HOUSE CLEANING NEEDED

The crime problem in Texas is more serious than many people think—so serious, in fact that more than one editor has urged the public to forsake politics long enough to devise some effective remedy for a situation which has become admittedly hurtful to Texas' reputation.

Respect for courts is at low ebb, and contempt for jury verdicts is everywhere expressed. Our criminal code is antiquated and cumbersome, and justice is not only blind, but dilatory.

One newspaper goes so far as to contend that to fire upon a man and kill him, while in the heat of passion, is comparatively inconsequential and is punishable by five years imprisonment; but to fire upon a man and miss him is serious enough to involve atonement to the extent of fifteen years in the penitentiary.

The editor distinguishes, of course, between the crime of man-slaughter, to some extent justified by an insane and temporary passion, and the offense of assault with intent to murder.

Even with this explanation, the fact remains that Texas laws are archaic and that Texas courts are hamstrung by rules of procedure applicable only to another day and age. Moreover, Texas jurors too often forget the solemnity of their obligations, and too easily are swayed by the eloquence of lawyers whose arguments are as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial as many of the questions they propound to squirming witnesses.

All in all, Texas needs a legal housecleaning and renovation. It is improbable that the legal structure either will be cleaned or renovated, however, until a loud, persistent and insistent demand to that effect is voiced by the people. This job accomplished, attention should be turned to the more efficient organization of the police.

When these two tasks have been completed, perhaps the peace and dignity of the state will be trampled upon less frequently, the rights of law abiding citizens will be respected more generally, and the sacredness of life and inviolability of person will be recognized more widely.

NIGHT FLYING IMMINENT

An announcement from Washington Saturday gave the route of the Fort Worth-El Paso sector in the proposed Southern transcontinental airway, which will extend from Atlanta to San Diego.

Last Thursday W. T. Miller, chief engineer of the airways division of the Department of Commerce, who for the last several months has been surveying that route as well as other Western routes, left Ft. Worth for Washington, D. C., leaving word that the survey would be completed within a few weeks and that he expected the sector to be fully lighted by the first of the year.

The route goes by way of Cisco, Eastland, Ranger, Abilene, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Midland and Wink with an emergency landing field at Weatherford. The expense is estimated at $370 a mile. As soon as the route is lighted night flying will be possible between Fort Worth and El Paso.

Status of the eastern end of the route—from Fort Worth to Atlanta—is said to be almost as advanced. This route is by way of Birmingham, Jackson, Miss., Shreveport and Dallas. Next development to follow, it is said, will be the building of an airway to connect Louisville, Nashville, Memphis and Little Rock, joining the Southern Transcontinental at Dallas.

Senator McWhorter Meditates on Calvin Coolidge's Newspaper Articles and Decides They Must Be a Great Help to Mr. Hoover—a Recipe for Prosperity's Return

WASHINGTON, July 14.—"One of the nicest things about being President Hoover lately," says Senator J. Boomboom McWhorter, "is the fact that one can pick up the morning newspaper here and right on the front page read Calvin Coolidge's directions for encompassing the return of prosperity."

"There is something very touching about this. One only hopes that Mr. Hoover fully appreciates it. You may remember that he got just about the same amount of help from President Coolidge during his presidential campaign, as he received from President Monroe and President Millard Fillmore. The way Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hoover felt toward each other was just too bad."

Mr. Coolidge's Success
"Cal had done better with Prosperity than any president we ever had. He kept a firm grip on it and never let it get away from him. Many of us had become just a little tired of Cal when the time came for him to turn Prosperity over to the Herbert. I guess it was because we were all sure that Herbert would accelerate the pace and give us a bigger and better Prosperity than Cal's brand."

"You might have thought that when Herbert fumbled the punt and let Prosperity slip from his clutches Cal would have sneered or at least snickered and reckoned that was none of his business, but that would just show that you had misjudged Cal. He has decided that it is up to him to point the way out of the wilderness."

"Nobody ever said that Cal was dumb and so you do not notice him writing out the recipe for recovering Prosperity and sending it to Mr. Hoover by mail, in which way it might get lost before it had passed through the hands of all the White House secretaries."

"Cal just decided to write the recipe in the newspapers where Herbert would never miss it and even if he did it would be called to his attention. Not only that, he was willing to act as sort of a national cheer leader for the president to pep up the drive for Prosperity which had been sagging for so many months and so he is talking directly to the people and telling them what to do. With the elections coming on, Cal looks very much like the U. S. cavalry dashing up to rescue the paleface maiden from the stake."

"My countrymen, it is time to stop criticizing and quarreling and start sympathizing and helping," said Cal in his first appeal to the nation and did you ever see anyone set a nobler example of sympathy and aid for the stricken as Cal has been extended to Herbert?

"Cal can speak boldly. He even admits there has been some 'decline intrude.' If he were an official of the government he would never dare admit anything of the kind. He even is willing to confess that the president has been getting blamed for the 'decline' and probably Herbert hasn't thanked him for that, but there is nothing

N. Y. Frowns on Beauty That Is Too Well Displayed

By GILBERT SWAN
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, July 14.—Police Captain James Coy, Broadway's most recent mop wielder, is going to continue to disagree with Producer Earl Carroll, or anyone else for that matter, on the definition of "sophisticated entertainment."

Broadway, as he'll point out on the map, is quite a long walk from the Mont Marte, and the ways of the Moulin Rouge are not, at least not for Forty-Second street.

A cop who roams the theatre district protecting the theater-goers from unnecessary vulgarity may represent the last word in "sophistication," but he knows "dirty stuff" when he sees it.

Third Time in Court
Wherefore Carroll, accompanied by "eight of the most beautiful girls in the world," appears in a court room act. Carroll was so certain that there was a definite demand on the part of the American public for the aforementioned "sophisticated entertainment" he went out to meet it while preparing his eight annual "Vanities."

Whereas Carroll, who now breaks Mae West's record for court appearances, sighs frequently and wears the hurt look of one who is perennially misunderstood. He speaks of the "display of beauty" and the appreciation of true art.

But Coy counters with the commentary that his raid was staged less for the nude than for the crude. It is Item No. 12 in the "Vanities" program that bolsters his case, he points out.

Burlesquing Burlesque
This is the scene which caused Jimmy Savo, the quick-eyed clown, to be yanked in along with Carroll and "eight of the world's most beautiful girls." Savo appeared as a window trimmer, new to the job, who had to be shown how to undress the window models—these being played by several of the beautiful girls, rather than by wax figures. The disrobing may have contained all the elements of beauty mentioned by Carroll, but the didoes of the comedian were just a bit more than one would find in the broadest of burlesque numbers.

It is this scene which causes the outstanding argument among "sophisticated entertainment"—a point, by the way, which raises a new phrase for the legalists to battle about.

When the raid was staged, Carroll had already cut from the show an undressed undersea adagio, participated in by a male and female dancer, and the window scene has been completely revised.

Broadway does not seriously consider the possibility of the New Amsterdam theater being padlocked, which it could be under a local regulation. It is the general impression that the show will have its mouth washed and be spanked a little and that the curious crowds will continue to line at the box office trying to figure out what all the shouting was about.

As for the "eight most beautiful girls," the question of how they might look with clothes on has been settled once and for all in open court. Even the hard-boiled balliffs were heard to ask news photographers for a "picture of that little blonde." And this despite all the clothes one is likely to find on the average young woman dressed for the New York streets.

But this court room stuff is tough on the girls. They have to get up before noon.

Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

Sandwiches for summer picnics! Several have been gathered for the column today, which are probably new and delightful. Especially delicious is the one coming from Mrs. John T. Gay's cook book.

Peanut and Banana Sandwiches
Slice bread very thin. Cream peanut butter with cream until it will spread easily. Slice ripe bananas thin and place on peanut butter. Close sandwich with thin slice of bread. Mrs. Gay.

Ham and Cucumber Salad
Mince cold cooked ham; moisten with a little mayonnaise. Spread on whole wheat bread and then lay crisp slices of cucumber over the ham. Place a second slice of bread on top.

A slight variation will make this sandwich into an attractive hors d'oeuvre or open-faced sandwich. Cut rounds of whole wheat or Graham bread about two inches in diameter. Spread each one with the ham mixture, place a cucumber slice in the center of each. These sandwiches should be served as soon as possible after making so the cucumbers will keep their crisp coolness.

Bacon, Peanut Butter and Tomatoes
Another very appetizing combination is to fry bacon until quite crisp, then mince it and mix well with peanut butter. Spread this on a slice of bread, lay over it slices of tomatoes, and then another piece of bread. Be sure and peel the tomatoes as they are much nicer.

Ham Filling
Put enough cold cooked ham through the food chopper to make 2 cups. Add a peeled tomato and a few finely chopped stuffed olives. 1-tablespoon of minced parsley; season with salt and paprika to taste. Add enough mayonnaise dressing to make a paste. Use as a spread, between slices of whole wheat or white bread.

HAVE YOU HEARD?--

Flower stems can be quite as beautiful as the colorful blooms themselves when seen through clear crystal containers.

Wide receptacles are best for flowers with curved, fleshy stems, such as primroses, calendula and other similar stalks. Flowers with delicate stems, such as carnation, ivy, baby's breath and roses, look best in vases with narrow tops like the one illustrated above. An ordinary goblet makes a very pretty container for most wild flowers. A laboratory retort can be used to artistic advantage as a holder for a bit of ivy. With crystal vases as inexpensive as they are today, one can have just the right kind of receptacle for every flower, with very little expenditure.

for SUNBURN "NOXZEMA beats them all" says Chief Newberry of Asbury Park Lifeguards.

"AFTER giving many different sunburn remedies a fair trial here at Asbury Park, we have found that Noxzema Cream beats them all," says Chief Newberry.

"Every sunburn patient that we treat says practically the same thing--'It takes the fire and pain out the moment you put it on and heals the burned skin quickly.'"

No need to suffer from painful sunburn this summer. Spread Noxzema promptly--it soothes--cools--ends pain instantly. And if applied before exposure, it prevents sunburn and allows the skin to take on an even, healthy tan. It's greaseless and cannot stain clothes. Get a jar now at any good drug or department store.

Easy To Be Fooled by Fake Furs

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN
Author of "The Shopping Book"

Although fur coats are still months away, fur sales now are being held, and the wise shopper will get acquainted with this subject before making any purchases.

It is well to know that many of the inferior and inexpensive furs are treated chemically to imitate the colors and shades of the finer and costlier furs.

Thus, "baume marten" may be opossum, civet cat, fitch, hare kolinsky or skunk; "chinchilla" may be hare of rabbit; "Kolinsky" may be marmot, squirrel or rabbit; "mink" may be bassurick, opossum, gazelle, mandel, marmot, muskrat, rabbit, squirrel or kolinsky; "nutria" may be opossum, kangaroo, mandel or rabbit; "raccoon" may be Chinese dogskin, American gray fox, mandel, marmot or rabbit; "sable" may be opossum, fitch, flying squirrel, hare, kolinsky, mandel, marmot, rabbit, skunk or squirrel, nutria or other.

The average shopper can not hope to be sufficiently skilled to spot these substitutions; therefore, her best protection is to buy only from merchants of known reliability.

The finest and choicest furs are obtained from animals of the arctic and northern regions. The hair of these animals is short, fine, soft, full and downy, while the hair of animals in warmer lands is longer, stiffer and harder.

OILERS BY WIN CATCH UP WITH BUSHERS; STANTON IS ON TOP

VALLEY VIEW IS BRUSHING UP SPORTS . . . By Laufer

MOORED TIGHT IN SHALLOWS

By HERB ROUNTREE
The Midland Oilers barely kept the Pleasant Valley club in the cellar Sunday, the boys from the latter village having presumably found something in the dug-out that gave them necessary punch to score 15 runs, only three less than the Midland club. This win gave the Oilers a tie with the Bushers for second place as the Pioneers lost their game to Stanton.

The games were both played in Midland, and the Busher-Stanton was the hardest fought, finest played game seen here this season. The 13-15 racing meet held by the Oilers and tail-enders was not duplicated in the tight 7-5 game of the Bushers and Stanton.

Pleasant Valley had its best inning in the fourth period, when six runs were scored. Four followed in the fifth session, two each were counted in the sixth and third, and a lone tally started the thing off in the first.

The Oilers counted almost half their runs in the first, chalking up seven. In the second they counted two, five in the fourth and four in the fifth. The Oilers collected 20 hits while the Valley farmers were rapping Midland pitchers for 13.

How the Oilers could make nine errors and yet score 18 runs was hard to see. The Valleyites failed to take advantage of these errors to the greatest advantage.

The Busher-Stanton game was really an interesting affair.

Stanton in the first inning scored one run. B. Henson flew out to right field; C. Teal hit over second, the ball hitting an obstruction and bounding past Girdley toward the fence. Teal, on the way to third base, continued home on Girdley's poor throw, thereby getting credit for a home run on what should have been no more than a single. C. Fisher was out, Myrick to Johnson; S. Timons was out to Myrick. The Bushers failed to score in their half.

In the second inning Stanton scored three. W. Brown hit for a single; J. Woody hit to Mills, who threw to Myrick who dropped the ball; Brown was safe on second, Woody safe on first; B. Blocker hit to Stevens, who touched third for-ing brown; Blocker being safe on third; Stevens stole second. The pitcher made a balk. Forney scoring and Stevens going to third; Johnson struck out; Heath flew out to center field.

From then on they settled down until the ninth inning, neither side being able to score, although in the seventh inning Stanton had three men on bases without one out.

Stanton in the ninth inning took the game. G. Blocker hit a single, taking a second on a balk by Forney; B. Henson hit for two bases,

Many Roads... which one shall I Take?

WHEN the long road dips sweetly down a hill and ends up in a blank and puzzled amazement at a jumble of cross-roads, unless you know your way, you'll push down hard on the brakes! And then look around to see where you're going.

Five roads jutting off in various directions of the compass. One road is yours. But a brief glance—and you're off! On the right road. For a sign was over each road to direct your way!

Just as the directions point out the way in a maze of roads; so does modern advertising guide you in the right direction through the multitude of products in present-day markets.

Advertising points the way, straight and clear, to economical and advantageous marketing. It distinguishes the good product. It directs your way by indicating the article best adapted to your needs.

Read the advertisements every day as carefully as you would the signs above the cross-roads. They point out your buying road as surely and as safely!

MODERNISM FLAILED IN SUNDAY TALK AT HOFMEISTER CAMPAIGN; TARRYING MEETING TO BE HELD TUESDAY AT 2

The Sunday night service of Hofmeister campaign at the tabernacle on Colorado street was attended by a large crowd. "Building the Home" was the message in the morning.

ment is an anarchist and Bolshevik. In science he is an evolutionist. In business he is a communist. In art he is a futurist. In music his name is jazz hound. In religion, he is an atheist and infidel. Modernism is rationalism, liberalism and destructive criticism. In short it is rank infidelity!

The evangelist said: "Any one who is familiar with the history of nationalism, knows that whenever in the past it has intruded itself into the church it has been ultimately beaten down by an evangelistic movement, hence the attack on Modernism upon the work of the evangelist and revivals of the evangelical type. They fight the work of the evangelist and mass evangelism, and have tried to lead the deluded church into a card-signing program called, 'visitation evangelism' which merely stacks the church with plain hell-doomed sinners.

He said: "There are four things resulting from the wide-spread propaganda of Modernism: The increase of crime, suicide, insanity, and social unrest. Modernism destroys faith in God, wrecks faith in the Bible, eliminates acceptance of Christ, takes away the hope of immortality and is followed by a deluge of crime."

Victor and Vanquished in Bolivia

The brief but bloody revolutions which swept La Paz, capital city of Bolivia, swept aside the dual regime of Dictator Hernando Siles and Inspector-General Hans Kundt, shown at right, to establish a new military government under General Carlos Blanco Galindo, left. Five hundred persons were reported killed in the fighting directed against Kundt, one-time German Major-General, naturalized as a Bolivian in 1919. Galindo, head of the military committee which will supervise the election of a constitutional assembly and parliament, has studied abroad and has received several foreign decorations.

Errorgrams

CORRECTIONS (1) Government, in the examiners' conversation, is spelled incorrectly. (2) The naturalization requirements is five years residence, instead of four. (3) Two witnesses are necessary, instead of one. (4) The man in the center should say, this is he, instead of "him." (5) The scrambled word is MOONLIGHT.

ready to do anything possible to get a road at once, and they were given assurance, in turn, that Andrews favored the route and action might be expected soon. County Judge Matthews, Commissioners, Thornberry, White, Casleberry and Irwin were present to hear the delegations and consider action. Judge Hill and Preston, speaking for the county and for the chamber of commerce, as well as Schaubauer, a chamber committeeman, pointed out the benefit to Andrews as well as to Midland.

TWO CACTUSES BLOOM

ODESSA, Texas, July 14. (UP).—When one of the strange and rare Mexican century plants happens to bloom "in captivity" it is quite an incident in the life of the gardener, but when two happen to bloom simultaneously in the same garden, it is an event worth noting, according to R. T. Reid, cactus fancier and local hotel man, who has two of the plants blooming in his novel cactus garden here at this time. The Mexican century plant, according to Reid, who is an authority on rare species of cactus, is a form of cactus that grows wild in certain portions of Old Mexico and which blooms in about 75 years in its native state. It grows in rock desert-like spaces, and requires very little water. When transplanted to a better soil and watered regularly, the plants bloom in about 25 years, he said. This last information was taken from reports on one of these plants kept in the University of Texas campus for some time.

MIDLAND MAN SPEAKS

M. J. Williamson, assistant scout executive for the Buffalo Trails council, west district, will speak to Odessa Lions at the Tuesday luncheon of that body. Williamson will explain scout problems and activities.

All-State Managers Invited to Abilene

By MAX BENTLEY.

West Texans aren't doing so badly in an all-state way. The West Texas chamber of commerce has learned that at least 20 residents of the territory it serves are presidents of state organizations of various sorts. And probably there are others.

- ident Texas League of Municipalities. L. S. Gardner, Waco, president Texas Independent Telephone Association. Ray H. Nichols, Vernon, president Texas Press Association. Dr. R. H. Graham, Wichita Falls, district governor of Texas Lions clubs. L. A. Grimes, Abilene, president Texas division of Southwest Waterworks Association. Mrs. J. O. Montrieff, Fort Worth, president Texas Federation of Music Clubs. Ray Rector, Stamford, grand chancellor Independent Order of Odd Fellows. A. H. Demke, El Paso, president Texas Baby Chick Association. Miss Belle Wellborn, Abilene, president County and District Clerk's Association of Texas. John B. Ray, Abilene, president Texas Pharmaceutical Association. Mrs. John B. Ray, Abilene, president Woman's Auxiliary, Texas Pharmaceutical Association. John Q. McAdams, Winters, president Texas Bankers Association. T. A. Kincaid, Ozona, president Sheep & Goat Raisers Association of Texas. H. G. Lucas, Brownwood, president National Pecan Growers Association. H. W. Galbraith, Amarillo, president Texas Line Yard Association. E. U. Bradley, Amarillo, state commander Veterans of Foreign Wars. Paul Rogers, Fort Worth, president Ice Cream Manufacturers' Association of Texas. Otto Atkinson, San Angelo, president Texas Natural Milk Producers Association. Ross H. Wolfe, Stephenville, president Texas Pecan Growers Association.

The Monday night dinner is preliminary toward making this affair an annual feature at WTCC conventions, announces D. A. Bandeen, manager of the regional organization. Bandeen admits the list compiled by his office is incomplete. "There are probably 50 to 75 West Texans now heading all-state organizations," he said, "and we want every one of them to communicate with us at once. If they are eligible for the dinner, we want them to wire acceptances to the Stamford headquarters office, and be on hand without fail."

The nation's vacation industry does a $3,000,000,000 a year business, as much as the iron and steel companies.
