"Blind" Flight Start In Texas Heads for Capital

BALDONNEL AIRDROME, Irish Free State, June 24. (AP)—The airplane "Southern Cross" radioed its position as 10 o'clock this morning to the steamship "Ingoma" as 990 miles out from Cape Race, Newfoundland.

ROSE EASILY

The big plane that has successfully attempted more dangerous ocean crossings than any other rose easily from the sands of the beach and turned to sea.

A big crowd gathered to wave the flyers success.

Because of the great lead, more than 1,000 gallons being carried, the ship lifted into the higher currents slowly, barely skimming the surface of the earth until almost out of sight.

By a new arrangement gasoline may be dumped into the sea in case anything dangerous happens, allowing the ship to float. Gasoline enough for flying 38 hours was taken on board. It was estimated the flight would last at least 34 hours.

Flies Blindly

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 24. (AP)—Flying in a covered cockpit, Captain William C. Rucker, arm pilot, took off for Washington with nothing but his instruments to guide him, in order to test a new flight integrator instrument by which pilots may fly blind.

The idea for flying in a "blind" cockpit originated with experiments conducted several months ago by Lieut. James Loolittle. These tests were conducted in the north and were called the "most surprising tests of the ability of man's reliance upon mechanical instruments yet devised."

LOVE SPEAKS AT PECOS; OUTLINES DEVELOPMENT PLAN

PECOS, Texas, June 24.—Plans for the development of state parks and state park highways, which he said, "will not increase the ad valorem taxes of the people a penny" will be outlined here tonight by Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas, candidate for governor. The senator, who is making a tour of Texas, will speak Wednesday night in San Angelo.

The speaker told this morning in an interview of his efforts in the senate in behalf of the Davis mountain region and added that also in favor of developing the Palo Duro and Caddo lake section for recreational purposes.

"In the State Senate of Texas," the senator said, "I introduced and passed a bill providing for the survey and location of the Davis Mountain State Park Highway, which survey is now being completed by the state highway commission. When that law is complied with there will have been created in the Davis Mountains at the top of Texas a great State Park area for the use and benefit of the people of Texas which will be unexcelled in any state of the union."

"I also want to see a great state park developed and a highway constructed for its development of the Guadalupe mountains, including Guadalupe Peak, the highest mountain in Texas. I want to see another state park highway constructed and a state park developed in Palo Duro Canyon in the Panhandle section and around Caddo Lake in East Texas. Not only can these developments be made without increasing the ad valorem taxes of the people one penny but they will contribute largely to the general economy by saving our people the necessity of leaving Texas for recreational purposes during our hot summer season."

The candidate again stated his attitude toward Tammanyism and toward the right to "place principle above party."

"I want it understood," he said, "that I stand for freedom of conscience in the democratic party and for the right of every citizen to be guided by his conscience in casting his ballot at the general election as well as at the primary election. I have voted for every nominee of the Democratic party at every election for forty years except that I voted to keep Fergusonism out of power in the state capital in 1924 and to keep the Tammany Tiger out of the White House in 1928."

SMALL GIVES HIS SCHOOL BELIEF IN DENTON ADDRESS

DENTON, June 24.—By special invitation Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington, Democrat candidate for governor, spoke to the student body of the North Texas State Teachers College and to the citizens of Denton Monday night in the college auditorium. He was introduced by R. L. Marquis, president of the college.

"I am particularly interested in ample provisions for educational opportunities for the young men and women of the state," he told his audience. "It seems to me that the legislature should pass sufficient appropriations for the maintaining of all state schools early in the session, so there will be no questions of holding up the appropriation and no necessity of an extra session."

"Oh, Goodness Me!" What Could Poor Boy Scouts Do

It's just too bad to have a mother who visits you in camp, if you're a boy scout.

At least one scout will tell you that as he ruefully rubs himself in time to his reflection, as he sits beside the shadowy Concho at night.

It happened this way. Several Midland people went to the boy scout encampment near Carlsbad Sunday, to see their boys. After seeing that the young fellows had properly observed the Sabbath by attending religious services and had had their fried chicken and mashed potatoes and everything else, the visitors began poking around into the well organized camp, getting in the way generally.

Midland Literature In "Merrie England"

The University of Birmingham has written the Midland chamber of commerce, asking that literature describing geological structure, refining methods, storage facilities and other particulars be sent that place.

In the dusty old library of the English university, students will gather about and in their unlaughing fashion will become acquainted with American methods as tinged by the distinctive West Texas touches.

24 Dead, Middlewest CHICAGO, June 24. (UP)—Cooling winds, tempered the heat over the central west after 24 were dead. Heat records of 17 years were broken.

There were nine prostrations and four drownings in Chicago. Four drowned in Nebraska, one in Illinois and one in Missouri. Crops curled under the heat. Centralia, Illinois, with temperature of 106 degrees, was the hottest.

Texas Suffers Heat DALLAS, June 24. (AP)—Childress was the hottest spot in Texas Monday, with temperature of 104 degrees, according to the government report from that today.

Fort Stockton, Quannah, Memphis and Spur reported 102 degrees; and Temple, Seymour, Lubbock, Clarendon and Midland reported 100.

Nearly 15 Hours of Sunshine Saturday

Summer made its official debut in Midland Saturday, but lacked ten degrees of setting a heat record.

The mercury ran up to 90 degrees, but Monday's record was 100. From all indications today bid fair to go above this mark, according to Buster Howard, chief engineer for the Southern Ice & Utilities Co., who takes the temperature for this newspaper. The thermometer registered 84 degrees before 10:30 today.

During the afternoon of the first day of Summer the countryside sweltered under a burning heat. WINGS FOR OUR SOULS

America has welcomed home another hero. Or rather, for the third time, she has greeted the same son as he came back from the dangers and loneliness of far-flung worlds which are only adventurous names, wrapped in a glamour of romance, to most of us.

The crowds cheered, the confetti made spangled rainbows in the air, the flags rippled proudly and the bands played conquering marches, as the Antarctic ships bearing Admiral Byrd and his party steamed into the homeland harbor.

Most of us see only the spectacular side of the event. We wish rather dimly that we, too, had conquered the South Pole. What we do not visualize is the seige of loneliness in an icebound land, as one year slipped into another, and hunger and danger crept closer and closer. In the day of triumphal entry the sacrifices are forgotten.

It is well that not everyone has an opportunity to charter a ship and attempt a crusade. The sea would be hopelessly filled with craft that had no destination but the pursuit of glamour. The harbors would be crowded with vessels that came drifting back as the seas grew rough.

We can't all be heroes. But it is very fine and fortunate that there are pioneers possessed of a splendid bravery and intelligence that make them unafraid to tackle uncharted sealanes and cloud-blown sky paths, because they have a vision that is far-flung and glorious. Such men give wings to our souls. They make us stretch our lazy minds until they catch something of the spirit of the wind-swept distances. They blow the cobwebs out of our hearts and bring back the old belief in crusades and grails and knights in steel blue armor.

We, as Americans, are grateful for our heroes. They make us sing again, and dream a little as we work. In a world that is so apt to be monotonous they restore our belief in adventure tales.

LEGISLATIVE CANDIDACIES

A dozen candidates are out for the governorship of Texas, and a goodly number desire to be lieutenant governor or attorney general. In consequence, any casual observer might infer that Texas politics are characterized by spirited controversies all down the line.

That such a deduction would err widely is proven by a survey of the legislative candidacies.

If, for the greatest good of the state, there are too many gubernatorial candidates, then by the same token there are too few legislative candidates. In county after county there will be found but one aspirant for election to the legislature, and under such conditions the people can do little picking and choosing.

Do the people think legislative positions are unimportant? Is the power of the legislative body underestimated? Have the numerous instances in which a governor's program has been nullified by an obstinate legislature been forgotten?

To the next legislature will be submitted matters of gravest concern to the state. Bills will be offered which contemplate broad changes in criminal laws and court procedure. By its actions, it is not improbable that the coming legislature will determine whether or not Texas is to enjoy a decade of great industrial growth and prosperity. Fundamental changes in the policies of taxation will be considered.

Yet with all of this to be thought of, in many districts of the state the voters have been denied the privilege of choosing between two men.

All too frequently, men with selfish interests and petty grudges are sent to the legislature by a system of self-selection. Obviously, such a condition is inimical to the best interests of the whole people.

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below — and unscramble it by switching the letters around.

Invisible Ties Between Gangdom and Crooked Politics Difficult to Sever

When newspaper writers said that Alfred J. Lingle, murdered Chicago newspaper reporter, had for years "brushed shoulders with gangdom" while getting crime news, they were speaking literally. This interesting picture, snapped by an NEA Service cameraman as Al Capone was emerging from the federal building at Chicago in February, 1929, after being questioned by federal officials, shows Lingle interviewing Capone who has his head bowed to dodge the camera. Notice the gang chieftain's alert bodyguards, their hands deep in their coat pockets.

By BRUCE CATTON, NEA Service Writer.

CHICAGO, June 24 — The boys who control the Chicago gangs are lying low—cautious, but not particularly worried.

While civic organizations, newspapers and public officials are uniting enthusiastically to give Chicago the greatest clean-up campaign it ever had, gangland is confident that "everything will blow over" before long.

There have been other clean-up drives in Chicago, and not one has been permanent. To be sure, the city today is aroused as never before. It is giving every indication of being in dead earnest at least. But the gangsters remember the past and are quietly waiting.

Protected by Politicians

Their confidence may be justified. The chance that a real house-cleaning will result from the present turmoil is very small. There are too many things in the way. The invisible ties that bind gangland and politics together are too strong to be cut overnight; and until they are cut, Chicago's gangs will continue as they have in the past—bold, defiant and insolent.

Right now the big shots have either gone out of town or have dropped into hiding.

But the quiet is only temporary. Gangland is waiting for things to blow over. The friends who have shielded it in the past still have the political power they always had.

Here is the way one man in touch with underworld conditions expresses it: "The boys are lying low right now, waiting to see how the police captains are going to be shifted around. As soon as the shake-up is over, they'll know where they stand and go ahead again."

All Have "Connections"

The big point to bear in mind is just this: Chicago has gangs, and these gangs are powerful and unrestrained, simply because the gang leaders have close, profitable connections with the city's political overlords. The man who runs a speakeasy, the man who makes and delivers beer, the man who is in any sort of racket—all have these "connections."

Here is a case in point. Not long ago a certain patrolman—a red-headed cop with an Irish name—was assigned to a beat in one of the city's negro wards. This patrolman discovered that his district was full of small gambling houses, and began raiding them.

One day he happened to enter a gambling joint owned by a colored woman who was a friend of a Chicago alderman. This woman followed the officer to the police station, poured a shower of profane abuse on him there, boasted of her political connections and announced loudly that she would have him removed from the force.

The next day the officer was ordered to appear before the police trial board to answer a set of trumped-up charges. It just happened that a civic-spirited lawyer heard of the case, volunteered his services and threatened to make such a vigorous defense that the charges were dropped; but if this had not happened the patrolman probably would have lost his job.

That is just a sample. It is the sort of thing that happens over and over again. It is a small-scale illustration of the thing that keeps gangsters out of jail.

Gangs Swing Elections

Another problem arises from the fact that political control of Chicago shifts back and forth between the two parties. Mayor Thompson is a Republican; his predecessor, the late Mayor Dever, was a Democrat. Neither party has anything approaching a permanent grip on the city.

As a result, the gangs come pretty close to holding the balance of power. They ally themselves with one party, or with one faction in one party; if that party or faction tightens up on them, they shift to the other side. In New York City, by contrast, one party—Tammany Hall—has things its own way. The result is that the gangs in New York can be, and are, controlled—as much as gangs can be.

You could sum it up by saying that in New York the politicians control the gangs, while in Chicago the gangs control the politicians.

Capone Jailed, Rivalries Began There is still another complication—arising, oddly enough, out of the fact that Pennsylvania a year ago last winter, put Al Capone in prison for a year.

At that time Chicago's gangs were enjoying an era of comparative peace. The booze, gambling and vice rackets were working, full tilt, but there was harmony in the air. Murders were relatively few.

Then Capone was jailed. Immediately his Chicago rivals concluded that the time had come for self-expression. One after another, they began to "muscle in." The Morgan gang, on the North Side, began to extend the scope of its operations. In the west, the O'Donnells did likewise.

But Capone had left his affairs in the hands of his right bower, Jack Guzik. Guzik, according to the gossip of the underworld, is "just as tough as Capone, and twice as smart." The challenge was met very promptly, with the usual gangland weapons in the usual way.

Lingle Murder Is Climax The muscled retaliated. Scallisi and Anselmi, two of Capone's most prized shot-gun artists, were killed. Reprisals were speedy, including the famous St. Valentine's Day massacre. Free and unrestricted killing became the order of the day. The reign of harmony died speedily, and the resultant epidemic of shootings continued down to the murder of Alfred Lingle, reporter.

Right now Chicago is more aroused than ever before. The new police commissioner, John Alcock, has given the customary pledges of a relentless war on the gangs. State's Attorney Swanson is planning to establish a downtown office where all investigating agencies—his own, headed by the famous Pat Roche, the "secret six" of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and the police—can work in unison, coordinating their efforts.

But it is very, very hard to be optimistic about the clean-up efforts. The longer one looks at the situation here the harder it gets. The evil is too deeply entrenched.

Rumor Says Pecos County Dissatisfied

MCCAMEY, June 23 —Rumors are afloat that many Pecos county citizens are not satisfied with the census report which listed less than 10,000 people on the first of April. When the 10,000 mark is passed, the office of sheriff will stand alone and another office created for sheriff.

The offices are combined now and the county has a valuation of more than fifty million which leads all West Texas counties and which is said to make the sheriff's office one of the most remunerative in the state, the equal of several salaries like the governor of the state receives.

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

It's Getting to Be Quite the Thing for Latin-American Presidents-Elect to Visit Washington — They're Cordially Received, but the Public Stays Calm

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Visits from presidents-elect of Latin-American republics are becoming fashionable since Herbert Hoover, as our own president-elect, made his good will tour in Central and South America.

Since Hoover's return early in 1929 Washington has received Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, Enrique Olaya of Columbia and, most recently, Julio Prestes of Brazil—all presidents-elect. The next one expected is President-elect Trujillo of the Dominican republic. Although his plans for a visit have not been officially announced.

This sort of thing is likely to become customary. It not only promotes international friendships but aids commercial relationships between the United States and the other nations of the hemisphere. In Washington these presidents-elect meet our officials and can talk international affairs; in New York they make contacts with bankers and business men and obtain an insight into the business situation and loan market conditions which they would otherwise be denied.

A Study in Contrasts

The receptions of the Latin-American presidents-elect in Washington offer an interesting contrast with the receptions given to Hoover and his party in the Latin-American capitals which he visited.

Officially, these distinguished guests are given everything we have, although some of the official trimmings enjoyed by the Hoover party are left out because this government has no authorization for them.

What is most conspicuously lacking in the national capital is the background of popular interest which Hoover's visits stirred up. The only time Washington gets excited is when its American League baseball team wins a pennant or Lindbergh comes home from France—and of course every four years there's an inauguration.

Prestes of Brazil received a comparatively large amount of official attention because Brazil is a large and important country and has always maintained especially friendly relationships with the United States. But very few of the thousand persons who were at the railroad depot when he came in from New York were there to see the Brazilian president-elect. The crowd—not a very large crowd—was attracted by the troop of cavalry, the army band, the company of marines, the battery of field artillery which was on hand as an escort.

Every mark of official and diplomatic courtesy was extended to Prestes and there was an elaborate record of official luncheons and dinners. But the show simply couldn't compare with that in Hoover's honor at Rio de Janeiro. There great crowds lined the streets upon his entry and various groups of the most prominent inhabitants co-operated with the government in providing entertainment. An enormous throng turned out for the horse races to which Hoover was invited and various races were named after American cities. There was a grand President Hoover Sweepstakes.

Lots of Fireworks

Continual attention was paid to the newspaper correspondents as well as the other members of the official party; automobiles were provided for the use of everyone. Departing from magnificent Rio harbor in the dusk, Hoover was treated to a marvelous exhibition of fireworks which had been carefully planned on Sugar Loaf and other promontories in and about the bay.

But it will take a very unusual Latin-American president-elect to arouse one-tenth as much excitement in Washington.

Special efforts were made to honor Prestes, and he received as much of a reception as any of them will get. The United States and Brazil are very special friends among nations. In all international disputes for a hundred years Brazil has been found on our side of the fence.

GIANT CASINO

About the time Kenneth Ambrose was appointed government weather observer, he announced a reduction in ice prices. Nobody thought anything about it until yesterday when he raised the temperature to offset the reduction in the price of ice.

Did you see many men wearing coats Monday? Not Many! Audie Francis, Lee Haynes, Andy Norwood, Bud Estes, Big Lee and some of the other "laws" had their coats on, but Bryan Middleton strapped his gun on the outside and didn't even try to hide it with his coat.

A few more days like yesterday, and anybody wearing a coat will be subject to search to see if he is wearing a gun. In fact there won't be any people wearing coats but law enforcement officers and candidates. A candidate couldn't afford to go around without his coat, not if he is after the white collared vote. But, if you remember how Henry Webb went at it, he turned in his shirt in at the neck and announced to the cock-eyed world that he wore no man's collar. Judging from Henry's size, he would come near wearing a horse collar with comfort.

That reminds me, though, I've said too much. I saw Bill Arnett Saturday without his coat, and right early this morning Susie Graves Noble came through town with a sun-bonnet on, and both of them are running for county clerk.

For the convenience of voters who don't know what he looks like, W. Edward has placed pictures of himself at strategic points about the county. Maybe that's a good thing, I don't know.

HOW TO SHOP
Wise Shopper Will Buy From "Open Stock"

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN,
When a store keeps on hand a sufficient stock of a pattern and permits purchase of single pieces at any time, the pattern is known as "open stock." Conversely, patterns which can be bought only in sets are closed stock. It is therefore obvious that the wise shopper will limit her selection to open stock offerings. This is particularly true in the cases of glass and china, because breakage is a considerable item in the housekeeper's budget.

It is well to know exactly what a store means when it advertises open stock. No store can be expected to keep in stock any one pattern in perpetuity. Some stores keep a pattern in stock for five years. They keep careful records of the names and addresses of all purchasers of each pattern and as that pattern is to be discontinued, these purchasers are notified of the impending discontinuance and thus are given full opportunity to replace damaged pieces or to buy reserve pieces.

If You're the Type Greta Garbo

Greta Garbo... veiled, faraway, dreamy eyes... elusive, appealing

EDITOR'S NOTE: Learn to know "Your Beauty Colors." Below is the first of a series of articles, written for The Reporter-Telegram and NEA Service, which show how twelve famous screen stars—each selected as the best representative of her type—make use of the psychology of color to brighten their complexion. These articles will appear daily in this newspaper.

By NINON
Written for NEA Service

Color is the keystone to the triumphant arch of beauty that throws glamor over women.

Grace, line, contour, charm, taste—each of these adds its contribution to the perfect whole. But it is color, and color alone, that wields the magic wand of enchantment which makes of beauty a breath-taking experience.

Perhaps you really hold beauty in the hollow of your hand and yet have never learned the secret of impressing it upon the world. Choose the right colors and watch the way they put across this priceless possession of yours! You must learn to high-light your beauty by just the right colors in your costumes, the exact shade of lipstick and rouge that suits you, the right background in your own home that heightens one-hundred-fold beauty that is your birthright.

The cinema has come to realize the prime importance of these facts about color. Scientifically, it searches out pure and combined rays of color until the right shades are hit upon to heighten to perfection the individual beauty of this or that type of woman. From these scientific findings, every woman can make up her own color chart. By so doing, she may find herself the toast of her own home town, instead of merely one more woman among many.

Are you a Greta Garbo type? Have you a delicacy in the transparency of your white skin? Is your hair light golden brown, and have your blue eyes a veiled, faraway, dreamy look?

Greta Garbo heightens her pale, interesting face by shunning make-up for the street. She dusts a naturelle shade or rice powder over her fair skin. No trace of rouge detracts from her cheeks' pallor. Just a trace of lipstick, just enough to outline the mobility of finely chiselled mouth.

Have you, perhaps, made up too much? Have you failed to capitalize your fair skin, by rouging? How about lipstick? Has there been a temptation to give your classic mouth a prominence by heavy lipstick?

Black, white and gray shades are Greta Garbo's choices of colors. These form the background for her clothes which are ever a casual type. Pearls she wears to perfection and onyx, but she prefers no jewels the majority of the time. White orchids, white narcissus, these are the flowers that suggest the ethereal quality that is her chief characteristic.

Have you tried wearing soft, flattering grays? How about a dead

Monday Afternoon Spent By Two Religious Clubs In Study

Reinhart Circle
Mrs. Lee Cornelius was leader of the afternoon study on the forty-third chapter of Genesis at the Christian women's meeting. This study closed the work in Genesis, which will be followed by a review at the next meeting.

LETTERS AS RECOMPENSE

DETROIT, (UP).—Th average fee per case of Louis C. Mariani, lawyer is only 98 cents but he gets a lot of fun out of his job. As director of the Legal Aid Bureau, Mariani gives legal assistance to those who can afford to pay little or nothing for it, but the oddly assorted mail he receives helps to recompense for the low average fee of less than a dollar. One letter recently received read: "Dear Legal Aid: Please send me some cod liver oil for my baby, she needs it bad. Also will I lose my house if I can't pay on the contract... her stomach ain't so good so please take care." Another: "Dear Sir: If a landlord wants me to move and I don't want to how much notice do I get? If there is any charge for this service don't send it for I won't pay." A third: "Our client says that she has coming $125 alimony. I would say that you should get a writ of arousal to poke him up to pay. When you write send some money or do something."

COMPLAINED TO A FRIEND

She Said To Take Cardui, and "It Made All the Difference In My Health."

Poplar Bluff, Mo.—"For a long time I suffered with pains right across my back," writes Mrs. F. M. Boatwright, of 839 Park Avenue, this city.

"I had nervous headache and sometimes I could not sleep. "When I began to take Cardui I began to feel better. I was complaining to a friend how bad I felt. She had been taking Cardui and she told me to try it, so I did. Before that, I just could not relax, and I got very little rest at night. "I took Cardui for several months and it made all the difference in the world in my health. I felt stronger and better than I had in many a year.

"I recommend Cardui to other women when they suffer from weakness and bad health."

Thousands of women have been benefited by taking Cardui, and their experience prompts them to recommend it to their friends.

Cardui is a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, and contains nothing harmful or injurious.

'LIVES OF OTHER MEN REMIND US-' SCOUT LEADERS POINT OUT WHAT A NORTHERN SCOUT ACCOMPLISHED

Boy scouts here never know when they are to have the chance of their lives offered them, scout executives point out in referring to the records of other scouts over the country.

There is always a time when everyone could realize an ambition if he knew when to reach out and grasp it, the scout men say.

For instance—
Able Sea Scout Richard Clark, 19, of Newburgh, N. Y., member of the crew of the New York and New Jersey Regional Sea Scout Flagship, Constitution IV, has been selected from the membership of the Sea Scout division of the Boy Scouts of America to be a member of the crew of the Whirlwind America's cup yacht of the Thorne-Hammond syndicate according to Thomas J. Keane, national sea scout director.

Sea Scout Clark is already at work aboard the Minas Princess, base ship for the Whirlwind anchored off City Island, N. Y.

Paul Hammond's Invitation
Participation of a sea scout in the work of preparing a yacht to defend the historic America's cup was made possible through the invitation of Paul Hammond of the Thorne-Hammond syndicate, who is regional sea scout commodore for the sea scouts of New York and New Jersey.

The Minas Princess, 19-foot schooner hull, which is being used as a base ship for the Whirlwind, is owned by the sea scouts of Manhattan and was chartered to the Thorne-Hammond syndicate for the duration of the races.

Participation in the America's cup races is the third great adventure in which, because of their excellent training, sea scouts have been invited to participate during the past few years. As deck crew of the John-Borden field museum expedition to the Arctic in 1927, eight Chilago sea scouts made for themselves an enviable record. None of these sea scouts were over twenty-one years of age. Then followed the great adventure of Sea Scout Paul A. Eiple of Erie, Pa., in the Antarctic with the Byrd Expedition, and now the selection of a sea scout as a member of the Whirlwind's crew.

Good Seaman
Since becoming a sea scout, Clark has taken every advantage of broadening his experience on the water and with the handling of water craft. For the past year he has acted as engineer of the ship. Late last summer on a cruise from Newburgh to Greenwich, Conn., and return, he acted as navigator of naval cutter of the Constitution IV. Later last summer Dick acted as cook and kept the log of a motor cruiser from Fair Haven to Highland Lights, N. J., and from Sandy Hook across to Romer Shoal lighthouse, where the crew weathered a heavy sea to deliver luxuries to the light keepers.

Clark also spent 10 days last year aboard the sea scout training ship "Theresa White," cruising Long Island sound. This winter he completed a course in navigation under First Mate A. L. Smith, and is also noted as an expert signal man.

The Life Story of Max Schmeling

Der Schlager from Hamburg, in his moments of playtime, goes in for the quaint old German customs—playing the piano and hunting with the dachshunds. Here the new heavyweight champion is pictured having fun.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of six articles on the life of Max Schmeling and tells of the rift between the Schlager and his manager, his initial fights and his knockout of tough Johnny Risko which gave him his golden chance.

El Paso Has Varied Fourth July Plan

EL PASO, June 23.—Plans are being made for a big Fourth of July celebration in El Paso, officials of the chamber of commerce here announced today. The entire scenic and sunny southwest is invited to participate in the celebration. Railroads into El Paso will put on special round-trip week end rates. The program is being worked out by a committee composed of members of the American legion post, city and chamber of commerce officials.

Visitors to El Paso will be assured of entertainment for July 4, 5 and 6. On the Fourth of July the program will start with a military parade by troops from Fort Bliss, largest cavalry post in the United States.

The parade will be followed by a program of speaking at Cleveland square, in the heart of downtown El Paso. At noon the national salute will be fired by guns from the 82nd field artillery brigade from Fort Bliss. The artillery will fire the salute from Inspiration point, scenic drive, on Mount Franklin.

The big event of the afternoon will be a double header ball game between the El Paso and Phoenix teams of the Arizona State league. That night a fire works display will be given at Washington park.

On Saturday, July 5, another ball game will be played between El Paso and Phoenix. That night, boxing matches will be held in the new athletic stadium. Sunday Phoenix and El Paso will again play at Dudley field. In Juarez, following the ball game a bull fight will be held. Visitors to El Paso will be assured of good ball games, good boxing matches and a good time in general. Chamber of commerce officials declared.

Skin smoother clearer overnight... with nurses' secret

Nurses first discovered it. Now 6,000,000 women use it. A dainty, snow-white, medicated cream that refines and helps clear poor complexion in just 8 hours.

The secret of these quick results is Noxzema's wonderful ingredients. Bland, soothing oils that soften the skin and smooth away roughness. A mild medication that quickly heals away distressing blemishes. Gentle astringents that close enlarged pores and refine the texture of the skin—leaving it satin-smooth, glowing with youthful loveliness.

It is More Economical to Make Full Use of Electric Service

Electricity is no longer a luxury and electric appliances are no longer considered something to display, but never to use. The modern housewife has found that the electric way of doing things is the cheaper way. For a few cents she saves her time, her strength and her health. She knows that there is no excuse for a woman doing hard work that a small electric motor can do for a fraction of a cent an hour.

The Texas Electric Service Company gladly will prove to any customer why it is more economical to make full use of electric service. A nickel or two is pitifully small when it prevents eyestrain and headaches caused by reading in a poor light. A few pennies to operate an electric fan during warm evenings, to clean the rugs in the morning, to wash the clothes once a week are insignificant compared with the comfort they give and the amount of labor they save.

So it is with all electric appliances. Household electric appliances have been designed for specific needs and have demonstrated their value over a period of years. Their very usefulness has caused them to increase in popularity. The idea that such appliances are luxuries has long been thrown into discard.

Electric merchandise sold through the Texas Electric Service Company, must give customers the greatest degree of service and dependability at the lowest possible cost. Only merchandise of high standards which has met exhaustive tests of our own engineers is placed in salesrooms of the company.

tryman to shout "Wie gehts, lands-manner!"
Bulow had ascertained where they could find cheap accommodation, so the two went to Madam Bey's pugilistic boarding house in Jersey.

Max's right hand, slightly injured in his fight with Fritz Diener in Berlin, was not responding to Bulow's treatment. Bulow felt their funds were too low to seek high-priced advice.

Here started the first row. Max finally overruled Bulow and went to Dr. Pralish, who does tricks with athletes' bones and muscles. The surgeon removed a fragment of bone from the thumb, and soon the Schlager was right again.

Poor Bulow, who spoke little English, was given the runaround by the promoters and his impatient fighter chafed at the delay. In no time the boys were throwing mean little personalities at one another. Finally Bulow succeeded in getting a match with Joe Monte.

Schmeling knocked out the third-rate Monte in eight rounds and the sports writers, not so much for his fight but for his strange resemblance to their old friend, the Manassa Mauler, gave him a tumble. Tex Rickard saw the fight and his far-seeing eyes took in the possibilities of building up another foreign menace.

He wanted him to go on at the Garden with Joe Sekyra. After another quarrel with his manager, Maxie got the fight and neatly out-pointed the Dayton blond.

A Crack at Risko
Now their services were in demand at Madison Square Garden and a fight with Johnny Risko was offered. Max jumped at the chance, but Bulow was reluctant. They clashed so bitterly, the difference never was settled.

Risko was the man to test the Teuton's fire. He had held his own against the best in the land. He had stopped the championship march of many. He had never felt the sting of a knockout.

After trailing for a few rounds, Schmeling suddenly knocked Risko cold. The fight made him. His name and pictures blazed from sports pages. Other cities wanted him. Meanwhile, Bulow had signed for

CONOCO MARCHES ON TO NEW VICTORIES!

FIRST REGULAR STOCK OIL TO PLACE IN INDIANAPOLIS 500 MILE RACE MAY 30, 1930 SUPERVISED BY CONTEST BOARD A. A. A.

PROVED ON PIKE'S PEAK AGAINST 3 NATIONALLY KNOWN OILS SUPERVISED BY CONTEST BOARD A. A. A.

CONOCO'S ORIGINAL CHALLENGE TO THE OIL WORLD NOV. 14, 1929 ANNOUNCEMENT OF NEW GERM-PROCESSED MOTOR OIL

CONOCO'S recent victories with the celebrated new Germ-Processed oil have all been sensational in their theory-blasting results. . . . And what is even more important, every fact about these victories has been verified and attested to by that great impartial body, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association.

So, when you read that Germ-Processed oil is the first really stock oil to "place" in the Indianapolis Speedway Race . . . when you learn the remarkably good condition of this oil after that motor-punishing grind . . . you know it's true! The AAA Contest Board says so!

You remember, too, how the Pike's Peak Tests disclosed such startling facts about CONOCO'S superiority as to literally upset many preconceived ideas about motor lubrication.

In both the Pike's Peak Tests and the Indianapolis Speedway Races, observers of the AAA Contest Board checked the absolute honesty of CONOCO'S claims.

CONOCO'S chief competition at Indianapolis was specially blended castor oils unsuited for every-day driving. The Indianapolis achievement was made with regular 'stock' CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, the kind you buy at the sign of the CONOCO Red Triangle.

So CONOCO is marching on to new victories. A march which began Nov. 14, 1929, when the now famous CONOCO challenge was issued.

This claim was based on the utilization of the CONOCO-owned Germ Process patents, which endow this new oil with the safety factor of "Penetrative Lubricity".

Only CONOCO has the Germ Process . . . only CONOCO has Penetrative Lubricity . . . only CONOCO has proved to you, by certified tests like these, that this is the best oil for you to use. Stop at the sign of the Red Triangle, ask for

ODESSA BEER RAID

A very dry season for this section for the next week or so is being predicted in the best bootlegging circles of Odessa following a clean-up staged Sunday afternoon by Sheriff Reeder Webb and City Marshal Tom Jones, which netted around fifty cases of bottled "brew" and an unknown quantity of the mixture not yet bottled, as well as some equipment confiscated from use in production of the beverage, according to the Odessa correspondent of the Abilene News.

Starting out after lunch Sunday, the officers made the rounds of the city's damp spots, as well as those of Penwell, a few miles west. In addition to capturing enough goods to fill half the sheriff's office, they broke large quantities of bottled goods.

According to the officers, much brew was destroyed during the afternoon, which they never saw.

Midland Boys Free; Quarantine Lifts

Sam Brown and J. C. Dunagan, Midland boys at Ft. Bliss, El Paso, as CMTC enlistments, are on the "B" Troop baseball team, and Dunagan is on the volley ball squad, according to Henri A. Luebbemann, 2nd lieutenant, 8th cavalry, and publicity director of the camp.

The 10-day quarantine of the C. M. T. camp, due to the death of Trainee Herbert M. Cullers of Albuquerque, New Mexico, of spinal meningitis, was lifted this morning, Luebbemann said.

The danger of any further infection is passed, as the cultures of every one in the camp were taken and found to be negative. At no time during the quarantine was there a single suspected case and the preventive measures taken immediately after the discovery of the disease in the camp proved to be most effective.

"The trainees have stood the restriction splendidly, and the morale has never been higher, but the boys will welcome the return to the established schedule of hikes, sight-seeing tours, swimming, boxing, etc.," the lieutenant said in a previous letter.

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

*"I have come to the conclusion," writes Sir Henry Thompson, M.D., F.R.S., "that more than half the disease that embitters human life is due to avoidable errors in diet." We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight, and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.
