THURSDAY MORNING IS DATE

Public Asked Attend Ceremony At New Structure

Boy scouts of the four Midland troops have been designated by County Judge M. R. Hill and the county commissioners to officiate in laying the cornerstone of the new court house, the ceremony being scheduled for Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

The Rev. Leslie A. Boone, chairman of the local Boy Scout court of honor, was requested by county officials to arrange the program. Boy Scouts, in their ceremony, will be under the direction of Scout Executive Marcos Williamson and Kenneth Ambrose, chairman of the local council.

County officials will be on the program for a part in laying the cornerstone, Boone said today. All four troops of scouts, including all scoutmasters and assistants, will have a part, Williamson announced.

County Judge Hill extended an invitation to the public to attend the ceremony, on behalf of the commissioners' court which is in session here today.

BANDIT SLAIN; 4 OTHERS TRAPPED BY VIGILANTES

TERRE HAUTE, Indiana, Aug. 11. (UP)—Farmer vigilantes trapped four filling station bandits near here early today, shot one dead and captured three of his companions.

The dead man was identified as Roy Long, son of Charles F. Long, former county road superintendent. Long's death caused the bandit automobile to careen into a ditch, but the bandits took up a stand behind it and fought for several minutes before surrendering.

Enjoyed Vacation In Coastal Cities

Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Vickers returned home Sunday afternoon after a vacation and fishing trip on the Galveston and fishing trip. They were house guests of W. N. Blanton, vice president and general manager of the Houston chamber of commerce, while in that city. Vickers was a guest of the Galveston chamber at a banquet given by Galveston in honor of F. V. Trubee Davidson, assistant secretary, of war, and renewed an invitation to Davidson to visit Midland.

They spent a week at Magnolia Beach, where Vickers was one of the speakers at an inter-city Rotary meeting of Port Lavaca, Yoakum, Cuero, Victoria and Goliad. The Midland man spoke on "Domestic Relations." The Midlanders were there a week and had fish every meal but two or three. Publicity for Midland was procured in Houston and San Antonio newspapers. "Midland was by far the best town we saw anywhere near its size. Midland showed more activity and progress than some cities of 10,000. The fact is, the only city we saw that compared with Midland in spirit and alert people was Houston," the Midland secretary said.

NEW GOVERNOR TO HAVE MANY STATE JOBS TO FILL UP

AUSTIN, Aug. 11.—The next governor of Texas will have many appointive offices to fill. If Ross Sterling is elected he will have one more than would Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, for he will vacate a place on the state highway commission.

He will have the appointment both of his own successor and the successor of Cone Johnson of Tyler, whose term expires in 1931.

D. K. Martin of San Antonio is generally expected to be offered one of the places if Sterling is elected. Martin is a former state highway commissioner, and was active on the Citizens' Committee of 31 which advocated a statewide road bond issue before the legislature.

If Mrs. Ferguson is elected and Sterling does not resign, he will remain chairman of the state state highway commission until 1933.

Two men were killed and three injured. Piers had placed the money in a sack, and was ready to give it to the bandit when police appeared. At sight of the uniforms, the bandit threw down his satchel, believed to have contained nitroglycerine.

FIRST UNION CHURCH SERVICE MEETS WITH UNANIMOUS HARMONY AS HUNDREDS THROG AUDITORIUM

The first union church service, under the plan worked out by four Protestant churches for Sunday nights during the remainder of the summer, met with tremendous success. The First Christian church, with regular seating capacity of approximately 650, was packed with chairs in the aisles and with large numbers on the rostrum, the crowd being estimated at more than 700, when the Rev. Leslie A. Boone, pastor of the First Methodist church, delivered an outstanding sermon on "Time for Preparation."

At the beginning of the service, a brief program was given in which charter for Boy Scout Troop No. 52 was delivered by Scout Executive Marcos Williamson, the Rev. Howard Peters, pastor of the First Christian church, accepting it on behalf of the organization. The troop has 17 members, and G. W. Brennan is scoutmaster.

Special music, arranged by Mrs. Lee Cornelius, added greatly to the evening service. A saxophone duet by Messrs. Bush and Walter Elkin was one of the features. The Misses Dunaway and Mr. Ned Watson assisted in the choir music with violins.

The Rev. Boone drew a synopsis from the life of David, who, although anointed as a king in his boyhood, took time to prepare for the years of service ahead of him. The triumph of his success was due to the personal leadership of God and to the complete submission of his interests to God's will. The same axiom, the preacher said, holds true in the lives of men since that time, even today. The speaker showed that most of the really great men had taken time to prepare for service and had not entered into responsible work without study and work.

At the close of the service, the congregation united in singing one stanza of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." As the song swelled into great volume, the harmony of the several hundred members of various congregations demonstrated the success of the plan of the union service.

It was estimated that the crowd was the largest to have assembled for a regular church service in Midland.

Releasing "Chick" Richardson from former alleged connection with the recent killing of Mrs. Jeanette Lloyd, whose body was found on the highway near Toyah July 27, left the case without developments except that it will be investigated by the Reeves county grand jury which will convene in September, Pecos dispatches say.

Richardson was released by District Attorney Roy Biggs of Pecos, who has been working on the case, without examining trial late last week.

He had been held on account of similarity in his laundry mark with one stamped on a shirt sleeve found near the scene of the murder.

Meanwhile, no other arrests have been reported, the case being referred to the grand jury with such information as Biggs and other officials working on the case have discovered.

The body of Mrs. Lloyd, a Midland chiropractor, former wife of J. R. Lloyd, also a chiropractor, was found on the highway with her skull crushed, marks on face and body indicated a terrific struggle. Near the scene was found a sleeve torn from a shirt, and farther west the remainder of the shirt, with the laundry mark intact. This clue was traced to a Midland laundry. Richardson's arrest and detention followed. From the first he denied ownership of the garment, and all knowledge of and connection with the crime. No other arrests have been made.

MIDLAND MAN IN STICK-UP

Reports are current today that a man recently working in Midland is held by Lea county officers for alleged participation in "sticking up" a Hobbs business house. While the Midland man engaged the store proprietor in conversation at the rear of the building, the report says, two others held up clerks and secured a quantity of cash. Later, officers arrested the three when they were found dividing the pot. Details were not available here.

Striking sulphur water at 4390 about noon Sunday and drilling to a total depth of 4398 feet, the Penn and Devonian No. 1 Leon Goodman wildcat test in northern Ector county is today in process of plugging.

Oil showings at a higher level caused the hole to be watched closely by the oil fraternity, but failed to increase as the test was deepened.

Meanwhile, interest in that area is centered in the operations of the Southern Crude No. 1 Cowden, six miles east, as it nears the 4,000 foot level.

WEATHER HOLDING PUBLIC INTEREST AS RAINS SPREAD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (P)—With weather holding national interest, the weather bureau today maintained predictions of showers this week in portions of the south area.

Showers and heavy rains hit parts of Kansas and Missouri overnight. Precipitation is predicted for the Texas coast tonight. Heavy rains at Lawrence, Kansas, reduced the temperature to 58 degrees.

Detailed drought reports are before the president here, seeking relief measures.

Dry timber lands are blazing on the upper Michigan peninsula, with many separate fires.

SENATORIAL RACES HOLD SPOTLIGHT

Last Presidential Campaign Felt In Elections

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11. (P)—Primaries will be held in four states tomorrow, the last presidential campaign overshadowing three. In Ohio, where republican candidates have little opposition, the issues are mostly local.

In Nebraska, the regular republicans are seeking to defeat Senator G. W. Norris who supported Al Smith, the regular candidate being State Treasurer W. W. Stebbins.

Alabama democrats, who refused Senator Tom Heflin a place on the ballot because he supported Herbert Hoover, causing him to run as an independent, are seeking a successor between John H. Bankhead and Frederick I. Thompson.

R. W. Campbell is opposing Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas for the senatorial nomination. Robinson is making a vigorous dry campaign leading to the belief that he seeks to counteract the effect of his sharing the last national ticket with Al Smith.

Oklahomans Voting

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 11. (P)—Oklahomans in their second primary tomorrow are deciding between W. M. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray and Frank Buttram following a bitter gubernatorial campaign.

Doris Bates, Dean Hayes and Johnny Melott were seriously injured. Mann disappeared and none had sufficiently recovered to tell a coherent story.

PAYNE AND THE INSANITY PLEA.

A. D. Payne, confessed murderer of his wife in one of the most dastardly crimes ever committed in Texas, says in his cell at Stinnett that he is sane and desires a speedy trial, that he is ready to go to the electric chair to atone for his crime.

A Midland man, only yesterday, remarked, "That fellow Payne is undoubtedly crazy." That's just what Payne probably wants the public to think. In his 20,000 word confession, one can almost read between the lines and see where he is building up a basis for an insanity plea, all the time insisting that he is sane and wants to atone for his crime.

Even if Payne had not confessed to the heinous deed, and had plead not guilty when brought to trial, evidence in the case points clearly to his guilt, that he got his wife out of the way because of his infatuation for another woman, that he had insurance policies on his children and especially wanted to take the life of his small son whom he believed to know too much about a previous attempt on Mrs. Payne's life.

Payne is guilty of a crime, which, when evidence is presented to any jury, could result in no just sentence except the one he has said he is ready for, electrocution. Yet, Payne, in his confession, is doubtlessly building up a sentiment which, when his relatives or lawyers enter the insanity plea, will attempt to have sentiment already moulded, that he is insane. Let us hope that the jury selected will be too smart for that.

THE THREE AMENDMENTS.

It is to be hoped that with the next week's every citizen will make a point of reading and studying the text of the two constitutional amendments proposed in Senate Joint Resolution No. 19, passed by the last Legislature. This resolution is now being published in newspapers in most of the county seats, as required by law, in order to inform the voters prior to their balloting upon the amendments in the regular election on Nov. 4. No constitutional change of greater merit unhandicapped by any prospect of increased cost of government has ever been proposed.

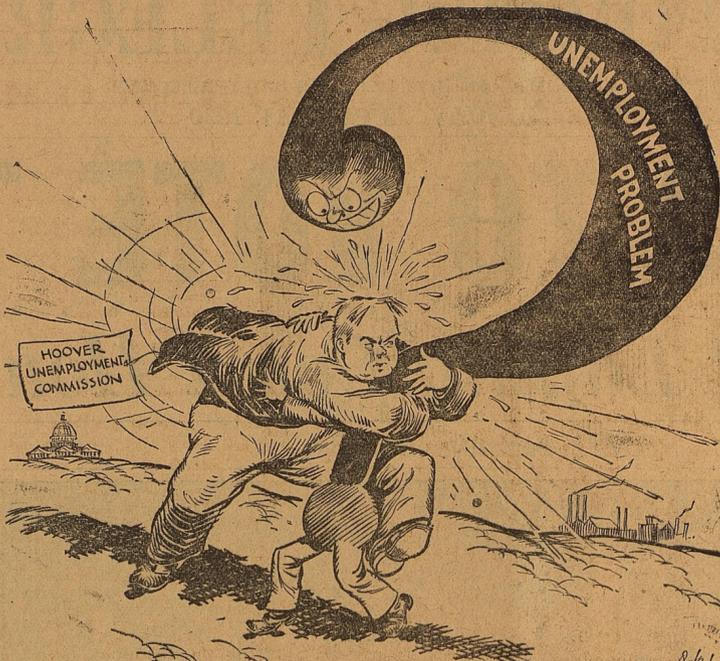

The first amendment would alter the constitution at the point where the time for convening regular sessions is set forth. The change would make the regular session of 120 days, instead of 60 days as at present. Further, it would divide this 120-day session into three periods, one for introducing bills, one for committee study and reports, and one for final action upon measures. The first period would be 30 days, the second 30 days and the last 60 days. Provisions are made for the consideration at any time of emergency measures, and for altering the procedure by a four-fifths vote of either House. The purpose of these changes is to improve the efficiency of the Legislature, to insure the deliberate consideration of measures, and to avoid the necessity for called sessions.

The second amendment has to do with the compensation of members of the Legislature. The new schedule would provide pay of $10 a day for the regular session, with $5 per day for special sessions. It would reduce the travel pay of Legislators 10 cents per mile. The net result, through reduction of the mileage pay and elimination of special sessions would likely be an actual reduction of the cost of holding legislative sessions, despite the increase in the per day pay of Legislators. At the same time the increased per day pay would assure Legislators of a more stable salary income which would enable better qualified men to make the sacrifice necessary to serve the State in this respect.

Another amendment which also will be up for a vote Nov. 4, House Joint Resolution No. 11, would place lands owned and held by the University of Texas in the taxable category so far as county purposes are concerned. This amendment would enable counties in which are located large bodies of University land to receive from that land, which benefits from county improvements, taxation equal to that of privately owned land in the county.

All three of these amendments should be adopted, the first two in the interest of governmental efficiency and economy and the third in the interest of justice to a number of Texas counties which now are encumbered by large areas of non-taxable lands.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Plenty "Employment" Guaranteed for This Party, Anyhow!

What to Eat and Drink ... During Hot Weather

Heat is provided for the human body by the food he eats. Some foods are likely to provide heat much more readily than others. The carbohydrates and fats are distinctly energy foods. When these foods are burned in the body the energy is liberated in the form of heat. Some people know enough to avoid fat foods in hot weather.

Now people know enough to avoid sweets and alcohol in hot weather. The nineteenth hole never does such a rushing business as in July and August. This is largely due to the fact that we mix our alcohol with cubes of ice and cold carbonated waters. It feels cold going down, but it turns loose a lot of heat later.

It is a simple matter to reduce the diet in the hot weather by avoiding fats, decreasing greatly the pastries, and decreasing to a considerable extent the protein foods. Meat, fish, cheese and milk are excellent foods for hot weather, because they are in most instances concentrated and easily digestible. Meat may easily be reduced in hot weather to not more than five days a week with meat at one meal. Vegetables, such as peas, beans, cole slaw, spinach, carrots, lettuce and tomatoes provide bulk, vitamins and mineral salts, without providing too much heat and too much difficulty for the digestive tract. Fresh fruit aids digestion in winter or summer.

In hot weather food is likely to spoil due to the temperature. With modern electrical refrigeration almost any food may be kept safely during the hot season. However, if there is the slightest suspicion that food has spoiled due to bacterial growth and fermentation, it is safer to discard the food and eat something else. Most of the dysentery and disturbances of digestion that take place in summer are due to the eating of food that has not been properly kept.

The danger from unsafe food is only exceeded by the danger from unsafe water. Nowadays health departments attempt to label springs and wells and water supplies that are safe and to bar from public use those that are unsafe. Nevertheless every year a considerable number of people develop typhoid fever or other infections of the digestive tract because of drinking unsafe water.

Moderate amounts of fluids taken several times during the day aid the digestion greatly and provide material for keeping the tissues of the body free from accumulated waste products.

In the tropics there is an old rule about alcoholic drinks. While men in the tropics have become accustomed to alcohol as a means of consolation for the conditions they have to undergo. The rule is no alcohol before sundown, take alcohol only with food, and don't mix your drinks. In our country the advice may be superfluous, but in case anyone has a considerable amount of alcoholic liquors remaining from pre-prohibition days it may be well to bear it in mind.

The person who lives in the tropics is likely to take a siesta once each day. He usually takes his siesta on the piazza. The European in the tropics seldom rests enough. There is nothing so cooling and restful as a nap after luncheon in the hot weather. One arises from this refreshed and much less likely to complain of the heat. If however, it is impossible to take a nap at noon, there is no reason why one should not rest a half hour before dinner in the evening and take his siesta on the piazza on Sunday.

One of the most important factors in keeping cool is not to get hot. This refers to the emotional as well as the physical point of view. Overgoing in work or in play or in emotion is bound to raise the temperature and to keep it up. Fussing and fuming over slowness in hot weather does not increase the speed, but it does raise the temperature. It is very easy to get irritated in hot weather. It is much cooler to avoid irritation and to be satisfied with things as they are while waiting for the temperature to moderate.

It has become popular of late to affect a glorious sun tan as an indication of health. A tan skin is not really an indication of a healthy body. A tanned skin may carry with it irritation from burning. Furthermore the exact amount of ultraviolet rays needed by the average white person is relatively slight. The effect of overdosage may be headache, irritation of the di-

Prohibition Foes Smile and Drys Groan Over Election Possibility That the Congressional Districts Surrounding Washington Will Have a Wet Representative in the House

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Another election possibility has smitten Washington with both delight and consternation, the former emotion being that of the wets and the latter that of the drys.

The possibility is that in the next Congress the three congressional districts which surround the District of Columbia will each have a wet representative in the House.

Of course that would not be any body blow to prohibition, but it would not look very nice. The high prohibition enforcement officials of the nation and the chiefs of that big dry organizations here simply wouldn't be able to leave Washington without riding through or passing over wet territory, and the psychological effect of that might come to have an unfortunate influence.

The eighth Virginia district, one of the three, is the home congressional district of the late George Washington. The other two are the fifth and sixth Maryland.

Washington is always interested in these nearby counties. Thousands of folks who work here live in the counties adjacent. Most other Washingtonians either have summer shacks in the three bordering congressional districts or spend their Sundays on motor jaunts over Maryland and Virginia roads and get to know the country as well as the streets of this city. Much of the food consumed here comes from farms in the same territory. To say nothing of the rye whiskey, which is distilled and shipped here from all three districts.

The fifth Maryland district, which includes Montgomery, St. Mary's, Prince Georges and Anne Arundel counties, will be represented by a wet in any event. That seems appropriate. St. Mary's county produces the famous product known as "S. M. R." The initials stand for "St. Mary's rye" or "Southern Maryland rye," as you will. When a good citizen goes to jail in St. Mary's county he is allowed out during the day, but forced to come in at night. If he happens to be a newly-married man who is still in love with his wife he is given the option of spending his days in jail and nights at home.

Anyway, that district is now represented by Congressman Stephen W. Gambrill, and his opponent, for November, A. K. Love—the Republican leader of St. Mary's county—recently joined Gambrill in the wet ranks.

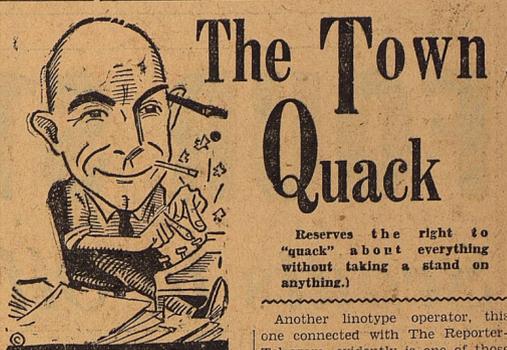

Congressman Frederick N. Zihlman of the sixth Maryland is a dry, and he will be opposed in November by former Congressman D. J. C. ...

gestive tract and other changes which are beginning to be understood.

A moderate amount of sun-tan acquired through reasonable exposure over a considerable period of time may be healthful. Unfortunately the average worker tries to get all his tan in two days of vacation and suffers the remaining 12 days because of too much enthusiasm in the beginning.

Another linotype operator, this one connected with The Reporter-Telegram, evidently is one of those citizens who believes North Loraine is too narrow a street. Every night, he leaves his parking lights burning so other cars won't run into his coup.

Hankins is off this week on his vacation. Now don't ask where he went, because Reporter-Telegram employees don't have any destination when they take vacations. Hankins is just out, that's all. And the boss told me he was going to expect some work out of me besides writing this column. When he was gone, I didn't help Hankins a whole lot, but you may recognize some of my stories scattered through the paper this week.

"In the Tri-County League", that popular sport column, will be one of the first things missed in Hankins' absence. The editor assigned this column to me, which was the first I knew there was such a column or such a league. If I can find out what teams are in the league before the end of the week, I may begin to give you the lowdown on the entire season, what has happened and what may happen.

Well, who would walk in this morning but Old Baxley himself. He took leave of the office last Monday, saying he wanted three days off to have his tonsils out. He was able to look in for a while while today, a week later. At that, he didn't do so bad and got back quicker than I expected him. Until he came back, we were short only four of the force down here.

Miss Herb and the official scorekeeper both turned in box scores of the Busher vs. Stanton game to the editor this morning, so the one published may be a composite arrangement of the two. All unsatisfied ball players, write me about your troubles. I will see that you get justice, even if it means getting you canned from the league.

Judge Howard W. Smith and State Senator Frank L. Ball are the dry candidates. Thomas R. Keith, prominent Fairfax lawyer, and Grandall Mackey and E. H. DeJampetie are the wets.

Few Ties Are "Pure Silk"

By WILLIAM H. BALDWIN Author of "The Shopping Book" Written for NEA Service

In neckties, virtually everything used in the way of material, outside of real English Spitalfields silk, has some rayon in the fabric and such goods are no longer guaranteed as pure silk.

Beware of advertisements of "pure silk" neckties, for few are to be had in the general run of stores.

MIDLAND in 1912

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Reporter-Telegram will run during the next few weeks a brief review of personalities, anecdotes, happenings and other features that happened in the year 1912.

In the personal column it was stated that Lewis Byers was here on business from his ranch. Dr. J. B. Thomas made a professional trip to Big Spring. Dr. Lee returned after visiting his family at New Castle.

George Wein sprained his arm in a fall from a bicycle. Some miscreant out of the telephone lines leading to the ranch of W. F. Cowden from Midland. Godfrey Prece was in Midland buying a car of choice polo ponies.

A price cut on muslin underwear was much more daring than the style cut of said underwear.

Major W. T. Rankin, Confederate veteran and Mason, died at the age of 71.

The Fort Worth Record was the political authority for the statement that the year promised a democratic victory.

Doan's kidney pills staged a comeback by becoming more localized, a Midland citizen publicly endorsing their merits.

Civic pride was exemplified in the admonition to plant trees and beautify the city. An essay contest for the year preceding was decided and prize winners announced.

Lon Roberts and A. F. Currie sold bulls and saddle horses at Lamesa and Colorado. Dr. Ellis and wife were ill of meningitis. Notice of their deaths were carried in the January 26 issue.

Midland's Social Activities 10 Years Ago

Editor's Note: Social activities in Midland during the Halloween days have always been unusually gay for every group. The following articles taken from the October Midland Reporter in 1920 will reveal how the celebrations were enjoyed.

Halloween Festivities

A whole bottle of fun was uncocked in Midland last Friday night and elves and imps played their pranks and the evening was one of joy and hilarity. Parties were given in every corner of town and the good old spirit of Halloween held high carnival.

Halloween Party

A dinner lovely in its appointments was given Saturday evening by a young group of congenial girl friends in the pretty bungalow home of Miss Mary Barron.

The lights were turned low and only the soft glow of the Jack-o-Lantern centering the table broke the Stygian darkness. The table was lively, however, with its silver, glittering cut glass and handsome linen. The three-course dinner was delicious and while the feast was enjoyed the happy hours were further enlivened by music pure and sweet.

Covers were laid for Misses Mamie Moran, Annie May Patterson, Annie Merle Moran, Mary Barron, Leona McCormick, Messis, Allen Tolbert, Henry Wolcott, Elliott Barron, Bob Mahoney of El Paso, Earl Moran and Dee McCormick.

Miss Mabel Holt hosted the affair. The party-dance given by Mrs. O. E. Holt in compliment to her charming young daughter, Miss Mabel.

The receiving rooms were all lavishly decorated in the Halloween motif and the entire evening was jolly, happy, packed with fun and merriment.

The guest list was drawn chiefly from the high school set. The girls met at the home of Miss Jessie Hale and the boys called for them and all masked as spooks went to the lovely home of their little hostess.

Bill Haines Opens to Capacity Crowds at Ritz Theatre Sunday

The new Metro Goldwin Mayer starring vehicle for William Haines, "Way Out West," played to capacity crowds at both matinee and night performances at the Ritz yesterday.

The Ritz management stated that the picture drew heavier than any attraction in many weeks. To say that the crowds enjoyed the opening performances would sound mild in comparison to the furor of laughter throughout the entire length of the picture.

Picture fans have seen Haines play foot ball and base ball and they have seen him as sailor, a boob and a freshman along with most any other characterization you could think of, but they have never seen him ride broncs and fight his way out of thrilling western combats.

In his new picture he starts out as a circus side show concession agent and winds up on a wild and woolly Western ranch. He gets mixed up with fighting bulls, bucking broncos, he-men cowhands and what not, but he comes in on the home stretch with the bacon—he gets a girl, much to the chagrin of her cowboy admirer. Judging from comments on the first day audiences, the picture is probably the funniest Haines has ever made. It is a new and refreshing story and plot for the comedian, and he makes the most of every scene. The supporting cast are excellent. Lella Hyams who made her first appearance with him in "Alias Jimmie Valentine" and also played opposite him in "The Girl Said No," again scores a hit. Polly Moran, Cliff Edwards (Ukiele Ike) and all others of the cast will be remembered for their fine work. The picture is all talking, with excellent recording. It is to be shown again today and tomorrow, completing a three days run.

Guy Mac Laughlin of Houston arrived today for a visit with his sister, Mrs. John E. Adams.

Mrs. H. D. Holley and daughter, Myrtle, of Post were guests in the home of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Dean, yesterday.

Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

Choice recipes of two Big Spring women were selected as prize winners last week for the Market page contest being conducted by the Big Spring Herald. A recipe from each of these women is being printed for Midland women's use today.

Eggs Valencia Melt 3 tbsps butter in a sauce pan; add 1-1/2 cupsful of strained canned tomato juice and bring to the boiling point. Into the simmering tomato juice drop your eggs just as you would poach them in boiling water. When poached, remove, season, and serve on squares of toast.

Thicken the seasoned juice and serve as a sauce if desired. Garnish with parsley.—Mrs. V. M. Yates.

Tomato and Egg Salad 6 ripe tomatoes—6 boiled eggs—1-4 cup cheese—1-2 teaspoon salt mayonnaise, and dash of pepper.

Peel skins from tomatoes by dropping in boiling water, then in cold. Slash from bud end into four equal parts, do not break apart.

Cut boiled egg lengthwise into four equal parts—arrange tomato on salad plate by spreading petals and place a slice of egg between each petal, dust with salt and pepper. Place a spoonful grated cheese in center of each, and dot attractively with mayonnaise.—Mrs. J. A. Hambrick.

STANTON COPS FIRST HALF AS BUSHERS ARE ELIMINATED SUNDAY

Two-Day Polo Series with Texon Is Scheduled for Labor Day Events

PLAY-OFF SUNDAY SEES STANTON WIN 6-2 SCORE

While there may be some speculation as to which is the finer baseball team, the Bushers or Stanton, there will be no occasion for betting on which has earned the right to be called the better—that was settled beyond a doubt in the Stanton win over the Midland team Sunday afternoon, 6-2.

Messrs. B. Teal, C. Teal, Maxen-Storey, J. Woody, Cook, Timmons, Heaton and H. Woody started out as though they meant to annex the game. They had little to say, but for the first time during the season it could be understood by Midland just why Stanton led the league all season.

The main reason for the sudden switch to enlightenment was the work of Timmons, iron man slamban for Stanton. Using a subterranean delivery that confused the batters, right along as the ball came plopping lazily along against the shadow of the pitcher's body, he breezed right along to a win without being in trouble more than two or three times, and only one of these seriously.

The Stanton win was mostly a passive one; Midland gave it to the boys from the east, and bowed with apology as they did so, as it seemed. Fred Girdley, Busher left hander wrong handed the Stanton club right nobly for several innings, but he tried sitting on first and playing jacks with the ball at one crucial, as it later showed, time, only to come back a moment later and in an attempt to catch a man at second, threw to center field! Because of these two errors two men got on base when they should have been out; and both later scored.

Girdley did pitch a nice game in many respects, however; there was not more than two solid smashes collected off him, and his control was nice. Forney, who came in as a relief pitcher when Fred grew ineffective, showed well in his Marberry role, whiffing four men in a row and otherwise pitching a good brand of baseball.

But to Timmons of Stanton goes the honor of having done the trick, throughout the afternoon Midland batsmen fouled out, peeped out, hopped out or struck out in just about as near a 1-2-3 order as could be imagined.

The Busher big guns were silenced during the day and spiked Big Timmons. Sheppard collected a hit and a bunch of walks and Red Hill had a streak of luck that showed up in an infield hit going for a triple that scored a runner ahead and a hit down the right field line that allowed the center fielder to draw up safely at second.

English Polo Stars to Invade America

Britain's best are these four polo players, members of the English team which will meet the representative American quartet in the international matches at the Meadowbrook Club, Long Island, next September. Pictured above before a practice match near London, they are, left to right, Captain R. George, G. Balding, Captain C. T. I. Roark and Lewis Stacey.

The real reason why the Bushers went down before Stanton is probably to be found in the catching of Cook. This man has played with the Bushers and Oilers and other clubs, and knows everyone's batting weakness. And when he called for a ball in that weak place, Timmons was putting them in there. No mistake about that.

The Bushers lost playing rather good ball. They have no all-or should have none. Stanton simply worked them over. And that's that. But it would be interesting to see the clubs play a five game series. Despite the lack of an allbi for the game last Sunday, there would be some Busher money at such a play-off.

The box score:

HORSE RACES AND RIDING MARES ALSO ON CARD

Fast polo between a seasoned and well practiced Midland team and a hard riding four from Texon will be played at Cowboy Park, old Midland fair grounds, August 31 and September 1, it was announced this morning by B. W. "Timberline" Floyd and Spence Jewell, operators of the park.

Both teams will be well mounted when they appear here for the Sunday and Labor Day games, and in addition to the two polo games, some Labor day horse races are being arranged, and several events such as wild mare and steer riding may be staged.

The Texon team is a fierce aggregation, Midland men who saw them in a game yesterday with Merton, declare, "They kick their ponies in the sides worse than Clay," was Timberline Floyd's opinion on the game.

Proof of their hard and unrelenting riding on the ball is seen in reports of three "spills" in the game at Texon Sunday. Myrl Jewell refereed the game.

New Line-Up Here

The Midland team to go up against Texon will bring some new material into the local line-up. Every day, for weeks, practice has been under way by from six to eight Midland players, and some of the new men are making it hard for the veterans to hold positions.

The line-up on August 31 and September 1 will find Clay Floyd playing the No. 4 position and acting as pitcher. R. B. "Bum" Cowden will be the No. 3, "El" "Cowboy" Evans No. 2, and Clyde "Unk" Cowden No. 1.

In commenting on races to be arranged for Monday, Labor Day, Jewell and Floyd said the events would be worked out to fit the horses entered.

Wild mare riding, with hope of securing colored boy riders, is expected to produce fun, and some exceptionally wild steers may be brought to the arena to be ridden with sur-single.

"I have some wild mockies that have been throwing the race riders every day," Timberline Floyd said, "and I've about decided they aren't good for anything but bronc riding. If we can get the riders, we will lead them out."

WALKUP, RELEASED BY FORT WORTH; IS AIDING CATS MORE THAN HE WAS WHEN IN LINEUP. HORNET CHOICES

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer.

DALLAS, Aug. 11. (P)—Jimmy Walkup, the skinny southpaw who couldn't get anybody out for the Fort Worth Cats this spring, has won six out of seven starts since his sale to the last place Beaumont Exporters. His only loss was a 1 to 0 affair at Wichita Falls, which he should have won. He is pitching the finest ball in the league for the Shippers.

Fort Worth fans might be expected to shed bitter tears at the thought of Jimmy's success with the downstater. But they are not. Fact of the matter is that the little portlander who toiled so brilliantly for the Panthers in years ago has been doing the Snyder men almost as much good as if he had been turning in those victories for them.

All six have been chucked up against clubs fighting the Cats for the lead. Due largely to his efforts, the Felines climbed in the fortnight from fifth place to a half-game back of the Spudders. Jimmy, you might say, went right on pitching for his former owners.

They do say that Walkup's great reversal of form is traceable to Del Baker's catching. Del handed the southpaw for several seasons with the Cats. He learned in that time that Jimmy was most effective when permitted to pitch his own game. A sweeping curve is his best bet and he likes to use it freely. It was claimed that Frank Snyder, new Cat Pilot, tried to convert Walkup into a speedballer. It was no go.

Where Will Hornets Go? Texas, at least, kept the cream of its basketball talent from the past season. All three graduates of the national championship Athens team will enter colleges in their home state next fall.

Bennie Tomkins, All-American guard, will enroll at Terrill Prep School, Dallas, for a year of two of competition before entering a university. It probably will be Southern Methodist. Rowland, other member of the Hornets' guard combination, is headed for Texas Christian University. Reynolds, center, has decided to cast his lot with Baylor. It would have been fine if that trio could have selected the same school, and then been joined year after next by Freddie Tomkins, the All-American forward. What a basketball team that would have been in, say, 1933.

Prophet in Own Country The complex that makes a baseball club pass up brilliant young prospects right under its nose in favor of players it has never seen from hamlets hundreds and thousands of miles away will ever remain one of the mysteries of baseball. They do it, year after year.

"Dizzy" Dean, a Fort Sam Houston soldier, had opposing batters into knots around San Antonio for several years. But did the Indians grab him? Naw. The Houston Buffs did, however, farmed him out up at St. Joseph for a spell, and then brought him back the other day. He faced the Indians in his first game—fanned 1 and allowed only six hits. The baseball player, like the prophet, has to travel about to get a break.

On Round-the-World Flight

Out to beat the Graf Zeppelin's 21-day record for a globe-circling flight, Ted Lundgren and his plane here are pictured at Roosevelt Field, Long Island, where final plans were made for the Atlantic hop. Lundgren, right, a pilot and inventor of navigating instruments, flew his Enso monoplaner from Los Angeles but expected to add a crew of two before attempting a nonstop flight to Berlin as the first leg of his journey. The ship, shown above, is equipped to carry 1,100 gallons of fuel.

Chicago who spent hours lying in a field, a pair of borrowed opera glasses glued to his eyes, watching the stars move through space. He visited the University of Chicago frequently, asking hundreds of questions of professors of astronomy, until the acute interest he displayed in the subject led these men to make it possible for him to obtain a scientific education in the school.

"Every time I got a chance I would look through the telescope," Novack recalled. "Many a night I spent in the university's observatory when other young fellows were out darning and having a good time. Even today he makes frequent visits to the famous Yerkes observatory at Williams Bay, Wis.

MICHIGAN MAN POSITIVE MARS IS INHABITED

ESCANABA, Mich., Aug. 11. (UP)—He spends his days selling jewelry in his modest shop but at night John B. Novack roams the heavens with the aid of his telescope and dreams of the August in 1945 when he will be able to view Mars at close range. For 35 years this owner of the only private astronomical observatory in Michigan, has scanned the heavens, ground lenses for observatories all over America and avidly pursued his hobby in every spare moment. Many renowned astronomers are his personal friends and by reason of his degree from the University of Chicago, he is entitled to be called professor; yet he will patiently discuss astronomy with anyone who is interested, especially Mars which he is confident is inhabited.

Novack's interest in the heavens dates back some 40 years when he was a penniless little orphan in

All members of the state board of education fall to the governor's appointment. There will be one vacancy in the state insurance commission, the place now held by J. W. DeWeese. The term of R. B. Walthral already has expired on the state board of control, so Gov. Dan Moody is expected to fill that before the new governor takes office.

John F. Wallace of Teague, who had been mentioned for the place, apparently has disqualified himself by again seeking his post in the state legislature. Holding it would prevent his being appointed member of the board of control until the term for which he was elected to the legislature expires.

On the board of regents of the University of Texas the terms of Marcellus Foster of Houston, Sam Neathery of Houston and H. J. Litcher Stark of Orange expire. On the A. and M. board the terms of Raleigh White of Brady, W. A. Wurzbach of San Antonio and H. G. Schumacher of Houston expire in 1931.

Houston Harte of San Angelo and Thomas Jackson of McKinney have terms on the board of Texas Technological college which expire in 1931.

Tom Ball of Houston, Henry Paulus of Yoakum and John E. Hill of Amarillo have expiring terms on the board of regents for the state teacher colleges, and the terms of C. W. Connelley of Eastland and R. H. Hoffman of Denton expire on the board of the College of Industrial Arts, or Texas Woman's college, as it has been renamed.

All the board for the North Texas Junior Agricultural college at Arlington have terms ending in 1931.

All members of the state pardon board are appointive at once by a new governor.

On the state prison board the terms of Fred Horton of Greenville and J. H. B. Holderby of Fort Worth will expire in 1931.

land for three years, excepting only the Dallas and Ennis crowds at the tabernacle last summer.

The public approval of the union service, the fine spirit manifest, the development of a Christian spirit in a fine way, and the fact that the service was a true "victory service" were points of success mentioned by local pastors this morning.

The service next Sunday night will be at the Presbyterian church, the Rev. Howard Peters, pastor of the First Christian church, being the speaker.
