CASE IS YEAR OLD
Quartet Last Seen In Vicinity of New Action

EL PASO, June 10 (AP)—The Herald-Post said today that Chief E. J. House, Jr., of the New Mexico state police had informed it by telephone from Roswell, N. M., that a lake near Roswell was being dragged for the bodies of four Illinois tourists who disappeared last year.

The tourists were last seen near Vaughn, N. M., last May. Their automobile was found in Dallas soon afterward.

Since the disappearance of the tourists, officers of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas have carried on an unrelenting search for some clue as to what might have happened to them. Several suspects have been held but always released due to lack of evidence.

ENGINEER GUEST SPEAKER TODAY AT LION LUNCHEON

Oil Well Treatment Is Discussed By Albrecht

H. L. Albrecht, treating engineer for Dowell, Inc., was the guest speaker at the regular weekly luncheon of the Midland Lions Club in the assembly room of the county court house today noon, the speaker giving a preliminary outline of the acidizing of oil wells as a means of increasing production. Methods of treating wells with acid, the effects of the acid on the producing formations, and the equipment used were discussed by Mr. Albrecht, who was recently transferred here from Tulsa. The lecture was highly educational and was thoroughly enjoyed by those in attendance.

Two clever readings by Mrs. A. O. Thomas completed the entertaining program, which was arranged and presented by Judge James H. Goodman.

SALVATION ARMY TO START DRIVE

Funds Sought to Carry On Extensive Program Throughout World

The annual drive for funds to help carry on the extensive Christian program of the Salvation Army in the Texas Division will be made here this weekend, according to advice received from W. D. Pedigo, veteran campaigner for the organization, who will be here to make the canvass.

The local canvass will be made under the supervision of the county advisory committee, W. I. Pratt, T. E. Neely and Claude O. Crane.

During the past year in this division, 75,000 families have been given relief and encouraged to better living; jobs have been found for many men and women; 150 girls have been cared for in the maternity homes and hospitals, and thousands have been won to righteousness.

Much of this work is shared in by small towns and rural communities. Only one appeal for funds will be made here during the year. Any other solicitation will be without authority from the organization.

Husband Cool

Hard as it is to believe, after viewing the above picture of beautiful Betty Parker Logan, her husband, Raymond, was "cold and indifferent." At least, that is the grounds upon which Mrs. Logan, sister of Lena Andre, film actress, asked a divorce in Los Angeles court. She was given $40 a month temporary alimony.

NEWEST TUBB WELL FLOWING 9 BARRELS AN HOUR, STEADILY

Crane Unit Test Is Given Boost By Second Shot

By FRANK GARDNER
Steady flowing production of nine barrels an hour through 2-inch tubing is being maintained by Sinclair-Prairie and others No. 1 Tubb, fifth and latest well to find oil in the deep Permian lime of the Tubb area in western Crane county.

After re-acidizing with 3,000 gallons yesterday, the well was swabbed in, finally kicking off and flowing 116 barrels in six hours, this, however, including some of the 215-barrel oil load. It has now settled down to a steady flow of nine barrels hourly. Rated at only four barrels per hour, natural, the No. 1 Tubb responded to the first acid treatment of 2,000 gallons late last week by flowing 116 barrels in 24 hours. Total depth is 4,469, with the tubing set 10 feet off bottom.

Production at the rate of over 200 barrels daily definitely puts the unit test in the commercial class. It is not as large, however, as the two Humble deep Permian wells two miles to the southeast, the Nos. 1 and 2 Tubbs, which rated 861 and 1,025 barrels per day, respectively. The unit test is located in the southeast corner of section 3, block B-27, public school land.

BLEEDING CORES RECOVERED FROM GAINES TEST

Landreth Production company No. 1 Kirk, interesting south central Gaines wildcat, reported the best oil showing thus far encountered when it recovered cores from 4,703 to 4,704 and from 4,705 to 4,706 which were described as "bleeding" oil. The same cores were said to show only slight porosity.

The well resumed coring yesterday at 4,689 and cored ahead to 4,707 last night, recovering about 16 feet of the 18 feet of hard lime section cored. It rained out core-hole, and, when last reported, was preparing to core ahead.

Located in the southwest corner of section 22, block A-21, public school land, eight miles northwest of the Means pool and ten miles southeast of the Seminole gasser, the No. 1 Kirk is holding the interest of practically all Basin operators. General opinion is that the verdict should be known within the next week.

PREPARE TO TUBE NEW KERMIT WELL

After washing hole and setting liner, operators were preparing to run tubing to test Humble No. 3-A Colby, latest well to be completed in the Keyes area northwest of Kermit. Located 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 25, block 26, public school land, the No. 3-A Colby was drilled to a total depth of 3,015 feet and was shot with 390 quarts from 2,813 to bottom.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 2-B Walton, 330 feet out of the southeast corner of section 24, block 26, public school land, is standing after cementing 5-inch casing at 2,775 feet. Total depth is 2,994, and small pipe was run to shut off an estimated 20-

COURT AFFIRMS DEATH SENTENCE OF TAHOKA MAN

Elmo Banks Must Die For Murder of Deputy

REVERSE RULING
Conviction Against Hidalgo Man Reversed

AUSTIN, June 10 (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today affirmed the death sentence of Elmo Banks, negro, for the murder of Deputy Sheriff F. W. Redwine in the Lynn county jail at Tahoka March 6. The court reversed the conviction of Richard A. Palmer, assessed a 99-year term in Hidalgo county in the "hit-chike" slaying of Percy A. Galkins.

Banks was captured by posse members after one of the largest manhunts ever seen in West Texas following his escape after slaying Redwine. He pled self-defense but was given the death sentence despite his assertions that he slew the deputy while in fear of his life.

As soon as the exhibit is ended the stock will be returned, the announcement said.

U. S. Will Sell Proof Money At Big Premium

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Twenty years of famine among coin collectors are being followed by the proverbial "feast," according to officials of the United States mint.

A deluge of orders from numismatologists (known as "coin cranks") followed the recent announcement of the treasury department that the practice of issuing "flawless money" would be resumed.

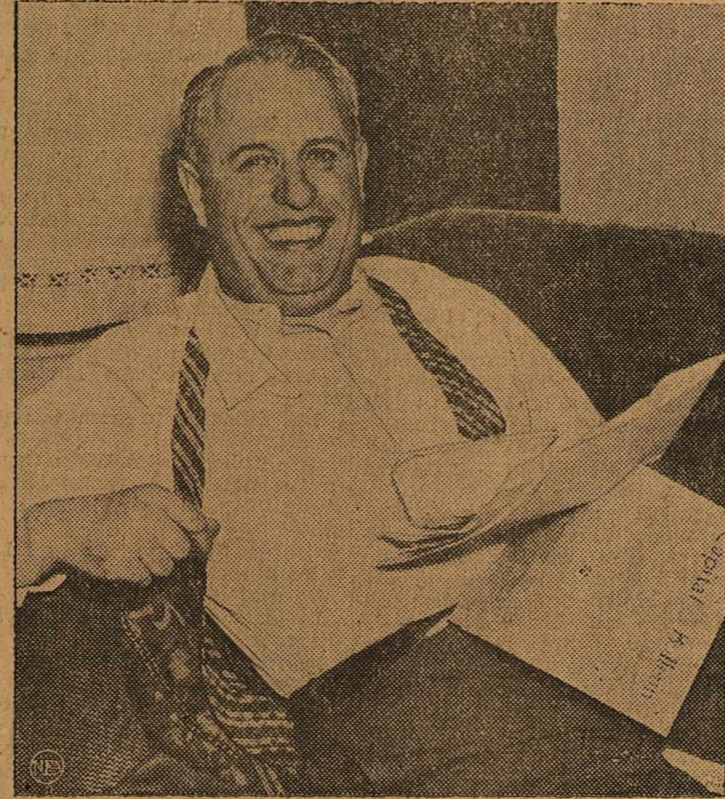

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., is said to have been prompted to this move by the late Louis McHenry Howe, an ardent numismatist. The last issue of proof money, as it is technically termed, was made in 1916.

The coins are being struck under the most careful conditions to insure the perfection of the product. Each coin is individually treated, stamped from polished dies with shining new dies, and closely scrutinized for flaws. Collectors, it is said, are "quick on the draw" when it comes to spotting the most microscopic of flaws.

Collectors will pay, in addition to postage fees and face values of the coins, the following charges for the souvenir pieces: 25 cents for 50 and 25-cent pieces; 10 cents for dimes; and 15 cents for nickels and pennies. All coins will be dated from 1936.

No one at the mint would say why the premium on dimes should be less than that on pennies and nickels; but everyone agreed that there was enough extra work entailed in the processes to make the fees "quite all right."

EFFORTS MADE TO BRING LANDON AND BORAH TOGETHER

Seek to Unite Pair For Benefit of Party

FDR CRITICIZED
Snell Appeals to All Persons to Defeat Roosevelt

CLEVELAND, June 10 (AP)—The Republican national convention railed for more bombardments of the new deal in its third session today pending attempts to bring Landon and Borah viewpoints together for the presidential campaign.

Taking permanent chairmanship, Representative Bertrand Snell, New York, appealed to the convention to sink their differences and unite "to restore the government to the people." He said that the party was not contending against the Democratic party as such, but "it offers to lead America against and unconstitutional dictatorship—yes, the arrogant individualism of Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Mentioning no candidates for the presidential nomination he predicted victory for the party in November, adding "we shall need in executive positions the services of constitutional Democrats and Republicans alike." Imputing the betrayal of platform pledges to the new deal, Snell charged "reckless squandering, the meaningless political phrases, retardation of recovery and the violation of constitutional liberties under this demoralizing being of incompetence."

Snell pledged the party to "the maximum of social cooperation consistent with faithful preservation of just liberties to all the people, and warned against the "dead stones of the meaningless political phrases, empty promises." East-West differences entangled tired platform writers.

Gold monetary and post-war farm questions gave the principal trouble. Satisfactory language was apparently found to take care of the minimum wage matter.

Former President Herbert Clark Hoover was welcomed by a wildly applauding throng, including several former members of his cabinet. Chester Rowell, chairman, told the California delegates that Hoover's address, prepared for delivery to the convention tonight, contained nothing "flattering" suggesting self-seeking. Terminating "the most deplorable incident of the new deal ever written," Rowell said that it would not be "any William Jennings Bryan cross of gold gesture."

The hope of getting the platform before the convention tonight faded after the meeting of the full resolutions committee to receive the report of the drafting subcommittee was postponed until 9 p. m.—The convention recessed until 8 o'clock tonight.

MUSSOLINI NAMES COUNT CIANO AS HIS NEW PREMIER

Successor Talk Once More Heard After Late Move

ROME, June 10 (AP)—Premier Mussolini started talk of his successor Tuesday night by naming his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, the world's youngest, foreign minister of a major power in a sweeping "changing of the guard."

In the long expected cabinet shake up, II Duce gave up his majority holding by surrendering three of his eight portfolios. There are 15 cabinet posts.

Ciano, but 33, becomes the youngest foreign minister in Italy's history. Belief was expressed in diplomatic circles II Duce would groom his relative for his eventual successor as premier. Ciano is married to Mussolini's daughter, Edda.

The dictator gave up the ministries of colonies, corporations and foreign affairs.

Mussolini will still be a busy man, however. In addition to being premier, the other posts he retains are the interior war, navy, and aviation.

In making way for Ciano II Duce accepted the resignation of Fulvio Suvich, undersecretary for foreign affairs for several years.

CATTLE SALES AND SHIPMENTS GAIN FOLLOWING RAINS

Many Herds Moved As "Dust Bowl" Revives

Cattle sales and shipments, following rains over West Texas, the Panhandle and Corn Belt areas, have been more active during recent weeks, resulting in the movement from local ranches of approximately 2,500 head of steer yearlings.

The largest shipments went to ranges near Hereford, Texas, where until a few weeks ago the "dust bowl" had prevailed for several months. Grass in that section now is the best in years and much demand for cattle has been shown.

Hill & Pittman of Hereford made the following purchases here: 200 steer yearlings from Stanton Brunson, 100 from Bill Kelton, 45 from Frank Orson, 45 from Jones, 45 from S. W. Estes, 200 from W. N. Wadell Co., 214 from A. B. Connell, 70 from McKnight Bros., 45 from Clark Bros., 135 from Scuyler Wright, 130 from Ratliff & Hurt, 60 from C. P. Benedict, 100 from Buck Klein.

One of the largest single deals made was the sale by McElroy Ranch Co., to H. G. Conkwright of Hereford of 560 head of steer yearlings, delivered this week.

Philip Phillips of San Angelo bought for Jacobs Bros., Kansas City, 275 steer yearlings from F. P. and W. S. Elkin.

Advancing Troops of Government Occupy Hunan Province

SHANGHAI, June 10 (AP)—British authorities ordered women missionaries evacuated today from the Hengyang area of Hunan Province, said to have been occupied by advancing troops of the Canton (South China) government.

(Hunan lies immediately north of Kwangsi and Kwangtung Provinces, which make up the Canton government, and is affiliated with the Nanking national government. Canton apparently is seeking to force Nanking into a joint war against Japan.)

General Ho Chien, governor of Hunan Province, announced at Changsha the Canton forces occupied Hengyang.

(Hengyang is about 110 miles north of the Kwangtung border, halfway to Changsha, the capital.)

The women missionaries were told to go to Changsha for refuge.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the Nanking government, who yesterday said there would be no war against Japan and no civil war, today made a conciliatory move in an effort to smooth over the South China crisis. He wired Canton in reply to its manifesto demanding a war against Japan that he hoped the south "realized the seriousness of its action."

"Unless the nation acts as a unit, only disaster can result," Chiang added.

The Domei (Japanese) news agency said in a dispatch from Canton that Japanese consular general there warned General Chen Chitang, commander-in-chief of the Kwangtung army, against "unduly exciting popular feeling against Japan."

ASSAULT CASE IS TO OPEN DISTRICT COURT SESSIONS

Candelario Ratanon Will Face Trial Tomorrow

The first case of this season of district court will be heard tomorrow, State of Texas vs. Candelario Ratanon. Ratanon is charged with assault with intent to murder Moses Lermana in a fight that allegedly happened November 10, 1935.

The grand jury in its first day of work, returned six indictments against three persons. Roy Cain was indicted for murder in connection with the death of Jack Denton.

Denton died in a Midland hospital after suffering a bullet wound allegedly inflicted upon him by Cain in a South Main street beer parlor after the two had quarreled. Cain was first placed under bond for assault with intent to kill, but when Denton later succumbed to the wound, Cain was charged with murder. He has since been out on bail.

Cain is expected to go on trial some time during the fourth week of the session.

Four indictments were returned against Jack Bryant, resident of the Stokes community, charging him with theft. He is in jail pending making bond, officers said today.

The chaste simplicity of a white and green color scheme marked appointments for the service. Drapings of smilax made a verdant background for the church altar where the wedding party was grouped, with the bride and bridegroom standing before a screen of the same greenery to take their vows. Tall floor baskets were filled with white lilies, white carnations, and white gladioli. Before the entrance of the wedding party, Mrs. Roy Parks sang "Oh Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. Ellis Cowden. Mrs. Cowden then played Lohengrin's Wedding March as a procession, "Ich Liebe Dich" softly during the ceremony and Mendelssohn's wedding march as the recessional.

Sponsors of the city tennis tournament this year do not intend to be slipped up on this year like they were last time—Last year the tournament was announced as a city one but a couple of San Angelo players got the wrong idea from the advance publicity and thought it was an invitation affair to all and sundry. Rather than disappoint the pair after they had driven here from Angelo to play, club officials decided to let them enter—And was their face red when the "furriners" walked off with both singles and doubles—There was nothing that could be done about it except give them the Winner's cups—This year they want it plainly understood that only residents of Midland are eligible to enter—Jack Hill, Don Oliver and J. B. Thomas are getting things ready to start this year—The games will be played on the city courts on West Texas street and the public is invited to attend them—There will be no admission charges—Preliminary and semi-final matches will be played Friday and Saturday and the finals will be unveiled Sunday afternoon.

Midland's lack of baseball or softball team this year has caused a lot of comment around in other towns

—the general comment is "What is wrong with Midland?" It will take someone smarter than us to figure that out—Remember last year we said the softball loop would not open this year? The cause for it can be laid directly to the managers of the clubs last year—They consistently refused to abide by the rules of the league and thereby started a general breaking down process that took full hold about the time the season ended—Managers would pick up from two to nine men each time from other clubs, and when they did start to enforce the rules against that (in the play-offs after the regular season was over) one club had to forfeit because it could not place a team on the field—That was the final straw—Attendance held up all season despite the rotten exhibitions, and would undoubtedly do so this season but no one seems to want the responsibility of handling a club—Charlie Blalock, manager of the Hughes Tool Company entry in the league last year, has hinted a few times that he was going to get a club together and play out of town teams two or three times each week, but so far the idea has not materialized—It is not such a bad idea at that—Would give several men and boys something to do and would give a whole lot of people somewhere to go—Why not go ahead, Charlie? There is plenty of the boys ready to play—Games could easily be arranged with Big Spring, Monahan, Pecos and other teams—

The Odessa Oilers will play the Iran Braves at the Ector county metropolis this afternoon at four—Here is what George Elliott has to say of the game: "These two clubs have always played close, hard fought games each year, and it (today's game) should be one of the best to date. Iran will feature a strong offense (being able to make 31 tallies in two games with the strong Texon Oilers Sunday) while Odessa will rely on a strong defense and some good twirling—Jelly So-Relle, one of the outstanding twirlers in the Southwest Conference as a member of the Baylor club, and Lefty Hambricht will divide the mound duties for Odessa. A third chunker, T-Bone McDonald is out with a sore arm.

The Oilers will tangle with the Amerada Oilers of Monument Saturday and the strong Hobbs nine Sunday—The Odessa club holds one victory over each but have lost one to Hobbs—The big game this year is booked for June 21, the T. & P. club of Dallas, a strong semi-pro club being booked for a game that day—The Odessa management has made inquiries about playing the same club here June 20.

Unusual Suspense In "The Witness Chair"

"THE WITNESS CHAIR," Ann Harding's stirring new courtroom drama showing today and tomorrow at the Yucca Theatre, promises the cinema-going public new experiences in screen suspense as it is full of the realism of a sensational murder trial.

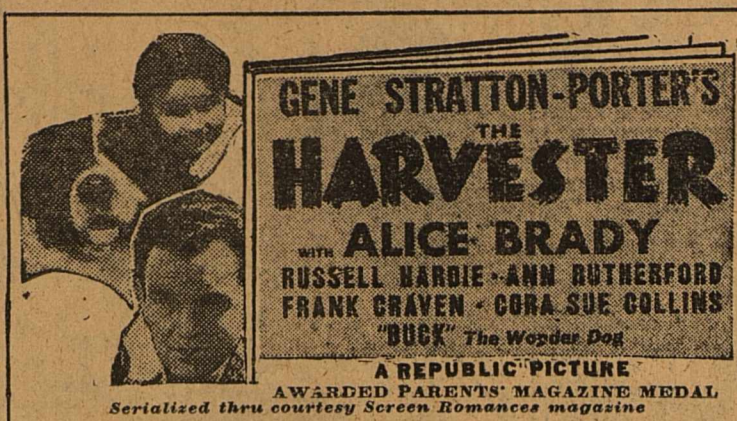

Walter Abel appears opposite the blonde star as a defendant facing murder charges for a killing which Miss Harding accidentally committed. One of the chief witnesses at the trial, Miss Harding is deeply in love with the man who faces a legal death. Upon this foundation the story builds an exciting structure of suspense, with witnesses motivated to lie and conceal salient facts to keep Miss Harding from freeing the man she loves.

Adapted from Rita Weiman's Cosmopolitan magazine story, "The Witness Chair" doesn't confine itself to the courtroom, it traces the crime from its inception to the surprise climax of the trial.

Abel, who appeared with Miss Harding recently in "The Lady Consents" heads a supporting cast that includes Douglass Dumbrille, Moroni Olsen, Frances Sage.

The letter, which is one of only a half dozen in existence, was found in a parcel of old letters purchased at an auction in a small Connecticut town.

What Has Gone Before:
David Langston, handsome young farmer of the Lumberston country in Indiana, has started building a house on his farmstead. This immediately starts village tongues to wagging in speculation over which of the village belles is to be his bride.

Although David has no definite plans for matrimony, he is devoted to Ruth Jameson, an orphan, who, with her young sister, Naomi lives with Granny Moreland on the farm adjacent to his own. However, Mrs. Biddle, society autocrat determines that David shall marry her daughter, Thelma, and with this end in view persuades Ruth, the penniless rival, to come into her home as a menial. On the night of Thelma's twenty-first birthday party, the scheming girl contrives to have David slip the birthday cake ring on her finger "to see if it would fit." Immediately her mother appears, loudly voices her congratulations and announces the "engagement" to the party guests. David is bewildered, and Ruth is completely crushed.

CHAPTER FOUR

There wasn't much you could do about it now. David thought unhappily as the days sped past. You couldn't let a girl down before the whole countryside—You couldn't let your friends know you weren't pleased and proud—the expectant bridegroom! But nothing seemed the same now, not even the house—

Thelma's ideas and his seemed never to agree. He said Ruth had thought a wistful vine by the door would be lovely. But Thelma declared bay trees would be more elegant. Thelma complained that the closets were too small to hold her dresses, the living-room to tiny for the parties she would want to give. In fact, David soon discovered that Thelma didn't want a farmhouse anyway. She wanted him to sell it, leave his farm and go into the real estate business with her father. Thelma wanted to live in town.

David sighed. He was sitting in the hammock with Thelma—and each was lost in dreams unshared by the other. "I'm not suited to city ways," David said slowly. "Herestors—that's what my people were—And that's what I am! I love the feel of the soil—like a sailor fancying the sea. I suppose—"

"You'll never see the ocean," Thelma said disapprovingly. "If you spend the rest of your life walking up one side of a row of corn and coming back on the other! Look at Bert Monroe—he went to Indianapolis and made good!"

"Made money," David corrected mentally, savage, with sudden resentment. He had seen Bert Monroe, driving Ruth in his new gasoline buggy out to see Granny. Had seen him squaring Ruth at neighborhood party. He wished that he could punch Bert's head! He sighed again. He hardly saw Ruth any more. Only when Naomi came to the house could he seem to recapture something of the lost dream. And Mrs. Biddle complained whenever she found Naomi there. The last time she and Thelma drove out, Naomi was bathing. Belshazzar in the tub. Somehow she had contrived to let the dog shake water from his shaggy coat all over Mrs. Biddle's smart frock! David smiled wryly, remembering. And no suspicion of the ominous portent of that Naomi-like episode troubled him then.

But a few days later stopping by ing bee—And now she's going to live in it, so I don't ever want to see it again! I want to go away!" she cried hysterically.

Mrs. Griggs stood up. Mr. Prewett reached for his hat. "I think," said Mr. Prewett in an icy voice, "that the child badly needs some competent supervision."

"It's high time," Mrs. Griggs added.

Granny Moreland was too stunned to protest further. David however, was determined that this awful thing should not come to pass. "I'm going to see Mrs. Biddle—She's on the Board, and maybe she can help us."

Mrs. Griggs and Mr. Prewett smiled faintly. Mrs. Griggs cleared her throat. "I'm afraid it will do you no good," she said acidly. "The commitment papers are all signed, and all the formalities have been taken care of—"

And though Granny pleaded, dazed and David argued vainly, they took the child away with them.

"The Unseen Hand of Fate"

David tried to comfort Granny. "I'll see Mrs. Biddle. She can surely help us," he reiterated.

But Granny shook her head sadly. With the wisdom of many years on her shoulders. "Please go, Davey—I want to be alone."

She sat for a long time, rocking in her worn old chair, thinking, remembering bright lost days when she and Ruth and Naomi and David had known so much of happiness. The winter had taken it all away—David's house was finished now—but he never would be happy in it—It was spring now, but the robins would not come back to the empty nest outside her window—And in the unseen hand of Fate, the thread that measured out the length of her days was drawn between the inevitable shears—

Everybody came to David's housewarming party—came bringing gifts and gaiety—but David felt himself outside of all the fun, a stranger in his own house! Darkly he watched Bert Monroe joking with Ruth, saw Thelma push between them, avid for attention from the boy who "made good." He frowned but it didn't seem to matter any more—

Then Dr. Carey came in. Hurriedly he summoned David and Ruth. "Granny's very ill—his voice was gone. She wants to see you both." And as they hurried out with him Mrs. Biddle nodded thoughtfully. With Granny gone, she would pack Ruth off to Terre Haute. She had a sister there who could use a servant—And then things would move smoothly as she wished. "After all,"

Gadget Lets Motorist Test All Motor Oils

CONCA CITY, Okla.—A simple five-minute film strength and oiliness test for auto lubricants, long sought by oil men, has been perfected here by members of the technical staff of the Continental Oil Company it was announced today.

The test is made by a pocket-size device closely resembling a household nutcracker.

A stock pin and bearing are lubricated with a given oil and placed in the "nutcracker" jaws, on which accurately measurable pressure can be exerted. The maximum pressure under which the pin can be turned smoothly in the bearing is taken as the measure of the film strength and oiliness of the oil.

Continental spokesmen said extensive "nutcracker" tests in the laboratory have shown wide variations in the load-carrying capacity of commercially branded oils, and have thrown new light on the performance of the so-called "alloyed" oils. Methylchlorostearate, a synthetically prepared substance used in the blending of one of the commercial alloyed oils, is said to have set up a film which gave no indication of "grabbing" at the maximum "nutcracker" pressure of 9,000 pounds.

The testing device, it was said, is being distributed to all company service stations so that motorists may experiment with it.

she said lightly, "Granny is old—There's nothing we can do—Pass the cookies, Thelma."

"I can't realize—" David said distractedly as they hurried up the old familiar walk. "She seemed all right yesterday—"

"She's been falling for some time," Dr. Carey shook his head.

"But there must be something we can do—"

"There's no remedy," the doctor said under his breath, "for loneliness—and a broken heart—"
