Brady Defense Loses Out on First Act of Court Judge

CHANGE OF VENUE IS NOT ASKED

Prisoner Fails To Let Eyes Fall On Audience

AUSTIN, Jan. 20.—(AP)—John W. Brady, with faltering feet but proud face, went to trial today for the murder of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28-year-old state capitol stenographer, whom the state alleged Brady stabbed to death with a knife November 9.

The defense did not ask for continuance or change of venue. Brady's nine lawyers asked that the state be compelled to give them the list of witnesses who testified before the grand jury and a transcript of what they said. Judge J. D. Moore upheld District Attorney Henry Brook's objection.

Brady has so far avoided looking at spectators, one among whom is A. G. B. Highsmith, Lehlia's father.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 20. (UP)—The second appellate court judge in Texas to go to trial within six months charged with murder faced the bar today when John W. Brady, former assistant attorney general of Texas, former counsel for the state banking department and former judge of the Third Court of Civil Appeals was arraigned here.

Last November at Weatherford, Tex., a jury found former Judge R. H. Hamilton of Amarillo "not guilty" of murder in killing his son-in-law, Tom Walton, after a secret college wedding.

Brady, 59 years old, white haired and visibly aged, sat within the grimy railing of the same dingy Travis county court room where he began a brilliant public career as county attorney, prosecuting others.

Today he heard himself charged as the knife slayer of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, state supreme court stenographer.

Both were well known in Texas officials circles. They had been acquainted more than six years. It said that Brady helped obtain the young woman's court position for her. She was only half his age—a mere mite of a woman weighing less than 100 pounds.

November 9, last, Judge Brady had attended a football game between the University of Texas and Baylor University. Brady is an alumnus of Texas University, a football enthusiast and leader of rallies and student parades in celebration of victories. Friends say he had been drinking. After the game he went home. From his home in the fashionable residence section of the Texas capitol, he walked several miles to the downtown boarding house where Miss Highsmith, like many other state employees live. She was not there. Brady lingered and eventually had a fight with a roomer. The dignified Judge emerged from the fight with a blackened eye.

He remained until Miss Highsmith returned with an escort. Parking her automobile at the side of the house she came to the front entrance and met Brady. There was an argument.

Naval Millennium? Prohibition or Not On Prison Re-location Youth in Brady Trial

By E. C. Hankins

Five nations of the world meet Tuesday in what should be one of the biggest naval parleys on record in history; the wets still persist in making their frontal attacks on the ranks of prohibition; the fourth special session of the forty-first legislature meets with the problem of prison location hanging over it, and John W. Brady, former judge of the court of criminal appeals goes to trial for his life.

These are some of the headlines in the daily press, the events which are causing the wires, cables and ether waves to snap with traffic. Only a small per cent of the people possibly know much of the naval parley, relatively few Texans read of the session of the legislature, but most Texans will watch the outcome of the Brady trial, and most of the nation eagerly watches what congress will do about prohibition.

About the gathering before King George in London of naval emissaries of the United States, France, Italy, Japan and Great Britain, the five greatest sea powers, it must be said that nothing sensational is expected, possibly little of immediate value. Envoys are hopeful of cutting down the size of navies so that taxpayers of the five nations may not be drained of what should go into a better standard of living. The powers know navies will become anachronistic rather than the power behind what some seemingly statesmen refer to as the "naval millennium."

In the halls of congress, convinced that their onslaught can find nothing so impregnable as to withstand it, the wets seek to alter the administration plans for spending $15,000,000 on prohibition enforcement. Stentorian debate issues out of the classic chambers of the house of representatives as the nation's lawmakers try to decide how the Volstead act will be financed under the pending treasury-post office appropriations bill.

Whether all this sea-saw practice is necessary is not for the layman to say, but Texans are suspicious. They see something in the administration leaders of Texas which is more or less a counterpart to the Washington tangle, the administration plans for a tremendous appropriation for re-locating the Texas penitentiary. Governor Moody has gone so far as to put his foot down on any other plan, saying he will veto any measure opposed to his conception of what should be done. Opponents say the state cannot stand the expense. They point out the foolishness of building a new system on 1,000 acres of high priced land within 20 miles of Austin.

Proponents of Moody's idea cannot say much in defense, especially as it is pointed out in a separate report that the net deficiency on Jan. 15 of the state was $3,276,297. The state funds have gone into the red. Rep. A. H. King has challenged the ability of the legislature to appropriate $200,000 for prison re-location, requesting that the deficiency report be listed as substantiation.

Drama should crowd every minute of the Brady trial. A youth of 24 will prosecute the gray-haired Brady, who himself has won innumerable court battles in the very room where he must be tried for his right to live longer. A youth of only four years added age will be his only assistant. A battery of

FORMAL OPENING TUESDAY

Business Session Will Start Thursday

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(UP)—Premier Ramsay MacDonald received the naval delegates today for the final discussion of the organization and purposes of the conference preliminary to the formal opening Tuesday.

It has been decided that the real work of the conference will begin Thursday, at which time each chief delegate will present his naval limitation viewpoint.

The Wednesday session will be purely formal. Today was the first time all the delegates have been together.

KING GEORGE ENTERTAINS
LONDON, Jan. 20.—(UP)—King George received the principal naval delegates at Buckingham palace preparatory to the formal opening of the conference tomorrow.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 10.—(UP)—The Hague Reparations Conference Protocol to put the Young Reparations plan into operation was adopted and signed by the Allied and Central powers today.

The protocol must now be ratified by the parliaments of nations involved.

Midland Woman Is Forced Into Ditch
When an automobile which had just passed her on the highway slowed down suddenly, Mrs. Effie Ingram, 322 West New Jersey, had to turn into the ditch, Sunday afternoon, 7 miles west of Big Spring. The car overturned, with damages estimated at $250 to the machine and slight shock injuries to Mrs. Ingram.

The victim of the accident was enroute to Post City to visit parents and relatives. She was driving down a steep grade when, she said, a large coupe passed her and immediately slowed down so that she had no alternative other than going into the ditch.

The name of the other driver was not learned, despite the fact he stopped to render aid.

TWO LOVES FORM BASIS SERMON AT REVIVAL MEETING
Human love as compared with divine love was analyzed by the Rev. Guy Davis, evangelist of the Presbyterian Synod, in a sermon Sunday night at the Midland Presbyterian Church. The minister will continue to speak here every night this week at 7:30.

In Congress Dry Debate

They're in the limelight of prohibition controversy in congress. While Senator John J. Blaine, above, of Wisconsin, avowed the Senate with a resolution to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment as "the ultimate solution" of the prohibition problem, Senator Morris Sheppard, below, of Texas, author of the amendment, vigorously defended it and hailed prohibition on its tenth anniversary as "triumphant."

FARM PLANK IN PLATFORM BASIS MAYFIELD HOPE

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 20.—(UP)—Substitution of farm ownership for farm tenantry is one of the chief planks in Former U. S. Senator Earle B. Mayfield's formal announcement as a candidate for governor in the Democratic primaries this year, which he issued Sunday.

Let the state of Texas, he proposes, by constitutional amendment, issue 35-year four per cent farm loan bonds, to be sold only as needed and the proceeds be used in carrying out the supplemental work of the state.

He would create a "State Farm Loan Board," composed of the land commissioner, the commissioner of agriculture, and the attorney general, whose duty would be to put into effect the land settlement policy as adopted by the legislature. After making a searching investigation of the application of those who wanted to become owners of a farm, after bringing "the landless man and the landless land" together, the "Farm Loan Board" would then market sufficient bonds with which to pay cash for the land and then sell it to the farmer on 35 years' time, taking his venomous lien note in favor of the state at six per cent interest payable annually.

REFERENDUM IS OFFERED, REPEAL 18TH AMENDMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Asserting that "as an experiment, noble or otherwise, prohibition has failed," Rep. Norton, democrat of New Jersey and a wet, introduced a resolution today to amend the constitution to permit a referendum on the question of repealing the eighteenth amendment.

FRIENDS PRESENT NAME OF PRESTON FOR RE-ELECTION

Announcement of S. R. Preston for re-election to the office of county commissioner of precinct number one was made by friends today.

Preston is a seasoned county official, having served a few years ago as commissioner from the southern part of the county while living on his ranch. He was appointed later by the court as commissioner of precinct number one at the resignation of Millard Eldon.

Preston is a business man and is given much credit for the business like operation of the county's affairs.

He has also been responsible for much road building in his precinct, connecting county roads with city streets. His friends, in authorizing announcement of his candidacy, invited the close study of his record by all voters. His name will appear in the political announcement column beginning Tuesday.

Swensons Will Move To Fort Worth Soon

Mr. and Mrs. Fridolf Swenson will leave Midland for residence in Fort Worth just as soon as Swenson gets confirmation from his head office and orders from Tulsa. Swenson, a scout with Mid-Continent, will continue his scouting and also some land work with his company.

Swenson, head of the oil scouts of this territory, will work in Van Zandt and Smith counties, and probably around Abilene.

Myrl Mannschreck of Tulsa has come to Midland to take Swenson's place in the Mid-Continent office.

Swenson, recently married to Miss Leola Bigam, a teacher in the high school, is president of the Little theatre and has played several heavy roles in that organization. His wife is also a member of the play group and has taken stage parts.

Boerne Lady Dead; Son Lodged In Jail

BORNE, Texas, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Walter Smith, 21, whose mother, Mrs. Hubert Smith, 69, was found beaten to death yesterday, was placed in jail today.

The killing is said to have occurred Friday night. No charges have been preferred against Smith.

WATER SYSTEM IS HURT BY WEATHER AS LINES BREAK

Partial paralysis of the water system followed breaks in water services from the mains to water meters over the city, and a large crew of men are industriously trying to get the breaks repaired today before another anticipated norther tonight, the city hall reported.

One section of the city was as much affected by the bursting of service lines as any other. Jerry Phillips, fire marshal, said.

Much difficulty was experienced in hiring enough laborers to do the repair work. A group of idlers at the post office could not be influenced to work, the fire marshal said.

It is hoped the damage can be completed within a short time.

Christopher Pans Jones' Late Bill

LAMESA.—In a statement to the press today Judge Thomas S. Christopher, candidate for U. S. Congress from the 18th district, charged that Marvin Jones' introduction in Congress of the refunding bill for farmers sustaining loss due to the pink boll worm quarantine was a belated effort in behalf of the long suffering farmers in the quarantine district; that it was an attempt to grab off a part of his political thunder and plainly showed his insincerity of purpose or determination to aid these people.

Judge Christopher said that when the U. S. Department of Agriculture was threatening the state through its legislature with a state wide quarantine and bulldozing the sovereign state of Texas into abject submission on the quarantine regulations that Jones did not raise his voice and that no effort has been made by him for all these three years to aid this class of sufferers until he found himself seriously opposed for re-election.

Telephone Work Is Progressing

A. V. Edmondson, district manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, returned Sunday from a two week business trip in Dallas, conferring with officials of his company on plans for the new year.

Construction already approved and now under way will put the district covered by Edmondson in excellent condition for first class telephone service, he said, mentioning the fact that Stanton is to be cut over on new equipment soon, with Fort Stockton and Presidio to follow soon after.

Appointment of one Midland county census enumerator is expected to be made within the next week by C. P. Beard, district supervisor of San Angelo.

COLD SLOWS EXCAVATION

Although excavation for Midland county's new courthouse did not begin this morning, cold weather has not seriously put workmen behind in moving of wreckage of the old court building, and the lawn will be cleared in a few days.

Judge Accused At Murder Trial

When Gladys Mae Parks, on trial in Camden, N. J. for the murder of her two tiny charges, Timothy and Dorothy Rogers, dragged the name of Judge Joseph Corio, of Atlantic City, into one of many statements made to the police after her arrest, she flirted with a boomerang, it developed in court. Prosecutors branded this one of several instances of the defendant's "cold-bloodedness." Not only was Judge Corio exonerated at the time, but an effort to name a brother-in-law as a participant in the carrying off of the little bodies also was dismissed. The defense battled for hours against the admission of the accusations.

QUORUM PRESENT AS LEGISLATIVE SESSION CONVENES

AUSTIN, Jan. 20.—(AP)—A quorum of both houses was present when the fourth called session of the forty-first legislature met today.

Speaker W. S. Barron of Bryan called the house to order. Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller wielded the gavel in the senate.

A hundred of the 150 members of the house answered the roll call. Twenty-nine senators were present.

The senate recessed after the reading of the governor's call. Bob Parker was re-elected secretary.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 20.—(UP)—More than legislation is expected to be the result of the fourth special session of the Texas legislature which opened today for a 30-day run. Many believe that the end of the 30 days will find business in such conditions that additional time will be needed.

Besides legislation the session is expected to bring out some of the leading issues of the 1930 state campaign.

WEATHER FREAK IS BLAMED

Charred Bodies Are Removed From Wreckage

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—(AP)—Sixteen charred, mangled bodies lay in a morgue at Oceanside today as gruesome reminders of the crash of a giant T. A. T. Maddox air liner which was returning here with week-end visitors to Agua Caliente, Mexico.

They met death when the transport faltered, burst a big hole in the earth and plowed into flames.

COUNTRY TO TOWN ROADS

Many communities, in their enthusiasm for constructing highways, neglect the lateral roads, or commonly known county roads, leading from farms and ranches to the county seat or business center.

Midland county is fortunate in having county roads which, although not hard surfaced, provide not only a comfortable route to town, but also a fast one.

In average weather, better time can be made with safety on Midland county dirt roads than on the narrow highway. Even in wet weather, the drainage is sufficient on the well graded county roads that there are few difficult spots to drive through.

As the farm and ranch valuations increase, and more acres are put in cultivation, gravel or hard surfaces can be added to the most important roads, and Midland county lateral roads will be among the best in the state.

THE UNCONSCIOUS ARSONIST

Some millions of Americans are unconscious arsonists. This is a startling statement, and any one of the millions would angrily deny it. Yet it is true.

The difference between the man who consciously fires a house, and the man who allows wiring to go unattended, throws oil soaked rags in corners or drops his matches and cigarettes wherever he happens to finish with them, is one of law and motive, not of effect.

We are, with increasing success, fighting the active arsonist, and when he is caught he is imprisoned for long terms. The unconscious arsonist is beyond the law and destroys more lives and property than the deliberate arsonist.

Every fire hazard imperils the entire community. A fire starting in a disused garage may destroy a million dollar factory. Are you an unconscious arsonist?

HARMLESS HABITS

Are you one of the many automobile drivers who have developed careless habits?

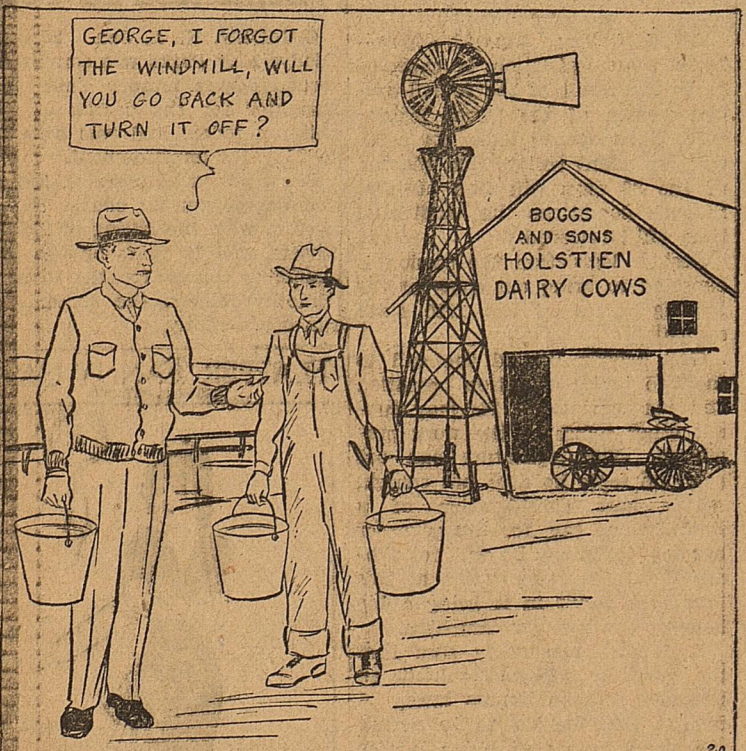

For example, take the habit of getting out of the car on the left side. It's quite natural and the easiest way for the driver. But consider what it means. That door jutting out from the side of the car, when two automobiles are about to pass alongside, makes such passing dangerous not only for the near automobile, but for the thoughtless motorist and his car.

Or take the matter of parking. Some motorists have the habit of nosing into a parking place and twisting out into the roadway in order to back into place. First of all, that is the wrong way to park a car. It's much too troublesome, difficult and time-taking. The right way is to run alongside the car ahead and back into place.

And so there are many other thoughtless habits in motoring that, on serious thought, could easily be eliminated. Just try to recall the little actions you go through in driving and try to analyze their possible consequences.

You may be just in time to prevent some serious accident.

WASHINGTON LETTER

The Hoover-Johnson Feud Breaks Out Again, and Senator Johnson Does Not Get the Worst of the Fray—An Interesting Story Behind a Presidential Appointment

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON. — Anyone who has ever seen the stocky form of Senator Hiram Johnson of California probably suspects that he would be a hard man to bowl over. And that's the way it seems to work out.

The gent who collaborated in the latest attempt to do that to Hiram have once more been boomeranged by their own petard. The major participants were President Hoover and Johnson's colleague, Senator Samuel Morgan Shortridge. There is a fourth gent involved, one with the alliterative name of Alf Otftedal, one of the best minds in the prohibition enforcement service.

Briefly, the Otftedal story is that the president, with the agreement of Senator Shortridge, appointed Alf to replace one of Johnson's political friends as collector of internal revenue in the San Francisco district and that it was found that Otftedal was a resident of Maryland and not of the San Francisco district as required by law if he were to take the plum. But it's the background of the story and the incident's place as a high spot in the long-standing Hoover-Johnson feud that make it worth a few chucks.

He Thrives on Hatred
The past presidential aspirations of Hiram have a tragic history, but as senator from California and a tough customer locally he has always thrived and still does, despite the hatred of presidents. As one of the loudest antileague senators he survived the Wilson antipathy. He fought vigorously for the Republican nomination in 1920 and was licked but survived Harding, the winner. In 1924 he made a wild, quixotic attempt to grab the renomination from Coolidge and in the primaries lost even his own state.

Coolidge didn't forgive him and Johnson received no more patronage. In fact, sometimes personally terrible persons were appointed to federal jobs in California in order to avoid taking care of any of Johnson's friends.

But Cal went and Hiram remained. The latter's feud with Hoover had been simmering along all these years, ever since he had given Herbert such a bad trimming in the California primaries of 1920. Now Hoover was out after the presidency in 1928 and in the same year Johnson was up for re-election. Well, it would not do either any good if they sank their teeth into each other at such a time, so they didn't. Hiram agreed to support Herbert and Herbert's friends loudly conceded that Hiram was a good old guy, after all.

But the Johnson support turned out to be theoretical. Apparently the Hooverites expected him to go roaring through the progressive strongholds of the middlewest for the national ticket. Instead, he stayed in California and roared only for himself. He never mentioned Hoover, although explaining that he was for "the head of the ticket" because of party loyalty.

Meanwhile, the Johnson men in federal offices maintained a sublime indifference to the presidential race and allowed their employees to wear Smith buttons. Senator Shortridge, of course, whooped as loudly for Hoover as his voice would permit. Well, you can imagine that there wasn't any more of a place for Johnson at the pie counter under Hoover than under Coolidge. The next thing anyone heard in the old

Over 27 Times Around The World Record
S-A-F-E Planes Have Flown On Schedule

The planes of the Southwest Air Fast Express, Inc., have flown 679,161 miles and carried 16,898 passengers during the nine months of operation, April 2 to December 31st, 1929. These figures as of Dec. 31, 1929, are believed to have established a record for air line operations over a similar period, when the daily schedule is considered. These records have been attained without injury to a single passenger or employee and with but one mechanical forced landing. Neither plane nor passengers were injured in this landing.

The S. A. F. E. Way Air Line operates from Kansas City through Chanute and Coffeyville, Kansas, to Tulsa; from St. Louis through Springfield, Mo., to Tulsa; from Tulsa through Oklahoma City, Wichita Falls and Abilene, to Sweetwater, Texas, for connection by train and plane to Los Angeles. It also operates a line from Wichita Falls through Fort Worth to Dallas, Texas.

Two thousand six hundred forty miles are flown daily. Fourteen-passenger tri-motored Ford planes are used, in charge of a captain and mate. This company recently took the lead in air rate adjustments inaugurating a fare of 5c per air mile over its entire system. Erie P. Halliburton, president, stated that this reduction in fare to 5c per air mile, effective January 1st, was being made for a period of 60 days in order to ascertain whether the slow increase in air passenger traffic was due to fear or to price. Records so far in January have proved that it was price, for planes have been filled and on one day, sixty-four passengers were turned away, even though double sections were run over three divisions. It has been necessary to inaugurate a system of

Mrs. Adams Hostess To Dinner Guests

Mrs. John E. Adams, 404 North Marienfield street, entertained Sunday at noon with a four course turkey dinner.

The table was laid in a lace and embroidered cloth and centered with a small pot plant. Silver candlesticks graced the ends of the table.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Virginia Adams, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Miss Janis Wilkes, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Christner, and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Adams.

Farm Women Begin New Work Program

Year books have been distributed among the farm women, according to Miss Genavieve Derryberry, home demonstration agent, and the year's work has begun in earnest.

The chamber of commerce financed the printing of the books, which contain a full program of work for 1936.

At present, intensive study is being made on yard and living room improvements. As soon as the weather permits, actual work on the outside will be begun.

JOAN CRAWFORD RUNS AWAY WITH NEWEST PICTURE TO BE RELEASED FOR 'VENUS'

Heading a list of photoplay successes at the Yucca theatre this week is the performance of Joan Crawford, screen "Venus," who in "Untamed," shows her definite yen for resolving out of the color of the tropics a bit of acting which is as startling as it is revealing.

Joan has been recognized for months as one of the finest actresses in the flickers. Her acting in "Untamed" has set the critics agog over their typewriters. There is scarcely a destructive line done about her.

The picture, which runs again tonight, begins in the meridional setting of a far tropical isolation. It ends when the siren has got her man of the metropolis of New York.

"The best picture for months," is the general verdict of those who saw the picture last night.

Six new song hits from the pens and pianos of popular composers make their debut in "Marianne," the new Marion Davies talking starting tomorrow at the Yucca theatre.

Miss Davies sings "Just You—Just Me" in French as well as English in the picture, and Lawrence Gray, who plays opposite her, voices it as his love song in the tender moments of the picture.

The picturization of this romantic comedy-drama is Miss Davies' first talking feature and marks a new sound film, as each song number fits perfectly in the dialogue and action and adds dramatic and emphasis to the spoken lines.

OLD SCHOOL CLASSES

SAN SABA.—(P)—One of the oldest public schools in this section as closed after 60 years, in deference to centralization of educational facilities. Sixty years ago a log school house was built on land donated by I. M. Harkey. Since then each term has seen children of Harkeyville, five miles south of San Saba, tralling their way to the Harkeyville school. The log house was replaced by a more modern building and that is now closed. Harkeyville children today ride a bus to a centralized school in San Saba.

Miss Myrtle McClarty left Sunday for Lubbock to join her family, who have recently moved from Midland.

The WOMAN'S DAY

Those who believe that women have done nothing with the vote since it was granted to them, and who complain that they no longer hold the fine traditions and standards of their sex, might well consider the words of Mary Agnes Hamilton, English author and Member of Parliament.

She believes that woman's contribution to politics is a new morality, and out of it is growing a new standard of conduct which is not limited to home and community, but with the socialistic ideal of responsibility to society and the greatest good for the greatest number.

"I believe that morals have improved in the last decade as they have not improved in centuries," she said, "and I believe that the emancipation of woman has a great deal to do with it."

In explanation, she pointed out that she was not using morals in the narrow sense.

"Formerly," she said, "a woman was moral if she was chaste and respectable, though she could still be as mean, petty, disagreeable, unfair and selfish as she pleased, and still keep her standing."

"Now a 'good woman' has to meet wider and more important qualifications. And in the long run society will accept only a code of morals or ethics based on sound fundamental principles."

NEW MORAL CODE

In other words, the new test for morality, so far as woman is concerned, includes obligations to fellow women, to government, and to society.

Miss Hamilton points out further that this reformation was not a conscious one, nor one instigated by professional reformers. It was merely the logical outcome of woman widening her mental and social activities and getting outside of her home.

Women today, she believes, are not trying to reform others, or are not harping on morals and social do's and don't's, but are merely adjusting themselves in a larger sphere. For the conscious reformer she has little use, because she believes that the person who is always trying to make others better seldom has the humility of spirit that goes with wisdom, or even common sense.

"Thank heaven," said she fervently, "the day is past, in England, at least, when people look on women members of Parliament simply as representatives of their

"They have even quit thinking of women as reform agencies and I think most women have got over feeling that their real mission in life is reforming the world."

PROGRESS

Women may not be doing all they should or could with their never opportunities, but no one can deny that they are becoming much more tolerant, that they have a better sense of sportsmanship, and that they are developing a live-and-let-live, and give-and-take attitude toward their fellow men.

When women take their losses and defeats with a "Well, that's that," instead of tears and hysteria, they are progressing—and they are raising the moral standard!

Kay Is a Success...Just as Her Fond Mother Dreamed

BY DAN THOMAS NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—When Kay Johnson walked on to a theatre stage, her mother saw her own ambitions realized for the first time. But even on that eventful night she never dreamed that her daughter, doing what she always had wanted to do, would some day be a shining star of the movies.

"Mother always wanted a career," declared Miss Johnson, "but her parents wouldn't even listen to such wild ideas—at least they considered them wild. Then she married my father and he refused to let her seek a career. Consequently when she learned that I had ambitions for a career on the stage she was tickled to death."

"My father was opposed to it at first but she finally won him over. I really believe that mother sees in my success the realization of her own ambitions. When she sees me work, it is just as if she were doing the work herself."

Refuting the Publicity Man That's the story Kay told me as we were having lunch in the M-G-M cafe the other day. And it proved doubly interesting in view of the fact that I had just been listening to one of the M-G-M publicity men tell the Form C yarn of how Kay's parents both had strenuously objected to any sort of a career for her since they wanted to make her a social butterfly.

Kay actually started to live her life—according to Hollywood's standard—when she stepped off the train here last spring. The years up to that moment had been merely in preparation for what this "land of promise" held. And now that the blond actress has been here for nearly a year, she is beginning to agree with those radicals who think that life begins and ends right here in this one tiny spot on the globe. Miss Johnson was born in Mount Vernon, N. Y., and spent most of her time in exclusive girls' schools until she entered the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City about six years ago. After about a year of study, she went to Chicago to play in "R. U. R." Returning to New York at the close of that engagement, she found her services greatly in demand by Broadway producers. During the next four years she played feminine leads in a number of outstanding shows, including "The Beggar on Horseback," "The Free Soul," "All Dressed Up" and "Little Accident."

play the leading role in his first talkie, "Dynamite."

"I wanted an actress who could look as though millions, a big house and scores of servants were nothing," said DeMille. "Miss Johnson had just that air about her, but when I signed her I never dreamed she would turn out to be the actress she is. When she gets in front of a camera and microphones, she can do everything with her face, and voice that Gloria Swanson used, to do with clothes. Gloria's moods often were expressed by the clothes she wore. Kay doesn't need clothes to do that."

There is a great contrast between Kay Johnson whom screen fans saw in "Dynamite" and whom they soon will see in other pictures and the Kay Johnson of real life. On the screen she is simply a beautiful girl possessing some charm. But when the mask of grease paint is removed, much of the beauty comes with it, revealing far more of her pleasant personality and charming mannerisms.

When not acting, Kay also is an athlete of considerable ability, her chief sports being tennis, horseback riding and swimming.

"I used to be a pretty fair golf player, too," she remarks, "but then I got married and my husband doesn't play golf, so I gave it up in favor of tennis."

A tip . . . from Andrew Carnegie

ASKED to explain his phenomenal success, Andrew Carnegie blandly attributed it to his ability to get men to work for him who knew more than he did.

And that's a formula for success. Nobody who is really successful does all the work himself. He employs other people's minds and efforts.

Do you do the same in the intricate business of running your home and taking care of your family? You can, quite easily.

You can employ specialists in diet; you can serve the master dishes of famous chefs; you can have the advice of style authorities in selecting your clothes, or whole electrical laboratories in buying household appliances, by reading the advertisements.

All the newest knowledge—knowledge millions of dollars and years of effort have won—is contained in the advertisements.

If you will use the advertisements in this newspaper as Andrew Carnegie used men who knew more than he did, every dollar you spend will be spent wisely, economically, and will return full measure of satisfaction. That's the way to be a success in the greatest business in the world—making a home.

It pays to read the advertisements

CHINESE BANDIT GROUPS LOOTING IN WIDE AREAS

PEIPING.—(UP)—An alarming increase in banditry in at least 10 of China's 13 provinces is indicated in reports received by foreign Legations here from their consuls.

This state of affairs is attributed chiefly to the persistence of civil war.

The consular reports state that most of the bandits are not professionals, but men and women who have been driven to prey upon their neighbors because of desperate need of food. In some of the cases reported, whole villages banded together to make raids upon neighboring villages to obtain food supplies. Such instances were reported from Szechwan, Hupeh, Kansu, Anhwei and Fukian provinces.

In several provinces—notably Honan, Shantung and Kwang-si—consular reports indicate that former soldiers grouped into well-organized bandit gangs have looted towns and villages and kidnapped persons even of moderate means for ransom. Several army commanders have not paid their troops for months, even years, and eventually the soldiers desert to become robbers.

North Manchuria has been a chief sufferer from the recent spread of banditry. During recent years, with comparative peace and order, this section has prospered, and the government had succeeded in suppressing the Mongol, Chinese and White Russian robbers who infested the area.

But the dispute with Soviet Russia has preoccupied the government troops, with the result that the bandits have become more active than ever. The 2,000-mile border between Siberia and Manchuria is out of reach of the Chinese troops, and affords easy prey for the robber bands.

STATE BONDS DUE

AUSTIN, Texas.—(AP)—Approximately $185,000 in past due bonds and past due interest on bonds held by the State permanent school fund has been turned over to the attorney general's department for collection.

While this amount is much smaller than at the corresponding period last year, officials said they would make every effort to collect the money. Hope was expressed that school districts, cities, towns and counties would pay voluntarily without necessity of court action.

When Sea Elephants Battled

This unusual picture shows firemen attempting to "referee" an unofficial heavyweight fight between two giant sea elephants in a Los Angeles swimming pool. These four-ton bull elephants, brought from the Guadalupe Islands, off the Mexican coast, began a fight almost to the death as soon as they were unloaded into the pool. Worried owners called firemen, who turned high pressure hoses on the furious animals in an effort to separate them. Finally ropes were tossed over each elephant and, with 30 men tugging away, they were pulled apart.

Wild Dog Killed After Ravaging Stock Ranges; Had Joined A Big Coyote Pack

LEGION, Tex.—(AP)—A ninety-pound Shepherd dog that "went native" three years ago and since has spread terror among livestock in this section, has been killed by a guard at the United States Veterans bureau hospital here. He was shot at long range as he returned to the hospital grounds several hours after he had killed and partially eaten a deer donated as a mascot to the hospital by the city of San Antonio.

The dog was brought to this section by a party of tourists who camped near the headwaters of Guadalupe river. He was unchained one night to give chase to coyotes and did not return to camp. A subsequent reward offered for the dog brought reports from widely scattered sections that he was seen frequently—always with a coyote pack which he apparently led.

While running wild the big canine was credited with many depredations, mainly on livestock. Game wardens also reported a large number of deaths to grown deer which were charged to the Shepherd. His kills were distinguished from those of mountain lions and others of the cat tribe because he seldom ate the vital organs from the carcass of either deer, sheep or calves.

A dog given the hospital by Mayor C. M. Chambers of San Antonio was very tame. She bedded in a scrub-oak mett within the hospital grounds which are enclosed by a ten-foot wire fence. Finding her partially devoured carcass, guards discovered where a big animal had crawled under the fence where it crosses a small gully.

Armed with a rifle, William Neul, hospital guard, took station and awaited the return of the dog to finish the deer's carcass. Just after daybreak he got the shot that ended one of the most costly careers of any wild animal in this section.

Hunters recently reported fleeting glimpses of strangely marked coyotes, much larger in size than the average. It was believed they were sired by the Shepherd. His shaggy coat was a deep tan with white markings.

STRIBLING-WOP FIGHT NOT YET DECIDED UPON

PARIS, Jan. 20.—(UP)—When a low blow sent the Italian down in their first fight at Albert Hall, the match was all over for W. L. "Young" Stribling and Primo Carnera, but not for Berry Wall and Samuel Pierce, popular sportsmen in the American colony of Paris. For them the fight has just begun.

Pierce was all for Carnera and Wall could see nothing but Stribling, and they backed up their arguments with hard cash. In the bar of one of the most luxurious of the de luxe hosteleries of Paris, they laid their money on the mahogany and asked Frank, the barman, to hold the stakes.

The odds were against the Venetian giant, so Wall gave Frank $2,000, and Pierce $1,200. The barman put the money in a bank and showed the antagonists the receipt.

The fight ended in a foul, Stribling being disqualified for two foul blows. Pierce went to collect his money, but found Wall there with an argument that the fight ended in a foul, consequently all bets were off.

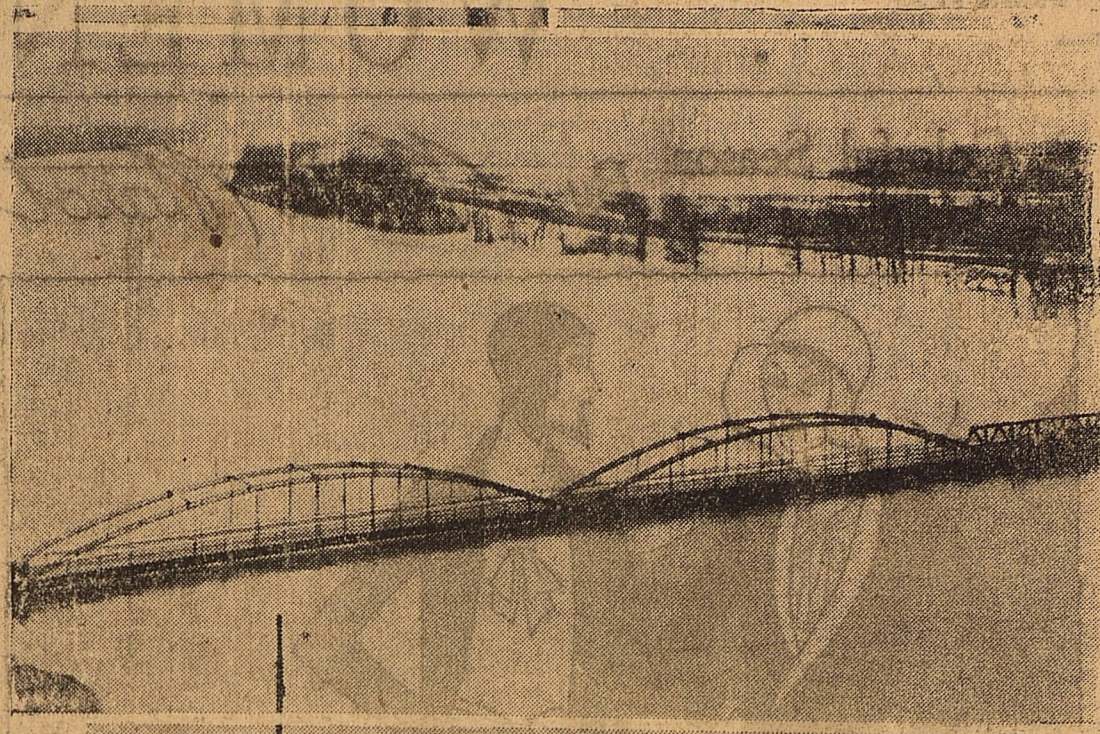

In face of the uncertainty, Frank refused to give the money to either man. "Get together, gentlemen, and come back again," he counseled them.

But Wall could not see things that way and insisted that since the bets were off, the barman must return his $2,000. Pierce forbade the barman to give back money which was the property of Pierce. Wall has gone to court, citing Frank for the return of $2,000 and 10,000 francs of damages and interests for abusive retaining of the money.

Cheating Still Is Known At Varsity

AUSTIN, Tex.—(AP)—"Cheating" still was going on recently among students of the University of Texas. Nine cases involving scholastic dishonesty were handled by the discipline committee in the past six weeks. There were six convictions and suspensions from the University.

One case involved plagiarism, in which it was claimed the student had "lifted" passages from a popular magazine and incorporated them into a theme. V. I. Moore, dean of student life, stated:

"In several of the cases of copying it was clearly apparent that students do not yet understand that notebooks should not be taken into the examination room or to quizzes.

Dean Moore said. "The discipline committee is frequently charged with 'kicking' students out of school. This committee has perhaps the hardest task of any assigned to faculty members. Then men and women who compose it study each case carefully and with due regard to the interest of the individual, as well as of the institution and the other students in it."

One year ago the Students' Assembly abolished the "honor system." Since then instructors have been responsible for all examina-

Frosh Better Than The Purple Varsity

FORT WORTH.—The freshman cage team at Texas Christian University, coached by Dutch Meyer, enjoys the distinction of being just about the best basketball team in Fort Worth, including the Frosh varsity quint.

During the first of the season the Polywogs defeated the varsity with regularity, but this was attributed to the late start of the Frogs. A few days ago a matched game was played between the two teams. The first-year men were leading by about ten points at the end of the contest.

This fact makes it hard on the varsity this year, but cage enthusiasts are eagerly looking forward to next year's basketball season, when Coach Francis A. Schmidt is expected to build another one of his wonder teams. The freshmen who have looked particularly good are Deitzel, Sumner, Brannon, Connelley, and Winters.

TEXAS U. DISPUTES ARKANSAS' RIGHT TO STAY ON TOP RUNG

BEAT PORKERS OUT, TUMBLING THEM INTO TIE FOR SECOND PLACE; TEXAS WIN SEEN

For the first time in four seasons, Arkansas university is not flying its feared flag depicting the razorback, at the mizzen mast of the Southwestern conference.

Texas university, orange horde from the Texas capital, took the Porkers into a tie with the Texas school Saturday night when a 29-27 victory resulted from the last minute rally about Sugar Camp, hot little basket shooter.

A. & M. At Top

As a result the conference changed hands. Believe it or not, A. & M. stands at the head of the column, with one game won, none lost. Arkansas and Texas stand next with a .750 average, with three won and one lost. SMU is fourth with a .667, TCU next with a .333 and the lowly Owls from Houston sitting distractingly on the bottom.

Sports writers have this and that to say about the race, but the general consensus is that, for the first time in years, Arkansas' porkers may be in for a hard winter.

Five Games This Week

The Horned Frogs broke into the victory class Saturday night, downing Rice, 33 to 21. The previous week the Frogs dropped two games to Arkansas. For a time it appeared they were going to drop another, as Rice started off well and was just one behind at the half, 9 to 10. But in the end the Purple triumphed and the Owls must forego shaves a bit longer.

At the first of the week Coach Daugherty's charges swore they would have no more until they won a conference basket ball game. Friday night S. M. U. defeated them, 34 to 28.

This week will see five games for the conference basketballers. The first games are Tuesday when the Aggies go to Houston for a game with the Owls, and S. M. U. plays Baylor in Waco.

Friday night the Horned Frogs clash with the Aggies in College Station, then go to Houston for their second contest with Rice, Texas and Baylor play in Austin Saturday night.

Arkansas does not meet conference competition until the following week. Texas University, with some fine material, was one of the favored at the start of the race. Now that the Longhorns have split even in their most dangerous series, their stock should rise. However, the Porker quotations will not fall before par as they, too, have played a bad part in their schedule and come away with two wins over T. C. U., a win and a loss with Texas. Arkansas is still very much in the running, particularly so because its road games are with the apparently weaker teams of the conference. S. M. U., looming as its strongest remaining opponent, goes to Fayetteville for its two-game series.

T. C. U. displayed a well balanced team to down Rice. The five men who started played practically all of the contest and the scoring was pretty well divided. Jake Hess was almost the entire Rice offense. He made 17 of the Owl's 21 points.

Ector county, of which Odessa is the capital, is known to be the center of the greatest and most valuable potash deposits of the world, this having been proved by government tests and it is predicted that before 1930 has passed shafts will be sunk and potash will be mined in this section.

The mining of potash at the depth found in that section will cause the expenditure of millions of dollars and will mean much to all of southwestern Texas as eighteen square miles of potash deposit surrounding the core tests made just south of Odessa are estimated at 57,000,000 tons of potash. The potential of the tonnage in sight, based on present market values, is $5,830,000,000.00.

then she has been a frequent visitor to the jail taking him specially prepared food.

A surprise defense has been predicted for the former judge. As there was no preliminary hearing and both state and defense have guarded their movements with secrecy the court was crowded to-day with those anxious to hear details of a deam which of many rumors is based on fact.

One report is that the defense will be that Brady was crazed by prohibition liquor. Under Texas law this would not be a defense in itself, but evidence of temporary insanity caused by liquor can be pleaded in mitigation of punishment.

JURY SELECTION DIFFICULT

Difficulty in selecting the jury was apparent when the panel of 147 was whittled to less than 90 at the noon recess. Exemptions and failures to qualify left many loose.

The questioning of prospective jurors is still distant. The counsel of both sides agreed that when that phase came they might find still leaner chances.

Judge Moore prepared to have the sheriff call the second panel. Ninety-three defense witnesses have been called.

Brady's counsel is headed by E. A. Berry of Houston.

Daily Market Report

Cotton market first half session comparatively very steady, under-tone impressive in general business slight and restricted, absence of outside demand, while trade awaits action of federal farm board. Opening steady, 5 to 10 lower, March in New York selling at 17.24c, May 17.43c, July 17.52c, during initial hour decline met scattered trade demand and some covering on continued unfavorable weather outlook over the belt. Fluctuations very narrow late in morning with trading almost to minimum. Weakness in Liverpool market, due considerable selling pressure from Bombay, early prices being 4 to 5 lower, as against 2 to 5 higher as due.

Fort Worth—Hogs, receipts—1300. Top 9.50. Cattle receipts—3400. All steady. Top 8.50. Sheep, receipts—1600. No sales. Bidding 12.50.

Zero Weather Fails To Prevent Big Spring Holding Annual Poultry Show

BIG SPRING.—Despite the bitter cold weather sixty pens of poultry and eight pens of turkeys were entered for exhibition purposes at the Howard county second annual poultry school and show, on Friday and Saturday of last week. The thermometer stood at zero and a few degrees above practically all of the first day of the show and birds were accepted according to the rules only until ten a. m. the opening day. The poultry was judged by E. C. Johnson of John Tarleton college and the school was conducted by J. E. Stanford, Texas editor of Southern Agriculturist. More than one hundred birds were exhibited and prizes awarded as follows:
Rhode Island Reds, young pen, 1st prize, T. M. Morgan, Colorado, Texas, 2nd, A. W. Rallsback, 3rd, Mrs. Charlie Robinson.

be no fight on it. He points out that the organizations of public officials are sincere in their announcements that they will not oppose the measure. Their members, he points out, know that the limitations the bill proposes are more favorable than might result if the bill were defeated and made the subject of a general state campaign. It is also election year and officials who seek re-election would not be helped by a general discussion of the fees some are paid.

The prison topic remains as the one likely to furnish the big campaign material. With three plans suggested by various members of the Texas prison centralization commission and Gov. Moody proposing an alternate plan of employment of convicts in road building, there is little expectation that the question will be settled at the session. In that event it is almost sure to be a campaign issue. This time it is physical surroundings, lack of reformatory opportunity and lack of medical facilities, rather than cruel punishments, that are being held up as needing reform.

A bill carrying out the suggestion of a majority of the commission for building a $4,000,000 industrial prison near Austin has been prepared by Sen. Edgar Witt of Waco.

Crane, who attended the convention of the Fidelity Union Life Insurance company, have returned. Crane answered the address of welcome at the convention.

Numerous changes are to be noted in the house of representatives since last session. The senate personnel remains the same.

Payrolls mean permanency!
Institutions with payrolls, either large or small, operating in Midland, are contributing much more to the permanent development of the city than the largest of investments which do not require numbers of employes to carry on the daily work.
Midland people will do themselves a favor to patronize institutions with payrolls which are spent in Midland. They are adding to the wealth of the community, helping to increase the population and to increase property values.
Any institution with a payroll will increase its payroll as its business increases. More employes are needed to handle a greater volume of business. These employes spend their money with other business institutions of the city, and all business is expanded either directly or indirectly.
Patronize institutions whose payrolls are spent in Midland.
