Landing for Fuel Prevents Amelia Making Hop Record

19 HOURS TAKEN BY AVIATRIX

Had Hoped to Break Hawk's Non-Stop Speed Flight

NEWARK, July 13, (UP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam arrived here at 12:17, eastern standard time, 19 hours and six minutes after taking off from Los Angeles last night. She failed to set a transcontinental record because she was forced to stop at Columbus for refueling.

CALOHAN RITES ARE SAID TODAY AT KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, July 13.—William L. "Lod" Calohan, six foot two and bowlegged from years in the saddle, committed more than 15,000 cattle brands to memory to outfit cattle rustlers.

But cattle thefts virtually ceased and in his last years as a brand inspector practically all of the average of 500 steers he recovered yearly for owners were merely mixed up in shipping.

"Lod" died Monday at 65, a victim of the heat at which he had laughed as a cowboy on Texas plains. He collapsed at the Livestock Exchange where he was employed by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, and died in a hospital. Funeral for Calohan will be held at 3:30 o'clock today here.

"You can't learn out of a book what I know about cattle brands," Calohan once boasted. "That comes from an experience of—well, if I tell you how many years I've been learning about cattle brands you'll say, 'how did I am.' But this reading of cattle brands and knowing them is just like reading A B C to me. I know cattle brands like a brakeman knows the numbers on his box cars."

He also knew 500 different cowboy songs—and whistled and sang them all to the same tune. "Lod" was the typical cowboy of the old days with an ability to spin homely yarns of his experiences. Chief of these was the one about opening the porches of four freight cars of "wild" brush goats from down Pecos way," which were being taken to Kansas City. "Lod" did the opening because the weather was hot and he "got to feeling sorry for those goats."

The next morning "Lod" had the surprise of his life.

As he told it: "I looked out ahead over the train and it was white with goats. Those hundreds of goats had climbed up through the port holes during the night and leaped from car to car, had distributed themselves on the roofs of the box cars the whole length of the train. It looked like the top of the train had been strewn with popped corn."

"As soon as the train stopped we tried to corral those goats, but having been raised in the wild hill country of Southwest Texas, was pro trick at all for them to leap from one track to another, and in a half hour they were on the tops of cars all over the yards. It was too far for them to jump to the ground. It took us four hours to capture those goats and load them back into their cars."

Rotarians and Guests Picnic

Rotarians, their wives and friends will indulge in a chicken barbecue at Cloverdale Thursday evening, at 7:30, this meeting taking the place of the club's usual noon luncheon.

Committees are preparing an elaborate supper. A surprise program, expected to be a "knockout" in comparison to their present day current events, is being perfected by the program committee.

Charge of 50 cents for adults, with children admitted free, has been announced.

PRINCIPAL DISTANCE HORSES OF MIDLAND TO COMPETE OVER 3-8THS DISTANCE IN JULY 23 RACE CARD

Turf fans are promised a race of unusual importance on the afternoon of Saturday, July 23, when the two principal "distance" horses of Midland compete for three eighths of a mile. The heat will be short by a quarter of a mile from the race usually run by George Keith, belonging to Gerald Bloss, and will be probably an eighth short of the course believed to fit L. E. Cook's Billy B, although some believe he is good for the five eighths or longer.

Jack Rabbit Big As Man Is Shown

An amateur photographer, Dewey Dale, wittingly or unwittingly happened onto a remarkable parallel, his friends say. A giant "Hoover pig" a West Texas jack rabbit is every bit as big as a deer, is shown in a photograph hanging from a great mesquite tree with a man, reduced to a mere pigmy in comparison, standing beside him about to plunge a knife into its carcass. To complete the oddity, the man with the knife is named John Garner. He lives in Midland.

PROTESTS OF BUDGET ARE NONE

Budget Unanimously Adopted by the City Council

An open hearing on the 1932-33 budget of the city of Midland conducted Tuesday by the city council failed to draw a single protest from citizens. The budget was unanimously adopted by the council. Figures compiled by J. C. Hudman, city secretary, in a detailed and comprehensive survey of the city's probable income and certain expenditures, reveal a reduction of almost exactly 50 per cent in cost of operating the city for the fiscal year 1932-33 as against the fiscal year 1930-31. The figures further show salary costs reduced 66 per cent. The salary reduction includes savings effected through discontinuance of some jobs, as well as reductions to those officials retained. The budget shows the city to be operating now on a cash basis and through continued loyal support of citizens through proper tax payments, the city will remain on a cash basis and continue its drastic program of economy with the people's money, officials declared. The report prepared by the city secretary and approved by the council shows the city in excellent financial condition, and the compliations show this state of affairs will be maintained through prompt payments by citizens to maintain their city.

BONUS VETERANS REINFORCED BY MORE ARRIVALS

WASHINGTON, July 13, (UP)—Several hundred Oregon veterans, headed by a bugle and drum corps, this morning reinforced 700 vets who camped last night on grounds near the capitol building. The veterans announced intentions of staying on the capitol grounds until they received the bonus. Major LeRoy Johnson, as "Mr. Zero" of the Manhattan bread lines, addressed the vets this morning, advising that supplies were coming from New York. He implored the men to stay in the capitol camp. "Success is just about here," he said. A meagre breakfast was served on the capitol grounds.

BONUS CAMP GETS PERMANENT ASPECT

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Two months after 800 jobless World War veterans started from Portland, Oregon, for Washington, the "Bonus Expeditionary Force" of 15,000 men is rapidly solidifying into a permanent institution. There has never been anything like it. Spread over a square mile of the Anacostia river flats, this vast conglomeration of tents and shacks is assuming more and more each day the aspect of a city. The more thousands and children of wives and families have established the "home life" of the city. A baby has been born there. Either one of two veterans have piled in and brought on by manhandling. There has been a murder of a B. E. F. guard who died defending camp supplies from marauders. More and more, this strange gathering takes on the aspect of a city within a city.

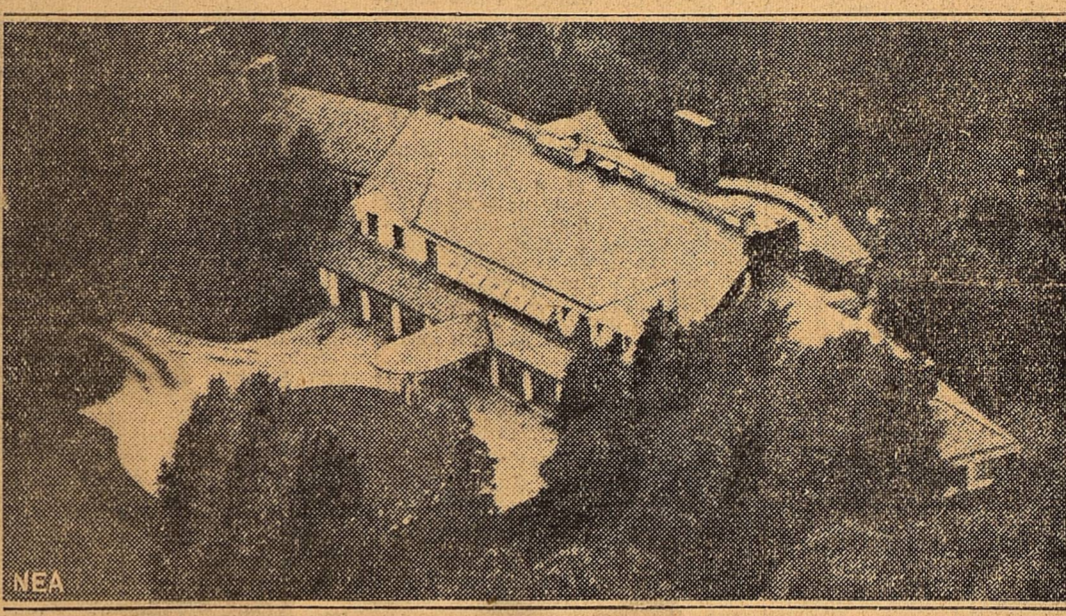

Food, Shelter Vary

Built of discarded lumber and sheet iron, some of the "homes" are shacks and others display great ingenuity. The scene is duplicated in miniature on vacant government-owned lots, while other veterans have piled in condemned or abandoned buildings, sometimes in spite of protest. Food varies in the different areas and camps because many of the contingents are receiving supplies from their home towns. But in the general mess at Camp Marks, the large Anacostia camp, it has been poorer and thinner. The thousands who pile into those long lines twice a day have subsisted contentedly on coffee, mush, bread, beans, spaghetti, Mac and cheese, and sometimes a little meat, but now they seldom know where the next day's chow is coming from. Foraging parties go out for food and trucks scurry over the highways to other states where they think it may be forthcoming, but it usually arrives in small, inadequate quantities.

Paper Is Published

Three or four hundred women and children are with the army—600 if you prefer the official figures of the B. E. F., which places its strength at 21,000 persons. When local officials sought to evacuate women and children into safer, more comfortable quarters, many wives refused to go and stayed with their husbands in the sea of mud which Camp Marks becomes during any hard rain. Where Death Struck Youthful Heir to Tobacco Millions

Mysterious tragedy has cast its shadow over this house. It was the home of Smith Reynolds, youthful heir to tobacco millions, who was found fatally shot on his bedroom balcony, and of his bride of three months, Libby Holman, the former Broadway "torch singer." Winston-Salem, N. C., police sought to unravel the mystery of the shooting.

ENGLAND, FRANCE PERFECT TREATY BETWEEN SELVES

LONDON, July 13, (UP)—Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, announced in the house of commons that England and France had reached a cordial agreement on outstanding economic problems, incorporating a candid exchange of views, keeping each other mutually informed on European questions, cooperation to find a disarmament solution that would be beneficial and equitable to all powers concerned and with other interested governments in careful and practical preparation for a world economic conference. Pending negotiation at a later date of a new Anglo-French commercial treaty, the two will avoid actions discriminating against each other, Simon said.

Unknown Candidate Is Supported by a Lions Club Talker

In a humorous campaign address, Aubrey S. Legg, district manager of the Texas Electric Service company, today urged Lions to support the candidate of their choice for the state senate at-large, place O. He outlined three shabby planks of his friend: 1. a dry plank, 2. cancellation of all charters of all Texas corporations above $1,000, 3. support of state ownership of all utilities of every nature. Legg said the senator-at-large is for a dry plank because of the employment situation; inasmuch as bootleggers and enforcement officers would be out of jobs in case of the country voting wet, and the revenue to the state from liquor would be great. As to the candidate's support of cancellation of corporations, he explained that this plank resulted from the belief that all corporations are trusts and monopolies. "For example a certain railway, just consider," he pointed out, "it pulls the cars of another company with its own engines, thereby showing the companies are in cahoots. Corporations are also under-occupied, paying 82 per cent of the state taxes and not letting the average man pay his share. They also increase valuation of property, littering up the landscape with good roads, great buildings and other stumbling blocks and objectionable features."

Crowds to Inspect Outhouse Thursday

Inspection of the publicized sanitary pit toilet being constructed at the third railway crossing east of Midland, 12 blocks east and a half block south, by a large crowd is expected between the hours of 9 and 12 Thursday morning. The building is being erected by the health department of the state in hopes of influencing building of such outhouses throughout the state. It claims that health conditions are improved vastly through such provision. Ben L. Grimes built the outhouse and will explain its construction. Clarence Schabana paid the cost of erection. The Midland county health board cites the importance of getting many people to inspect it.

WOULD BE REYNOLDS' ONLY HEIR

Deduction Taken in Secret Testimony Of Unipress

CINCINNATI, July 13, (UP)—Libby Holman returned this morning to the home she left ten years ago when, as a Cincinnati university co-ed, she began her career which led to Broadway and her marriage into the wealthy Reynolds family. WINSTON SALEM, July 13, (UP)—According to a transcript of secret testimony obtained by the United Press today, Libby Holman testified that she believed but was not certain that she was to bear an heir to the Reynolds estate. The Reynolds tobacco millions. Any child borne by Libby Holman within ten months after her husband's death could claim a part of the Reynolds estate. Libby told a jury on July 8 that she had thought she was approaching motherhood since June 25. Detectives, pursuing an investigation today, attempted to learn why three persons searching the room where Reynolds was killed had failed to find the gun until five hours later and why Libby's bedroom slipper was beside the bed of Albert (Ab) Walker, friend of Reynolds. LIBBY, FRIENDLESS, RETURNS TO HOME WINSTON SALEM, N. C., July 13.—Mrs. Reynolds, who six weeks ago arrived here as the bride of Smith Reynolds, tobacco fortune heir, stumbled to the steps of a passenger train Tuesday afternoon and began a 16 1/2 hour journey to her Cincinnati home. She left as a widow, sobbing before a crowd of curious. Meanwhile, Sheriff Transou Scott announced his investigation of the mysterious death last Wednesday of the 20-year-old husband was not closed. Coroner's Verdict A coroner's jury attributed the death, which came just after a gay party, to persons unknown. No member of the Reynolds' family accompanied the widow, Broadway favorite singer of blues songs, to railway station. Supported and comforted by her father, Alfred Holman, Cincinnati attorney, her mother, and a sister, Mrs. Myron Kahn, she arrived at a station in Cincinnati. "I know it was suicide," Holman declared with vigor, adding that he meant he was as certain of it as he could be of anything he had not actually witnessed. He referred to the "horrible suspicion" raised by the inquest proceedings, asserting Libby's distinct was to "protect" that she was "the tenderest girl in the world," and positively could do no harm to anything. Was Held as Witness Mrs. Reynolds was held in custody at the home as a material witness from Friday night until the jury reported its verdict at 11:45 o'clock Monday night. Albert Walker, a chum of her husband, was held in a similar status but as a prisoner incommunicado in the county jail. Miss Blanche Yurka, actress, New York, who was a house guest of the Reynolds and attended the party Tuesday night, was ordered by the coroner's jury to hold herself at its call, but she was not re-examined at the open session. On the same train went C. Raymond Kramer, Flushing, L. I., who came south a little more than a month ago to coach the young tobacco heir in elementary mathematics.

Ruth Chatterton to Change Mates

Now it's Ruth Chatterton, one of the screen's most popular stars, who's to have a new husband. George Brent, who was engaged as Miss Chatterton's leading man six months ago in "The Rich Are Always With Us," has announced he and Miss Chatterton will be married as soon as she and Ralph Forbes are divorced, probably in August. Forbes is in Reno now to seek the decree on the grounds of "incompatibility." Miss Chatterton and Brent are pictured above.

ODESSA PLANS BIG NATAL DAY CELEBRATIONS

ODESSA, July 13.—Final arrangements have been completed for Odessa's 46th birthday celebration August 4 and 5. The rodeo and race meet is to be held on the new rodeo grounds just north of the city on Highway 137. Both days at noon there will be a free barbecue, just inside the rodeo grounds. The program starts at 1 p. m. each day with the famous "jackrabbit-rope contest" in which there are more entries than the one held on Memorial day. Golf roping, cowboy's steer break-away, stampee, bell calf roping, bulldogging, bronc busting, cowboy steer riding, cow pony racing, cow girl races and a complete racing program to follow will constitute the afternoon program. In addition there will be a rifle match held under the auspices of the Odessa rifle club each morning. Swimming, golfing, baseball and tennis contests will be staged each morning, a number of surrounding cities sending teams to participate. Each evening there will be a dance held at the American legion hall. An old-timers and cowboys dance will be staged Friday night, August 5.

There's a big difference in age and how it affects people. One of the older men on our force made a 510 mile trip, taking three days for it. Two of the younger men left here after work Saturday night, returning in time to be at work Monday morning, and had covered 933 miles.

Looks like the democrats are not so wet after all, when it comes to actual law making. When the beer bill came up and was voted down in the senate Monday, only 11 democratic beer votes could be found. My idea of a dry democrat who falls to support the party this year is that he hasn't looked around much. Maybe I didn't read the republican platform closely enough to get its real meaning, but I failed to see where a dry plank was offered.

FOOTBALL BROADCASTS

Collegiate football, at least in the east, seems sure to come in for a certain amount of de-emphasizing this fall. A dozen of the most prominent eastern colleges have agreed not to permit their games to be broadcast by radio; furthermore, there are indications that the leading middle western colleges will follow suit.

That this step will have the effect of deflating, at least slightly, the frenzied publicity which is attached to intercollegiate football seems obvious. However, it must be noted that that is not the reason for the step.

The colleges want their gate receipts. Fearing that many prospective customers will stay at home if they can hear descriptions of the games over the radio, they have decided to abolish broadcasting. That is all there is to it. A real effort by the colleges to minimize the importance of football still remains to be made.

Yucca Stage Show Offers Variety

Les Bartlett's "Flashes of 1932," which opens at the Yucca for a three day engagement tomorrow night, is said to offer the greatest array of diversified entertainment of any company booked this season.

Stephanie Brown and her Personality Girls, are of course, the big flash, and it is said their ensembles and routine numbers rival the finest stage shows of the southwest. Leroy and Mack fairly make your spine tingle in their rapid fire Adagio dance presentation. Mary Stuart is said to take the house down impersonating Helen Morgan. Stephanie Brown, herself, adds novelty of a new and fascinating variety in her Mexican folk dances. As a buck toe dancer, Juanita Culbreth ranks with the smartest stage affords. One of the sensations of the show is Mary Francis, acrobatic dancing genius.

When there are John Roberts the crooning troubadour and Norma DeForest, rumba dancer. Little Rita Joan Brown, the song and dance prodigy is said to be worth the entire price of admission. Chief Wilson's name has flamed in electric lights on the front of many of America's biggest theatres. He is a former featured comedian who has won White's Scandals. Les Bartlett, aside from managing the show, is a trooper that triumphs in every appearance. Such is a brief resume of the stage entertainment arranged by Manager John Bonner for Yucca patrons on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of this week.

Mary Estes and Offie Walker Married

The wedding of Miss Mary Estes and Mr. Offie Walker of Midland occurred Sunday at high noon, in Carlsbad, New Mexico, the couple returning here early this week.

The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. M. Weldon, pastor of the First Baptist church of Carlsbad, at the pastor's home. Miss Agnes Eastham of Midland accompanied the couple to Carlsbad.

The bride has lived in Midland for the past six months being on the staff of the local Western Union telegraph office. Her former home was Maryville, Louisiana.

Mr. Walker, manager of the Willis Truck & Tractor company here, has lived in Midland for a year and a half. He resided in Odessa a short time prior to that, coming to West Texas from Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker are making their home at 1001 West Storey.

Ice Cools Down Heated Organ

FINDLAY, O. (UP).—Four large cakes of ice solved a perplexing problem at Findlay College and permitted the use of the college pipe organ for the commencement week concert of the college orchestra.

The extremely hot weather recently, which sent the mercury above the 90 degree mark for two days, raised the pitch of the pipe organ. Those in charge of arrangements for the recital had given up hope of using the musical instrument for the concert until Glen Knkel, college custodian, made the suggestion that ice be placed around the organ.

Two hundred pounds of ice were ordered and placed around the instrument the day preceding the concert. In the evening the pitch was back to normal and the organ was used for the concert.

Cobbler Carves Own Wooden Leg

O'NEILL, Neb. (UP) - During the depression, Clark Hugh, 78, who only has one leg, couldn't afford to buy a wooden leg. Hugh hobbled into the cobbler shop of Eli Hershisser and told Eli his troubles and his difficulties around town. "I'll soon fix that," the cobbler told Hugh. He picked out a good solid cedar fence post and whittled out a wooden leg for Hugh. Hugh has thrown away his crutches.

PLENTY OF BOBBLES IN TUESDAY NIGHT GAMES

TESCO AND TELEPHONE BOYS WIN ENCOUNTERS IN NOCTURNE TUESDAY EVENING; MAKE-UP GAME THIS P. M.

By HERB ALLEN ROUNTREE

Texas Electric and Bell Telephone copped in the home stretch last night from Cowden-Epley and Petroleum Drug. Errors were glaring in each encounter, making the difference in routs and good tight games.

Bell outscored the Pharmacists 4-3, but the Electricians took advantage of 10 Ford errors to chase across a 14-5 win, scoring five of their runs in the first inning.

Newton's issuance of four free passes made the position of the Pill Rollers shaky more than once. Doc Ellis, skipper of the skeets, was walked twice by the Bell hurler, Smith.

Cowden-Epley played the ball too fast, accounting for bobbles as a result.

A make-up game this evening will feature Bell Telephone and Hokus-Pokus. Play will be called promptly at 7.

Powerful Drama At Yucca Today

A powerful drama of circumstances which turned the home of a happy married young couple into a bedlam of tragedy is told in "Night Court," at the Yucca theatre today.

The story, which is based on recent disclosures of political corruption in courts of law, depicts the web of intrigue and injustice which enriches a young taxi driver and his wife when they unwittingly become involved in the "private life" of a well-known night court magistrate.

Phillips Holmes is featured in the cast as the taxi driver; Walter Huston plays the crooked judge, and Anita Page has the most dramatic role of her career as the frame-up victim.

The dramatic material on which the plot is based leaves room for a wide variety of powerful episodes.

Bonus Vets--

Army rank has been designated for individuals placed in authority and they demand army style obedience, without the salute. Each camp or area has its own commander and subordinate officers and its numerous "M. P.'s" over all, in a small building labeled G. H. Q., rules Commander-in-chief Walter W. Waters. Orders go forth by runners from Waters and his general staff.

The B. E. F. News, eight-page tabloid official weekly newspaper, had a circulation of 50,000 for the first edition and 15,000 for the second, its editors say.

That organ advances the expressions you hear from the men—that this is a fight on behalf of the unemployed and poverty-stricken, a protest against a government which gives "billions to bankers" and "nothing for the humble people who face privation and misery."

Police Sympathetic

The Washington police have had a hectic, worried time, but Superintendent Pelham D. Glassford and Captain Sidney Marks long ago became heroes with the men. Camp Marks was so named after the captain, having told the men five or six weeks ago that there were trucks ready to take them all 50 miles from Washington and having been laughed down in a night hoot, said: "Well, so far as I'm concerned, I don't want to see you leave. I hope you stay here and I hope you get your bonus."

Glassford worked strenuously to provide early arrivals with food and shelter. But as hundreds became thousands he recognized the futility of that and worked harder than ever to raise money and supplies, even paying hundreds of dollars of his own while trying to figure out ways and means of persuading the B. E. F. to leave. He served as the army's treasurer until donations virtually ceased. At one time he proposed in despera-

HIGHWAY AUDIT COMES IN FOR NEW REJOINDER

AUSTIN.—Statements of a gubernatorial candidate that the report of an audit of the state highway department is being suppressed, and that a shortage of $100,000,000 exists in the highway department funds, were challenged by State Auditor Moore Lynn this week.

Lynn said:

"The statements being made on behalf of one of the candidates for governor to the effect that the audit of the highway department has been suppressed and that there is a shortage of one hundred million dollars in the highway funds are too utterly ridiculous to be worthy of consideration. Statements of this kind are based either on a lack of information or a contemptuous disregard for the facts."

"In view, however, of these unreasonable and unwarranted attacks that are being made on the highway department and the state auditor's office by the spokesmen of the candidates for governor, I think it is only fair to the people that I should make some statements in regard to the audit of the highway department which is now being made by the state auditor's office."

"This audit was authorized by the regular session of the 42nd legislature, and an appropriation was made for the cost of the audit to be paid from the state highway fund, which was supplemented by additional appropriations made by the second called session. At the end of the year 1931 practically all of the special funds appropriated for this audit had been expended. At that time many very important special investigations already begun were far from complete. For this reason the work has been carried on since the first of this year by the auditors paid out of the regular appropriations for the state auditor's office. In view of the many other audits and investigations continually being carried out by our office, the work of completing the audit of the highway department was slowed down to a great extent since the first of this year by the special appropriations which were expended."

"The report on the highway audit when completed will be filed with the proper officials and the legislature in the form of a printed report containing several hundred pages. In the meantime the state earliest arrivals spent a night in the rain at Anacostia without blankets or other covering.

But now the astonishing little shacks and lean-tos continue to spring up as the dumps and building wreckers of the city are raided for discarded tin roofs, pasteboard cartons, iron coils, rusted automobile tops and whatever else seems durable. Husbands sent for wives and kids. One large community and many minor communities have been established and every week sees this strange community more deeply and permanently entrenched.

AT THE LIBRARY

A new book on the rent shell is "Ellen Terry and Bernard Shaw; A Correspondence." The publication of this collection of Terry-Shaw letters is an event in the literary world. They are brilliant, romantic and tender, revealing two gifted people in the intimacy of a friendship that existed only in letters, for Ellen Terry and Shaw seldom met. When the correspondence began she was the outstanding actress of her generation and he, several years younger, was a music critic with his playwrighting career still before him. The letters are packed with the theatre gossip of 30 years and not the least interesting feature is the side light on the Irving and Shaw controversy.

RETURNS TO HOME

Mrs. Seth Ingham and daughter and Mrs. Ingham's niece, Harriet Carlock, of Lubbock, have returned to Monahan after a visit in Midland with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ingham.

JUST BOOKKEEPING

BOSTON.—A report came to police headquarters that a woman was found dead slumped under the steering wheel of an automobile. Patrolman William Twomey was sent to investigate. He found the woman to be very much alive. Here's his report: "She was figuring up her accounts and had her head down close to the wheel where the ledger was resting."

11-Inning Fiasco Here Cleared In An Answer by Sportswriter of Questions Put to Him by Third Base Umpire

By HERB ALLEN ROUNTREE

One of the most interesting controversies from a standpoint of unsurpassed behavior of two playground ball teams in a ball game here the other night finds solution in the answer of The Star-Telegram sports writer to questions put to him in writing by Ben Dublin, third base umpire during the game in question.

United Dry Goods and Petroleum Drug were trying to resolve a deadlock in an 11-inning game. From the questions and answers reproduced below the fan may be enabled to figure for himself what happened—but the sports editor makes no attempt to understand how such a startling array of boners could be pulled by anybody and everybody concerned.

"Please answer the following questions relative to interpretations of baseball rules, all of which came up here recently in the same game."

Dublin wrote:

"1. Runner on third is approached by the coach while time has not been called but while the umpire is engaged in a discussion; the coach, standing in running path while base runner has one foot on third base, places an arm around runner and whispers instructions; should umpire call runner out on account of interference of coach?"

"2. Runner on base and pitcher in act of windup and delivery of ball to batter, loses grip and ball slips out of his hand, rolling toward the home plate; what should be the ruling of the umpire? A claims it is a wild pitch and should be called a ball and runners take all they can make. B. claims it is simply a balk and runners advance one base.

"3. Last half of eleventh inning and score was tied, with the bases

That's why more and more Smokers are changing to Chesterfield every day

WHEN you are smoking a lot of cigarettes every day, you naturally want a mild cigarette, and smokers try Chesterfields and find out that they are milder and taste better.

Then smokers tell other smokers—"one smoker telling another"—that they find that although they smoke a great many Chesterfields during the day, they never tire of them; and that they have found out that Chesterfield is a milder cigarette, that it is a cigarette that tastes better, that it is a cigarette with a most pleasing aroma.

Some time ago, in a Chesterfield advertisement, there was a statement, "A $90,000,000 Reason," and this means that the larger part of $90,000,000 is invested in the right kind of ripe, mild Domestic and Turkish tobaccos to make sure that Chesterfields are milder and taste better.

May we ask you to try them?
