BRITISH MOVE TO STOP ARAB-JEWS IN NEW RIOTING

Soldiers Are Flown To Jerusalem Today

PREVENT FIGHTS Wire Entanglements Erected Around Cities

LONDON, May 8. (AP)—Reliable sources today said that the British government had ordered transport planes filled with British soldiers to fly from Cairo to Palestine to prevent further Arab-Jewish rioting. From Jerusalem came reports that emergency measures had been invoked to preserve order following a decision by 150 Arab leaders to launch a campaign of civil disobedience, including a rigid boycott of everything Jewish.

GLEE CLUB FROM ABILENE VISITS

Concert Given At High School Auditorium Early Today

The boys' glee club from the Abilene high school gave a concert for the junior and senior high school students this morning at the high school auditorium.

The program, composed of classical numbers as well as some of a lighter nature, was well received by the audience. Features of the program were a quartette number, original compositions by one of the boys, and negro songs.

HENDERSON AREA EXTENSION LOOMS

Wahlenmaier and Atlantic Test Is Showing For Big Well

Winkler county continued to hold the spotlight today when Wahlenmaier and Atlantic No. 1 Walton, wildcat test a mile north and a half east of the Henderson area, kicked off after striking oil and gas pay from 3,020 to 3,068. The well is shut in today at total depth of 3,070 in line and tubing will probably be run for a test. No estimates are available on the well's possibilities, but it thought to be good for some where between 1,500 and 3,000 barrels per day.

The Wahlenmaier and Atlantic well had previously been completed as a gasser and was selling fuel to other tests in the area. It struck an estimated 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas at 2,825, but casing was damaged when tools were hung up in it. Rotary equipment was installed and the well drilled ahead.

The prospective extension is located in the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 34, block 74, public school land. It is a mile north and a little east of the Henderson and Uscan No. 2-B Walton line producer which was gauged day before yesterday at a potential of 1,689 barrels per day flowing through 3/4-inch choke on tubing.

KERMIT AREA WELL FLOWS 1,135 BARRELS ON TEST

In the Kermit area of Winkler, McCurdy and others No. 1 Pure-McCutcheon in the southwest corner of section 16, block B-3, public school land, a half mile east and one location north of the discovery, flowed 1,135 barrels on the 24-hour prorated gauge. A 330-quart shot is said to have exploded 18 hours prematurely but did no greater damage than kinking one of the joints of drill-pipe in the bottom tribble. Operators had the drill-pipe in the hole after running shot in order to maintain a circulation and keep the hole clean. The test reached a total depth of 2,968 feet. (See OIL NEWS, page 8)

Y., and Mildred Culvert (left), graduate nurse of the Norwegian Hospital, Brooklyn. Both went to Ethiopia as missionaries.

FORT WORTH, May 8.—There are more beautiful and talented women in the Southwest than there are on Broadway, Billy Rose, the top among the nation's leading showmen, declared today.

Rose, who has featured beautiful women in Jumbo and his other theatrical successes, is now confident that he can secure in the Southwest more than half of the 500 girls needed for his Frontier Centennial attractions.

HARAR CAPTURED BY THE ITALIANS AFTER BIG BATTLE

Conquest of Empire Completed By Seizure

CITY IS RAVAGED Natives Riot, Leave Only Debris for Invaders

By Associated Press
A Roman newspaper correspondent today reported that Harar, Ethiopia's second largest city, was captured today by Italian troops, completing Italy's conquest of the East African empire.

Earlier reports said that Harar had been partly destroyed by fire after violent outbreaks of rioting similar to those which made a shambles of Addis Ababa.

Meanwhile, the fleeing emperor, Haile Selassie, reached Palestine on a British warship and received the monarch's salute as armed troops guarded Palestine's port city of Haifa.

Strong anti-sanctions sentiment inspired predictions that a cabinet crisis was looming for Britain's prime minister Baldwin.

In Geneva the League of Nations officials insisted that Ethiopia still was a sovereign league member.

A responsible source declared that Britain was putting the pressure on Germany for including Russia, Latvia and Estonia in Hitler's non-aggression pact.

Italian Daggers Salute Victory

More and more frequent and enthusiastic were the demonstrations honoring their leader in Rome, as Italian troops swept victoriously on evacuated Addis Ababa, key objective of their campaign of conquest. In this picturesque tribute, hands raised in Fascist salute grasped daggers, as Italian warriors solemnly dedicated the latest of their series of victories to their guiding spirit, Il Duce. Note that one of the saluting fighters is a mere boy.

Blakeney Receives Unusual Accident When His Car Is Destroyed By Flames

B. H. Blakeney, returning Thursday afternoon from his Ector county ranch, had an unusual accident, losing his automobile by fire and receiving slight burns and injuries.

He then noticed that the heavy inner tube was burning also and was stuck to the rim. Other motorists arrived and offered assistance and they pushed the car forward, causing the burning rubber to stick to the pavement. Blakeney then decided to get in the machine and drive it far enough to get the burning rubber off the rim. As he did so, flames penetrated the rear of the car and spread rapidly from gasoline.

Blakeney driving at 40 miles an hour applied the brakes, turning the car toward the side of the road, opened the door and jumped. The automobile wheel passed over his ankle, throwing him against the pavement and causing bruises and removal of skin on his arms. He then accepted a ride into Odessa as his car smoldered in flames.

MAN RUNS AMUCK, KILLS ONE WOMAN AND WOUNDS TWO

Police Able to Catch Assassin Before More Shot

FAIRMONT, W. Va., May 8. (AP)—Nick Lacamera, 32, ran amuck Thursday in the Jackson Hotel here, slew one woman and probably fatally wounded two others by shooting them with a .45-calibre pistol.

Police were told Lacamera had been carrying a gun for several days and had threatened to get any person who started ugly rumors about him.

Mrs. Yantis Dudley, 50, died a short time after the shooting. The two critically wounded were Mary Sue Brown, 26, and Lucille Limer, 30.

Police believed Lacamera shot Miss Brown first and when he went to her hotel room and then fired on the other two women when they came to investigate.

A riot call sent city and county police hurrying to the hotel where they overpowered Lacamera before he could shoot anybody else. He was taken immediately to county jail.

Acting Coroner Kenna Clark said a first-degree murder charge would be placed against Lacamera.

OUTSTANDING MEN TO SPEAK TODAY

Leaving business worries behind, the first of 300 Legionnaires began arriving late Friday, with the majority expected early today, to spend two enjoyable days at Midland attending the district American Legion convention.

Both ex-service men and members of the Auxiliary were to be registered early today, with interesting programs arranged for the two organizations.

Commander James H. Goodman of Woods W. Lynch post here expected a minimum of 300 delegates for the two day meeting. All members of the post were preparing to be on hand to assist visitors and show them a good time.

Details of the program appear in column two and three, on this page, and in the two-page greeting from Midland merchants and citizens elsewhere in this issue.

Many notable Texans, including Col. Ernest O. Thompson, Judge C. V. Terrell, state adjutant Fred Young, Garland Adair, M. L. Hopson, Earl Earp and many others, Thompson and Terrell, members of the state Railroad Commission, will be guest speakers at the convention.

An enterprising program has been charted for the visitors, enough things scheduled to fill all periods. Band, contests, speeches, dances, banquets and many other forms of entertainment have been arranged.

Delegates from the following West Texas towns have signified their intention of being here for the convention: Alpine, Balmorhea, Big Lake, El Paso, Crane, Fabens, Fort Bliss, Fort Stockton, Iraan, Marfa, McCamey, Midland, Monahans, Odessa, Pecos, Presidio, Sanderson, Van Horn, Wink.

Other plans for assisting the Legion post in entertaining the visitors during the convention were made by the temporary Auxiliary organization at a meeting on the mezzanine of the Hotel Scharbauer Thursday afternoon.

Registration for members of the Auxiliary attending the convention will be made on the mezzanine of the hotel Saturday, Saturday evening, and Sunday morning.

Auxiliary members will be assisted in the reception of the visitors during the convention reception and dance Saturday evening by a score or more prominent young women of the town as sponsors. Auxiliary members will be chaperones for the event.

Mrs. T. L. Jones of Post, state president of the Auxiliary will be in Midland for the convention as will Mrs. Edith Hopson of Alpine, district committeewoman. Mrs. Hopson has predicted that 100 women will be visitors here for the two-day event.

President of the temporary Auxiliary organization for Midland is Mrs. I. C. Watson, with Mrs. Geo. L. Wright serving as secretary and treasurer.

PROHIBITIONISTS PICK ALVIN YORK TO RUN ON TICKET

Famed Soldier Will Be Vice-President Candidate

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 8. (AP)—The Prohibition party placed its ticket in the '36 Presidential race Thursday, nominating Dr. D. Leigh Colvin of New York for president and then drafting Sergeant Alvin C. York of Tennessee, famous World War hero, for Vice-President.

Dr. Colvin is a nationally known dry leader but York is not a member of the party and leaders at the national convention here said they were not certain he would accept.

Sergeant York is the country boy who was drafted during the World War against his religious scruples and became, in General Pershing's words, "the greatest civilian soldier of the World War."

Hero of Argonne Forest
Just another doughboy corporal when the American army plunged into the Argonne Forest in 1918, he killed 25 Germans and took 132 prisoners on an October morning when his detachment was almost wiped out.

He then noticed that the heavy inner tube was burning also and was stuck to the rim. Other motorists arrived and offered assistance and they pushed the car forward, causing the burning rubber to stick to the pavement. Blakeney then decided to get in the machine and drive it far enough to get the burning rubber off the rim. As he did so, flames penetrated the rear of the car and spread rapidly from gasoline.

What Has Gone Before? Dr. Cardin is engaged to be married to Karen with Martha has opened a private boarding school. Mrs. Mortar Martha's aunt, finds Dr. Cardin in Martha's room, and draws scandalous inferences. Mary Tilford, a brat of a pupil, has also seen Dr. Cardin come out of Martha's room, and a bitter conversation between Martha and her aunt is overheard by two other pupils.

Chapter Four When Martha closed the door upon the two girls she accidentally bruised Rosalie's arm. It was a slight bruise but one that was later to take on damaging import. Meanwhile Mary was nursing injuries of another sort. She had come out badly in her attempted trick upon Karen. Her faint had convinced nobody, and Dr. Cardin's examination revealed clearly that she was faking. "How does it feel to be back from the grave?" he inquired of Mary with mock solicitude. "It's my heart," Mary said stubbornly, and it hurts." "Science has failed," Cardin said to Karen. "Try a hair brush." Mary, her prestige with her fellow pupils entirely destroyed, plotted revenge. The opportunity, unfortunately, was only too close at hand. Thoughtlessly, Evelyn and Rosalie repeated to her the conversation they had overheard. Mary's eyes gleamed. "I'm going home," she said suddenly. Shet returned ferociously upon Rosalie, who was shifting some clothes out of the bureau drawer. "You've got two dollars and twenty-five cents. I need it for a taxi.

Get it for me." When Rosalie refused, Mary grabbed her suddenly by her injured arm. Rosalie dropped the bundle she was carrying. The missing gold bracelet dropped to the floor with a clang. Rosalie stared at the bracelet and gasped with pain. "That's my sore arm," she pleaded. "Don't—"

Mary only pressed the harder. "Just say when you've had enough." The pain and the threat of exposure made Rosalie a helpless victim. Mary entered her home alone, leaving Rosalie waiting outside. Her welcome was not a cordial one. Mrs. Tilford, for all her weakness for her granddaughter, was not to be easily disposed of. Learning that Mary had left school without permission, she sternly ordered her to return. Mary became hysterical. "Don't send me back!" she pleaded. "Grandma! Please! I can't go back. I can't! They'll kill me, grandma. They will, they will!"

"What makes you say such terrible things?" Mrs. Tilford asked. "They're true," Mary insisted through her tears. "Honest, I fainted today." Mrs. Tilford cried out in alarm: "Fainted?" "Yes, I did. My heart. I had a pain in my heart, and Dr. Cardin said I didn't have any pain and—"

Mrs. Tilford breathes a sigh of relief. Mary saw that she had overreached herself, and subsided somewhat. But after dinner, Mary resumed her complaint. "You don't love me," she moaned. "You don't care whether they kill me or not!" Mrs. Tilford made a gesture of despair. "What makes you talk like that, Mary?" "It's because I'm scared, Grandma. I'm scared. They've got something against me and they punished me for everything. Today they even said I couldn't go to the boat races."

Mrs. Tilford's attention was for the first time arrested. "What? What was that?" "That she knew what was going on," Mary said speaking quickly, "and she always had know about what was going on. And Miss Doble said she'd have to get out of the house. And that's why we have to move our room. I bet. Because they're frightened that we'll hear things, too. And that's why they punish me. I guess they know about how I couldn't help hearing about that awful night. . . ."

"What awful night?" asked Mrs. Tilford tensely. Mary was sure of herself now. Slowly she built up her whole scandalous narrative, whispering the most monstrous charges. Mrs. Mortar was horrified. "Do you know what you're saying? Are you telling me the truth?" Mary rattled on. "Honest. Honest. And today there was an awful row and Mrs. Mortar said they were putting her out because she couldn't be fooled and she knew about the things that were happening and Miss Doble got awfully angry at that and said she had to get out, right away—and it was things like that all the time. And Mrs. Mortar said that was why they were putting her out, and. . . ."

"How do you know what Mrs. Mortar said?" "Because Rosalie and Evelyn heard them," Mary said excitedly. "And Miss Doble got mad when she found out that they heard, and she was so mad she took Rosalie's arm and hurt it—bad."

She was suddenly struck with an inspiration. "Wait a minute Grandma," she said and ran out of the room, returning with Rosalie, whose arm she had carefully bandaged in advance. "See Grandma? See how they hurt her arm?" "Rosalie!" Mrs. Tilford said. "Is your mother still in New York?" Rosalie nodded in bewilderment. "Then you'll stay here until she returns." "Grandma," Mary inquired softly. "Do I have to go back to that awful place?" "No," said Mrs. Tilford grimly. "You won't have to go back." (To Be Continued)

At The Library

"America Strikes Back" by Gustavus Myers: John Chamberlain, N. Y. Times says: "America Strikes Back" does two things superbly; it knocks the aquilative-quantitative cliché squarely in the head, and it forever disposes of the cliché that assumes that American politics are more corrupt than those of England, that American business men are more rapacious than European business men and that money grabbing is somehow indigenous to this side of the Atlantic." The book lists say: "Materialism, greed, and commercial dishonesty are not peculiar to America, though there is more publicity about them here. The author finds in history evidence that most scandals in America can be matched in other countries; the U. S. has been maligned by foreign critics, he thinks."

"The Hoover Administration," by William Starr Myers and Walter H. Newton: "Documentary evidence drawn from state papers and from Hoover's own writings and speeches, with commentary by the editors. The evidence is offered in defense of Hoovers policies, chosen to show him as an able administrator and astute statesman."

"The Pulitzer Prize Plays, 1918-1934," edited by Kathryn Coo and William H. Cordell: "The unbridled text of the sixteen Pulitzer prize-winning plays from 1918 to 1934." "Home and Community Hygiene" by Jean Broadhurst: Accurate, non-technical; the household as related to rural or urban health conditions considered more at length than the problems of public administration.

"Everyday Problems of the Everyday Child" by Douglas Armour Thom: Same advice for parents and teachers, illustrated by typical cases successfully treated in the habit clinics in Boston where the author is director. "The Nervous Child" by Hector Charles Cameron: An extremely helpful book by a prominent English physician who has had ample experience in the field of which he writes. A serious and authoritative discussion addressed to doctors, mothers, and nurses concerning the conditions and treatment necessary for correcting defects and helping development, written in perfectly clear and understandable language. "Our Children," a Handbook for Parents' Dorothy Canfield Fisher, and Sidonie Matsner Guenberg; editors: Sound, substantial aid from twenty-nine experts about common problems of child training. A reference book for parents and teachers, which present the best thought of the present day. Heredity and Child Culture" by Henry Dwight Caplan: A plea for the conservation of child life as the most important of all social and humanitarian movements. It treats of heredity and the modification of its effects by environment and stresses the need for definite training for motherhood. The most valuable portion of the book deals with the dependent children and explains the Speedwell system which the author as president of the children's welfare federation of New York, devised for their care.

"The Train Book" by William Clayton Pryor: "A photographic picture-book with a story." This account of a railroad journey and a visit to a freight yard is told in simple, informative text which is motivated by two children's great interest in all they saw and did while traveling. Excellent photographic illustrations that tell the story for those too young to read.

"The Glass Book" by William Clayton Pryor, and Helen Sloman Pryor and "The Steel Book" by the same authors: Are similar in purpose and format to "The Train Book." Like the above these books which explain and describe manufacturing processes, are made up of photographic reproductions faced by explanatory text in the form of conversation with two children.

The Town Quack (Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything). ter of fact the parents should feel chagrined and disappointed. In these modern times, Miss Dix asserts, girl babies are much, much more desirable. Statistics prove that girls, as they grow into full womanhood do much more for their aging parents than the boys. Girls love their parents more and feel their responsibility to them more, while a much larger percentage of the boys just simply walk out on their mothers and their fathers. An old story being re-published is about two old maids. "You know," said the first, "I had a very peculiar experience last night. I came home and found two strange men there. "Did you scream?" asked the other one. "Of course I did," was the reply. "And as soon as I screamed one of the men jumped out of the window." "And did you scream again?" "No," she said, "I learned my lesson the first time." The stem of a giant bamboo tree may grow more than a foot a day

I believe I am entitled to my own ideas. I fail to see where any particular etiquette should be law just because one woman proclaimed it (aside from what my wife says). And now Dorothy Dix would explode that age-old pride men have had about boy babies. Most any man walks the streets with his chest fully expanded when he has a new boy baby at his house, but they usually appear deflated upon announcement of a girl baby. But Dorothy Dix sees it differently. She said that there is always general rejoicing when a boy baby is born to a family, but that as a mat-

Centennial Theme Is Keynote of 1928 Bridge

The brilliance of poppies used for house decorations and the red, white, and blue of the Centennial theme carried out in party accessories brought a colorful note to the afternoon bridge for which Mrs. M. C. Uimer was hostess at her home 111 North C street Thursday afternoon, honoring the 1928 club and several guests. The Lone Star of Texas was featured on tallies for the games and prizes were wrapped in the patriotic tri-colors.

First prize for club members went to Mrs. Elliott Cowden and second to Mrs. Clarence Scharbauer while award for guests went to Mrs. Googins.

Goldsmith, Roy Parks, Johnson Phillips, Clarence Scharbauer, William Simpson, Don Sivals, John B. Thomas, and the hostess.

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Giggling is a much-maligned pastime. Granted that it can be excessively annoying to those not initiated into the reason (or lack of reason) for it, it still has its good points. For instance, it does away with the need of conversation which requires more or less thinking. One can blissfully giggle and start a whole roomful of people doing the same thing with a minimum of mental effort.

Second it can be a relief. When one has been working under a great strain giggling is a convenient outlet for what might otherwise develop into a mildly hysterical attitude.

Third, it is lots of fun—for those who indulge in it and don't have to listen to it.

Telephones are a distinct blessing to this age and life but like many blessings they have a reverse side. We can think of a few things more calculated to add years per minute to the average human being's age than to call a number seven times in succession and seven times fail to get an answer.

Some famous writer has said that there are seven mistakes of life that many of us make. The man's an optimist. Most of us make that many in one day.

Mrs. Neill Hostess To Home Art Club

Mrs. J. B. Neill was hostess to the Home Art club at her home 107 W Pennsylvania Thursday afternoon. The regular study lesson was cut short because of delay in the assembling of members but Mrs. Geo. L. Wright read a poem as the opening of the lesson.

Members occupied the afternoon with fancy work.

Mrs. B. W. Reecer was guest. The hostess served refreshments at the tea hour to: Mmes. Iris N. Bounds, Reecer, Guy Brenneman, Julia Filson, O. N. Maness, Ben Stanley, Wright, Carl Young.

Orderliness Should Not Hamper Joy in Living in Home

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

ORDERLINESS may become such an obsession with a woman that it will ruin not only her husband's and children's lives but her own. When she runs to plump up every cushion on which a small boy or girl has set, to pick up the scattered pages of the newspaper her husband is reading, to replace the flowers that some one has moved two inches to the right on the writing desk—well, it is time that she took an inventory of the comforts of her home.

Homes are made to be lived in. Bodies and souls find their relaxation in the privacy of foul sheltering walls which shut them in from the hurts and fears and indifferences of a troublesome world. If a man can't do as he pleases with his pipe and books in his own living room, vaguely he will wonder why he is deprived of peace. If a child can't build a tower of blocks in his play room, he will wonder why he has a play room.

Pleasure as Furnishing Guide
If there is no pain out of the toys, no dissected engine, no one-eyed doll in the nursery, you may know that the children are not enjoying that room. They aren't free to do as they please. A room of sturdy, bright comfort where anybody may play with anything and everything all the times, gives far more pleasure than a beautiful, delicate room where only one or two expensive toys may be touched at once.

The sturdy room may cost only a fraction of the luxurious one but it brings satisfaction, ten times over and above that of the expensive one. After all, it is the spirit that premeates a home that is all important. The freedom to laugh, read, play, eat—yes, even be a little sorry—as you please!

No one likes a littered house. But houses that are lived in and enjoyed need not be littered. Always the toys and papers can be put away when the games or reading are done. Fundamentally the order of the house is not broken. After all, why should we have possession if we can't enjoy them? It isn't human nature for a little boy not to break an engine, now and then, to see what makes it go when it is wound up. It isn't natural for a small girl not to make at least one attempt to see if her rag doll is stuffed with sawdust or cotton.

Like Empty Shrine
Homes that are too decorative become the idols of their mistresses' hearts. They may turn into empty shrines at which no one worships. Children, growing older, will turn to somebody else's home where freedom and comfort sit by the hearth.

The same rule applies to clothing. If a child is depressed too well to enjoy himself, he can't have a good time. He would much prefer a simple pair of trousers and a rough and tumble play shirt. Looking like Little Lord Fauntleroy, so his mother can point him out to her guests, brings no satisfaction to him. Clothes, books, homes, hearts are made to be used! Comforts should come first in the list of attributes that are found under a protecting roof where people live together.

According to a wall table in Florence, Italy, spectacles were invented in the 13th century by an inhabitant of that city.

Oil News--

Gas-oil ratio on completion gauge was 1,850 cubic feet of gas to one barrel of oil.

Another Kermit well, Mid-Continent No. 1 Walton, a half mile north of the discovery, is preparing to shoot after drilling an additional 10 feet to 2,980 without logging any increases. The well is rated at 27 barrels per hour natural from sand pay at 2,850 to 2,860. Gas volume is about 11,000,000 cubic feet. It is in the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 24, block 26, public school land.

WILL PLUG AND ABANDON MARTIN "DUSTER"

After drilling to 3,650, drilling was suspended in Woodley Petroleum company others No. 1 F. A. King, Stanton wildcat, and preparations are being made to plug and abandon. The failure logged no shows of oil or gas but encountered water from 3,496 to 3,512 with an increase coming in at 3,588 to 3,593. The only test drilled in Martin county in some time, it is located in section 30, block 35, township 1 south, T. & P. survey.

Five-inch pipe was landed on bottom at 3,155 feet in Fleethorn Oil corporation No. 1 Floyd C. Dodson, Glasscock wildcat, and operators will bail water down several hundred feet, make a little more hole, and then test for a shut-off.

There are still thirty-five joints of seven-inch casing stranded in the hole which were lost when the string parted in process of being lowered from 2,850 where it was originally set to shut off upper water. The second water horizon was encountered from 2,946 to 2,995.

"Gentle Julia" Now Showing at Yucca

The sparkling kid team of "Ginger," Jane Withers and Jackie Searl, are again sharing featured honor in a Fox picture this time in "Gentle Julia," which is showing today and tomorrow at the Yucca Theatre.

Booth Tarkington wrote the story for this picture which goes back to the pre-war days of peg leg trousers and bustles to furnish a hilarious comedy of American small town life.

MEMBERS ASKED TO PHONE

All members of the Fine Arts club are asked to telephone Mrs. Paul Osborne at 861 or Miss Lydia G. Watson at 88 concerning their guests for the club's "tenth birthday" tea to be held at the home of Mrs. Roy Parks 202 South G street at 3:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon of next week.

Landreth No. 1 Kirk, interesting Gaines county test, was drilling ahead in anhydrite below 2,993 today. Reports that it had a small amount of gas were also unverified. The test, at present the only well drilling in Gaines county, is expected to afford a control for a large unexplored area. It is halfway between the Means pool in northern Andrews and the Walsh and Adams gas well at Seminole. Location is in the southwest corner of section 22, block A-21, public school land.

"Prisoner of Shark Island" at Ritz Sun.

Snatched from the shadow of the noose he was sent to an island hell to suffer an agony worse than death! Telling the true story of the most tragic figure in American history, 20th Century's "The Prisoner of Shark Island" comes Sunday and Monday to the Ritz Theatre, starring Warner Baxter with Gloria Stuart and a supporting cast of over one thousand.

Dipping into the hectic days following the close of the Civil War, the picture depicts the assassination of Lincoln and the flight of his assassin to the country home of Baxter, a doctor.

For the unintentional crime of setting the broken leg of a man about whom he knew nothing, Baxter is arrested. In the hysteria that follows, Baxter is sentenced to life imprisonment at the dreaded Federal prison on the Dry Tortugas.

In stark, terrifying fashion the picture reveals the physical and spiritual agonies of this unjustly sentenced man, his desperate attempt to escape, his courage under the brutal degradation of prison life.

Finally a devastating epidemic of yellow fever brings a turn in his fortunes. With the prison doctor, himself ill with the fever, Baxter is temporarily restored to his former position as he fights to stem the tide of death. A happy climax brings the close of this profound saga of courage and strength.

Of interest in connection with Padre Island is the nearness of Bird Island, a national wild life sanctuary which is outstanding among such places in this country.

Padre Island always has been known as a sportsman's paradise, attracting fishermen and hunters in increasing number each year. Fishing off Padre Island into the Gulf offers some of the best salt water fishing to be found anywhere. Probably the best tarpon fishing in the world is found at Port Aransas and Point Isabel on the two ends of Padre. Laguna Madre offers good trout, drum and redfish fishing the

Padre Island Park Scenic Wonderland

CORPUS CHRISTI. —Plans for the development of Padre Island, which extends down the Texas gulf coast from Corpus Christi to Brownsville, as a park form a Centennial year project which will give Texas one of the most unusual parks in the world. The island park will give the Long Star State a great natural playground on the Gulf of Mexico and also will be one of the greatest scenic attractions of the state for tourists and visitors.

Plans for the development are far advanced and are being promoted through the interest and cooperation of the entire South Texas territory. It is proposed to construct causeways at each end of the island and to develop a scenic highway along its length which would allow the motorists to travel for approximately 150 miles along the surging surf of the Gulf of Mexico.

Padre Island, known as Santiago Island long ago and then as the Isla del Padre Balli, stretches down the coast of Texas from Corpus Christi bay to Point Isabel with the pounding surf of the Gulf of Mexico on one side and the more placid waters of Laguna de la Madre on the other. Long miles of shifting sand dunes and beach grass-covered hummocks which at one time heard only the rasping sound of the sea gulls and the roar of the surf and knew only wild life have seen the unfolding pageant of life as the Indians came to give way in time to the Spaniard, the Mexican, the cattleman, and the vacationist.

Rich in historical lore, the island has a tradition which includes pirates and smugglers. Indians at one time lived at the head of the island. Later Father Nicholas all received the island as a grant from the King of Spain and it took his name. In July, 1879, Patrick F. Dunn purchased the island for a ranch. It later was sold to the Jones Brothers of Kansas City who carried out considerable development work there.

CONSTIPATED* 25 YEARS, ALL-BRAN BROUGHT RELIEF

Delicious Cereal Corrected His Condition

Here is Mr. Johnson's letter: "I got a package of (of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN), and before the package was gone I was very much better."

"So I have been eating it for two or three weeks, and my constipation* has gone, and I was constipated* for 25 years or more. Hoping this may help some one to better health. I am a new friend to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."—Mr. J. B. Johnson, Lake Charles, La.

Mr. Johnson's letter is one of many. Millions find Kellogg's ALL-BRAN corrects constipation* satisfactorily. It supplies the "bulk" missing in the average American meal.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is mild and effective. It absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the intestines. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

Isn't it more sensible to use this natural food instead of taking patent medicines? Just eat two table-spoonfuls daily. If not relieved, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, with milk or cream, or cook into muffins, breads, etc. It is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.
