REV SMITH IS RETURNED TO US

CONFERENCE SENDS PASTOR BACK FOR THE SECOND YEAR

Our town and community was rejoiced when it was learned that Rev. W. Angie Smith was sent to Midland for the second year.

The new conference year will begin Sunday with the services in the Methodist church. The pastor will be present and preach at both services, and it is to be hoped that all the members will be present for these services to begin the new year as they should. During this year it is the purpose of the pastor to be of the greatest service possible to the community and he stands ready to offer his co-operation to all worthy enterprises which will advance the cause of the Master in our midst.

The parsonage building committee composed of W. H. Brunson, Phil Scharbauer and O. B. Holt, are now working on the selection of suitable plans and will soon be able to offer the plans to contractors for their bids. The work will be pushed to a speedy conclusion. While this work is being done the pastor is living in the Dr. Hall home, south Midland.

BOUGHT STEER CALVES IN MIDLAND LAST WEEK

G. Rendleman, who was a liberal patron of the auction sale here last week by the Midland Hereford Breeders Association, and who failed to secure as many steer calves as he wanted, bought two loads of the fancy kind from W. Y. Houston, of Stanton, and finished his purchases from the herd of W. W. Brunson. The total number purchased was 490 head. Mr. Rendleman intends putting these cattle in the feed lots for the winter, and next year we expect to hear of the good results obtained.

STEER CALVES WILL BE PUT IN DENVER SHOW

Directors of the Midland Hereford Breeders Association went out to Rariff & Bedford's ranch this week to select a load of steer calves to be put on feed for the Denver show in January. Our judge of the show, Mr. Dan D. Casement advised us to do this without fail. They will weigh around 325 pounds and have breeding enough to show with the hardest competition. Our local grain dealer, J. E. Hill, has the feeding of the calves in charge.

PURCHASED LOAD OF EXTRA FINE STEER CALVES

J. A. Montgomery and son were here visiting our sale and purchased a load of extra fine steer calves from W. T. Whittenberg, of Odessa. These sales and others are the direct result of advertising by Midland Hereford Breeders Association.

Perry Irving, of Atlanta, Ga., arrived this week to be with the family of his deceased brother. He arrived too late for the funeral.

Mrs. E. R. Bryan, who was operated on last week for appendicitis, is greatly improved and will soon be able to sit up.

Billie Bryant, who has been quite sick with pneumonia the past week, has passed the crisis and is on the road to rapid recovery.

W. A. Hutchison is spending the latter part of the week in Seminole on business.

Miss Annie Midkiff, of Shreveport, La., arrived Monday morning for a visit with her parents in Midland.

W. A. Hutchison left Monday on the noon train for Odessa to attend to business.

In the eastern half of Texas there are about 3,000,000 acres of overflow lands. They are the river bottoms, the richest lands in the world. About 400,000 acres of them have thus far been reclaimed under State levee laws.

An effort is being made to raise funds sufficient to complete the preliminary survey of the Colorado river raft near Wharton, Texas, with the purpose of forestalling future floods.

REV. W. S. GARRETT
Of Victoria
Will preach at Baptist Church
Sunday morning and evening.

All members urged to be present.

AGED LADY PASSES AWAY LAST MONDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. M. M. Bounds were conducted Tuesday morning at the cemetery by Rev. W. Angie Smith. Mrs. Bounds had lived with her husband and step-sons, west of Midland for the past few months, but was not generally known, due to the fact that she had been sick most of the time she lived in Midland.

She passed into the Great Beyond Monday morning after having suffered quite a long time. She was born in White County, Tenn., on June 3, 1843, thus was 79 years of age at the time of her death. She had been a faithful Christian since early in life and through all her tribulations she had been true to her faith. Her last words were that she was ready to go. To mourn her departure, she leaves a husband and two step-sons.

Rev. W. Angie Smith arrived from Lampassas Monday morning where he had been attending the West Texas conference of the Methodist church.

YOUNG TOWNSMAN MEETS A TRAGIC DEATH IN ACCIDENT LAST FRIDAY

Tuesday afternoon a large group of friends and relatives gathered at the home place to pay their last earthly tribute to the remains of Tom Irving, who lost his life in the accident at the gin last Friday afternoon.

The services were conducted by Rev. W. Angie Smith, of the Methodist church.

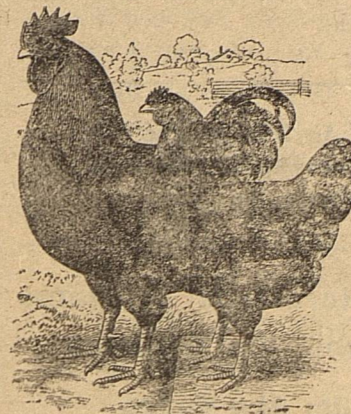

Tom Irving was born September 2, 1882, near London, Arkansas, in Union County, thus was 40 years of age at the time of his death. He had been married 15 years and leaves to mourn his departure a wife, five children, his mother, two brothers, and one sister. He had lived in or near Midland for 15 years and was known to most of the people here and had a reputation for being an honest, straightforward man, dependable in his work, and trustworthy in all he undertook. He was a devoted father and husband

MIDLAND HIGH TO PLAY SWEETWATER

The Midland high school foot ball team was unable to get a game last week, but the community is to see a real game this afternoon when the fast team from Sweetwater comes up for a game. Our local boys so far have only played three games as it has been impossible to arrange games but they are in the best of condition for this game with Sweetwater and though they have had more games Midland is expecting to take this contest in a fair way. We want to congratulate our town that they have such a team as could play so clean and square a game as was played by our boys and the Roscoe boys two weeks ago. It was good sportsmanship on the part of both teams and we expect the same type of game this afternoon.

Coach Williamson has been training the team to overcome their weakest points and states that Midland can see a real team at work against Sweetwater. Let us all be there to boost.

O. B. Holt, Sr. is spending the week on his ranch north of Midland.

and friend to all.

The floral offerings which covered the grave were a silent tribute to the esteem in which he was held by all. The Reporter joins the many friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved family and can hope that the young children may grow into manhood and womanhood with high ideals and determination to make themselves what their father desired them to be.

RECEIVING STRING OF STEER CALVES THIS WEEK

Henry Currie, of Big Spring, is here this week receiving a string of steer calves purchased from Chas. Goldsmith, Bryant estate, and others. Mr. Currie does not hesitate to admit that he can sell Midland calves on account of quality and advertising to better advantage than calves from any other place.

WILL INSTALL BARBER SHOP IN SWEETWATER

Bart Wilkerson has shipped part of the fixtures belonging to the firm of Johnson & Wilkerson of this city, to Sweetwater, and will open an up to date barber shop in that place.

DISTINCTION LISTS FIRST SIX WEEKS

FIRST MONTH ENROLLMENT OF 485, DISTINCTION LIST OF 206 FIRST SIX WEEKS

Reports for the first month of the current session of our public schools show a total enrollment of 485, which is about 25 under what the enrollment was at the same time last year. The same reports show only 10 tardies for the month, and average attendances of above 97 per cent, the highest rooms being as follows:

Mrs. Allen's room, 100 per cent.
Miss Barham's room, 99.53 per cent.
Miss Whittaker's room, 99.50 per cent.

Mr. Williamson's room, 99.16 per cent.

Mrs. Gist's room, 98.95 per cent.
Miss Elkin's room, 98.91 per cent.
Miss Wilson's room, 98.77 per cent.

Report cards are issued every six weeks this year, instead of every four weeks as heretofore. These came out two weeks after the attendance reports as given above, and showed distinction lists of 206. Of these, 45 were in the high school department, 41 were in the grammar school department at central ward, and 120 were in south ward. Pupils who average 90 or more in scholarship are recorded with highest honors, summa cum laude; those who average more than 85 but less than 90 are recorded with high honors, magna cum laude. Those in the first group who make grades in behavior of 95 or more are on the honor roll, this fact being indicated by h. r. after their respective names in the lists. The numbers after the names in the high school department indicate the number of courses carried by the respective pupils, a pupil being required to carry five courses in order to be eligible for honors in representing a class. PEDDY SPEAKS HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF PEDDY CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATOR, INTERESTING DOPE

As George Paddy is to speak in Midland tomorrow night, Saturday, we print a life sketch of him. His life has been no more wonderful than thousands of other American boys, but the story in type is interesting reading matter nevertheless, therefore we publish it verbatim, as follows:

The election of George Paddy as United States Senator from Texas would be a parallel to the rise of other Americans whose names are illustrious in the history of the republic. The characteristics which have marked the life and the career of the most notable men in American history are found duplicated in that this young man whose fight for constitutional government and against the Ku Klux Klan have made him nationally known.

Born on a farm, the son of a farmer, and reared on a farm, George Paddy has the virile physical vigor and the boundless health of the outdoor man. Very few men are more striking in personal appearance than he. He has the stature of Lincoln and his face has the rugged features of that great American. The power of his speaking voice enables him to address vast open-air meetings.

Paddy is a native of Shelby County, one of that tier of counties that make up East Texas. He was born on a farm a few miles from Teneha. His father died two months prior to his birth, and as Paddy grew into boyhood it was with the realization that the responsibilities of a fatherless home were to fall upon him. He was confronted with the problem of an education and a career. His early education was in the rural schools of Shelby County, and finishing there he went to a near-by town for his high school education; he obtained that by working afternoons by picking cotton in the late summer and with the goose-neck hoe in the springtime.

When he finished high school he went to the University of Texas. He arrived in Austin almost penniless and got a job washing dishes in a boarding house. For two years he received funds for his schooling from this source, together with funds borrowed from friends. With these exhausted he returned to his home county, taught school for a year and became a candidate for membership in the House of Representatives. He was elected without opposition. His salary as a member of the legislature and the money he saved while teaching school gave him enough funds to go through the next year of the University.

This membership in the legislature was a turning point in his career. It was the thirty-fifth session of the Texas Legislature, a decisive time in the history of Texas. Prohibition and woman suffrage were the two outstanding issues before that session. The opponents of prohibition were able and experienced legislators and were strongly entrenched behind parliamentary rules, many of which they themselves had written.

This same personnel opposed woman suffrage and many legislators who favored a submission of constitutional prohibition to the voters of Texas were opposed to the suffrage cause. Paddy fought for both. During the days when submission hung in the balance, Paddy spoke and voted for submission, and when that fight was over he had so distinguished himself as a parliamentarian and a floor speaker that the women who were directing the suffrage fight asked him to lead their forces on the floor of the House.

Stephen and William Currie were in Midland visiting in the home of Robt. Currie and family, also attending the stock show.

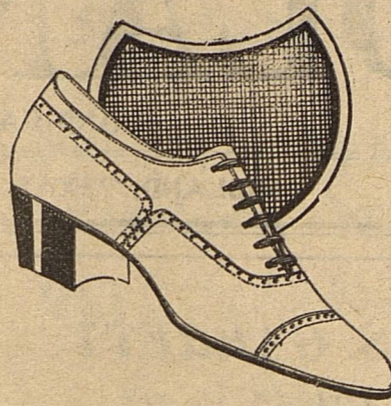

Unassisted
A man tells of visiting a certain country district. Speaking to a native of the community's lack of material comforts, he said:

"You don't mean to tell me that you are 20 miles from the nearest doctor? What do you do in serious cases?"

"Well, suh," was the response, "we jest dies a natural death!"—Ex.

How Not to Take Cold
Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over-heated rooms, sleep with a window partly open, avoid excesses, over-eating, becoming over-heated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL WORKERS CALL VOTING RALLY

Belton, Texas, Nov. 1.—The Texas Centennial Movement calls on the women of every community of the State to arrange for a rally to be held Saturday afternoon, November 4th, in the school or some other public building of the community.

This rally is called in interest of the casting of a full vote in the general election of November 7th. In 1921 when eight important amendments were to be voted upon, 75 counties of the State failed to hold elections or make any returns. This should not occur when matters of vital interest to the State are at stake. Every citizen who is entitled to do so should vote on November 7th.

The following program is suggested for the rally:

- America.
- Invocation.
- Twenty-minute talk—Why Should I Vote?—Prominent Citizen.
- Song—Texas, My Texas.
- Twenty-minute talk—Important Issues of Today—Prominent Citizen.
- Hymn—Come Thou Almighty King.
- Ten-minute talk—Why Should I Pay 1923 Poll Tax?—Prominent Citizen.
- Star-Spangled Banner.

CALL IS MADE BY

St. Louis, October 26.—Charles R. Forbes, director of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, is calling on all those interested in work for the ex-service men of this country to fall in line behind the American Red Cross in its sixth annual roll call, Nov. 11th 30th. Colonel Forbes says in his appeal:

"We ex-service men think of the American Red Cross as an all-helpful mother and the Veterans' Bureau sees in that mother an always co-operating friend. Whether it be a matter of calling the bureau's attention to an unawarded claim or an ill man needing hospitalization, or of tiding the sick veteran over the time which must elapse before government aid can be offered, the Red Cross is always on the job with expert service and the necessary goods.

"In the bureau's clean-up campaign when effort was made to locate every ex-service man no matter how remote his habitation or how limited his powers of comprehension, the Red Cross workers brought to light hundreds of claims which might otherwise have lain hidden until too late for the individual to make legal application. Taking good advantage of what some one has aptly termed her 'strategic position' the Red Cross service worker has penetrated the alleys of the city and the wilderness of the mountain in her search for the man who did not know that the government stood ready to help him.

"The Veterans' Bureau's problem is a big one and we need the Red Cross. Together, and with the help of all the other agencies and individuals eager to serve, we will surely give most practical expression of America's appreciation of the debt which the nation owes the man or woman who gave health and strength in his country's cause."

They Must Have Been Hot

Murphy, foreman of a railroad repair gang, went to the office to report a slight accident to one of his force. He got a blank and proceeded to make out his report. He was getting along all right until he came to the space headed "Remarks." After staring at it a while he beckoned to the clerk, who asked:

"What's the matter, Pat?"
"Well, sor," Murphy said, "ye see it was Bill's toe he hit wid th' hammer, and it wouldn't luk well for me t' write down th' raymarks Bill made."—The Outlook.

Weak Back

Mrs. Mildred Pipkin, of R. F. D. 8, Columbia, Tenn., says: "My experience with Cardui has covered a number of years. Nineteen years ago . . . I got down with weak back. I was run-down and so weak and nervous I had to stay in bed. I read of and sent for it. I took only one bottle at that time, and it helped me; seemed to strengthen and build me right up. So that is how I first knew of Cardui. After that, . . . when I began to get weak and 'no account', I sent right for Cardui, and it never failed to help me."

If you are weak and suffering from womanly ailments, Cardui may be just what you need. Take Cardui. It has helped thousands, and ought to help you.

HUNTERS ARE THE FINEST SPORTSMEN

SIX MILLIONS OF DOLLARS THEY PAID FOR LICENSES THIS SEASON

"That more than six millions of dollars have been paid into various State treasuries by hunters of large and small game this fall is something that everyone does not know," said George D. McCormick, of the Midland Hardware Company, the local Winchester dealer, yesterday.

"This six million," continued Mr. McCormick, "is only a small portion of the money these sportsmen spend for the pleasure of seeking game. The license is the least inexpensive thing that has to be procured, but it is something that is absolutely necessary. It is also necessary for one to have a good gun, the best of ammunition, the necessary clothing, etc., if one is going to hunt with comfort. We have done a bigger business in sportsman's supplies this year than ever before and I understand that the same situation is being experienced by dealers all over the United States.

"The hunters of Pennsylvania paid in $480,000 for the privilege of hunting in that State. Here are some other figures:

- Ohio, $308,000.

"That those who hunt in the field are sportsmen in every sense of the word is proven by answers to a number of telegrams recently sent out by the Portland (Ore.) Chamber of Commerce requesting to know the amount of money sportsmen spent in various places. The Maine Commissioner of Fish and Game replied that from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 were left in Maine yearly by those who hunt and fish; from Florida came word that $250,000,000 were left there by sportsmen each year; Wisconsin placed the figures at $3,000,000. Denver at $20,000,000 and San Francisco at $11,000,000. These five scattered points give a total of $315,000,000. The Portland Chamber of Commerce wanted these answers to refute any argument that it doesn't pay to cater to sportsmen.

"With game more plentiful now than it has been for many years, with wise conservation measures being put in force, with the United States government very much interested in the game in every State, it does pay every city and State to cater to sportsmen. The States that spend money yearly to breed game, that spends money on game preserves and stocks them gets a lot of money back for its citizens for the sportsmen will go there to hunt and they will spend money in traveling. This has been one of the greatest hunting seasons on record. Those who have not already spent some time in the field had better plan to go at once."

"Mudder, I always wins the race when I carry home Kellogg's Corn Flakes. I can't hardly wait till I have some quick, mudder!"

It's great to see child-enthusiasm for Kellogg's; great to see every one in the family enjoy their crisp crunchiness and wonderful flavor! To sit down before a heaping bowlful of these joyous oven-browned "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" and some milk or cream—and fresh fruit, if it's handy—is just about the very last word in appetizing appeal! And, your good taste will prove that!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes ought to be superior—they are the original Corn Flakes! Kellogg's are never tough or leathery; never hard to eat; never a disappointment!

GEORGE PEDDY

LARGE CROWD SHOULD HEAR PEDDY TOMORROW

George Peddy, fusion candidate for the United States senate in the election to be held, November 7th, will speak in Midland Saturday night at the court house, and it is hoped that a large crowd may be present to hear this young man and his views of the political situation in Texas at the present time.

Midland has the reputation of always giving the men who speak here a careful hearing and we are sure it will be done in the case of Mr. Peddy. Though he has not had time to cover all of the State, he has selected the most important sections, and Midland is indeed honored to know that we have been selected as one of the points for his trip when there are so many larger places he could have spoken. Though you may not agree with his position in this race, you should hear him speak. Never in all our experience have we known the senatorial race in Texas to be in such a shape as it is at the present time.

The county chairmen do not know whether to print the name of any of the candidates on the ballot or not, as there seems to be general confusion among all. It is to be hoped that out of all this entanglement Texas may become a better State politically and may it teach aspirants for high office in this great State that we need and demand men who are clean morally and politically and who have the ability to represent the greatest State in the nation in the great way and manner she deserves.

SOUTHWESTERN DIVISION LOOKS AFTER SOLDIERS

Red Cross Workers in That Section Assist, Care For and Entertain Men in Camps and Hospitals.

Approximately 30,000 able-bodied soldiers and more than 5,000 invalided soldiers and ex-service men in the hospitals in the United States have been assisted in obtaining compensation and in the solution of their other problems by the American Red Cross, according to E. S. Transue, director of war service of the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross.

"Red Cross workers in the camps and hospitals in the Southwestern Division are rendering much-needed service to the men who are in the army at the present time," said Transue. "Those service men undergoing hospital treatment for one cause or another and ex-service men who have been hospitalized both in the army hospitals and hospitals operated by the Veterans' Bureau, are some of the men in need of this service.

"The army camps and hospitals in this division covered by Red Cross workers are located at Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, Mo.; Camp Travis, Tex., including Ft. Sam Houston Hospital; Ft. Bliss, Tex., including Wm. A. Beaumont General Hospital; Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., including the U. S. Disciplinary Barracks at that point; Ft. Riley, Kan.; Ft. Sill, Okla.; Fitzsimons General Hospital, Fitzsimons, Colo.; Camp Furlong, New Mex.; Camp Harry J. Jones, Douglas, Ariz., and the Army and Navy General Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

"The Veterans' Bureau hospitals served by the Southwestern Division of the Red Cross are: U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 33, St. Louis, Mo.; Veterans' Hospital No. 25, Logan, Tex.; U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 55, Ft. Bayard, N. Mex.; U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 67, Kansas City, Mo.; U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 78, N. Little Rock, Ark., and U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 80, Fort Lyon, Colo.

"Of the 5,000 patients, approximately 75 per cent are undergoing treatment for tuberculosis and mental diseases. This makes the work one of considerable difficulty, inasmuch as it is oftentimes a real problem to provide proper recreation or to connect the man's present condition with his service.

"There are three phases of the Red Cross program for service and ex-service men in the camps and hospitals—Home Service, Recreation and Medical Social Service. Our regular camp service program consists of what is known as home service work. This calls for co-operation between the Red Cross worker in the camp and governmental and chapter agencies in taking care of problems of the enlisted man in the army. Difficulties relating to allotments, allowances, insurance, compensation, state bonus, travel pay, etc., are all brought to the Red Cross by the enlisted man. The Red Cross also contacts the families through the chapters in case of distress, sickness or death.

"The recreational and entertainment program in the hospital brings movies for the boys, amateur theatricals, dances, parties and those many other things that the sick man longs for, but which he could not have were it not for the Red Cross.

"The Red Cross medical and social service program calls for a study of the individual needs of the man, to help him in solving his personal and family difficulties, to aid him by material assistance when he is without resources, to aid the doctor in his treatment of the patient by obtaining former medical or social histories which may lead to an accurate diagnosis and to interpret the whole situation to the Red Cross Chapter home service worker in the man's home community, so that not only will the proper attention be given to the family during the man's absence, but he may be free in mind and thus derive a maximum amount of benefit from his treatment.

"In carrying out our work for the ex-service man undergoing hospitalization the Red Cross has constantly borne in mind that the great object has been to play the right part in the period of adjustment through which the ex-service man must safely pass if he is to continue to be a good citizen. This work has required personnel who are not only sympathetic in the dealing with patients but who must have an understanding of the social problems of civil life.

"Just as it has always been recognized that the time spent in a government hospital is only a brief episode in the life of a patient, so has it been recognized that the activities of the hospital worker are only a part of the responsibility of the Red Cross to the ex-service man; that the hospital work can be successful only as it correlates itself closely with the work of the Red Cross as a whole. The hospital worker is the outpost detailed to special duty. It is his endeavor to interpret the present condition of the man in the hospital to the home people and as each of us, as individuals, watched the men who marched away to service, as each one of us helped to "keep the home fires burning" while the boys served in the front line trenches, so does it become our duty today to render a very definite service to these men, who are still fighting the great battle of humanity, begun in 1917, and in which to date no armistice has been declared. Through the Red Cross you are helping them to hold the line."

$700,000 SPENT BY RED CROSS IN SOUTHWESTERN DIVISION IN A YEAR

Money Was Used in Relief and Rehabilitation Following Disasters in the District.

During the fiscal year 1921-22, ending June 30th, the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross expended $780,986.70 in disaster relief. Part of this came from the National Red Cross funds secured from memberships, part from chapters and parts from individual contributions. This money was expended in disasters in various parts of the division, especially in the flood areas along the west bank of the Mississippi, in Missouri and Arkansas, in Texas, around Fort Worth, and in the Rio Grande Valley, at Burlington, Kan., and at Pueblo, Colo.

The greatest amount of time and effort in any of these disasters went into the rehabilitation of Pueblo and of the district covered by the Rio Grande Valley flood of last June, according to a report from the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross, in St. Louis. Fifteen hundred and ten families were affected by that flood.

The manner in which the Red Cross undertakes these disasters depends upon the conditions to be met. In some cases the local chapters and citizens' committees take charge and the division office goes in an advisory capacity. In others the situation is reversed, and in still others the work is handled jointly by the Red Cross and the citizens.

Relief work in the Rio Grande Valley flood, which was the last disaster of real importance in the division, has been practically closed and the auditing committee, as well as the advisory committee, with the Red Cross director, Henry M. Baker, are compiling their reports, to be submitted to the citizens and to the division. The wide area affected in this disaster has caused the work to be continued longer than would have been necessary, it is believed, but that it has been thoroughly done and has created friendship for the Red Cross among the citizens of the section is evidenced by the letters received at the division office.

The Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Association of Little Rock, Ark., both have thriving life saving classes which were started during the summer by the director of life saving of the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross.

Charles Crozier, New York, Plunged into River and Saved Seven-Year-Old Boy.

As Charles J. Crozier of 518 Tully street, Syracuse, N. Y., was driving a truck across a Syracuse bridge he happened to look at the river below. Crozier's casual glance underwent a decided change. He saw something in the water. A small hand and arm seemed to be just level with the surface. Not many seconds elapsed until Crozier was beneath the surface of the water to see who was attached to the arm.

The next thing he really saw very distinctly was the small wet body of a seven-year-old boy silhouetted against the white interior of an ambulance. Crozier and William John Hanley, Jr., whose life he had saved, were on their way to the hospital.

For his act of heroism his buddies of the American Legion are helping in the movement to secure for him a Carnegie life-saving medal.

ORIGINATED THE GOLD STAR

Medal Showing Appreciation of the Idea is Presented to J. M. Buck of Omaha, Neb.

A medal purchased with funds given by the governors of many states, General Pershing and a hundred notables in civil and military circles, has been presented to J. M. Buck of Omaha, Neb., who originated the gold star which was placed on the caskets of all war dead to be returned to this country from European battlefields.

Omaha was a distributing point for the United States graves registration service. After the federal agency began to return bodies from overseas, thousands of caskets passed through Omaha. Mr. Buck suggested to the Omaha American Legion that a gold star be placed on each soldier's casket. The Legion immediately accepted the idea and through the Legion's organization, the custom of placing the star on all soldiers' caskets in all parts of the United States was adopted.

Every contingent of soldier dead arriving at Omaha was met at the railway station by a delegation from the American Legion. Mr. Buck always accompanied the Legionnaires and supervised the placing of the stars on the caskets. The medal was presented Mr. Buck as an expression of appreciation of his work.

Three Myths.

A man's auto had broken down. When he crawled under it no crowd collected and attempted to advise him how to fix it.

A miner was entombed for three days and three nights as the result of a cave-in. When he was finally rescued it was found that his hair had not turned snow white.

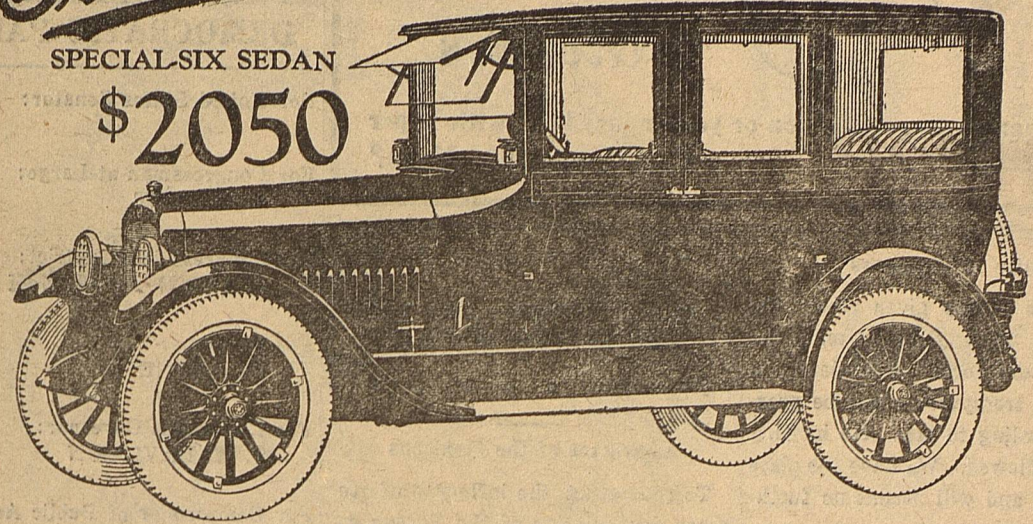

A soldier was on guard duty and was approached by an officer who asked him to give his general orders. The sentinel recited them off, making many mistakes, and the officer corrected him, thus revealing the fact that he knew them himself.—American Legion Weekly.

The American Legion Auxiliary national headquarters in Indianapolis is trying to locate the greatest war mother in America—that is, the mother who had the largest number of sons in service. One Indiana community has a mother who had seven sons in the World War; others had as many as five—but the auxiliary wants to know definitely where in America is the woman who has the honor of having more than seven sons in service.

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

JUNIOR RED CROSS MAKES GOOD CITIZENS

Through It Children Learn Patriotism, Altruism and Generosity.

The Junior Red Cross exists for the purpose of making good American citizens. This statement was made by a eminent authority in a recent answer to the question, "What is the Junior Red Cross?" In the United States there are 5,000,000 members of Junior Red Crossers and in the Southwestern Division the membership of children in this organization numbers 494,576 and here is some of the work these children do.

They support work in Europe to children who are in need. They send Christmas boxes of goodies to children who do not have them. They make shipments of garments abroad to the destitute children of war-crippled Europe. But this is not as interesting to Americans, perhaps, as the work which the Juniors do at home. One of the biggest problems in America today, according to experts, is the tremendous amount of malnutrition found among the children of this country. One-third of the children of America are malnourished, according to actual counts. The Junior Red Cross, through its school auxiliaries and growth classes, is seeking to eliminate a large part of this malnutrition and has succeeded to a very gratifying extent.

The Junior Red Cross also is answering the question of how to eliminate individual, group, racial and international hatreds which exist among people today. The polyglot character of the personnel of the average American school gives an excellent field for work of this kind and foreign children, as well as native-born Americans, learn what good citizenship is in their Junior Red Cross activities even more than they do in the patriotic exercises of their school room work. Loyal and serviceable citizenship, that absolute essential to a great democracy, is being created in the breasts of these little foreign-born Americans through the Junior Red Cross activities as it never could be otherwise.

One of the helps to this is the work the children are doing for the disabled ex-service men in hospitals, for the sick and crippled children who need help and cheer, in equipping playgrounds so that sad-eyed little children of the congested districts are taught the joy of a normal childhood. By learning to nerve others in these and many other ways, lessons of community spirit and co-operation are taught the growing boys and girls of this country.

Another thing the Juniors are doing is assisting in the promotion of health in their communities by clean-up campaigns and other civil undertakings. On the whole, one of the most constructive pieces of work done in the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross, during the year, in the opinion of those who have studied the situation, is that among the children, which has been carried on through the Junior divisions of Red Cross chapters and the school auxiliaries of Junior members.

NURSE IN SOUTHWEST DIVISION COVERS BIG TERRITORY

Miss Mary Fitzsimon, Washington County (Arkansas) Red Cross nurse, is in charge of one of the largest territories covered by one individual in this capacity in the Southwestern Division. Ten towns are in her district and her work covers all kinds of ailments and illnesses, serious and simple, as well as general sanitation and health information.

The well people of one neighborhood in Washington County are particularly indebted to Miss Fitzsimon for having discovered a contaminated water supply which might have caused the illness of the entire community. In cases where contaminated water supplies were not discovered in time, Miss Fitzsimon has been able to offer an anti-typhoid inoculation which has been so successful in the army as a means of stamping out this disease.

A group of trachoma cases discovered in July by accident is being successfully treated. The mother of this family already had lost her sight, but the other members probably will be not much the worse after the treatment is finished.

A number of ex-service men who have not received their compensation and other disabled soldiers who wanted assistance or vocational training also were cared for during the summer and spring.

The light of the North Star is estimated to be 190 times stronger than that of the sun.

Although 400 times larger than the moon, the sun is 400 times farther away from the earth, making the two appear about the same size.

A mountain on the sun, if it bore the same proportion to that luminary as Mount Everest does to the earth, would be 600 miles high.

Mercury and Venus are the only planets that have no moons. Counting our own moon, the system of planets possesses no less than 27 moons.

TEXAS HISTORY AND THE PEOPLE WHO MADE IT

Character of the Mexicans

To counteract the influence of the bitter denunciation of the Texans appearing in the press of the United States and also in foreign countries, President Sam Houston instructed George W. Terrell, Attorney General and acting Secretary of State, to prepare a communication addressed to all the foreign powers, including the United States, calling their attention to the kind of warfare being waged by the Mexicans. This letter was written on October 15th, 1842, and included a comprehensive digest of the situation as it really existed between the Republic of Texas and Mexico. It characterized the Mexicans as a nation of herdsmen, subsisting on their flocks and herds, as against the Texans, strictly agricultural people, whose labors were constantly interrupted and the peace and safety of their families menaced by marauding and stealthy incursions across the border. The communication called attention to the fact that these incursions were not made by the regular soldiers of Mexico, properly officered and with a view of conquering Texas, but was made up of vagabonds and convicts with a few renegade officers to give a semblance of authority to their movements, holding a few isolated places for a short time and then retreating. This warfare had been characterized by brutalities and massacres disgraceful in character and at variance with the settled usages of civilized nations; while on the part of Texas all the usual observances of honorable warfare had been strictly adhered to. It further set forth the fact that Texas had now maintained its independence for seven years and despite this incursion and hostile tribes of Indians to combat, which tended greatly to discourage immigration, all her material interests were advancing. Referring to the obligations which civilized nations have acknowledged, to regulate in a measure the mode of warfare which shall govern countries at war, it was earnestly hoped that the powers addressed would require Mexico to engage Texas in an honorable war of subjugation, acknowledge her independence, or declare a cessation of hostilities.

This communication, bearing the impress of the ripe scholar, the enlightened statesman, and able advocate of those high principles of national honor recognized and observed among Christian nations, had an early and salutary effect in the countries to which it was addressed. It clearly portrayed the character of the struggle being waged by Texas, as well as the character of the people against whom it was waged. It set forth a desire to maintain an honorable independence, and on the score of humanity to be at peace with Mexico. It further showed a willingness, if need be to meet Mexico and settle their differences by the arbitration of the sword if it could be conducted along recognized lines of warfare.

The communication stands out today as one of the really great state papers of that period. Sir Robert Peel, on the part of Great Britain, and Minister Guiz, of France, became interested along with many of the statesmen and leaders of affairs in the United States, and a predicament was laid for the temporary peace which Texas subsequently enjoyed. The winning over of sympathizers through the masterly appeal also paved the way for an established friendship at Washington for Texas and Texans that later proved very valuable in the annexation fight. It was the first presentation to the world of the real conditions prevailing in Texas and the real character of the Mexicans against whom the young Republic was struggling.

OBSERVATIONS
By A. Rover

There used to be a saying, "Boys will be boys," but we would change it nowadays and say "Girls will be boys."

Why is it that when there are two girls and one boy in a two-seated car they all three invariably ride on one seat?

The flapper with her bangs and short skirts must make room for the he-flapper with his side-burns and jelly-bean hat.

When a young boy or girl meets an elderly person old enough to be their father, upon the street and hails them by their first name we wonder if they were like Topsy, "I wuzen't raised I jes' growed."

Fifty-three killed and 478 injured, was the toll exacted by automobiles in one week recently, during which there were 974 accidents. Fifteen cities of the United States are covered in these figures, and if the speed fiends in Midland don't simmer down to a state of normalcy, we'll come in with our share of the death list.

Did we take in the carnival? Yea, verily—whoop! And what we did see. Not only ourself but every one nearly on the ground was having the time of his or her life playing the various and sundry games offered by the barkers of many concessions, giving you a chance to gamble away your substance for dolls, blankets, silverware, and every conceivable thing that would attract the eye of our people was displayed and only a quarter a throw; but after you started the game once you were liable to keep it up until you went broke or somebody pulled you away. Fascinating? We'll say it was. We all had fun a-plenty—church members and all. We talk about stud poker in Jaurez, gee-whiz! we can have some excitement in Midland when a carnival comes like this last one.

The office devil put some carbolic acid and blue stone in the office paste to keep the roaches out, and then accidentally spilled some on the floor. A rat came out of his hole and sampled the doped paste; the office cat made a grab at the rat upsetting the water cooler and knocking down the office towel and smashing two columns of plate matter; the cat then took a cat oleptic fit, and a passing bull-dog seeing the cat in its acrobatical maneuvers made a run for said feline hitting against the office angel's stool causing her to let out a shriek and making a run for the rear and falling and hurting herself on the job press.

Yes, there are a few, a very few of them that still slander the fair name of our little city; you cannot place your hand upon them, for their's is the work of darkness; the measly coyote is as a drop of pure morning dew besides this (it); the skunk with its filthy slime is a bank of violets to this thing that still exists in decent society; the fair name of the pure womanhood of our land is singed by the forked-tongue of this monster the agent of Satan, and the hottest fire of the evil world is yawning for its slimy carcass; the very air that it breathes is polluted with germs of rottenness and corruption; its claws would choke the innocent young girl and throw her into the bottomless pit of despondency. We haven't words to express our contempt for this thing—the skulking cowardly thing that writes anonymous letters.

TEXAS NEEDS AN EDUCATIONAL STATESMAN

Dallas, Texas, October 31.—"Will Texas provide adequate support for public schools?" Dr. H. T. Musselman whom Gov. Neff sent to study California's support of schools compared with Texas' support of schools, answered: "Yes, when the Lord gives Texas an educational statesman. In California they think of educational needs in right relations. In Texas most of the thinking on school support is single-track thinking—how in the name of all Heaven can I get the money for my work?"

"In California they think every child and youth should have an American chance, and have it first. So that is nine months of schooling for every child, and high schools within reach of all boys and girls. In Texas we have hardly a six month school term for all, and there are some 600 thousand boys and girls without an opportunity to get a high school education."

"In California they believe the children should have as good teachers as the few who go to college. Ninety per cent of the teachers in her public schools have had training to teach. In Texas nearly 40 per cent of those teaching rural schools have had no training at all and hold second grade certificates."

"In California they believe the country children should have good books to read and use in school. So there is the county library from which books can be obtained for all. In Texas there are thousands of rural schools without anything like a real collection of books for the use of the children."

"How did California come to provide for such adequate school system? For a number of years the State has been blessed with educational statesmanship. This support was not provided because the Californian loved his children better than the Texan. Nor was it because the Californian loved a square deal for all the children of all the people more than Texas. There is just as much love for children and just as much regard for a square deal in Texas as there is in California."

"All Texas needs to get her to provide an adequate support for the public schools is enlightenment as to her real school needs and sources from which support may be justly obtained to meet those needs. This means wise educational leadership. I repeat, all Texas needs is an educational statesman, a Jim Hogg, if you please, laboring with heart and brain for justice for Texas children. And a bit of praying for such a leader is eminently in order."

A Timely Suggestion
This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug. adv Nov1mt

TEXAS CHILDREN PLAY FOR HEALTH

Here is how the Red Cross in Fort Worth, Texas, helped to keep the children of that town well during the summer. The Red Cross public health nurse put on a campaign of games, health stories and regular physical examinations during the summer which has resulted splendidly for the children and has sent them back to school this fall in fine condition to keep up in their classes and resist the usual winter ailments of school children.

The top left-hand picture shows the Clock Game. The top right-hand picture shows the nurse, Miss Edna L. Hammer, R. N., and one of her little health pupils. In the lower picture the health officer of Fort Worth is displaying the practically perfect set of teeth possessed by one of the children. Two hundred and fifty children attended the play grounds throughout the summer and much interest has been manifested by the entire town in the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Currie, of Rankin, visited relatives and friends in town the latter part of last week.

WAR WORKER IS OHIO MAYOR

Miss Amy Kaukonen, Guardian of Little Buckeye City, Active in Auxiliary Affairs.

Ohio not only boasts that she has produced many more than her share of the nation's chief executives, but she also points with pride to the fact that her little city of Fairport has one of the most attractive and capable "lady mayors" in the country. Miss Amy Kaukonen, who during the war was a member of the volunteer medical service corps of the United States army, has given entire satisfaction as mayor of Fairport.

Mayor Kaukonen finds time from her official duties to take part in the affairs of the American Legion Auxiliary of her city. That she is a staunch supporter of the Legion is evidenced by her statement: "It is distinctly an American organization, in which politics and selfish interest have no place. Its cornerstone is American manhood, its objects liberty, fraternity and service. Its principles are as broad as the continent upon which falls the shadow of our flag."
