. Elizabeth Wilson, county health nurse, at the monthly dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Womens club.

By Miss M. Elizabeth Wilson

In the spring of 1929 the Lions club became interested in having eye tests made of Midland school children.

Two doctors were appointed to work out this problem. Very little headway was made with this until May, when a former public health nurse, a committee was appointed to Harvey Sloan, offered her assistance in making the test.

Arrangements were made to test North and South ward children. Those with defective vision were referred to the physician. Following the survey, Mrs. Sloan reported to the Lions club and recommended that the club sponsor the move in the community for a public health nurse. A committee was appointed to confer with the city council and commissioners court.

In May 1930 the Federated women's club of Midland was organized with the major initial project of securing a full time public health nurse for Midland County. The Red Cross and State Department of Health were approached as to their rural programs. After conferring with both agencies, the commissioners decided to engage a nurse under the program of the state health department.

In January 1931 the state sent Miss Martha Bredemaler to start a generalized public health nursing service. During the 1 and 1-2 years she built up a sound foundation for a public health nursing service.

I came in September 1932, beginning the work where Miss Bredemaler left off, stressing more rural health education and communicable disease prevention.

Under communicable disease prevention, we have immunized against diphtheria, small pox, and Typhoid fever, the only diseases that are readily considered preventable that may be immunized against. We have others that are preventable if proper precautions are administered.

Under health education we have held health classes covering Care of the Infant, Prenatal Care, Temperature, Pulse, Respiration, Home Nursing in Communicable Diseases, Baths, Diet, Sanitation, What to do in Emergencies, Personal Hygiene and Health. We distribute all types of health literature. We now have a projector to be used in the schools and different clubs of the city.

Soon after Miss Bredemaler arrived the commissioners court, through the county judge, appointed a group of 12 influential citizens to serve as an advisory health committee.

After the first meeting the group elected a chairman and adopted a constitution and by-laws suggested by the state department of health and National Order of Public Health Nursing. All new members have been elected by the majority vote of the members present at the meeting when names were presented for membership.

The Midland County Health Board is an advisory group supporting the county health nurse, who is employed by the commissioners court and the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health. The commissioners court and the State Department of Health must pass on all policies determined by the board. The Board exists for the purpose of helping these two official bodies carry on an adequate public health program in our community.

In accordance with the purpose for which the Board was organized and stood behind the nurse in her work, it also goes before her breaking the ground. Being representative of the various social and geographical divisions of the community, it has been able to secure the cooperation of various groups in the county.

In addition to working with the State Department of Health, the Board has been affiliated with the Texas Tuberculosis Association since 1933, carrying on a year round publicity control program. Each year in which it has held the Christmas Seals, the organization has led the state in the per capita amount of money raised by local groups.

In the past year the Midland County Health Board has received state recognition in that two of its members have been placed on boards of directors of two state health organizations. Mrs. Harvey Sloan was honored by election to the board of directors of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, of which she has recently been elected as vice president.

Mrs. Addison Young, education and publicity director for the local organization, was elected to the board of directors of the State Organization for Public Health Nursing to serve as chairman for the Board and Committee Members Lay Section.

The state health program has expanded. Mide to Federal agencies stepping in to give Texas what the legislature had refused—a half million public health budget.

For many years the legislature has appropriated more money for the protection of cattle than for the protection of human lives. The State Health Department now has seven new division technical specialists to head the expansion of the health programs.

Funds are now available for health units to be organized through out the state. Our problem in this county is we do not have the population a health unit demands. So we must all begin to sell the idea for a tri-county unit which will have to include two or three of the surrounding counties. The unit consists of a full time health officer, a nurse, a trained sanitary engineer, and an office clerk.

The cost of a minimum unit as described will be approximately $10,000 per year. This cost is divided between local funds and money available through the state health department.

Dr. Brown, says he does not approve of mixing politics and public health. But what we get we have to get through the politicians. And it is just as absurd to vote for an anti-public health man as to vote for an anti-public school man.

He urges that we find out if candidates for government offices were for or against public health and vote accordingly.

I am asking each one of you to please find out the stand your candidate has on public health before voting for him.

When West Texas Was a Shallow Sea

Here is shown a geological recreation of Texas 250 million years ago, when the western part of the state was under water. This nine-foot relief map is one of a series of eight which make up one unit of the historical Centennial exhibit being sponsored by the Humble Oil & Refining Company in Dallas.

WHEN WEST TEXAS WAS A SHALLOW SEA SEA DEPICTED IN HUMBLE EXHIBIT

HOUSTON, Tex. —Two hundred and fifty million years ago, in what geologists call the Pennsylvania age, the extensive ranches, prolific oil fields and fertile farms of the West Texas today were submerged under a shallow continental sea bordered by rugged mountain ranges running diagonally across the state. The land was covered by ferns and mosses and outlandish looking trees; primitive amphibian animals and reptiles and gigantic insects lived upon it.

Such is the picture of the geological development of the state of Texas as it will be pictured for millions of Centennial Exposition visitors in Humble's Hall of Texas History in a series of relief maps.

The display being planned by the Humble Oil & Refining company will also include a series of four historical sketches telling the colorful story of Texas history from the time of the Spanish Padres to the settlement of the western cattle ranches; four oil field sketches showing the East Texas, Powell, Spindletop and Big Lake fields in miniature; and a series of greatly enlarged photo murals illustrating in detail the main phases of petroleum production.

At the conclusion of the Exposition in Dallas the entire exhibit will be donated to the University of Texas and will become a permanent part of the exhibits in the gigantic new Memorial Museum now under construction in Austin.

While in Dallas at the Centennial Exposition, the display will be housed in approximately 7,000 square feet of air-conditioned space in the central bay of the Hall of Petroleum. The sketches and photo murals will be arranged along the walls of the quadrangular exhibit and the relief maps will be sunk in the floor, allowing a maximum of space for spectators to inspect the novel display leisurely.

One of the outstanding features of the Humble exhibit will be its complete robbone equipment, giving human voice explanation of each sketch and scene as the visitors pass before them. To augment this feature, trained historians and geologists will be present at all times to offer more detailed information.

A branch office of the Touring service will also be maintained in the Hall for the benefit of persons desiring travel information.

Included in the series of historical dioramas in the exhibit are the following prominent scenes an events of Texas history: The Mission of San Jose; Moses Austin securing permission from Governor Martinez to colonize Texas; The Alamo; David Crockett and the men from Tennessee making the last stand before the Alamo; Robert Evans attempting to blow up the powder magazine as the Mexicans swarmed into the Alamo; The drawing of the black beans by the Miers expedition; Texas Joins the Union; The Battle of Sabine Pass; Peach Point; The Capture of Santa Anna; Fort Griffin; On the Chisholm Trail; a typical early Texas Rangers' camp; and the Goodnight Ranch in Palo Duro canyon.

The dioramas of the four leading oil fields are exceptionally realistic. Made accurate to scale, they show every derrick, tank, road and town in the same position as in the actual field, and in cross section, the underlying strata of the earth.

Of the eight maps, five are geological and geophysical in nature. They go into the distant past to give the layman a scientific explanation of oil. The remaining three are historical and interesting. The first shows the streams, trails, set-lements and political boundaries of Texas of today were submerged under a shallow continental sea bordered by rugged mountain ranges running diagonally across the state. "Job Is Never Done" Motto of E. Hoover

(Editor's Note: This is the second of two articles describing the workings of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the man who makes it run—J. Edgar Hoover.)

By Russell Turner.

(Copyright, 1936, United Press)

WASHINGTON, (U.P.) "The job is never done."

That phrase, motto of J. Edgar Hoover, aptly sums up the outlook of the Number One G-man toward his task of putting criminals behind prison bars.

And in that attitude, may be found the principal reason for the success of the Federal Bureau of investigation.

With the spectacular capture of the remaining four desperados, all alleged kidnapers in the last 11 days, Hoover was asked if the job was nearly done.

With a wave of his hand, he replied: "The job is never done."

Already he is launching a campaign to drag the underworld out from under the protective wing of crooked politicians. The bold campaign is typical of Hoover and his interest in his work.

Hoover lives with his job. He never is out of touch with his office for long, whether he is at home, watching a prize fight, touring the country or fishin in Florida waters.

He is focal point of all F. B. I. activity.

Thus in the recent arrests of Karpis, Campbell, Mahan, and Robinson, Hoover knew they would be apprehended hours before the arrests were made. In the cases of Karpis and Campbell, this information enabled him to participate personally in the final capture.

But whether in the actual capture or in the investigation leading up to it, all activities of the bureau centers about the chief.

Hoover fosters this idea because he wants to keep secret the identities of the men who are working for him. As soon as the public learns the identity of a G-man, Hoover says, theman loses his very greatest asset as an investigator. In this connection, no Department of Justice agent in the field is allowed to make a statement to the press. News of the capture of Mahan in San Francisco was announced by Hoover in Washington.

He cites the same reason for never allowing a G-man to remain in one city for long.

Hoover's life has been his job ever since he assumed directorship of the bureau in 1934. The F. B. I. at that time was comparatively unimportant unit of the federal government. As its name implies, it was purely an investigative unit; its agents had no authority to arrest, were not authorized to carry weapons, and were powerless to act.

The bureau remained so for many years. All the time, however, the youthful director—was only 29 when he took over the directorship—was working toward his goal of a well organized, powerful and efficient law-enforcement agency with full power to make arrests and shoot to kill if necessary.

What really made possible the goal was the Lindbergh kidnaping law, making kidnaping a federal offense, followed.

The goal became reality in 1934, with the assistance of Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, Assistant Attorney General Joseph B. Keenan and a public opinion outraged by the wave of kidnaping, racketeering and general crime which swept the country.

Cummings recommended a series of 12 anti-crime bills to Congress, giving the F. B. I. power to arrest, authorizing F. B. I. agents to carry weapons and greatly broadening the list of crimes which were considered federal in nature. During the closing rush of the 1934 Congress the bills all were enacted.

The bills put "teeth" in the F. B. I.

Evidence that the bureau has used them well is the record it has made.

All fathers and mothers want their children to succeed and as long as they can, mothers and fathers the country over sacrifice and plan to give their boys and girls every advantage, every opportunity, for they want them to have a start which they too often were denied.

"We want to send Jim to college if we can afford it," they say. "We plan to give Mary special training in music if we have the money when she has finished high school."

But why should an IF threaten these dreams? A PRAETORIAN EDUCATIONAL POLICY can erase that IF and permit mothers and fathers to say positively, "MY CHILDREN ARE GOING TO COLLEGE." The Praetorians' plans offer a systematic way of saving. A little put away each month makes the education SURE. Investigate the Praetorians' Educational policies for children.

"The Surrender of Santa Anna," which hangs in the main entrance to the capitol was cleared with the correction of an error in the plate describing the picture. The plate stated the painting was acquired in 1901 whereas it actually became state property in 1891.

Recent use of a copyrighted reproduction of the painting caused a hasty search for the state's title. Some persons feared that state's painting may have been a substitute. The record, however, revealed the painting owned by the state was the original executed by an Austin artist, W. H. Huddle.

The state purchased the picture for $4,000. It now has several times that value, officials estimate.

Control of Typhoid Is Community Duty

AUSTIN—"It is a well known fact that typhoid fever may result from the use of water, milk, or other food contaminated by bodily discharges of patients or carriers who harbor typhoid germs," stated Dr. Jehn W. Brown, state health officer. "The fact that we know the source of infection and the means by which infection may be controlled, emphasizes the importance to all communities of providing water and milk of the highest quality."

"Texas is being host to many visitors this year, and all communities should put forth every effort to see that no epidemic occurs which will put an unnecessary blot on the health record of this state."

"Typhoid fever may be controlled by the use of pure water, pasteurized milk and clean foods, by the proper disposal of sewage, by screening homes against flies, by protecting food from contamination by flies, by destruction of the fly and its breeding places, by search for and care of carriers, and by anti-typhoid vaccination."

"Excreta from persons ill with typhoid should be carefully disinfected to prevent the germs from polluting the soil and thus being carried into streams or wells and contaminating the water supply. Where there is an efficient system of water purification, typhoid fever has greatly decreased."

"It is the responsibility of each community to establish adequate safeguards against the consumption of contaminated products at all times and in all places."

"It is the responsibility of each individual to further control the occurrence of typhoid fever by establishing immunity for himself by vaccination."

Topping the cast is Wallace Beery, in the role of a lovable rogue, while Barbara Stanwyck and John Boles are joined in the romantic leads.

VERDICT NEAR IN SOLE GAINES WILDCAT

Landreth Production company No. 1 Kirk, sole wildcat test now drilling in Gaines county, had reached a depth of 4,175 feet in time when last reported. The test is expected to have the verdict in another week. Its location, in unexplored territory eight miles northwest of the Means pool in Andrews county and ten miles southeast of the Walsh and Adams gasser near Seminole, has been responsible for much interest being directed toward the outcome. It is in the southwest corner of section 22, block A-21, public school land.

SUPREME COURT OVERRULES WAGE LAW IN NEW YORK

Min. Wage Clause Ruled Out By 5-4 Decision

WASHINGTON, June 1 (AP)—By a vote of five to four, the supreme court today declared unconstitutional the New York law passed in 1933, establishing minimum wages for women and children.

Ground was given by the court that the law contravened the constitutional guarantee of liberty, the court holding "the right to make contracts" must not be violated.

SEARCH PARTY IS SEEKING AVIATOR

Damaged Plane of Flier Found Near Mountain Top By Rancher

MORGAN Utah, June 1 (AP)—A searching party plunged into the remote and rugged terrain of North-eastern Utah Sunday seeking the body of Maj. Howard Stark, whose slightly damaged plane was found near a mountain top.

Although a sheep man, Fred Weyland, 48, stumbled upon the Department of Commerce flier's craft yesterday afternoon, he failed to locate Stark's body.

He said that he was not sure of the direction in which the intrepid aviator headed after his craft flipped over in an apparent forced landing near Lost Creek Canyon during a raging blizzard last Jan. 16.

From Weyland's thrilling story of his find—climax of a months-long air and land search—Department of Commerce officials theorized the "blind flying" ace escaped serious injury in landing, only to perish in a desperate attempt to hike to civilization.

Weyland said he had searched for the plane many times—on the basis of reports that it had been heard between here and Evanston, Wyo.

McMullan Attends Georgia Assembly

J. P. H. McMullan returned Sunday from Augusta, Ga., where he attended the seventy-fifth general assembly of the Southern Presbyterian church. About 1000 preachers and laymen attended the week's meeting, representing Southern Presbyterian churches all over the United States.

This is the highest law-making body of the church, McMullan said, but reported that no radical changes in church rules were made. Some progress was made toward union of churches, however.
While in Georgia, he visited the ancestral home at Atlanta, from which he brought back two pieces of popular plans as souvenirs. The brick used in the homestead, built in 1802, came from England.

MEXICANS IN WIN; NEGROES LOSERS

The Midland Mexican Colts came out winner over the Barstow club in a baseball engagement here Sunday when they put over two runs in the first inning and managed to make them hold up for a two to one victory. Barstow's only score came in the seventh when Pablo, second baseman, crashed one of Chino's curves for four bases, Chino pitched the entire game for the victors, while Chilo toiled for the losers.

Out at the city park, the Midland colored Herefords, despite the fact they were attired in new uniforms found the strong San Angelo team too much for them and went down to defeat by a score of 7-0.

The players were evidently too conscious of their appearance in their new regalia, the infield committing several costly blunders to give the visitors most of their runs.

Stamps Quartet Sings at Meet

The tri-county singing convention of Midland, Martin, and Howard counties held at Courtney in Martin county Sunday was well-attended.

Food Energy Values Stressed By Kelvin

The recent report of the League of Nations committee of nutrition experts stressing the need for proper diet to improve health, recalls the signal contributions of Lord Kelvin, British physicist of the last century, to the study of foods and food preservation.

It is pointed out that Lord Kelvin, father of modern electric refrigeration, after whom the Kelvinator is named, was one of the first to realize the energy-giving quality of food. As early as 1852 he read to royal society of Edinburgh a paper on the "Energy of Food" stating that animals and humans derive energy from food by means of the chemical oxidation going on in digestion and respiration.

Lord Kelvin is remembered for his discovery of the law of refrigerators which made possible the modern electric refrigerator on which the woman of today has grown to depend for the health, comfort, leisure and convenience of the family. She knows that a temperature between 40 and 50 degrees, guaranteeing against food spoilage, is assured where a thermometer is built in to provide her with constant visible proof of proper refrigeration. She realizes too, that further savings in home management budgets are brought about by her Kelvinator refrigerator, through its low cost of operation, effecting economies in quantity food purchases and through permitting the use of leftovers.
