Wife of Ball Player Dies in Mysterious Fire

CHARLES ENGLE'S MATE IS FOUND IN BURNING HOUSE
Violence Theory Is Advanced By Neighbors
DISCOVER BLOOD
Stains Are Found On Inside Walls of Apartment

FORT WORTH, April 24 (AP).—Mrs. Charles Engle, wife of the shortstop of the Fort Worth Cats, Texas League team, was burned to death in a mysterious fire in her apartment today. She died five hours after her almost nude body was found.

Neighbors advanced the theory that she met with violence, but police were skeptical. Blood and strands of hair were found on an inside wall of the building.

Mrs. Engle and the wife of another Fort Worth ball player, while enroute home after visiting a mutual friend, noticed another car following them. Mrs. Engle took her friend home and drove on home alone.

Shortly afterward, a passerby discovered the house ablaze and neighbors reported hearing a muffled explosion.

Engle, in Tulsa with the team for a series of games, rushed to his home.

Tydings claimed that the Puerto Ricans are ungrateful and pointed to the recent assassination of Colonel Francis Riggs, insular police chief. The bill provides when, if the commonwealth is established, spending of United States funds there shall greatly diminish.

LOUISIANA FARMER SOUGHT IN DEATHS OF OFFICERS; SHOT

Federal Men Capture Johnson After Battle

COLFAX, La., April 24.—Wallace Johnson, 45-year-old farmer, sought for the slaying of two Grant parish officers in a one man stand against the federal government's cattle dipping program, was shot and seriously wounded in a gun battle with four federal range riders in front of his home on the highway five miles north of here Thursday night.

Johnson was wounded by four range riders posted to watch the house after he fired at them in the darkness.

As the man came outside, carrying a lighted flashlight, the range riders called upon him to surrender. "All right, come and get me," they quoted Johnson as saying.

The officers yelled to him to show his hands in the flashlight so they would know he had no weapons. With that, they said, Johnson opened fire at them in the darkness, shooting about 10 times. They returned the fire, wounding him.

The shooting ended an intensive search started late Tuesday when Sheriff W. L. Nugent and Deputy D. L. Brunson of Grant parish were fatally wounded while aiding range riders look Johnson's cattle in trucks to be taken to dipping vats.

Earlier today Johnson's father, Sam Johnson, 64, held in jail as a material witness, predicted: "They'll never get Walter alive!"

DENVER, April 24 (AP).—A threat of Gov. Clyde Tingley of New Mexico to "retaliate" unless Colorado ceases its blockade against "cheap labor" left Governor Johnson silent Thursday.

"I have heard nothing from him directly, and until I do I have not a thing to say," Gov. Ed. C. Johnson said.

He referred to press dispatches which quoted Gov. Tingley as saying: "He won't get away with it when he starts sending New Mexico citizens back across the line."

Martial law was declared Saturday along the border because Governor Johnson said Colorado faced a threatened flood of "cheap labor" for railroads, sheep ranches and sugar beet fields. Indignants who have been turned back were quoted by national guard officers as saying they were coming to Colorado to work for $1.10 a day.

Tonight Major William Perry, in command of guardsmen on the New Mexico border south of Trinidad, Colo., reported 422 persons have been prevented from entering Colorado from New Mexico and Oklahoma since Monday.

TO DEMONSTRATE ORGAN AT CHURCH

Accompaniments, Concert And Song Will Be Heard Sunday

Concert and song accompaniments by the new Hammond organ will be heard Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, the instrument being brought to Midland for a demonstration under auspices of the Hall Music Co., Abilene.

The organ, with portable console and power units, is a new type instrument in which the usual pipes are supplanted by amplification, as in radio. The power is supplied by plugging in to a light socket.

The Rev. Winston P. Borum, pastor of the church, heard the organ played at the state Baptist Sunday school convention last week at Mineral Wells and arranged for the demonstration here. "The organ of a million tones" is a slogan used. An outstanding Texas organist will play for the service here.

DEMOCRATS OPEN BATTLE AGAINST NEW TAX MEASURE

Ohio Representative Starts Drive to Defeat Bill

REPUBLICAN AIDS

Reed Joins Lameneck In Protests Of Passage

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP).—Representative Lameneck, Democrat, Ohio, today opened Democratic opposition to the administration's huge tax bill, declaring that it would destroy absolutely thousands of business concerns throughout the country.

He added that the power to collect the "drastic" taxes included in the bill was not vested in the constitution.

Representative Reed (Republican, New York) claimed that the bill was "drastic and coercive."

Amid laudatory explanations by democrats and shouted criticism by republicans, the 1936 revenue bill was started through the house Thursday toward an uncertain reception in the senate.

As the house began debate on what administration experts labeled a $803,000,000 tax measure, senate revenue experts announced they were considering expanding it so as to bring in new processing taxes. At the same time they voiced strong opposition to hints by house spokesmen of another tax bill next session.

A storm of arguments, some outspokenly political, greeted the bill as Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the ways and means committee ushered it to the floor and outlined its provisions.

TRI-STATE RACE MEET OPENS MAY 8

Panhandle Race Expected To Reach New High At Amarillo

AMARILLO.—Horse racing in the Panhandle is expected to reach a new high in all respects here May 8-16.

Every since the Tri-State Fair commenced staging of horse racing in Amarillo each succeeding meeting has surpassed the previous ones both in the matter of attendance and the quality of thoroughbreds entered.

This spring's meeting next month will surpass even last fall's sensationally successful one is seen in the early swamping of the stable office for stall space and the fact that for three days during the race the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will convene in its annual meeting.

Mason King, the Tri-State's director of racing, announced last Saturday that over 300 stalls already had been reserved by horse owners. Ninety per cent of these reservations are for thoroughbred, registered running horses.

This number of entries completely overflows the available stall space in the regular barns. However, King says he is continuing to accept reservations because during the spring meeting he has access to the stock barns at the fair grounds.

Delegates to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will find their convention schedule so arranged it will permit them to attend the races in the afternoons. Post time each day will be at 2 o'clock p. m. The program will be speeded up so the final race will end promptly at 6 o'clock.

The Tri-State track has a reputation that extends over the entire country. Horse owners have come to know that the track is the best 5-8 mile course in the entire Southwest, and that every purse is paid as advertised in the condition books. Turf fans know that the races are conducted on a high plane, and the Texas Racing Commission has complimented Tri-State officials for the manner in which they strive to uphold every detail of the state law.

Must Be Heat

It can't be the Washington trial this early, and it can't be that Col. Frank Knox is hot under the collar, after his pleasant victory in the Illinois presidential preference primary. So it was probably just a habit, this gesture, as Washington newsmen interviewed the Chicago aspirant for the G. O. P. presidential nomination.

Grand Jury Indicts Five In Kidnaping of Wendel

Ellis Parker, Jr. Among Those Charged

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP).—A Brooklyn grand jury last night returned indictments against five persons, including Ellis Parker, Jr., son of a New Jersey detective, charged with kidnaping and second degree assault on Paul Wendel, a former Trenton, N. J., attorney, who figured in the closing days of the Bruno Hauptmann case.

The indictments came after Wendel twice had told the jury he was abducted in New York, held prisoner in a Brooklyn house, tortured to make him "confess" to kidnaping the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, and then taken to New Jersey.

Wendel repudiated the "confession" after it caused a delay of three days in the execution of Hauptmann for the Lindbergh kidnap crime.

The others indicted were Martin Schlossman and Henry Bleefeld, both now in custody, and Harry Weiss and Murray Bleefeld, whom police are seeking.

Schlossman, son-in-law of Harry Bleefeld, waived immunity and testified before the grand jury.

Parker is the son of the chief of detectives of Burlington county, N. J. The elder Parker played a prominent part in an attempt to investigate angles of the Lindbergh case after Hauptmann lost his appeals in the courts.

Immediately after the indictments were handed up to Justice George W. Martin, District Attorney William F. X. Goeghan said:

"This does not end our investigation. It is within the realm of probability that even further indictments may be secured before this case is finished."

PRISONERS GIVEN REPRIEVE 1 HOUR BEFORE DEATHS

BROOKLYN, N. Y., April 22 (AP).—Ellis Parker Jr., son of a Burlington, N. J., detective chief, was characterized as the "real conspirator" in the kidnaping, and torture of Paul Wendel today by District Attorney William Goeghan. He remained at large today, although it was rumored he was en route from New Jersey to surrender. Goeghan said "He concocted the whole plot!"

PAIR RECOVERING FROM DAYS SPENT IN MINE CAVE-IN

Hospital Treatment Brings Two Back To Normal

MOOSE RIVER, N. S., April 24 (AP).—Fresh air and hospital treatment today speeded recovery of two men dramatically rescued from a gold mine after a horrifying ten-day entombment.

The recuperation of the 62-year-old Dr. D. E. Robertson apparently was more rapid than that of his weaker companion, Charles Alfred Seadick, 44.

Seadick, a timekeeper, was rushed to Halifax by airplane for treatment. Physicians at an improvised hospital here where the two rescued men were taken immediately after they were brought to the surface early today, issued a favorable report on the Toronto physician's condition.

But both men were carefully shielded from questioners until they were stronger.

"They're doing O. K." was the word passed about by departing grizzled miners, volunteers in the dramatic fight to rescue the men following a cave-in at the Moose River gold mine Easter Sunday.

An inquest was opened into the death of their companion, Herman Magill, 30-year-old Toronto lawyer and co-owner of the mine with Robertson, who died early Monday.

The inquiry was adjourned until next Thursday after Dr. Glenn Donovan of Halifax testified: "I believe to the best of my knowledge that Herman Magill died of pneumonia, in all probability, brought on by exposure to cold and damp when his body was in a lot state of vitality through lack of nourishment."

FEMININE FANCIES

"The furniture trade here is the most discriminating I have ever seen," a Midland merchant told us yesterday. Midland buyers demand the best in quality and the newest in style—and get them, of course.

"This same merchant is displaying one suite of furniture made in California which has never been shown in Lubbock, Abilene or San Angelo. Already he has sold two of the suites.

Wonder why it is that anything described by the adjective "slave" has an exotic fascination? There's a bed now called the "slave bed"—just why, we don't know, unless the makers pre-suppose that the householder will be a slave to its comfort and simple, correct lines.

The chief distinguishing feature of the bed is the fact that its headboard and footboard slant uniquely outward. It comes in maple in reddish tones.

One last remark on furniture that we've recently been viewing: There's a new long mirror in a dresser which is tilted slightly so that a full view of midday may be obtained no matter how near the glass she is.

Two From Midland Asked to Appear On PTA Program

Programs planned for the fifteenth annual conference of the Sixth District PTA now in session at Sweetwater included the names of two Midland citizens, Mrs. Albin Schneider and Prin. J. H. Williams of Junior High School.

Mrs. Schneider who is radio chairman for the district was slated to report on the work of her division in today's session but is confined to her home with an attack of flu and so unable to attend the conference.

Mr. Williams will take part in an open forum, "A Character Centered Curriculum" Saturday morning and will speak on "Character Building."

He was also to serve as announcer in an "Amateur Hour" program but this feature has been omitted from final plans for the conference.

The conference will close Saturday.

Now there is the rainbow manicure—worse still, the rainbow pedicure.

Is up to date Miss America to submit to the monotonous of ten fingers or ten toes tipped with the same color? Indeed not! She should sally forth and get a rainbow on her finger and toes. The recipe calls for each finger nail and each toe nail to be painted a different color of the rainbow.

Such nail polish goes well with multi-colored chiffon or flowered print evening dresses. So they say! We have a feeling that we'd wonder if some one hadn't hit us over the head when we viewed such a confusion of flashing colors.

Chevrolet Sales To Reach 900,000 Units

Chevrolet dealers' used car sales for the first six months of the current model year will reach the staggering total of more than 900,000 units.

This announcement by W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, was a highlight of an interview this week, in which Holler pointed out that his company's record-breaking new car volume is giving used car prospects an exceptionally wide assortment from which to choose. High volume sales of used cars, he said, are the natural outcome of the public's recognition that these offerings are sound transportation values.

"While the figures are remarkable," said Holler, "they are easily understandable in light of what happened last November when the new Chevrolet was announced. The 1936 models received the most enthusiastic welcome of any new cars in the history of the company. In spite of the fact that dealers had been stocked in advance, it was necessary to maintain production at high levels all winter to keep pace with the demand."

"Such a situation can be accounted for only by the explanation that thousands of owners who would normally have driven their old cars a year or two longer were so strongly impressed by the new Chevrolet that they bought at once. As a matter of fact, the word 'old' in this connection is not at all accurate; for a high percentage of the trade-ins since November 2 have not been old cars at all, but recent models with thousands of miles of satisfactory service left."

"The trading-in of these cars has had the result of increasing the quality, and also of variety, of dealers' used car stocks. Through the medium of advertising, Chevrolet has gone systematically about the job of acquainting the public with this situation, with special stress on the fact that the Chevrolet Red OK Tag—now, by the way, nearly 11 years old—makes it possible to buy a used car with full confidence. The newspapers of the United States have carried the bulk of this advertising, and the schedule is being increased in preparation for further record sales this spring."

Centennial Year Reviving Interest In Lone Star Navy

Facts concerning the actual existence and movements of a Texas navy have until recently been the secret of a handful of Texas historians. Plans for the celebration of the Texas Centennial, however, have caused lay minds to develop a historical inquisitiveness about the early incidents that molded the Texas of today. Also encouraging this desire to ferret out long-forgotten Lone Star tales is a current newspaper contest based on nine momentous questions—dealing with important events in Texas history.

Details of this contest are outlined in weekly advertisements published in Texas newspapers. Advertisements announcing subsequent contests in the series of nine will appear regularly in this paper. A current contest question deals with the Texas navy, and in particular with the famous "sloop of war Austin."

Back in 1835, when the wrecking upheaval of revolution was cutting deep into Texas life and property, the provisional government employed a strategic move to acquire the so-called Texas navy. Realizing the efficacy of a small armed fleet for scouting and disciplinary purposes in southern waters, but lacking the necessary funds to put such a fleet into action, the government issued letters of marque and reprisal to private ship owners, giving them the legal right to "prevent invasion by sea" and to "blockade the Mexican ports and destroy her commerce."

Activities of such ships, invaluable to the successful completion of the war, included breaking up a blockade of the Texas ports and averting an attempt to close the New Orleans boat lines.

Purchase by the republic of two briggs, three schooners, a sloop and a steamer in 1840 appreciably swelled the small but effective navy, lent in that year to the Mexican states of Yucatan and Tabasco, which were revolting against the central government. This expedition to undermine the Mexican government, by allying insubordinate states with Texas, proved so profitable that for nearly three years the fleet operated in this way on a free-lance basis. The famous sloop of war Austin, about which legendary tales of great bat-

Mrs. B. F. Haag, president of the Methodist Missionary Society, and Mrs. M. V. The conference opened Tuesday and closes today.

PASTOR RETURNS
Rev. J. E. Pickering, pastor of the First Christian Church, returned Thursday night from Fort Worth where he had spent several days.

Files and heroic services are told, was one of the most gallant performers in this fleet.

In 1843 President Houston ordered the navy to return to home port, but Commodore Moore, leader of the fleet, having promised assistance to his friends in Yucatan, disobeyed the governmental command and sailed once more into tropical waters. The enraged President officially suspended Moore from command and issued a proclamation requesting all navies afloat to look out for the runaway fleet and seize the "post Captain Moore and bring him and the ships into Galveston so that the culprits could be adequately punished."

Commodore Moore, after paying his debt to his friends, returned home voluntarily. Texans acclaimed him a hero, and, though court-martialed, he was acquitted.

This incident witnessed the virtual end of the Texas navy's active service. Its vessels were beached and suffered from dry rot and decay. Those that were still on hand were turned over to the United States at the time of the annexation three years later.

Ah! Here Come Beach Nymphs!

For instance, dashing ice water on face and throat every night at each morning will keep your skin more firm and healthy than will bi-monthly application of cold to face. You really need to use the water, of course, but unless you can afford always to keep it on hand and have time to apply it, you'll better do the next best thing—ice water, and use it every day.

Remember that olive oil is a simple remedy for chapped hands. Alternate applications of ice cold and quite hot water often will make red nose less conspicuous.

When regular shampoos are the question for one reason or another, plain cornmeal is an effective cleanser. At night, rub a meal on scalp and hair, massage a bit, wrap a towel around your head and go to bed. Next morning brush for twenty minutes or until every trace of the meal is removed and your hair is clean, soft and shiny.

For roughened elbows and knuckles try olive oil or white vaseline. If they are discolored as well as rough, a lemon juice first, then oil or vaseline.

If you can't afford three real good creams, put every cent of your cream allowance money into one excellent all-purpose variety. Incidentally, I know about a new one which cleanses, softens and leaves the skin ready to receive make-up. This is perfect for a woman with limited budget. Also good for the business girl who can't bear to keep more than one jar of anything in her desk.

Farm Mortgages Take Less Cash To Pay Interest

A smaller part of the farmer's income now goes to pay farm mortgage interest than at any time since 1929. W. L. Myers, Farm Credit Administration governor, stated today. "Increased income and lower debt charges have put the farmer in the most favorable position with respect to interest payment since before the depression," Myers said.

Lower interest rates, debt cancellations, and other factors have lifted a $160,000,000 interest load from the farmer's back since 1932 and reduced the total farm mortgage interest bill to the lowest point since 1917," he continued.

According to his statement, the farmer's mortgage interest bill, which rose to nearly 10 per cent of gross farm income in 1932—the all-time high point—dropped to 4.7 per cent in 1935, compared to 5 per cent in 1929. The interest bill, which stood at $510,000,000 in 1932, dropped steadily to approximately $350,000,000 in 1935.

"No decrease in mortgage interest, even remotely comparable to the drop in farm income, occurred until 1933," Myers continued. "While gross farm income dropped 56 per cent from 1929 to 1932 the interest charges on mortgage debts dropped only 8 per cent."

"In 1933, however, due to refinancing at lower rates and shrinkage in total debt volume, the interest bill dropped sharply. The total decrease to 1935 was 32 per cent. The reduction, accompanied by the increase in farm commodity prices since 1933, has restored the pre-depression relationship between farm income and the farmer's interest obligations."

The governor said marked improvement in interest collections on Federal land bank loans over the past two years leads him to believe that a similar improvement in payments on farm mortgage debts in general has also occurred.

He explained that while a large part of the decrease in the mortgage interest bill results from reduction in the mortgage debt itself, over one-third results from lower interest rates and refinancing through the Farm Credit Administration.

"Farmers with mortgage loans through the Farm Credit Administration are saving over $68,000,000 on interest alone this year because of refinancing or as a result of temporary interest reductions provided by Congress for Federal land bank borrowers," Myers said.

He said that nearly $2,000,000,000 of farm debts, drawing interest rates that averaged 6.3 per cent a year, have been converted into long-term mortgage loans carrying interest charges to Federal land bank borrowers through national farm loan associations have been reduced to 3 1/2 per cent for interest installments payable in the year ending July 1, 1936, and to 4 per cent a year for the next two years.

Keeping United States Out of War Is Big Issue in Coming Campaign

By NEA Service

Three courses of diplomacy open to American politicians in keeping the United States out of war have just been pointed out through a survey made by the Foreign Policy Association, independent research organization which is privately supported to study America's foreign relations.

Publishing its newest report under the title of "Peace in Party Platforms," the survey is primarily a review of political party platforms dealing with U. S. policy on problems of world peace.

Indirectly, however, it is intended to clarify and simplify the problem of maintaining U. S. neutrality. It is further a challenge to all political parties to write clear-cut planks in their 1936 convention platforms, stating just what policies each party will approve to prevent war.

While major interest in this year's political campaign will of course center on national and local issues, in the background is the common realization that American prosperity is in a large measure dependent on world peace.

Three Courses Cited

All party platforms, the booklet points out, have always declared for peace. But at the same time they have declared for other policies which helped lead to war.

In an effort to crystallize opinion on definite plans for achieving peace, the association suggests that three major courses are possible:

1. Political isolation and economic expansion. No "entangling alliances." No economic co-operation with the League of Nations, and no membership in the World Court. Strong army and navy prepared to defend our right to trade with the world, no matter what wars are going on, and to defend the "Open Door" in China. Maintenance of defense bases in the Philippines. High protective tariff, but extension of foreign trade. No cancellation of 2. International co-operation. If there are to be wars, it will be almost impossible to keep the U. S. out. Therefore, join with other nations to prevent war. That means joining economic boycotts against nations which violate treaties such as the Kellogg anti-war pact or nations classed by the League of Nations as aggressors. Membership in League of Nations and World Court and support, except by armed force. Withdraw from the Philippines completely. Reduce tariffs along Secretary Hull's present line, but try to get international agreements to stabilize money and more evenly distribute the world's natural resources.

3. Keep-out-of-war policy. Be prepared to abandon most of our foreign trade in case of war because the cost of going to war to protect it would be greater than the cost of supporting the unemployed created by loss of the trade.

Strict embargo laws against all export of war materials to belligerents, and readiness to include almost everything on list of contraband. No co-operation with League or other economic boycotts, because they lead to war. Keep Americans out of war zones and make clear that any shipments to belligerents are at the shipper's risk.

Withdraw all armed forces from China and the Philippines. Defensive army and navy only. Lower tariffs to encourage foreign trade, but depend chiefly on expanding the home market for international competition for markets is the chief cause of wars.

Cost of War Big Issue

Something along one of these three lines ought to be made a settled policy, the association believes. The choice should be made deliberately, counting the cost of either course, and setting it off against the probable cost of war.

This cost can, of course, best be measured against the cost of the last one. Treasury officials recently figured that, including this summer's bonus, the cost of the World War has been $15,200,000,000 in money, and we are still paying $1,000,000,000 a year in interest, compensation, pensions, and the like.

It is against such expense that the cost of any peace program must be balanced.

"The choice which America makes," the pamphlet urges, will depend in good part on what the American citizen really wants; "whether you want to keep out of all wars, regardless of cost, or only those wars which don't directly concern us and our interests; whether you want to support a big army and navy to defend American rights in all parts of the world; or whether you want to try other methods of preventing war."

It is in terms of a definite plan like one of the three discussed above, the association urges, that the party platforms of 1936 should be shaped, so they shall not be mere pious hopes and platitudes about peace as they have so often been in the past.

Sacrificing of all foreign trade to protect U. S. neutrality in a general war would mean great losses to business and fewer jobs. But in that case, say peace workers, it would be necessary to make the goods normally shipped abroad. ### Geologist Finds Big Bend Region Rich for Study

ALPINE (AP)—Dr. Charles N. Gould, regional geologist of the National Park service, believes "men whose grandfathers are yet unborn" will be finding new things in the Chisos country that would be included in the proposed Big Bend National Park.

Complete skeletons of dinosaurs and other prehistoric reptiles, are likely to be uncovered in the Big Bend area, he predicts, and, with a view to obtaining answers to unsolved problems, recommends a petrographic study of the various types of lava rocks in the different mountains.

He also suggests investigation of the oyster shells and other forms of marine life he found in a petrified state in the area, and a study of speleothems of petrified wood, including a search for petrified leaves.

"During Cretaceous times," Dr. Gould declares, "something like 8,000 to 10,000 feet of limestone, sandstone and cherty layers laid down as sediments either in deep seas or in shallow water. Later, these beds were raised above the ocean to become dry land. Then came a period of great volcanic action with violent eruptions and vast quantities of molten rock in the form of lava were forced between layers of Cretaceous rocks.

"In other cases, the lava came to the surface in the form of dikes which stand up like walls crossing the country. Still later, great faults developed when blocks of rock several miles across were raised or lowered thousands of feet from their original positions.

"The present shape of the country—the relief—has been caused chiefly by agents of erosion, including rain, running water, wind, heat, cold, frost and chemical action, wearing away the softer beds and leaving the harder rocks, chiefly volcanic, standing out as mesas, peaks and ridges."

Goats Staging Annual Frolic

SAN ANGELO (AP).—Pure white kid goats, the prettiest, friskiest young of any animal on the range, are staging their annual frolics in West Texas.

Always effervescent, these natural acrobats carry on a continuous spring performance against a background of pecan-bordered streams, cactus and the green umbrellas of liveoak trees. The kids seem to play organized games much as children. One is a sort of follow-the-leader contest in which they balance themselves on rocks and hop from one to another over cliffs that would challenge the skill of a mountain climber. When an automobile is plunked in a pasture the kids soon learn to slide down its fenders while some, growing tired, perhaps, rest on its top.

The kids carry on their backs the costliest fibre in the state, kid mohair, currently quoted at 70 cents a pound. Over eight counties in the hill country of Southwest Texas, 5,000 men are assisting nannies in bringing kids into the world. A crop of 2,000,000 is estimated this spring.

Finish Maps Showing County Arrangements

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—The Texas planning board has completed a series of maps showing the arrangement of counties in Texas since 1840.

Announcing completion of a brief history of Texas giving its outstanding events, W. M. Masie, chairman, said the board "is very much interested in all phases of Texas history and therefore we appreciate opportunities for cooperating with out of Texas people who are interested in the history of this state."

He said the history was prepared in order to give the necessary background for planning. The group of maps depicting the arrangement of counties, Masie said, "makes an exceedingly interesting study because it shows the progressive growth of Texas."

Distribution of Texas population, he said would be shown for each decade by placing dots on the maps, a procedure which "will give a splendid picture of the growth of our state."

Dr. W. P. Maroney, head of the department of sociology at Baylor University, Waco, assisted in preparation of the matter.

ENFORCED EXILE OF CALLES LEAVES CARDENAS IN COMMAND OF POLITICS

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The enforced exile of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles has left President Lazaro Cardenas in complete command of the nation's politics and written a definite finish to another of the many dictatorships under which Mexico has lived in the past 400 years.

Cardenas' control is so absolute political commentators are in agreement that the president could, if he desired, follow up his drastic move in expelling Calles by taking other steps to remove all opposition to his regime and converting it, in effect into a legalized dictatorship.

There is no basis at present for believing Cardenas will use his power to limit the activities of the few who admit to being his political enemies or that he has any desire to extend his presidential term beyond December, 1940. He has repeatedly stated he would retire at the end of his six year term.

In the year and six months Cardenas has been president, the only restrictive measures taken by his government have been directly concerned with Calles. They included the ousting of the former dictator from the national revolutionary party, the unseating of several senators and deputies, establishment of a partial censorship which prevented Mexican papers from printing any statement from Calles and finally, the exiling of the one-time strong man.

The president has said he acted against Calles only after long deliberation and when "the safety of the country so demanded." Neither Cardenas nor any cabinet officer has said whether official support would be given to a move to confiscate and "return to the proletariat" the properties Calles and his political supporters acquired during their long careers as revolutionaries...

Softball, the game that has swept the country, has 60-foot base lines and a pitching distance of 40 feet this season.

Freak pitching deliveries that threatened the wreck the game are curbed and the umpire has a broader latitude in calling an infield fly in the most drastic rule changes since bunting and base-stealing was eliminated several years ago.

A poll at the national meeting during the winter revealed that 64 per cent of softball centers used 60-foot base lines. The others, including 75 of 76 leagues in Detroit, preferred 45-foot base lines and the 37-foot, 8 1/2-inch pitching distance.

The National Recreation Association decided to make the larger diamond official so that rules and conditions would be uniform in inter-city tournaments. Standardizing the code has been one of the game's biggest problems.

In the past, the rules forbade a runner from scoring on a balk. But under the new regulations, announced by Hubert G. Johnson, of the Detroit Department of Recreation, interpreter for the joint rules committee of the national body, all base-runners advance on a balk. An illegal pitch also constitutes a balk.

Each illegal pitch shall be called a balk. A batter, of course, is not entitled to take first base on an illegal pitch unless it is the fourth ball. Senator Damasco Cardenas, was illegally obtaining road building contracts. Calles disclaimed any knowledge of this speech but believed, nevertheless, it was the cause of his being sent into exile.

Since the departure of Calles, leaders of the C. R. O. M. have visited Cardenas and apparently promised their support. If this is so, the most articulate opposition to the president has been definitely removed since all other labor and peasant organizations are strongly behind him in his campaign to aid workers, while industrialists and businessmen, who oppose the president's policies, have promised to work with him in solving their problems.

Some of the principal figures of the government, however, have been the object of attacks by labor, including Gen. Saturnino Cedillo; secretary of agriculture, and Emilio Portes Gil, president of the National Revolutionary party. Cedillo is regarded as a "reactionary" by some sectors, principally because it is understood he allows Catholics complete religious freedom in the state of San Luis Potosi, which is under his control.

Portes Gil, whom Calles made president in 1928 when he retired to assume his unofficial role of strong man, has met charges that he was still a Callista by bitterly attacking Calles, who he said "was thrown out of the country like a common criminal."

Boll Weevil Wanted By Wisconsin Youth

DALLAS, Texas, (AP)—A small boy, living in Wisconsin, wrote to the Chamber of Commerce and said "Please send me a boll-weevil quick, because I need it in my school work."

This is just one of the many requests that reach the office of J. C. Crampton, executive secretary of the chamber. Replies are taken care of by Mr. Crampton's secretary, but requests for such things as boll-weevils, horned toads, snakes and other insects, animals and reptiles, are not complied with.

One woman in a neighboring town wrote in recently to "find out whether or there is a good plastic surgeon in Dallas." This inquiry was turned over to the Dallas County Medical Association, along with other medical inquiries.

The Robert E. Lee school of San Antonio want soil samples, as they are studying Texas soil, and Parker High School, Chicago, Ill. wants information on how to build a pioneer Texas town. Both of these requests will be filled.

A traveling salesman in Oklahoma "understands" that they are giving away Centennial hats and wants his shipped on immediately. "Please let me know where I can buy a couple of diamond-back rattlesnakes," writes in Joe Besek, Detroit, Mich. The chamber will furnish this information, but it positively will not catch the reptiles, Crampton stated.

The request for the horned toads came from Oklahoma, and as this particular letter asked nothing more than a picture or sketch of the reptile, it will be answered.

By using ammonia gas, good work can be stamned an attractive brown.

Very. The new wording allows the umpire to call an infield fly when it would have landed within reasonable distance of the base lines, and makes it purely a matter of judgment.

While the use of rubber-soles, or shoes with rubber or leather cleats, are recommended, metal spikes are now permitted, provided the spikes are blunt and do not exceed three-eighths of an inch.

Softball becomes more like baseball all the time. Perhaps the hundreds of thousands who play and the millions who watch it soon will reach the conclusion that Abner Doubleday had the right idea in the first place.

Softball Becomes More Like Baseball

The balk rule, hitherto kept off the books because it is impossible to deceive a base-runner if the base-runner himself is adhering to the rules, obviously was put in the new rules to break up trick pitching deliveries.

A base-runner can't be fooled by a pitcher's motion because he is not supposed to leave a base until the ball has reached or passed the batter. If he removes his foot from the base before the pitch gets up to the batter, he is automatically out.

An illegal pitch not struck at; an illegal pitch struck at and missed; and an illegal pitch struck at and fouled will be called balls. If the batter hits an illegal pitch into fair territory, the play shall go on as if the pitch had been legal.

The old wording which required the ball to land on or within the base lines before the infield fly rule applied, caused considerable controversy.

Each illegal pitch shall be called a balk. A batter, of course, is not entitled to take first base on an illegal pitch unless it is the fourth ball. Senator Damasco Cardenas, was illegally obtaining road building contracts. Calles disclaimed any knowledge of this speech but believed, nevertheless, it was the cause of his being sent into exile.

Would Test Drivers As Safety Device

SAN ANTONIO, (AP)—Reaction tests for automobile drivers similar to those given student pilots by the school of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Field here, have been suggested as a step toward eliminating unfit drivers who represent highway hazards.

en on a machine developed at the school of aviation medicine. A signal panel containing three double rows of parallel lights face the student pilot. Two are curved, two horizontal and two vertical. One row in each set is green, the other white. The green are the signal lights and work automatically, and the white, the responsive lights controlled by the student.

One light in each row is illuminated at a time and the student must illuminate the white opposite the green by manipulating improvised stick and rudder as in handling an airplane in flight. Tests of some 1500 students in this manner reveal those reacting most favorably also react most favorably to pilot training. Students who completed the 40 movements of the test in the shortest time represented approximately 75 per cent who completed the flying course at Randolph and Kelly fields. Of those slowest in completing the reaction tests, about 25 per cent graduated. Ten years ago not more than one out of four entering the army flying schools graduated but careful selection of students since has raised the percentage graduating to double that figure.

Drama and Comedy Animate the Film By Dionne Quints

"The Country Doctor," showing at the Yucca, preview Saturday night, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, proves to be the "blessed event" of the year as it presents the five famous Dionne quintuplets laughing, crying and stealing your heart as motion picture stars.

It is a story bristling with drama, comedy paths and adventure that presents these universally loved babies in their first feature length picture roles. Jean Hersholt is the hero, as the doctor who dedicates his life to a tooth-and-claw battle against pain and ill in a Canadian fur settlement.

Hampered by official red-tape, sorely in need of a hospital, he antagonizes the heads of his company, loses his position because of the enmity of the company manager. He answers one last call for his services, and to his astonishment brings five tiny mites to the world at one birth.

With a startling suddenness, the doctor finds his position reversed. He is the focus of world interest, he

Laredo Court Books Show Case In 1849

LAREDO (AP).—Court records here reveal that the first indictment for murder in Webb County was returned by the grand jury in the fourth judicial district court in November, 1849. The repetitious phraseology suggests the grand jurors desired to leave no loophole for the man charged, and described the instrument as "not having the fear of God before his eyes," to escape. The weapon used in the killing was defined as "a certain double-barrel gun of the value of twenty dollars... loaded and charged with gunpowder and three leaded bullets and six leaden shot." The manner of the killing was described amid a forest of adjectives, the indictment declaring the weapon was discharged "by the force of gunpowder."

can demand and get everything he wants for his tiny charges. And, in the climax, the man who faced a lonely old age becomes the recipient of highest honors from the government.

Contrasted against the dramatic central plot are the comedy roles of Slim Summerville and John Qualen, and the youthfully tender romance of Michael Whalen and June Lang, all contributing to the story's entertainment power.
