New Orleans Turtle Sales Become Brisk

NEW ORLEANS, (U.P.) — Probably one of the most curious sights in this picturesque city is the turtle shops in the Old French Market. Every night, approximately 1,000 pounds of snapping turtles are thrown upon the chopping block to be cut up and sold for making stew or soup. This scent has been going on since the market was established nearly 100 years ago.

The turtles, of two distinct varieties, the Cowan and the Loggerhead, are caught in fresh water marshes north of Baton Rouge. Fishermen patiently wade through marshes and wherever they see bubbles coming to the surface, they hook the struggling turtle. Some of them weigh as much as 300 pounds. Then begins the job of pulling them out of their holes or the mud where they have burrowed.

Once they are caught, most of the turtles are penned, frequently on shallow barges filled with water and mud. In this way they are kept alive until they can be delivered to the market in the winter, when prices are nearly double what they are in the summer.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

On Friday 13th, a news item about three columns long was sent out by The Literary Digest, entitled "What Went Wrong With The Polls." We didn't print it. It was just an allib. We have found that when we make mistakes we are just as well off not to make allibs, so we see no particular reason for helping the Literary Digest attempt to get back in the good graces of their readers. They just didn't hit, that's all.

One columnist has suggested that Landon is probably suffering from Literary Indigestion.

On the other hand, if you are one of the gloating democrats, how about dropping by John Butler's desk at the First National and contributing a dollar or two to the campaign fund which is pretty shy.

The Methodists have returned the Rev. Cliff M. Epps to us for another year. Everybody is glad of it. He has been here just long enough to begin to get pretty well and favorably acquainted. Give him a boost for his "second term."

Stan Laurel is an innocent looking punk to be having so much trouble over his women. However, women always did seem to fall for the bluntest looking yeggs.

Prickley Pear, that Del Rio Evening News column of which J. Travelstead is pilot, said: "We were explaining the other day to a prominent, intelligent woman some of our activities in journalism. 'Are you boasting or apologizing?' was her question. We always apologize for being in the newspaper business—it's the most unpleasant, sorriest racket any man ever got into.

The surprising thing about J's paragraph is that he called the newspaper business a racket. A racket, the way I have always regarded it, is an illegitimate business in which there is easy money. The newspaper business doesn't make such easy money.

A local man with a big family remarked that he was just enjoying the fact that the election is over when he noticed an advertisement saying "Christmas Is Just Around The Corner—Do Your Shopping Early."

 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1-2 teaspoon cloves
 - 1 tablespoon nutmeg
 - 1-4 teaspoon allspice
 - 1-2 teaspoon salt

Wash and dry currants. Cut grape fruit peel or citron and pineapple in 1-2 in. cubes, leaving the cherries and nuts whole. Cream butter and sugar and beaten egg yolks. Mix flour and fruit juices alternately. Add fruits, nuts (dredged in small amount of flour). Mix thoroughly and place in baking pans (use 1 lb. coffee cans with lids if they fit tightly) which have been lined with butter paper which has been oiled. Cover the top of the pan (if you don't use the lids) with heavy brown paper which has been oiled on both sides. Tie the paper securely around the edges of the pans to prevent water getting into the cake. Place pans into the cooker, and pour (or already have) hot water in the cooker half way up the pans. Place top on the cooker but do not fasten the clamps or petcock. Keep at boiling point 55 minutes. After that clamp lid securely and close petcock. Raise the pressure to 15 and leave 15 minutes. This insures cooking of cake to center of pans. Release pressure slowly, remove from cooker. Take off lids or paper cover and place pans in slow oven for 15 minutes to dry out the crust. This recipe makes 11 pounds.

I usually add 1-2 lb. butter nuts and 1-4 lb. orange peel and 1-4 lb. lemon peel. Leave butter nuts whole. Save some of the cherries and nuts to decorate top of cake just before placing in the oven.

The Economy Car in the Low-Price Field

THE NEW 60-HORSEPOWER FORD V-8

It is natural to ask why a 60-horsepower engine is added to the Ford line for 1937. The answer is simply that the smaller engine makes possible a saving in weight—a car that costs less to run—and a lower price.

The 1937 Ford with the new 60-horsepower engine is for those who want maximum economy with good performance. It offers the smoothness and quietness you expect of a V-8—even at speeds up to 70 miles an hour—with gasoline mileage so high that it creates an entirely new standard of economy.

New "60" Meets Many Needs

This Economy Car in the Low-price Field makes the Ford more than ever The Universal Car. It will appeal to families with small budgets. To salesmen who drive their own cars and want to pare expenses to the last penny. To farmers who need a rugged, inexpensive car for bad roads in all weathers. To fleet owners who must hold mileage costs down. To women whose cars are a part of the daily round of family or business duties. To two-car families as a general utility car... and to many others.

Improved 85-horsepower V-8

For those who want maximum performance with good economy, there is the improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine. It delivers the flashing speed and acceleration that more than three million Ford V-8 owners are already enjoying on the road. Yet improved carburetion enables it to give its thrilling performance with unusually good gasoline mileage.

You are invited to see the New Ford V-8 Cars for 1937—in two engine sizes but only one body size—at the showroom of the Ford dealer nearest you.

FEATURES OF THE 1937 FORD V-8 CARS

APPEARANCE—Distinctive modern design. Headlamps streamlined into fender aprons. Modern lid-type hood. Larger luggage space and spare tire concealed within body. Interiors entirely new. Slanting V-type windshield opens in all closed cars.

BRAKES—You want two things in a modern braking system. Dependability—and soft pedal action. The Easy-Action Safety Brakes in the new Ford give you both, with "the safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Cable and conduit control type. Self-energizing—car momentum is used to help apply the brakes. About one-third less pedal pressure is required to stop the car.

SAFETY—All-steel construction. Top, sides, floor and frame welded into a single steel unit of great protective strength. Safety Glass throughout at no extra charge.

COMFORT AND QUIET—By every modern standard of design, the 1937 Ford is a big, roomy car. Extra space in the body where you want it—not taken up by the engine under the hood. Comfort of the Ford Center-Poise Ride is further increased by smoother action of the long-tapering springs with new pressure lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine, and other refinements, make this a quiet car.

Coronation
 Miss Cummings and her co-workers have been busy in the past week making plans for the Coronation ceremony. This year the crowning of the queen promises to be very spectacular, and a ceremony which no one will want to miss. The queen and her court chose the following boys as their escorts: Eddie Gene Cole, James Frank Johnson; Mary Jane Harper, Marvin Park; Pady Sue Whitcomb, Robert Tanner; Adale Reiger, Robert Payne; Velma Johnson, Frank Miles; Wanda Ticknor, B. C. Girdley; and Jessa Lynn Tuttle, John Dublin Jr. The date has been set for Monday, November 23, and, as usual, a large crowd is expected to attend.

Book Week To Be Observed in Midland High School
 Book Week if you don't know already, is a national institution, observed each year since 1919, to arouse interest in good reading, especially among young people. This year Book Week is November 15 to 21. This occasion will be observed in our High School Library during next week.

The many new books which have been received recently will be divided according to subject and arranged with attractive posters. This collection contains many of the newer biographies which are more interesting than the old. There will be a section of travel books, one of fiction, one of animal stories, one of music, along with several others.

Deputy Superintendent Visits School
 Miss Sue B. Mann, Deputy State Superintendent, visited the Midland High School last Friday morning. She complimented the part which Midland had on the District program at the Centennial and stated that Mrs. Beal, Educational Director thought that in bringing the Midland representatives to Dallas the District had done its part for the Exposition.

Buffet Supper Served by Foods III Class
 Tuesday evening at 5:00 o'clock Pearl Booth was hostess for a buffet supper at the Midland High School, which was served by the foods III girls to a group of their friends.

A Thanksgiving color scheme was carried out. The room was lighted with yellow candles in orange holders. A bouquet of yellow and orange chrysanthemums served as a centerpiece for the table. The buffet was decorated with a Thanksgiving harvest scene. For favors, marshmallows were designed into a turkey and wrapped in orange cellophane paper.

The Menu consisted of:
 Creamed Tuna Fish in Timbale Cases
 Stuffed Potatoes
 Hot Rolls
 Pumpkin chignon Pie with Whipped Cream
 Orange and Lemon punch
 The following members of the class and guests were served: Pearl Booth, Zam O'Neal, Wynne Lee McCormick, Lucy Raney, Louise Pliska, Earline Welch, Mona Heibelberg, Nell Sapp, Jerry Welch, Phyllis Richman, Dora West, Doris Tedford, Chic Campbell, Granada Saye, Maxine Hays, Johnnie Howe, Lillian Arnett, Beatty Rains, Miss Crawley, and Miss Reast.

Progress Of Boys Home Making Class
 The boys homemaking class have finished their projects. They made all kinds of hooked and woolen rugs and picture frames.

This week the boys are studying first aid under the leadership of Delmar Yoakum.

The Armistice Day Program
 By Billy Noble
 Lucille Guffey, president of the Literary Society, called the meeting together for the giving of the Armistice Day program, November 10th, 1936, at 2:00 o'clock. After the minutes of the last three meetings were read the band opened the program with a stirring presentation of "Stars and Stripes Forever," by Sousa, followed in immediate succession by "America."

The High School, accompanied by the band, then sang the "Star Spangled Banner," which stirred the soul of even the most un patriotic visitor or student. Following this selection, the High School read "Love of Country" and sang the "Anvil Chorus" from "Il Trovatore" by Verdi.

Several High School students, under the supervision of Miss Cummings, presented a deeply touching pageant, "Memories of 1918" by Clarence J. Stytz. Those taking the important parts were: Adale Reiger, the reader, taking Jack Walton's part, Robert Payne, a soldier, Barbara Jean Harper, a nurse, and B. C. Girdley, a sailor. The speakers were John Dublin, Fred Gordon Middleton, Dorothy Lou Speed, and Billy Noble. Everyone commented favorably about the pageant and said it was very interesting. "Now the Day is Over" was selected as an "Amen" for the pageant. Dorothy Lou Speed brought the program to an end with her report as critic.

Many visitors were present and the High School invites them to visit our coming programs.

Assembly Visitors

On Tuesday morning Rev. Coleman and Dr. Gray, of Kentucky, visited our school. Dr. Gray made a very interesting talk on "Three Ingredients for a Happy Day." As he explained them, they are: (1) See something beautiful each day. (2) Commit to memory some useful verse each day, and (3) Do at least one good deed for someone each day.

That Extra Point

Every football team should be able to make extra points after their touchdowns. If a team cannot make touchdowns, they should try to win by kicking field goals.

T. C. U. won the Sugar bowl game last year by a score of 3 to 0. Mattson kicked a field goal for the Frogs. He also kicked one for the College All-stars this fall and thus won the game for them.

Monahans has one of the strongest defensive ball clubs in the district. They will likely stop most of Midland's excellent running plays. This will be a chance for our giant tackle, Adams, to ring up some points by kicking field goals.

Hospital Weekly

Jack Walton, one of our brightest pupils, was stricken with appendicitis on Saturday, November 7, and was taken to the Thomas Hospital. He is doing very well, and will soon be discharged, minus a "vermiform appendix."

Bernard Westerman is now at home recuperating from the same malady.

Milady's Duds

Yes, we notice you at the football games, dances, at school and on the streets in the "Fashion Parade." The most critical eye is focused on you Milady.

At the football game in Odessa on Armistice Day the fashionable brown, woolen coat suit set off with a gold button at the throat and a brown, felt, off-face hat was worn by Anna Beth.

They have a one-inch block heel, square toes, lace on the instep and are brown, suede, school oxfords. They are being sported on the tiny feet of none other than our Louise Elkin.

If you want to know what the well dressed faculty will wear just notice our charming Miss Heffner the next time she steps out in her black, woolen-crepe, fur-trimmed, costume suit with a smart turban shaped hat trimmed with a veil. Chick's black suede purse goes uniquely with any costume. The chic handle unbuckles with an extended zipper all the way around in the center of the handle.

Wanda George will soon be stepping out in her cerise, satin evening gown and believe it or not, it came all the way from Dallas, so you know it's the latest.

"Pert" is the only and best word to describe "Pug's" new outfit. A blue, wool, mannish suit with black accessories make up her costume.

Kitty, our most stylish sophomore is "diked" out in a mannish, grey suit with hat, nurse, and gloves to match and it all came from Abilene with grey suede shoes from Dallas.

Mrs. Scruggs has a beautiful new platinum diamond studded wedding ring which was a birthday gift from her husband.

The Copy Cat

"The Department of Education has instituted a new system of grading. Under the new system the letters A, B, C, D, and F, will be used." The Wildcat. We find that Lake Charles High School in Louisiana is using this system for the first time this year, too.

"We get disappointed just the same as everyone else when the Wolves lose, but we can take defeat as well as victory." This was taken from the Colorado School News, The Howe, but it might give us a subject for thought.

"A contest sponsored by the annual staff for the selection of a Yucca Gloriosa Queen, opened October 22." The Pony Express, Sweetwater as well as Midland has started annual activities.

Bulldog Bites "Winchel" English

The ball with which every important conference game has been played this season has been given to some member of the team. So far we find "Big Dave" has the ball to the Stanton game. The ball which will be used in the Monahans game will be given to "Pretty Boy" Rettig if we win. The Odessa oall will go to a Mr. Thurman Bryant, the balls autographed, will be part of the boy's most treasured possessions. By the way, folks, I found out why "Lovebird" Adams looks so irritated this week. A Mr. Walker is in town.

Sick Doings And Who Done 'Em

Jane Doran, one of our new dark-eyed Juniors, spent most of her time dancing with a good looking post-graduate Tuesday night. Looks like Jack Walton is losing out.

We hear Joe Norman is stepping out. Wednesday night he took Jane Bounds and Cleo Tidwell to the show.

Anna Beth had a date with B. C. Tuesday night. Anna Beth was rushed as usual and poor B. C. spent all of his time keeping count of how many times he was cut in on.

Jay Francis spent most of his time chasing after Pug. Oh! Well she'll get 'em all sooner or later.

It's too bad we can't get anything to talk about on Jay Miles, he was a good guy and danced with everyone.

Wilson must be a fast worker. He said he went to three dances Tuesday night.

Our little "fish" had a dinner party Friday night at Joyce Saunders. Billy Kimbrough tried to take Marvin Parks' girl from him; Nell Ruth Bedford was lonely because Tad Crane was in Dallas; and Joyce by her radiant personality, won the heart of everyone, especially Billy McGrew.

Robert Filson said that he thought Button was wasting too much time with Eddie Jean.

We hear that Jean Davis said if it cost Wayne Lanham to smile he would never be in debt.

Joe Norman told Cleo and Jane that a girl was like an automobile. It cost more to keep her than it did to get her.

We saw David at the Country Club Tuesday without Louise, which we all thought was very strange. But I guess it is all right. Louise went with him to Odessa to the football game.

Peeping Barbers (We Get In Your Hair)
 Can you imagine Mary Beth having "Bean" lonely?

Jessa Lynn, what's happened to Russel?

Barbara Jean, how do you like "Drickey"?

Jean, what's happened to all those medals of Lynn's you wore last year?

We wonder what's the matter with Dugan and G. S. this year. Little Nell Ruth seems grouchy lately. Could it be Tad?

He seems to be out of town. We wonder why Helen can't get her typing finished on some days? Maybe Frank sits behind her.

Why do you suppose Chick got mad at Newmie Tuesday night?

We have heard rumors that Liges boy friends are the ones who have kept him away from Lucille, but it's all right now, because they made up in a big way (eh, Lucille!).

Can you imagine our big he man Joe (known as a heart-breaker Joe Seymour) breaking the heart of one of our little blonde Freshmen girls. He even made her cry, because he told her he was moving to Kansas.

Oh yes, we saw Cleo and Wesley in the show Wednesday night. They seemed to be double dating.

with Cleo and our ladies man, Robert Tanner.

It seems that in the note which mysterious Jeff sent Anna Beth he said he would give her anything her heart desired if she would only be his. (What do you think, Bettle?)

We saw some of our favorite M. H. boys thumbing it to Odessa. It seems as if some of them were anxious to get there. (Could this mean E. B.?)

We wonder how the game of monopoly was enjoyed at Johnnies house Tuesday night?

The Battle Axe
 The Joke of the month:
 Mr. Shifflett: "Why would a farmer, on a real cold night, place a tub of water in his cellar, that his 'vegetables and fruits are stored in?'"
 Brilliant Chemistry Student: "To drown the rats!"

Rose has a South Dakota Romeo. Danny, you'd better be careful, Milton is trying to make up with Janette.

Classes should begin picking up now that Patsy O'Donnell is back. Some of our students go to the "Green Lemon" every once in a while.

Why don't you give the girls a break, Martin Niel?

Marion Taylor had better watch his step, because a certain Sophomore girl is after him. I think they call her Jerry W.

The two clowns, "Rattle-bones" and Jeffers were at their height at the dance.

We wonder why Tommy Wilson is so conceited? Could it be because he looks like Gene Raymond?

Bill Starr, you must be caught in that Guffey web, if you get mad just because Lige takes Lucille to the show.

Johnnie receives newspapers from our dear beloved Wimpy.

We wonder who Fred was with at the Odessa game? Watch him, Pug.

Harold Barnes has been feverishly evading Pady Sue Whitcomb for fear of being a prince at the coronation.

One thing leads to another; we wonder why Russel shook hands with himself when the "Queen" was announced?

Noble Van Dyke still has the girls going around in circles. Especially a blonde-headed Fish, (P. R.), and a cute Junior, (H. D.).

Doyle Cobb likes Joyce Saunders but she has her eyes on some one else.

Lols, did you know that Boyd had a date with another girl at the Odessa ball game?

We wonder who Wanda will pick for her "prince?"

Gordon English has a secret love; Velma Johnson no doubt.

John Paul Jones is getting to be a regular flirt.

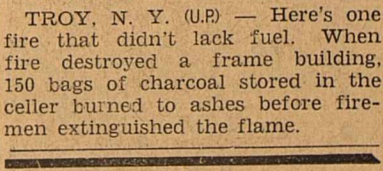

Why doesn't weasley Wilson give a certain Junior girl a break?

When will Cleo stop running into fences?

FOUR ACES FOR THE 1937 SHOWDOWN!

Every Buick in the 1937 line has more horsepower, more room, more luxury and more performance — on top of the finest quality and value that General Motors science and Buick workmanship can provide

THE fates are kind to the automobile buyer of next year—just take a look at Buick's offerings and you'll see why!

Here are four lines of new cars—aces every one—the ablest cars, the handsomest performers, the biggest values we believe the automobile industry has so far seen.

There is the 1937 Buick SPECIAL—stepped up in style, power, room and finish—thrifter than ever, and at the same low price.

There is the cyclonic CENTURY—all compact of obedient explosive energy—quicker, quieter, more sensational even than before.

There is the magnificent ROADMASTER—just what its name suggests—more powerful, more maneuverable, more luxurious than its marvelously mobile predecessor.

And there is the lordly LIMITED—the Avenue's proudest saunterer—fleet, sophisticated, capacious—uncommon carrier of the elect.

Every one of these cars brings something fresh and progressive to motoring—every one of them outranks in engineering and appointment even the phenomenal cars that uphold Buick's current sensational success.

See them and you'll say that the $14,500,000 appropriated and now being spent on top of the recent $15,000,000 put into re-tooling and re-equipping Buick factories is money not only wisely but fruitfully employed!

*Safety glass included—accessories slightly extra. Prices subject to change without notice. General Motors terms to suit your liking.

New Rent Books.

"Whitecap Harvest" by Mazo de la Roche; Jaina, 1934-1935. Continues the affairs of Renny, Alaine, and Clara; Wakefield and Pauline; Finch and Sarah and the Uncles.

"The Last Landfall" by Desmond Malone: In this autobiography there are landscapes from the Straits of Magellan; a gallery of portraits in which the staff of a Roman Catholic school and the crew of a tramp steamer complete for attention; a defense of games; a scholar's estimate of books; a war incident of sustained terror; and what is rare in autobiography, a complete close ("London Times").

"The Sensitive and Inspiring Chronicle of a wanderer's years, comparable in its charm to . . . The story of San Michele."

"Tonight at 8:30" by Noel Coward: In this book are nine short plays diverse in plots. Included are three groups of three plays; each group representing one evening's entertainment. In his foreword Mr. Coward writes: "The idea of presenting three short plays in an evening instead of one long one is far from original. In fact, if one looks back over the years, one finds that the 'triple bill' formula has been used, with varying degrees of success, since the earliest days of the Theatre. The primary object of the scheme is to provide a full and varied evening's entertainment. . . . For more than a year these plays have been captivating London and like all previous ones, make excellent reading."

New Books.

"This Simian World" by Clarence Day (author of Life With Father) Critics have come to regard this as talseh wentdm. . . B?Paul—this as the classic satire of the follies and foibles of mankind. (7 day book).

"Etchings and Etchings" by Joseph Fennell. This volume is a beautiful piece of bookmaking, and its fifty-five reproductions of etchings are far superior to those ordinarily found in books. The text is a study of the work of the great etchers and the technical processes involved in the making of an etching. The book contains many of Pennell's own plates as well as examples from Rembrandt, Legros, Durer, Blake, Meryon, Goya, Rops, Whistler and Lepere. "Nijinsky" by Remola Nijinsky: a biography that will be enjoyed for its romantic love story, for its amusing anecdotes, for its introduction of many famous personages—Diaghileff, Bakst, Pavlova, Debussy, etc.—but especially for its moving account of the meteoric career of the amazing dancer who reached the very peak of his profession only to be plunged into the darkness of insanity. Illustrated with photographs. (Gift of Mr. D. L. Hutt).

Of interest to the boys: "The Boys Book of Electricity" by S. A. Small. This book tells in a simple, easily-understood way the new theories and recently discovered facts about electricity. It gives explanations that really explain; tells how to make your own apparatus for experiments; how to measure and handle electricity; how phones, lights, sweepers, bells and other everyday devices work.

"The Boys' Book of the Earth" by S. A. Small: More amazing, more romantic than any invented story of adventure is the story of our own planet, but the wonderful details are usually hidden in long, strange words. However, here Mr. Small has put for the whole tale in language that any boy can understand and enjoy.

"Marvels of Modern Mechanics; the mastery of land, sea and air," by Harold T. Wilkins.

"The Book of Gliders" by Edwin Way Teale: Mr. Teale not only sees into minute detail regarding the building of gliders, but he presents the history of gliding, gives pictures of the famous gliding pilots, among them Lindbergh, and sets forth valuable information regarding how to fly a glider, how to win a pilot's license, and how to organize Glider Clubs.

Grid Trainers Rated Expert Shoe Fitters

MINNEAPOLIS, (U.P.) — Football trainers know more than anyone else about whether a shoe fits, declares Dr. Simon Benson. He says that the best way to learn whether a shoe fits or not is to study the problems encountered in the football locker rooms.

Writing in a recent issue of Modern Medicine, Dr. Benson, former football trainer at the University of Chicago, says: "For those who wish to understand foot and shoe problems, my advice is to serve as trainer for a football team. Here they will soon learn that even such an adaptable 'appliance' as adhesive tape all-too frequently fails to 'fit.' The kind of ankle taping that proves a 'perfect fit' for one player becomes a 'perfect misfit' on another. Often the shaping on one strip of tape will change a 'misfit' to a perfect 'fit.'

Based on his experience taping football players' ankles so that the tape approximates the "fit" of a shoe, Benson gives the following definition of the fit of a shoe.

"A shoe fits when it fits not only the size and shape of the foot but also the walk of the wearer."

The SPORTS HORN

BY JESS RODGERS

With nothing else to do but write a column—and with nothing to write about—we'll use an article found in the All-Sports magazine put out by Frank Menke. This is only one of the many amusing articles to be found in the magazine. All kind of sport records, fiction and fact are found all through it. The story today concerns the founding of the Baseball Writers Association of America. Here 'tis: The Baseball Writers Association of America is the most powerful unit on the outer fringe of any branch of sport.

It was formed during the World Series of 1903 because of two reasons.

(1) Louis Mann, an actor, and a very exquisite gate crasher when baseball was being presented, usurped the press box seat assigned to Hugh Fullerton, then one of the most famous of writers, and now an editor in Columbus, Ohio.

High asked Louis to hop away. Louis retorted by requesting Hugh to go places where he always would be warm.

"That's my seat," repeated Fullerton.

"Is that so?" snapped back Mann. "Is that really so? Well, I tell you it's my seat because I am sitting in it and now, that I've seen as much of you as I wish, you can go away."

Fullerton retorted by sitting in Mann's lap. And there, despite all of Mann's frenzied wiggling, Hugh continued to sit and watch the game, while his back completely blocked Mann's view.

(2) In the 1908 series between the Detroit and Chicago clubs, the space allotted to writers while in Chicago was trifling. Joe Jackson, a Detroit editor, and Henry Edwards, then with the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and

Winnah and New Champion—Jockey James

At the rate he has been traveling, 17-year-old Basil James, shown dismounting from a winner at Churchill Downs, is likely to finish the year as the nation's leading jockey. With more than 220 victories, James is waging a nip-and-tuck battle with another youngster, Frank Chojnacki. Charley Stevenson set the pace in 1935 by bringing 206 mounts down in front.

now statistician for the American League, drew seats back of an enormously wide post. The only time they could view a play was when they craned the corners.

The next day, upon arrival in Detroit for another game, Jackson and Edwards called a meeting of the writers—14 in number. Edwards and Jackson, gesticulating with one arm, while using the other to swab neck and shoulders with liniment, quoted from Hamlet's Soliloquy, pirated a few stanzas from Gray's "Elegy," caroled something from "Thanatopsis," and then declared they would be positively damned before they would try to report another game of baseball with a peek-a-boo rules governing.

Other writing gentlemen took the floor and accused Messrs. Jackson and Edwards of being sissies.

"Listen now," they enjoined. "Listen to us and then you'll hear of real weal and the agony of woe."

At the conclusion of the rhetoric, the boys arched their backs, hitched on the six-shooters, organized the Baseball Writers Association of America and dispatched a posse to search for the rival magnates, members of the Commission, etc., to try out their new firing irons.

When they volleyed at the big shots of baldom, carnage resulted. The surviving baseballers promptly agreed the boys were positively correct, and agreed to remedy matters poste haste, special delivery and night letter.

In 1909 the Baseball Writers Association of America informed the contesting clubs exactly what they wanted in the matter of accommodations. They asked no favors; they merely were insistent that itinerant actors, unemployed barbers, journeyman plumbers temporarily stranded, etc., and so forth, be kept out of the press box and asked to be placed in a section from which all plays were visible, so as to make for accurate reporting.

Messrs. Jackson and Edwards led in the choral work with "To hell with all your hitching posts; just place them somewhere else," and the sweetness of the refrain caused the baseball magnates to refrain thereafter from "posting" the boys.

As the years rippled along, the Association was given full right to approve or reject applications for press seats. It took complete charge of the section and has caused it to function perfectly for nearly 30 World Series.

The Association originally limited its active membership to writers in major league cities, but recently raised those barriers to permit entry of reporters from papers in the Class-AA minors. It goes to extremes each year to get as many seats as possible from the competing Series clubs, and, in this way, is able to accommodate 500 to 600 reporters, many of them from the minor league towns.

First and always the Association has functioned solely to better the working conditions for the reporters and, lately, of radio announcers, so that the baseball fans throughout the country may have each year detailed reports of every play by reporters benefitted by perfect seats.

Except in a few instances, the Association has the ruling powers of baseball and cooperated with complete understanding and on the friendliest terms. But a situation developed some years ago which blew off the hats of the writers and nearly caused them to scalp baseball rulers in reprisal.

In the series of 1912, the Boston Red Sox, competing with the Giants, opened up a little room where the writers might drop in for a sandwich and coffee. From this developed the present generosity of the contesting clubs whereby the owners are food and beverage hosts to all the world series writers.

The Association, in addition to handing out press tickets to the writers, also passes out a button. Wear the button and it admits you to the "entertainment rooms" of the clubs. Each club has two; one in the hotel, the other in the clubhouse. At the hotel the button wearer is permitted to order all the food and drinks that he may desire—as a guest of the club.

In the particular series mentioned, one of the magnates had manufactured several hundred—maybe 500—buttons more than the Association required for the reporters. Wishing to be a "big shot" among his friends, the magnate passed out his private hoard of buttons.

As a consequence when a reporter sauntered in to have himself a snack, he found all the tables crowded by gentlemen who positively were not reporters. When a vast number of writers discovered the same situation, a little investigation uncovered the club owners' generosity which had caused his guests to block out the reporters.

The reporters made no complaint. They ate in one of the public dining rooms of the hotel, regretful only because they could not, as in other years, camp at a festive board with their pals and replay the games of the years.

And now, Mr. Ripley, we will tell you the other part of the story, so that you can add it to your collection of oddities.

When the writers had quitted the magnate's city, he unleashed a fearful blast, declaring that the reporter persons had eaten and sopped up an enormous amount of his money, via the food and drink route.

He concealed the fact that his henchmen were the gluttons.

The Association at its next meeting broke 12 world's nail-biting records. Hell, it may be pointed out, hath no fury equal to that of a baseball writer on a nail-biting binge.

A resolution was demanded whereby the Association would point out that it never asked to be entertained; that it was grateful for the courtesy, but that, in view of one particular magnate's unwarranted, unjustified, etc., statement, the league could thereafter take their entertainment ideas and go right along and see it's true what they say about Satan.

About this time magnates, other than the offending one, learned the real facts. Pow-wows followed. Somebody dug up a pipe of peace. All the parties took a few whiffs. Drinks were returned to pawnshops. The incident was closed and the relations between Organized Baseball and the Association have been almost as sweet as Garbo doing a little necking in a final scene.

Charles Darwin estimated that earthworms, in England ate about 320 million tons of soil annually.

'BULL PUPS' COP TITLE AS JUNIOR HIGH CHAMPS BY DEFEATING MONAHANS

Regardless of whether or not the Midland high school Bulldogs win a district championship the schools have garnered one title. The "Bull Pups" Saturday morning avenged an earlier defeat when they beat the Monahans Jr. high team by a 19-7 score to give them the Jr. high championship of the district.

The Pups went through the season with a record of 6 wins and 1 loss to give them the championship. Their only defeat came when they journeyed to Monahans and came out on the short end of a 7-0 score. Monahans later played a tie game with Pecos and their loss Saturday removed them from their championship perch.

The Pups beat Odessa two games, 32-0 and 52-0, Wink 7-0 and 12-6 and Pecos 7-0 other than their split series with the Monahans aggregation.

In the Saturday engagement "Fats" Wright and Francis in the backfield were the luminaries for the Midland "11." Bill Cook was the chief defensive power.

For the Monahans crew, Harry, small brother of the high school quarterback, Leroy Harry, was the whole show. He made the lone Monahans touchdown and all during the game was a thorn in the Midland team's side.

The Monahans team played only mediocre ball until the last quarter when they suddenly woke up, made one touchdown and had advanced the ball to the Midland 1 when the game ended.

Woe Only Pay for Their Kindness on Highways

MILWAUKEE, (U.P.)—Members of the Ranson family have agreed not to give rides to any more hitch hikers. Here are the reasons:

In 1933 Samuel J. Ranson picked up a man near Waupun. The man then ordered Ranson and his wife from their automobile and robbed them of the car and $54.

Last year Ranson's son, Allen, lost his automobile and $10 to a hitch-hiker in Florida. His uncle, Fred Ranson, lost his automobile, a load of hats and some cash to a hitch-hiker while driving from New York to Milwaukee.

Three times was bad enough, but this fall when two youths took an automobile and $9 from Allen's brother Howard after he had picked them up near Portage even the Ransons swore off giving rides to hitch-hikers. In fact, their faith in human nature was shaken. Samuel Ranson recalled that in 1932 ribbers, who knocked the combination from the safe in his candy shop

Unusual Smelter Uses An Oxidation Process

THE DALLES, Ore. (U.P.)—The Dalles lays claim to a unique smelter in the industry — on that extracts metal from ore through oxidation rather than melting.

Under the system — which the inventor, Albert J. Koebel, says experts have always said was impossible — pulverized ore is subjected to such terrific heat that it oxidizes instantly, and the metals, in gaseous state, are drawn off by suction.

By a process, which in principle is the same as a vacuum cleaner, the gasses go into bags. Oxygen is then withdrawn and the metal remains.

Average weight of a dozen eggs is 1 1/2 pounds.

NOTICE City Water Users

The City Council has ordered the service of delinquent water customers discontinued unless their accounts are paid immediately.

The City is being called on continuously to make extensions and improvements to the water system, calling for large expenditures of cash, which makes it necessary to collect for all water used in order to have funds with which to make the needed improvements. Furthermore, conditions have improved to the point where it is believed that water bills can be paid without working too severe a hardship on the customer.

Statements are being mailed to delinquent customers calling for payment by the 18th of this month and it is hoped that it will not be necessary to discontinue any one's service.

NOTICE TO PLUMBING CONTRACTORS IN THE CITY OF MIDLAND

It will be necessary for you to put a test on all plumbing installed in the City. Beginning November 15th, I will accept either water or smoke tests. It will be your duty to see that said plumbing is not concealed or covered until inspection is made. It shall be your further duty to secure permit for each job before asking for inspection on same. Do this and save delays, as there positively will be no further inspection on jobs not covered by permits.

Copies of this notice are being mailed to general contractors so that we can all work together to a common end, "the good of the job", and a better served and satisfied customer.

Sincerely yours,
W. F. PROTHRO,
Building Inspector

Rogers' Greatest Triumph Returned To Ritz Here By Demands of Movie-Goers

The Will Rogers beloved by America — with shirt-sleeve etiquette and hilarious horse sense returns today and tomorrow to the Ritz Theatre in his wisest, wittiest role in the Fox hit, "Ambassador Bill."

Brought back in response to unprecedented popular request "Ambassador Bill" presents Rogers in the type of role that made him famous—a good will diplomat, filled with humorous wise-cracks and homespun philosophy.

Greta Nissen, Marguerite Churchill and Gustav von Seyffertitz are featured in the cast supporting Will Rogers in the picture, a hilarious story of a mid-western American who is appointed Ambassador to the mythical European kingdom of Sylvania. Ambassador Bill arrives to find everything in an uproar and the country in a revolution.

The revolution, however, turns out to be just one of the weekly outbreaks that occur with clock-like regularity. His aplomb considerably shaken, Will, however, steps into the breach and soon has the kingdom running on a smooth, democratic basis.

Rogers then starts a revolution of his own by refusing to follow the strict court etiquette and the upshot of it all is that, in a hilarious and exciting climax, Will restores the rightful king and queen to the throne, unmasks the conspiring courtiers and sets everything shipshape.

Guy Bolton authored the screen play while Sam Taylor directed the production.
