

Importance of Tubb Area Shown By Huge Gulf Well

Radio Aids in Giant Man Hunt

Instead of buying bloodhounds, portable radio sets played an important role in this modern man hunt, in the wild mountain country near Yreka, Calif., where hundreds of heavily armed men sought two half-breed Indian brothers, John and Coke Bright, charged with slaying three men. Two members of the posse are shown tuning in on others, to keep the search organized. The fugitives were alleged to have shot to death two peace officers and a port captain who sought to serve an assault warrant on them.

INITIAL FLOW OF PRODUCER 1,008 BARRELS 3 HOURS

Acid Treatment Adds To Production Of No. 2 Tubb

SEVENTH IN AREA Storage Awaited For Well Following Gauge

BY FRANK GARDNER The importance of the Tubb area of Western Crane county as a source of extremely large oil production was evidenced today when Gulf No. 2 Tubb, seventh well to find pay in the deep Permian horizon, flowed 1,008 barrels of oil in three hours after treating with 5,000 gallons of acid. The well was shut in at the end of that period, having filled all storage.

Bottomed at 4,391 feet in lime, the No. 2 Tubb was tubed with 141 joints or 4,383 feet of 2-inch up-set tubing and flowed 285 barrels in six hours while running the string. It was then given an acid injection of 5,000 gallons, allowed to clean itself, and then turned into tanks, gauging the huge flow. The Gulf well topped the "Tubb pay" at 4,315 and logged increases from there nearly to bottom, flowing better than 65 barrels an hour, natural. It is located 440 feet out of the northeast corner of section 12, block B-27, public school land, a quarter-mile west of Humble No. 1 Tubb, first well in the area to develop large production.

The eighth well to find production in the Tubb pay, Humble No. 3 Tubb, 440 feet out of the southwest corner of section 10, block B-37, public school land, is pulling tubing preparatory to deepening to the approximate depth of the Gulf well in search of additional oil. At 4,373 feet, it recorded a natural flow of 543 barrels in 12 hours through 3-4-inch choke on tubing.

On the east side of the Sayre pool in Winkler county, Humble No. 13 Howe, 1,650 feet from the north and 990 feet from the east line of section 12, block 26, public school land, flowed 961 barrels on the 24-hour potential gauge. The well drilled to 2,990 feet and ran nitro shot, but failure of time-bomb caused several days delay.

Production of 834 barrels in 18 hours was registered by Mid-Continental No. 3-A Walton, new producer in the Keyes pool of Winkler. Located in section 24, block 26, public school land, it was shot with 157 quarts from 2,814 to 2,974, the total depth.

In southern Winkler, Texas Co. No. 1 Halley, section 7, block B-11, public school land, is testing at 3-499 feet.

Sherk Producer In the Sherk pool of the McCamey field of Upton, George Farley No. 4-B Lane, section 36, block 1, M. K. & T. survey, pumped 144 barrels of oil and 107 barrels of water in 24 hours. It was acidized with 1,000 gallons, topped pay at 2,260, and reached a total depth of 2,285 feet.

Two wildcats being drilled by R. H. Henderson northeast of the field both report progress. His No. 1 Reese in section 16, block 3 1-2, G. C. & S. F. survey, is drilling red beds at 435 feet, while the No. 1 Harrington in section 4, a mile and a half farther southeast, is drilling at 219 feet.

Also in Upton, Gulf No. 1 Rogers is drilling at 2,188 feet in hard gray lime with 1,100 feet of oil in the hole.

Balling and Testing Grisham & Hunter No. 1 R. B. Cowden, northwest Ector wildcat in section 10, block 45, township 2 north, T. & P. survey, is balling and testing for a shut-off of sulphur water. It was plugged back from 4,657 to 4,500 feet with lead wool, rocks, mud, etc., and may be cemented as well.

In section 24, block 73, public school land, Andrews county, Grisham & Hunter No. 1 Ratliff & Bedford, northwest of the No. - Cowden test, is drilling below 2,800 feet in anhydrite. Sinclair-Prairie No. 1-A Johnson, section 42, block 42, township 1 south, T. & P. survey, five miles north of Ector's Foster pool, is drilling at 3,397 feet in broken anhydrite and red shale.

FAIR DIRECTORS DECIDE THURSDAY ON CALF CLUB SHOW

Chamber Commerce Votes $250 Prizes If Show Is Held

Directors of Midland Fair, Inc., at a meeting to be held probably Thursday morning, will make final decision as to whether a Four-H club calf show will be held in connection with the feeder calf show and sale October 7.

Chamber of commerce directors voted this morning to appropriate $250 from the organization's treasury to be used as prize money for a territorial Four-H club calf show in the event fair directors decide it will work in adequately with the full program already arranged.

County Agent S. A. Debnam promised an exhibition of approximately 150 calves from thirty or forty counties if the show is sanctioned.

Necessity for showing under a tent because of the fact that the cattle barn has been converted into a race horse stalls, was discussed, along with other possible obstacles for staging a boy's club calf show the "Midland way." Chamber of commerce directors expressed themselves as voting merely for the appropriation, leaving to fair officials the question of staging the show in connection with other events there.

STAMFORD MAN IS ACCIDENT VICTIM

Hunter Found Dead With Full Charge of Gun In His Chest

STAMFORD, Sept. 9 (P)—First casualty of the bird season in this section was John Estes, about 60, former assistant police chief at Stamford, who was found dead on the dam of College lake, a mile and a half east of here about 7 o'clock Tuesday night. He was lying on his face on his shotgun, the full charge having struck him in the chest.

Justice of Peace C. L. Meeker returned a verdict of accidental death. Estes had been seen shortly after 6 o'clock by two other hunters, who had directed him to the opposite side of the lake where they had seen doves coming in for water. Three doves were in his hunting bag.

Estes was found by Milford Hudson, Nell Austin and Lillian Yates who were riding on a road that crosses the dam. Hudson notified officers, and Chief of Police George Flournoy and John Croft went to the lake with Meeker on the investigation. The body was taken to Kinney Funeral home.

DEMOS ADJOURN AS CONVENTION COMES TO AN END

Pledge Selves To Get Record Vote Out In Election

FDR IS LAUDED

Minority Group Is Swept Aside On Questions

FORT WORTH, Sept. 9 (P)—Texas democrats adjourned last midnight after pledging themselves to get out the biggest vote in Texas history for Roosevelt and Garner.

The convention called on the legislature to ratify the child labor amendment, refused to ask Texas University regents to lift the censorship on the student newspaper. Senator T. J. Holbrook, Galveston, led the opposition to the child labor amendment, predicting that the legislature would reject it for the 5th time and saying that the American home was threatened with destruction.

Proponents replied that the amendment was necessary to destroy "sweatshops" and to protect children from exploitation.

Myron Blalock, Marshall, chairman of the state executive committee, opposed action on censorship saying "it is not censorship for the regents to tell immature youths points beyond which they may not go."

Record Output Indicated From Mines of Canada

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 9 (U.P.)—A new all time record for Canadian mineral production likely will be established in 1936, according to Dr. Charles Cammell, deputy minister of mines.

He estimates the value of the Dominion's output at $350,000,000 compared with the slightly more than $310,000,000 in 1935. Returns for the first quarter of this year strongly suggests, he says, that gold productions alone will exceed $135,000,000.

Those who predicted that Canada's industry would set a new record in 1936 will find no cause for revision of their opinions in the returns that are available for the early months of the year," he said.

"Those are distinctly encouraging signs that the first quarter improvement will be duplicated, if not exceeded, in the remaining months of the year."

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—What this campaign doesn't need most is a few more animals.

Both parties already have drawn heavily from among our four-footed and fine-feathered friends for their propaganda. If you pause a moment to consider the menagerie which they have assembled for us, you will find that, with the exception of one or two items, such as the laughing hyena, all the birds and beasts are there.

Mr. P. T. Barnum were alive, one could imagine the old showman promoting a mammoth parade of these political animals up or down Fifth Avenue, led by an elephant and a donkey.

He might have Republican Chairman John D. M. Hamilton astride the elephant and Democratic Chairman Jim Farley atop the donkey—if the donkey were big and husky enough.

Then, by rights, should come the "six million little pigs"—or was it three millions?—because they were the first quadrupeds to enter the campaign. They are still in it, despite a few tons of statistics and economic data which Secretary Wallace has on hand to prove that their slaughter three years ago was justified, even if the price of pork is going up at this time.

And Mrs. Pottle's Pigs, Too These little pigs can't appear however. They're dead, without even having gone to market. But so many Republican tears have been shed over them that for parade purposes it probably would be easy to col-

Will Study Australian Urban-Rural Problems

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Sept. 8 (U.P.)—Dr. Clifford M. Zierer, associate professor of geography at the University of California, has just sailed for a six months' effort to find out "what is the matter with Australia."

The problem, according to Professor Zierer is that Australia, a comparatively new country, with a population of about six and one-half millions, has about 62 per cent of that number living in cities and only the remaining 38 per cent in the rural regions.

He will make an especial study of urban planning, commercial development and field mapping.

June Eclipse Pictures Studied at Washington

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (U.P.)—Eight large pictures of the recent total eclipse of the sun and its mysterious corona, which are believed to compare favorably with the best photographs made during previous eclipses were brought to Washington by Dr. Irvine C. Gardner, American scientist, it was announced by the National Geographical Society.

The pictures were made at Ak Bulak, U. S. S. R., on June 19, with an astro camera equipped with an anaglyphic lens system which Dr. Gardner had invented for the purpose.

Weather Doesn't Change But The Predictions Do

BOSTON, Sept. 8 (U.P.)—Weather forecasting 50 years ago was a bit simpler than it is today, Blue Hill Observatory records show.

In 1885, to indicate rain, a red flag was hung from a pole atop the observatory. If a chilly spell was expected, a "cloud wave" flag, white with a black center, was displayed.

Forecasts were first obtained at the observatory by sending box kites carrying instruments into the upper air. A steam windlass hauled them down.

There has never been a feature-length cartoon in the movies, but one involving two years of work, $750,000 in cash and 300,000 drawings now is in production.

lect a memorial fund for a large monument which could be mounted on a float.

Our parade however need not march pigless. The pigs of Ed Pottle up in Eastport, Me., immediately leap to mind.

These are the porkers which were reported to be eating 800 pies a day at government expense because the army had contracted for the pies to feed Passamaquoddy workers who were no longer there to feed.

Inquiry developed that there had never been any such pies at Passamaquoddy, raised serious doubt as to whether Ed Pottle ever had any pigs, and even led vague misgivings as to whether there was any such person as Ed Pottle.

But those are mere details. After all, pigs is pigs.

The dogs in the $25,000 WPA dog pound at Memphis were early entries in the campaign. Col. Frank Knox and the citizens of Memphis still have an argument as to whether these dogs are washed in marble shower baths. For parade purposes they unquestionable should be accompanied by Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, shouting to the world about all the people bitten by dogs in Memphis before that pound was built.

Trot Out That Skull

Somewhere in the line of march should appear that now celebrated cow skull which the Resettlement Administration has been using in its propaganda of drought country.

This skull, according to Republican publicity, has been carted around the Dust Bowl area and planted every time the RA photographer wanted to take a picture, although the photographer insists he found it and took a lot of pictures in the same area, never moving the skull more than 20 feet or so.

Whether the skull should be carried in the parade by the photographer or should be mounted on a pedestal on a float is hard to decide.

Farmer George Mays of Arcadia, Mo., and his six cows must also be given a place of honor, since they are understood to have been employed by the Republican National Committee.

The G. O. P. publicists heard that WPA had built a $20,000 sidewalk system in Arcadia which was used only by cows, and sent sound-movie photographers there for pictures. No cows being found on the sidewalk, but only people, the movie men are said to have paid Mays $25 to drive his cows along the sidewalk and also paid him a dollar a minute to make a sound-movie speech about it.

The town marshal, noticing the cows on the sidewalk, ordered the movie men out of town.

Even Quail Eligible

Make way, also, for a few thousand birds from Carthage, N. C. quail farm of Julian T. Bishop, the New York broker who lives in Greenwich, Conn., and has been so worn down and oppressed by the New Deal that he has promised to sell the farm, quail and all, and move to Canada if Roosevelt is re-elected. Thanks to publicity given to the offer of purchase from a New Deal fellow who said he would appreciate it the sooner Mr. Bishop left, and to the assertion of Minister of Public Welfare David Croll of Ontario that Canada didn't want Mr. Bishop, those quail also have become very famous.

And of course if one wants to be liberal as to the entry requirements, it would be possible to include such celebrated quadrupeds as Governor Landon's horse and the White House dog which bit Senator Battle Caraway of Arkansas in the left leg.

United Under One Ruler

War-Like Signs Placed on Buildings At Ft. Sam Houston for "Paper War"

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 9—"IV Corps" "VIII Corps" "Corps Area Recruiting Office" "Replacement Center."

Signs like this have a war-like look. They are being placed on buildings at Fort Sam Houston today, designating the major units participating in the third army command post exercise, and mutely testifying to the large scale of Uncle Sam's "paper war" being conducted here this month.

Under direction of Major General Frank Parker, commander of the third army and the eighth corps area, five hundred command and staff officers, among which are four-teen generals, being mobilization of the third army in its imaginary defense against a mythical "Elmer" European power that has entered the United States from the Gulf of Mexico, landed in the vicinity of Brownsville and Corpus Christi, and is relentlessly pushing northward to capture San Antonio.

In planning the mobilization of the military forces of the fourth and eighth corps areas, it has been found necessary to plan for the organization of recruiting and reception centers, mobilization centers, replacement centers, a supply point, distributing points and remount stations—even though of the 156,000 men involved in the training problem, only the five hundred officers and some six hundred soldiers will actually be on the ground.

All of these installations are essential links in the chain which secures men for the army in time of agreed emergency. In addition to furnishing them with supplies, equipment and shelter, the recruits must be sorted according to their training in civil life, assigned to the jobs they are to fill in the army, and be forwarded to the various units which must be brought up to required war strength.

The recruiting station is the first link in the chain. Here the applicant will receive his physical examination, and if passed by the medical officer, will be enlisted for the duration of the war. During the World War, only 7 out of every 10 men called for military duty were found fit—the percentage of the southwestern states of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico being slightly higher. In order to secure 36,000 new recruits, the number required to bring the third army to its full strength as required in this command post exercise, it would be necessary to have approximately 123,000 men present themselves for enlistment.

During this particular training problem, 3000 cards, each giving the name, occupation and full data on a potential recruit will be filled out at the various recruiting stations. These cards will be handled just as if a real war were going on. Plans provide for recruits being sent to regiments or to replacement centers. The cards show this date. At replacement centers recruits receive preliminary training.

It will be the duty of these command and staff officers taking part in this "paper war" to correctly and efficiently assign the imaginary recruits to the jobs for which they are best fitted, and where they can best serve the army. As the third army is a unit capable of maintaining independent action on a battle front, even such rare occupations as cargador, (one experienced in loading horses and mules into trains) meteorologists, millwrights, X-ray photographers, and locomotive engineers can be put to work as occupational specialists and kept busy at their respective work. Ordinary trades like cooks, bakers, electricians, radio men, stenographers, draftsmen, horse shoers and a score of other occupations are necessary for the operation of a single infantry regiment.

For a mobilization, such as is being contemplated, plans must be made for shelter, food, clothing and hospitalization of these imaginary 86,000 new recruits. The establishment of reception centers will be required. From the reception center, the recruit is sent to either replacement center, from which he is eventually assigned to either a unit needing more men to bring it to war strength or to one where men are needed to replace those lost in battle.

Stamp News

By I. S. Klein

SOME Harvard enthusiasts still have hopes that a special stamp will be issued soon commemorating the 300th anniversary of the founding of that famous university. They believe that President Roosevelt, a Harvard graduate, will approve such an issue. But officially there is no fear this would set a bad precedent.

The souvenir sheet of four commemorative stamps printed in connection with the international stamp exposition in New York, recently, already has been withdrawn from sale at the Philatelic Agency.

Stamps still available at the agency in Washington, and worth picking up before they are withdrawn, include the all-blue 10-cent airmail special delivery, the 10, 15, and 20-cent airmails, the one-cent and three-cent Chicago World's Fair stamps in sheets of 25 each, and the two-cent experimental electric eye stamp, which is sold only in sheets of 100.

New Zealand soon will issue a set of five stamps commemorating the World Industrial Conference in Wellington. The stamps will be on sale for the month of October only. They total 28 cents in face value, and picture New Zealand's important industries.

Denmark has issued a set of four values, in two designs, for the 400th anniversary of the Reformation in that country.

A sort of tax stamp, to provide funds for national defense, has appeared in Ecuador. Its use is compulsory on all legal papers, as well as on parcel post and registered mail.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

Some people say that while other lines of business are progressing, that of the farmer stands still. But that isn't true. Any time you check up on work of extension departments, experiment stations and of up-to-date, hard working farmers, you will find that they are constantly making changes for the better, in spite of droughts, poor markets and the other obstacles which confront them from time to time.

One of the newest things on me is a row crop called Ajax. John M. King had a crop of it this year, produced from a few seed he had on a few trial stalks last year. While his maize, kaffir, heifers, cane and other crops were suffering from continued dry weather the Ajax kept growing steadily. It produced sort of a short or medium height stalk, but the head was long and had a lot of sound seed. It has shown itself to be a real drought resisting crop. The experiment station at Big Spring also has had good success with the crop and recommends it highly as part of a season's feed crop, just to be sure there is feed produced in case of drought.

To all those who want to qualify as the life of the party, who wish to be known as droll fellows, irrepressible clowns, or mad wags, who are anxious to fascinate mixed audiences with the raspylike quality of their wit—the following words of advice, presented by Robert E. Sherwood in the Rotarian Magazine, are offered:

"Don't ever start off any story with the introduction, 'It seems—'

"Don't ever confess that you are 'reminded of an anecdote—'

"Don't ever explain beforehand that the joke you are about to tell is funny. That is a contention which is always extremely hard to prove.

"Don't ever repeat a rifty that you heard in a musical revue. Its presence there is a guarantee of its age.

"Don't ever tell dialect stories—

"Don't ever assume that a joke which has been told effectively by Irvin S. Cobb will sound funny when recounted by you. A man's joke, like his toothbrush, is his own exclusive property.

"Don't ever follow up a humorous climax by digging your victim in the ribs.

"And above all things—

"Don't ever preface your remarks with 'Stop me if you've heard this one!' It is an utter waste of words: (a) because the chances are 100 to 1 that your listeners have heard that one, and (b) because they all know perfectly well that it would be useless for them to say so. The persistent joke-teller will never be stopped by anything short of a millennium."

Florida Offers Rain To Drought Settlers

LAKE CITY, Fla., Sept. 8 (U.P.)—Fred P. Cone, who will become governor of Florida next year, has suggested to federal authorities a plan for transfer of drought-impoveryished families to Florida.

This state, in contrast with the Midwest, has had an excess of rainfall this year. Cone believed the state would finance a share of the expense needed to permit midwestern farmers to rehabilitate themselves in new surroundings here.

"We have millions of acres of idle land in Florida, and I see no reason why these unfortunate people should not be advised of our resources," he said.

Brothers Mix Religion With Wheat Farming

MUNDEAN, Kan. (U.P.)—Amos and Jerry Rundus, brothers, combine two widely divergent occupations with results which they consider satisfactory.

When the fall seeding season arrives they put out wheat on their farm near here. Then they enter a prolonged period of conducting evangelistic services, as the wheat needs little attention until the following summer. They have followed such a plan for many years.

MYTHS ADD TO FILM IDOL'S GLAMOUR: FEMINE HEARTS FLUTTER OVER HIM

Feminine hearts all over the nation are fluttering over Robert Taylor, movie idol whose adulation rivals that showered on Rudolph Valentino. In a series of three fascinating stories, Paul Harrison, NEA Service and The Reporter-Telegram Hollywood correspondent, tells of Taylor's career, his personality, his hopes, his hobbies, and his love affairs. This is the second of the series.

BY PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9 — Robert Taylor is only 25 and has had a brief, if busy film career. Yet decorative, tinsel legends already are being erected about him.

To hear the stories, you'd gather that he was sternly reared in near-poverty and that his whole life thus far has been a saga of dogged determination and lofty purpose. You may hear that he studied medicine, and is a psychiatrist whose understanding of the human mind lends some mysterious power to his acting.

Many persons believe that he plays Bach and Brahms on the piano, and in his spare moments curls up with Epictetus in the original Greek. Incidentally, some fictioneering already is being done about his age, which is announced as 24 instead of 25. Taylor himself has no part in any such petty deceptions. He talks frankly and without reserve about anything but his personal romances.

His parents weren't poor. Spangler and Ruth Stanhope Brugh lived comfortably in Filley, Neb., thanks to a thriving grain business. When the wife developed an apparent chronic illness, her young husband determined to study medicine so that he could better care for her. Father Was Generous Their child, now Robert Taylor, film matinee idol, was named Spangler Arlington Brugh—the "Arlington" part being a whim of his mother's, borrowed from a romantic novel.

By the time the boy was 5, Brugh Sr. had won his doctor's degree. The family lived in Fremont, Neb., then in Beatrice, Neb. The father had a prosperous practice and his medical skill is attested by the fact that his wife has survived him. He died in 1933.

Dr. Brugh indulged his son's wishes to the tune of a pony and six new automobiles—three of the latter before the boy's 17th birthday. But Spangler Jr. was commanded not to drive faster than 35 miles an hour, and he kept the pledge—though he felt he fairly crawled on the long drives to and from college, and to the town where his cello instructor lived.

The cello, a fine one, was bought for him as a compromise with his ambition to play the saxophone. He was an ordinary boy; got into fights and school athletics, all without distinction. He worked a few weeks each summer—as bank teller, harvest hand, painter—then would join his parents at a mountain resort.

At the movies, the youth liked Tom Mix. He played his cello with such skill that everyone was sure he'd have a musical future. He was awkward, shy, and not very popular socially. "Until I was a junior in college, I wasn't able to go with one girl more than a month," he recalled.

At Ease on Platform Before an audience, Taylor was at ease. He appeared in school plays and was a consistent winner of oratorical contests, usually on the subject of prohibition. He was always for it.

He never was quite sure what he wanted to do—medicine, law, or some kind of business. While a student at Doane College he belonged to an orchestra called the Harmony Boys.

He never seriously thought of music as a career, and now has lost all interest in it. Never touches his cello, and doesn't even own a piano. Taylor didn't study medicine, but took a degree in liberal arts from Pomona College in California, to which he transferred from the Nebraska school.

At Pomona he suffered under the derisive nickname of "The Shiek" and had few friends until he distinguished himself in debating and dramatics. Because he is rather quiet, Taylor gives the impression of being somewhat profound. He isn't. He likes light fiction, newspapers and popular music.

Discovered For Movies It was in a college production of "Journey's End" that he was glimpsed by a talent scout for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Pending graduation from school Taylor was offered weekly instruction in dramatics under Oliver Hindsell, the studio coach. He didn't think the company could be serious about wanting to make him an actor, so he twice allowed his lessons to lapse.

Late in 1933, after Taylor had obtained his degree and enrolled in a regular dramatic school, the studio gave him a screen test. He played a scene in which he, as a young dramatic coach, was attempting to teach an actress (Evelyn Knapp) how to make love.

Louis B. Mayer saw the test and noted the apparent reality of Taylor's lovelinking. The actor was given a contract for $35 a week; also an order on a local tailor for a complete new wardrobe.

It was Mayer's secretary, Ida Koverman, who selected Brugh's screen name. "I like it all right," he commented. "At least, people can pronounce it. Of course I think the greatest screen name in the business is Clark Gable's."

At Quitting Point For nearly a year he struggled along in minor parts in undistinguished pictures. "My morale was at its lowest ebb about the time I was loaned for a pretty good role in "West Point of the Air," he said.

"But they switched me to a bit with only one line. I kicked about that, and they settled for another bit which had three lines. "I was plenty low in my mind, and twice had asked the studio for a release from my contract. I wanted to try my luck on the Broadway stage.

"But they wouldn't let me go, and I was soon mighty glad of it, for then I got into "Society Doctor" and things started booming."

Peggy Lundy bounces high in the air with unbounded joy, which proves that anything is possible when you are eleven years old and all set for a career as a movie star. She's the tap dancing protegee of America's tap dancing ballerina, Eleanor Powell, and is cast in a new musical film.

Bette Davis, Warren William at Yucca

Bette Davis and Warren William come to the Yucca Theater today and tomorrow in their new co-starring Warner Bros. production, "Satan Met a Lady." Warren Williams plays opposite Miss Davis, while others in the cast include Alison Skipworth, Porter Hall, Arthur Teacher, Marie Wilson, Winifred Shaw and Olin Howland.

The picture is based on a novel by the famous writer of fiction, Dashiell Hammett, which is one of the best the author has turned out. It is written in his usual style, with mystery and thrills combined with sophisticated humor, love and intrigue.

The story is woven about the search by a band of crooks for a legendary ivory trumpet, supposed to contain a fabulous fortune in jewels. Murder follows on murder as the crooks double cross each other in their battle to cheat each other out of the fortune.

Bette Davis again plays the part of a "bad girl," in this instance using her lovers to help her in obtaining the jewels, and polishing them off in one way or another when they cease to be of further use to her. William, also, is an unscrupulous character, a private detective without morals and few principles, but a man with a sense of humor.

Inexpensive Chuck Fit For A Banquet

By NEA Service In 1800 a famous gourmet wrote, "Tell me what thou eatest and I will tell thee what thou art."

It's as true today that we are judged by our tables. This does not mean that the fare should be elaborate; it does mean that, no matter how simple, meals should be tasty and attractively presented.

An example of a dish that is inexpensive yet properly prepared, can be for honors with the choicest cuts is the pot roast. A pot roast may be a thing of beauty and imagination or it may be, as it often is, just meat, stewed.

This recipe will transform ordinary chuck of beef into a tender, delicately flavored roast. It's the spicing that counts.

Pot Roast Sweet-sour For Six Three pounds chuck beef in cubes, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon celery salt, 6 whole carrots, 1 large can tomatoes, 1/3 cup vinegar, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup seedless raisins, 2 onions.

Have the butcher cut the chuck, all clear meat, into 2-inch cubes.

Brown the meat in a kettle—pour the can of tomatoes over it, and add only enough water to cover the meat. No more.

Next, add the salt, celery salt, pepper, whole carrots and the onions, sliced.

Boil about 2 hours, or until the meat is tender.

Mix the flour, sugar and vinegar to a paste, and add some of the meat gravy to it. Blend this into the gravy in the pot.

Add the raisins, and cook for 10 minutes longer, until the raisins are plump.

If you don't care for the sweet-sour taste, omit the sugar and vinegar.

Dumplings are usually served with this type of pot roast. They are made this way: Dumplings for Six Three-quarters cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon baking powder, 1 egg, beaten.

Sift the three dry ingredients and add the beaten egg to them. This will make a stiff batter.

Drop the batter off the end of a teaspoon into the boiling hot sauce and let the dumplings cook until done. Be sure you make them quite small, as they swell enormously.

Add the dumplings to the sauce just before serving and pour the entire mixture—meat, dumplings and sweet-sour raising gravy—over all. What a dish this is!

POWERFUL TEAMS PRESAGE FOOTBALL SEASON

Yale, Harvard Step Forward To Meet Princeton

BY HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK Sept. 8.—This season will bring out the best football ever played. There are more teams with chances to rank at the very top than ever before.

It should be the most interesting and exciting campaign in history. Experts who have to do the picking are going to have real jobs on their hands. Most of the leaders combat a half dozen squads which, like themselves, have to be reckoned with in national ranking.

There have been many remarkable arrays since the late Walter Camp hit the line for Yale. They were particularly formidable in 1919, when the two-year lapse, due to the war, sent more mature young men onto the gridiron.

But the grand old college game has come on since then. More players and interest, more time devoted to it, and natural development. Surveying the entire situation, I feel that the sport will reach its peak this autumn.

The superiority of Princeton the last three years has brought Yale and Harvard up to meet the other member of the Big Three. New Haven and Cambridge definitely were on the rise last fall and will have strong combinations this trip.

Princeton will be no worse than last season, when the Tiger was unbeaten. Old Nassau's losses are offset by replacements who got in considerable time and practically replaced some of the veterans in '35. For example, Jack White probably saw more service than Garry LeVan last season.

TICKETS TO BEAR GENT GAME PLACED ON SALE IN TYLER

Max Gillilan, Manager of the East Texas Rose Festival Athletic Association, announced that tickets for the annual inter-sectional football game to be held in Tyler October 3rd between Baylor University and Centenary, went on sale Tuesday morning. Mr. Gillilan stated that a number of reservations had already been received and that these will be filled first. Last year during the Rose Festival one of the largest crowds to witness a football game in East Texas, visited Tyler during the annual game between A. & M. College and Temple University. The crowd was estimated at 15,000.

George Foltz, Manager of the High School Athletic Association also announced that the playing field is in splendid condition and the completion of the new $4,000,000 field house added comfort and beauty to the field.

Mr. Gillilan announced that three types of reserved seats will be sold. Reserved seat tickets will sell at $2.75, $2.20 and $1.65, with only a limited number of reservations, general admission tickets selling at $1.10. Out of town football fans should send their reservations immediately to East Texas Rose Festival Athletic Association, Tyler, Texas.

The SPORTS HORN

BY JESS RODGERS

After two weeks hard work the Midland Bulldogs are finally rounded into shape and Dutch and Bud (Parson, Mr. Lackey, Mr. Baumgarten and Mr. Taylor) are just about ready to designate the team that will take the field against the Big Lake Owls when they come here for the opening game on the night of September 28.

In the backfield the coaches will have the best balance deaggregation in several years. There will be speed, power, brains and punting and passing ability galore. The attack will naturally be centered around Big ...Tire covers carrying the football schedule for this year of the Midland high school Bulldogs are now on sale at the Red Cross pharmacy, Petroleum pharmacy and the City drug store. The stores are volunteering to sell the covers, not one cent of profit—there will be if all the covers are sold. It will be spent by the coaches on the members of the club. To be specific, the money will be used to buy fruit juices for the boys to drink at the end of practice and games. You can help the boys out by buying one. The cost is only one dollar.

Dave Wafford, 196 pound bruiser, but without him in there it would still be very, very potent. Wafford has put on extra weight without losing any of his speed, (if he got any slower that would be something) but, boy, how he can crack a line wide open. Francis, an importation from Eastland, seems to have the other half position cinched. Weighing about 155, with speed to spare, this youngster has shown a lot of ability in all departments and is going to prove plenty tough before the season.

Taylor, big country boy who played in the line last year, has been shifted to the backfield this season and has shown such rapid development that right now he is number 1 fullback. He'll tip the scales at 172 and as tough as a professional wrestler.

At the present time little Johnny Rettig, one of the neatest little pass snatchers that Midland has boasted in a long, long time, is leading candidate for the quarterback position. He will weigh only 143 but has an explosive take-off that will let him get into the open with the minimum of time.

Any time any of the above named quartet is forced out of action there will be well qualified replacements as Roberts, Barber, Wheeler, and McMullan have shown such form so far that they are distinct threats to beat one of the first four out of a position if any slowing up is done.

Built around Adams, 200-pound left tackle, the Bulldog line is going to be plenty tough to crack this year. Cowan and Mitchell, guards, are the only two men that will weigh less than 160 pounds, and they make up for lack of weight in ability to come out of the line and mow down opposing would-be tacklers.

Unless the coaches change their minds between now and the start of the first game the Midland line-up will be like this:

- C.—Wimberly.....160
- R. G.—Cowan.....149
- R. T.—English.....163
- R. E.—Hart.....163
- R. H.—Wafford.....195
- L. H.—Francis.....150
- Q. B.—Rettig.....143
- F. B.—Taylor.....172

Professor Lackey is more pepped up over his junior high aggregation this year than the high school eleven. So enthusiastic did he become while telling this department about them the other morning while up at the junior high building that he called the entire bunch in for a look-over. The main portion of a short talk that he gave them was centered around the fact that he did not want them to lose a game this year. He seems to think that if he can get them in the habit of winning while they are still in junior high that the gift will remain with them once they become members of the high school teams. It's a swell idea—if it works.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—New York Giants look less like a championship club than any since the Brooklyn Dodgers of 1920.

Half of the Polo Grounders hope they'll live long enough to win the National League pennant, the other half hope they hold together long enough to live.

When Bill Terry gave the St. Louis Cardinals Tarzan Parnalee, Phil Weltraub, and cash for Burgess Whitehead last winter, practically everybody told him that the North Carolina Phi Beta Kappa was too frail to play through a 154-game schedule. It was feared that Whitehead would collapse in August.

Whitehead hasn't, which is about the only thing that hasn't happened to the Giants.

It's True About Dixie

Southeastern Conference race appears to be pretty wide open, with Louisiana State, Auburn, Kentucky, Ole Miss, and Georgia Tech as the outstanding contenders, and with Mississippi State, Vanderbilt, Georgia, Alabama and Tulane given a good outside chance. Duke and North Carolina seem the class of the Southern Conference.

Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, and Rice will be back with a vengeance in the Southwest Conference.

All of the coaches, all of the critics, and more than half of the fans name the California Bears as champions of the Pacific Coast.

Washington and the University of Southern California, not to mention U. C. L. A., Stanford and St. Mary's, will have something to say about this, however. Oregon State had an exceptionally fine sophomore team last year, so should swing a long at a rapid gait this season.

St. Mary's is to make its usual trip east. The Galloping Gaels battle Fordham at the Polo Grounds, Oct. 24, and Marquette at Soldier's Field, Chicago, on Friday night, Oct. 30.

Nebraska considers Maj. Biff Jones' Oklahoma team its toughest foe this season. The Sooners finished second last season and have most of their man back and the Jones system intact.

There'll be heavy firing all along the line.

Indian Postal Clerks Must Be Linguists

BOMBAY, Sept. 8 (U.P.)—Indian postal authorities must deal with thirty-one different languages and forty-two different scripts, not counting the scripts and languages of foreign countries.

This requires a special staff of two hundred employees supplied with exhaustive reference libraries, working at Bombay, Calcutta, Madras, Lucknow and Nagpur. Besides these, Calcutta has experts in Chinese languages and scripts, and Bombay in European languages.

Difficulties of the Indian post office are increased by the fact that a large number of the population lead a nomadic life and many are semi-literate. Despite all this, only 0.54 per cent of all the mail handled reaches the dead letter office.

But the Giants continue to keep going, and it is said that Terry seriously is considering disposing of Mel Ott. He's too healthy.

LINCOLN LOST LAST LAWSUIT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 8 (U.P.)—Recently discovered court records here have disclosed that Abraham Lincoln lost his last case as a practicing lawyer.

The records were uncovered in the clerk's room of the federal building during an inventory of federal records that was being taken recently.

They show that Lincoln's last law case was filed on June 22, 1860. In that case Lincoln and his partner, Herndon, defended William Ellsworth in an ejectment proceeding.

The suit asking for the ejectment of Ellsworth from his premises was won by the plaintiff, the court holding that in addition to paying damages of one cent, Ellsworth also relinquished the land involved.

A study of the records for the period between 1855 and 1860 showed that Lincoln had a total of 89 law cases on file during that period.

The records are believed to be the oldest existing pertaining to Illinois in the federal courts and in the United States.

They are copies of originals which were sent to Chicago and later destroyed in the Chicago fire of 1871, according to court attaches.

The general court docket, which is part of the records uncovered, showed that Lincoln was especially popular, as a lawyer, with railroads and big companies. He also handled many cases for clients in reduced circumstances.

Originally filed in the circuit court, the cases were transferred to the district court in 1911, when it was established, and consequently are federal property.

Expects 12-Ton Magnet to Bare Many Secrets of the Cosmic Ray

CHICAGO. (U.P.)—A 12-ton magnet with which Prof. Arthur H. Compton, University of Chicago physicist, hopes to probe deeper into the secrets of the cosmic ray, is nearing completion at university laboratories.

The magnet, designed by Compton and his research associate, Hayden Jones, is expected to develop a magnetic field equivalent to 40,000 times the strength of the earth's magnetic field over a cubic foot.

It will be used in experiments on high energy particles—such as the cosmic ray—in an attempt to rewrite electrical laws which the high energy articles do not obey. Five miles of three-quarter inch wide copper strips wound in spirals make up the poles of the magnet.

Oil containers have been designed to carry off heat, the oil in turn cooled by running water. Effectiveness of the cooling system, Compton said, is an important element in the operation of the magnet because the limit to the amount of power developed is the amount of heat which is carried off.

Compton, leading cosmic ray authority, concluded from experiments that ray particles are largely positive and negative electrons. Their energies are so high they do not obey laws of electricity, even as extended by the Einstein theory.

The Chicago man expects to photograph the swiftly moving particles and determine from that their energy and whether they are positively or negatively charged.

Previous experiments have measured energies up to 20 billion volts. Compton hopes to extend the measurement with his magnet to energies of 40 billion volts.

FOUND IN DOGHOUSE

STURGIS, Mich. (U.P.)—When Mildred Saddison, 14, tired of house work and ran away, police searched the city. The one spot they missed, however, was Mildred's doghouse. She returned home after finding that hideout too uncomfortable.

SERIES EIGHT

TURKEY, Texas. (U.P.)—Gordon Vineyard and his wife might have doubts as to whether or not they are behind the eight ball. On the eighth day of the eighth month at 8 o'clock, an eight-pound boy, their eighth son, was born.

THIEF PICKS COP

NE WHAVEN, Conn. (U.P.)—Patrolman Raymond Riordan drove his car to a police field day, but took a trolley car home. While he watched the track and field events with several hundred field officers, a thief stole his automobile.

CORONATION COSTS

LONDON. (U.P.)—The robes which British peers and peresses will wear at the coronation of King Edward next year will cost nearly a million dollars—robes $425 each and coronets $80.

Blotting paper was discovered by accident. A worker in a paper mill forgot to include sizing in a batch of ordinary rag paper.

When President Opened Span Honoring Mark Twain

Climaxing the ceremony of dedicating the $750,000 Mark Twain Memorial bridge across the Mississippi river at Hannibal, Mo., President Roosevelt is shown as he held his scissors ready to cut the ribbon held by Gov. Guy B. Park of Missouri, left. Speaking to a throng that packed the vicinity of the bridge for blocks, the president declared that the span stands symbolic of what can be done by co-operation of federal and local governments. In his address, he paid a glowing tribute to the life and works of the famed author whom the bridge honors.

Tracing U. S. Income and Outgo

With federal spending a major campaign issue, Republicans charging waste and extravagance and Democrats upholding their own course, this chart gives a clear idea of how government receipts and expenditures have varied during the period from 1920 to 1936. The lines show the fluctuations up to the end of the fiscal year 1935-1936, which ended on June 30, 1936. Lines in the 1937 column are drawn from estimates given in President Roosevelt's September budget message, in which the chief executive's figures indicate a decided increase in revenues and a decided drop in expenditures for the year ending June 30, 1937. It will be noted that there were surpluses from 1920 to 1930 inclusive, with a deficit each year since 1930. Greatest annual deficit during this period was reached in 1935-1936, when it totaled $4,810,893,935.

BUS SCHEDULE IS INCREASED HERE

Five Cars Each Way Per Day Make Stops At Station Here

Addition of another bus schedule both east and west by the Southwestern Greyhound lines today gave Midland five buses each way per day, according to Carl Covington, agent.

The new eastbound bus leaves here at 8:13 a. m. and the new westbound leaves at 5:27 p. m. The complete schedule now follows:

Eastbound: 4:52 a. m., 8:13 a. m., 9:54 a. m., 5:58 p. m. and 10:34 p. m.

Westbound: 1:28 a. m., 5:30 a. m., 12:06 noon, 5:27 p. m., 9:03 p. m.

In addition to its regular connections at various points, the new schedule makes it possible for passengers to take the westbound 5:27 p. m. bus and connect with McMakin lines going north to Hobbs, Lubbock, Amarillo and other points.

Radio's leading commentators are saying that the Chesterfield people have discovered in Miss Thompson a song stylist who is on the way to winning a generous share of Radio's laurels. Here solos are bright spots in a program that never lags in any part. Miss Thompson has her own way of lifting a song out of the commonplace, demonstrating a rare knowledge of musical composition. Perhaps this comes largely from Miss Thompson's earlier training as a concert pianist. And when Miss Thompson and her Rhythm Singers—15 boys and girls—present such numbers as "Knock Knock", "I Can Pull Rabbits Out of a Hat", "Who's This", etc., they become miniature lyrical comedies. When, for example Kay Thompson and the Chesterfield Chorus sang "Us on a Bus" it was transformed from an ordinary song into a musical trip on an international bus, at a breath-taking pace that was speeded up with fast interpolations of witty dialogue to fit the changing scene.

But to demonstrate is showmanship, Conductor Kostelanetz balances these novel arrangements against Ray Heatherton's smooth baritone voice. Mr. Heatherton excels in romantic ballads and popular classics. A complaint the Chesterfield people often receive—if you can call it a complaint—is that Ray Heatherton's songs are all too few.

All together the Kostelanetz program is a unique contribution to radio entertainment combining, as it does, the rhythm of popular songs with the sway of dreamy tangos and rumbas, ballads that everybody loves, and just a bit of musical mischief for added spice.

George Clinton, Elbridge Gerry, William King, Henry Wilson, Thomas Hendricks, Garrett Hobart and James Sherman were the seven men who died while serving as vice president of the United States.

This newest picture to reach America reveals him seated on the papal throne, a boy kneeling for his blessing.

British Figure Garbage Cans May Be Aid Against Gas Raids

PORTSMOUTH, England. (U.P.)—with 1,500 gallons of water—to produce a 28-foot high spray from the roof of the vehicle.

Thus, it is hoped, by using a suitable neutralizing agent it would be possible to decontaminate an area filled with any non-persistent gas such as phosgene.

It could be used, too, as a fire-fighting unit with a powerful jet, and also, by means of its channel-washing spray, for sweeping away from the streets any persistent gas such as mustard gas.
