Traffic Conditions Better In Midland

With traffic regulations in force, conditions are much better in the down town section. Most people are willing to obey the signals, although some people seem to disregard them; and city officers are watching out for just such violators.

With the large number of cars making use of the streets and the highway, it is important that motorists watch closely for their own safety as well as that of others.

Thirty minutes after hijacking the Pierce Filling Station on Wall St. two men charged with the robbery were in the hands of officers at Odessa, and are now in the Midland Co. jail.

The two alleged bandits made a pretense of buying a valve core at the filling station, and when Frank Roberts turned to wait on them, one of the men shoved a gun in his face and told him to hand over his cash. Roberts said the bandits took $30.

They started away east. Deputy Sheriff Covington was notified and concluded their start eastward was a blind, so he phoned Odessa officers, who picked up the two in that city.

In recognition of sales records of Chevrolet automobiles, the Nobles Motor Company has been presented with a handsome hand engraved shield which reads as follows: "For making 100 per cent of August quota. Presented to Nobles Motor Company Chevrolet Motor Company."

Later, a plate was sent to be added to the shield, reading as follows: "Awarded for repeating August achievements in September."

Still further recognition was given when Mr. Nobles received the following letter: "It gives me a great deal of pleasure to be able to congratulate you on having won the cup given by the company to the leading dealer against quota for the last eight days in October."

"In addition to your efforts during the eight days of the month I want to also thank you for the very wonderful cooperation that we received from you and every member of your organization during the entire period of the contest. Your record in delivering 53 cars during October is little short of remarkable and I am not underestimating the attention that you must have given your organization during the month to set up this record. Mr. Jamieson tells me that he feels that you gave him as good support if not better than the best dealer in the district. Both he and I are extremely proud of your performance and thank you for it."

Yours very truly,

Bull Dogs Working For Thanksgiving Game With Pecos

The Midland High School Bull Dogs are working hard for the football game at Pecos Thanksgiving Day, with the fast and heavy Plungers.

The Midland team won the first encounter played here on Armistice Day, by a score of 13 to 6; but the Pecos team really made more gains through the line than the home boys did.

The Thanksgiving game is expected to be the hardest fought game of this season, and as many Midland people as possible are expected to go there for the big event.

A team well backed up a strong rooting section stands a better chance than a team left to its own resources. Midland people are urged to stay with the team and cinch the championship.

Mrs. J. H. Barron, Elliott H. Barron, Mrs. Herman Spaulding and son, and Mr. and Mrs. T. Paul Barron left this morning for San Antonio by automobile. Mrs. J. H. Barron and Mrs. Spaulding will remain there for several weeks through the winter, while the others will return the first of next week.

Midland To Have Additional White Way

Black Electric has the contract for installing 10 more big light standards. These will be installed along Loraine and Missouri streets.

The contract calls for 9 standards beginning at Wall street and running one block on Loraine streets and then turn east at the intersection of Loraine and Missouri and run one block east. The other standard to be installed somewhere near the Christian church. This will make Midland one of the best lighted towns in the West.

It is possible that at an early date several more streets will be lighted.

Gets 150 Lbs. of Ice Daily All For Nothing

One lucky Midland householder got 150 pounds of ice every day this week up to Friday and didn't have to pay for it. The ice man thought he was pouring the ice in the right box, but due to lack of of house numbers he was going every day to the wrong place. "People have learned the economy in keeping food fresh in the winter with ice and our sales are holding up remarkably well," K. E. Ambrose, manager declared.

The factory will be near the old Midland & Northwestern depot.

Buick Display Attracts Crowds

The autumn display of Buick automobiles which started last Saturday and will continue through tomorrow at the Scruggs-Buick Company's handsome display room on Wall St. has attracted great crowds this week. Cotton, grain sorghums, pumpkins and melons are used to bring out the autumn effect, and the Buick models on the floor add to the beauty of the display.

Asked for a statement covering his Midland plans Mr. Hogan said:

"The most pressing need of Midland in my opinion is suitable quarters for the oil companies and associated industries which wish to establish headquarters here. We cannot expect them to move their headquarters and personnel here unless we are prepared to furnish them suitable quarters."

I have definitely decided to build a Petroleum Bldg. that will meet their requirements. In order to make sure that it will be satisfactory to them we will not complete the architectural plans until our future tenants will have an opportunity to lay out the floor plans and office space in a manner to meet their individual needs. Immediate steps will be taken to consult the principal companies and get their ideas and suggestions.

It may take as much as thirty days to work out the details but it will be time well spent. This much I can say definitely at this time, it will be a building that will be a credit to Midland.

The technical staff of the major oil companies can not readily adjust their needs to the ordinary office room and each company has its own particular needs. So far as possible we will undertake to meet their requirements and will at once consult the management on this subject. We will be glad to hear from any company planning to move to Midland outside of those which we may be able to see personally.

We want them to feel that when they get to Midland that they are among friends who are anxious to serve them."

Fire Damaged Britton Duplex

The duplex belonging to E. W. Britton, in Belmont Addition, was badly damaged by fire on the interior of the building yesterday morning when a blaze of unknown origin burned through the floors.

Wall paper, floors, and practically all of the interior of the house will have to be done over as a result of the blaze, according to those who aided in putting out the fire.

Working without the aid of fire apparatus, neighbors and occupants frantically fought the flames and prevented destruction of the house. It was occupied by J. N. Powell and family and by Mr. and Mrs. Lyle. Much of the household goods were damaged.

MIDLAND HAS LARGEST CROWD AT CRANE HIGHWAY MEETING

GOOD RESULTS ACCOMPLISHED BY DELEGATIONS FROM VARIOUS TOWNS CONFERRING ON OIL FIELD ROADS

Twice as many delegates as all other towns combined, including Odessa, San Angelo, Rankin, Monahans, and El Paso was the record Midland hung up at the good roads meeting in Crane Tuesday. Midland had a total of 25 delegates. The runner-up had three.

The Midland Chamber of Commerce delegates and good will party made the trip over Midland's new fast road built under supervision of the Chamber of Commerce committee composed of J. E. Hill, Sam Preston and Judge Charles L. Klapproth, and arrived in Crane City an hour and a half before the festivities started. The Midlanders fraternized with the Crane City merchants and advertised Midland. Midland was the only visiting delegation to have autos entered in the parade.

Following the parade, Judge Jackson was introduced by Dr. J. E. Cook, master of ceremonies. The eloquent address of welcome by Judge Jackson was responded to by Henry E. Webb, state representative. The addresses were followed by a big barbecued dinner. Crane City proved herself a hospitable host at the dinner and throughout the day, according to Midland visitors.

The afternoon was devoted to speech making by various delegates among whom was H. E. Webb, Jack Eldridge and Jack Walsh, Odessa; J. E. Stanley and H. Liebreich, of El Paso; Judge Spann and Secretary Fletcher, Rankin, Claude Wilde, San Angelo, Professor Herron, Sheriff Jack Allen, Crane City; Mr. Estes, Monahans; The Rev. T. D. Murphy and Paul T. Vickers, Midland, and others. The host at the fine barbecue also spoke.

No definite action was taken on the road movement. Crane City has afoot a cut-off connection Rankin and Monahans, via Crane City. The people of the hustling new county seat town also expressed a desire to see the connections between Midland and Crane and Odessa and Crane improved. Many Crane City people declared they could now get to Midland over the new road quicker than they could go to any other nearby towns, except Me-Camey.

The good will trip of the Midland boosters resulted in cementing an already existing cordial relationship existing between Crane City and Midland. The Crane people were warm in their greetings to the Midlanders, and declared they were coming to Midland to trade when they couldn't get what they wanted at home. The Midland speaker urged Crane City to trade in Crane for everything they could get, and to come to Midland next. The Midland people returned home feeling they had put in a good day for the interest of their city, and expressing deep appreciation of the cordial treatment at Crane.

have extended our help to those who were attempting to secure these results. But we have refrained from meddling interference, because we recognize not only the right but the necessity for each people to work out their own destiny.

"This I believe is a fair representation of what has been taking place in the immediate past, and what we may hope for in the immediate future."

Mrs. M. L. Bell and daughter, Miss Eula Lee Bell, are here from El Paso, visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Ulmer.

Mrs. L. G. Spires of Andrews is in Midland for a few days.

Improved Express Service Promised

That express service west of Sweetwater on the T. and P. will be improved, in line with the work recently done by H. W. Stanley of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce, has been promised, according to the following clipping from the El Paso Post of recent date:

El Paso has won its fight for better express service to its West Texas trade territory along the Texas & Pacific.

Whether that means an express car on the Sunshine Special or quicker service on a new local has not been determined yet. But the assurance comes direct from President Lancaster to H. W. Stanley, trade bureau director of the Chamber of Commerce.

As a result, both El Paso dealers in perishable goods and prospective customers they will serve will benefit.

COOLIDGE SAYS U. S. FACES BIGGEST TEST IN HISTORY--THAT OF PROSPERITY

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 17 (United Press)—The United States is facing the most severe test in its history, the test of prosperity—President Coolidge warned the Union League of Philadelphia in an address here tonight.

"We have demonstrated that we are able to meet adversity and overcome it," he said. "The test which now confronts the country is prosperity. History is littered with stories of nations destroyed by their own wealth."

Mr. Coolidge traced in terms of praise the history of the United States from the time of the Civil War to the present, attributing its spectacular success to the government's policy of protecting but not interfering unduly with industry.

"We have adopted and very generally maintained for a period of more than 100 years a system of protective tariffs," he said. "This has enabled us to develop our natural resources, build up our great industries, furnish employment to our increasing population and markets for our various products and farm and factory."

The President said any material reduction in the tariff would inevitably result in a deflation of agricultural and industrial values and in reduction of wages. He then launched upon a discussion of current governmental policies.

"Because of the past insistence on economy in national expenditures, we are in a position to have further moderate tax reduction," the President said. "But let it be remembered that tax reduction is possible solely on account of economy."

Listing items of national expense which will make gradual tax reduction necessary, Mr. Coolidge mentioned flood control, national highway construction, water way projects in the Mississippi Valley, St. Lawrence River, Columbia Basin and Colorado River, and more equipment for the navy and the air force.

"On the sea we shall round out our navy with more submarines and more cruisers and private ownership should provide it with an auxiliary merchant marine of fast cruiser boats," he said. On land we shall be building up our air forces, especially by encouraging commercial aviation.

"Our rise in the world has given us new problems, new responsibilities, both domestic and foreign. The entire life of the nation, all its economic activities, have become so interrelated that maladjustment in any one of them is sufficient to cause serious disarrangement in all the rest."

"We have become one nation. We can only survive by a most elaborate system of concerted action."

The President branded as a menace to our credit the $18,000,000,000 national debt. He called it the "greatest weakness in our line of national defense but reminded his listeners that one-third of the financial obligations resulting from the World War have been settled since.

"The work of restoring the national finances has met with large success," he said. "The burden of taxation has been extremely heavy but it has been borne with great courage. Three times it has been materially reduced. Millions of taxpayers have been entirely relieved and heavy reduction granted to others."

Mr. Coolidge praised the character of American people as demonstrated during the World War and the years of financial recuperation.

"The great mass of our people, whatever their possessions, are conscientious and industrious, seeking to serve humanity. They know that the doctrine of surrender and decay," the President declared. "The heart of the nation is sound."

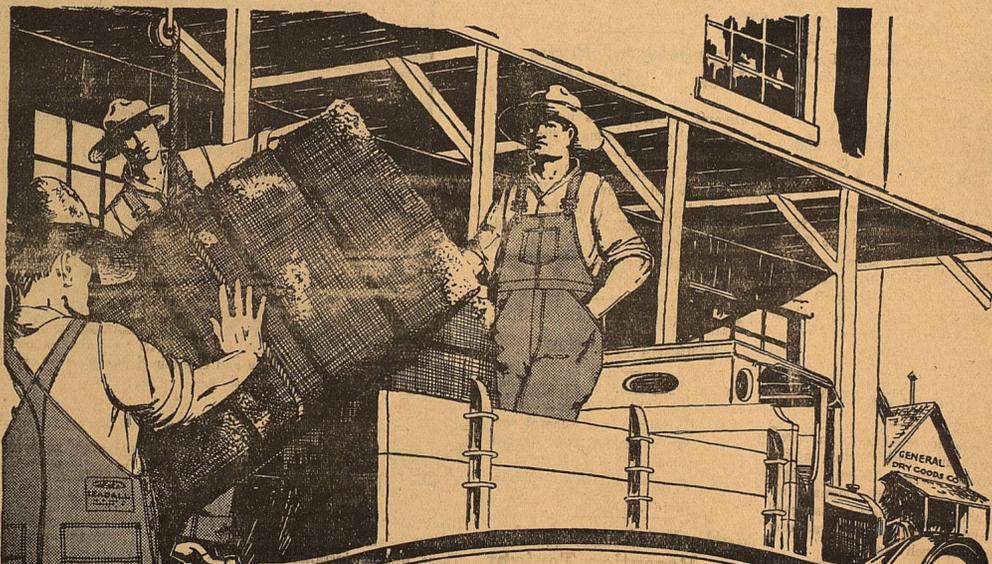

Mr. Coolidge's address was the principal feature of ceremonies commemorating the anniversary of the Union League's organization shortly before the Civil War. Philadelphia was the seat of the Union, which later enlisted membership in other cities.

Turning to foreign aspects of American relations, the President said:

"We wish to promote peace. We hold a great treasure. It must be protected. Our relationship with the vast territory between the Rio Grande and Cape Horn in a commercial way will become more intimate. Much of that country could be greatly benefited by lines of aviation, which we should hasten to assist them to open. A good system of highways should join the principal points in North and South America. While their own governments must necessarily build these, we can assist in their financing. These will be some of the rewards of a judicious management of the national finances."

"We have been drawn into close relationship with other nations. As inventions have closed up the intervals between different countries they have been brought nearer together, not only physically but economically and morally. We are more concerned than ever with our foreign affairs. The wealth of our people is going out in a constant stream of record dimensions for restoring and development in all parts of the world."

"We want our moral influence to be on the side of liberty, of education of fair elections, and of honest constitutional government. Where our obligations to our own citizens under international law have required it we

No matter what your status financially, you can make this bank decidedly beneficial to you. Several hundreds of Midland people will bear us out in this statement.

Splendid Editorial
Written On Airports

A splendid editorial appeared in the Abilene News Tuesday, entitled "Our Airports," and at the same time, Midland got some valuable publicity. The editorial is reprinted in full:

Robert W. Smith of San Antonio told the South Texas chamber of commerce in convention at Brownsville yesterday that the time is now upon us when the town without a municipal airport or landing field will be as much isolated and out of the running as the town that has no highways or railways.

The speaker warned Texas that air transportation is likely to bust upon us with great suddenness, and find us without airports, just as the coming of the automobile found us without good roads.

Many cities are taking steps to provide an airport, or at least a landing field. Midland is the latest in West Texas. Clarence Scharbauer, the ranchman, has donated the land, and Midland people will see to it that everything is provided, including a four ship hanger.

Abilene already has an air port recognized as among the best in the country. The bringing of this port into municipal ownership or control is the next logical step.

Mr. Brown is right. No town of any consequence can long afford to go without an airport or landing field as essential as the airplane itself. The cities which care enough about this wonderful new adjunct to civilization to provide landing facilities are going to be strong in the favor of the airman.

PREVENT BANK ROBBERY

Much has been said and written during the past few days about preventing bank robbery. Many favor the bill which would create a reward for dead bank bandits; many think it would not work out so well; but the following editorial which was written by State Press in the Dallas News gives some concrete suggestions:

To Easy Access

Bank robberies are usually apprehended. Our peace officers are alert and energetic. Much of the robber loot is recovered, but a good deal remains permanently lost to its rightful owners. City banks are seldom robbed because of being more adequately safeguarded. Why should not suburban and rural banks compensate themselves for their relative isolation by making their cash and negotiable securities less readily available to violent visitors?

Professional bandits are continuously on the scout for locations, which seem adapted to their uses. They spot banks which appear vulnerable. Our bankers warn us constantly to keep our money sagaciously protected. Do all of them take their own advice? Why spend thousands of dollars on marble trimmings and walnut furniture and nothing at all on equipment to make the clerical space in the bank secure against sudden intrusion from the customer's space? The area behind the county bank's grill should be more difficult of access. A minute spent in gaining entrance to the cashier's and teller's premises might thwart a well planned robbery. Why not reduce counter cash to the lowest working minimum and keep vault cash and bonds daylocked behind the big door?

Bank robbery has been too easy. A little more attention to mechanical barriers would have saved much money at little cost. An open gate in the bank's counter may be worse than a hole in the depositor's pocket.

SIDE TRACKS NEEDED

Whether Midland needs side tracks, or whether there are just more trains than once were, we don't know; but fifty or sixty automobiles were kept waiting at the rail road crossing on Main Street yesterday evening for a length of time which got monotonous.

The rail road is probably going ahead planning for these extra tracks and switch yards. We hope it is making such plans, and we are with it.

THE THOMAS BUILDING

With the completion of the Thomas Building, and the moving in of several important offices and business concerns, a new center of business activity is coming into life in Midland. Soon there will be hundreds of people who will either be located in the building, or who will go in and out of it each day on business.

In no town or city in Texas is there a better or more attractive building than the Thomas building. There are larger buildings and taller buildings, but Midland's new office structure is one of the most elegant little six story buildings in Texas.

Midland people who have not seen the interior of this magnificent building should do so at the earliest opportunity.

Mrs. Julia Tubb and Mrs. Lynn Kelly of Odessa were in Midland shopping today.

Mrs. Arthur Judkins was in town from the ranch today.

LAND COMMISSIONER WRITES ABOUT PAYING INTEREST ON SCHOOL LAND

LAND OFFICE MAKES EVERY POSSIBLE EFFORT TO NOTIFY LAND OWNERS BEFORE CONCLUDING TO FORFEIT FOR NON-PAYMENT OF INTEREST

Interest on State school land is due on November 1 of each year for the preceding year, according to Hon. J. T. Robinson, State Land Commissioner; and he has written a detailed and informative letter to The Reporter, by request, explaining the details that must be handled by the land office and the procedure which is followed when interest is not paid on school land.

His letter is self explanatory, and should be read carefully by every land owner of this territory.

Mr. T. Paul Barron, Midland, Texas.
Dear Sir:—

This is my first opportunity to answer yours of the 4th inst.

You say in order to give the information to the land owner, you would like that I would write you a letter explaining how and when school land interest must be paid and what the land owner may lose in the way of mineral rights if they do not pay the interest when it is due and then you add you have been informed that local land owners have had their mineral rights filed on because they did not have their interest paid to the State and that they either forfeited their mineral rights or were put to considerable expense to hold them.

In view of the foregoing questions and suggestions by you I will say that the law provides that all interest is due the first day of November each year for the preceding year. That is November first is pay day for the preceding year's interest due on school land and if it is not paid promptly it is subject to forfeiture for non-payment of that interest. However, this department does not forfeit promptly following the first of November because in 30 days that is from about the middle of October to about the middle of November, this department receives perhaps a million dollars or more in small remittances and it requires several months for it to check up and give credit to those items and until that is done, we cannot know which accounts have been paid, and which have not. When we do check them up and conclude to forfeit at some particular time, in the future, we send our notices to the people who paid the interest the last time. That notice would go to the owner of the land if we knew the owner but since so many deeds are filed in the counties that are not filed here, this department has no way of knowing the address of the owner. So the best that can be done is to send the notice to the last one who paid the interest the last time. Sometimes in a case of that kind, the party receiving the notice may have sold the land and neglects to forward the notice to the owner if he knows who that may be and the land will forfeit and then the party will complain that the Land Office did not treat him fairly when as a matter of fact, the party himself may be at fault in not filing his deed and notifying the Land Office that he is the owner of the land, or if the deed is filed and they do not give the Post Office address of the purchaser and though the deed be filed, it is worth little for that reason.

If the land has been forfeited and the party who owned the land at the time of forfeiture desires he has the right to redeem it by paying all past due interest, provided the rights of no one else has intervened. The intervention of some one else's rights can be brought about by filing on an oil or gas application in the County Clerk's office first and then sending it to the land office with the required fees and obtain a permit to prospect for oil and gas and if such application should be filed before the party who owned the land should apply to reinstate or redeem it by paying all back interest the mineral application would be an intervening right and in that case the land could not be redeemed until the rights under the mineral application had been removed and that is sometimes done by the owner of the land at the date of forfeiture going to owner of the oil and gas permit and either buying it outright and then relinquishing his right back to the State, or in lieu of buying it, make a trade with the owner of the oil and gas permit, and getting him to relinquish it back to the State and then as soon as such relinquishment is filed in the County Clerk's Office and filed in the land office, the owner of the land will file an application to reinstate and pay all back interest.

In this connection, may I further state that months before this department forfeits land for nonpayments of interest, it not only sends out reasonable notice but it endeavors to have something in a daily press every few days that will draw the interest of the owners of the land, to the impending forfeiture, so they may take notice of same and protect their rights. Then about the time the land is forfeited, we either send an advance list of the land to the County Clerk and solicit his cooperation in getting word to the owner of the land in their county in such way that they will have notice to pay the interest.

Before the forfeiture was declared on the first of July last year, lists were sent to the County Clerks and many of the clerks took a personal interest in the matter and resulted on the very day that was advertised for forfeiture to be declared they were postponed until the afternoon and by so doing thousands of dollars were received here which prevented many forfeitures and perhaps saved many homes.

If the public would appreciate the tremendous amount of work in this department and the detail incurred they would be amazed at the small losses by a few people which saving is a direct result of the pains taken here to avoid forfeiture.

If there is anything else that you would like to hear from me on, so indicate and I will be pleased to give answer.

Yours truly,
J. T. Robinson.

Baptist Budget To Be Considered Sunday

On next Sunday morning the deacons of the Baptist church will present the 1928 budget for the approval of the congregation. It is exceedingly important that each member be present so that all may well know for what purpose the money is to be spent.

Members of the board of deacons say that the finances of the church have been handled with greater ease during the past year than ever before. Since early in the year there has not been a time when there was not a balance in the treasury, and present indications are that the church will end the year that way.

This has been due in part to the material prosperity of our people, but the policy pursued by the deacons has been very successful and they will ask that the church follow the same plan again next year.

PECOS COUNTY'S BIGGEST GUSHER SAID TO HAVE FLOWED AT RATE OF 66,000 BARRELS PER HOUR

NOW PINCHED IN ACCORDING TO PRO RATA AGREEMENT OF OPERATORS IN THE FIELD. BIGGEST PRODUCER OF PRESENT DAY

Transcontinental Oil Co. and Mid-Kansas jointly owned gusher, the No. 2-C Yates, section 60, block 1 L. A. and G. N. Survey, Pecos County, flowed at the rate of 66,000 barrels per day in one hour test, according to reports and to newspaper articles Wednesday.

This is the largest well producing today, if the report is correct, and has been exceeded only by the famous 00,000 barrel Spindletop Well and by larger gushers in Mexico.

The well was pinched in to 1,000 barrels according to the pro rata agreement which is in effect in Pecos County.

The bringing in of this giant producer indicates that Pecos County's production may equal that of the Seminole pool; and oil operators here fear that it will have a tendency to prevent any immediate increase in the price of crude.

Some interesting facts about the world's biggest oil wells, as compiled by the El Paso Post, are re-printed herewith:

Mexico holds the world's record for big oil producers with only Russia a real rival for volume from individual wells.

The world's greatest producer was the Cerro Azul of the Mexican Petroleum Co. (E. L. Dohenys Mexican company), the Pearson interests' Dos Bocas, which was destroyed by fire, was believed to have had a greater potential capacity.

The Cerro Azul (Blue Mountain), drilled in 1916, is estimated to have reached a maximum capacity of 260,000 barrels a day.

Several Mexican wells produced 100,000 barrels or better, and many have been gaged at from 50,000 to 75,000 barrels. Most famous of these after Cerro Azul, were the Pearson interests' Potrero del Llano No. 4 which yielded 125,000 barrels a day, and the Mexican Eagle Oil Co.'s Las Marañones No. 4 estimated slightly above 100,000 barrels.

From 20,000 to 25,000 barrels daily is considered extremely high for Mid-continent field wells—either North Texas, Oklahoma or Louisiana. The biggest well ever drilled in the United States was Capt. Anthony F. Lucas discovery well at Spindletop, in Texas Gulf coastal fields, which came in, in 1901 with an initial production of 100,000 barrels a day.

Eleven Months

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

IT'S—well, let's see—it's very near Eleven months, almost a year. Since you put on your hat one day And said good-by and went away; And you, you smiled, and I smiled, too, That's all one ever dares to do; And then I heard a door that closed, And—well, whoever yet supposed Eleven months could follow then Before that door would swing again, That is, before that door would swing, And really mean a single thing?—

Eleven months, or maybe more, Before one heard a swinging door Just seem to swing some certain way, I can't describe, that seemed to say, "He's here! He's home! He's on the stair!"

Now where's my puff? and how's my hair? Eleven months—and yet a week It was before I dared to speak, Or hardly dared to speak, for fear Somebody else around might hear Me—well, me gulping something down Because one man was out of town.

Now, isn't this a shameless note?— The worst a woman ever wrote. But I've been thinking more and more That ever since you shut the door, That anywhere you perchanced to be, That maybe you were just like me, And, just because I let you go, You didn't see, and didn't know, And didn't really understand; And wouldn't it be awful—land!— If somehow somewhere sometime you Were counting months and minutes, too! (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Bismarck Was Hungry

"So hungry I can't sit up straight," was sometimes the plaint of Otto von Bismarck, and according to Herr Emil Ludwig's book on the Iron Chancellor, his remedy was to stuff himself so full he could not bend in any direction.

"I took some stuffed eel, boiled ham and porridge," he writes of one supper, "and ate several sausages next, but had too much and had to take some rum. I finished a box of figs, and while I write you I am eating my second box of maraspan and drinking a crock of Erfurter rock-cellar beer. It is excellent!"

He figured he smoked 100,000 cigars in five years and killed 5,000 bottles of champagne.

Pretty Cold in Montana

Going through Montana recently we got into conversation with a native son, relates Harry Daniel in Thrift Magazine. "Gets pretty cold up here in the winter, doesn't it?" we observed.

"Well," observed the Montanian, "there's a statue of Old Man Willoughby, the pioneer cattle king on a little hill over in Golden valley. There he stands with his hands hanging helplessly at his sides, while he gazes forever across the plains he loved. But, believe it or not, it got so blamed cold up here once last winter that the old man had to keep his hands in his pants pockets all day long."

UNIONS

TRULY, "In union there is strength." And it is this same principle, old as the ages, that started the first union, the medieval guild, as it was called, from "gild" meaning a payment. It is a travesty that the original "unions" were not organizations of "labor," but of employers. They were boards of trades formed by the proprietors of the industries of each town, for protection against "foreign" competition. The rules of the guild against trading with "foreigners" except under certain conditions preserved for the trade men of each town a monopoly of local business. Capitalists! The authority of the guilds in the regulation of trade was greater even than that enjoyed by the town governments.

With the development of industry the general merchant guild was superseded by the craft guilds—individual organizations for every trade or industry in the town. As the merchant guild had regulated the trade of the town in general the craft guild supervised its own trade or occupation.

So powerful were these craft guilds that it was impossible for a man to carry on business without subjecting himself to the rules of his guild. The guilds controlled a man's standing in his trade. Every worker had to serve for seven years as an apprentice without pay, when he became a "journeyman." This word was taken from the French "journee," which means day. For the men were employed and paid by the day. When a Journeyman had saved enough money to open his own little shop he became a "master" tradesman. And here again we have capitalism in the trade unions, for only masters could become full-fledged members of the craft guild! But we learn that the proprietors and their employees worked in harmonious accord, without partisan interests, for the good of their craft. The millennium was here—about 500 years ago! (Copyright.)

Large Drilling Blocks ---WANTED

About December First I shall send a geological party to West Texas for the purpose of making a geological survey of that area.

I am planning to drill a series of deep wildcat wells with cable tools and if you are a large land owner and want a geological survey made of your acreage I shall send my party to your land if you will submit your very best proposition and the number of acres you will give for a deep test. Give me the location of your block and advise if you would give a ten year lease with a contract to begin a well within ninety days after the completion of the survey, and the lowest rental you would accept.

You must bear in mind that a well drilled 3,500 feet by a competent contractor will cost from sixty to eighty-five thousand dollars and anyone making a thorough test for you will necessarily want a large block of acreage for taking the hazard.

I have secured the services of one of the best known geologists in the Mid-Continent field and he will have geophysical machines to make every test of your acreage.

Sunday MOVIES Demanded

Midland People have demanded Sunday Motion Picture Shows. A straw verbal vote taken among many community leaders show at least 98 per cent of them favor operating motion picture shows in Midland on Sunday.

to improve moral atmosphere

Many of these community leaders declare operation of Sunday shows will actually improve the moral atmosphere. Practically every one interviewed declared that a year ago he would have opposed Sunday Shows. Their views have changed because of the fact that Midland has several hundred transients. Operation of Sunday Shows will keep some of these from loafing, gambling and otherwise seeking diversion. The people say: "It is better to have them in shows than on the streets idling."

discrimination

Other Community leaders say: "Is it any worse to play golf, play baseball, sell cigarets, etc., on Sunday than to operate a motion picture show? Nearly all modern, up-to date towns operate shows."

people leave town

Odessa now operates Sunday shows. Midland money goes to Odessa on Sundays. Oil people out in the fields have no other time for recreation except on Sunday. They want to come to Midland to see a show. From the economic standpoint, Midland is losing hundreds of dollars every month by reason of no Sunday recreation.

absolutely no church conflict

The management of the Palace and Idlehour Theatres positively will not permit his showing hours to conflict with any of the regular church and young people's services. The theatre will open at 1 p. m. and close at 5:30 and will open at 9 p. m. and close at 11 p. m. on Sundays. The management wants the corporation and good will of the people and did not determine to operate the shows till so many people, business people, church people, and civic leaders, requested that the Sunday shows be started.

THE price at which you may buy a battery for your car is no true indication of its economy, unless backed up by a reputation for quality.

Since 1888, when the first Exide was made, up to the present time, quality has been the first consideration in the manufacture of this famous battery.

SURPRISE SHOWER FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. W. R. Tull charmingly entertained with a bridge shower at her home, honoring Misses Modelle Green and Nannette Deucey, brides elect.

Pink white and yellow chrysanthemums were attractively arranged in the rooms while pink tapers burned from artistic rose holders. Further carrying out the color theme were the clever bridge tallies, brides in pink and white tracers. The plate favors were blond and brunette brides with malne brdal vels.

Miss Eurtha Bottom was awarded high score gift, a beautiful bridge table cover with a score set.

At the close of the games, little Miss Katherine Carter wearing a fluffy dress of pink taffeta, danced into the rooms to the strains of "At Dawn, ing," scattered flower petals and curtsying to the brides-to-be and throwing kisses to the guests, she disappeared, only to return carrying a large pink and white basket, filled with beautiful linens, and placed it, before the honorees.

Miss Deucey and Green sincerely expressed their surprise and deep appreciation for the lovely gifts.

Refreshments were passed consisting of tuna fish salad, sandwiches, wafers, potato chips, olives, hot chocolate and bon bons.
