Bullets Silence Reporter Who 'Knew Too Much'

WHEELS OF JUSTICE GRINDING DAILY ON SENSIBILITIES THOSE WHO INSIST ON FLAGRANTLY VIOLATING LAW HERE

Over at the city court they're fuming and swearing, these speedsters and disregards of traffic regulation. But they are swearing under their breath, and are paying fines each day.

Those who do not have the money to pay fines are jailed, and pay the fine at the allowable rate of $1 a day, or at the rate of slightly more than four cents an hour.

Since Mayor Leon Goodman released his statement relative to a war against traffic violators the city hall has been crowded. Women are worse than men about driving over stop signs, but men speed more than women.

The careless driver, and the one who drives while intoxicated or while drinking, especially is being watched.

The mayor intends to make the city streets safe for not only pedestrians, but for other motorists, as well.

The lowest fine assessed against the speedster is $13, which is $5 and costs. The greatest fine is $200, according to Charles Yonge, city attorney.

Suit Filed In Ship Disaster

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Suit for $350,000 has been filed here by C. D. Mallory & Co., owners of the oil tanker Pinthis, against the Merchants and Miners Transportation company, owners of the steamship, Fairfax, which rammed and sank the Pinthis off Boston June 10, with loss of 47 lives.

LEGG TO ATTEND N. E. L. A. MEET, SAN FRANCISCO

Aubrey S. Legg, district manager of the Texas Electric Service company, left Thursday night for San Francisco where he will attend the National Electric Light Association convention June 16 to 20.

Midland won first place in a state contest conducted by the company on merchandise sales per residential customer last year, this carrying with it a trip for the district manager to the N. E. L. A. convention.

Legg will combine a vacation with his trip to the West coast, expecting to be gone about two weeks.

TO ASSIST LEGION

Misses Eula Gee and Alberta Gant will take charge of a booth Friday afternoon to help in sale of tickets for "Corporal Eagen" the American legion comedy to be given Thursday and Friday nights at the Midland high school auditorium. These young ladies will contribute time Saturday and part of next week to assist the legion post in ticket sales. It is pointed out that every ticket buyer gets more than 50 cents worth of laughs and at the same time helps the World War veterans furnish their new quarters in the new courthouse, as profits from the play will go to that cause.

City Waits More Than 40 Years For Cards

After 40 years Midland has some highly lithographed colored post cards.

Midland has formerly had some good pictures, slightly tinted, but not lithographed cards.

Now, colored views of the Hogan Petroleum building, Midland General hospital (formerly known as the Thomas building), Hotel Scharbauer, and an oil gusher may be purchased from drug stores, news stands and variety stores.

These colored postals were bought by the Midland chamber of commerce and sold to the dealers at cost. The chamber has some left for sale, but to dealers only. The organization tried for several months to handle the matter locally and finally took over the matter itself just to get Midland's message broadcast through postal cards.

Midland people are invited to see the beautiful colored views and to remember that every time they mail one of these cards, they are advertising their city.

NEW YORK, June 13. (UP)—Bishop James Cannon Jr. declared in an article in the Christian Herald today that he intended to remain in politics despite every effort within and without his church to dissuade him.

PREPARING FOR U. S. BOAT RACE

Speedboat Overtakes In Windemere Lake Early Today

WINDERMERE, England, June 13. (AP)—Major Sir Henry O. Segrave, 35, internationally known speed king, died today from injuries suffered when his speedboat, Miss England 2nd, overturned on Lake Windemere as he was testing the craft preparatory to leaving for the United States to seek the international trophy now held by Americans.

Shortly before, he had established a new world speed record for motorboats. Timekeepers officially announced a world record on the first two laps, averaging 98.75 miles per hour.

SCHMELING CHAMP ALTHOUGH WITH RESERVATIONS

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—Growing convictions today that the unsatisfactory outcome of the Sharkey-Schmeling fight struck another blow at boxing are developments featuring the aftermath of the latest heavyweight bout.

Schmeling unquestionably was hit low, and was entitled to the verdict. Sharkey will be allowed a full purse of $170,000. Schmeling is generally accepted as the new world champion, with reservations.

Reporter-Telegram Broadcasts Fight

A small crowd of fight fans heard the broadcast of the Sharkey-Schmeling fight at The Reporter-Telegram office Thursday night. An extra with full Associated Press bulletin reports appeared on the streets soon after the conclusion of the fight, in the fourth round when Sharkey was disqualified for fouling his opponent. Until that time, the Lithuanian had administered to his opponent from Germany a severe jailing.

Negroes Plan Big Celebration Soon

Midland negroes plan the most extensive celebration of Emancipation day in the history of the city. From 2 o'clock on the afternoon of June 19 until late at night there will be entertainment.

A midnight ramble is advertised for Sunday night, June 15, as well. The "June tenth" celebration is held in commemoration of the 65th signing of the emancipation proclamation. A barbecue, street parade, speaking program, speech by the mayor and other white residents, jubilee singing, baseball games, greasy pig catching, dancing contests, band contest and numerous other features will be seen.

The celebration will be staged at the colored addition, with Sonnie Sneed's place as headquarters.

Choose 13th For Unique Wedding

GLENDALE, Calif., June 13. (UP)—Friday the thirteenth means nothing to five couples who planned to marry here today. Not only did they choose the fateful day, but planned to marry in the cemetery. Ceremonies were performed in a little church, the scene of many prominent motion picture weddings in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Scout Leader Says Many As 175 Scouts May Camp

Held in Killing

The possibility of as many as 175 Midland boy scouts attending the summer encampment on the Concho near San Angelo was expressed this morning by Scout Field Executive M. J. Williamson, who said approximately 50 boys will attend the first week of the camp and 80 the last week. Besides this number there will be a group to stay throughout the entire period on the river, he said.

The Midland boys go to the site June 16-30. Williamson goes to the place Saturday morning for inspection of equipment to be used by the boys from here. Kenneth Ambrose Jr. goes with him.

FOUR TULSANS KILLED AS CAR STRIKES POLE

Wasaff Member of Resolution Staff

ODESSA, June 13.—Nonparticipating political resolutions of the Sixteenth district of the American legion in its meeting here Sunday, June 8, and made public Thursday, probably will have some bearing on the political situation in this area of West Texas. The resolutions were introduced by Samuel K. Wasaff, post commander, Midland, a member of the resolutions committee for the convention.

"Whereas, a certain candidate who is not an ex-service man, claims to have the endorsement of the American legion in and about the Sixteenth district in his race for congress, and,

"Whereas, the American legion as a whole, and particularly the Sixteenth district, is not in politics and does not back any candidate whether an ex-service man or otherwise; and,

"Whereas, in keeping with the constitution of the American legion, it is the intent and desire of said organization and particularly the Sixteenth district of the American legion to counteract such political propaganda, and,

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Sixteenth district of the American legion does hereby go on record that such organization is not backing the political race of any candidate, whether an ex-service man or otherwise; that said organization is not in politics and never has been in politics, and,

"Be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be given utmost publicity and be placed in the hands of a newspaper of the state to accomplish such purpose; and,

"Be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be furnished to all candidates in the Sixteenth district of the American legion, whether ex-service men or not."

FARMER NOT HELPED; IS OPINION

After Year And Half, Senate Passes The Revised Bill

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—The senate passed the tariff bill by a vote of 44 to 42 today.

After more than a year and a half of almost continuous labor on complex revision, it remained for Friday the thirtieth to see the bill's passage.

Opening the last three hours' debate before the final vote was taken, Senator Conally, democrat, Texas, said the farmer is not helped by the legislation and could hope for little relief except through the export debenture plan, which was stricken from the bill by conferees.

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—Senators Grundy and Reed, Republicans, Pennsylvania, announced Thursday they would vote for the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill.

Reed revealed his support for the bill in a senate speech and the Grundy announcement was made informally to newspaper men.

The decision of the Pennsylvanians removed virtually all doubt as to final passage of the measure.

The Pennsylvanians disclosed their decisions after conferring during the week with President Hoover and Secretary Mellon.

Prior to the public word of each, some doubts had been expressed of how they would line up on the final tally, which was set for 2 p. m. Friday.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee advised the senate not to be alarmed about the charges made against the bill.

Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, gave notice that he would vote against it.

"It has some good features," he said, "but there are so many bad ones that I cannot support it."

Towns Guarantee Cotton Branches

WACO, June 13. (AP)—Acting on a petition of 400 farmers, Temple business men today practically completed a guarantee of the expense of maintaining the Texas cotton cooperative association branch office there.

Ellis county farmers and business men planned to meet today to consider plans for a branch office at Waxahachie. Other meetings are scheduled for Hillsboro and Hutto.

Marion Parris, 26, is shown above after she had been arrested at South Camden, N. J., in connection with the killing of Angelo S. Solury, a youthful sailor attached to the U. S. S. Chester. Provost law was established in the section of the town where the killing occurred and armed sailors patrolled the streets.

CHAIR CLAIMS 2 AS STAYS ISSUED TO COMPANIONS

EDDYVILLE, Ky., June 13. (AP)—Three men who sat through a long night awaiting electrocution were granted stays of execution today after they heard the electric chair send two others to death.

Governor Simpson's indefinite stay was read just before three negroes, Lloyd Williams, 24, John Keller, 27, and James Grigsby, 38, were scheduled to die.

Ballard Ratcliffe, 35, white, and Richard Edmonds, 36, negro, were executed.

Ratcliffe remarked to newspaper reporters and witnesses, "You look more scared than I feel," as he was strapped in the chair. He was convicted of killing W. A. Muse, 64, with a hammer while the aged man bent over his wife's grave. Robbery was said to have been the motive.

Edmonds walked into the electrocution chamber with an attitude of calm resignation. He was charged with murdering a night watchman during a robbery.

WHEN THE THRILL GOES

The Graf Zeppelin has finished her triangular flight from the old world to the new. The big airship's performance in the air is so taken for granted now that the average American probably did not bother to pay much attention to it.

That fact—the fact that a big airship carrying upwards of two score people could cross the ocean twice without stirring the public to any unusual pitch of excitement—is the most encouraging fact, for the air-minded, that aviation has yet developed.

Once mankind gets so used to a new invention that it refuses to get excited about it, that invention is about to be given steady employment.

As long as it is new and unusual and a little bit fear-inspiring, an invention makes a lovely toy but a poor business proposition. But when the newness has once worn off so that people won't pay much attention to it, the time for serious work has come.

That's what makes it look as if the dirigible is at least about to begin a period of real service to mankind. Every new device has to go through that "toy" stage first.

The early railroad trains were looked on as mechanical wonders, highly diverting to watch in action—but the railroads didn't become paying propositions until people had got over the first wonder.

Big crowds lined the waterfront to see Fulton's steamboat makes its first trip. They cheered, waved flags and agreed it was a great show; but it wasn't until people got so used to the steamboat that they hardly bothered to look at it that the steamboat established itself as a commercial venture.

And the automobile. Remember how children—yourself among 'em, maybe—would run five blocks just to see one? They were great sights, then; but the automobile magnates didn't become multi-millionaires until that newness had all worn off.

That's the way things go. Already people are getting so that they will hardly look up when an airplane passes overhead—and the commercial airplane lines are beginning to prosper, at last. If people are getting used to dirigibles in the same way, these projected trans-Atlantic companies might just as well open for business.

ROMANCE OF THE MAIL

Adventure sometimes comes closer to you than you imagine. Recently, for example, Ray Long, editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine, opened a manila envelope mailed a few days previously in San Francisco by Peter B. Kyne, containing the manuscripts of two stories. When Long drew them out he found them slightly damaged by fire. Noticing that the envelope, also somewhat burned, bore an air mail stamp, he wired National Air Transport for information. Soon he got this reply:

"Accident occurred at 3 a. m., April 26 near Curwensville, Pa. Pilot Henry J. Brown carrying 1421 pounds mail and express, leaving Cleveland 1:10 a. m. Motor failed to pick up quickly after switching from one gas tank to the other, causing descent into clouds and fog. Pilot jumped at altitude below 1000 feet over Clearfield mountains, landing safely, but plane burned. Postal Inspector McWin, Williamsport, superintended removal of eight pounds of salvaged mail and ashes."

There's a Rainbow 'Round My Shoulder!

Daily Washington Letter

By Rodney Dutcher
Hoover's Friends Expect to See Him Make an Impressive Record Once Congress Adjourns — They Say His Administration Will Be Hailed as Success by December

WASHINGTON, June 13. — With Congress out of the way, say Mr. Hoover's friends, things are going to be different.

The president will now have a chance to do his real stuff. He will lose little time in convincing the country that the name "One-Term Herbert," which has become somewhat popular in Washington, must be forgotten. His fine administrative mind will be brought into play and he may even succeed in convincing everyone that we would be better off with no Congress at all. Or, at least, no Senate. And by the time Congress convenes again in December the Hoover administration will be hailed as a success.

He Works Best Alone

All that may sound rather optimistic, but there is little doubt that Mr. Hoover functions best when the two houses are not in session. In the first month of his administration, before the special session convened, he looked stronger than he has looked at any time since.

In the meantime nothing has happened, say the Hoover partisans, to prevent the Chief from giving the country the "business administration" which he promised. The rejection of Judge Parker, the construction of the Grundy tariff act after Hoover called for limited revision, the exposure and continued tenure of National Chairman Huston, the passage of pensions legislation over his veto, the outcome of the London naval conference—none of these little things can leave any permanent scar after Mr. Hoover begins to carry out his program of big, constructive measures unhampered by the sharpshooters in the Senate.

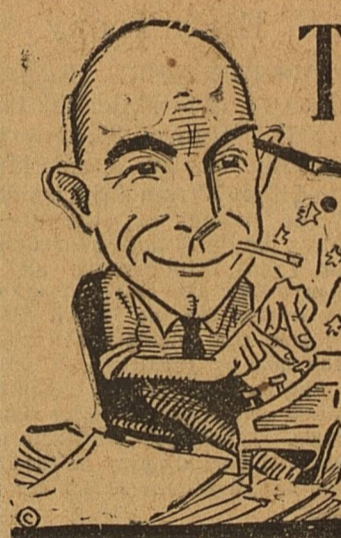

The thing to remember, one hears, is that during the summer and fall no Hoover vetoes can be overridden, no Hoover appointees rejected, no unpleasant legislation passed, no hasty wisecracks about the administration made from the floor, no embarrassing Senate investigations begun—nothing, in fact, of the type calculated to make life miserable for sensitive presidents.

During the hot summer months Mr. Hoover has every intention, it is said, of devoting his active attention to such major problems as business conditions, prohibition enforcement, tariff and agriculture. The presidential plans for action are not being divulged. But he is said to have been formulating them all along as he waited for Congress to get the heck out of here.

For instance, it is pointed out, the final form of the tariff bill fits his purposes perfectly. It carries a flexibility provision under which he can rewrite the whole thing if he wants to—and dares. Before the tariff wrecks Mr. Hoover—in case it threatens to do that—Mr. Hoover will be able to wreck the tariff. He will be able to reorganize the tariff commission as well as the rate structure. In fact, Mr. Hoover's friends say that he faces the issue created by the new tariff act with the most unbounded confidence.

Then there's the farm problem. Well, Mr. Hoover got his farm legislation passed by the special session, didn't he? It's his Federal Farm Board, isn't it? And if the Farm Board isn't carrying on satisfactorily Mr. Hoover can dictate to it and change its policies so that everything will be lovely, can't he? Once Congress is out of the way there will be no one to hinder him when he sets out to solve the farm problem with the board as his weapon.

He'll Fix Prohibition, Too
Congress has given the president desired legislation to improve prohibition enforcement. Enforcement

The Town Quack

Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.

What did you think about the fight? I'm sure it all depends on which way you had your money placed. One man from Odessa said he didn't think much of it, having lost 21 bucks. I suppose that is significant of the way opinions are formed on the outcome of fights.

Frank Haag, in discussing the fight with the editor this morning, said he heard it over the radio, and when it was announced that Sharkey had fouled Schmeling, he wanted to get in the ring and clean up on Sharkey.

That's not a bad spirit. In fact, it's the old pepper. In fact, I'm going to enter the ring. I would suggest that he weigh himself in and jump on somebody his size.

I guess you know we put out an extra last night. If you were on the street and didn't buy one, it was your loss. We had already taken ours. Anyway, we spelled "foul" "fowl" in a big double column sub-head, but managed to get it corrected before the last 10,000 had been sold on the streets.

It gives me a cold sweat the way the hoodlums, yeggs or gangsters have decided to pick off reporters in Chicago. I'm not exactly a reporter, but I would be, if I could. It would beat this way of making a living. But I wouldn't pick the Chicago Tribune to work on unless they assigned me to church news or beautiful lawn contests.

Dear Smart Alec:

If I only knew one half as much as you think that you know, well, I wouldn't be writing letters to you in the U. S. A. as I have always had a desire to tour Europe, and I would be smart enough to "go over there." But I believe in telling the truth, at any price, so I think that you don't know one half as much as "Arizona, the Devil." Now tell Ima Hottum to beat that for a "Hottum."

No really I'm an independent, and the only reason that I don't have an M. M. M. is because W. K. has never said to which orphans' home, or school, or deserving institution that he gives his $12.50 to. I always had a little Scotch in my blood, more pre-Volstead than now, but I like to know where my money goes.

Evidently then I am not Ralph Barron, Paul Barron, Clyde Barron, am I not?
However, Quack, I am having a picnic especially for you, Chicago Ike, (or whatever it was), Van Pelt, Little Fearsome, and Ima Hottum, and it is to be Saturday afternoon at six p. m. Please meet us all in front of the Scharbauer Coffee Shop and let's get acquainted.
Respectfully yours,
A. N. ONYMOUS.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Arthur Judkins and Mrs. Arthur Judkins live 21 7-10 miles from the county jail, Midland, Midland county, Texas, and don't believe Art Coleman when he says it's 25. Mrs. Arthur has been married to Arthur six years and one day counting today, but yesterday they gave a barbecue as a fitting climax to the finish of six happy years. Arthur makes as fine a cup of coffee as you ever cocked a lip over and Mrs. Arthur makes the best cake you ever tried to balance on your knife. There were present Charlie Watson, who requests your presence at the primary July 26th, Ned Watson, Miss Lydie Watson, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Coleman with Art, tagging along, Mrs. Harry Haight, Mrs. Foy Proctor, whom everyone wants to hear sing again, Mrs. Midkiff who looks too young to be a grandmother, Mrs. Virgil Ray, Mrs. Stokes, Mrs. Driver, Mrs. Don Hutt who always dresses so well, Cap and Mrs. Wallace who used to own the Judkins ranch, W. Weekly Sunday School Lesson

Text: Matt. 27:33-50
And when they were come unto a place called Golgotha, that is to say, a place of a skull.

They gave him vinegar to drink mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drink.

And they crucified him, and parted his garments, casting lots: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, They parted my garments among them, and upon my vesture did they cast lots.

And sitting down they watched him there;
And set up over his head his accusation written, THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

Then there were two thieves crucified with him; one on the right hand, and another on the left.

And they that passed by reviled him, wagging their heads,
And saying, Thou that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in three days, save thyself. If thou be the Son of God, come down from the cross.

Likewise also the chief priests mocking him, with the scribes and elders, said,
He saved others; himself he cannot save. If he be the King of Israel, let him now come down from the cross, and we will believe him.

He trusted in God; let him deliver him now, if he will have him: for he said, I am the Son of God.

The thieves also, which were crucified with him, cast the same in his teeth.
Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land unto the ninth hour.

And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? that is to say, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

Some of them that stood there, when they heard that, said, This man calleth for Elias.
And straightway one of them ran, and took a sponge, and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gave him to drink.

The rest said, Let be, let us see whether Elias will come to save him.
Jesus, when he had cried again with a loud voice, yielded up the ghost.

that reached its final stage in Gethsemane, through the shadow of the cross long before that had loomed over the pathway of our Lord.

How clearly Jesus in his earthly life knew from the beginning this end of the way is not made plain in the Scriptures. In fact, the writers of the New Testament may so easily have read into the records the things that they only understood after the death and resurrection of Jesus that we have no exact means of knowing just what was in the consciousness of Jesus or how vividly he realized what was to be the final sacrifice.

Excepted was martyrdom
That he understood the probable means of effecting his ministry would seem evident from the fact that he referred so constantly to the fate of the prophets who had gone before him. He had seen, also, the martyrdom of John the Baptist, and there must always have been in his mind the realization that some such fate was also to be his. The earnestness of his prayer in Gethsemane that the cup might pass without seem, on the other hand, to suggest the hope that his ministry might be fulfilled without going the way of the cross.

Possibly in connection with all such speculations it is worth while only to fix our minds on the fact that from the very beginning to the end of the earthly way, the one supreme purpose of Jesus was to do his Father's will. The idea of his own personal safety or welfare was entirely secondary to that supreme purpose. That he was human and tempted, like as we are, is made sufficiently apparent not only in the three great temptations, but in the evidence of struggle and trial throughout his earthly ministry and in the representation of those experiences in which only through agony and prayer did he seem to find strength.

The fact is that we must feel the humanity in Jesus all the way to the cross. If we lose our sense of the reality of that humanity, we miss the true meaning of his earthly ministry and sacrifice.

If the cross were not real for him, his bearing of it would have little reality for us. Probably in most of our thought and talk of the cross we very little sense its actuality. We could hardly speak of it so glibly and so dogmatically as we sometimes do if we truly felt its reality in terms of actual suffering.

Nor was the physical pain its greatest mark. The law of sacrifice and its mystery are perplexing. The disappointment of one's hopes and the turning back of life into channels of seeming loss and bitterness constitute the most difficult part of the cross. Yet human life in its revelations of sacrifice and martyrdom on behalf of truth and right reveals the fact that it is out of the darkest and saddest experience of mankind that have come the most glorious dawns.

The scene of Calvary portrayed in our lesson is vivid enough in its detail—the cross in the center of the group with the ironic inscription "This is Jesus, the King of the Jews," upon the cross to which he was nailed, and the two thieves, one on either side—one railing against him with the mockery with which the base and brutal have always reviled the saint and the saintly, the other, with that genuine goodness beneath his unfortunate career of evil, recognizing the justice of his own punishment and tuning in his last hour to find communion with the Friend of Sinners and salvation through his grace.

Beyond Our Comprehension
No detail, however, can make one appreciate the full horror of the tragedy or the full glory of the light that came in the dawn following this darkness. It revolutionizes man's thought of himself and of the world when he comes face to face with Christ on the cross and realizes what Calvary meant in the experience of the Man of Sorrows and what it has meant in the economy of the universe.

To know Christ and to share the fellowship of his sufferings is to meet Christ with a new faith that through the mystery there lies a path of honor and goodness and truth from which the man who seeks salvation cannot be turned even by suffering or loss, and along which he finds the way to the deepest satisfaction and the highest communion of life.

Ye Towne Quack,
e-o Daily Outburst,
Midland, Texas.
Dear Smart Alec:

If I only knew one half as much as you think that you know, well, I wouldn't be writing letters to you in the U. S. A. as I have always had a desire to tour Europe, and I would be smart enough to "go over there." But I believe in telling the truth, at any price, so I think that you don't know one half as much as "Arizona, the Devil." Now tell Ima Hottum to beat that for a "Hottum."

No really I'm an independent, and the only reason that I don't have an M. M. M. is because W. K. has never said to which orphans' home, or school, or deserving institution that he gives his $12.50 to. I always had a little Scotch in my blood, more pre-Volstead than now, but I like to know where my money goes.

Evidently then I am not Ralph Barron, Paul Barron, Clyde Barron, am I not?
However, Quack, I am having a picnic especially for you, Chicago Ike, (or whatever it was), Van Pelt, Little Fearsome, and Ima Hottum, and it is to be Saturday afternoon at six p. m. Please meet us all in front of the Scharbauer Coffee Shop and let's get acquainted.
Respectfully yours,
A. N. ONYMOUS.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money... and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

The Rumseys are going vacationing. The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice.

But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house! Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle residence telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

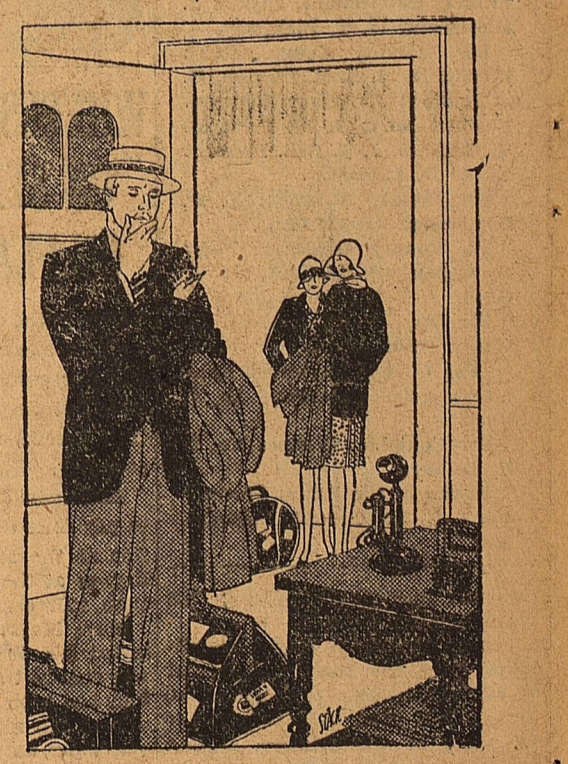

It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return.

That's because:

- 1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed!)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days, but not over four months. They apply only to residence telephones.

HOW TO SHOP Bristles of Hair Brush Mustn't Be Soft

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN, Author of "The Shopping Book"

WITH hair brushes it is quite often true that the more you pay the cheaper the brush is in point of service. The main considerations to remember when selecting a hair brush are the evenness, the liveliness and spring of the bristles. They should be of the same diameter, stiffness and resiliency. If the bristles are too soft they will not penetrate and will, in a short time, become practically useless. Also, see that the bristles are firmly embedded in the back, that they do not pull loose, and that they spring back into place quickly on passing the hand over them.

In this connection, special care should be taken in selecting toilet cases and fitted overnight-bags and suitcases. If the hair and clothes brushes in these special sets are not good, the sets will be of small value to the user, however handsome the case and fittings may appear to be. Tomorrow—Cut glass.

Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

Suggestions today are dedicated to the brides of the "month of brides". First comes a pleasing recipe from Mrs. R. T. Bucy on "How to Preserve a Husband" and to comply with this suggestion a bride might serve him Mrs. T. C. Bobo's sour milk pie.

How to Preserve a Husband

Be careful in your selection; do not choose too young and take only such as have been reared in a good moral atmosphere. Some insist on keeping them in a pickle, while others keep them in hot water. This only makes them sour, hard and sometimes bitter. Even poor varieties may be made sweet, tender and good by garnishing them with patience, well sweetened with smiles and flavored with kisses to taste; then wrap them in a mantle of charity, keep warm with a steady fire of domestic devotion and serve with peaches and cream. When best prepared they will keep for years.

Sour Milk Pie

1 cup of sugar, 1 cup of sour cream, 1-2 cup of chopped raisins, 2 yokes of egg beaten stiff, 1-2 teaspoon of nutmeg, 1-2 teaspoon of cinnamon. Put this in crust and cook until thick. Beat egg whites and put on top.

Crust recipe: 1 cup of flour, 1-3 cup of lard, 1-8 teaspoon of salt, 2 tablespoon of cold water. Cut the lard into the flour and salt with a knife. Add water gradually.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Neal have as their guests her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Rotterdam of Guthrie, Okla.

National Council Representative Speaks Here Thurs.

Miss Elizabeth Beecher, representative of the National Council of the Episcopal church to the Woman's Auxiliary, was in conference with Midland members yesterday in the private dining room of Hotel Scharbauer. The visitor based her discussions on religious education and what is being done along this line in the North Texas division. She also reported interesting features of the recent six weeks spent by church delegates in Jerusalem during Passover. A course of study for the local club was also outlined by Miss Beecher. A general resume of these reports will be written by Mrs. A. S. Legg and published in Sunday's issue of this paper.

At luncheon Miss Beecher was honor guest and the Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Martin and son, Wayne, of Big Spring were also guests. From Midland Miss Beecher will go to Lubbock to attend an Episcopal conference.

DETECTIVE MOVIE-MAKING IS HARDER THAN WRITING

It is more difficult to film a detective mystery story than to write one, according to Bartlett Cormack, former newspaperman and successful playwright, who wrote the screen story for S. S. Van Dine's famous detective thriller, "The Benson Murder Case."

"The average reader, hurrying through a chapter misses many of the points that he would be quick to see if they were presented to him pictorially or audibly," says Cormack. "If the detective mystery novel or picture is honest it will present each clue that leads to the ultimate solution of the crime."

"In this way, the reader or audience is made one with the detective, and has an opportunity equal to his to solve the crime."

"In this way, the reader or audience is made one with the detective, and has an opportunity equal to his to solve the crime. But, when presented in a picture, the clues are never overlooked by the audience, as they frequently are in a book. This makes the filming of such a story a very difficult thing, for, to be entertaining, it must mystify. If the audience knows the guilty party before the time comes for him to know, the whole thing is silly. The clues must be presented and covered up at the same time."

In the two previous S. S. Van Dine stories filmed, "The Canary Murder Case" and "The Greene Murder Case" the story tension was kept at a high point and the mystery was sustained. "The Benson Murder Case" is even more mystifying than the other two, however, the guilty party being thoroughly unsuspected until the very end, in spite of the fact that very definite clues point to his guilt. "The Benson Murder Case" is now showing at the Ritz for 2 days.

Freak Racing Car May Seek Speed Title

By DON ROBERTS,
NEA Service Writer.

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—When next spring and the time for speed trials at Daytona beach comes around, the most unique automobile yet devised will try to set a new world's record with H. A. Patterson, motorcycle champion, at the wheel.

This is announced here by E. J. Pennypacker, mechanical engineer, designer and inventor, who is constructing the racing car.

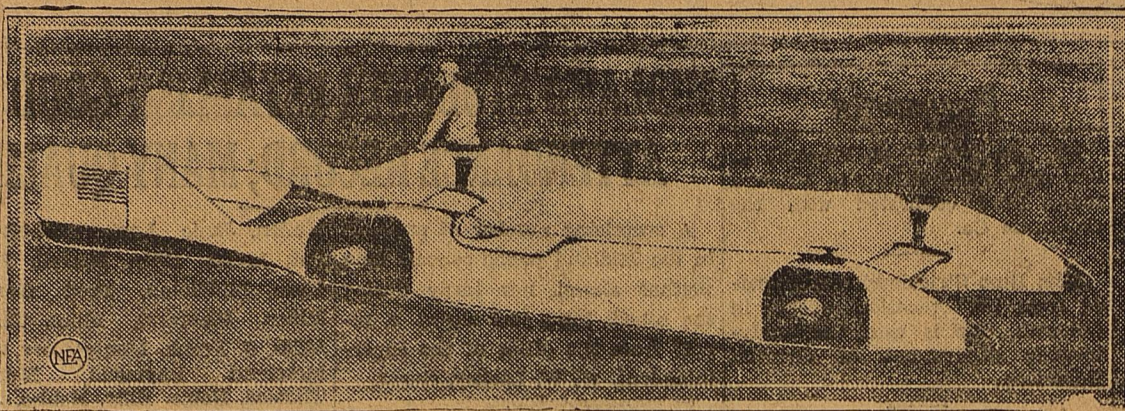

There will be no clutch, transmission, differential, brakes or carburetors in this odd craft, yet it will attain a speed of 300 miles an hour, Pennypacker believes.

Mechanically, the car will utilize motors adapted from the familiar rotary motors of aviation—but it will not use gasoline or any combustible substance.

Four such motors will be used, one for each wheel. And to go backward, the operator will reserve the direction of the motors instead of shifting gears.

Pennypacker, in explaining his invention, says it has no new mechanical principles.

Trying Out the Motors
"An experimental motor I have built," he says, "has been operated at 35,000 revolutions a minute without harming it. For the purposes of the speed trials, the motors will not have to turn over more than 28 r.

The wheels actually four synchronized motors of unusual type, this unique racer planned by E. J. Pennypacker of Los Angeles may be driven at Daytona Beach next spring in an effort to bring the world's speed title to the United States.

p. m.s.

"The motor operates by the mixture of two gases, which, when put together, expand 2700 times. There is no explosion, only an extremely rapid expansion.

"Each motor practically will be a wheel. One tube will feed all four motors the gas mixture, thereby assuring even power to each wheel. With motors of 175 horsepower each, I am confident the car will do 300 miles an hour," says Pennypacker.

While the motor utilizes the rotary principles, in that it rotates, there are none of the rotary's drawbacks, Pennypacker says.

There are eight cylinders, each containing a piston which is free to move up or down and has no connecting rod. At the upper end of the cylinder is a roller bearing which plays an important part in the operation of the motor.

Pistons Drive Wheels
At the lower end of the cylinder is the gas chamber and two valves to the cylinder—one exhaust, one intake. They are sleeve valves. This central chamber moves in a constant circle, opening and closing the valves, while the cylinders remain fixed.

Because the cylinders are set off-center, the expansion of the gas drives the piston up into the cylinder until it hits the roller bearing. This off-center motion sets in motion a steel shell, which forms a rim around the outside of the eight cylinders and rest on the roller bearings. By reserving the action of the center gas chamber housing, making exhaust valves intakes and vice versa, the car is reversed.

Outside the turning shell, the tire is mounted, thus completing the wheel. There is no crank-shaft or main bearing; the whole action is based on the off-set principle. The upper roller bearing returns the piston to the bottom of its cylinder, ready for the entrance of the expansive gas again.

In a rotary motor, Pennypacker points out, the whirling cylinders set up a centrifugal force tending to keep the pistons away from the bottom of the cylinders. Because the cylinders in his motor are stationary, Pennypacker says, a great deal of force is saved for the process of turning the wheel.

Motors Become Brakes
To slow down, the driver will stop the valves in dead center position, creating a vacuum in the motor which will brake it. After overcoming his terrific speed, he may apply a bit of reverse motor to effect a complete stop.

Only a pointed rocket and the tires will offer head resistance and the complete car will weigh less than 3000 pounds. The famous Sunbeam, holder of the record at better than 231 miles an hour, weighed about 12,000 pounds.

Patterson, who is to drive this freak car, holds the motorcycle speed record of 142 miles an hour. He is 25 years old and was a friend of Lee Bible and Frank Lockhart, both of whom were killed trying for a record. Patterson has driven the gigantic Triplex, which tried for the record.

In contrast to the prices on the other cars, which have run over $100,000, Pennypacker says his car will cost less than $50,000.

SCHOOL POLL WET

STOMACH UPSET, THEN HEADACHE

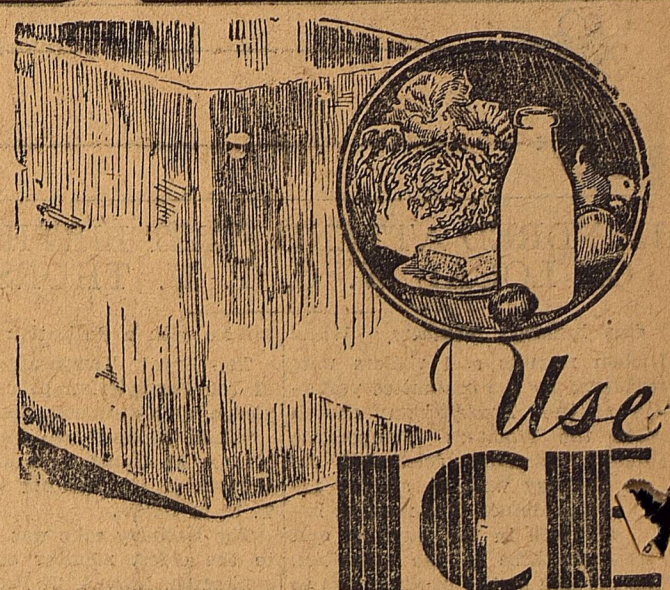

Theford's Black-Draught Relieves These Symptoms, Says Carolina Lady.

West Asheville, N. C.—Mrs. Hannah Crook, of 128 Hudson Street, this city, says that she has been acquainted with Theford's Black-Draught from using it regularly, when needed, during the last ten years.

"I would have spells of indigestion," she explains. "My stomach would hurt and seem to be all upset. I did not relish my food. I would have a bad taste in my mouth; then I would take a headache and have to go to bed.

"I read about Black-Draught. I found it helped me when the headaches came on. I would take a few doses of Black-Draught and get easy. So now, when I feel the first symptoms, I begin with Black-Draught, and I find that by doing so I can keep off the headache, which I now do.

"Black-Draught certainly is a good medicine and will do what it is recommended to do."
"The medicine which this lady mentions is recommended by thousands of others because of the benefit it has been to them.

BRIDGE GOLF

(How to Play It)

The golfer bids as to what score he will make on the hole he is about to play.

If he is playing in a twosome or foursome, the others have the privilege of underbidding the golfer or doubling him. He also has the right to redouble.

In case he shoots the hole in a stroke under what he bid, he is paid double the bet, if a bet has been made.

Where there is betting and the golfer is doubled, the bet is doubled and when redoubled, the bet is increased another notch.

If the golfer fails to make his bid, he must pay each member of the party the amount of his bet. If he shoots the hole in two strokes over his bid, he must pay double.

ONE GOVERNOR INVITES TEXANS TO MOVE BACK TO THEIR NATIVE STATE

H. L. Pollard, superintendent of the division of department reports of the State of Illinois apologizes for the failure of Governor Emmerman to carry out the chain of letters written by governors of the U. S. to M. F. Peters, Midland man. The governor was busily engaged in a tax revision matter, Pollard said. Peters has written various governors, telling them of Midland naming streets from certain states. In each case Peters has received letters of thanks.

Candidates--

"The governor has referred your letter to me for a reply. He wishes me to say that he is pleased to learn that there are many residents of your thriving city whose home state is Illinois and who live in a street bearing the name of our state.

"Governor Emmerman would be delighted for these former residents of Illinois to make a trip back home during the summer months and wishes me to assure them through you that they will find that many parks have been established in the state within the last few years.

"I am sending you booklets and other literature you might find interesting."

A letter from Flen D. Sampson, governor of the "Commonwealth of Kentucky," reads:

"To our dear friends who reside on 'Kentucky in Midland,' allow me to extend cordial greeting and best wishes and to invite you and your friends back to dear old Kentucky this summer to visit Mammoth cave, Crystal cave, Carter caves, Natural Bridge park, Cumberland falls, Brooklyn bridge, Boonesboro, Harrodsburg, and a thousand and one other wonders and historic places which crowd the Bluegrass state.

"On May 17, the Kentucky derby, the most spectacular sporting event of all the world, was run. You would have enjoyed this event, all of you.

"Kentucky has more beautiful livestock, lambs, cattle and thoroughbred horses; more picturesque country and charming and intriguing motorways, bridle paths; more engrossing, fascinating, charming countryside, than can be found elsewhere in all the world, and it is beckoning you home again. Won't you come?"

The state executive committee meets Aug. 11 for a canvass of returns.

The second primary is on Aug. 23. The district convention meets on this date to canvass returns for district candidates.

Flag Day to Be Observed by Scouts

Flag Day in Midland will be celebrated by boy scouts by flag raising exercises, the highest point in the city, the staff on the Petroleum building, to be the scene of the flag being raised at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, while four members of a color guard and a bugler stand looking on.

Scouts under the command of their troop officials will then try to get flags waving over all parts of the city.

The large flag on the Petroleum building will be lowered at 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Scouts will be asked to gather in full uniform at the courtyard, at 7:30 in the morning.

Injunction Sought; Derrick Merely Peewee Links

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 13. (UP).—Apparent defiance of Robert H. Winn, oil operator and real estate dealer, to the city's restriction against building an oil derrick under the shadow of the governor's mansion assumed a comedy aspect today.

Winn announced that he would build a derrick near the mansion, in restricted areas. When worried city and state officials investigated Winn's lease today, they found that he had leased the land for a miniature golf course.

He started construction on the derrick today. Viewed with alarm, several state officials went early to get the facts for an injunction suit. Winn's idea is to have the golfers shoot at the derrick.

SMALL ADMITS HE HOLDS NO MAGIC REMEDIAL WAND

GREENVILLE, June 13.—Texas needs as governor a man who will use his mind and not his spleen, Senator Clint C. Small, gubernatorial candidate, told an audience in the district court house here.

In his address the candidate said that he did not have possession of the fantastic things some of the other gubernatorial candidates have been offering in return for votes. He told his audience that he would continue to stay strictly with his campaign pledge that he would not make promises he knew no governor could fulfill.

"Designing politicians," he said, "have done enough to our state in their perennial turmoil over political spoils. Waving the flag of political hatred and whipping waves of prejudice should be stopped in the interest of an honest, progressive government at Austin.

"Fanning the flames of campaign hostilities is an old trick to create an emotional vote, but it is dangerous to stable government."

He again discussed removal of the prison system of the state and pointed out why he was against such a program. He charged that certain interests wanted the present prison site sold because an oil-field is being developed close to the location at this time.

SCHEDULE MAY CHANGE

The Southland Greyhound Lines, Inc., which service Midland with daily bus service, will have representatives in Mineral Wells June 23, at which time discussion of schedule changes is to be heard before the motor transportation division of the railroad commission.

RATES ON AIR TRAVEL LIKELY TO CHANGE ON LINES PLYING THROUGH MIDLAND, IT IS GENERALLY THOUGHT

The air passenger public may see an increase in plane fares within a short time, if other airlines follow the lead of SAFE, which until recently maintained regular daily service on the Sweetwater to Midland extension.

One of the first air passenger lines to slash the cost of air travel to approximately that of train plus Pullman fare, SAFE has found that its five-cent-a-mile fare is not sufficient to pay expenses of its lines. It has been decided to hike this price to 7 cents per mile, to be in effect June 16.

The Safeway line announcement was made in Abilene by W. G. Swenson Jr., divisional traffic representative of the airline.

Larry G. Fritz, operations manager of Safeway, and well known in Midland, predicted through the press that all air passenger carriers would probably increase their rates soon.

"Southwest Air Fast Express has learned after five and one-half months' trial that it cannot run its tri-motored planes at five cents a mile plus one dollar," said Swenson. "Cost of equipment is too high. The low rate was put on to introduce the people to air travel, and that certainly has been accomplished. Since the first of the year Abilene alone, although virtually a one-way point on the line, has produced 368 passengers who have paid the company $5,860. Last week, with 33 passengers, was our best week. Mr. Fleming and Mr. Fritz felt that the traveling public is not only sold to air transport, but will be willing to pay a slight premium for speed and safety."

Southern Air Transport, operating east and west through Midland, has not announced a fare increase. The present fare is five and one-third cents per mile. Western Air Express, operating transcontinental service through this city, has an average fare of eight cents.

Bond was fixed at $5,000.
