BRITISH MOVE TO STOP ARAB-JEWS IN NEW RIOTING

Soldiers Are Flown To Jerusalem Today
PREVENT FIGHTS
Wire Entanglements Erected Around Cities

LONDON, May 8. (AP)—Reliable sources today said that the British government had ordered transport planes filled with British soldiers to fly from Cairo to Palestine to prevent further Arab-Jewish rioting. From Jerusalem came reports that emergency measures had been invoked to preserve order following a decision by 150 Arab leaders to launch a campaign of civil disobedience, including a rigid boycott of everything Jewish.

GLEE CLUB FROM ABILENE VISITS

Concert Given At High School Auditorium Early Today
The boys' glee club from the Abilene high school gave a concert for the junior and senior high schools this morning at the high school auditorium.

The program, composed of classical numbers as well as some of a lighter nature, was well received by the audience. Features of the program were a quartette number, original compositions by one of the boys, and negro songs.

HENDERSON AREA EXTENSION LOOMS

Wahlenmaier and Atlantic Test Is Showing For Big Well
By FRANK GARDNER
Winkler county continued to hold the spotlight today when Wahlenmaier and Atlantic No. 1 Walton, wildcat test a mile north and a half east of the Henderson area, kicked off after striking oil and gas pay from 3,020 to 3,068. The well is shut in today at total depth of 3,070 in line and tubing will probably be run for a test. No estimates are available on the well's possibilities, but it thought to be good for somewhere between 1,500 and 3,000 barrels per day.

The Wahlenmaier and Atlantic well had previously been completed as a gas well and was selling fuel to other tests in the area. It struck an estimated 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas at 2,825, but casing was damaged when tools were hung up in it. Rotary equipment was installed and the well drilled ahead.

The prospective extension is located in the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 34, block 74, public school land. It is a mile north and a little east of the Henderson and Uscan No. 2-B Walton line producer which was gauged day before yesterday at a potential of 1,889 barrels per day flowing through 3/4-inch choke on tubing.

Saved From Ethiopian Mob

Reported to be among the hundreds of foreigners who found haven in the strongly fortified British legation compound while looters sacked Addis Ababa were Jean Trout (right) of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mildred Culvert (left), graduate nurse of the Norwegian Hospital, Brooklyn. Both went to Ethiopia as missionaries.

Estimate 300 Delegates Will Be Here From 20 West Texas Towns and Cities; Thompson Main Speaker

The vanguard of the American Legion convention delegates to Midland is expected to arrive tonight in preparation for the two-day event.

A minimum of 300 visitors has been announced by commander Jas. H. Goodman of the local post as the number likely to be here. Many notable Texans, including Col. Ernest O. Thompson, Judge C. V. Terrell, state adjutant Fred Young, Garland Adair, M. L. Hopson, Earl Earp and many others.

Registration for members of the Auxiliary attending the convention will be made on the mezzanine of the hotel Saturday, Saturday evening, and Sunday morning.

Auxiliary members will be assisted in the reception of the visitors during the convention reception and dance Saturday evening by a score or more prominent young women of the town as sponsors.

Beautiful Women More Plentiful In Texas, Rose States

FORT WORTH, May 8.—There are more beautiful and talented women in the Southwest than there are on Broadway, Billy Rose, the top among the nation's leading showmen, declared today.

Rose, who has featured beautiful women in Jumbo and his other theatrical successes, is now confident that he can secure in the Southwest more than half of the 500 girls needed for his Frontier Centennial attractions.

HARAR CAPTURED BY THE ITALIANS AFTER BIG BATTLE

Conquest of Empire Completed By Seizure
CITY IS RAVAGED
Natives Riot, Leave Only Debris for Invaders

By Associated Press
A Roman newspaper correspondent today reported that Harar, Ethiopia's second largest city, was captured today by Italian troops, completing Italy's conquest of the East African empire.

Earlier reports said that Harar had been partly destroyed by fire after violent outbreaks of rioting similar to those which made a shambles of Addis Ababa. Meanwhile, the fleeing emperor, Haile Selassie, reached Palestine on a British warship and received the monarch's salute as armed troops guarded Palestine's port city of Haifa.

61 SCHOOL BOYS LEAVE TODAY FOR SCOUT ROUND-UP

Annual Affair Starts In Big Spring Today

Twenty boys from the High School and 41 from Junior High School were dismissed from school early today in order to make a trip to the Annual Round-up of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts, to be held at Big Spring today and Saturday.

They are to be under direction of Scouters H. H. Kendrick, Buster Howard, John P. Howe, Claude Crane, and Guy Brennanman during the Round-up.

This afternoon and evening will be devoted to setting up camp and to concert fire and program.

Blakeney Receives Unusual Accident When His Car Is Destroyed By Flames

B. H. Blakeney, returning Thursday afternoon from his Ector county ranch, had an unusual accident, losing his automobile by fire and receiving slight burns and injuries.

He then noticed that the heavy inner tube was burning also and was struck to the rim. Other motorists arrived and offered assistance and they pushed the car forward, causing the burning rubber to stick to the pavement. Blakeney then decided to get in the machine and drive it far enough to get the burning rubber off the rim. As he did so, flames penetrated the rear of the car and spread rapidly from gasoline.

Carrying Selassie to Refuge in Holy Land

Safely aboard the British cruiser Enterprise (above), Emperor Selassie, accompanied by his queen and sons, fled toward Haifa en route to Jerusalem, where he expected to find refuge in a Coptic monastery on the River Jordan. Resentment against Great Britain ran high in Italy because the warship was placed at Selassie's disposal.

Italian Dagers Salute Victory

More and more frequent and enthusiastic were the demonstrations honoring their leader in Rome, as Italian troops swept victoriously on evacuated Addis Ababa, key objective of their campaign of conquest. In this picturesque tribute, hands raised in Fascist salute grasped daggers, as Italian warriors solemnly dedicated the best of their series of victories to their guiding spirit, Il Duce. Note that one of the saluting fighters is a mere boy.

CHURCH SERVICES TO HONOR MOTHERS

First Christian Church Will Give Musical Program
A Mother's Day worship service in songs and readings under the direction of Mrs. Lee Cornelius, music director of the Christian Church, will be presented at 8:00 o'clock Sunday night. Many old and sacred "Mother" hymns will be sung by the choir and stories about mother and readings will be given by different members of the church.

The pastor will bring a special Mother's Day message at 10:15 o'clock Sunday morning. The services have been moved up in order that the church may unite in the special American Legion services at 11:00 o'clock. There will be a 30 minute study period of all the classes of every department beginning promptly at 9:45 o'clock before the beginning of the special Mother's Day and communion services. The public is cordially invited to attend these special Mother Day services. Special music has been prepared for all the services Sunday.

PROHIBITIONISTS PICK ALVIN YORK TO RUN ON TICKET

Famed Soldier Will Be Vice-President Candidate

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 8. (AP)—The Prohibition party placed its ticket in the '36 Presidential race Thursday, nominating Dr. D. Leigh Colvin of New York for president and then drafting Sergeant Alvin C. York of Tennessee, famous World War hero, for Vice-President.

Dr. Colvin is a nationally known drifter but York is not a member of the party and leaders at the national convention here said they were not certain he would accept. Sergeant York is the country boy who was drafted during the World War against his religious scruples and became, in General Pershing's words, "the greatest civilian soldier of the World War."

What Has Gone Before:
Dr. Cardin is engaged to be married to Karen who with Martha has opened a private boarding school. Mrs. Mortar Martha's aunt, finds Dr. Cardin in Martha's room, and draws scandalous inferences. Mary Tilford, a brat of a pupil, has also seen Dr. Cardin come out of Martha's room, and a bitter conversation between Martha and her aunt is overheard by two other pupils.

Chapter Four
When Martha closed the door upon the two girls she accidentally bruised Rosalie's arm. It was a slight bruise but one that was later to take on damaging import. Meanwhile Mary was nursing injuries of another sort. She had come out badly in her attempted trick upon Karen. Her faint had convinced nobody, and Dr. Cardin's examination revealed clearly that she was faking.

"How does it feel to be back from the grave?" he inquired of Mary with mock solicitude.
"It's my heart," Mary said stubbornly, and it hurts.
"Science has failed," Cardin said to Karen. "Try a hair brush."
Mary, her prestige with her fellow pupils entirely destroyed, plotted revenge. The opportunity, unfortunately, was only too close at hand. Thoughtlessly, Evelyn and Rosalie repeated to her the conversation they had overheard. Mary's eyes gleamed.
"I'm going home," she said suddenly.
Showered ferociously upon Rosalie, who was shifting some clothes out of the bureau drawer.
"You've got two dollars and twenty-five cents. I need it for a taxi-

Get it for me."
When Rosalie refused, Mary grabbed her suddenly by her injured arm. Rosalie dropped the bundle she was carrying. The missing gold bracelet dropped to the floor with a clang.
Rosalie stared at the bracelet and gasped with pain. "That's my sore arm," she pleaded. "Don't—"
Mary only pressed the harder. "Just say when you've had enough."
The pain and the threat of exposure made Rosalie a helpless victim.
Mary entered her home alone, leaving Rosalie waiting outside. Her welcome was not a cordial one. Mrs. Tilford, for all her weakness for her granddaughter, was not to be easily disposed of. Learning that Mary had left school without permission, she sternly ordered her to return. Mary became hysterical.
"Don't send me back!" she pleaded. "Grandma! Please! I can't go back. I can't! They'll kill me, grandma. They will, they will!"
"What makes you say such terrible things?" Mrs. Tilford asked. "They're true," Mary insisted through her tears. "Honest, I fainted today."
Mrs. Tilford cried out in alarm: "Fainted?"
"Yes, I did. My heart. I had a pain in my heart and Dr. Cardin said I didn't have any pain and—"
Mrs. Tilford breathes a sigh of relief. Mary saw that she had overreached herself, and subsided somewhat. But after dinner, Mary resumed her complaint.
"You don't love me," she moaned. "You don't care whether they kill me or not!"
Mrs. Tilford made a gesture of despair. "What makes you talk like that, Mary?"
"It's because I'm scared, Grandma. I'm scared. They've got something against me and they punish me for everything. Today they even said I couldn't go to the boat races."
Mary observed an amused, dismissive smile appear on her grandmother's face.
"But it wasn't that," she added hastily. "It's things funny things. They've got secrets, Grandma. Funny secrets." She did not take her eyes off her grandmother's face, watching, watching for the effect of her words. "All about Miss Dobie," she continued, "and Dr. Cardin and Mrs. Mortar told Miss Dobie that she knew what was going on."

Mrs. Tilford's attention was for the first time arrested.
"What? What was that?"
"That she knew what was going on," Mary said speaking quickly, "and she always had know about what was going on. And Miss Dobie said she'd have to get out of the house. And that's why we have to move our room. I bet. Because they're frightened that we'll hear things, too. And that's why they punish me. I guess they know about how I couldn't help hearing about that awful night. . . ."
"What awful night?" asked Mrs. Tilford tensely.
Mary was sure of herself now. Slowly she built up her whole scandalous narrative, whispering the most monstrous charges.
Mrs. Mortar was horrified. "Do you know what you're saying? Are you telling me the truth?"
Mary rattled on. "Honest, Honest. And today there was an awful row and Mrs. Mortar said they were putting her out because she couldn't be fooled and she knew about the things that were happening and Miss Dobie got awfully angry at that and said she had to get out, right away—and it was things like that all the time. And Mrs. Mortar said that was why they were putting her out, and . . ."
"How do you know what Mrs. Mortar said?"
"Because Rosalie and Evelyn heard them," Mary said excitedly. "And Miss Dobie got mad when she found out that they heard, and she was so mad she took Rosalie's arm and hurt it—bad!"
She was suddenly struck with an inspiration. "Wait a minute Grandma," she said and ran out of the room, returning with Rosalie, whose arm she had carefully bandaged in advance.
"See Grandma? See how they hurt her arm?"
"Rosalie!" Mrs. Tilford said. "Is your mother still in New York?"
Rosalie nodded in bewilderment. "Then you'll stay here until she returns."
"Grandma," Mary inquired softly, "Do I have to go back to that awful place?"
"No," said Mrs. Tilford grimly. "You won't have to go back."

"America Strikes Back" by Gustavus Myers: John Chamberlain, N. Y. Times says: "America Strikes Back" does two things superbly; it knocks the qualitative-quantitative cliché squarely in the head, and it forever disposes of the cliché that assumes that American politics are more corrupt than those of England, that American business men are more rapacious than European business men and that money grabbing is somehow indigenous to this side of the Atlantic." The booklist says: "Materialism, greed, and commercial dishonesty are not peculiar to America, though there is more publicity about them here. The author finds in history evidence that most scandals in America can be matched in other countries; the U. S. has been maligned by foreign critics, he thinks." The Hoover Administration," by William Starr Myers and Walter H. Newton: "Documentary evidence, drawn from state papers and from Hoover's own writings and speeches, with commentary by the editors. The evidence is offered in defense of Hoover's policies, chosen to show him as an able administrator and astute statesman."

"Home and Community Hygiene" by Jean Broadhurst: Accurate, non-technical, the household as related to rural or urban health conditions considered more at length than the problems of public administration.
"Everyday Problems of the Everyday Child" by Douglas Armstrong Thom: Same advice for parents and teachers, illustrated by typical cases successfully treated in the habit clinics in Boston where the author is director.
"The Nervous Child" by Hector Charles Cameron: An extremely helpful book by a prominent English physician who has had ample experience in the field of which he writes. Two women who get on my nerves are Emily Post and Dorothy Dix. Taking Emily first where does she get to be authority on table manners. As I see it, they are just her idea of what is right. I believe I am entitled to my own ideas. I fail to see where any particular etiquette should be law just because one woman proclaimed it (aside from what my wife says.)
And now Dorothy Dix would explode that age-old pride men have had about boy babies. Most any man walks the streets with his chest fully expanded when he has a new boy baby at his house, but they usually appear deflated upon announcement of a girl baby. But Dorothy Dix sees it differently. She said that there is always general rejoicing when a boy baby is born to a family, but that as a matter of fact the parents should feel chagrined and disappointed. In these modern times, Miss Dix asserts, girl babies are much, much more desirable.

Statistics prove that girls, as they grow into full womanhood do much more for their aging parents than the boys. Girls love their parents more and feel their responsibility to them more, while a much larger percentage of the boys just simply walk out on their mothers and their fathers.
An old story being re-published is about two old maids.
"You know," said the first, "I had a very peculiar experience last night. I came home and found two strange men there."
"Did you scream?" asked the other one.
"Of course I did," was the reply.
"And as soon as I screamed one of the men jumped out of the window."
"And did you scream again?"
"No," she said, "I learned my lesson the first time."

Centennial Theme Is Keynote of 1928 Bridge

The brilliance of poppies used for house decorations and the red, white, and blue of the Centennial theme carried out in party accessories brought a colorful note to the afternoon bridge for which Mrs. M. C. Ulmer was hostess at her home 111 North C street Thursday afternoon, honoring the 1928 club and several guests. The Lone Star of Texas was featured on tallies for the games and prizes were wrapped in the patriotic tri-colors.

Guests for the afternoon were: Mmes. Barron Kidd, D. S. Goggin, Geo. Glass, and John House.

First prize for club members went to Mrs. Elliott Cowden and second to Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer while award for guests went to Mrs. Goggin.

A party plate was served at the conclusion of the games to guests and the following club members: Mmes. Elliott Cowden, Frank Cowden, J. L. Crump, C. C. Duffy, James Fitzgerald, C. M. Goldsmith, Roy Parks, Johnson Phillips, Clarence Scharbauer, William Simpson, Don Sivalls, John B. Thomas, and the hostess.

Presbyterian YWA Meets at Church

Mrs. W. J. Coleman was hostess to the Presbyterian YWA which met at the church Tuesday evening for a program and social.

Miss Lucille McMullan was leader for the evening and Miss Marguerite Bivins brought the devotional on "The Women Who Have Helped Jesus."

Various members of the organization took part on the remainder of the program reading a discussion of "What Is the Most Im-

Palette Club Holds All-Day Meeting On Thursday

Members of the Palette club met with Mrs. J. G. Gossett, 522 W Missouri, Thursday for an all-day painting session. Sketching and painting from nature occupied the artists. Special attention was paid to the sketching of bouquets from Mrs. Gossett's garden. Mrs. Clarence Hale and Mrs. John Hix also sketched portrait studies of Mr. Gossett's mother.

Luncheon was served at noon. Present were: Mmes. Clarence Hale, John Hix, N. W. Bigham, Ralph Barron, Mary S. Ray, F. H. Latham, Smith, Ward, Stookey, Miss Rosemary Malone of Abilene, and Mrs. Ben Golladay, the latter a noon guest, and the hostess.

Thirteen Attend Methodist Meeting

Thirteen women attended the monthly meeting of the Friendly Builders class of the Methodist church Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hollis Scarborough, 1311 W Illinois. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Scarborough were Mrs. E. J. Voliva, Mrs. G. D. Taylor, and Mrs. J. L. Tidwell.

Mrs. C. E. Nolan read the Scripture selection and Mrs. Frank Prothro led in prayer.

A brief discussion of business was held.

The guests engaged in general conversation during the social hour at tea time when refreshments were served.

Present were: Mmes. T. S. Nettleton Jr., C. E. Nolan, Noel G. Oates, Everett Klebold, A. J. Norwood, Rea Sindorf, Cole, J. A. Andrews, Frank Prothro, and the hostesses.

Important Thing in the Christian Woman's Life?

Mrs. Bill Collins was elected vice president of the organization.

The second Tuesday of each month was chosen as the date of meeting with Mrs. B. W. Recer hostess for the June gathering.

Refreshments were served and a social hour followed the program.

The Indian tiger is a huge beast.

Some of them are more than 10 feet long, and weigh from 550 to 650 pounds.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Giggling is a much-maligned pastime. Granted that it can be excessively annoying to those not initiated into the reason (or lack of reason) for it, it still has its good points. For instance, it does away with the need of conversation which requires more or less thinking. One can blissfully giggle and start a whole roomful of people doing the same thing with a minimum of mental effort.

Second it can be a relief. When one has been working under a great strain giggling is a convenient outlet for what might otherwise develop into a mildly hysterical attitude.

Third, it is lots of fun—for those who indulge in it and don't have to listen to it.

Telephones are a distinct blessing to this age and life but like many blessings they have a reverse side. We can think of a few things more calculated to add years per minute to the average human being's age than to call a number seven times in succession and seven times fail to get an answer.

Some famous writer has said that there are seven mistakes of life that many of us make. The man's an optimist. Most of us make that many in one day.

Mrs. Neill Hostess To Home Art Club

Mrs. J. B. Neill was hostess to the Home Art club at her home 107 W Pennsylvania Thursday afternoon. The regular study lesson was cut short because of delay in the assembling of members but Mrs. Geo. L. Wright read a poem as the opening of the lesson.

Members occupied the afternoon with fancy work.

Mrs. B. W. Recer was guest. The hostess served refreshments at the tea hour to: Mmes. Iris N. Bounds, Recer, Guy Breneman, Julia Filson, O. N. Maness, Ben Stanley, Wright, Carl Young.

Orderliness Should Not Hamper Joy in Living in Home

ORDERLINESS may become such an obsession with a woman that it will ruin not only her husband's and children's lives but her own. When she runs to plump up every cushion on which a small boy or girl has set, to pick up the scattered pages of the newspaper her husband is reading, to replace the flowers that someone has moved two inches to the right on the writing desk—well, it is time that she took an inventory of the comforts of her home.

Homes are made to be lived in. Bodies and souls find their relaxation in the privacy of foul sheltering walls which shut them in from the hurts and fears and indifference of a troublesome world. If a man can't do as he pleases with his pipe and books in his own living room, vaguely he will wonder why he is deprived of peace. If a child can't build a tower of blocks in his play room, he will wonder why he has a play room.

There is no pain off the toys, no dissected engine, no one-eyed doll in the nursery, you may know that the children are not enjoying that room. They aren't free to do as they please. A room of sturdy, bright comfort where anybody may play with anything and everything all the times, gives far more pleasure than a beautiful, delicate room where only one or two expensive toys may be touched at once. The sturdy room may cost only a fraction of the luxurious one but it brings satisfaction, ten times over and above that of the expensive one.

After all, it is the spirit that premeates a home that is all important. The freedom to laugh, read, play, eat—yes, even a little sorry—as you please!

No one likes a littered house. But houses that are lived in and enjoyed need not be littered. Always the toys and papers can be put away when the games or reading are done. Fundamentally the order of the house is not broken. After all, why should we have possession if we can't enjoy them? It isn't human nature for a little boy not to break an engine, now and then, to see what makes it go when it is worn up.

It isn't natural for a small girl to make at least one attempt to see if her rag doll is stuffed with sawdust or cotton.

Like Empty Shrine
Homes that are too decorative become the idols of their mistresses' hearts. They may turn into empty shrines at which no one worships. Children, growing older, will turn to somebody else's home where freedom and comfort sit by the hearth. The same rule applies to clothing. If a child is depressed too well enjoy himself, he can't have a good time. He would much prefer a simple pair of trousers and a rough at-tumble play shirt. Looking like Little Lord Fauntleroy, so his mother can point him out to her guests, brings no satisfaction to him. Clothes, bookshelves, hearts are made to be used. Comforts should come first in the list of attributes that are found under a protecting roof where people live together.

According to a wall table in Florence, Italy, spectacles were invented in the 13th century by an inhabitant of that city.

And don't forget this! You have just two more chances to win one of these big cash prizes! For there'll be only two more contests after this one. Watch next Friday's paper for next week's contest. But right now . . . get busy writing your answer to this week's contest. A few minutes easy work may bring you a check for $100!

General Foods is sponsoring these contests to acquaint you with two things . . . the stirring episodes of Texas history and the variety and tempting flavor of the six Post Cereals. We hope you'll win a prize . . . and we know you'll like Post Cereals. Try them all.

THE ALL-STAR FAVORITE CEREALS OF THE LONE STAR STATE!

When you taste the crisp, golden flakes of Post Toasties—you'll agree it's the finest breakfast treat you ever had. Made from the tender, sweet little hearts of the corn where most of the flavor is. Each golden flake is toasted double crisp, so it keeps its crunchy goodness longer in milk or cream. Known by Texans as the "Better Corn Flakes!"

GRAPE-NUTS FLAKES . . . the famous food Grape-Nuts, in flake form.

POST'S 40% BRAN FLAKES . . . delicious nut-brown flakes . . . helps supply needed bulk.

GRAPE-NUTS . . . crisp and crunchy—with a rich, nut-like flavor all its own.

POST'S WHOLE BRAN . . . tempting, full-strength bran in its most palatable form.

HUSKIES . . . for huskies—the new whole wheat flakes with a brand-new flavor.

(Write your answer here on a sheet of paper—25 words or less)

AT LAST, SAM, THE HUMAN PACHYDERM, ARRIVES AT MR. CASE'S PLACE, BACK-BUSTED AND WEARY. GOLLY, I HAD ONE HECK OF A JOB TOTIN' THAT BOX HERE! BUT DUZZEM'S STORE ALWAYS DELIVERS ON TIME! GLAD YA ARRIVED, SAM, I'LL BE WANTIN' TA USE THIS AROUND THE GARDEN 'D DAY.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS Complications By BLOSSER FIND THE COIN? THERE'S SOMETHING SHINY ON THE GROUND, UNDER THE FLOOR... THAT'S PROBABLY IT! I'LL HAVE A LOOK!! I HOPE IT'S WHAT YOU'RE LOOKING FOR! YEAH... I BET YOU DO! IS THAT IT, MR. KELLY? DID YOU FIND WHAT WE WERE LOOKING FOR? I FOUND PLENTY, LAD! TAKE A LOOK... THERE ARE AT LEAST A DOZEN OR MORE COINS... ALL FIFTY-CENT PIECES! GOSH... BUT NUTTY SAID HE LEFT ONLY ONE COIN ON THE COUNTER! WE'RE GETTING NOWHERE, LAD! AND YOU KNOW THE OLD SAYING ABOUT POLICEMEN, MR. KELLY...? CLUES MAKE THE MAN! HAHA! I'M LAUGHING!!

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS YOU SHOULD O' STAVED ON HIM, ICK! THAT'S TH' ONLY PLACE THAT'S VACANT. HEROES ARE MADE - NOT BORN.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE By HEARN FAW—IT SQUEAKS LIKE AN OLD HINGE—SPLITT-KAFF-F—IF MY KNIFE WAS SHARP, I'D WHITTLE OUT A REPLICA OF THE GOLD-TONED FLUTE I FASHIONED FROM A WILLOW LIMB, WHEN A LAD OF TWELVE! SO MELODIOSLY DID I TRILL THE INSTRUMENT THAT THE BIRDS WOULD GATHER 'ROUND TO TAKE A LESSON, WHEN I PLAYED UPON IT! AND TH' BIG BELLOWS HAS BEEN BLOWING ON IT, HIS OWN BUGLE EVER SINCE! LET TH' MAJOR PUFF A SOUR BLAST ON IT, ALVIN—HE'S TH' BIG WIND AROUND THIS CYCLONE CELLAR! JUST AN OL' TOOTER!
