Madrid's Surrender Expected Today

ANGLO-RUSSIAN NAVAL TREATY IS AGREED ON TODAY

Adherence to London Tri-Power Pact Assured

SOVIET WINNER

Eastern Fleet of The Russians Not to Be Restricted

LONDON, July 30. (P)—An Anglo-Russian naval agreement which, Russian sources said, does not bind the soviet eastern fleet to treaty limitations, was announced here today.

Because of the unrestricted Japanese naval program the soviet eastern fleet will not be restricted, Russian quarters said. Although the treaty has been completely drafted no date has been set for its signing.

The objective of the treaty, it was stated officially, is to obtain soviet adherence to principles of the London pact between Britain, the United States and France.

In a recent statement the Japanese let it be known that as that country was no longer a member of either the League of Nations or concerned with the tri-power treaty that they would disregard restrictions.

Japanese officials walked out of the last naval conference between Japan, Britain, France and the United States after their demands for a fleet equal to that of the United States and Britain had been denied by the assembled delegates.

LANDON ANSWERS THOMAS' OUYERY IN LETTER TODAY

Backs Union Rights To Organization In Industry

TOPEKA, July 30. (P)—Governor Alf Landon wrote Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, today that labor unions have the right "to promote by lawful and proper means an organization of unorganized industry which includes the right to send in an organizer."

The letter was an answer to a letter from Thomas who asked for elaboration of Landon's acceptance speech in a statement that "employe freedom" means "freedom from coercion and intimidation by the employer and the fellow employe."

"In my statement that you quote, there is nothing to suggest I favor infringing in any way on the right of free speech and assembly," wrote Landon.

FARNSWORTH IN NOT GUILTY PLEA

Former Officer Charged In Federal Court In Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 30. (P)—John S. Farnsworth, former navy lieutenant commander, who is charged by a Federal grand jury with delivering confidential naval publications to a Japanese agent, pleaded innocent today before Justice Oscar Lohring in the District of Columbia Federal court.

Little Half Chick Has come to Town

Little Half Chick has come to town—or at least a modern version of the fairy story 'Tong' has made his appearance here.

Virginia Weathers is the proud possessor of a Rhode Island Red chicken which was hatched out as a perfectly normal chick except that it has only one leg. It is one up on the selfish little chicken of the story, since it has a full complement of eyes, ears, and other organs.

Mrs. R. O. Walker was original owner of the chicken which was hatched Monday. As seen today, the oddity seemed strong and healthy, chirping as excitedly as if he possessed two legs with which to stalk about the world instead of one.

Rickard's Widow Wed Again

Clinging to the arm of Thomas A. Gill, prominent Chicago broker, is his bride, the former Mrs. Maxine Rickard, still young and beautiful widow of the late Tex Rickard, famous prize fight promoter. They were married at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Chicago.

Stanton Man Held After Attack On Henry With Knife

Stab Wounds Given Local Man By Employe

Grady Henry, local man, received several stab wounds, none of them considered serious, when he was allegedly attacked by a PWA employe working on a government project on which Henry was supervisor approximately 14 miles north of Stanton.

Henry was brought to Midland by a woman living near the scene of the altercation for medical treatment and this afternoon his condition was described as "satisfactory" by an attending physician.

According to the version of the affair as told by Henry to sheriff Mill Yater of Martin county, the trouble occurred soon after reaching the place where work was to start this morning.

As he crawled from the truck in which he had been riding, according to Henry, he was approached by the man, J. D. (Jimmy) Johnson, who inquired if Henry had told others on the job that he (Johnson) was "not leading his shovel heavy enough?" Henry replied:

"I did, and I told you the same." Johnson then started "cursing" Henry and only ceased when Henry grabbed him by the collar and hit him in the face. He immediately started stabbing Henry with the knife, inflicting wounds in the chest, arm and back. Before anyone could interfere Henry had shoved the man away from him, but not before at least a half-dozen telling blows had been landed with the knife. He was then brought here for treatment.

The shirt worn by Henry bore mute witness to his narrow escape, bearing both wide slash marks and smaller holes as if the blade had gone in point first. His collar on one side had been slashed by one stroke of the knife but the blow had not been hard enough or well enough placed to go through the quadruple thickness at that point.

Johnson was arrested by Yater and placed in the Martin county jail at Stanton. Examining trial date had not been decided upon at noon.

Twenty-five years ago he discovered a gold bearing ledge there. The next year he could not locate it again. Since then he has made a pilgrimage every year in search of it.

ONES ENDANGERED BY FOREST FIRE IN MONTANA RESCUED

CAMP HEMMED IN

Highways Blocked by Men Fighting The Latest Blaze

MALTA, Mont. July 30. (P)—Airplanes and an automobile brought 16 women and children to safety today from the path of a roaring forest fire which hemmed in one mining camp and caused the evacuation of another in the little Rockies range southeast of here.

Highways are crowded with cars carrying in fire fighters and taking out residents of Landusky and a Catholic Indian mission. The Little Ben mine was reported to be hemmed in from three sides by fire. The residents have been evacuated.

The fire began shortly after workers gained control of a huge fire in the same section which took three lives earlier this week. The new fire was caused by a cigarette dropped by a weary miner who fell asleep after battling flames for hours.

NO OIL, GAS IN SECOND GAINES DRILL-STEM TEST

60 Feet of Drilling Water Rises In 28 Minutes

By FRANK GARDNER

The second drill-stem test made in Humble Oil and Refining company's Gaines county wildcat, the No. 1 C. H. Eubanks, showed 60 feet of drilling water in the 28 minutes the testing-tool was left open. Packer was set at 4,620, and bottom of the hole was at 4,778. No oil or gas was present during the test. The first test, made the previous day, showed 70 feet of drilling fluid in 30 minutes from 4,568 to 4,742.

At the conclusion of the test, coring was resumed in the No. 1 Eubanks, and it is now progressing below 4,786 feet in lime. Cores thus far have been very hard, showing little or no porosity and some streaks of oil saturation. It had a small gas showing near 4,700 feet.

Location of the Humble wildcat is in section 6, block AX, public school land.

Gaines county's only producer, Landreth Production company No. 1 Kirk, is fishing for baller lost in hole. Fluid in the hole after the well was cemented back 15 feet to 4,855 was never bailed down, and no test has been made to determine whether sulphur water encountered from 4,862 to 4,870 was successfully shut off. Plans are to shoot the No. 1 Kirk later. It is located in the southwest corner of section 22, block A-21, public school land.

CRANE DEEP TESTS DRILLING In Crane county's Tubb area, Gulf No. 2 Waddell, proposed Ordovician wildcat, cored from 4,679 to 4,697, recovering 18 feet and from 4,697 to 4,710 recovering 13 feet. Cores from 4,652 to 4,679 were reported to contain a small amount of anhydrite and to bear an odor of sulphur water. It is 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of section 18, block B-21, public school land.

Also in the Tubb area of western Crane, Humble No. 3 Tubb, 440 feet out of the southwest corner of section 10, block B-27, is drilling anhydrite at 2,233 feet, while Gulf No. 2 Tubb in section 12 of the same block is drilling hard gray lime below 4,105.

Gulf No. 2 McKnight, 1,320 feet from the north and east lines of section 9, block B-21, public school land, is drilling below 2,165 feet in anhydrite.

KEYES EXTENSION TEST AT 3,229 East of the Keyes pool near Kermitt pool in Winkler county, Illinois Oil company No. 1-B McCutcheon, 2,310 feet from the south and east lines of section 25, block B-3, public school land, is drilling lime at 3,229. The well is circulating oil, and any pays are not definitely known, although it is reported in one quarter to have missed the sand pays of the Keyes pool wells.

Humble No. 3-C Walton-Henderson pool test, is drilling lime below 3,098 in search of additional pays. It stopped drilling at 3,090 and washed hole through tubing, but evidently failed to show up as expected, so the order was given to drill deeper. It is 330 feet from the south and 2,970 feet from the west line of section 34, block 74, public school land.

Operators are cleaning out bridge at 2,997 in Magnolia No. 2 State-Walton, east extension to the Sayre pool in Winkler. After treating with 5,000 gallons of acid, the well could

SMALLEST CROP OF CORN IN U. S. SINCE 1931 IS FORECAST

Drouth Pushes Price To Highest Level In Six Years

WASHINGTON, July 30. (P)—The possibility that the nation may have its smallest corn crop since 1931 was raised Wednesday by Secretary Wallace as the drouth pushed the agriculture department's price index on farm products to the highest level since September, 1930.

Secretary Wallace, at his press conference, commenting on crop conditions at his first press conference since returning from a month's tour of the drouth and other mid-west areas, said the corn outlook was by no means definite yet. But he and officers of the agriculture department mentioned the possibility of sizeable corn imports from Argentina and elsewhere.

Drouth reports gave rise to much discussion of price during the day. The bureau of agricultural economics reported the sharpest rise for a single month since August, 1934, in the prices received by farmers, placing the level 15 per cent above the pre-war average.

Secretary Wallace, at his press conference, insisted, however, that the immediate effect of the dry spell on food prices was "not as great as the newspapers are leading the people to think."

THOMAS SPEAKS AT ROTARY CLUB

Discusses Vocations And Classifications Today

A vocational and classification talk by A. O. Thomas occupied the program period at the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary club in the Crystal ballroom of the Hotel Scharbauer today at noon. Along with his discussion, he presented an interesting account of the history of the Bell Telephone company, his classification under the Rotary rules being that of telephone.

The meeting was presided over by Raymond Upham, president.

About 45 men were present including four visitors: Two visiting Rotarians, Messrs. R. J. Williams, and McGee in the life insurance classification; Louis Thomas, guest of Hugh Barnes and Mr. Roarke, guest of Lester Grant.

REBELS GAINING MORE TERRITORY IN LATEST DRIVE

American, British Plants Seized By Government

RESCUE BLOCKED

Evacuation Of Many Refugees Is Held Impossible

LONDON, July 30. (P)—Reports received here from rebel sources in the last 24 hours indicate today that the Spanish insurrectionists were gaining ground in their fight with loyal troops and citizens.

The British government began an investigation of rumors that the leftist government at Madrid had seized British and American banks and factories for war purposes.

The Ford Motor company was advised its Barcelona plant had been occupied by the government. From

By Associated Press

Two thousand loyal troops, marching on the rebel stronghold of Zaragoza, were ambushed and slain not far from their goal today, remnants of their column reported. They said they had to fall back to reorganize their lines because of the defeat.

As rebel sources circulated reports it would be a matter of only a few hours until Madrid would be surrounded a general exodus of beleaguered Americans to Valencia began.

A rebel radio report said that Valencia had fallen to the rebels but the government insisted that the city was normal and in control of the leftists.

Cordoba it was announced that Madrid would be surrounded today so tightly that not even dramatic representatives would be able to evacuate.

Rescue plans for Americans in Madrid were given a setback by the failure of the diplomatic corps to obtain immediate Spanish government guarantee for the safe passage of a special train to take them to safety on the sea coast.

The American embassy reported to the state department that the proposed evacuation, tentatively set for today was uncertain. Indications were given that it could not be undertaken before Friday even if the desired protection was forthcoming.

Although Madrid was reported captured, renewed official anxiety arose for the safety of approximately 300 American Nationals now believed to be in the Spanish Capital, the objective of rebel forces.

The United States Coast Guard Cutter Cayuga, upon which Ambassador Claude G. Bowers, has established a "floating embassy" was dispatched, meanwhile, to the rescue of Americans in a potentially near danger spot near Spain's northern coast.

Concerned over reports from American Consul William V. Corcoran, at Vigo, that all communication had been cut off with Oviedo, where many Americans live, the state department ordered the Cayuga to proceed to Gijon, the nearest sea port, to investigate their plight.

BAPTISTS TO GO TO ENCAMPMENT

Dozen Midlanders Are Expected To Be At Paisano

Approximately a dozen members of the Baptist church here are expected to attend the Paisano Baptist encampment which opens a 10-day session in the Davis mountains Friday morning.

This is the sixteenth annual session of the encampment which is located between Alpine and Marfa in the Paisano pass and on the highway from San Antonio to El Paso.

Rev. L. R. Millican of El Paso, former pastor of the Baptist church here, is president of the encampment.

Dr. Geo. W. Truett of the First Baptist church at Dallas, renowned denominational leader, will preach each evening and Dr. Roy Angel, pastor of the First Baptist church at San Antonio, will deliver a sermon each morning.

Former Governor Pat Neff, Dr. J. B. Tidwell, T. C. Gardner, state young people director and G. S. Hopkins, state Sunday school director, will be other speakers on the program.

A program of conferences, sermons, singing, and recreation has been arranged for each day. The encampment closes August 9.

FUNERAL PREVIEW STAGED

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (U.P.)—Hickman Holloman, 83, was curious about the procedure of his funeral so he called on his friend, the Rev. J. B. Murrie, and arranged a funeral which was preached in the Baptist church in Holloman's presence. "That was fine," he commented. "Now I won't need a funeral when I die."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 30—It wouldn't look nice for the democratic national committee to assess government officials for the campaign fund and try to collect. In fact, there would be a terrible roar about it.

But when the committee goes into the publishing business, charging high prices at a fancy profit and soliciting the better paid new deal employees as its customers, that's presumed to be something else again.

And so some thousands of officials in the higher salary brackets are hearing from W. Forbes Morgan, the committee treasurer, who offers them a chance to buy one or more copies of a de luxe, presumably with tongue in cheek. "This is an invitation for you to join with a few of President Roosevelt's friends who have asked us to prepare for them a de luxe edition of the democratic convention book of 1936.

"The edition—absolutely limited to 2500 copies—will be individually autographed by the president, serially numbered, leather bound, and stamped in gold with the purchaser's name. It contains, among other priceless documents, the master list and now historical acceptance address made by the president at Franklin Field on June 27.

"The promptness with which you sign and return the enclosed order form will determine the serial number of your copy, which will constitute an imperishable record of your share and part in the Roosevelt administration.

"This opportunity which is offered you to become a registered subscriber will not be open long. You will, I know, be proud to join with the party leaders, who conceived the de luxe edition, in making it a success.

"You must act at once, however, to be included in the company of those who may possess this volume. All the necessary forms for your order are enclosed."

"An extraordinarily interesting, as well as beautiful, compilation," says Attorney General Cummings.

"Furthermore," says Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, "I believe that this is a far more democratic method of raising funds than by replying (that's the way it was written and reproduced) upon favors from special interests."

It Sounds Profitable
The book carries explanations of the workings of all the government departments and many handsome pictures. Assuming the original cost to have been $25,000, which seems high, the return to the campaign chest from 2500 copies at $100 a crack would be $250,000. But many ordinary copies have been sold at $2.50 and big money comes from the advertising, with which the book is packed, at from $2000 to $7500 a page.

Many of the country's largest corporations are represented and advertising solicitors are said in some cases to have suggested that space

One cannot drive over Midland and watch the building which is under way without feeling a lot of pride in the growth of his home town. Substantial homes are being built in several sections of the city, additions and repairs are under way and it's easy to understand why it takes a little time to locate a carpenter when you need a plank nailed on the back fence.

This is a healthy condition. We don't need too much of an influx of laborers just now, but it's fine to see the old boys back at work, making good wages, when they had to do everything to get along for a few years.

During the depression, a lumber man or furniture dealer was not apt to give you too much of an optimistic talk about how good his business was, but these lines of business are showing the effects of better times now. Trucks go in and out from the lumber yards steadily. And you see more attractive furniture on display than you have seen for years.

The story yesterday about the refunding of sewer bonds to save the city about $35,000 looked good to me. It was a wise move on the part of the city fathers. I hear them say, unofficially, that if the property owners will clean up these delinquent taxes, we might get the city tax rate down to a dollar. It was cut last year from $1.60 to $1.20 and this was made possible through the paying up of back taxes. There still remains on the books about $99,000 and a lot of this could be taken up now with a little effort on the part of the tax payers.

The postoffice job is going ahead like it means business. And the leveling up of the lots at Main and Texas, where a lot of the basement dirt was moved, helped the looks of the town.

Louisianans Jeer Gerald Smith's Claim He Can Swing Million Votes

NEW ORLEANS, July 30.—Resentment is beginning to displace mild amazement in Louisiana at the picture of the Rev. Gerald Lyman Kenneth Smith gradually edging his way toward the driver's seat of the Townsend bandwagon.

At first people here were mildly astonished at the idea of the former Long organizer attaching himself to Dr. Townsend and selling the old age pension leader on the idea, that he, Smith, could swing 6,000,000 votes to a Townsend-Coughlin coalition.

Now Smith's claims are being analyzed. Earl J. Christenberry, for many years secretary to the late Huey Long, has bitterly attacked Smith's pretensions in a radio talk. Mrs. Long, U. S. senator and widow of the late Huey, has repeatedly given assurance that her husband never indicated that Smith was to be his successor.

The "American Progress," official newspaper organ of the "Share-Our-Wealth" movement has urged its readers to pay no attention to such claimants as Smith, pointing out that Huey himself repeatedly assailed the Townsend movement while in the U. S. Senate.

LACKS OFFICIAL STANDING
Most observers here admit that Smith, whose status in the Share-Our-Wealth movement under Long was that of a paid organizer, retains some personal following in the state. But this has no connection with the Share-Our-Wealth organization which was Huey Long's legacy to American politics.

Shortly after the death of Huey Long, Christenberry copyrighted the name, trademark, and all other data connected with the Share-Our-Wealth organization and turned them over to Rose McConnell Long, the widow, who took Huey's seat in the Senate.

Mrs. Long, commenting on Smith's connection with the Share-Our-Wealth movement, said, "The Rev. Mr. Smith was not designated by Senator Long as his successor and he is not now a Share-Our-Wealth organizer. He may still take interest in the organization, but his activities are not authorized by the organization."

AUTHORITY IS DENIED
Christenberry was even more emphatic in his radio denial that Smith has any standing with the present Share-Our-Wealth movement in Louisiana.

He referred to Smith as "a politically ambitious windbag," and produced a string of receipts for the $650-a-week salary which Smith was paid as Huey's organizer. "The only paid organizer," Christenberry pointed out, "Long's former secretary bitterly accused Smith of betraying Long's principles and ideas and 'prostituting them for his own benefit.'"

The American Progress, the widely circulated newspaper which Huey Long used to consolidate and extend his Share-Our-Wealth movement, expressed mild surprise recently that Edging his way to leadership in the Townsend organization, and claiming that 6,000,000 people will follow wherever he leads, Gerald Lyman Kenneth Smith, shown above in four poses is under fire in his own bailiwick in Louisiana, where Huey Long's Share Our Wealth societies say he does not speak for them.

anyone claiming to be Huey's successor in the Share-Our-Wealth movement should be found up alongside the driver's seat in the Townsend movement.

"Louisiana was surprised recently," said the Progress, "to learn that Gerald Smith had joined the forces of 'Send-Me-a-Quarter' Townsend, the California pension advocate whose scheme was openly denounced by the late Huey P. Long, both on the floor of the Senate and in letters mailed to thousands of followers throughout the nation.

"Lookout, Gerald, don't let those fellows make a sap out of you. Don't forget, Huey Long denounced the Townsend Plan, and Coughlin threw out Share-Our-Wealth."

The same paper followed later on the floor to pledge their support to Roosevelt.

PAID ORGANIZER ONLY
Smith came into the Huey Long camp originally as a paid organizer hired by Long because of his record as an aggressive and oratorical preacher in Shreveport.

When he first attached himself to Long, he was so little known that newspapermen mistook him for one of Long's bodyguards. Smith sued newspapers that so referred to him. Smith's opportunity came when he was chosen to preach the funeral oration over Long's body. He made no secret of his effort to emulate Marc Antony.

Immediately thereafter he began an aggressive speaking campaign aimed at establishing himself as heir to Long. He started out in support of James A. Noe as political successor to Long, but repudiated this stand and later backed Leche.

Keen political observers say Smith was certain to go elsewhere as soon as the Long machine kissed and made up with the national Democratic administration. For it was only by attacking Roosevelt that he could gain the prominence needed for his ambitions to be a leader in the national field.

But as to the extent of his national following outside Louisiana, there is absolutely no way to check. Smith says it is 6,000,000.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys
Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking acids and wastes out of the blood. A healthy person should pass about 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, waste stays in the body and may become poisonous. It may start nagging backaches, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't let it lay you up. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

YOUR First TASTE

Tells You

There is no finer beer

You need not drink COORS EXPORT LAGER for several days in order to acquire a taste for it. You need not learn to like this smooth, full strength Vienna type lager because there is no harsh throat bitterness to immunize your taste against. Its clean, finished flavor—its double aged mellowness—wins your taste approval with the first sip. Its sparkling Rocky Mountain spring water brilliance refreshes the thirsty throat and invigorates the tired body. You'll love it from the first time you dip your lip in its creamy foam to the last, long satisfying quaff. Say Coors, of course, when you want good beer... in stobbies, cans, on draught.

New Accessories Freshen Wilted Wardrobe

SMART summer accessories sketched included a scarf, fashioned from two blue linen handkerchiefs and finished with a blue bug clip, raffia hat, gloves and bag; a dinner hat and scarf set of wine velveteen and mink to wear all fall and winter; a scarf pin with metal yachting flags; two beautiful handkerchiefs in the new 15-inch size; a nautical sports scarf and a bright blue and white set consisting of bag with monogram, belt and shell clip.

BY MARIAN YOUNG

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK—Accessories to dress up your slightly wilted summer wardrobe are more interesting than you really expect anything to be in weather like this. Designers of the extras that mean so much to well-groomed women have outdone themselves to present truly individual bags, belts, shoes, gloves, boutonnieres, scarfs, hats, handkerchiefs, costume jewelry, shoes.

You can, of course, start out with a sudden rush of energy and assemble your own accessory sets. But you don't have to. On the best counts, you'll find everything worked out according to a fine standard of good taste. Don't get more than three matching items to wear with one outfit. In other words, if you have picked a red hat, scarf and gloves, don't add a red bag, red pin and red shoes.

For a cool effect, try a touch or two of vivid green. For sheer loveliness, look at some of the new soft blue belts, pins, bracelets and handkerchief scarfs.

Speaking of scarfs, it's new to the two rather large sports handkerchiefs together and wear them with sweaters or sports blouses. Knot them neatly and slip over your head, then fasten a novelty clip or pin across the knot at the front. Jeweled bug clips are fetching for scarfs of this type.

Raffia Is Good for Country
The woman who spends the summer in the country will like new raffia accessories to wear with casual clothes. One nice set, illustrated here today includes a backless hat, pull-on gloves and a unique-shaped purse. Rain won't hurt them.

On sports accessories, the nautical motif is prevalent. A white flannel scarf is embellished with a small sailboat on a few blue waves. Another has a 1936 arrangement of the ubiquitous anchor motif.

The pocket handkerchief has become one of the most important of the accessories that comprise the feminine ensemble. Grandmother's saying about a woman being as dainty as her kerchief still is true.

You may be interested to know that it generally takes from two to three months to complete the work on an elaborately embroidered handkerchief. Before this work even begins, many companies have flax shipped from Russia to Ireland, where it is woven into linen. From Ireland it goes to China, where it is cut and stamped with designs created by American artists. The squares are distributed among experienced workers throughout China, and months later, the finished handkerchiefs are jetted, laundered and shipped to the United States.

Why Handkerchiefs Are Squares
It was Louis the Fourteenth who decreed that handkerchiefs must be square, regardless of size or material. Up to this time, they had been all sizes and shapes, rarely square, however. At the moment you are likely to hear about kohlerchiefs, but don't let it worry you. Just as culotte is a new name for your old friend the divided skirt, so kohlerchief is a modern moniker for the handkerchief.

The eleven-inch handkerchief or kohlerchief, handsomely embroidered, is the size for dress-up occasions. One lovely model is lavishly embroidered with pearls—diminutive but genuine. This is the kind of accessory one would hand down to granddaughters.

For general use, twelve and thirteen-inch handkerchiefs are popular. A new fifteen-inch size for more formal occasions is rapidly gaining approval.

FEMININE FANCIES

The sports editor thinks he needs a new office chair. He says that every time he comes in after a brief absence, some one—usually a girl is occupying it. Perhaps he has not noticed that of all the chairs in the office, his is nearest the electric fan.

We like the spirit of good sportsmanship being shown by the defeated candidates in the county election. As a big brother used to remind us, most any one can be a good winner, but it takes a real man to be a good loser. It's a pretty good test of a person's spiritual makeup—this trying with all one's strength to do a thing and then having to taste defeat. Our hat is off to the one who comes up smiling.

In general we're not a crusading type of person. But some of these days when the thermometer insists on trying to reach the hundred mark, we're going to crusade for more and bigger electric fans.

Just thinking: They say that sleeves with fullness at the top will mark fall dresses—The old-fashioned note is still in ascendancy, then?—The new wine tones in autumn ensembles are pretty—Come to think of it, wine is a color that is warm and has a touch of allure distinctively feminine—if we have a choice of what we want to be in our next sojourn in this world, we'll ask to be turned into one of these beautiful, barbaric princesses that writers tear their hair trying to think up descriptive adjectives for—You know, the exotic, flame-for-moths type—Humans are supposed to long to be just the opposite of what they are, anyway—Here's a recipe for deep-dish spinach pie—We like spinach and we like pie, but we'll take them singly instead of in duet, thank you—Spain is indulging in its annual revolutionary spree—We suggest a good dose of distastefulness in much the same frame of mind that we would suggest a big dose of castor oil—Very unpleasant but sometimes salutary.

Cotton Flat Girl Tells of Trip to A&M Short Course

Eddie Louise Locklar, as wardrobe demonstrator of the Cotton Flat 4H club, went on a trip to the farmer's short course at A&M recently as a reward for her work. She gives the following brief account of her visit:

"This was my first trip very far away from home and College Station, where the short course was held, is over five hundred miles from Midland.

"I roomed in Law Hall—Ramp 7—with three other girls—one of them was another club member in my club, Billie Francis Franklin.

"Every morning the 4H club boys and girls would meet in the Y. M. C. A. chapel for some service led by Mr. Walter Jenkins. Then all during the day we went to different lectures by extension specialists and others. Miss Read talked on "Texas Birds and Snakes." She had some snakes to show us.

"The Gold Star boys and girls (best in the state) told us about their trip to Washington, D. C. I hope to some day be a Gold Star girl and win a trip to Washington.

"All the district winners in the bedroom improvement contest told about how they improved their bedrooms and on such a little money. I think that I will improve my bedroom like some of the girls did theirs.

"We went to some kind of entertainment at the Stadium every night. One night the Gamesville Community Circus; one night a picture show of Shirley Temple in "The Little Colonel"; a medicine show and a style show.

"I wish every boy and girl could go to the short course at least one time.

"I want to thank the Midland chamber of commerce for giving a trip to the short course and that I won it."

An important feature of Eddie's work as demonstrator was the making of a clothes closet equipped with shelves for folded garments and hats, a shoe rack, and a rod for hangers. For this she used an old folding bed. As the shelves were made from orange boxes, the only expense was 50 cents spent for print material for curtains.

I WISH I didn't love you,
Since you can't love me, too;
Instead of concentrating
On work that I should do

I HAVE grown problematic;
I merely sit and stare,
And wonder what I didn't do
That might have made you care

I'VE thought, I've prayed, I've reasoned,
But this alone is clear:
Since you don't care, you mustn't know
That I still love you, dear!

NEW YORK, July 30—The Joe Louis-Jack Sharkey thing, listed for Yankee Stadium, August 18, is a miserable piece of match-making. It is Mike Jacobs' first mistake since the old ticket scalper stepped out as front man for the Hearst newspapers' prize fight department.

Pairing Sharkey with Louis is a step backward. Why dig up the showman sailor when there are young fellows like Al Ettore, Leroy Haynes, Andre Lenglet, and John Henry Lewis lying around handy? Why not make Louis tackle one of those who came up with him?

Record books show that Sharkey will be 34 years of age in October, and many who know him quite well suspect that he is considerably older. The gob couldn't whip three punches together with bailing water when he laid down and played dead when he was alleged to have been struck by Primo Carnese's push punch in the sixth round in 1933.

It is a sure gamble that all of the tears will not be spilled by Sharkey in Yankee Stadium, Aug. 18. The customers are likely to get sentimental with remorse after plunking down cash to witness one of boxing's outstanding mismatches of the century.

World Champion Optimist
Jacobs says that the savage battle will gross more than $300,000, which qualifies the 49th street tucat dealer as the world champion optimist.

Sharkey never was a satisfactory performer even in his heyday. For a fellow who turned in one languard exhibition after another, the square of Chestnut Hill has done remarkably well in New York, which is something in the way of additional proof that the big burg produces more suckers than P. T. Barnum ever dreamed of. Sharkey generally not only left much to be desired in the ring but unfavorable aftermaths as well. In a good share of his starts, he either yelled foul or fouled out himself.

The Louis appointment will be Sharkey's fifth in a most unimpressive comeback campaign. It is likely to be his last. One more good chunk of dough is all the old Beantown crying man has been angling for and it looks as though he's hooked his quarry with the Louis shot.

Sharkey threw kisses at the crowd the night Carnera ironed him out with that phantom uppercut. The promoters should have taken the bluejacket at his word and permitted him to remain behind his Boston bar.

There is so little excuse for pairing Sharkey with Louis that the more suspicious wonder if, after all, it is true what they whisper about the promoters or someone owing the leering Lithuanian something and paying the debt after three long years. The patrons managed to struggle along without Sharkey in the interim, by the way.

Sharkey No Test For Louis
Louis may require a little help in his next start, although hardly as much as Sharkey can be counted upon to give him the first time the former champion is his solidly.

I hear that Smokey Joe, badly discouraged by his knockout by Max Schmeling, hasn't been responding to the curfew as promptly as he once did.

John Roxborough, his manager, makes no secret of the fact that Louis was beginning to acquire a slightly inflated cranium prior to bumping into Schmeling's jarring right hand.

"Maybe the knockout by Schmeling was all for the best," says Roxborough. "Joe reached a point where he was giving orders instead of taking them. He got so that he fitted his work to his moods."

Max Baer would be vastly more suitable as an opponent for Louis than Sharkey. And how does Jacobs and the Hearst newspapers' prize fight department expect the younger crop, Ettore, Haynes, Lenglet, and Lewis, to get anywhere unless they are given an opportunity? Surely, Louis isn't drawing the color line against Haynes and Lewis.

Sharkey has nothing with which to worry Louis now. At his best, the "flighty sailor" couldn't prove whether the negro could weather a healthy jaw job, which is still the biggest question in regard to the Dark Angel, despite the conclusive proof furnished by Schmeling. It is hard to believe that Louis lost enough stuff in one smacking around to run second to a has-been who never was too much. So why Sharkey?

Ones Alarmed at Apparent Threat of Nature to Dissolve Partnership With Man Told Occurrences Are Nothing New

AMARILLO, July 30. (Spl.)—Those persons who have become alarmed at the apparent threat of Nature to dissolve partnership with Man, and who are more or less worried about this present brief "dry spell" which, within the past several years, has wrought havoc throughout a greater part of these United States, would do well to familiarize themselves with the fact that such occurrences are not entirely foreign to the world.

However, and whereas similar, although more puzzling problems, of combating drought and saving the soil from wind erosion have confronted Man for thousands of years, it was not until most recently that means were found to solve such problems. The putting into effect what is known to defeat Nature at her worst lies chiefly in the hands of various governmental agencies such as the Resettlement Administration, the Soil Conservation Service and the Extension Service.

Because of neglect, together with a lack of knowledge and equipment to thwart drought and erosion, ancient civilizations on the Tigris and Euphrates perished. China became a region of poverty and periodic famines. Pre-historic cities in Indo-China and Yucatan were abandoned. Northern Africa became a desert waste. In recent years explorers have unearthed ruins to show that where civilization once flourished only sand and heat remain.

Within the memory of many persons residing in the Southern High Plains area this region was known at the Great American Desert. Since the beginning of the present period of drought in 1932, various writers have warned that unless something is done to prevent wind erosion this country, within a span of several hundred years, could easily revert to real desert, ir reclaimable and forever useless.

Archaeologists have learned that this present drought is a mere babe in arms compared to one which visited the Southern High Plains some 600 years ago. That drought, they tell us, lasted 23 years and was responsible in the main for shifts in the population of natives at that time.

Writing in the October, 1935 issue of American Antiquity, Emil W. Haury tells of reading tree rings—the archaeologist's time-piece—in determining weather and human activity during faded centuries. He records his findings to show that one extended drought and several short ones visited this region several hundred years ago. "We suspect," he has written, "that the most severe of these, the drought lasting from 1276 to 1299, profoundly affected certain of the Southwestern peoples, and was responsible in the main for shifts in the population at about that time."

Therefore it seems that blistering heat in the East and a general swath of the drought through the West and mid-West, which continues to hold a place in the news spot light today, is nothing new to this part of the world. We find more recent periods of drought, dust storms and ruin sweeping across the nation than recorded by tree rings. Just recently the Pampa, Texas Daily News published a letter written on August 25, 1854—82 years ago—by a man in Elliotville, Ind., to a friend in Pleasant Run, Texas, wherein he tells of similar climatic troubles. Here is the letter in part:

"Hiram Rockett is still here. He thinks of starting to Texas about the fifth of next month if it rains. If there is no rain I don't think he will start, because of the dreadful dust.

"With that to face they could not travel with any satisfaction. The dust and scarcity of water would kill their horses.

Charley Grimm boasts that he is the only manager in baseball who can lose the best catcher in his league and still have the finest in action. When Gabby Hartnett injured his thumb, Keen O'Dea, above, again stepped in for the Chicago Cubs with such ease that the veteran wasn't missed. O'Dea tops the Bruins in batting with .368 and is their candidate for the National League championship.

GET GULFLUBE—
It's "Stripped for action"!

This sprinter can't win races hampered by this outfit! Cheap, poorly refined motor oils are likewise hampered—by waste material—carbon, gum and sludge-formers—that should be removed by further refining.

Now he's less hampered—but not entirely free. Likewise, most 25c oils are rid of some excess waste material—but not enough. For until Gulf perfected its Multi-sol process, a thoroughly refined 25c oil was not available.

Here's the sprinter "stripped for action."—Like GULFLUBE MOTOR OIL. Stripped of all excess waste by Multi-sol refining, Gulflube is the finest 25c oil in America! Actually premium quality oil, "all of it goes to work, none of it goes to waste." Try a filling—at the sign of the Orange Disc.

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

OH!!! I DON'T CARE WOT BOOTS SAYS

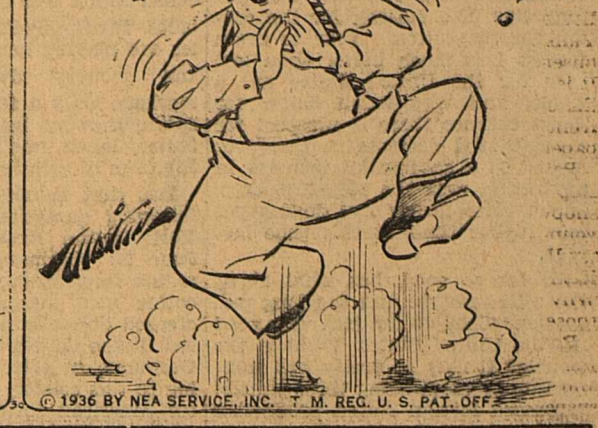

HOLD EVERYTHING!

I GOT SOMETHIN'

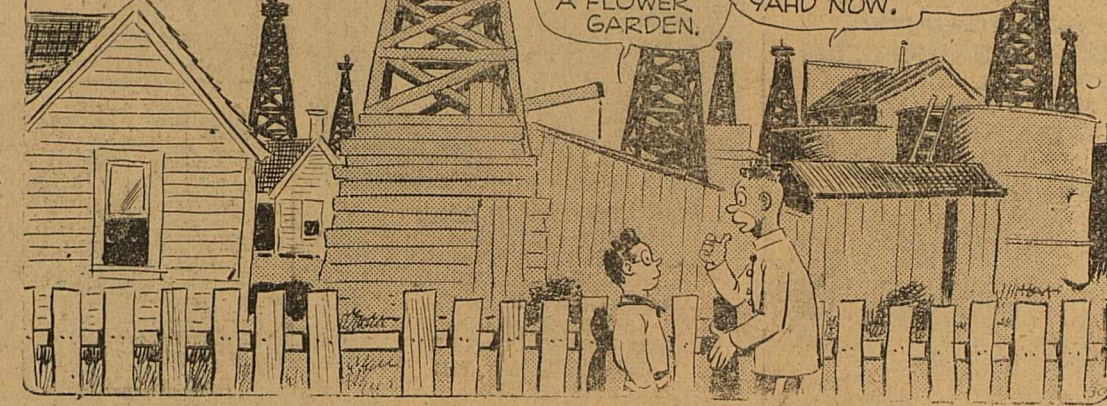

WOW!

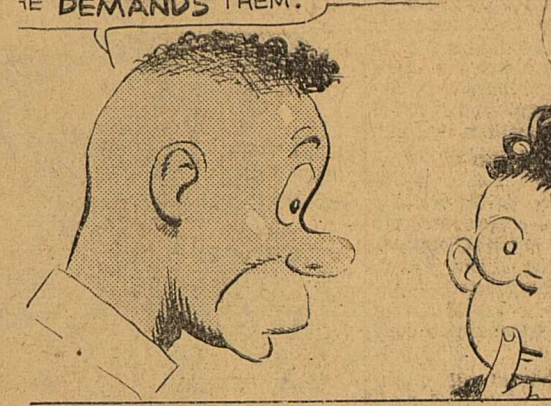

WASH TUBBS

NOW, FLOWERS IN A WILD AND WOOLLY WESTERN OILTOWN ARE ALMOST UNHEARD OF. THERE'S HARDLY A VEGETABLE GARDEN, NOT EVEN A TREE, IN EL HOYO.

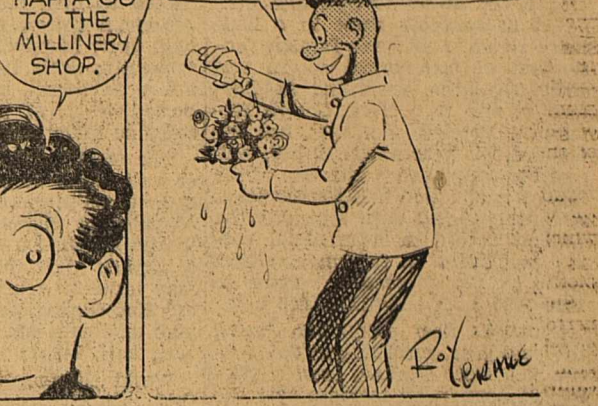

Daisies Won't Tell

AND I JIST GOTTA GIT SOME FLOWERS, VISTA WASH, AN ELEGANT GENTLEMAN AT 'E HOTEL, NAMED MR. C. HOLLIS WALLIN 'E DEMANDS THEM.

WELL, JOE, I GUESS YOU'LL HAF TA GO TO THE MILLINERY SHOP.

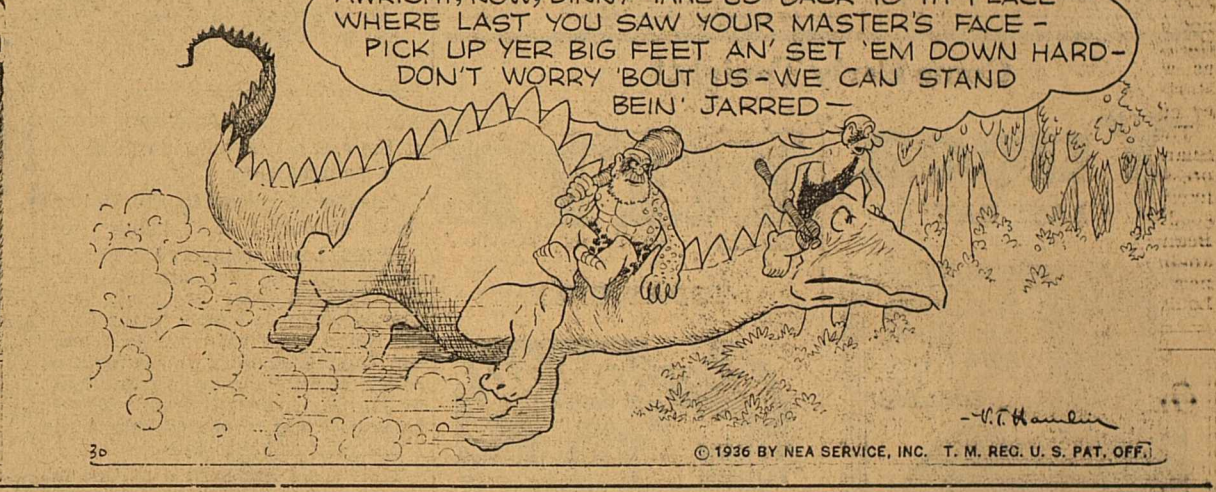

ALLEY OOP

TH' CARDIFF GIANT? SURE, FOOZY-YOULL FIND 'IM UP THERE IN THAT BIG CAVE - OKAY, GULLOTT-THANKS A WHOLE LOT -

Look Who's on the Rescue Squad!

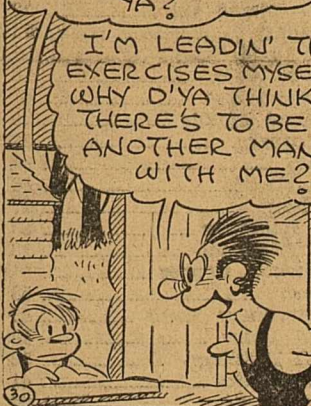

SALESMAN SAM

HEY, MR. HOWDY, ARE YOU GOUNA TAKE CHARGE O' TH' EXERCISES T'DAY? YES, MY LIL' MAN, I AM!

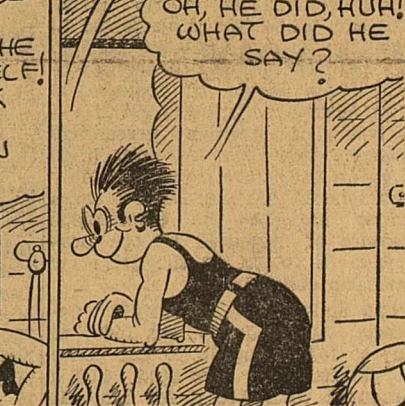

Maybe Sam's Both of 'Em

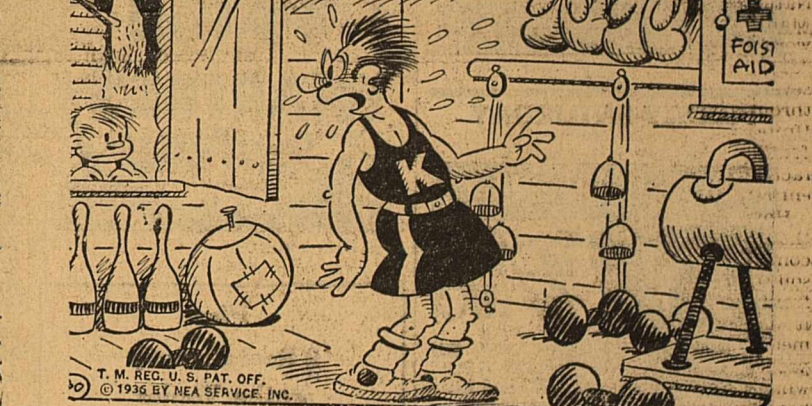

WELL, WHERE'S THE OTHER MAN, WHO'S S'POSED TA BE WITH YA?

DR. MILKWEED SAID SO!

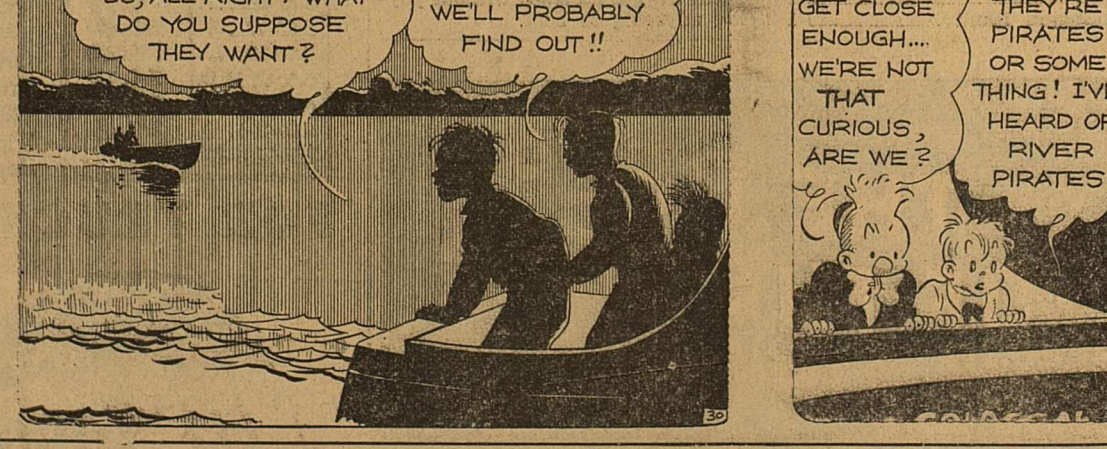

HE SAID T'DAY WE WOULD EXERCISE WITH TWO DUMBBELLS!

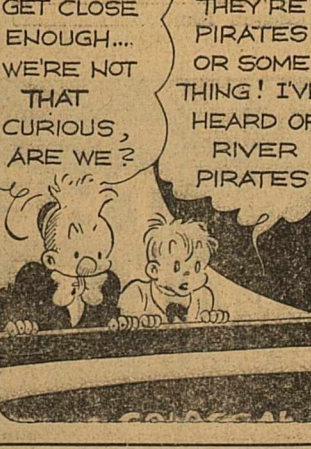

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

THEY'RE FOLLOWING US, ALL RIGHT! WHAT DO YOU SUPPOSE THEY WANT? IF THEY GET CLOSE ENOUGH, WE'LL PROBABLY FIND OUT!!

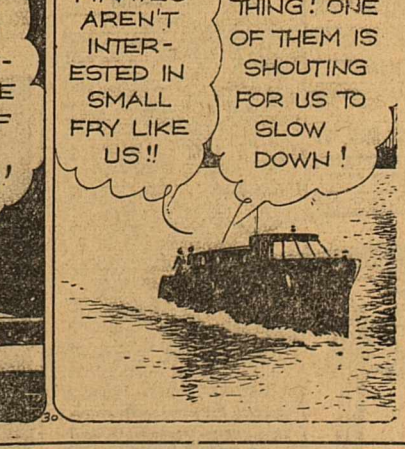

A Slim Chance

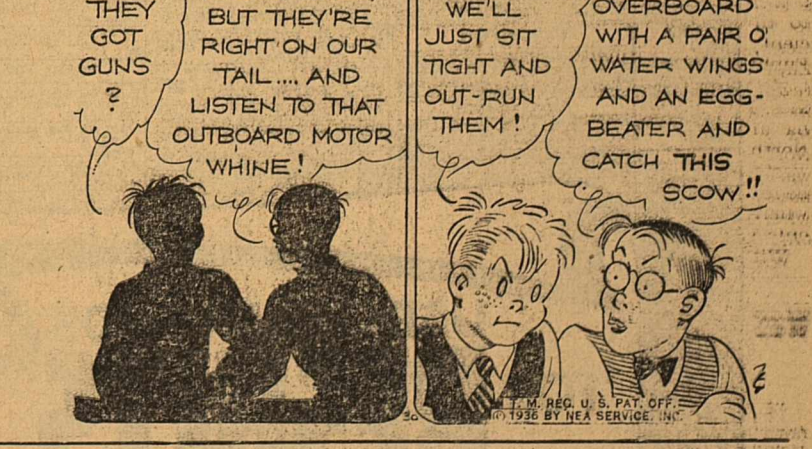

WELL, DON'T LET THEM GET CLOSE ENOUGH... WE'RE NOT THAT CURIOUS, ARE WE?

MAYBE THEY'RE PIRATES OR SOMETHING! I'VE HEARD OF RIVER PIRATES!

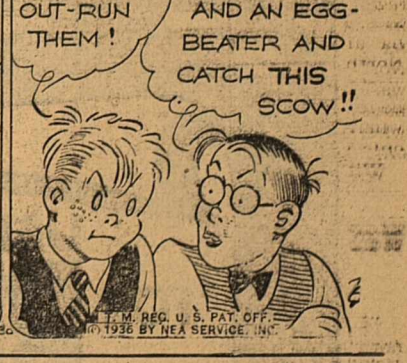

RIVER PIRATES AREN'T INTERESTED IN SMALL FRY LIKE US!!

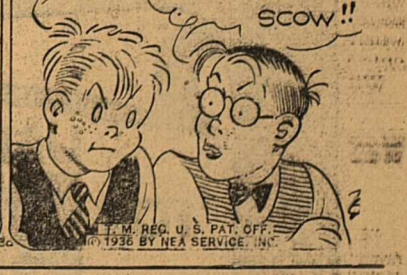

WELL, THEY'RE UP TO SOMETHING! ONE OF THEM IS SHOUTING FOR US TO SLOW DOWN!

HAVE THEY GOT GUNS?

THEY DON'T SEEM TO BE ARMED, BUT THEY'RE RIGHT ON OUR TAIL... AND LISTEN TO THAT OUTBOARD MOTOR WHINE!

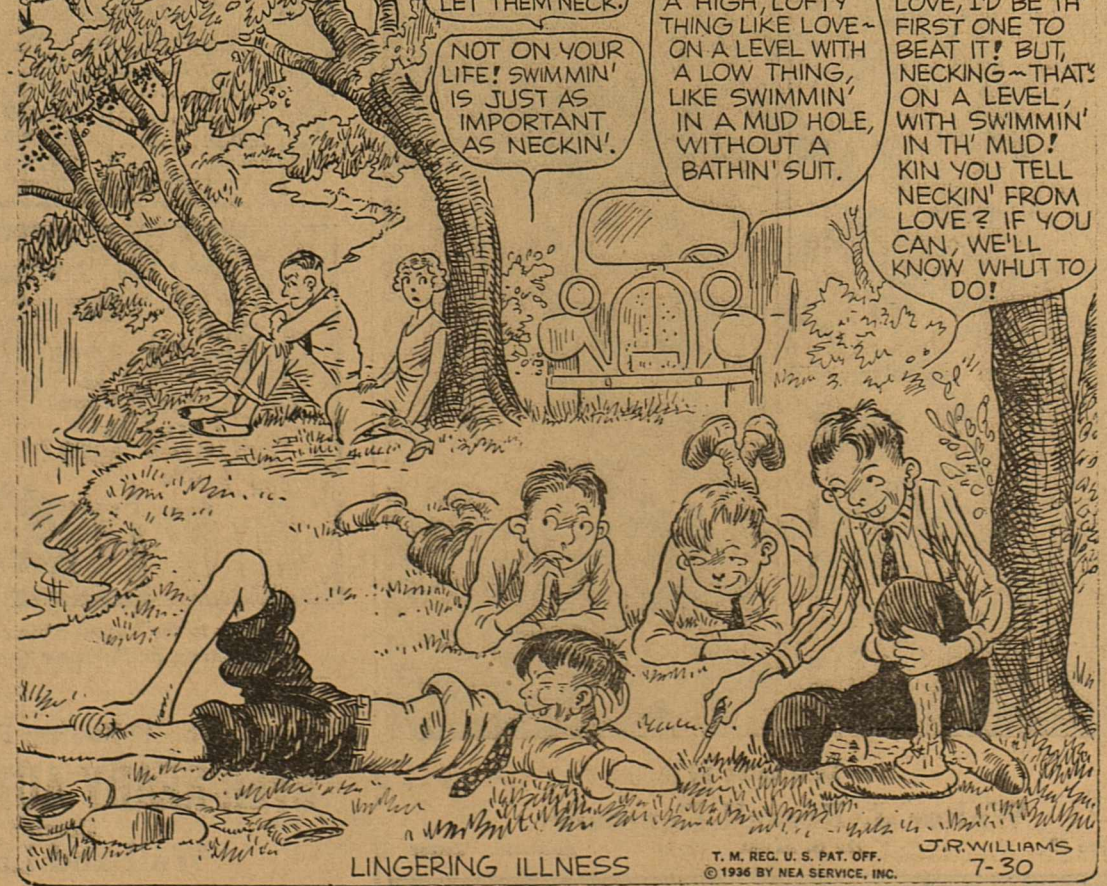

IF THEY'RE NOT ARMED, WE'LL JUST SIT TIGHT AND OUT-RUN THEM!

WHAT WITH? I COULD CLIMB OVERBOARD WITH A PAIR OF WATER WINGS AND AN EGGBEATER AND CATCH THIS SCOW!!

OUT OUR WAY

WE MIGHT AS WELL BEAT IT-AN' LET THEM NECK. NOT ON YOUR LIFE! SWIMMIN' IS JUST AS IMPORTANT AS NECKIN'.

HOW CRUDE OF YOU, PLACIN' LOVE- A HIGH, LOFTY THING LIKE LOVE- ON A LEVEL WITH A LOW THING, LIKE SWIMMIN' IN A MUD HOLE, WITHOUT A BATHIN' SUIT.

BUT HE SAID, NECKIN', IF I KNEW IT WAS LOVE, I'D BE TH' FIRST ONE TO BEAT IT! BUT, NECKING-THAT'S ON A LEVEL WITH SWIMMIN' IN TH' MUD! KIN YOU TELL NECKIN' FROM LOVE? IF YOU CAN, WE'LL KNOW WHUT TO DO!
