LIMA TORN BY MISERABLE WAVE

It is one of the most profound and important of exact psychological truths that the man in the mass does not think, but only feels.

PRO TEST FAILS FOR THE WETS

Senate Ratio Is Two To One; Voice Is Weak

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The first prohibition test in congress since the national party conventions yesterday showed little change from past overwhelmingly dry sentiment.

The senate turned down a bill to legalize beer of high alcoholic content by a vote of 50 to 25, stopping the beer movement for this session.

The vote sent the Bingham bill to modify the Volstead act back to committee.

Despite the platform declaration of the democratic party for immediate modification of the Volstead act, the beer advocates only mustered 11 democratic votes against the motion to refer the bill to committee.

Three Switch Votes
Three senators who previously had opposed the change voted this time with the advocates. They were Senators Fletcher and Trammell, Florida democrats, and Patterson Missouri republican.

The Bingham bill was designed to write 3.45 per cent into the Volstead act in place of the present one-half of one per cent limitation of alcoholic content in beverages.

The vote was on a motion by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, democratic leader, to refer it to the judiciary committee for a determination of the question of what constitutes an intoxicating beverage.

Debate waxed warm. Senator Bingham (R., Conn.), sponsor of the legislation, charged the democrats were attempting to dodge a direct vote.

This was denied promptly by Senator Ashurst (D., Ariz.).

Non Intoxicant
Senator Robinson said he was "perfectly willing to vote for beer that is not intoxicating" but added he did not know what that constituted.

"The motion," Bingham replied, "is merely to throw the whole matter over until the elections next November when senators will then be safely in for another six years."

Senator Glass (D., Va.), accused Bingham of conducting a campaign for re-election. He went on to say he favored submission of the question of repeal to the people, but asserted his own party's convention had no right to speak for "any congressman" senator their constituents elected."

Senator Sheppard (D., Texas), the sponsor of the 18th amendment, said before prohibition, 35 states had decided that one-half of one per cent or more made a liquor intoxicating.

"Prohibition is chiefly aimed at beer," he maintained.

On the last vote in the senate, May 25, the vote was 55 to 26, and two more senators were paired for beer. Several were absent yesterday.

Boll Worm Work To Be Continued

The chamber of commerce pink boll worm committee appointed a few weeks ago by President Marvyn C. Ulmer, was instructed Monday night to continue its work.

J. E. Hill reporting for the committee expressed the hope that further relief from the still heavy costs might be obtained this fall.

The various reports made were discussed by Marvyn C. Ulmer, Ralph M. Burton, James S. Nolan, and B. Frank Haag. The reports showed much activity in agricultural lines, particularly in producing information for farmers on insect control and vegetable canning. Other reports were on highway work and repatriation of Mexicans.

John Ringling Seriously Ill

NEW YORK, July 12. (UP)—John Ringling, upwards of 60 and the last of seven brothers who dominated the North American circus business for a quarter of a century, is critically ill in a Seagate, New Jersey, hospital. He suffers from a form of blood poisoning and both legs had to be amputated.

Depression Cause Of Men Wandering

LATROBE, Pa. (UP)—The depression carried two Pittsburg business men 312 miles off their road when they drove to Chicago, according to a Latrobe restaurant owner.

The men, stopping here for a lunch, revealed they became so engrossed in a discussion of methods of overcoming the depression that they failed to note they were traveling east instead of west on leaving Pittsburg.

Not until they reached Chambersburg, Pa., 156 miles east of Pittsburg, and stopped for gasoline did they discover they were traveling away from instead of towards Chicago.

Vigil Ended

News that James Mattern and Bennett Griffin, American round-the-world flyers, had failed when their plane went down between Berlin and Moscow brought disappointment to Griffin's wife (top photo) and his mother, Mrs. J. B. Griffin (below), pictured in their home at Oklahoma City, Okla. But their very gave way to relief with the news the two flyers were not injured seriously in the crash of their plane.

17 DEAD AFTER CLOUDBURST IN WEST VIRGINIA

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 12. (UP)—Seventeen are known to be dead after a cloudburst that flooded the narrow valleys of Paint, Armistead and Powellton creeks, near here. Three hundred houses were destroyed. One source gave the dead at 30.

Vice President Is Brand Contributor

Vice President Charles Curtis, John Held, Jr., illustrator-artist for Cosmopolitan, and Julien C. Hyer, president of Lions International, each have contributed "another page" to the collection of famed artist drawings of Midland county cattle brands, owned by Marvyn C. Ulmer, manager of the West Texas Gas company here.

"Vice-President Curtis writes Peters, 'I assure you it gives me pleasure to sketch the brand as per your request.' The M-Bar brand of W. F. Cowden, Midland pioneer and safely known rancher of Midland county, was the brand sketched by Mr. Curtis.

John Held, Jr., of New York, returned a neat drawing of the Diamond Bar brand used by Roy Parks, Julien C. Hyer, drew a free hand pen and ink sketch of a Texas thoroughbred steer and placed the figure five on its flank representing the brand used by Calreux Scharbauer.

War Vet Tries to Prove Contention

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (UP)—Joseph Barney, 92-year-old Civil War veteran, is trying to prove he didn't desert the United Army, as war records show. The records, Barney insists, are mistaken.

"I got lost from my company, the 5th Michigan Infantry," he said, "and joined another company after the Battle of Gettysburg. I was assured the transfer had been made official." The veteran is trying to collect $4,000 pension he claims the government owes him.

Fireman Fights Fire on off Day

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y. (UP)—What does a fireman do on his off day? Frank Diffenderfer, member of the local Fire Bureau, recently discovered a slight fire in his own home, on his day off.

He notified his comrades at Engine Company 4. A hand chemical was used to extinguish the blaze, which was caused by a defective fireplace.

BONUS VETS SAY FUNDS DISAPPEAR

Charge "Agents" Are Hoodwinking Public

WASHINGTON, July 12. (UP)—The bonusers began a campaign against imposters allegedly keeping money collected elsewhere in cities for the veterans. The department of justice may probe the alleged action.

Agents for the veterans have been sent to Chicago, New York, Atlantic City and Newark to probe the disappearance of funds and food that was collected for the bonus army.

Only 1,100 vets have asked for transportation money home. The government's offer for cash money to get home expires Thursday of this week.

Officials of the army claim that there are 20,000 men now camped, whereas police estimate the number at 11,000.

KANS. INSPECTOR, FORMERLY HERE, DIES SUDDENLY

A well known man in Midland in the 80's and 90's, W. L. (Lod) Calohan, chief cattle inspector of the Kansas City stock yards for the past quarter century, fell dead yesterday afternoon, according to a wire received by Joe Hogan, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association from W. B. Spiller, Fort Worth.

Calohan, who spent 42 years with the association, started his cattle inspection work at Midland in 1890. He had come here six years before. He married a Midland girl, one of the Grammar girls. He became one of the best inspectors the west ever knew and was respected throughout the whole Southwest.

Funeral arrangements had not been made when the wire was sent.

Survivors are the widow, three children, Jess, W. L. Jr. and Belle, his mother who lives at Johnson City, Blanco county, a brother, L. M. of Pawhuska, and two nephews, Tom and Ben Grammar of Midland.

BOOTLEG AND GANG INDUSTRIES ARE MADE GREAT AS NATION GOES DRY

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of four stories on the history of prohibition, made especially timely by the recent action of the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

BY BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Write
States that had had prohibition acts of their own knew about and words "bootlegger" and "speakeasy" long before 1920; but it was not until after Jan. 16 of that year, when the 18th amendment went into effect, that the words passed into the vocabulary of the country as a whole.

The illegal liquor industry seems to have got under way with no loss of time. The federal prohibition enforcement service made its first raids on Jan. 17, seizing two stills in Detroit and two in Hammond, Ind. In the first six months of that year the government seized 9533 stills.

Nevertheless, the era of the amendment began with the prohibitionists supremely confident that the law would be made effective without too much trouble.

The first prohibition commissioner was John F. Kramer of Ohio, a lawyer and former legislator. He took over his new job announcing that "the law will be obeyed, and where it is not obeyed it will be enforced," adding that his men would see to it that liquor was neither sold, nor transported over the surface of the earth or under the earth or in the air."

Smuggling First Source
At first, smuggling was the most important source.

The United States has more than 18,000 miles of border. In 1920 to prevent smuggling along those 18,000 miles it had 150 dry agents and 3000 customs agents—and the Coast Guard. It soon developed that this combined force was hardly adequate.

Booze came in by auto and truck over the Canadian and Mexican borders. At sea, especially along the North Atlantic coast, there sprang into existence the famous "rum rows"—lines of liquor laden ships (see BOOTLEG page 4)

Smith Reynolds Died From Gunshot Wounds At Hands of Unknown Figure in Drama

Courts may be called upon to decide whether the $1,000,000 settlement which Sith Reynolds, 20-year-old heir to tobacco millions, made to his first wife, Mrs. Anne Cannon Reynolds (above), and their 2-year-old daughter, fulfilled all his obligations to them. Reynolds' suicide less than two months after his marriage to Libby Holman, Broadway torch singer, has caused speculation over the settlement of his estate, estimated at $21,000,000.

Winston Salem, N. C., July 12—Smith Reynolds, heir to the R. J. Reynolds tobacco millions, met death by a bullet wound inflicted by a person or persons unknown, a coroner's jury decided here last night.

Released Pair

The jury's indecisive verdict has the effect of releasing Libby Holman, widow of Reynolds, and Albert Walker, his secretary and chum, who were held as material witnesses.

It leaves the status of the case open with the possibility the grand jury may, if it believes the situation warrants, take action.

The grand jury meets today. The verdict signed by every member of the jury, was read by Assistant Solicitor J. Eric McMichael.

The verdict was reached at 11:45 p. m., three hours and a half after the jury began its deliberations.

From Miss Holman, raven-haired Broadway revue star and Reynolds' second wife, the jury heard a sobbing story of marital unhappiness. She said her husband had suffered a lapse of virility, and often was melancholy from fear he could not hold her.

Believed Crazy at Time
Describing numerous times when, she said, he had threatened to kill himself, she expressed belief he had been crazy at the time.

Walker said Reynolds threw him his pocketbook a few minutes after a late party broke up at Reynolds, the Reynolds palatial home, on Tuesday night, and said:

"I'm going to end it all." He testified Reynolds then went to the second floor of the home and a few minutes later he heard the shot which ended the youth's life.

A sensational story of an incident involving Walker and Mrs. Reynolds while Reynolds lay unconscious in the hospital to which he was taken after he was shot was given by Miss Ruby Jenkins, nurse at the hospital.

She said she heard a commotion in another hospital room and when she went to it she saw Libby and Walker on the floor struggling to get up.

Expected a Baby
"Oh my baby, my baby," she quoted Libby as saying.

"What do you mean?" she said Walker asked.

"Don't you know I'm going to have a baby?" she said Libby replied.

Walker told the torch singer, an attendant testified, to say nothing of her testimony.

After hearing its two principal witnesses and getting details of the Tuesday night party, which was given in honor of the 21st birthday of C. G. Bill a Winston-Salem friend of Reynolds, the jury went to the scene of the shooting to inspect it. The inquest was held in the Reynolds home.

After visiting the sleeping porch where Reynolds was shot, the jury ordered Libby and Walker held until the Reynolds home.

Tales of heavy drinking by Libby came from the guests at the party. Lewis S. McGinnis, municipal airport manager and one of the guests, said he saw her to have an affair with another because of his inability to make her happy.

"No, no," she cried, "I told him my love for Reynolds was too great to be impaired by any one thing."

The 26-year-old widow lost all of her composure when she reached the point in her testimony of telling of alleged impotency of young Reynolds.

"On the Monday night preceding the shooting early last Wednesday Reynolds, she testified, became so worried about her happiness that he said definitely he would take steps to break up the marriage for her sake."

"Oh, such agony. Oh, God," exclaimed Libby, sobbing.

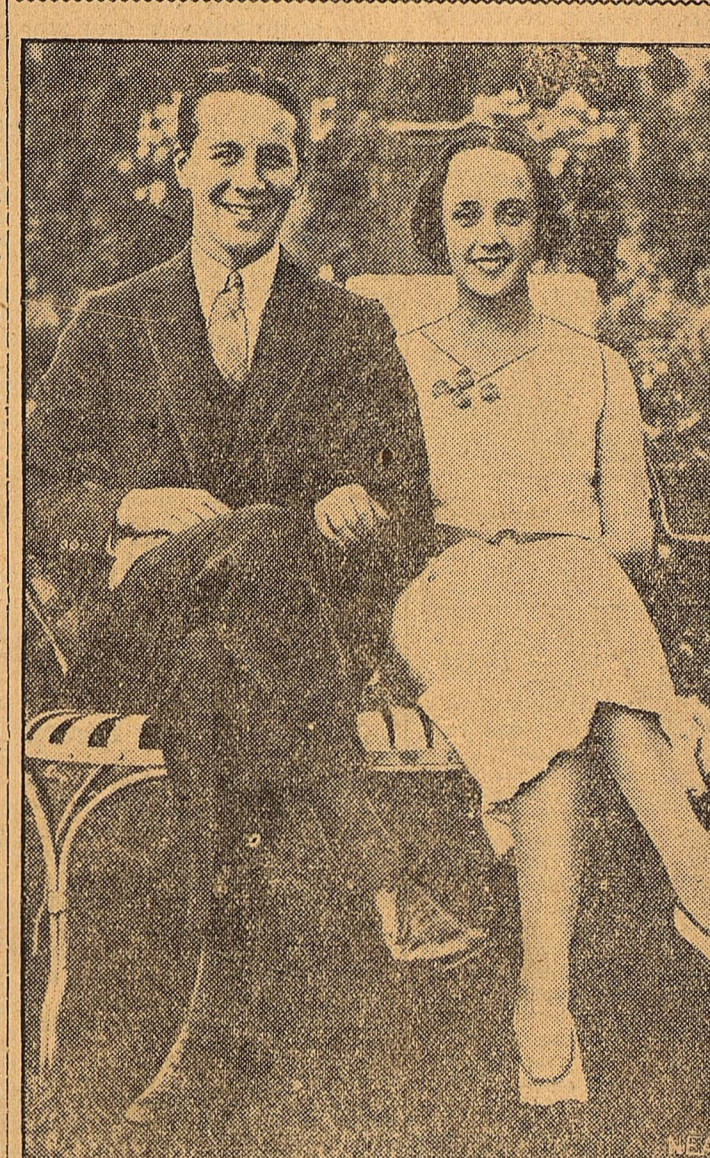

"Buck up," said her father, Albert Holman, Cincinnati. "I can't bear it for you. I wish I could."

Also Walker
Libby was subjected to a searching examination as to what she had said of Walker, who was with her and secretary to Reynolds, 20-year-old multi-millionaire. She wore sandals and no stockings.

She said she met Walker last summer on Long Island where she and Smith had residences.

"I saw him then and on a visit here in October, but I never saw him in my life except when Smith brought him around," she testified.

Firestone Heir And Pretty Faincee

Obviously too happy for words, Leonard K. Firestone, third son of the time magnate, Harvey S. Firestone, and his fiancée, Miss Polly Curtis, New York Junior League, are pictured here in the garden of the Firestone home in Akron, O. Their wedding will be an event of the fall. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Euryo Curtis, of South Orange, N. J., and Brookfield, Conn.

LUBBOCK MINISTER DISCLAIMS ANY RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE OUSTING OF DR. GRANBERY, TECH TEACHER

AUSTIN, July 12. (UP)—Dr. A. P. Brogan, University of Texas, professor, is to request an out-of-state probe of the Granbery case at the Texas Technological college. A group of university professors favored this action after the Association of University Professors asked Brogan to investigate the affair.

LUBBOCK, July 12. (UP)—Rev. R. C. Campbell, pastor of the First Baptist church here, whom Dr. John C. Granbery, Tech professor, partly blames for his being dismissed from the faculty, has disclaimed any responsibility for such.

The minister once charged that atheism was being taught at the college.

"I don't know what connection my charges had with the dismissal. I was inclined to accept the college board's statement," the minister was quoted as saying.

The Lubbock minister was in Midland two days following his sermon of indictment of Tech's curriculum and instructors. He declined to elaborate on his charge, but said a "tempest had been stirred up in a teapot," explaining that he knew specific instances of atheism being taught in the school but did not believe the school's entire faculty was impregnated with atheism.

He praised the school and its head, the late Dr. Horn, and said the religious faiths of West Texas should do everything possible to keep a high standard there.

Victims of Pick Handle Improved

BAIRD, July 12.—Improvement was reported last night in the condition of Ed Alexander, prominent Callahan county ranchman, his wife and 10-year-old son who were seriously injured Sunday noon by Jim Alexander, brother of the ranchman, who beat the three with a pick handle. Jim Alexander, who was on furlough from the Wichita Falls state hospital, was returned to the institution yesterday afternoon.

The injured persons are in a Baird hospital, having been brought here shortly after the attack, which occurred at their home three miles north of the city. The child, most seriously hurt of the three, was reported showing marked improvement last night and his recovery is expected.

The attack began as the family group sat on the porch playing checkers. As Ed Alexander stooped to pick up a checker that had fallen on the floor, Jim Alexander reached for a pick handle lying nearby and without warning struck his brother on the head. He was rendered unconscious by the blow.

Wielding the cudgel, the man then pursued his own small son, who also was staying at the ranch. The lad fled into a pasture and escaped.

Witnesses Relate a Tale of Horror They Saw

LIMA, July 12. (UP)—Reports of murder, lynching, looting and arson during the occupation of Turujillo by communist and Apra party rebels were brought here by witnesses of the Federal troops' recapture of the city.

Civil guards were stripped and lynched in public squares. The dead and wounded filled the streets. Two young daughters of Pedro Lariva, Turujillo prefect, were murdered in their father's home. Many prominent citizens have been reported missing after the rebel evacuation.

AMELIA PLANS A SEA-TO-SEA SPEED ATTEMPT

LOS ANGELES, July 12. (UP)—Weather favoring, Amelia Earhart planned to leave here this afternoon at 2 o'clock for New York on a non-stop flight.

The noted flyer hopes to lower Lieut. Commander Frank Hawk's record of 18 hours, 21 minutes and 59 seconds for the popularly contraed flight.

She will use her transatlantic plane.

Will Explain How To Avoid Typhoid

There is more importance in widening the construction of a modern toilet than in building a barn or adding another room to one's house, an official seeking to influence the building of more sanitary out-houses in Midland county's rural districts said today.

Ben L. Grimes, an official of the health department, immediately began work in Texas last year and he wishes to exhibit as the most sanitary type known. The Midland health board is at work trying to get a large percentage of the population, especially Scharbauer, into adopting this method.

Fourteen thousand such out-houses were built in Texas last year and the estimate on how much typhoid and other diseases were forestalled was interesting. In one place in East Texas it was estimated that 2 per cent of the population contracted typhoid due to poor toilet sanitation.

The toilet will be exhibited from 9 until 12 Thursday morning.

Says Colakmul Has Mile-Long Church

A religious temple more than a mile long seated in a jungle that is so dense that one can see it only by a close watch from the air.

That is Calakmul, a Mayan ruin in Guatemala, explained Dr. Lee Jones of Georgia Tech. He was in Midland a short time this morning en route to the Olympics. It was only last winter that he was with an exploration party that came up on the ruins while another party was engaged in studying them. He said a whole army of natives had to take their axes and cut a path for the explorers through the dense jungle.

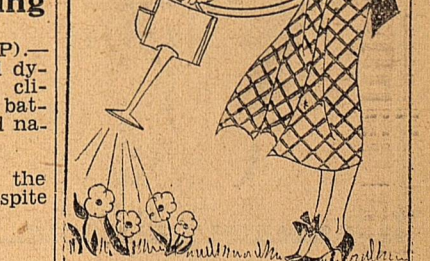

Imposing buildings, plaza, statues and art work are at Calakmul in profusion, and it is one of the most beautiful ruins he has ever seen, Dr. Jones said.

THE RISKY YACHTS

Deep-sea racing in ocean yachts, if it be a pleasure confined largely to those who are comparatively well to do, is by all odds one of the most exciting and enjoyable of all summer sports.

In the recent sailboat race from Montauk Point to Bermuda there was a striking example of this. A schooner yacht carrying eleven people caught fire, apparently from spontaneous combustion in the rope locker, while some 80 miles off Montauk Point.

Fortunately another yacht appeared in the nick of time and saved all but one of the eleven aboard the burning craft. But if fate had been a little less kind all eleven might have been lost.

It was really tragic about little Susie, don't you think? She wanted to be a school teacher but she had no class.

I once saw a chorine on the Majestic circuit who had so much of the aforementioned class that she had the hoop dizzy. She admitted she had kept Broadway swooning for her allotted contract period.

Reporter-Telegram Story at the Yucca

Machinations of political corruption in the courts of justice are used as a background for the gripping drama in "Night Court."

Heading the strong cast is Phillips Holmes, playing the role of the taxicab chauffeur whose bride is framed and jailed on a morals charge because she discovered evidence of the judge's graft spoils.

Walter Huston as Judge Walter Huston is cast in the part of the crooked magistrate who finds himself arraigned before his own court on a murder charge.

Anita Page negotiates her first straight dramatic role as Mary, the chauffeur's wife. She recently played in "Are You Listening?" and "Sidewalks of New York."

Lewis Stone is assigned the characterization of the presiding jurist who is slain because of his crusading activities. Jean Hersholt is the tenement janitor. Noel Francis is the judge's paramour.

Directed by W. S. Van Dyke W. S. Van Dyke, who screened "White Shadows in the South Seas," "Trader Horn," "Tarzan" and other recent film hits, directed the daring new feature, combining the terrific drama of the plot with the touching romance between the young couple who find themselves unwittingly in the center of a maelstrom of graft and corrupt politics.

Candidate for His Second Full Term as Railroad Commissioner

Mr. Terrell is asking for a second full term on his record, which is in part as follows:

During his term of office, the Commission has turned back into the General Revenue Fund more than $600,000.

They have tried more than fifteen thousand cases, with only four reversals, a record unsurpassed by any similar body in the United States.

Mr. Terrell was the first state official to use the half time job plan, thus helping a number of boys and girls through school, who could not have gone otherwise.

He has never indulged in a mud slinging campaign, believing that "One can never elevate himself by trying to pull the other fellow down."

When Mr. Terrell was elected to his first full term, which he is now serving, he carried 234 of the 256 counties in this great State, which was a large majority over his two honorable opponents.

Only a few of the many things which Mr. Terrell has accomplished can be mentioned, due to the limited space. However, it is believed that his faithful discharge of public duty in the past is the best guarantee of a promise to perform a like service in the future.

NEWSPAPERMEN EMERGE FROM SLUMP AND HAMMER OUT 13-1 DECISION IN AFFAIR WITH HOKUS-POKUS GROCERY

Midland Hardware took its second fall of the season last night, when United Dry Goods sluggers hammered out a 5-3 decision.

The first half winners might have eased up or they might have just been unable to do anything with Adamson's fast, inside ball. At any rate, the club has been winning too regularly not to have a ball night somewhere ahead.

The losers collected only three hits, and made four errors. The winners hammered out 11 hits. The game was fast, played in 50 minutes.

The Reporter-Telegram, working smoothly for the first time since a long-drawn-out slump hit it, had an easy time with Hokus-Pokus, scoring 13 runs while Gemmill allowed the Grocerymen only four hits. The Newsies hit safely 14 times, every man on the club getting at least one bingle.

Games tonight include Bell Telephone and Petroleum Drug at 7, Texas Electric and Ford at 8.

Vaudeville at Yucca Tonight

The Yucca management has arranged for an added attraction for theatre goers tonight. The stage bill is comprised of two vaudeville acts, presenting a routine of somewhat different to any attraction playing here for a long time. Loreta and Rakoma introduce the show with a novel act of hand balancing. They are billed throughout vaudeville circuits as the world's greatest hand balancers.

side of territorial waters, which transferred their loads to smaller boats for the trip ashore. For a time this went on in amazing proportions. By 1924, however, Congress recognized the Coast Guard, spent $13,000,000 to equip 20 old navy destroyers for its use, and built a large fleet of small, fast boats.

THREE WOMEN, 2 MEN HELD AS 5 BANK ROBBERS

CROCKETT, July 12. (UP).—Three women and two men, all of Houston, are being held here in connection with the robbery yesterday of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank at Grapeland.

Officers believe that the prisoners belong to a gang perpetrating several recent holdups, including the Harrisburg robbery. Sheriff J. L. Hazlett said he did not believe the prisoners took an actual part in the holdup but that they were implicated in the flight.

A recheck showed that the Grapeland bank lost $1,710.51.

do not have to have your parents' consent in Michigan.

The final marriage opportunities of the 20-year old youth came in Pittsburgh, she said, the Sunday before the ceremony.

After the wedding, according to her testimony, they went to a hotel in Toledo, Ohio. Reynolds left on his trip shortly thereafter and she continued acting under her contract until last February, and met Smith in Hongkong in April. They returned to America the following month, she said, and the marriage was announced.

She said she met Walker last summer at Port Washington, some time before the marriage.

She said she was fully advised at the time of Smith's martial troubles with the former Anne Cannon, Concord, N. C., textile heiress, and of his divorce. She denied he asked her to marry him before the divorce had been granted.

Referring to one occasion when she said young Reynolds had sought to make a will in her favor, but was prevented from doing so because he was not of age, her voice broke.

"I did not want him to make a will," she sobbed.

She declared she would rather it had become necessary for him to get a job and get rid of the curse of the money!

She said Reynolds had a gun all the time because he had expressed fear she might be kidnapped and held for ransom.

TRIO FINISHED

Three wells in Glasscock county that had been making oil for some time were completed last week.

The largest, Schermerhorn Oil Co.'s No. 5 Rumsey, Abrams and Fraser, pumped at the rate of 1,328 barrels hourly on a six-hour production test, the last three hours' gauge being used to compute the potential. Earlier the well swabbed 40 barrels of oil hourly for 12 hours.

The first pay was topped at 2,155 feet and drilling stopped at 2,500 feet. Location is 669 feet from the south line and 1,980 feet from the west line of section 13, block 33, township 2 south, T & P Ry. survey.

In the Phillips-Coffee pool, Kirby Petroleum Co.'s No. 1 Baker pumped 27 barrels of pipe line oil hourly.

while Chicago bears ominous rumors that the lesser gang leaders are shortly to begin a new war, or series of wars, for control of the absent monarch's kingdom.

Nowhere else did the gangs ever become as notorious as in Chicago. But every large city had them, and there is no city, even a large city, which has known its "beer wars," in which the leaders of a rich and flourishing business settle their disputes with guns because the business has no legal status.

On Home-Made Basis As the first decade of prohibition passed, the illegal liquor trade grew more systematized. Different localities developed their own sources of supply. Smuggling became less important in the general scheme of things, especially since Canada had tightened up on the laws which govern exports of liquor from the Dominion.

The government's efforts to cope with the traffic changed, too. General Andrews, plain-spoken and industrious, was the first to present a really comprehensive enforcement program—in 1926; and although Congress failed to give him the legislative changes he had asked for, it did, in that year, vote to put prohibition agents under civil service, to separate the Prohibition Bureau from the Internal Revenue Department, to increase the Prohibition Bureau's appropriations and to build new boats for the Coast Guard.

At first the beer-running and whisky distributing business fell into the hands of fairly small neighborhood gangs. But organizers were not waiting, and three or four years after prohibition had begun Chicago had been divided into two parts, each provided with its booze—and on the other unlawful pleasures it desired—by a powerful gang.

The North Side was in the hands of a group of plug-uglies captained by the tough youngster named Dion O'Banion, who ran a florist shop as a blind. The South Side was controlled by Johnny Torrio's gang, of which young scar-faced Sielhan named Al Capone was chief lieutenant.

The fight seemed to be about over by the end of 1930, with Al Capone practically supreme and most of his opponents occupying garish coffins in various cemeteries. A year later, however, the federal government struck at the gangs through the income tax law, and today Capone is serving time in Atlanta prison.

TOMORROW: The rise of prohibition as a political issue.
