HOPES LAST EXECUTION IN TEXAS

Is Calm As Straps Of Chair Are Adjusted

HUNTSVILLE, April 19. (AP)—Robert Blake of Amarillo, paid with his life in the electric chair early today for slaying Fred Connor, Tulsa automobile salesman. Blake, who was 23 today, is the youngest man to die in the electric chair in Texas.

Although he had nervously paced his cell yesterday, Blake walked to the execution chamber of the state prison here with steady step.

Writes to Mother
He seated himself and relaxed as the attendants adjusted the straps. Before leaving his cell, Blake told newspaper men he hoped this would be the last execution in Texas, and expressed the belief that capital punishment tends to increase crime. His last minutes were spent in writing a letter to his mother.

Shorter Sermons At the Methodist Church, Decided

A departure from ordinary procedure in holding church services is to be initiated at the Methodist church when the Reverend Stanley Haver follows out the tendency of the new school of Christian sociological thought by making his sermons shorter and giving more time to other departments of his Sunday services.

While this practice is gaining much recognition in the North and Central states, it has not been readily adopted in Texas. Midland is one of the first cities of this size to make the announcement.

SAND BAGS HOLD BROKEN LEVEE ON MISSISSIPPI

Memphis, April 19. (AP)—Four hundred feet of the main Mississippi River levee at Knowlton, Ark., has given way, and engineers today based their hope for preventing a huge crevasse on a banquette hurriedly looped around the section.

Thousands of sand bags have been placed back of the new dirt loop to strengthen it.

INSURANCE MEN OF DALLAS LIKE PROSPECTS HERE

Carr P. Collins, president, and E. W. White, secretary, of the Southern Union Life Insurance Co., were in Midland Thursday from Dallas. This large Texas company is represented here by Hyatt, Mims and Crane, and the officials were making a trip of inspection over this territory.

While in Midland, they met many business men, attended the Rotary Club, and had an opportunity to view first hand the development of the city.

Mr. White said to a Reporter-Telegram representative, "We have known all along that Midland is a real little city. We have been watching it on the white spot of the business map, and hope that Midland's white spot will get whiter and whiter."

Mr. White left for Dallas Thursday night and Mr. Collins left this morning for other points in West Texas.

Cattlemen Tries To Carry Away a Scharbauer Chair

What promises to become an epic of the constantly changing West was enacted in the lobby of Hotel Scharbauer this week when Virgil Ray, cattlemen, was unwittingly made the object of a humorous prank.

Ray was tired, and sat down in a deep chair to rest. Soon he fell asleep. A group of cattlemen, sensing the possibilities of the man's position, "hobbled" him to his seat, and then had him page by a negro bell hop.

When Ray opened his eyes, chance took a hand by passing across his line of vision three cattlemen from a distance whom he wished to see. When he got to his feet disaster followed thick and fast.

The moral (Ray himself attests to it): If you don't have as many eyes as Argus, don't sleep in a hotel chair.

ROBERT CALDWELL APPOINTED COACH ARKANSAS CAMP

Appointment as track coach and instructor in horsemanship at Camp Markham, a camp for boys under the supervision of the University of Arkansas, and located at Fayetteville, Arkansas, has been given to Robert Caldwell, popular high school boy.

Caldwell attended this camp four years ago and won the appreciation and friendship of Dr. D. K. Markham, establisher of the camp. Since then he has attended Doc Stuart's athletic and training camp at Fort Bliss.

High school students and acquaintances of Caldwell felt that the young student has brought much notice to his school and to the town he represents.

TO DEDICATE NEW BAPTISTRY SUNDAY NIGHT

Dedication of the new Baptist church will be held Sunday at the evening service. It was announced this morning by the Rev. George F. Brown, pastor.

The new Baptist church has just been completed at a cost of $1,000, and was donated by one of the church members. It is a replica of the River Jordan, showing the three peaks of Mount Herman in the background.

A plate glass front in the Baptist church reveals the painting which was made by Miss Vena Mae Jackson of Abilene from a photograph taken a few years ago by Dr. Millard A. Jenkins of Abilene, and Bible scholars have agreed that the scene is from almost the exact spot where Jesus was baptized.

The river, in the painting, flows abruptly to an imitation water fall, and water actually runs over the rocks into the Baptist church where it can be both seen and heard from the auditorium. The Baptist church is copper lined and sturdily constructed. Three sets of lights make it possible to reveal a morning, a noon and an evening scene in the picture with startling reality.

With the installation of this remarkable Baptist church, the First Baptist church of Midland is now equipped on a par with some of the most beautiful city churches, and this work of art will be interesting to all as well as to those who worship regularly there.

A cordial invitation is extended to Midland people and to visitors to attend this baptismal service Sunday evening, Rev. Brown said. Special music will be arranged, and the entire service will be devoted to the dedication of the new Baptist church. Three or four recent additions to the church will be baptized at this service.

Haley's History Is Declared Best On Western Life

CANYON, Texas, April 19. (AP)—Said to be one of the most complete books on early day western life, "The History of the XII Ranch" by J. Evetts Haley, field secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society has just been published. The XII ranch, a tract of 3,000,000 acres, was traded to the Capitol Building company by the Texas legislature for the erection of the capitol building at Austin.

The history of the ranch tells of the early Spanish explorations in Panhandle, gives a history of the Capitol building contract and then the history of the ranch to its present era of colonization.

Interwoven in the book is the story of the development of the Panhandle.

INTEREST IN COUNTY LIBRARY GROWS STEADILY

Proof of the interest being taken in the Midland County Library is seen in a statement to a Reporter-Telegram representative by Miss Emily B. Smith, librarian, as follows:

"We are recording a phenomenal circulation for so small a library. As large as an active library four times the size of this. Hundreds of people have registered with us as borrowers and several days I have been amazed at the large number of loans made for home use. People are reading the magazines too. That the people of Midland were more than ready for a free public library is thoroughly proven by this very hearty response.

Miss Smith will write notices about the library from time to time, to be published in the Reporter-Telegram. "Although I realize that it is your library as much as anyone's and that you are just as interested as anyone else, I do want to thank you for all the nice things you have published. The paper has been a real friend always, and nothing else helps so much. Thank you for it."

The regular story hour will be held Saturday morning at 10:30.

A complete air line joining the west coast with a Dallas or Fort Worth terminal, from which connections with other lines will assure fast flying time for air mail between the ocean will be in full operation by fall, according to a letter received from O. A. Bandeen by the Chamber of Commerce.

Bandeen, who has written several letters to the local chamber in regard to the matter of an air line joining El Paso and Dallas, with Midland as the control stop intermediate to the terminals, quoted Frank H. Hitchcock, Washington representative, as a basis for the assurance of the opening date of the air mail route.

Students Get Free Rides At Airport Over the Weekend

Free rides at the airport for some fortunate students, rides for $1.50 to others, are only part of the reception planned for school children over a period beginning at 4 o'clock Friday and ending at Midday Sunday. The week-end will be given over to children of the city schools at Sloan field.

Field Manager Becherer was present at the Junioh high school Thursday and explained that he would give free rides to students whose names would be drawn from a shuffle of names inscribed on paper. The same plan will be carried out Saturday at 2:30 and Sunday at 10 o'clock.

Teachers are qualified to enter their names with their students, Becherer said.

The girl belongs to the 4-H Club and worked her garden out in conjunction with Miss Genavieve Derryberry. "This is only one of several departures from custom being done by girls in this organization," Miss Derryberry said this morning.

Letter Proves That Stock Position Not Held

A GROWING NUISANCE

One of the most serious menaces to attractiveness in West Texas towns, and Midland is not free from it, is the growing nuisance of old wrecked automobiles and other machinery dumped along the highways and on lots which must be seen by the citizens and the people passing through.

Chief of Police King Reid says that in his opinion, riding Midland of these unsightly old cars is one of the most important features of the clean up campaign.

Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce, in a letter of denunciation of the practice of dumping old machinery in that manner said: "Our West Texas towns are laying claim to civic attractiveness, and yet in many instances their magnificent appearance is seriously marred by an acre of broken up and rusty automobiles and other machinery dumped on the roadside just outside of the city limits."

"This practice of parking this unsightly junk on or near our public highways, detracts in every possible manner. It should have the frown and opposition of every man, woman and child in West Texas that appreciates the beautiful and that abhors the unseemly."

ALONG WITH THE THREE R'S

Prominently displayed across the top of the front page of the Atchison (Kansas) Daily Globe is the following line, "teach the children to read and write and to look both ways before they cross the street."

This editor has advanced a thought which all of us should have indelibly impressed upon us as soon as possible, and that is that safety is one of the foundations of present day living.

With the bustle and hurry of life, the traffic congestion in even the smaller cities, the likelihood of grade crossing accidents, and the increased number of ways in which either children or adults may be killed or maimed for life within the twinkling of an eye, it is expedient that children be taught safety measures along with reading, writing and arithmetic.

AN OLD MAN, A SMASHUP, AND A HOME-COMING

By Bruce Catton

You never know how much unhappiness rubs elbows with you on the street. Most of us move behind a veil that keeps us from seeing what is going on right beside us. Once in a while, though, the veil breaks for an instant—and then we get a look at the cruel, tragic things that can happen.

Motorists driving out of Cleveland, O., the other day on the road to Pittsburgh passed a rickety old ice wagon drawn by a mangy old horse. In the wagon were a bale of hay, two bushel baskets full of oats and a crate of live chickens. On the seat sat an old, shabby man, holding a white puppy in his arms.

His progress was painfully slow, and if any of the motorists gave him a second thought at all it was only to blame him for clogging the road. Yet every driver who passed him would have stopped to offer help if they had known the facts.

The old chap—he was past 65—was on his way to his daughter's farm, in western Pennsylvania. It was his last journey; once he reached the farm he would settle down to spend the rest of his life resting. He was very tired.

He had planned to join her for a long time. But he hadn't been much of a success, and he hated to go back empty-handed, to be a burden to her. So he had spent the past winter in Cleveland, trudging the streets to do odd jobs, saving every penny so that he could take something with him and make the home-coming look better.

The wagon, the horse and the few possessions in the wagon box were his gifts. Neither wagon nor horse amounted to much, but they could be used; besides, he could ride to Pennsylvania in them and save carfare. The hay and oats would help, too, and the chickens surely would be gladly received. Then, just to show that everything didn't have to be utilitarian, there was the puppy—a white, wriggly little terrier that any farm family would be glad to have.

So the old gentleman drove towards his home, in a drizzling rain.

A few miles out of Cleveland he met disaster. There was a steep hill, very slippery. The tired old horse couldn't make the grade—and presently horse, wagon and all slid downhill, skidded off the road and went into a ditch. The wagon was wrecked and the horse was killed.

An hour or so later a suburban police officer found the wreck. The old man was sitting on the broken wagon, still holding the puppy in his lap, crying.

It takes a little bit of the sting out of it to learn that the policeman wasn't one of the hard-boiled kind. He led the old chap to a nearby town, and dug down in his pocket for money enough to pay his fare to the Pennsylvania farm. The town's business men took an interest. They bought the wrecked wagon, the chickens and the feed for rather more than they were worth—and so, finally, the old chap continued his journey, still holding the puppy, and with money in his pocket.

We brush against situations like that every day, without recognizing them. Once we find out, of course, we're ready enough to help. But couldn't we be a little more eager to find out?

Cavern Highway Association To Meet At Anson

ANSON, Texas, April 19.—(AP)—The second annual meeting of the Dal-Paso Cavern highway association will be held here on May 3, it was announced by J. J. Steele, president of the association.

A report of the work done during the past year, the election of officers and discussion of plans for the next year were to be business to come before the meeting.

The next motorcade, scheduled to start at Shreveport and terminate at El Paso, is expected to be made sometime in July.

A couple of cattlemen drove 60 Mexican rebels into a corral and shut the gate. Instead of sending arms and ammunition to the Mexican government, why not send 'em a couple of Texas cowboys?

A British critic says the New York state is harassed by a monotony of similar ideas. And maybe it wouldn't hurt to clothe those ideas a bit once in a while just for variety's sake.

Dr. Will Durant says there is more difference between man and man than between woman and woman. We were just wondering if the same were true about differences.

Sunday School Lesson

THE SOURCE OF TRUE COMFORT

By WALTON HINDS

Heart of the lesson (Isa. 40:1-11) Golden text: "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you" (Isa. 66:13)

In our last two lessons we studied three important events: the Assyrians carrying the 10 tribes of the Northern Kingdom, Israel, into a captivity from which they were never to return; the belief of the tribes of Judah that God would not allow Jerusalem to be destroyed because He had slain the armed hosts of Semacherb before the very gates of the city; the Babylonians' later destroying the city of Jerusalem and carrying away the tribes of Judah to be their slaves.

For 50 years the Jews were to remain in this exile. The Lord was punishing them for having forgotten Him. Our lesson this week tells of how their hardships as slaves and the longing for their old homes brought them to the point where the Lord could approach them and bring them back to their former relation to Him.

Judah, was as a child that does not believe its parent will inflict punishment until it is given and at first is surprised and disappointed but later sees its wrong and the parent is then ready to advise and comfort.

We can imagine the pleasure with which Isaiah imparted his message of comfort to the people. Heretofore he had carried only prophecies of the evil doom that was approaching but now he comes with the most beautiful message in all literature. The warfare of His people is accomplished, their guilt has been absolved, and their sins sufficiently expiated. With what joy they must have received this message that came from the mouth of God.

The people were then told to prepare their hearts to receive their God and the comfort He had promised. They were reminded that their lives were subject to wither as the grass and fade like the flowers but that the word of God would stand forever.

The proclamation was that those who heard the good news first were not to be afraid but were to tell it from the highest mountain "Judah" was to "Behold her God." Who would come as a mighty power to reward the deserving and lead the people as a good shepherd would lead his flock home. Gentleness was to characterize God's leadership as He conducted them back to Jerusalem. The prodigal children had returned and their Father in Heaven was happy. They had removed themselves from Him but He had never removed Himself from them. It is the same with us today and we should draw comfort from the fact that we might forsake Christ but He says, "Lo! I am with you always."

The people of the world today are restless and dissatisfied. They are casting about for material things to make them happy and to comfort them in their moments of sadness. It is and will be the happy lot of the churches to proclaim to them in tones that cannot be misunderstood that God is the only source of comfort. All the comfort we have is not our own but we have borrowed from Him who will lend so freely if we but ask in the right way.

We can feel tenderly for another in his misfortune but it is only to the extent that we can cause them to draw near to God that we can cause them to be comforted. It is in times of greatest trouble that we go to the Lord for comfort but seldom realize that we need comfort in times when our crosses are not difficult to carry.

So concerned is God over the welfare of His people that He has commanded that time console the un-

Feasting

It's queer, so it is, By jeminy whiz, That folks just won't keep quiet. They rear and they snort And they rip and cavort Over what is the proper diet.

They tell us what food will do the most good. They know what will cause us great woe; They worry and fret And still they forget That story of long ago.

When Methuselah ate What was cooked by his mate. He never, like people do now, Figure on the amount Of the caloric count. He just sat and ate his chow.

He didn't give a fig, As he dined on roast pig. Or was served a juicy pot pie, Nor did he fear that It was lacking in fat, Or was two or three vitamins shy.

He sat and he chewed, In an untroubled mood; No doubts, no worries no fears, Least his stomach he'd hurt With a load of dessert. And he lived over 900 years.

—By Will M. Midkiff.

happy. Time it is said, can cure a broken heart.

Comfort like happiness is based on internal forces and these forces have their origin in the greatness of God. The Master taught us to say "Our Father" and bade us "come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Sydney Lanier gives us a key to the vital things of this life in his poem "Marshes of Glynn." He says, "I will lay me a hold on the greatness of God." To find true freedom and absolute satisfaction.

"The ox knoweth his owner, and the ass his master's crib; but Israel doth not know."

NEW SARGON QUICKLY ROUTED HER NEURITIS

"Sargon is the only medicine that relieved me of neuritis after suffering for six years. I would be doing my housework, and all at once pains would start in my left side, and extend up into my shoulders, and many a time I had to go to bed. Then, I commenced to suffer with stomach trouble and everything

MRS. GERTRUDE McDONALD

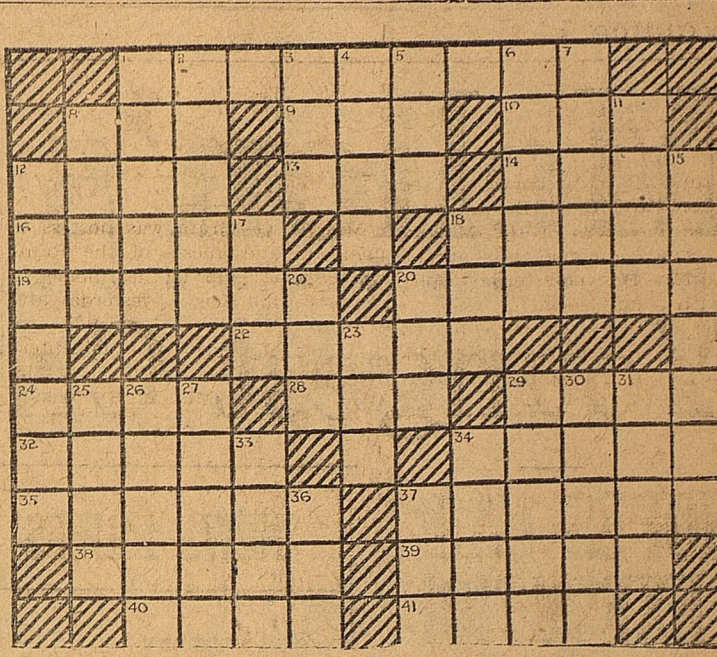

I ate disagreed with me. I had taken many medicines without lasting relief, and was so tired, worn and distressed with pain, that I was on the verge of despair. But I will never cease to be thankful for Sargon. If it had done nothing but end my neuritis, that would have been enough, but it helped me in every way, and I am feeling better than in years. I eat and enjoy hearty meals, an aching disagrees with me. Every ache and pain is gone, my strength and energy have returned, and I feel like a different woman.

"While the Sargon tonic was building back my strength, Sargon Soft Mass Pills cleansed my system of poisons and ended my constipation. I can never say too much in praise of this wonderful new treatment."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Gertrude McDonald, highly esteemed resident of 737 Melba St., Dallas.

Mrs. Grafia Hostess to Club Members Yesterday

Thirty-five members and guests of the Loyal Borean Sunday school class of the Christian church were entertained by four hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Howe Thursday evening.

Hostesses for this festive occasion were Mesdames Susie Nobles, H. H. Meeks, John P. Howe and Miss Elma Graves.

As the guests arrived they were given colorful tallies and score books and directed to tables where puzzles were placed for each guest to solve.

When the guests had each arrived all kinds of games were enjoyed, such as hearts, "42," flinch, rook, buno and others. Climaxing the evening was a "bride and groom contest," at which time each of these were selected by passing slips of paper and the two drawing the marked slips were asked to act these roles.

The guests list included the following Messrs. and Mesdames: George Ratliff, A. B. Anderson, L. A. Arrington, H. G. Bedford, W. S. Blodgett, G. W. Grennman, Lynn Butler, Van Camp, Lee Cornelius, G. The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

"Slaves of the Gods," by Katherine Mayo, is her rebuttal to the storm of criticism which greeted her former "Mother India." But with all the reviling and denunciations and insistences that she spoke but half truths in that book, combed India for only its wrongs and found them, just as one could compile a similar book by looking at the cesspools of any nation, she clings to her point, and the new book gives no jot nor tittle to her critics.

There is something rather magnificent in sticking to one's theme, no matter what the portents. Some might call it stubbornness, but I like Katherine Mayo's consistency better than the rather weak explanations, for instance, which Joan Lowell is now putting about to explain the fibs of her book. Utter denial would have been a bit more magnificent.

CANDY AND LIMOUSINES

When he found five cents' worth of candy in his sweetheart's room, and knew that the bag of sweets had been given her by his rival, Harry Klym of Brooklyn shot and fatally wounded the girl.

Human passions seems rather monotonously the same. In the same day's news some other sweetheart shot his girl when he discovered her riding in the new limousine given her by another sweetie. Five cents worth of candy or limousines, all the same! It's the principle that counts!

Meanwhile the row continues at the University of Missouri for the sociology department's distribution of a questionnaire aimed to procure the students' ideas on various debatable problems of today.

And how the kids of 1950 will laugh at all this modern to-do about sex! It will seem as silly to them as the discovery of some old archive dealing with an ancient tribe's horror at a public discussion of whether soup or bread should be served at table.

Sex is on the road to getting the casual, accepted place in life it merits, and all the calamity howlers can't stop it.

LURE OF THE ANTIQUE

The National Woman's Party, after being reluctantly ousted from its headquarters in the historic "Old Brick Capitol," which was our Capitol following the raid of Washington by the British, has purchased another historical and antique building for headquarters. The new building is said to be the oldest house in Washington, built by Lord Baltimore for his daughter in 1772, and set fire to by British soldiers in 1814.

One wonders if this craze for the old, the historic, is just a modern fad, or if our funny peas-in-a-pod brick bungalows with fancy chaises will be as prized in 2500 A. D. or long ere that?

VOL 1 HAROLD GOOCH, Editor BUSH ELKIN, Associate Editor NUMBER 11

EDITORIAL

Midland High students today finished their exams for this six weeks. Everyone is beginning to realize that "it won't be long now." Just six weeks more. Some have even started counting days, while others sit and ponder over where they would rather spend the summer.

The seniors are becoming all excited to think that in a short time they will be relieved of their worries, while the juniors look at them with envy, and repeat the same wish over and over—that they, too, were finishing.

It does seem that a few of the seniors realize that while they are leaving their so-called worries, they are leaving also some of their best chums, and, no doubt, it will only be a matter of time until they will all wish to be back again. We hate to see them go, too, but they surely won't be forgotten, because of their devoted work on the annual, which will be left behind as a kind of memorial.

—Harold Gooch.

JUANITA JOHNSON IS DISTRICT REPRESENTATIVE

Juanita Johnson, who is a junior in Midland High school, will attend the State Interscholastic meet at Austin May 3 and 4. Juanita will represent not only Midland but this entire scholastic district, in the standard oration contest.

Miss Johnson has been an entrant in the declamation contests every year since she has been in Midland. She has worked hard for her recently achieved honor. She won second place in the district meet last year and first place this year.

LUCILLE McMULLINS ENTERS NATIONAL ORATORY CONTEST

Lucille McMullins will go to San Angelo Saturday to enter the National Oratorical Contest, which is being conducted by various newspapers over the country. Miss McMullins will have only one opponent from this district. If she wins she receives a cash prize of $15, and a trip to Fort Worth, where she will compete with other district winners of the state. The prize that goes to the winner of first place in the state is $100 and a trip to New Orleans. The high school boy or girl who wins at New Orleans will be given a trip to South America.

MISS McMULLINS IS A FRESHMAN IN MIDLAND HIGH SCHOOL

Miss McMullins is a freshman in Midland high school. She is the first student who has entered this national contest.

SPANISH CLUB PRACTICES SONGS

The Spanish Club met Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of practicing two songs, "Patric Mea" and "Ramona" in Spanish. The club will meet as soon as the songs are learned and other numbers have been prepared.

GLEE CLUB SINGS AT PRESBYTERIAL

The Boys' Glee Club met at the Presbyterian Church Tuesday night to render a song as a part of the program for the Presbyterian Conference, which is being held there this week. For this occasion they sang Gottschalk's "Lost Hope," "Savior, Comfort Me" under the direction of Mr. Lackey.

SHORT STORIES WRITTEN BY MRS. BISHOP'S CLASS

Members of the senior English classes are now trying their hand at story writing. Mrs. Bishop, instructor, has had each of the students write a short story. The writer of this story gleaned the names of several of the stories which have already been written and names of those of novelistic ability (?).

They are: "Her Trip," by Beatrice Matlock; "And Behold—" by Ruth Wolcott; "Private Peace," by Imogene Simmons; "The Lights" by Ernest McKinney. There are many more, but these had not been written at the time of the inquiry. If it is possible the names of more stories will be given in the next issue of Midland Hi News.

LOOK! LOOK!

Hey! Folks! Look! A Chautauqua is coming to Midland April 25, 26, 27, and 28, under the auspices of the Midland High School.

Thursday the high school and junior high pledged two hundred tickets, and there are about one hundred and seventy-five adult tickets pledged.

The Chautauqua has very high class entertainment, including Oliver's Philippine Troubadours and several lecturers.

They will present a number of plays, among them being "The Clean Up" and the stage favorite, "Smilin' Thru."

PRACTICE ON SENIOR PLAY TO BE STARTED SOON

Due to a misinterpretation of the order, only six copies of "Just Out of College," Senior class play, were sent, whereas, there should have been twenty-six. However, Mrs. Bishop, director of the play, says that the characters will be assigned to their parts within the next few days. She has read the play over, and states that it is a very good one, containing much humor throughout. The remainder of the copies are expected to arrive soon.

SAN ANGELO MEET

Thursday noon! And all off! Cars buzzing, students yelling, windows full of lonely faces, wishing they could go! They're off for San Angelo to attend the track meet.

After many thrills, fast driving, but no accidents, all Midland cars arrived in San Angelo between four o'clock and night. Rooms were engaged at the St. Angelus Hotel so the track boys could rest. After a good night's sleep, everyone was up early Friday morning, ready to win any event that would present itself.

In the Senior girls' declamation, Juanita Johnson, of the tenth grade won first place against fourteen counties. She was presented with a medal in chapel Monday morning. Miss Kathleen Struggs kept the colors high by winning first place in the Junior Girls' declamation. B. C. Driver helped hold up the standards of the Midland schools by winning third place in Junior boys' declamation. The debaters from Midland High School, Ralph Hallman and Ford Schrock, did exceedingly well. They got one decision, tying Concho for third place. Senior boy representative, Robert Caldwell, did exceptionally well, although handicapped by drawing the place of first speaker out of fifteen.

In the track events, Rex Long took third place in the mile race. He was complimented much for his beautiful stride in the event. Robert Caldwell won fourth place in the hundred yard dash. Frank Midkiff also won fourth in the 220 yard dash. He was leading the race until he almost stumbled coming around the curve. Much is expected of him in the next two years. All other entrants also did well. The entire school is proud of the track team and its coach, Mrs. Hinds. They aided in helping Midland to hold her reputation as a real school.

"A BACHELOR'S DILEMMA" BY ECONOMICS CLUB

Six members of the Home Economics departments and one outside person entertained in chapel Tuesday morning with a short one act play entitled, "A Bachelor's Dilemma." Ernest McKinney played the part of the distressed bachelor, who, tired of washing dishes, advertised for a housekeeper. Those trying and failing at the position were Maxine Tom, Mollie B. Bagley, and Janelle Edwards.

Mary Wallace entered and proved to be the one he wanted, because she had taken Home Ec and knew what to do. When he advertised for a wife, she also filled that position. Clara Jesse would not fill the position because she was too "sloppy" when washing dishes. Dorothy Weinstein's time was spent in reading a sob scene from True Story. Maxine Tom had too much speed and to omuch gum. Mollie B. Bagley was a negro woman with a little girl who was too meddlesome. Janelle Edwards' flirtations and attention to such details as powdering and painting caused her to lose the job.

The play was presented under the direction of Mrs. Stockard and Miss Pawelek, and brought many laughs from the audience.

DR. WATTS SPEAKS AT M. H. S. CHAPEL

Dr. Watts, superintendent of the Presbyterian Orphanage at Itasca, gave a talk in chapel Wednesday morning. He told of some of his experiences with the children at the orphanage, of whom there are about one hundred. He calls them "his children."

Dr. Watts complimented the schools on its singing and quoted one incident where singing had saved bloodshed. He is in Midland for the Presbyterian conference which is being held this week.

I KNOW IT

Dear Diary:
Every one back from San Angelo and it seems as though we all had a grand time, even though it did cause a few quarrels between some couples. Boys should realize that a girls likes to have a different date once in a while and go driving in a "great big car."

Bush should have gone to San Angelo and watched Martha. She surely found her fellow and a big car too.

These Midland boys ought to appreciate us now and Madison should especially appreciate Jewel. Some one, or rather several, said he certainly got "stung" when he changed dates with Ford. It must have hit Ford bad. I found his note-book Wednesday and it had "the girls" name and address in it several times.

Eulalia has "taken on" it" recently, I believe. I have seen her with Bernice Hill's fellow. But it looks as though Marie hangs on to hers real well. If it wasn't for these oil companies keeping us girls in supply with fellows, what would we do? Of course some prefer "soda s" 8D I just can't seem to get used to seeing Archie without Janelle. I hope it doesn't last long.

Janelle has been absent for a few days I wonder if its the San Angelo trip, or because she and Archie have broken up?

Maybe it would be nice if Laura Helen would put up a beauty parlor. I'm sure Bush Elkins would keep her in business; anyway she was seen manicuring his finger nails one day this week.

Lester Radcliffe should be told what thrills he gives the girls when he passes. We nearly have to hold Ruby Hodges sometimes.

THE NOCTURNAL ORGANIST

Part III

Several nights passed; each one bringing the same notes of beauty and almost incredible softness to the ears of Dolores from the old organ. Each day increased the dreary darkness. Daily, John's worry and anxiety increased, but Dolores would never tell him of the almost spiritual sounds coming from the old organ each night.

A hot day of late August was followed by a still hotter night, and Dolores lay restless and sleepless on her bed. At last, she could stand her bed no longer. Rising lightly from the bed, she threw her little silk kimono about her and started out on the veranda. She stopped instantly, almost falling as a terrible crash occurred in the hall directly below her. She couldn't think for the terrible throbbing in her head, nor could she move one foot before her. Then, like a gentle shower after a terrible thunderclap she heard several soft notes peeling from the old organ. They seemed to soothe her shattered nerves. She collected her thoughts, hurriedly wrapped her kimono about her, as she was shaking violently, and ran down the steps, her breath coming in gasps. She stopped directly as she came in sight of the old organ. Instead of a spirit or other such being as she had expected to meet her eyes, only little Tabby was standing on the keys of the organ, terribly scared and startled by the hair-raising crash; she had caused by over-turning the vase. Dolores was so weak and relieved she could walk no farther. Tabby had been sleeping on the soft velvet cover of the organ and it was her soft little feet that caused the softness of the notes she produced each night.

"Dolores broke into a soft little laugh, which was interrupted by her father's voice from the upper hall. "Is that you, Dolores?"

"Yes, father. I only knocked over a vase as I was going out to get a little air," she replied in a now firm, collected voice.

WELLS MUST DIE IS VERDICT OF COLEMAN COURT

COLEMAN, April 19.—District Judge E. J. Miller, carrying out the mandate of the court of criminal appeals, today summoned O. C. Wells to the courtroom and formally sentenced him to die in the electric chair at Huntsville penitentiary, Friday, May 31.

Asked if he knew any reason why sentence should not be pronounced, Wells began pleading his case, asserting that he had not been properly represented at his trial and that he was convicted under an old law that had been repealed by the legislature of 1927.

Failing to stay the sentence, he asked that his body be sent to Houston for burial following the electrocution.

Wells was brought here last night from Huntsville to face the court.

J. N. Wells, brother of the condemned man, was the only relative in the courtroom when sentence was pronounced. The prisoner will be returned to prison at once.

The crime for which he was convicted was committed here the night of February 27, 1927, when J. A. Mitchell was shot and killed at his filling station and grocery store. He was tried in the district court of Coleman county and sentenced to die.

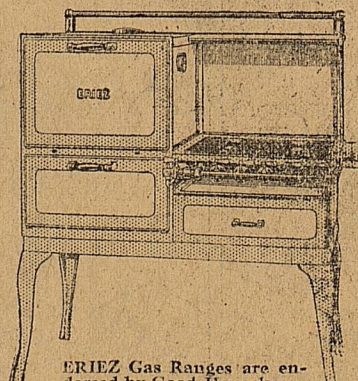

An appeal to the court of criminal appeals failed to alter this case.
