General's Whereabouts not Known The fall of Agua Prieta led to much contemplation concerning the whereabouts of General Escobar, supreme head of the rebels. LEAGUE GETS PORT CENSUS

GENEVA, May 1.—(UP)—League of Nations has just begun the first world-wide census of all ports open to international trade.

The investigation is to be pushed to the farthest corners of earth and the register of ports hereafter be kept strictly up-to-date. This is one of the many now being taken by the League to bring into force the establishment of uniform international conventions.

All efforts in the past to make such statistics useful in regulating world trade, commerce and industry have been rendered useless by the fact that from many countries such statistics were not available, or were compiled in a manner that rendered comparison impossible.

All of these difficulties have been overcome in the League's new convention for standardizing economic statistics. This convention which was drawn up by forty-four different countries under the auspices of the League has already been signed by twenty-five nations and will come into force soon as it has been ratified by the required number.

In the meantime the League is organizing the machinery necessary to enable in the future the keeping of accurate world-wide economic statistics on a basis that will permit of comparisons and of practical utility.

NOW ENGAGED IN SCHARBAUER ADDITION

The possibility of the general office of the J. O. Everett Construction company moving to Midland within a few months was stated this morning to a reporter of The Reporter-Telegram by the president, J. O. Everett, in his hotel suite. Everett, who is here to supervise the beginning of construction on Hotel Scharbauer's big addition, said that he recognized the value of working this territory from an enterprising city like Midland, and declared that there were two factors about which his decision would hinge. His success in pleasing Midland, and Midland's pleasing him.

Equipment for the beginning of excavation for the basement and footings of the hotel addition has arrived. Work will probably begin Monday, Everett said. The major part of the sub-contracting has been closed.

Everett stated his belief in Midland, in the future to which the city is trying to make sane adjustment, and to the probability of a greater influx of population from the central states, especially along the flooded area of the Mississippi River.

"This is my first venture into this part of the Southwest," he stated. "I have erected a couple of buildings. I have erected a couple of buildings in the future of this section and area, especially since the new oil pools are constantly being discovered and the old ones seem to promise indefinite production."

Everett will be in Midland several days.

CHANGING ONE MYSTERY FOR ANOTHER ONE
By Bruce Catton

Life is chiefly a matter of electricity, according to Dr. George W. Crile of Cleveland, who has been delving into the matter for many years.

Reading a paper before the American Philosophical Society at Philadelphia, Dr. Crile declared that man seems to be fundamentally a sort of glorified storage battery. As long as the battery remains charged, the machinery can function, and the individual can carry on his daily work.

Apparently the old expression, "the vital spark," is a good one. If our clever scientists are going to keep on demonstrating that we are kin to the crackling of an electrical generator, rather than the stars and the wind as we used to think, we would do well to keep that expression in regular use.

Dr. Crile's researches are extremely interesting, and there is no doubt that they add immensely to the store of human knowledge. Yet it would be a mistake to suppose that they really clear up the fundamental mystery.

Electricity may be a matter of electricity, as Dr. Crile suggests; but what scientist will arise now to tell us what electricity is? We have only exchanged one mystery for another.

During the last century mankind has found out a great deal about itself and about the world it inhabits. It has dispelled the old fables by which primitive men sought to interpret the puzzles of existence, and has substituted for them a series of far less interesting formulas and equations. But it is really no nearer the root of the matter than it was before.

The ancient Aztecs believed that the creator of the world made a set of clay figures, blew life into them with his nostrils, and sent them forth to inhabit the world—which, by the way, he had trampled into shape with his feet.

The modern scientist believes that man is a very complicated sort of storage battery, moving about on a speck of cosmic dust as long as his charge of electricity lasts.

Both conceptions are interesting. Neither one clears up the ancient mystery.

We tear down the old curtains of ignorance only to find an endless vista of new ones. And if this leaves room for doubt and disquiet, it also leaves room for faith and boundless hope. The technicians may have reduced you to an electrical equation, but what of that? You are still unexplainable.

A COMMON SENSE VIEW

Americans who are interested in the maintenance of world peace and the continuance of cordial relations between the United States and Great Britain can be considerably encouraged by Hugh Gibson's remarks at Geneva concerning naval reduction.

Expressing, as he did, President Hoover's views, Ambassador Gibson revived the hope that the knotty problem of naval reduction may be settled in a friendly manner, and it was not so much the substance of his remarks, as the spirit of them that makes for optimism.

Effect, what he said was this; since we all want naval reduction, since we all intend to remain on good terms, since a moderate amount of common-sense will inevitably avert war, let's forget the technicalities and get to work in a way that will end all this distrust and competition.

A highly sensible way of approaching the subject, that. It paves the way for a resumption of an extremely important job.

A FLIMSY EXCUSE

When a man stands convicted of a crime, and under sentence to prison, he always makes desperate last-minute attempts to get out of it. Usually his final pleas and excuses are the flimsy to the utmost degree.

Seldom, however, has a weaker plea been made than that made by Harry F. Sinclair, who is at last faced by the terrible penalty of spending three months in jail for bribing a cabinet officer and stealing a hundred million dollars' worth of oil.

Sinclair protested that if he went to jail his stockholders—many of them widows and orphans—would suffer loss. Hence, he said, the government should call it quits and revoke his sentence.

It is a long time since any argument as specious as that has been presented. One's heart must bleed for the widows and orphans—but Mr. Sinclair, after all, is getting off easy. He has no kick coming.

PUNISHING DRUNKEN HUNTERS

The Michigan legislature has voted to punish the drunken hunter in the same way that the drunken motorist is now punished. Hereafter, a man carrying a gun while under the influence of liquor will be subject to a stiff fine and a term in jail.

This is an excellent idea, worth copying widely. The idea of providing a stiff punishment for the drunken man who drives an auto is based on the fact that an auto is an extremely dangerous piece of machinery in the hands of an intoxicated man. Surely the same thing is true of a rifle or shotgun.

More and more it is becoming evident that the drunken man is simply out of place in the modern world.

MUSKRAT BRINGS FINE

WILLINGS, Mont., April 29.—(U.P.)—A muskrat was caught and impounded because he caught a muskrat tail and impounded him with the idea of starting a farm. F. G. Kell was fined $500 for possessing a fur-bearing animal having obtained the license for its capture. The muskrat was found in the barn when the capture was made.

Anna Q. Nilsson
Coming in Role
Of Liquor Queen

What critics declare to be the most striking and dramatic presentation of the gigantic "rum running" industry that the screen has yet offered is in "Blockade," a story of liquor trafficking on the high seas which Director George B. Seitz has made for FBO, with dashing Anna Q. Nilsson in the featured role.

Combining a high standard of dramatic artistry in its more intimate passages with the clash and battle of armed ships on the high seas, where desperate outlaws war against the government forces for the loot that comes of bootlegging and brigandage, the picture has won quick acclaim throughout the country. It will be seen at the Grand theatre today for a run of two days, today and tomorrow.

Portraying a fearless and adventurous young woman who, in command of a speedy ship, pursues and gives battle to an armed hum runner off the Florida coast, Miss Nilsson gives a memorable performance.

Prominent in the supporting cast are Wallace MacDonald, Walter McGrain and James Brabury, Sr. "Blockade" was filmed from an original story by Louis Sarecky and John Twist, the continuity being by Harvey Thew.

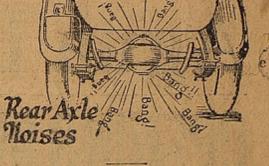

This picture is now showing and will also be shown tomorrow at the Grand theatre.

Wedding Lingerie Now Follows Lines of Frocks

By JULIA BLANSHARD
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, May 1.—The June bride should keep one eye on the latest Paris frocks when she selects her wedding lingerie this year.

For the extravagantly beautiful new underwear has departed classic lingerie lines. Dress styles now inspire them. Much is made of circular themes. Truffles in lace, Ninon, chiffon, georgette, satin or fine figured or plain crepe de chine simulate the Princess lines, the godets, flounces, natural or high waistlines, flaring lower edges, hip yokes and novel necklines of the latest Paris frocks.

The color too of bridal finery has changed. White is still to be had. But flesh or pink is a smarter choice for the foundation of one's wedding gown.

Other colors are popular in the following order: apple green, pastel blue, apricot with some yellow and a few black and off-white. Lace is almost ubiquitous in bridal finery and off-white Alencon is the queen of them all.

SUNTAN MODE TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT

Little flaring panties with tuck-in shirts or bandeaux vie with princess cut combinations, made backless for the suntan mode and for evening. Much is made of front yokes on panties, with the back an elastic banding. Some evening undies have no shoulder straps, but little eyelets into which gold, silver or brilliant traps slip. All straps are narrow and delicate.

Nightgowns look much like dainty little party frocks, with much novelty in the way of necklines, waistlines and the use of lace applied into the gown's fabric. Most brides Exquisitely dainty and feminine and new in cut, color and lace trim, is the lingerie for the June bride. These models were posed by the Howard twins—Meredit and Virginia. (Left to right) Circular fullness enters the skirt of a flesh pink Ninon nightgown and lovely Alencon lace splashes its beauty down one side of the front and fashions a yoke that has satin ribbon knotted on one shoulder of a strap. The lace peplum theme distinguishes a smart apricot colored pair of sleeping pajamas and its lace trousers button neatly to show Milady's ankles. Newest is the flowered chiffon negligee, especially when it comes in capucine shades and has a black lace cape back that fashions half its sleeves. Its train is of the flowered chiffon. For the wedding day, Alencon lace and a bit of flesh colored Ninon in the shape of a tiny pantie yoke make an exquisite suit. The Panties flare and the vest tucks in.

choose both nighties and sleeping pajamas. Both nighties and pajamas vary their necklines tremendously. Many pajamas fasten up the legs of their lace trousers with decorative little buttons.

When it comes to negligees, lingerie follows the colors and printed patterns of outer garments. For the printed chiffon negligee is the last word in intimate apparel and the best colors are the capucien, or nasturtium shades that Paris sponsors.

Utterly feminine and dainty is a flesh-colored Ninon gown, cut on princess lines with yoke and applique work on the skirt of cream Alencon lace. This has all the fine hand-work that Paris does so well. This gown has a low, square neck, with the lace fashioning one shoulder strap, double satin ribbon tying on the other in a bow. A little belt circles this gown at natural waistline, emphasizing the way fullness is inserted in two godets, from the hip. A spray of lace flowers adorns one side of the gown's skirt and its hem is scalloped.

HERE ARE SMART SLEEPING PAJAMAS

For the bride who likes sleeping pajamas, a stunning little suit comes in apricot crepe de chine, with a chic V yoke in matching Alencon lace and a peplum of the same. The trousers are lace edged and have panels of lace running up their sides that button together to close them tight. Mules of apricot paillettes, lined with apple green kid and gold-heeled, are colorful accessories to these pajamas.

Newest of the new is the flowered chiffon negligee, in nasturtium colors, over a yellow chiffon slip. One of these uses black lace most effectively for half its flowing sleeves and for a deep back cape. Of course it has a train. All of them do.

For the foundation to the bridal gown itself, Alencon lace makes a stunning, deep cream-colored suit, with the tuck-in lower edge of its vest, and for its little panties front yoke of flesh-colored Ninon. This vest has a scalloped top, with the narrowest of shoulder straps. The panties flare tremendously and are scalloped around the bottoms.

will make their home here. Mr. W. A. Hindman has been a visitor in the home of his sister, Mrs. J. M. Flanagan, this week. Mesdames Jua Watson, J. J. Curo, E. C. Cook, all of Lamesa were shoppers here yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Nichols, Jr., have returned from Cisco and Fort Worth, where they have been for the past few days. Mrs. J. Alfred Tom of the Tom ranch north of Stanton spent last night here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Orson. Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Humphries of Lubbock are visiting in Midland for a few days. A Few Rules On Care Of Meat In Summer
With the advent of summer the housewife should keep in mind a few simple precautions in caring for the family supply of meat, and particularly that which is purchased on Saturday to use over the week-end. The meat is in good condition when it arrives from the market and the housewife can maintain it in this condition if she will follow these few rules laid down by the National Livestock and Meat Board.

As soon as the meat arrives home, it should be unwrapped and placed in a clean refrigerator. The reason is this: When the meat is wrapped up at the shop a certain amount of air is enclosed in the paper. This air of the shop. If the paper is not removed the cold air of the refrigerator is prevented from reaching the meat. Consequently the surface of the meat spoils.

Meat, as well as every other food, should be protected from contamination. After meat is cooked there is frequently a large piece left over and housewife puts this into the refrigerator while it is still warm. This is not a good practice because the warm meat heats the air of the refrigerator so that other foods may be impaired, and also because a large piece of meat will often cool thoroughly on the surface but the inner portion may spoil because it does not become cool. Warm meat should be cooled at room temperature before putting it in the refrigerator.

Club Affairs Introduce a Week of Festive Springtime Bridge Functions

Initiating a whirl of bridge functions for this week, clubs were entertained with merry parties given by members at their homes both afternoon and evening, yesterday. Soft colors stressing the springtime theme predominated at the affairs with other decorations adding interest.

Mrs. Pratt Entertains
Colonial Kard Klub members were guests of Mrs. W. I. Pratt at a novel "earthquake" bridge affair at her home in the afternoon.

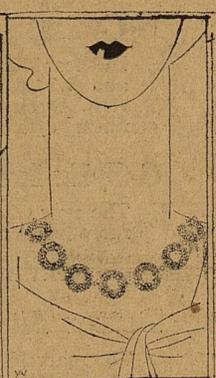

At tables marked with tallies and score books in rainbow shades the players received shock after shock which added extremely to the interest of the games.

Roses of every hue and other spring blossoms were selected for floral touches, while other suggestions of spring were found in package wrappers, plate favors and refreshment service.

Table cuts were embroidered silver cases and went to Mesdames L. A. Arrington, Tom Coombes, Fred Cowden, A. Harry Anderson, Fount Armstrong, J. O. Nobles, and Miss Leona McCormick. High score trophy for guests went to Mrs. J. O. Nobles, who received a linen dresser score and club member high score was held by Mrs. W. G. Whitehouse, who was given a buffet set.

Guests and club members attending the event were Mesdames J. A. Finlayson, J. O. Gallington, B. G. Graf, W. I. Pratt, Rae Sindorf, W. G. Whitehouse, L. A. Arrington, Jno. Edwards, Fount Armstrong, Tom Coombes, J. S. Schow, Fred Cowden, S. B. Cragin.

At the close of the games, Mrs. A. E. Horst received a party handkerchief for holding high score, and Mrs. J. P. Butler, cutting high, was given a costume necklace.

Greens and yellows predominated in the party appointments, and in the party plates, which were passed by Mesdames D. E. Carter, J. P. Butler, D. E. Shoemaker, J. P. Baker, W. P. Knight, E. I. Heard, La Conde, A. E. Horst, R. L. York, J. W. Shroeder, C. F. Whaley, and Miss Nevella Dickinson.

Pattison, W. E. Wallace, E. H. Stafford, George Abell, A. N. Hendrickson, Robinson Willis, W. R. Lake, J. R. Vandeverter, H. E. Munson and Marshall Brown.

Consolation trophy, a set of imported soaps, went to Mrs. W. L. Brown. High club cut favor, which was a lovely guest towel, went to Mrs. Marshall Brown.

Strip Maps Are Sent Out To Many Aviators

Three hundred "strip" maps of the bird's eye view of the route from Midland to El Paso and from Midland eastward as far as Stanton, have been sent out by the chamber of commerce to aviators over the United States.

Sweeping constantly ahead to greater and greater heights of popularity . . . making and breaking new records of success with impressive regularity . . . the new Chevrolet Six has established one of the most remarkable records in automotive history—more than 500,000 on the road since January 1st!

Not only does this brilliant accomplishment surpass the greatest record that Chevrolet has ever achieved in the past—but it brings to Chevrolet the significant honor of having built in only four months a greater number of six-cylinder cars than any other manufacturer has ever produced in an entire year!

Even with such a record to focus attention upon the outstanding value of the Chevrolet Six—many people still do not appreciate what "a Six in the price range of the four" actually means!

To such persons, consideration of the features responsible for this tremendous popularity will prove a revelation. So read the adjoining column carefully—and then come in and ask for a ride in this sensational six-cylinder car.

COMPARE the delivered price as well as the list price in considering automobile values. Chevrolet's delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

Outstanding Features of the New Chevrolet Six that have created this Tremendous Popularity—

6-Cylinder Smoothness

Due to the finer inherent balance of its six-cylinder motor—the new Chevrolet Six provides that smooth, quiet, flexible performance which is characteristic of the truly fine automobile. At every speed, the power is delivered easily, freely and without annoying vibration.

6-Cylinder Getaway

In sheer brilliance of performance, as well as in smoothness and quietness of operation, the new Chevrolet Six is a revelation. Acceleration is remarkably fast. And a new non-detonating cylinder head eliminates every trace of "lugging."

6-Cylinder Speed

The new Chevrolet Six has speed in abundance—but even more important than its speed is the smooth, quiet, restful comfort you experience at every point on the speedometer. You can open the throttle wide with a feeling of complete security.

Better Than 20 Miles Per Gallon

The marvelous performance of the Chevrolet Six would be exceptional in any car. But in the new Chevrolet Six it is actually sensational—for here it is combined with an economy of better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

Exceptional Riding Comfort

Another vital factor that has influenced over a half-million people in their selection of the new Chevrolet Six is its marvelous riding comfort. It travels smoothly over rough roads—and its balance on turns and corners is exceptional.

Beautiful Fisher Bodies

Longer, lower and roomier—finished in attractive, long-lasting colors—and upholstered in rich, deep-tufted fabrics—the new Fisher bodies on the Chevrolet Six introduce into the low-price field an entirely new measure of style and distinction.

Proved Dependability

Tested for more than a million miles on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground—the new Chevrolet Six went into the hands of its owners thoroughly proved in every detail. And now reports of its performance on the highways of the nation pay glowing tribute to its endurance and dependability.

Amazing Low Prices

An achievement that surpasses even the brilliant performance qualities of this sensational six-cylinder car are the prices at which it is offered. Study these prices, and compare them with any other car and you will recognize the remarkable value represented in this Six in the price range of the four!

Big Spring and Company, assisted by G. H. Byrne, C. W. Cunningham and Jess Slaughter, will try to water the stock of Midland today when the Colts scamper over for a visit that may end disastrously for the hosts.

Byrne is an aviator, Cunningham is a city commissioner, and Slaughter a sheriff. The three are putting up extra attractions. Byrne will drop the first ball to be pitched in the game from an airplane; Cunningham will pitch the first game, and Slaughter, used to taking 'em in, will receive the sphere.

Midland hears other reports to show that the reception of our neighbor city will not be a half-concocted affair. Report has it that a cowboy will ride a wan colt in the ball park after the game. The real significance of this is not hard to see—what with the Big Spring club concocted affair. Report has it that a cowboy will ride a wan colt in the disastrous to either team to lose after such a display.

There will be six straight days for the exercise of the good sportsmanship that exists between Midland and Big Spring. Prophecy as to the eventual outcome of the series cannot be given. Both clubs are as yet unknown quantities. Neither has shown startling strength, but the fact that a crew of young players is on the deck in each city's sew, may lead to interesting results.

The mayor has shown his appreciation of the value of baseball by issuance of a proclamation calling upon this city to issue in a body to Midland's first home game, at Cowden park Friday.

PAUL BERLENBACH
FORMER LIGHT-HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION COMES BACK THIS TIME ON THE MAT.

come is his impulse to throw hay. Back to a place on the sports pages climbs Paul Berlenbach, former king of the light heavyweight boxers, this time as a professional wrestler.

Tolling Fred Grubmeier of Chicago in 18 minutes and 27 seconds, Berly celebrated his start in the quest of another world's championship. The business of applying arm locks and flying mares is not exactly new to the German, as he began his athletic career on the mat, giving it up for boxing when by accident he learned he could topple big fellows with a punch on the chin.

While Oom Paul has lost much of the speed he possessed when he was cuffing boxers around, his added weight and strength has given him what he needs in his new venture. His big ambition now is to be the only man to win a world's championship in both branches of the modern mayhem.

One thing he will have to overcome is his impulse to throw hay. Back to a place on the sports pages climbs Paul Berlenbach, former king of the light heavyweight boxers, this time as a professional wrestler.

makers when the going on the mat gets rough. Against Grubmeier, Paul repeatedly caught himself leading with his left and shooting that right hand over.

Berly is forced to start at the bottom of the new business, but he is entertaining fancy hopes of catching up with Mr. Gus Sonnenberg before very long. It will be interesting to see what effect a right uppercut has on Dartmouth Gus' flying tackle, if such a match ever comes about.

Congress, of course, will never be a success until someone thinks up a good theme song for it.

Appetite Appeal In Summer Menus

It takes an artist to always serve meals in the summer which are appealing to the appetite. Service adds greatly to the effects of coolness which is so desirable. Dainty colored linen and crystal in cool colors form a background for meals in which the dishes served may be as simple as you wish but which must be as dainty and attractive as they can be made. The National Livestock and Meat Board contributes these menus built around meat dishes which are particularly suitable for summer.

You May Quit Fats, Still Gain Weight

If you would reduce, it can't be done simply by eliminating fats from your diet. This is the answer to one of the many questions concerning fats with which the National Livestock and Meat Board is besieged. The board goes on to explain that since the body has the ability to convert all foods into fat, a person can continue to increase in weight unless the use of sugars and starches is curtailed as well as the use of fat per se.

What is the place of fat in the diet? Fats furnish the body with the most concentrated form of energy-food. Fat yields about twice as much energy as starch, sugar, or protein. While the energy value of fats was once the chief reason for including them in the diet, we now know that certain fats are very rich in vitamins. Butter, egg-yolk fat, the fat of liver, kidney, and sweetbreads, and the liver oil of some fish contain a large amount of vitamin A in comparison with other foods. Bacon and butter, which are the most attractive and appetizing of all fats, are relished even in summer time when there is a tendency to use less of the heat-producing foods; for even in hot weather the body needs food for energy and the vitamins which are furnished by fats.

COLTS VS. COWBOYS TODAY

SEGRIST SHIFTS HIS LINE UP FOR TODAY

From the way the day looked at the time of writing, despite the fact that it was listed as "opening day" by the calendar, there was nothing to suggest an opening anywhere. Swirling clouds of sand closed even a vista of the other side of the street.

Fans, however, refused to listen to the remotest possibility of not attending the game with the Big Spring Cowboys at the town forty miles to the east. They reason that moral support for a team can go just as far in the success of that team as physical handicaps, such as sand, can figure against it. And, Midland folks, being sons and daughters of the range, it is well known here that a sandstorm always disconcerts the cowboy more than the colt.

Later in the day, several men had filled their cars with women and women their cars with men, and were going around the city with a view to finding out how many fans would fill the Midland rooting section in the Big Spring stand.

The players themselves are in fine fettle. Kal Segrist announced a slight shift in his batting order this morning and stated that Andrews, protégé of "Pop" Kitchen, Miami manager, would draw the pitching assignment. The right hander is right, is smart, and has as many curves as are listed in a Broadway revue. He is technically known as a "fast ball" flinger, but when it comes to mixing the batter, he is a regular bartender.

Flynn, Catcher, Colorful Flynn, catcher, knows how to nurse his battery mate along. This man is a good hitter, and dangerous with the willow. Local fans remember how he leaped into one in the game with Crane City and gave the ball a ride that would have made Al Capone look sick. Jones, Midland pitcher, was in the box and had been mowing Midland batters down with monotonous 1-2-3 ease. Flynn is known here as a "switch" hitter. He bats either left or right handed, to suit his convenience to the particular brand of pitching he has to face.

This is particularly disconcerting to the pitcher, who, if he expects to keep up his part of the versatility, must put his glove where the ball should be rights rest, and throw with his glove hand.

ber of young players. "They will make good, even in defeat, if the town stands behind them," Segrist, Midland manager, said this morning. "We are expecting this support. A team cannot win every game. A team sometimes fails to win a substantial number of games. Continued support on the part of the fans, however, sometimes drags the worst slump out of its doldrums and the team gets to hitting the ball with snappiness and a season is finished quite creditably."

Your Children

By OLIVE ROBERTS BORDEN

There are so many lovely stories in the world, handed down through the centuries, why not tell the children about them.

The other day I saw two children picking violets and they came out on a tiny pond with a large patch of narcissus growing near it.

The children wondered "what you called" the white flower. So of course nebbie he had to speak up and air my skimpy language:

"The ancient Greeks had a habit of including flowers in their religion. Whether they believed all their beautiful myths to be really true or not we don't know. But it was a lovely custom."

"And one of their loveliest stories is about this little flower. "Narcissus was the handsome young son of the River God, with whom Echo, a beautiful nymph of the mountains, fell in love."

"But just like a lot of good looking chaps nowadays, Narcissus liked to be run after. And he treated Echo dreadfully—would not look at her at all.

"Now Echo was a favorite of—let me see—one of the gods or goddesses, Hera or Nemesis, I think it was, who grew indignant over the whole affair, particularly when at last, worn out with love, Echo pined away until nothing was left but her voice."

"So what did Nemesis do, yes, it was Nemesis, daughter of the God of Night—what did she do but make Narcissus drink at a magic fountain which caused him to fall in love with his own beautiful image in the water."

After Careful Study—

IS it any wonder the Texas State Highway Department and many counties and cities in this great state build portland cement concrete pavements?

The Bates Road, built by Illinois Highway officials to test pavements, contained 63 sections of three principal paving materials in various combinations and thicknesses.

At the end of the tests, after 377,460 tons had passed—motor trucks gradually loaded until each rear wheel carried 8,000 pounds—only thirteen sections remained undamaged.

Ten were portland cement concrete; the other three had heavy portland cement concrete foundations.
