'MIDLAND DAY' AT SHOW WILL FIND NO GATE CHARGES

Everybody Invited See Quality Of Entertainment

TOWNS HONORED

Pecos, Monahans And Odessa Guests October 2

Everybody admitted free, the opening day of the races! The gate keepers will be sitting in the grandstand Friday, October 2, when the bugle blows inaugurating the fall race meet at Midland Downs.

It will be MIDLAND DAY and the whole country is invited. It also will be dedicated to Odessa, Monahans and Pecos, the football team from the last named town coming here for the night engagement.

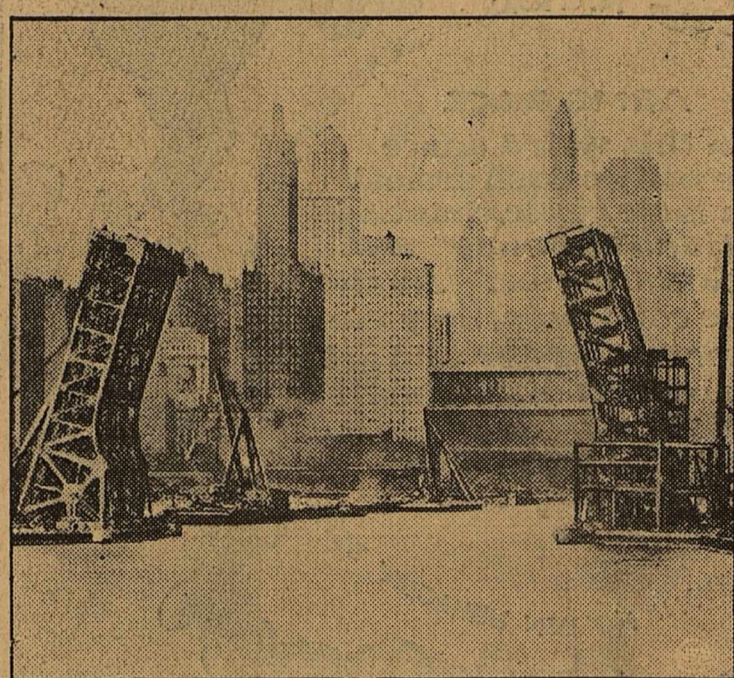

Directors of Midland Fair, Inc., at a meeting early this week, voted to admit everybody free on the opening day, thereby acquainting as many people as possible with the strong type of entertainment offered.

Special days have been set aside for various neighboring towns and cities and numerous passes will be sent to each place to be distributed by newspapers or chambers of commerce, according to officials, the passes to be good on the dates specified.

Eight days of racing, from October 2-10, inclusive, will be staged at Midland Downs. Approximately 300 fast horses will be on hand, it is indicated, with some of the top thoroughbreds of the southwest attracted here by the $1,000 added Merchants Handicap which will be run the closing day and by the $500 handicap set for October 3. Eight races will be run each day, with no race less than a half mile in length and no purse less than $100. Total purses will be more than $8,000.

Although advertising trips, scheduled for the early part of this week, were temporarily postponed by rains over the section, much interest has been shown in towns contacted and attendance records are expected to fall, due to the fact that the surrounding country has been made Midland Downs conscious.

Bridging Chicago's Shore Drives

Rearing its massive steelwork against the background of Chicago's Michigan avenue skyscrapers, the new bridge shown in this picture will, when completed, link the north and south shore drives along Lake Michigan and give the Chicagoans a new route across the city. The bridge is located at the mouth of the Chicago river, a half mile east of the Michigan avenue bridge.

GREAT PLAINS POPULATION REMAINS SAME DESPITE PLAGUES OVER AREAS

Intra-Area Migration Does Not Affect Total In States, Survey Shows

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. (UP)—Plagues of grasshoppers, dust storms and droughts have caused much intra-area migration of hardy farmers in the Great Plains but the population of the 10 states has remained virtually stationary. Dr. Conrad Taeuber, of the department of agriculture, declares:

"While data he collected did not include the effects of the present drought Dr. Taeuber branded as incorrect the 'popular impression' that there has been a considerable depopulation in recent years in the Great Plains.

The farm population of the states decreased from an estimated 6,117,000 on Jan. 1, 1930, to 6,112,000 five years later—a period which covers the droughts of 1930 and 1934. From 1910 to 1935, the farm population of the area was increased by about 45,000 persons, "which is fewer than one-half the number of children born to farm women in those states during any one year between 1930 and 1935."

Phandle Shows Decrease In the five years from 1930 to 1935, decreases in farm population were notable in the Oklahoma Panhandle, the cotton-growing area of southwestern Oklahoma and the adjoining eastern margin of the Great Plains of Texas, but the change was slight in the wheat-growing portion of the Texas Panhandle.

Farm population decreased markedly in western Dakotas, northwestern North Dakota, northeastern Montana, and in the irrigated Arkansas and South Platte valleys of Colorado. Decreases about balanced increases in western Kansas and Nebraska and the plains of Western Colorado. A decided increase occurred in the Rio Grande valleys and the mountainous portion of New Mexico.

"As to the migration from farms in the Plains region, it is evident that this amounted to a rather heavy movement, for in more than two-thirds of the countries, there was some decline in the farm population, despite the large influx of 350,000 newcomers and the rather large natural increases," Dr. Taeuber said. "The excess of births over deaths from 1930-35 is estimated at 514,800 persons in the region.

"To sum up, it appears that in the 10 states during the five years, at least 875,000 persons left farms and had not returned by Jan. 1, 1935. More than half the migration away from farms occurred in Texas and Oklahoma."

Low Death Rate Prevails Increases in the farm population between 1930 and 1935 are due almost entirely to the high-birth rates and low-death rates prevailing in the area. Only Texas and New Mexico report areas of any size in which the farm population had increased because of persons moving in.

The areas where the relief load was heavy for the year ending June 30, 1935, lie well to the east of the "dust bowl" of the area, Dr. Taeuber said. In all except one county in North Dakota and two counties in South Dakota, 10 per cent or more of the total population was on relief during the year. More than 10 per cent of the population of every county in Oklahoma and Texas was on relief during that year. Of the 824 counties in the states, only 69 had less than an average of 10 per cent of their population on relief for the year.

MADRID CAPTURE SAID IMMINENT BY INSURGENTS

Toledo Also To Fall, Rebels Claim As Men Move Up

LOYALISTS LOSE

Government Studies Advisability Of Surrender

TALAVERA, Spain, Sept. 23. (AP)—The capture of Madrid and Toledo was declared imminent today by insurgent leaders who claimed victories on both fronts.

Reports are current that the Madrid government is debating the advisability of surrendering. Insurgents are prepared, however, to take it by storm.

If rebels, now marching on Naval Carcano, capture it the government troops will be thrown back on their last defense near the Madrid suburbs.

It was reported last night that the rebel Fascists had captured Torrijos, 15 miles west and slightly north of this city and had an apparently clear path in their march to battle for release of their comrades within the long besieged fortress Alcazar.

The insurgents, Toledo reports said, were consolidating their forces for a renewed thrust at Toledo after the capture of Torrijos. Fascist warplanes blew up a vital railway bridge not far from Toledo and the government rushed fresh troops to meet the advancing Moorish columns.

COLORADO RIVER WATERS DROP AS CREST IS PASSED

Austin Flood Stage Only 24 Feet Today

AUSTIN, Sept. 23. (AP)—Colorado river flood waters rolled with diminished force toward the gulf today but still threatened the bottomlands.

The river gauged 24-feet here, but was reported falling at Marble Falls. Coast guardsmen have warned farmers below Austin of the approaching waters as a precautionary measure.

LEGION WARNED IT HAS RECEIVED ALL BENEFITS NEEDED

Compensation Said Plentiful For Services

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23. (AP)—New York City was unanimously chosen today for next year's convention of the American Legion.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23. (AP)—General Frank T. Hines, veterans bureau administrator, warned the American Legion convention today against pressing immediately for further benefits, asserting that disabled veterans and dependents of those who died in service "have had reasonably adequate compensation."

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, asked the legion to support neutrality legislation against "foreign entanglements."

TESTIMONY ENDS IN MURDER TRIAL

Bramlett's Fate In The Hands Of Jury As Alibi Denied

CARTHAGE, Sept. 23. (AP)—Testimony ended today in the trial of Terrence Bramlett after state rebuttal witnesses had testified they did not believe Mrs. Reable Childs had fired the shot which killed her husband, Marlie, at their Center home, April 23.

Bramlett, yesterday accused Mrs. Childs of shooting the rifle which took the her husband's life.

Bramlett testified he carried the death gun to Mrs. Childs, who was given a 25-year sentence in the same case.

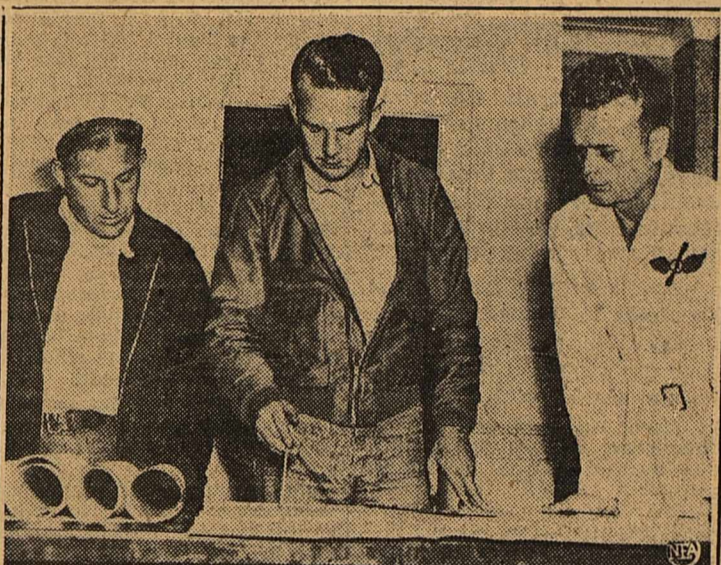

The defendant testified Mrs. Childs had pursued him saying that she had called him to a drug store telephone when he was a stranger to her. After Bramlett at first failed to keep a promise to call her, he testified, the pair met often in tourist camps, hotels and at Child's home.

TWO OTHERS SHOT; FEELING RUNNING HIGH OVER ACTION

Residents Protest Recent Deaths Of Nationals

SUPLANT POLICE

Declare Martial Law After Cops Are Relieved

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23. (AP)—The Japanese portion of the international colony here was in uproar tonight after three Japanese marines were shot, one of them fatally.

Residents protesting continued incidents in which their nationals have been slain throughout China, demanded Tokyo take immediate and forceful action against "anti-Japanese terror."

Commanders of Japanese naval landing parties declared martial law supplanting the international police, and international settlement authorities called out a company of Russian men, part of the settlement defense corps, for duty in the event of an emergency.

Detachments of 200 marines were put ashore at Hankow last night to investigate the killing Saturday of a Japanese consular policeman, and at Pakhoi to inquire into the killing there of a Japanese druggist on Sept. 3.

Japanese warships landed the marines to protect Japanese lives and properties. The authorities responsible for the action said it would be improper to term the expedition an invasion since Japan has maintained naval and military forces in China for many years.

Diplomatic negotiations to settle the incidents, meanwhile, were fruitless.

ACQUIT STEVENS IN TRIPLE KILLING AT HANDLEY; 1935

Once Received Death Penalty After Trial

FORT WORTH, Sept. 23. (AP)—O. D. Stevens, acquitted last night of murder charges in the slaying of Harry Rutherford, one of the Handley triple murder victims, will be returned to Alvatraz Island prison and not be tried again for the other Handley killings, officials indicated today. The triple slaying occurred after a Texas and Pacific mail robbery for which Stevens was convicted.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 23. (AP)—A jury in criminal district court brought in a verdict of acquittal Tuesday for O. D. Stevens, tried for murder for the killing of Harry Rutherford in the Handley "triple" slaying of 1935.

Stevens did not change expression as the verdict was read but his wife and sisters, sitting on a front row of the court room cried openly as the verdict was read. On his first trial in 1934 Stevens was given the death penalty but this was reversed by the court of criminal appeals.

OLD KIDNAP CASE TO BE REOPENED

Reported Federal Men Have Solution To Robles Case

PHOENIX, Ariz. Sept. 23. (AP)—The Phoenix Gazette said Tuesday federal agents were "on the verge of clearing up the June Robles kidnaping case" which has baffled authorities since the child was abducted in Tucson in April, 1934.

The case will be presented to a federal grand jury at Tucson "some time in October," the newspaper said.

Frank E. Flynn, U. S. district attorney for Arizona, declined to deny or affirm the reports but said he would go to Tucson tonight to prepare for the session.

HENDERSON POOL EXTENDED HALF MILE NORTHWEST

Discoverer Of Field Brings In New Producer

BY FRANK GARDNER

R. H. Henderson, Midland operator and discoverer of the prolific Henderson pool in Winkler county, has extended the area a half-mile farther northwest with his latest well, the No. 1 Lum Daugherty. Estimates on the flow of oil into open pits conservatively place the well's rating at 2,500 barrels per day, natural gas traps and storage tanks are now being erected.

The No. 1 Daugherty stopped drilling at 3,998 feet in line after entering the main pay section at 3,045. It has been tubed and will take potential test as soon as tanks are up. The new Henderson producer is located in section 33, block 74, public school land.

North of the Leck pool in Winkler, Fields and Crery et al No. 1 Lum Daugherty, wildcat 2,970 feet from the south and 330 feet from the west line of section 3, block G-23, public school land, is drilling below 2,850 feet in lime topped at 2,760.

North Cowden Well Gapped Sinclair-Frairie No. 1 Smith, north Cowden pool well 440 feet out of the northeast corner of section 23, block 43, township 1 north, T. & P. survey, flowed 320 barrels per day. It was shot with 200 quarts 4,120 to 4,280, the total depth. Gas volume after shot was 353,752 cubic feet.

In southern Ector county testing territory north of Crane's Wadwell pool, Continental No. 1 Edwards in section 32, block 44, township 3 south, T. & P. survey, is drilling at 2,988 feet in anhydrite.

Plug was drilled from 7-inch casing cemented at 3,970 in Sinclair-Frairie No. 1-A Johnson, Ector wildcat, and it is now progressing at 3,985 feet in gray lime. Location is in section 42, block 42, township 1 south, T. & P. survey, five miles north of the Foster pool.

In the Goldsmith pool, Gulf No. 8 Goldsmith, shot with 80 quarts of nitro from 4,163 to 4,195, five feet off bottom, flowed 117 barrels in 12 hours with 7,538,000 cubic feet of gas. It is now cleaning out and will run tubing.

Resume Swabbing After fluid rose in the hole at the rate of 800 feet in 16 hours, swabbing was resumed in Ray Albaugh et al No. 1 Robinson, Dawson county discovery, and it is reported to have shown yield of 16 barrels of oil in 19 hours. Some sources report it as having exhausted water, and others insist that it is still showing about five gallons of water per hour. Total See (Oil News) Page 6

M'FARLAND DIES AS AFTERMATH OF 2 MONTHS ILLNESS

Famous Ex-Fighter Succumbs Today In Home

JOLIET, Ill. Sept. 23. (AP)—Patrick (Packey) McFarland, member of the Illinois state athletic commission, and ranked as one of the greatest lightweight boxers of all time, died today.

McFarland had been confined to his home here for two months, with physicians battling his strange illness that brought high fevers. Physicians believed a streptococcus infection had settled near his heart.

McFarland, 44-year-old at the time of his death, retired from the ring on New Year's Day, 1918, after a brilliant career. He earned a fortune of about $200,000, which he was reported to have lost in the stock market crash of 1929. He moved to Joliet after quitting the ring and became successful in business as a paving contractor, brewer and banker.

Letter To Editor

LETTER TO EDITOR
Midland, Texas,
Sept. 18, 1936.
Editor, Reporter-Telegram,
Midland, Texas.

Dear Sir:
Perfection is a rare thing, but nevertheless, our Midland schools have reached a very high point. For safety, a little slower driving is needed between the school buildings just before 8:30 in the mornings and at noon. Miracles were performed in ancient times and are still happening, and as to why some children is not run down every day is one of those miracles. Certainly all of us are subject more or less to accidents while operating a motor vehicle. But why multiply those possibilities with excessive speed around and among our school children. I believe, Sir, that if people could realize the mental torture or punishment that would be with them through life they would be more careful. I believe, Sir, that if motor vehicle operators ever come to a realization of the pain, suffering, sorrow and grief that might be imposed upon a child or its parents by reckless, careless or fast driving, that the need for speed limits and traffic cops would be negligible in our school zones. Also children who walk should stay off the streets where possible, and practice more of that "Stop, Look and Listen" before crossing streets and never cross at an angle.

Further than the above criticisms which are suggestive only, the set-up to me is beautiful and near perfect. We have now, and for many, many years, have had the finest group of teachers and instructors obtainable in the south. Characters selected for every qualification essential to a betterment of education and the development of beautiful manhood and womanhood. Led and guided by the greatest public school superintendent the southwest has ever had. Led, guided and supervised for over a third of a century by Professor W. W. Lackey. A man not only qualified for the work he does, but a man whose every action speaks nobleness, kindness, firmness and friendship. A man whose friends and acquaintances are near the same in number.

These facts coupled with the beautiful, magnificent school buildings make for Midland a wonderful educational set-up.

I am aware of the fact, Sir, that our fine churches, business institutions, civic organizations, together with our hospital, hotel, and office accommodations, and an excellent daily newspaper have played an important role in bringing to Midland the high class of people that are connected with the oil industry, and that we now have as citizens. But I do not believe Midland would have become the hub of the Permian basin had it not been for our wonderful schooling system.

It has been my privilege to live in Midland county since before the beginning of this century. I acquired chiefly my meager education under the supervision of Prof. Lackey.

I have served Midland county 6 years as county commissioner. 4 years on the county school board and am at present a school board member of district 6, and I am blessed with seeing my two boys and two girls through the public schools of Midland, I shall be very grateful.

Yours truly,
HOLLY ROBERTS.

Autumn Driving Has Special Set of Rules

Autumn driving, according to C. W. Wood, national director of service, Chevrolet Motor Co., has a special set of rules all its own, which should be followed closely for maximum enjoyment of motoring during the next few weeks.

"September and October," said Mr. Wood, "offer in three important respects from the months just preceding. They have a much higher average rainfall, making driving conditions more difficult. Streets and highways are frequently littered with wet leaves, calling for extra precautions. And finally, the colorful autumn scenery lures large numbers of people to the roads."

"For greatest enjoyment of driving under such conditions, all units of the car should be in the best condition. This is especially true of the braking system and the tires, which determine the driver's ability to come to a safe stop. Damp pavements, particularly if they are covered with slippery wet leaves are no place to drive with worn-out tires for brakes that are not properly adjusted."

"Factors affecting visibility are extra important in the fall, too. Operation of windshield wipers should be checked, and headlamps and tail lamps adjusted and refocused if necessary, for complete safety night and day, in rain, shine, or fog."

"The prevalence of fog in the Autumn justifies special suggestions for safe driving under these conditions. The safe rule for driving, at any time, is 'Keep to speeds at which you can stop your car in the clear space ahead.' The clear space ahead is greatly shortened by fog, of course, and the safe driving speed is reduced by just that much."

"Two things to remember when driving in fog are: use the utmost caution in overtaking other cars, and drive clear off the highway if you must stop to clean windshield or lamps."

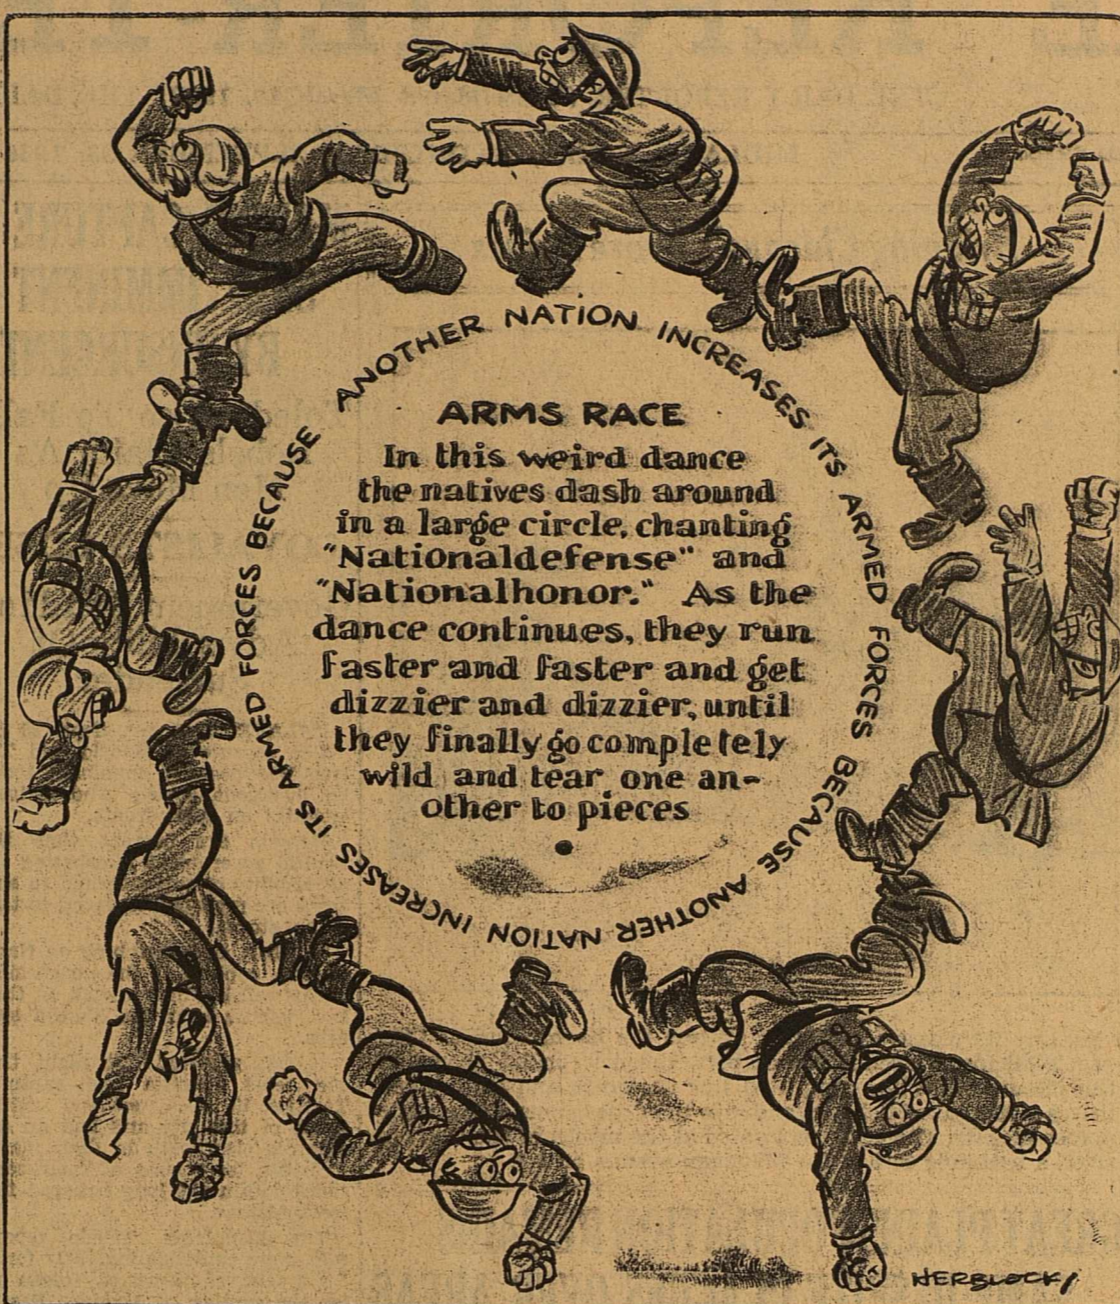

"A little extra attention to the car itself, and a little extra care when driving, will pay big dividends in safety, comfort, and the enjoyment derived from your car."

The Strange Inhabitants of The Planet Earth

Cavalry Horses vs. Cavalry Truck, Both Have Important Place in The Operations of U. S. Fighting Forces

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 23.—"Will the motor vehicle make the cavalry horse and the army mule a thing of the past?"

This question arises in the minds of command and staff officers of the Fourth and Eighth Corps Areas who are participating in the Third Army Command Post Exercises.

The imaginary defense forces consist of both mechanized and horse-cavalry. In this connection it is interesting to note that in spite of the recent increase in the motorization of the army, 26,176 horses and mules are required for use in the Third Army which is being mobilized on paper to repel the invasion of the Southwest by a mythical "Black" enemy. Major General Frank Parker is directing the exercise.

The First Cavalry, Mechanized, is attached to the Third Army for this exercise. It is one of the oldest cavalry regiments in the Army, organized in 1833 for the Black Hawk Indian War, and formerly stationed at Marfa, Texas, is one of the cavalry units which has given up its chargers for khaki colored motor vehicles. This famous regiment, first known as the "United States Regiment of Dragoons" whose battle standard is one of the most decorated flags in the country, was formed as the frontier moved steadily westward to include the vast open prairies of the middle west.

The Indians, mounted on horses, were able in their encounters with foot soldiers, to attack at will and retire safely, or to escape punishment indefinitely by riding swiftly away.

Much as this condition caused the original organization of cavalry in the army, over a century ago, it was found that our modern network of good roads, high-development of the gasoline engine and automobile, made it almost mandatory that motor-driven and motor-drawn vehicles be added to the fighting forces of the United States. It was to meet this requirement, that the First Cavalry was moved from Marfa, Texas to Ft. Knox, Kentucky, in 1933, to take up the new work of mechanization.

In that mechanized cavalry is nothing more than another fighting member of the United States Army combat team, its intelligent development can only result from close cooperation with all other members of the team. The First Cavalry regiment consists of 56 combat cars, speedy and extremely mobile vehicles equipped with 37 mm. guns, and 19 armored cars that are fast, mobile, steel-protected and equipped with machine guns and radios. The obvious advantages of mechanized cavalry are ability to get to the scene of the battle with rapidity, ability to take and hold important positions, its "shock" force or ability to attack with surprise, and ease of communication and control since its vehicles are equipped with radio.

The disadvantages of this comparatively new arm are inability to operate at night over rough or densely wooded country, and its unfitness for the scouting and patrolling that has made the horse invaluable to our armies in the past.

Such recognized military authorities as General Pershing, General Foch, and General Summerall, agree that despite mechanization, the horse has a definite place in the army.

General John J. Pershing in referring to horse cavalry said: "There is not in the world today an officer stomach of distinction, recognized as an authority on military matters in a broad way, who does not declare with emphasis that cavalry is as important today as it ever was."

In view of these opinions, from men high in military circles, it can be seen that the mechanization of certain branches of the army does not spell the doom of the horse or mule in the army, but the gasoline motors are, in reality, another important addition to our fighting forces.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

Again clipping from the Artesia Advocate (no telling where he clipped it). I find this list of paradoxes: We begin with box, the plural is boxes.

But the plural of ox is not oxes. One fowl is called goose, and two is geese.

Yet the plural of house is never called heese. One is called mouse, a lot is called mice.

The plural of man, as you all know is men. So why should the plural of pan not be pen?

A cow in the plural may be called cows or kine. But is 'vow, if repeated, is never called vine.

One is called a foot, more are called feet. But boot in the plural is never called beet.

If the singular is this and the plural is these, Why ought not the plural of kiss be called kees?

One may be that, three would be those. Yet hat in the plural would never be heath.

The masculine pronouns are he, his and him. Why not say the feminine, she, shis and shim?

The following, needless to tell you, was clipped: He is so thin, every time he closes one eye he looks like a needle.

Didn't last as long as a pint of whiskey in a five-handed poker game.

He is so quick lightning hangs fire in comparison. So stingy that if he owned a lake he wouldn't give a duck a drink.

Wandering round like a pony with its bridle off.

Like a loose horse, full of cockle burrs and always looking around for new pastures.

Considerably whiffy on the sea side. The night's so black the bats stayed at home.

More lip than a muley cow. Argue a gopher into climbing a tree.

Looked like Hell with the folks mead out. Hot as the underside of a saddle blanket after a hard ride.

Wash off your war-paint or I'll fog you until you look like an angel in the clouds.

He'd fight a rattler and give him the first bite. Follow you right up to Hell's hottest backlog.

Another man's life never makes a soft pillow at night. Never interfere with nothing that don't bother you.

A cowboy is a man with guts and a horse. A wink is as good as a nod to a blind mule.

Giving some folks liquor is like trying to play a harp with a hammer.

Seven States to Confer On Issues of Labor in U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (U.P.)—A new regional conference to discuss state labor problems and methods of labor law enforcement, under direction of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, will be held at Houston September 28 and 29.

The conference arranged at the invitation of Governor James V. Allred is the fifth called by Miss Perkins.

Governors of Arizona, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico and Oklahoma, their official delegates and representatives of labor organizations have been invited to discuss questions of hours, child labor, wage collection, and safety and health in industry.

Previous regional conferences were held at Nashville, Tenn.; San Francisco; Asheville, N. C.; and Columbia, S. C.

JUNIOR HIGH AND SECOND TEAM MEET

The Midland Bulldog second team and the John M. Cowden Junior high school football team will meet in an abbreviated game at Lackey field this afternoon at four o'clock.

The junior high group received unlooked for strength last week when Francis, found ineligible for high school competition, became a member of the younger lads. The high school second team will be composed of boys not listed as regulars of the second team.

The two teams will play four five minute quarters, thereby giving the younger boys a break.

Quebec Starts New Cleanup of Police

MONTREAL (U.P.)—The Quebec government may "borrow" crime experts from London's famous Scotland Yard and the Paris Prefecture de la Police to assist in reorganizing its provincial police force, target of heated criticism for years, into a modern, non-political body of "man-hunters."

Prime Minister Maurice Duplessis dismissed the whole Montreal branch of the provincial force shortly after he was elected last month as the first step toward the general reorganization to be undertaken. He charged the Montreal branch was a "hotbed of corruption, scandals and intolerable abuse."

The premier, who, as attorney general of the province, personally drew up the order-in-council authorizing the dismissals, said reorganization was both "necessary and urgent" to ensure more efficient administration of justice and to give the municipal authorities autonomy on law enforcement. He frequently flayed the force during his electoral campaigns for its "bare-faced" political activities and charged it used "third degree" methods abhorrent to British traditions of justice.

Although official comment is not forthcoming, it is understood in government circles Prime Minister Duplessis will ask Scotland Yard and Paris Prefecture authorities each to send two experts to Quebec to help the government establish an efficient police force which would undertake solely the scientific detection of crime by modern methods.

BOTH SIDES of the CAMPAIGN

Official views of the Republican and Democratic National Committees on leading issues of the campaign are presented by leaders of the two parties in this series of 12 articles, taking the place of Rodney Dutcher's Washington column during Dutcher's vacation. The Republican and Democratic arguments are presented on alternate days.

BY SENATOR JOSEPH C. O'MAHONEY

Vice Chairman, Democratic National Campaign Committee

The sane and sound leaders of business should—and most of them do—thank God for Franklin D. Roosevelt. There is a multitude of others, of course, who curse him. The sane and sound leaders of business get beyond the political news pages and the partisan editorials of their daily papers into that department where no newspaper publisher can afford to tolerate error. They go to the business pages.

About the time that Governor Landon was accepting the Republican nomination and the Chicago Tribune, in common with other anti-New Deal papers, was hailing him as the saviour of business, the Tribune printed a remarkable statistical summary of its business pages. In a graphic and understandable way it told the story of what has actually happened to business under the Franklin D. Roosevelt whom its editorial writers were denouncing as a menace to business. Its principal features compared the important business factors for the first six months of 1933 with the same factors for 1936.

Two of the four months, of 1933 were under Hoover, it should be remembered, the candidate who predicted that the grass would grow in our city streets if Roosevelt were elected to his place. Here are the facts from the Chicago Tribune's summary:

Loadings of freight cars, and nobody loads a freight car unless there is an actual business transaction, a 24 per cent increase more than 24 per cent for the first six months of this year over the first six months of 1933.

For the same period our foreign trade, which President Roosevelt ruined, according to his opponents, actually increased 85 per cent.

Cites Business Recovery

Nobody builds an automobile unless it can be quickly sold. In the first six months of 1933 the automobile industry built 900,000 cars. In the first six months of 1936 it built almost 2,500,000 cars, an increase of 151 per cent! This despite the shifting of the opening of the automobile season into the fall to provide steadier employment through the winter, but taking the first rush of buying new models out of the first six month period.

False leaders of business have criticized the administration for not helping the heavy industries out of the depression. The Chicago Tribune's facts show that steel production, the barometer of heavy industry, rose steadily almost from the beginning of his administration. In the first six months of 1933 it was less than 8,900,000 tons. In 1934 it doubled. In 1935 it held its own at better than 16,000,000 tons and for the first six months of this year it has reached 21,800,000 tons. That is an increase of 140 per cent in three years.

There can be no better index of the solid permanence of this improvement than the remarkable increase of building construction between 1933 and 1936. People do not put their savings or their borrowings into new buildings, industrial or housing, unless they feel that a profit on the investment is certain for many years to come.

According to the Chicago Tribune's summary of facts, for the first six months of 1933, new building construction was valued at only $432,000,000. In the first six months of 1934 it jumped to $884,000,000. There was a slight recession in the first six months of 1935. But for the same period in 1936 building construction reached $1,210,000,000. That was an increase of 180 per cent.

Claims Credit for Roosevelt

And let there be no doubt about it, President Roosevelt and his administration are responsible for the improvement. The tycoons of big business and finance had been in the saddle, riding government as well as business, up to 1933. They dominated Congress. Their advice was eagerly accepted at the White House. For 12 years they had been the lords of creation—but they couldn't stop the panic. Franklin D. Roosevelt did that, with the mandate of the people, when he took the helm of government and economics in 1933.

Then they came to Washington and cried for help. They got it. They got more. They got a new viewpoint of the responsibility of business to the people as a whole. Where necessary, they got laws to prevent the follies of charlatanism and inflation that led to the disaster of 1929. And it worked. If you don't believe it see the business pages of the Chicago Tribune, or any other reputable paper.

Can't Understand Enemies

Why are some of these business leaders, like the Chicago Tribune's owners and that other Chicago newspaper owner, Col. Frank Knox, Republican candidate for vice-president, now demanding President Roosevelt's head and the repudiation of his policies? They ought to be grateful. No institution more than the newspapers has benefited from the business recovery.

Personally, I think it is because they hate the man who exposed their futility in the field in which they thought they had the last word. And, of course, there is their natural desire to regain the power they once exerted in both economics and politics, though they almost wrecked the nation by their abuse of it.

As the campaign progresses, however, it will be growingly evident, and overwhelmingly evident on election day, that the soundest business leaders, together with the sound common sense of the mass of the American people, thank God for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Ancient Diamond Field Will Be Mined Again

BOMBAY, Sept. 23 (U.P.)—A diamond field which used to provide jewels for the great Emperor Akbar (1542-1606) is to be exploited again. It is situated in the Panma State, Bombay, and some stones picked up recently have led a syndicate of business men of Bombay and Ahmednagar to obtain a concession over 10 square miles for 15 years to mine for diamonds.

The stones were sent to South Africa, and experts expressed the opinion they were as good as those from South African fields.

Mexican Theme Used At Lucky 13 Party

An exciting game of "42" with a roving prize for '84 bids' afforded a great deal of amusement to the members of the Lucky 13 club when it was entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. H. S. Collins. Two new members, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hejl were initiated into the club at the first of the evening by a hearty vote of applause. Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Jones won the roving prizes for the men and women, Mrs. Kirby Sims won high, and Mrs. C. M. Hays won low. An attractive color scheme of red and white was carried out in tallies and prize wrappings using a Mexican theme. Colorful Mexican pottery was presented to the prize winners. Those who attended were Messrs. and Mmes. E. O. Connor, W. M. Cole, C. M. Hays, J. T. Baker, S. P. Hall, Kirby Sims, J. A. McClurg, O. H. Jones, W. F. Hejl, J. P. Howe, J. C. Hudman, Mrs. Eula Mahoney, a guest, and the host and hostess.

Youngsters Should Learn Adaptability

Olive Roberts Barton Why is it that some young people can tackle a job right off while others cannot even think of the same task without a shudder? The latter were themselves out just thinking about it, and when they do eventually apply themselves it is with distaste and fatigue. The answer is simple. When they were little and growing, they never were made to do anything they did not like to do. It never became second nature to face something that had to be done, and get it out of the way. As the years went on, their interest lay in certain grooves, such as study, and they considered one or two lines of effort sufficient. There was not enough diversity in their work to make all work acceptable later.

Can't Reshape Plans This is why so many young men and women, prepared for certain careers, are so spiritually unhappy when they must enter some other work. The girl who has prepared for advertising will work hard along that line if she can find her place. Later she is married and finds herself washing dishes and buying four hamburgers for supper. She is sick and unhappy, not because she is overwhelmed either by sacrifice or work, but because she can't adapt herself to work outside her groove. The man follows suit. He finds himself selling silk, and perhaps at a very livable wage. But he is too lured at night to eat, not because he is physically exhausted at all, but because he has been fighting his disappointment over not having found a job at electrical engineering, for which he was educated. All children are trained to work-habit in school. Many of them receive some training at home. Others none. But few children are given opportunity to develop a quick change of attitude toward all work, and compliance to circumstances.

Adaptability Needed It is a very wise mother who can instill in her child a quick willingness to make the best of things and to be ready to help with any job, no matter what turns up. The wise mother, moreover, does not plan far ahead for her offspring and insist that he is to do what she educates him for, or nothing. If he is too set in his ambitions in one direction, the fall will be his ruin. He won't be able to give up one idea for another. This need not interfere with definite preparation. That is always best. But it prevents the fixing of sentiment that kills if hopes are blasted. The boy or girl who can go at any unexpected job when very young will be the happiest in later life. Change his tasks. Give him a taste of everything. Emotional agility is as important as physical dexterity. The work-habit is far more important than the work itself.

Makes 'Em Hat Conscious Now

Irene Castle, who popularized bobbed hair in America, has turned now to the business of covering the hair. She's pictured with her favorite pooch as she arrived in Los Angeles wearing the latest chapeau creation of her own design. She is touring the country to make women hat conscious.

'Tudor England' Is Delphian Subject

"Tudor England" was the topic of study for the Delphian Club when it met in the private dining room of the Scharbauer Hotel Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. Mrs. H. B. Dunagan, director of the program, was assisted by Mrs. Ed Whitaker. They talked on "The Fugitives of Henry The Seventh." Mrs. David Googins' subject was "England Under Henry The Eighth." Mrs. Frank Elkin "Mary Tudor" the Lonely Queen." Mrs. Walter Cowden, "Problems Concerning Elizabeth." Ralph Barron, "Elizabethan Seamen." Mrs. Fred Turner, "Elizabeth As A Ruler and As A Woman." Mrs. Charles Klapproth, "Mary, Queen of Scots." After the program had been presented, there was a round-table discussion of the study. These members who attended were Mmes. Hal Peck, David Googins, H. B. Dunagan, M. E. Cole, Fred Turner, Ed Whitaker, Ralph Barron, Cliff Epps, D. C. Hemsell, A. O. Thomas, F. F. Elkin, Charles Klapproth, W. F. Cowden, E. A. Cowden, E. P. Lamar, and J. D. Dillard.

Wise Mother Curbs Child's Fixation

By Olive Roberts Barton Every mother worries subconsciously about death. What if death should come to her? What would her family do? I put the question to some of my friends one day and the reactions were different. My query was, "If you knew you only had so much time to live, what preparation would you make for your children, if any?" Almost instantly thoughts turned to husbands. One woman said she would want her husband to marry again and choose someone who would be a good mother to her two girls. Another said she would rather her boy did not have another mother, as he was sensitive and hard to understand and she knew he never would make up to another woman in the house. At that, another spoke up, "Well, you can't expect your husband to live up to death-bed promises. He will marry to suit himself, not because he has the children in mind. Nine times out of ten, that's true." One mother said thoughtfully "I Learn Objective Attitude Mother and child should be able to regard each other dispassionately as friends and good comrades. I think it strengthens character and responsibility. Children are less easily wounded if the mother has to discipline or disappoint. She can still be the comforter and good angel, the confident and confessor, but when she is away, her children will not go to pieces because they have lost their emotional prop. It is something to think about, at least.

Bright News Balks Your Budget Blues

"Cost or Living up!" "Tall prices predicted as result of short crops in drought areas!" Such big, bold, black headlines carrying news of the increase in food prices have been giving the blues to homemakers who must keep their household accounts out of "the red." But now comes a report from the food front that strong reinforcements are on their way from the South to help in the budget battles; The crop of American rice is the biggest and best in years!

Bulletins of the United States Department of Agriculture set forth long lists of figures on the state of rice acreage in Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas and round number the fact that there will be 1,000,000 barrels of rice more than was harvested last year. Seldom recommended for light reading, these staid facts are an interesting story for budgeters. What it boils down to—or boils up to, since it's rice!—is that we'll have about four billion pounds, because, rice, the expansive but not expensive staple, expands to four times its size when cooked. That means enough low-priced food to serve a hundred rice helpings to every man, woman and child in these United States!

Serving Your Share How you will have your share of these helpings is no problem with the several hundred new ways to serve the snowy staple, ranging from dessert, salad, entree, to main course and meat accompaniment. In recent years rice has become increasingly important on our menus. It's a home hold favorite because of its economy and versatility. Res-

LOUIS CONTINUES COMEBACK WITH A KNOCKOUT OF AL ETTORE IN FIFTH

By EDDIE BRIETZ
 PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 23. (AP)—Detroit's brown bombing Joe Louis carved another notch in his knockout gun Tuesday night by stopping young Al Ettore, Philadelphia Italian, in the fifth round of their 15 round bout in the Philadelphia municipal stadium.

A huge turnout estimated at 60,000 roared as the 22 year old negro floored a game but over-matched Ettore twice before polishing him off with a pair of short but paralyzing left hooks after 1.28 of one sided milling in the fifth.

Grace Moore Star Of New Film at Yucca

Again that golden voice rings out! Again her magic songs thrill the world anew! Your heart will soar as Grace Moore sings the love songs of the immortal Kreisler in the grandest of all musical love dramas! This latest film is Columbia's "The King Steps Out," featuring Franchot Tone, Walter Connolly and Raymond Walburn, and showing today and tomorrow at the Yucca theater.

It hits a glorious new high in screen romance, the lyric lark of the divine madcap who stole a king on his wedding day! You'll thrill to the golden voice of Grace Moore! The romantic dash of Franchot Tone! The glorious melodies of Kreisler! You will be held breathless in its enrapturing spell!

"The King Steps Out" is Grace Moore's gayest gift of glorious entertainment—the rollicking romance of a merry madcap who tempted a monarch!

Supporting the principals is a star bright cast including Victor Jory, Elizabeth Risdon, Nana Bryant, Frieda Inescourt, Thurston Hall, Herman Bing and others. Sidney Buchman wrote the screen play and Josef von Sternberg directed.

BUMPS RIVALS

The New York Yankees got all the better of the deal they engineered with the Senators for Pitcher Irving (Bump) Hadley and Outfielder Roy Johnson for Pitcher Jimmy Deshong and Outfielder Jesse Hill last fall. Hadley has proved to be the most effective member of the hurling corps, and is leading the American League in winning percentage. He probably will start the second world series game for the Ruppert Rifes. Bump, native of Lynn, Mass., is 32 years old, and has spent 10 years in the majors, six of them with New York.

Unusual Honor Won By Chinese Boy Hero

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23 (U.P.)—For the first time in the history of Shanghai, a street in the International Settlement has been named after a living Chinese. Honoring the 70th birthday of Yu Ya-ching, dean of Chinese business men in Shanghai, the Shanghai Municipal Council ordered the name of Thibet road to be changed to Yu Ya-ching road.

If Horatio Alger had picked a Chinese hero for any of his books, Yu Ya-ching might well have been his first choice. Yu arrived in Shanghai from his native Ningpo 55 years ago with only $5 in his pocket. While Shanghai developed from a mud-flat into one of the world's largest cities, Yu rose rapidly in prominence, becoming a shipping magnate and a leader in civic affairs.

Yu has often figured as a mediator in Sino-foreign "incidents" such as the mixed court riots, resulting from agitation over the jurisdiction and care of prisoners, which broke out in 1905. With a magistrate of the mixed court Yu headed some 500 Chinese soldiers in patrolling the streets when International Settlement police were forced to remain under cover to avoid clashing with Chinese agitators.

He played an even more important role during the Nanking road incident in 1925, when a solution of a serious situation was reached through his influence, resulting ultimately in the Chinese community's being given its first voice in city affairs.

Dutch clocks are made in the Black Forest of Germany and are such as the mixed court riots, really German clocks.

and change to modern OIL-PLATING

In about a minute this engine will be getting Oil-Plated and won't need any oil added for such a long time that the owner will pass up everything for Conoco Germ Processed oil. In making this oil, a patented "hyper-oily concentrate," as Science terms it, is used to alloy a most carefully refined mineral oil. That is Germ Processing! It has two sure effects... (1) makes the familiar type of oil-film many times stronger... (2) backs this far stronger film with an entirely extra Oil-Plating. Oil-Plating is an actual deposit of Germ Processed oil, fixedly Plated to every moving part. So you have oil-film sliding on Oil-Plating... oil-moving-on-oil! And you can't keep farther away than that, from "another quart of oil." Continental Oil Co.
