New York's Greeting to Amelia Earhart

A ride up Broadway—well, that's fine! . . . Cheerful crowds. Streams of ticker tape . . . The prospect evidently pleased Amelia Earhart Putnam as she is shown in this smiling pose at the start of her triumphant ride up New York's Broadway. But—things like that are a bit wearing on the nerves! . . . It's a rather haggard, obviously weary aviatrrix who is shown above at the end of her noisy "parade of welcome." Looks like she's glad THAT'S all over, doesn't she?

JUDGE JACKSON, CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE, HERE

A man who once "knew every man in Midland county and most of those in Gaines and Andrews," Dan M. Jackson, was "back home" today, campaigning in the interest of his candidacy for national representative from the 16th congressional district.

Jackson, a resident of El Paso for 30 years, was formerly on the district court bench and, on numerous occasions, exchanged benches with District Judge Issacs here. He had the distinction of trying the first criminal case in Gaines county, resulting from a charge of bigamy against a woman. Later, he was associated with Judge Issacs in El Paso in legal practice. Judge Issacs recently created more than a ripple of interest when, after long years as an ardent dry, he came out in a newspaper statement citing the value of the repeal of the 18th amendment.

Jackson is running on a wet platform against Congressman Ewing W. Thomason, former El Paso mayor. Jackson said in an interview here today that he has always been an anti-prohibitionist but a local optionist. He said he led a movement, together with Judge Issacs, against open saloons in El Paso in 1916, but that, with the enforcement problems and the impracticable laws, that the government should "split the profits with the bootlegger," maintaining that the unemployment situation and other deplorable conditions could be alleviated through repeal. He believes in a referendum submitted to the states, but believes the 18th amendment should be repealed first, all explaining it would be "tragic" for states to act counter to the national law.

Judge Jackson's rise has been fast. He moved to El Paso in 1904, was made assistant county attorney, was defeated in a race for county attorney in 1908, was made district judge of the 34th judicial district in 1912 and served nearly two terms, resigning in 1916 and was commissioned a major in the judge advocate general's department and still holds a reserve commission, returned to El Paso in 1920 to practice law, was appointed special assistant attorney general in Washington in 1923 and has defended the United States in suits since, and leaves the department of justice July 1.

CURTIS TRIAL IS LODGE STONE FOR CURIOUS CROWDS

FLEMINGTON, N. J., June 27. (UP)—Trial of John Hughes Curtis, charged with effecting a hoax in connection with the Lindbergh kidnaping, began in circus setting today.

Housewives, reporters and photographers jammed the courtroom.

At the prosecution counsel table, Col. Lindbergh sat chatting quietly with Attorney Schwarzkopf. Ten feet away was Curtis, talking to his daughter, Constance, 11. He and Col. Lindbergh seemed unaware of the presence of each other.

Lawyers wrangled over allowing Harry L. Stout, Flemington lawyer who allegedly consulted Curtis when the latter intended retaining him for defense, to serve as special prosecutor. The judge finally ruled that Stout could serve.

Ryman Herr, defense counsel, immediately moved that the indictment be quashed, citing 17 reasons.

INTERNAL FEUD, FOOD SHORTAGE, FACED BY ARMY

WASHINGTON, June 27. (UP)—Food shortage threatened the bonus army today as leaders attempted to end internal dissension. There was $1,380 remaining in the mess fund. ### NEW YORK DELEGATION REFUSES HELP IN TWO-THIRDS ABROGATION BATTLE

CHICAGO, June 27. (UP)—The democrats opened the national convention today in battle royal spirit. Uncertainty and fight marked the gathering which had convened when John J. Raskob rapped for order.

Governor Roosevelt of New York, hitherto believed certain of winning the nomination, now was seriously handicapped by overnight developments. The New York delegation announced that it would not support the two-thirds rule abrogation fight. A tabulation showed that Roosevelt forces lacked the necessary votes for nomination.

Al Smith forces were confident of beating Roosevelt in the fight for the rule and for the nomination. A check showed 510 not in favor of changing the rule to 403 favoring it. There were 241 votes unaccounted.

CHICAGO, June 27. (UP)—James A. Farley, Roosevelt manager, today indicated that Roosevelt forces would attempt abrogation of the two-third rules and claimed the necessary majority.

COLUMBUS, O., June 27. (UP)—Governor George White, Ohio's favorite son, announced today that he was not considering the proposal that he withdraw in favor of Roosevelt.

UVALDE, June 27. (UP)—John Garner's townspeople today abandoned business, literally hugging the radios to overhear the convention. Garner, 10, grand daughter of John Garner, and his constant companion while he was here between sessions, was the most interested listener. Another was H. P. Hornsby, Uvalde weekly Leader-News publisher, credited with first suggesting Garner as presidential timber.

CLARKSVILLE, June 27. (UP)—Relatives today relayed convention news to John Garner's mother, 85, who was confined to her bed.

Barkley Indicts the Republican Way Of Control

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY, United Press Staff Correspondent
 CONVENTION STADIUM, CHICAGO, Ill., June 27. (UP)—Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky sounded the keynote of the democratic national campaign today with a caustic attack upon the republican policies in the years of depression.

He promised a definite solution of the prohibition question through submission of a repeal proposal to state conventions.

To remedy economic evils, he urged the democratic party to work for:

Revision of the tariff in such a way as to protect American industry and agriculture and yet remove tariff barriers which foreign countries have erected against American commerce.

A program of aid for the farmer which would include an end to the present unwise operations of the federal farm board.

A program of unemployment relief which, if necessary, would include adjustments to meet conditions imposed by the "machine age" and changing economic conditions.

Federal economy which would wipe out all unnecessary bureaus, commissions and activities.

A long program of changes in the banking and financial laws.

The speech, it was understood, had been submitted to all leading democratic candidates and received their approval.

"It is manifest," Barkley said, discussing prohibition, "that a question is advisable and justified in the next direct and effective manner possible under the constitution."

He termed the republican prohibition plank a "promiscuous agglomeration of scrap-lumber."

Any plan to revise the 18th amendment so it would remain in the constitution and yet be applicable only to states which might so elect, he termed destructive "of the very nature of the constitution itself."

"In order," he said, "to obtain the present will of the American people on this subject of universal prohibition, this convention should in some reasonable manner recommend the passage by congress of a resolution repealing the 18th amendment and its submission to the people of the states through conventions whose delegates shall be chosen upon this issue alone."

He denounced the Hoover administration's financial measures as "governmental punitors" and outlined a program of changes in the banking laws including:

Revision of the federal reserve act to insure more direct contact with commercial banks and borrowers.

Restriction of the "channels of stock market operations" and expansion of those of commercial operations.

Application to investment banking of "the same quality of regulation now applied to commercial banking," including the divorce of banking institutions from stock market operations.

"Some reasonable form of workable and enforceable assurance against bank failures and against loss when failures occur."

Barkley flayed with sarcasm the farm aid policies of the administration.

The farm board, he said, "stabilized wheat for $1.25 a bushel, down to 30 cents, corn from 75 cents per bushel down to 20 cents, cotton from 15 cents per pound down to 5 cents, wool from 20 cents per pound down to 7 cents."

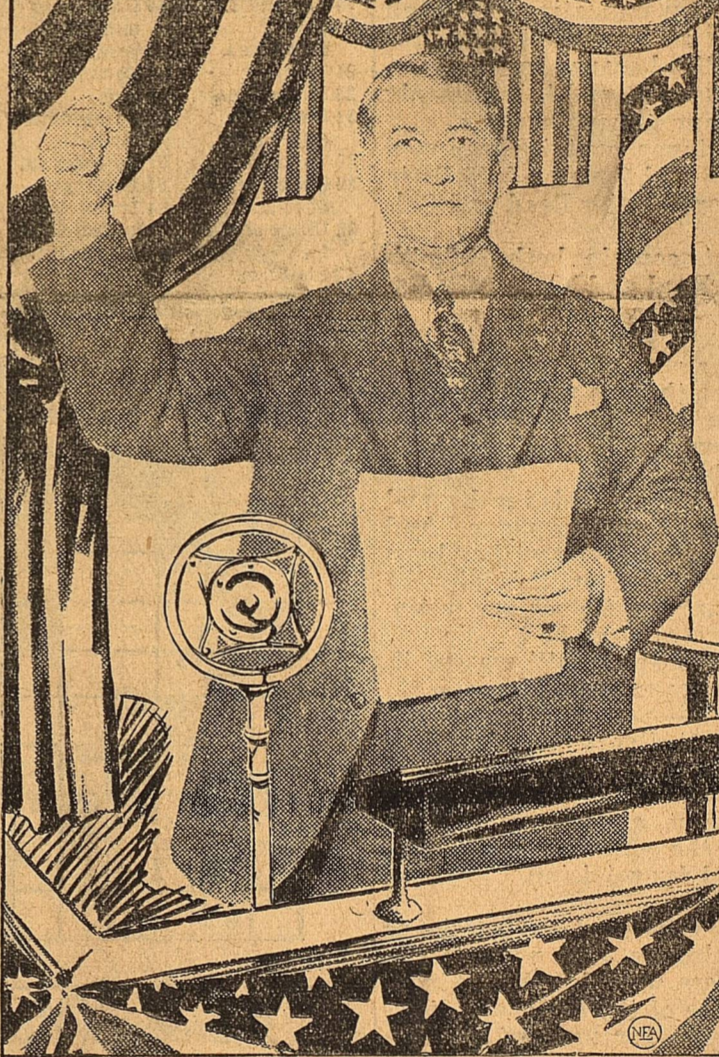

To aid agriculture, he said he felt "warranted in giving assurance" that the democrats would "attempt to remove from the shoulders of agriculture a portion of the unnatural burden which it bears."

Opening channels of trade, establishment of cooperative agencies, "through which the farmer may work out his own problems," relief of a character "so generously granted to other forms of industry and finance" and reduction of government expenses were some of the means of aiding agriculture which he proposed.

Personnel and guests will assemble on the north side of the court house at 6 o'clock sharp.

Order for the assembly was issued by Captain Sam K. Wasaff and signed by Lieut. Loskamp.

"We Point With Pride"

It is the biggest sand field well in the Permian basin, and the biggest well of any kind in southern Ward county. It came in around 2,300 feet and is 1320 feet from the NE and SE lines.

Nomination Seen Now As Impossible on First Ballot

By Lyle C. Wilson, United Press Staff Correspondent
 CONVENTION STADIUM, CHICAGO, Ill., June 27. (UP)—Democrats meet in national convention here today to name a presidential ticket, define the party prohibition policy, and seek remedies for depression.

Obstacles in the way of that important business include disputes over organization and selection of convention officials.

There is in prospect a family fight.

Inappropriately enough, these disputed points will be settled in a huge handsome stadium more accustomed to the raucous bedlam of fight crowds than to the whoopla of political balloting.

Republicans met in this stadium week before last and nominated the Hoover-Curtis ticket, which the democracy has to beat. Senator Barkley, Dem., Ky., has been assigned the stentorian duty of keynoting the democrats to victory. Joseph Shouse, executive director of the national committee, is the much-expected selection for permanent chairman.

Barkley is of the Roosevelt clan. Shouse is of the Smith-Raskob selection of the party. Barkley's vote for tariff rates in the tax bill centered upon him hot opposition by those who believe the convention keynoter should be free from the tariff stigma.

Against Shouse has developed sharper, more serious opposition. Supporters of the presidential candidacy of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt assert bluntly in the words of "Jaise" that Shouse has "crossed" them. He refused, for instance, to subscribe his speech as permanent chairman to the political editing by opposing groups commonly imposed upon such general declarations of party policy. If Roosevelt forces can block Shouse and place another in permanent charge of the gavel, they will do so.

Shouse and Barkley were compromise selections for their jobs—Roosevelt getting the former and the Smith-Raskob group the latter. The dispute over organization was unexpected and is wholly unpleasant to party leaders.

Beyond organization lies the prohibition plank which must follow its tortuous course through the platform committee to the convention floor, and finally to adoption. And there will remain after that the selection of the candidates.

The arena is ready, the pipe organ charged with air, and the hot dogs are prepared to sizzle in balconies at either end of the great artificially cooled interior. Bunting, economically non-committal on politics, bears (See FAMILY ROW page 4)

CONVENTIONS

The past 20 years have witnessed three of the most hectic national conventions in the history of the Democratic party:

1912—At Baltimore, June 25 to July 2. Woodrow Wilson was nominated on the 46th ballot, defeating Champ Clark of Missouri and Juson Harmon of Ohio. On the first ballot the vote was: Clark, 440; Wilson, 324, and Harmon 148. Clark reached his high mark on the 10th ballot, with 556 votes to Wilson's 350½. On the 46th ballot, the vote was: Wilson, 990; Clark, 84, and Harmon 12.

1920—At San Francisco, June 28 to July 5. James M. Cox of Ohio was nominated over William G. McAdoo on the 44th ballot. On the first ballot, the vote was: Cox, 134, and McAdoo, 268. On the final ballot, the vote was: Cox, 732½; McAdoo, 267.

1924—At New York, June 24 to July 10. John W. Davis of West Virginia was nominated on the 103rd ballot, after the historic deadlock between Al Smith and William G. McAdoo. It required 728 votes to nominate. The vote on the first ballot was: McAdoo, 431; Smith, 241. McAdoo reached his high mark on the 69th ballot with 580 votes. Smith reached his high mark on the 76th ballot, with 368 votes. The vote on the 103rd ballot was: Davis, 839; Smith, 12; McAdoo, 12. At Houston in 1928, Al Smith was nominated almost by acclamation.

DIDN'T GET FAR

MIAMI.—When Frank Smith, 25, also known as James Ent, was released from the Dade county jail after serving 60 days on a bad check charge, he said to Chief L. O. Scarborough: "Chief, I got a lucky break. You don't see troubled with me any more. I am leaving right now for the north. A few hours later Chief Scarborough received a call from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., police, saying that Smith had been arrested for trying to pass a worthless check for $700. He didn't get very far north.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

To be what it ought this summer, I'm afraid what with having to shoot out a few radio addresses from his Rapidan river camp.

And then there was the local schoolman's wife who went to the postoffice and bought $10 worth of 2-cent stamps to stock up before the 3-cent ruling goes into effect. By Christmas, she can use them for Xmas seals and maybe save a few cents there.

A man spanked his wife for not following his lead while playing contract bridge and now she is suing him for divorce. I fail to see where it's any worse for a man to spank his wife than for a wife to kick him on the shins while the game is in progress, and I haven't heard of so many divorces from that angle.

Robinson a Lover For Initial Time

For the first time in his screen career, Edward G. Robinson is seen as a lover, in his latest First National starring vehicle, "Two Seconds," on the Lucca theatre screen today.

Hitherto associated with either lawless or heartless characters, Robinson turns to the characterization of an ordinary human being who had more than his share of extraordinary trials and difficulties in his struggle to make his way in the world. As John Allen, hero of "Two Seconds," Robinson portrays a man who has been double-crossed by love and who, despite all his efforts to save his honor, fails. Defeated at every turn he finds himself in a thrilling climax of great dramatic intensity which is said to exceed in emotional power any of the star's past performances.

Mervyn Leroy, director of "Five Star Final" and "Little Caesar," in both of which Robinson created a sensation, in his direction of "Two Seconds" introduced many innovations in camera and directorial technique.

The large supporting cast features Preston Foster, Vivienne Osborne, and Guy Kibbee.

Hunter to Speak At B'Spring July 1

A new tax system, to replace the old, broken-down system that now exists in Texas, a system that will take some 70 per cent of the taxes off of real estate, the charge that the utility companies are taking some 70 millions of dollars annually out of Texas and sending it to the east, never to return, the assertion that utility rates can and must be reduced—these are some of the things advocated by Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls, democratic candidate for governor of Texas who speaks at Big Spring Friday, July 1, at 1 o'clock, on the picnic grounds, furthering his candidacy.

Hunter also expresses his views on the tax changes, stating that the price must be reduced to a nominal sum that will suffice for registration purposes. He assails the chain store organizations and declares they must be curbed by greater and more efficient tax and a law to prohibit foreign corporations from owning stock in domestic corporations.

Hunter says that it should be made a penal offense for any official of Texas, drawing money from the state, to receive pay from a corporation. Midland people have been invited.

"So says a director of the Bureau of Food and Drugs, and he should know."

Despite all the warnings given through the press, people continue to purchase food displayed in stores in an unprotected state. Great quantities of small cakes, candies, pastries, etc., foods that may not be cleaned by water or by thorough heating) are often set out in market places in ways which will cause them to accumulate disease germs.

If enough people will protect such displays and clamor for clean food, purveyors will have to provide protection for their wares and you have left on hand much that is stale and unsalable.

There are many ways in which foods may become germ-laden. Candies are often poured out in a window and left with no covering despite the presence of roaches, rats and mice in the store. Or they are put upon tables where children may handle them (even touch them with their tongues in some cases!).

Restaurants display pies, baked apples, and other sweet foods on counters which the customers eat, and of course, breathe, cough and sneeze directly on these foods. Customers in bakeries sometimes handle bakery products with filthy hands or even touch them with nose and lips.

It is easy to realize that such foods, coming in contact, with disease laden hands or being baptized with "sneezes and snuffles" can scarcely fail to harbor the seeds of illness.

Colds, influenza, and diphtheria are all droplet infections and may be sprayed into the air not only by sneezing and coughing, but also by

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The lesson-sermon subject was "Christian Science" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday June 26.

"When ye received the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you, that believe," was the golden text from I Thessalonians 2:13.

The lesson-sermon included the following passages from the Bible (Isaiah 29:18, 19): "And in that day shall the deaf hear the words of the book, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscurity, and out of darkness. The meek also shall increase their joy in the Lord, and the poor among men shall rejoice in the Holy One of Israel."

The service also embraced citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, among them being the following from preface p. vii:
"The time for thinkers has come. Truth, independent of doctrines and time-honored systems, knocks at the portal of humanity."

Now that speakeasies have taken the place of barrooms it's no longer necessary for the old rule to be followed.

LEADING CLUBS, HARDWAREMEN AND NEWSIES, TO PLAY TONIGHT

HARDWARE CONCEDED STRONGER THAN BELL WHILE NEWSIES ARE EXPECTED TO HAVE TROUBLE WITH METER READERS

Can Midland Hardware get crossed up and drop a game to the fast club Red Moore directs for Bell Telephone?

Will the Reporter-Telegram, the only club to date to keep right at the heels of the league-leading Nail Sackers, be able to outbat the slugger's of Andy Northington's Texas Electric outfit?

These are the unsolved questions that will draw a huge crowd to the Nocturne league's lighted diamond this evening.

Moore said this morning that his club is not rated by the fans close enough to the Hardware to do more than throw a decent scare into the leaders, but Luther Tidwell is too smart a manager to take any chances. He saw the Phonemen drop a couple of games to the Newsies last week when nothing but bad breaks were responsible, and when earned runs were in favor of the Bell boys both nights.

As for the Newsies and the Electricians, no one who has seen the Meter Readers play recently would concede the Scandal Mongers more than an even chance of this evening.

The electricians boast one of the heaviest hitting aggregations in the circuit, including the dangerous slugger, Eb Estes and Andy Northington.

activities of the farm board in mind. Barkley began his speech with a review of present economic conditions which he attributed to "a combination of politics and business in politics—a combination of ineptitude in government and the cupid-ity of a certain type of business."

He paid tribute to Woodrow Wilson, ironically told of the Harding administration as the "era of normalcy," and that of Coolidge as the "era of economy and inflation."

He blamed the abuses of the Coolidge era largely onto "the greatest secretary of the treasury since Alexander Hamilton and the greatest secretary of commerce in all history."

PLAYGROUND BATTING AVERAGES

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following figures, representing the batting averages of players in the Nocturne league, include only official games for the first quarter, which was over June 21. It is noteworthy that batsmen on clubs in the lower division are mixing it cheerfully with those of higher clubs, it being especially noticeable that Lockley Hall, a member of the tail-end Cowden-Epley Ford club, a team that has won only one game to date, stands far out in advance of any other player who has played all the games. He was batting .563, a breath-taking clip. The rest of the 10 highest men follow: Scruggs, .555; Wyatt, .444; R. Parrott, .444; Woods, .444; R. Morgan, .391; Straughar, .388 and Girdley, .381.

Twenty-eight men hit .300 or above. The figures were prepared through the courtesy of Herbert A. Rountree, league scorer.

The 10 highest men in the batting column may receive free passes to the Yucca theatre by calling at the ticket office, according to Manager John Bonner, who said he wishes to recognize outstanding men in the Nocturne league. Beginning this week, Bonner said he would give a free pass to the 10 highest batters each week, selection to be made from tabulation to run each Sunday in the Reporter-Telegram. He will also give a free pass to each man accredited on the score sheet with hitting a home run, that recognition beginning this week.

HIGHLIGHTS OF SPEECH

"We see and feel the influence of organizations, groups and of men, who a little while ago, condemned all governmental activities in the realm of business now crying out to government as the only agency of rescue left to them and to the people."

"Then came Coolidge. For six years profound silence was mistaken for profound wisdom."

"Since the enactment of the Hoover-Grundy tariff law more than 40 nations in self defense have followed the example we set by raising their own tariffs, many of them in specific discrimination against us, and our foreign trade has dwindled to a mere shadow of its former self."

"When faced with unpleasant facts and conditions that it has helped to bring about, the policy of this administration has been to cross the street or appoint a commissioner. We are the only nation in the world now living under the commission form of government."

"If there is not enough work for all the people all the time, there must be a distribution of that labor among all of them so that each may have his share according to his needs and ability and opportunity."

"We propose to reduce the expenses of this government not only for its sake and that of the people but as an example to smaller units throughout the nation. They will never be abolished by those who now operate them. A new Hercules must clean up these Augean stables."

MEXICANS AND FARMERS SPLIT TWIN PROGRAM

The Bizzell farmer nine and the Midland Mexicans split a double header Sunday at the Mexican diamond.

In the first game, the Farmers administered the only shut-out the Mexicans have ever experienced, beating them 5-0. Bill Howard led the Mexicans down with only three hits.

In the second game Juarez didn't allow the Farmers a hit, and the game went to the Mexicans 3-2.

The Mexicans play Toyah here Sunday, and have another game with the Farmers Saturday.

STORY HOUR

Stories told by Mrs. George Abell at the story hour Saturday were: "Paper of Yesterday and Today," "Plossie and Her Dog," "The Wish Fairy," and the continued story, "Miss Minerva Broadcasts Billy." Phyllis Richmond told the story, "Bertram and the Hippopotamus." Games were played by the children.

The 48 children present: Emma Marie Miessner, Lillit Rose Miessner, Leona Louise Miessner, Willie Mac Riddle, Lanelle Hudman, Claude Pruitt, Nellie Louise Patton, Ruby Inez Patton, Geraldine, Charlene and Billy Ray Walker, Billy Kimbrough, Betty Kimbrough, Louise Motyl, L. ## FARMER THRESHERS

C. R. Fryar, one of Midland's most progressive farmers, has completed reaping, shocking and threshing approximately 550 bushels of oats.

Fryar employed 17 men to help him. Four hauled, four pitched, two sacked and two operated the engine.

Fryar is the third man in Midland county to thresh others being Judge M. R. Hill and J. G. Arnett.

AIM PLANE AT TARGET

WASHINGTON.—Major Gerald E. Brower, of the U. S. army air corps, has developed an arrangement whereby an airplane can be aimed at a gunnery target. A hinged flap behind the pilot's head is raised when the guns are about to be fired and centers the pilot's head with the ship. His eyes are then focused on a small spot on the windshield, which is on the direct fore-and-aft center line of the plane.

There's a lot to it!

The right BLENDED . . . the right BALANCED

A "balanced" blend . . . the right Domestic and Turkish tobaccos in the right amounts . . . blended in a different way . . . "welded" together.

That's the Chesterfield Cross-Blend . . . an important reason why Chesterfields are milder and taste better.

It isn't just taking the tobaccos and mixing them hit-or-miss.

The Chesterfield Cross-Blend makes one type or one variety of tobacco partake of the qualities of another. It "welds" together all that is best in each variety.

It's a balanced blend in the truest sense . . . giving you what really amounts to a new kind of tobacco . . . Chesterfield tobacco . . . milder, more fragrant, better-tasting.
