Vice President Fred Pelton and N. W. Martin, bomber, were killed when the nitroglycerin bomb went off after the bomber had asked for $10,000 and police began to arrive at the bank.

The complaint stated she did "willfully, with malice aforethought, advise, command and encourage Martin to commission the offense."

Dot not Hot

Heat waves may be a problem to the farmers but they don't mean a thing to pretty Dorothy Lee, screen star, above, who keeps cool in this well-ventilated outfit. Agent and Chamber Seek Extensions

The county home demonstration agent, Miss Genavieve Deryberry and the Midland chamber of commerce, are collecting data to assist farmers in the possible construction of rural telephone lines into the Midland exchange.

Farming communities, notably Prairie Lee, Valley View, and Busy Bee, and also Cotton Flat, are seeking rural telephones. Data on construction costs, maintenance and other information will be provided the farmers by Miss Deryberry and the Midland chamber. Information collected Saturday tended to show that party lines might be constructed on an economical basis.

Has Greatest Pay Roll in Midland

Not many people know that probably the biggest single payroll in Midland is that of the Air Spray Painting company.

Some weeks since the concern bought its own lot and erected a warehouse in the southeast part of Midland the payroll has run as high as $2,000 a week. The company confines its work to tank painting by the spraying process. It has just completed painting 63 tanks on the Southern Crude farm at Wickett.

The company has a staff ranging from 12 to 30 men, depending on the amount of work to do. All of them work out of Midland, and are usually paid in this city. E. S. King, vice president, is local manager. Headquarters of the company is in Dallas.

J. F. Lawrence, secretary-treasurer, Saturday requested that he be sent a Midland chamber of commerce membership. "Your business men have done great things for Midland through the chamber of commerce. Just like the Dallas chamber made that city, and I want to support the Midland chamber," he said.

Lawrence now lives in Dallas, though he lived here for nearly a year.

COTTON CO-OP IS EXPLAINED IN A MEETING FRIDAY

Brief explanation of the functioning of the Federal Farm Cooperative Cotton bureau was made Friday by T. N. Carswell of Abilene and J. H. Greene of Colorado to a small group in the office of the county agent, Frankt Wendt, S. O. Golliday, a cotton farmer, attended the meeting.

Literature explaining the co-op will be sent out through the agency of the Midland chamber of commerce with no comment or recommendation whatever from that body, but merely as a matter of assisting the farmer to get the literature so he may inform himself and form his own opinion. The expense will be paid by the Texas Cotton Cooperative bureau.

More than 400 farmers in Scurry county, 217 in Mitchell county and many in other counties of West Texas have joined the co-op. This is the first attempt the federal government has ever made to help the farmer directly in his marketing, and many farmers are trying to experiment. They know present plans of marketing cotton are not succeeding, hence, they are going into the proposition to try to learn, or in the spirit of "trying anything once."

The literature will be mailed out by the Midland chamber within a few days, and it is hoped people will study it for what it may be worth.

A general rain, the first in months, fell over Iowa today.

His Geography Is Cause for Arrest; Several Pay Fines

The life of a motorcycle patrolman has its humor and romance.

Bryan Middleton after watching Sheriff A. C. Francis and his methods can almost spot a car thief and suspicious character from one section line to another.

Bryan was riding along last week and saw a couple of youths driving west. The car bore a North Carolina license number.

"Where you boys from?" he asked. "North Carolina," one of the fellows said.

"From what town?" "Charleston."

"Turn around and come with me," the cop said. "You'd better study your geography." The car had been stolen two months ago. One of the boys gave his name as Orr; the other, Aker, is better known as Isaac McGee, the officer said.

The motorcycle policeman picked up another stolen vehicle during the week. A man who gave his name as Croft was taken into custody.

Sheriff Francis and Middleton arrested a man Thursday for driving a big car that had been taken from a Del Rio man. The owner of the machine had been "dumped" from his car. The man arrested said his name was Teague. An officer said he is an ex-convict.

A man who resembled "Hop Toe" Stanley, wanted in Fort Worth as a suspect in the Lake Worth burning murder, was taken into custody during the week and finger printed. He bore resemblance to the man wanted in practically every respect except for the Bertillion impressions.

Middleton gets cards regularly from motorists he has arrested on the highways. These cards are generally written in an appreciative style, the signers stating their appreciation for courtesies extended by the officer. Two cards arrived by post Saturday, one of them from British Columbia, the other from Boston. The latter card was written by an old veteran of the Spanish-American war. "And they all write that they haven't been arrested since the Midland incidents," the motor cop said.

GREAT LINER TAHATI IS DISABLED; FEAR FELT AS BOATS RUSH TO RESCUE

Several Prominent Americans on Board; a Hole Caused by Loss of Propellor Causes Break in Bulkheads

(P)—Three hundred and seventeen members of the passenger list and crew of the disabled steamer Tahati, one of the largest on the Pacific, were in open lifeboats today in the South sea, awaiting succor from three steamers rushing to where the ship was abandoned yesterday after springing a leak 400 miles southwest of Raratonga island, in the Cook group. Americans on Passenger List

SUVA, Fiji, Aug. 16. (UP)—Many prominent Americans are among the group adrift in the Pacific in small boats as they are fleeing from the foundered steamer Tahati.

While a few members of the crew remained to pump desperately in the flooded engine room, all passengers and most of the crew were ordered to the lifeboats as the engine room bulkheads gave way under swells which, pounded against the vessel's sides for nearly 24 hours.

Though rescue vessels were proceeding toward the stricken ship, fears were felt for many occupants of the small boats.

The Tahati began shipping water yesterday through a gaping hole left by loss of her propellor. Her last position was radioed as 460.

SAFER MOTHERHOOD

In these days of stock market crashes, drought, and unemployment, it is interesting to note that one or two things in the world are improving. The infant mortality rate is one of them. According to a report just issued by the American Child Health Association, there were 66.2 deaths among each thousand births during 1929.

Of course this number is far too large. Just one death is an extravagant gesture. But when we consider the fact that in spite of stock market crashes and drought and unemployment, the present rate ranks second to the lowest rate ever recorded for cities in the United States, we appreciate our national progress. In 1927, during days of greater prosperity, the recorded rate was 64.9.

Fifteen years the rate was near 100. Today it has fallen until it is only two-thirds of what it was just after the World War started. We are appreciating, more and more, the sacrifice and cost which are involved in the creation of human life. As we grow more enlightened we are enacting laws for the promotion of the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy.

It is interesting to note that a great deal of the legislative work along this line has come about during the last ten years, since women have received the ballot. They are responsible to a large degree for the passage of the famous Sheppard-Towner Act which established a federal bureau to carry on maternity research work and disseminate helpful knowledge.

So long as we are placing a high premium on life, endeavoring to save it, and succeeding in that endeavor, our progress is upward.

Other conditions will improve. They always have. If we can keep the health of the nation sound and continue to cut down the infant mortality rate, which used to be such a dragon in our forest, we are proceeding up the mountain slope of achievement.

We are not there, by any matter of means. Sixty-six and a fraction deaths from every thousand is far too many. But we have the satisfaction of knowing that in spite of the economical bumps and bruises of the present day, we are all agreed that life is distinctly worth saving.

AS OTHERS SEE US

Over in India, the British officials are objecting to American movies. They are blaming the length of our kisses, the meandering love of our theme-songs, and the way in which our heroes and heroines of the silver screen do a grand fade-out to live happily ever after, for the fact that there is discontent in India.

Just what all of this has got to do with Gandhi's desire to make salt from the sea water is rather a problem. Just how the fact that somebody's love story ended with wedding bells should encourage an uprising in Calcutta or any other eastern city we do not know.

It would rather seem that objection is a compliment to American life as shown on the screen. Life in India, as the last few years have revealed, is certainly not gliding along like a story in a book of fairy tales. It is unhappy, struggling, uncertain.

Life as shown by our films, for the most part, manages to give people a little happiness for their money.

If the people of India have decided that we must be a land of happiness which they would like to follow, and think that uprisings will bring them the joy on which theme-songs are based, it is not our fault. We can send only the type of guiding star that we know. And if it is a happy one that makes other nations tremble because it will cause their people to envy us, we admit that it is a good advertisement for America, anyway.

Daily Washington Letter By Rodney Dutcher

THE VOLLBEHR COLLECTION OF INCUNABULA CONTAINS SOME RARE EXAMPLES OF PRINTING IN THE CRADLE OF THIS AT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—If this story is going to be about incunabula, as it is quite a few persons will learn for the first time just what incunabula really are, and the sum total of human knowledge will be slightly increased. Which, it is commonly agreed, is always a fine thing.

Incunabula is the word used in reference to books produced during the cradle period of printed literature, before 1500 A. D. Generally, it applies to the early period of beginnings of anything, but it is used here in its bibliographical sense.

Congress voted during its last session to buy the Vollbehr collection of incunabula for the Library of Congress at $1,500,000 and it got what book collectors all say was a bargain. It is a collection of some 3000 books printed in the middle ages, and is by far the finest bunch of incunabula for the Library of Congress has ever acquired.

A Rare Work of Art

In the collection is a three-volume edition of the Gutenberg Bible, a work which the Library has always coveted. They have a single page of that Bible in the rare book section now, and it is a beautiful thing to look at. No one need suppose that the Gutenberg Bible, the volume ever printed with movable type, was a crude, blotchy piece of work. Old Johannes Gutenberg, the father of modern printing, knew that he had to compete with the marvelous handwork of the monks and other penmen of the period or else everybody would be laughing at him, so he took pains accordingly.

The Bible which the Library will get was printed on parchment, and bound in vellum somewhere around 1450. Gutenberg had borrowed money to promote his rash enterprise and was unable to pay off, so the money lender seized his printing equipment and his books and sold this particular volume to the Benedictine Friars for what would now look like about $25. It was kept in one abbeey and another for centuries, being last hidden in the ancient Corinthian Monastery of St. Paul in Austria at the time Napoleon was looting Europe. The Benedictines went broke during the war and they sold the Bible to Dr. Otto Vollbehr for $305,000.

20 Books on Columbus

The collection is remarkable for many other printed things including a group of 20 volumes of the earliest printed books relating to the voyage of Christopher Columbus of America.

Dr. Vollbehr was a wealthy dye manufacturer in Berlin and when he broke down and his physician said that he ought to have a hobby he took up the collection of incunabula, refusing to have anything to do with books printed after the 15th century. He searched all through the cities which were thriving in the middle ages and picked up many bargains from owners who or which had been impoverished by the war.

In 1926 Dr. Vollbehr brought the collection to Chicago and exhibited it at the Eucharistic Congress, subsequently showing it elsewhere. He agreed to sell it for $1,500,000 to anyone who would deposit it in the Library of Congress, and experts on incunabula agreed that it probably was worth twice the price. No one spoke up and a bill was introduced in Congress for the acquisition, which was recently passed.

Has Annual Fund

That marked only the third occasion when Congress had bought a private collection by special legislation. The Library has an annual fund for acquisition. But in 1815 Congress bought the private library of Thomas Jefferson, then regarded as the best thing of its kind existing, for $23,950. And in 1867 it took over the Peter Force collection for $100,000.

Jefferson had spent 50 years acquiring his 7000 volumes, and he was broke when he sold. Daniel Webster led the opposition to the purchase, and it was argued that the collection contained agnostic and immoral books which were not fit to read, let alone buy. The purchase was made by virtue of a bare 10 votes in the House.

The Town Doctor

TALK BUSINESS UP AND IT WILL PICK UP

In the past few years there has been a new competition for the old-time storekeeper. To say it is a new competition is incorrect, for it has been in existence for seventy years; but only recently has it been an alibi for failure in business.

Everywhere you care to go you can hear that "all over" merchants are being forced out of business by this competition. Every four-corners storekeeper who for any of a dozen sufficient reasons closes his doors, lays the blame for it on either this new competition or "business depression." The truth of the matter is that there are no more people going out of business than there ever was. It could be said here that a man cannot go out of something that he was never in; and as for going out of business, by far majority of those were never in "business." It was because they did not get into "business" that they failed. A man can "run" a store without being in business.

The Town Quack

To prove further that this "depression" is more a mental hazard than fact, let us consider the selling of a class or particular group. Take the farmer for an example.

Not long ago I stood in a first-class retail store in a very good town of average size, when a farmer entered. The owner of the store called the man by name and said: "Well, Jake, how's things?"

And right away Jake started telling just how things were with him—everything wrong from A to Z. The merchant stood there and heard the tale of woe—a tale that he knew by heart—and after many minutes of it the farmer said: "Well, guess I'd better be getting," and out he went.

I said to the merchant, "Why didn't you sell him something?" to which he replied: "Oh, he didn't want anything. These farmers, you know, are in bad way." Without explanation to the merchant I immediately left the store.

The farmer was walking down the street and I followed. He went into another store—a different store—and just as I entered I heard a man say to Jake, "... How's things by you?" Again the same tale of woe. While the narration was going on another farmer came with his wife, and the four of them—the three farmers and the merchant—had a ten-minute talk on how terrible things were.

At the conclusion the merchant said to one of the men: "You folks going to need a new stove this year?" "No" was the answer. And what else could it be?

I followed Mr. Jake into three other stores in that town, and in each case the merchant gave him an open invitation to tell how tough things were; and in all but one case he left the store without a single purchase. The purchase, made in the last store, was an item that he carried by the first store he entered. It is a ten-to-one shot that he went into that first store to buy that item, but after telling of his troubles went out without it.

BUT, "Jake" thought he was in a bad way, he thought times were hard, and the merchant not only agreed with him, but encouraged him to believe it by prompting him to talk about it.

Therefore, he WAS in a bad way, and times WERE hard, whether they were or not.

Let enough people think a thing is so and it will be so. If you leave your home some bright morning and say to the first five men you meet, "Isn't this a fine day?" and each one says: "Yes, but I think it will rain before night," by the time you reach your store or office it IS going to rain—for you—and you'll see black clouds on a perfectly clear horizon.

Get sold on the idea that you can sell more; sell the customer on the idea that you ARE selling more; and give that customer a reason why he should and CAN buy more, and give that customer a reason why he should and CAN buy more, and this "business depression" haz-too much for her health and Doc prescribed a little sun. She woman thanked him, thinking he was proposing to her. Now wasn't she Victorian?

I went down to Grissom-Robertson's to see how long before it will be time to don flannel undies and heard one of the clerks putting up a classic sales talk. He was trying to sell the girl a bit of lingerie. "Why, baby, you'd be okeh outside o' that."

I forgot to tell you about what one of the boys told me last night. He said one of his friends had gone to Italy on his vacation. When he was asked, "Did you touch Florence while on the tour?" The friend grew embarrassed as he said, "Well, I did sort of get acquainted."

NOW MAYBE WE CAN STOP THEM BERLIN.—Two German scientists believe they have found out what males for centuries have been trying to discover. They think they have discovered why women gab so much. These two scientists, Prof. Friedenthal and Dr. Cohen-Guben, say that the reason why women talk faster and more often than males is because of physiological differences in their vocal mechanism. Their vocal machinery is more delicate than the rough male chords, and can thus work more easily. They insist that it isn't because of inherent empty-headedness that they talk for hours, as male pokesters would have it.

Midland Ministers Asked by Prominent Dallas Men to Be Strong Block to Fergusons

Midland ministers have received a copy of a petition from Victor C. Smith of Dallas, signed by the names of more than 40 Dallas ministers, physicians, lawyers and other well known professional men, asking that they use their influence in Midland that the state may go for Sterling in the primary election Aug. 23.

A copy of the petition was given The Reporter-Telegram by the Rev. Thomas D. Murphy, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and this is reproduced below:

On Saturday, August 23, the people of Texas will be called upon to decide one of the most momentous questions which has ever been presented to them. That question is whether the law enforcement forces of the state are to be demoralized by a wholesale policy of executive interference through an abuse of the pardoning power. What this would mean may be judged by the actual record which the Fergusons made when they were in control of the state government before. The Dallas Dispatch of August 13 printed an editorial which gives a graphic picture of this record. It is given herewith for your information:

"To the friends of the victims. Quoting from the record, the secretary of state presents the pardon statistics for the last 29 days of Jim Ferguson's wife in the office of governor.

"They show 39 men pardoned who had assaulted Texas women and girls. Can the mothers of Texas respect the appeal for their votes of a woman governor who in less than one month will turn loose on them a horde like that?

"In that brief month 133 men convicted of murder were given unconditional freedom. Do the kinsmen and friends of the slain who speak to them no more but whose memory they treasure believe that justice has been done in freeing 133 murderers in that brief last month of office?

"The record shows 124 robbers pardoned in that brief time. Can the filling station operators, drug store owners, and other victims of hijackers believe that all of a sudden 124 of the type who victimized them and were caught because sufficiently repentant and reformed to justifying their freedom?

"And in the list were 127 liquor law violators. Do any doubt that a large percentage of these pardoned have returned to their skills and their bootlegging?

"That is a promise to pardon 2000 more if the woman is again elected governor. It is said that all the friends of all the convicts will vote for her in hope and anticipation. Where will all the friends of all the victims be on election day and how will they vote?"

The people of Texas do not know this record. If they did there would be no question about the result of the election. Consider that more than four murderers a day were turned loose on society during the final 29 days the Fergusons were in power. More than four robbers a day, more than four bootleggers a day, and more than one rapist a day! Jim Ferguson is declaring in every speech that 2,000 of the murderers, robbers, bootleggers, and rapists now in prison will be turned out with out delay if his wife is elected to be a figure head governor. It is not necessary to picture to you the absolutely demoralizing and paralyzing effect such an event would have upon the law-enforcing machinery of the State. It would make of Texas the Mecca of the underworld. If the people of Texas could appreciate what this would mean, they would rise in indignation and banish the Fergusons from our public life forever.

Every moral leader in the State, and especially the Christian ministers, ought to be concerned about this situation, and ought to make an effort to see that the people are aroused, so far as it lies in their power. It is important that a record-breaking vote shall be polled in the election. The majority against the Fergusons must be decisive. The people, therefore, must be aroused so that they will not neglect to vote. Will you not use your influence in every way toward the accomplishment of this much desired end?

Dallas Man Tells How New Medicine Ended Nervousness and Kidney Trouble.

MR. ANDREW LORTON

"My system was in a very run-down condition due to nervousness and kidney trouble," said Mr. Andrew Lorton, 2420 1/2 Elm Street, Dallas. "My nerves were in such a condition that I could not sleep at night. My kidneys were very weak and I had dull pains across my back. I was forced to rise several times a night.

"A friend urged me to take Konjola. I am thankful I took his advice because Konjola drove all pains from my back. I feel much better and am entirely out of misery, which I had for the past year. Konjola put my kidneys in a healthy condition and they are functioning properly. I am only too glad to praise this famed Konjola to other people who suffer as I did."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such hazardous ingredients its seeming wonders to perform.

A Tale of 65 Cities

Sixty-five cities and towns in West Texas, some of them large and some of them small, have one important advantage in common. They have ample electric power for future growth.

These 65 cities and towns of West Texas receive electric power from the transmission system of the Texas Electric Service Company, which assures not only sufficient power to care for the immediate needs, but also a power supply which is sufficiently flexible to care for unusual emergency demands, a situation which often occurs in a growing territory like West Texas.

The natural resources surrounding the 65 cities and towns served by the Texas Electric Service Company have formed the basis for substantial industrial development in the past, and point to a rapid growth in the future. Electric power has aided this development and the Texas Electric Service Company pledges itself to do everything necessary to maintain a class of electric power service which will continue to aid in bringing about this development.

Tune In Texas Electric Service Company Radio Program Over WBAP Every Tuesday at 8 P.M.

Some cities which receive electric service from the power transmission system of the Texas Electric Service Company have been going through periods of phenomenal growth, yet have always had ample electric service for both domestic and industrial purposes. One of the cities served by the company increased its population more than 300 per cent, most of the increase coming within the last four years, yet electric service from the power transmission system of this company was more than sufficient to meet this unusual demand.

GRETA GARBO OPENS WEEK OF FINE ATTRACTIONS AT RITZ

GRETA GARBO and GAVIN GORDON in "ROMANCE"

The opening bill at the Ritz this week is Greta Garbo's new talking picture, "Romance," adapted from the stage play by Edward Sheldon, which had many years triumphant success on the speaking stage. Miss Garbo's role brings her back to the type of character that made her famous on the silent screen. She is Rita Cavallini, famous opera star, whose daring affection and conquering love almost crashes in a tragedy that would shake the nation. But the depths of Rita's soul rises to conquer—her mighty will-power dominates the depths of a burning love, and a tragedy that parallels the natural tendencies of human nature is restrained with a heavenly chorus of silent emotions in a heart that throbs with every pulse beat. It is doubtless an event that picture fans have awaited—to see Greta Garbo as the fascinating lover—the strange personality so magnetic, so powerful, like her past triumphs in silent dramas, now brought to the millions of fans in a vibrant all talking production. "Anna Christie" did not give her that chance, hence the public has awaited her opportunity in a typical Garbo role to measure her success in the field of talking picture triumphs. "Romance" is to be shown three days at the Ritz, opening today at 1 p. m.

Manager John Bonner announces that Miss Garbo introduces a week of extra fine attractions at the Ritz. The second picture of the week is First National's stupendous Vitaphone spectacle, "The Song of Flame," filmed entirely in gorgeous technicolor. Bernice Claire, Alexander Gray, Noah Beery and Alice Gentle (star of the Grand Opera) appear in leading roles. Thousands of people appear in the big scenes of the gigantic spectacle. The picture was directed by Alan Crossland, director of "The Jazz Singer" and "On With the Show." Friday and Saturday, fans will see Jack Oakie's second starring vehicle, "The Sap From Syracuse," which, according to advance notices, excels anything the famous "grin" artist has ever done in talking pictures.

Offertory solo—Mrs. M. F. Peters. Sermon—Rev. Peters. Hymn—I Love to Tell the Story. Benediction.

As students complete their plans for the fall season of school, as visitors leave after being guests in Midland homes and a few social clubs hold morning meetings, Midland social activities are confined to informal outings and morning parties.

Among the younger social group interests Friday evening was a picnic and slumber party given by Misses Ruby Kerby, Jess Edith Carlisle and Alma Lee Norwood.

Those enjoying the picnic at Cloverdale were Misses Nez Cosper, Jeanette Tyner, Carpenter, Kathryn Cosper, Martha Elen Ryan, Dorothy Meadows, Nell Wayne Carlisle; Misses E. V. Hollman, Leon Arnett, Colvin Manning, M. D. Johnson, Conrad Dunagan, Oliver and H. L. Hagg.

Slumber party guests at the Kerby home were Misses Jess Edith Carlisle, Alma Lee Norwood, Martha Elen Ryan, Kathryn Cosper, Ruby Kerby and Dorothy Meadows.

Club Bridge Party
Guests of Mrs. A. Harry Anderson at a week end social affair were Misses Frank Elkin, Will Elkin, C. Watson, C. A. Goldsmith, Frank Wolcott, Joe B. Thomas, J. D. Young, I. M. Cochran, B. H. Blakey, Terry Elkin, B. G. Girdley, John Edwards, Gene Cowden, T. S. Patterson and Tom White.

Bridge favors went to Mrs. C. C. Watson, high club score, Mrs. John Edwards, high guest score and table cuts were presented at each table.

Snowwhite Employee Honored
Ernest McKinney Jr., who leaves town soon for the fall term of school in T. C. U., was honored with a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Long Friday evening. Hosts were employees of the Snowwhite creamery where Mr. McKinney has been employed for several months.

Another interesting picnic affair for younger folk was given by Miss Lou Annis Reeves at Cloverdale park Friday evening. A group of her friends were guests and enjoyed an evening filled with lively entertainment.

Original Collar Effects Seen in Coats And Suits For Fall

There is no mistaking this winter's fur-trimmed or all fur coats, so original and lavishly is fur used on the former and so different in length and cut are the latter. Left: A novel shaped collar of grey astrakhan, a rounding yoke and shawl collar all in one, is encrusted in the coat itself by Heim to give the effect of the detached bolero which has been so popular. Right: A black kit coat, trimmed with ermine, has the new three quarters length, is belted and bloused a bit, and has a scarf, lined with ermine, which knots under the chin. This coat, from Bernard and Co., is characteristic of the new lines, length and looks of the winter models.

Miss Eula Gee Gantt Named As Midland Duchess

Miss Eula Gee Gantt, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Gantt, Friday received notice from San Angelo that she had been appointed Midland duchess to the queen of the West Texas Exposition at San Angelo, Sept. 22-27.

Miss Gantt was appointed by Walter Downing, coronation director of the exposition, the appointment having been made from San Angelo due to the absence from the city of the Midland director at the time the appointment was desired.

Miss Gantt, who came here from Dallas with her parents about two years ago, was frequently in Dallas and East Texas society affairs of a civic nature requiring duchesses, hostesses, queens and other such personages. She will go as the guest of the West Texas Exposition and to represent Midland in the social affairs connected with the exposition.

As her maid of honor, Miss Gantt has selected her sister, Miss Alberta M. Escorts for both the young women will be chosen.

Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

Summer days are still here and housewives enjoy serving such things as refrigerator rolls. Mrs. R. C. Crabb tells us how to make these in the column today and how much work they save.

For a dish to serve with meat in the evening, Spanish rice would delight anyone. A recipe for this comes from Mrs. J. P. Roundtree.

Refrigerator Rolls
1 cake of yeast
1-2 cup of lukewarm water
1 cup of scalded milk
2-3 cup of shortening
1-2 cup of sugar
1 teaspoon of salt
1 cup of mashed potatoes
Flour to make dough stiff
2 eggs.
Dissolve the yeast in the water. Scald the milk and add the shortening, sugar, salt and potatoes. When this mixture has cooled to lukewarm add the dissolved yeast. Mix and add just enough flour to make a thin batter. Cover and set in a warm place to double in bulk. Then add the beaten eggs and flour enough to make a stiff dough. Knead thoroughly. Put in a greased bowl large enough to allow for rising. Cover with an oiled paper and put in a cool part of the ice box. When rolls are wanted, pinch off dough, shape and let rise. Bake in a hot oven.
The dough may be used immediately or any time within a week. —Mrs. Crabb.

Spanish Rice

1 onion
1 tablespoon of shortening
1 cup of rice
1 small can of tomatoes
1-2 teaspoon of chili
1 small green pepper
Fry chopped onions in fat until brown, add rice and stir till rice is well cooked. Add tomatoes in which is a pinch of soda. Add chili powder and green pepper. Season with salt and pepper. Simmer about ten minutes. —Mrs. Roundtree.

C. E. Patterson of Ft. Stockton was in Midland Friday transacting business for the Gulf Production company.

Mrs. Ray Holland of Cisco and Miss Harris of New Orleans left for their homes this morning after a visit with Mrs. W. L. Brown.

Miss Lady Connell, who has been visiting her sister in Abilene, returned yesterday. Calvin Cowden, her nephew, returned with her for a visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Pope have returned from a vacation visit in Hillsboro and Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. John Howe and family left this morning for San Antonio and other points in south Texas where they will spend a vacation.

Young People Visit Other Communities And Give Programs

Activities of the religious young people's organizations of the city are not only within the clubs but extend to other localities where such organizations are not formed. Two Midland groups are making trips today to render programs in response to recent invitations.

Methodists to Andrews
About twenty-five young people are leaving from the Methodist church this afternoon to visit the church young people in Andrews and give a program there this evening.

Miss Clea Faye Cook has arranged the program based on the subject "Hymns in Our Church" and she will be assisted by a number of other leaguers.

It is probable that the Andrews people will organize into a league at this time.

Baptists at Warfield
As an assistance to Rev. Conger McGraw, who is holding a revival meeting at Warfield this week, members of the B. Y. P. U. will motor there this afternoon to give a program. Miss Myrtle McGraw, who is assisting her brother in the meeting, will take charge of the program.

AT MIDLAND LIBRARY

We are busy now at the county library getting ready for the opening of school, ordering for the children books which the last session showed that we needed, replacing the worn out, and so on. But we are not forgetting the pleasure side of reading either and remembering the long autumn evenings that are coming are replenishing the shelves of good stories and adding as fast as we can to the non-fiction shelves.

Among the novels just added to the rental collection of late fiction are:

Gollomb, Joseph, "The Subtle Trail"
Suicide? Or murder? Colonel Granger killed himself, but why? A good mystery by the author of "The Portrait Invisible."

Lewisohn, Ludwig, "Stephen Escoffier"
A novel of marriage by a serious author. "All that has ever been said and lived and thought on marriage and love is epitomized in this book."

Norris, Kathleen, "Margaret Yorke"
The story of a woman who married in haste and wrecked her happiness, but who nevertheless had the courage to pick up the pieces and make of her life something fine.

Oppenheim, E. P., "The Lion and the Lamb"
A young man of good family but in desperate need joins a band of criminals and is betrayed and deserted by them. Owing to the death of his father he emerges from prison with his father's title, money, and estate, and from that time on seeks to bring his former companions to justice. A story which swings between the London underworld and the hero's fashionable house of John Street.

Pedler, Margaret, "Fire of Youth"
A story of Phyllis and the choice she made between Terry, the young and penniless but loving, and Timothy, wealthy, attractive, middle-aged, who offered her the good material things of life.

Richmond, G. C., "High Fences"
For thirty years Mrs. Richmond has been entertaining American girls and young women with wholesome, though perhaps sentimental, stories. She has become a part of the American tradition. One of the writers who satisfied Mr. Bok's demands.

Spencer, Eric, "The Piccadilly Ghost"
The setting is London, the action is swift, and the plot is a murder thriller.

Sutton, B. R., "Catherine de Gardeville"
A story of force and vividness. Somewhat historical. The scene shifts from England of big estates, gay house-parties, and hunting to Paris and tiny villages in the Pyrenees.

Walace, Edgar, "The Green Ribbon"
The Green Ribbon agency is a horse-race betting organization operated by three men who in order to fix a race stop at nothing.

An astounding, breathless story. A typical Edgar Wallace. Wright, H. B., "Exit"—Mr. Wright's first novel in three years. It has not been serialized. As in all his books there is much romance and an uplifting purpose.

PENWELL-OILER SCRAP MATERIALIZES FROM FAILURE OF LEAGUE

New Rules of Football Thought to Favor Trim Midland Team

NO SECOND HALF WILL FOLLOW -TUCKER

The whirligig known as the Tri-County league has revolved into a last minute cycle that promises three games today, advises from the skippers of the Bushers and Oilers and Odessa say, Nash Tucker, president of the league, had a word to say about the possibility of the league continuing, but—

At any rate local horseshoe gang drivers are optimistic to a certain extent at the certainty of the Oilers playing Penwell here at 3:30 this afternoon, the Bushers going to Odessa and Stanton playing at Lenora.

The smacking of base hits this afternoon at 3:30 at Cowden park probably will be a requiem to the Tri-County league stiff as the Oilers and Penwell hold a noisy wake.

Indecision expressed during the week as to the disposition of the second half schedule and of clubs that were to have formed the loop was ended Saturday when Dr. David M. Ellis, Busher manager, told The Reporter-Telegram that managers of the circuit had turned their thumbs down on further play because of the failure of four clubs, Stanton, Lenora, Valley View and Pleasant Valley, to announce their readiness to start.

Nash Tucker, Odessa proxy of the league, informed Ellis to match a game with the Oilers for today in case he heard nothing more from the lagging clubs, but Saturday afternoon hinted at two other games.

MIDLAND in 1912

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Reporter-Telegram will run during the next few weeks a brief review of personalities, anecdotes, happenings and other features that happened in the year 1912. Afterward, other years will be taken up in the special feature.

The use of newspaper cuts to embellish the front pages of this weekly paper became rapidly favored here. The March 15 issue showed a perspective view of farms that were being installed in Midland county by the West Texas Land and Sub-Irrigation company.

Carl S. Reeves, still connected with the automobile business here, was in Midland at that time on a business trip incident to his automobile business in Amarillo.

A group of high school students "performed" at the town's theatre.

The second baseball game of the season for the Midland college resulted in a 29 to 15 win for a Midland alley rat team. The Midland college team was neatly edged out by the independent athletes, Ligon with his home runs being incapable of stopping the hit and run tide.

The Bushers plan to play several more games. Big Spring will be played here Sept. 7, and it is possible that the Fort D. A. Russell nine may come to Midland the following week. On Sept. 24, Midland goes to Big Spring for a nine inning affair, and the following week to Ft. Stockton.

Plans are to be made for a more successful Tri-County league season next year, Tucker told Ellis. That, of course, is contingent upon Midland not joining a possible reconstruction of the old West Texas league.

The planting of trees as a beautification project was being advocated in every issue, and was being widely supported.

W. H. Cowden at last joined the automobile enthusiasts "who believe in abridging time and distance. He is now the proud possessor of the 40-horsepower, 1912 Cadillac, with electric lights, electric starter and the latest accessories."

Something like the present when a man consented to run for office he was said to have "yielded to the impertunities of his friends."

So much was the editor behind the business life of the community that every favorable expression heard of the future growth of the city was worth a separate news story.

An interesting story of the routing of three pickpockets by Chris Scarbauer is recounted. The Midland cattleman was at El Paso riding his pony up and down the street when he happened to miss his big diamond. Seeing three men standing nearby and suspecting them of having stolen the jewel he leaped to the street level and battered the three men until they admitted the theft, whereupon he recovered his jewel.

J. M. Gilmore, who died of heart disease while sitting in his city judge's chair this year, announced in 1912 that he was prepared to do painting, paper hanging, decorating, etc., and he had 30 years experience in this work.

FASTER PLAY RULED; MIDLAND MAY BE BEST TEAM IN DISTRICT FROM STANDPOINT OF PHYSICAL CONDISH

What the Midland football machine does this year in interscholastic league circles will not be governed altogether by brawn and beef; the charges of Coach Barry will use a systematic field procedure gleaned from many hours at "skull practice" and rule studying.

Coach Barry is making every possible move to influence his men in keeping football uppermost in their thoughts. He sends regular circular letters. The last of these, a special copy of which was sent The Reporter-Telegram, shows new rules, rules that are expected to speed up the game. When the Midland team is put into its typically good condition the new rules are expected to favor the club over those clubs that do not train religiously. The circular letter follows:

"Very few actual changes have been made in the football rules for the season 1930. However, the whole book has been reworded and rearranged so that it is not only easier to read and understand the rules, but infinitely easier to 'look up' specific points over which arguments arise. The outstanding feature of the reorganization is that all rules bearing on one specific phase of the game are incorporated under one heading.

"Practically all ambiguous wording has been replaced and a careful reading of any section of the present rule book leaves no chance for argument about the meaning. Several more "approved rulings" have been added to clarify the rules; instead of being in the back of the book, as heretofore, the approved rulings are now placed throughout the book immediately following the rule upon which they bear.

"For the benefit of those not fation of the rule. The relation between the rule proper and the approved ruling is analogous to the relation between statutory law and a decision of the supreme court.

"An example of the above Rule 3, Section 4, reads: 'It is a fumble when a player in possession and control of the ball in play loses such possession and control other than by passing or kicking it. (Approved Ruling) Player of Team A is carrying the ball and player of Team B snatches the ball from him before it is declared dead. Ruling: fumble.'

"Some of the minor changes in the rules were made primarily with the intention of speeding up the game. For instance, heretofore when a fumbled ball went out of bounds, the referee walked to the spot where it went out, gave the ball to the center of the team entitled to it, asked the captain how far in he wished the ball (anything up to 15 yards) and then stepped off the required distance, followed by a parade of 22 players. This year the ball is always brought in exactly 15 yards on all out of bounds plays, so the necessity of asking the captain entitled to the ball how far in he wants it is dispensed with. On every 5-yard line there is a short line marking the spot 15 yards in from the sidelines, so that the referee takes no more time in putting the ball in play from an out of bounds play than from any other.

"One of the finest things that has been incorporated in the rule book in years appears in the back this year—an article entitled 'How to Study the Rules', written by W. R. Oakeson of Lehigh."

Coach Barry expects to have the Bulldogs well drilled in the rules this year. Captain Ray Parker and Ex-captain Cy Foster were sent marked copies of the rules for study early in the summer.

A VACATION OF REFORM

BIG CROWD OF FARMERS AND THEIR FAMILIES ATTEND RURAL PICNIC AT CLOVERDALE PARK FRIDAY EVENING

County farmers, their wives, county judge and commissioners, chamber of commerce officials and guests were at the rural picnic held Friday evening at Cloverdale park.

Following several talks by women who lately returned from the farmer's short course at A. & M. college, by Pat Barber and Frank Wendt, who also made the trip, and by Paul T. Vickers, secretary of the chamber of commerce, a picnic dinner was spread on the tables under the trees.

The picnic had all the earmarks of typical Cloverdale affairs, with other parties at other tables over the park, children rolling down the crooked grass embankment like animated Humpty-Dumpties, mothers chasing them to prevent beating of tubs and glasses with spoons and forks during the invocation, and a general admonition of speakers to "cut it short; we're hungry."

Mrs. Boyce Edson spoke on the tendency of the farm women to want to keep "farm hours" at the course, wanting to get up at 4 in the morning, when classes did not start until 9. She discussed general features of the course.

Mrs. J. A. Pogue explained the making of all kinds of dresses, from housewears to evening dress and sports pajamas. She said a determined effort is being made to induce women to wear more cotton in their clothing, even to hose.

Mrs. C. B. Collier explained manufacture of cotton textiles, and showed interesting samples. So patriotic was she when she found that Texas A. & M. manufactures cloth out of Texas grown cotton and Texas thread that she brought back with her some hangings for her home.

Mrs. G. H. Gwyn explained the taking care of sick patients in the home.

Mrs. Bill Arnett, spoke of cotton grading and the need of farmers and their wives to understand how cotton is graded. Much money is lost to the farmer each year because of his failure to understand this, she said.

Pat Barber admitted he had gone to the short course "just to take care of the baby while Mrs. Barber listened to lectures." But he got interested in the course and went to lectures himself, almost forgetting the baby. He studied the trend of production and consumption of American cotton.

Miss Belle Wilson told of the value to future scholastic study in going to the course.

An effort to get the names of those present fell short, as the crowd was too mobil. Following is the list of families as complete as it could be made up:

Mr. and Mrs. Beauchamp, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pogue, Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Edson, Mr. and Mrs. Tyner, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bodine, Mr. and Mrs. Ingleheart, Mr. and Mrs. Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Wimberly, Mr. and Mrs. Driver, Mr. and Mrs. Lewellen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barber, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barber, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Barber, Mrs. M. W. Madison, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Flowers, Mrs. Bartlett, Mr. Cobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Preston, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Estes, Judge and Mrs. M. R. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Estes, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hill, Mrs. Haag, Mr. and Mrs. Gwyn, K. E. Ambrose, the Rev. Thomas D. Murphy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Driver, Mrs. Ella Payne, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Heald, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wandt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul T. Vickers, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Arnett, Roy Gwyn, Frank Pou.

"Petting Ground" Is Getting Popular Here

Cowboy park has come to be used as much for a petting ground as for polo and racing, "Timberline" Floyd says. "Drug store cowboys" play at vaqueros in their individual ways out there, he says and the girls with them come back for more. The promoter avers.

"We charge no admission and no one admits anything," he laughed. "We played a polo game out there the other afternoon and a couple stayed parked in the grandstand, apparently oblivious to horses and horsemen on the field."

Man Says He is Ashamed of Self

"I'm ashamed for my friends, to see my weedy yard. Send me a boy scout or some laborer to cut my weeds."

That's what a man telephoned Saturday when he called No. 39 asking for weed cutters. It's the way many people feel, according to results of the weed cutting campaign so far attained.

Fat men are cutting weeds in an attempt to reduce. People who hate slouchiness are cutting weeds so their places will look better. Women are cutting weeds just to cut weeds, and incidentally make their lazy husbands ashamed of themselves. Boys are cutting weeds because wise parents don't want to rear lazy boys, a report of the chamber of commerce said.

COSTLY ABLUTIONS
DANVER, Colo., (UP)—A bath cost Catherine Wessel $104. While she was in the tub a friend waiting in the living room of her apartment disappeared with a stocking containing the $104.

Minister Returns From Encampment

The Rev. Howard F. Peters, pastor of the First Christian church, and Mrs. Peters returned Friday from the forty-first encampment at Skillman, 17 miles from Ft. Davis. The encampment lasted from Aug. 12 to Aug. 19.

Four denominations had special lecturers at the camp, Dr. Porter, pastor of the First Baptist church, Washington, D. C., and president of the Evangelist Ministers Alliance of that city, represented the Baptist church.

Dr. Berma, of Trinity university, Waxahachie, was present for the Presbyterian church; Dr. Onderdonk, in charge of Mexican work for the Methodist Episcopal church, South, San Antonio, for the Methodist church, and Dr. L. D. Anderson, pastor of the First Christian church of Fort Worth, for that denomination.

Ministers go to church more than church members, as might be supposed from the program adhered to; preaching was at 9 and 11 in the mornings, lunch at 12, a siesta until 3, preaching again at 3 and 5, and meetings of children, laymen, women and ministers between 5 and 6.

At 6, dinner was served, and preaching attended from 8 until 9. A peculiar condition exists at the camp, Mr. Peters said. Nothing is bought or sold. Even stamps cannot be bought.

"The nearest we ever heard of anyone buying anything at the camp was found in the expression of an announcer who said that the government 'does not furnish stamps to the encampment, so you may leave free-will contributions in the writing room for more stamps if you like.'"

Young Children Are For Sterling Here

Even the boys of Midland are for Sterling, it would appear from a letter written Dr. and Mrs. John B. Thomas by their 11-year old son, J. B. Jr.

The letter, typically that of the average American boy, rambles briefly into other humorous veins, and is reproduced:

"Have you all voted yet? If you haven't, please vote for Sterling. The people here have heard about it and think Texas hasn't any men and has to use women. You don't want M. A. Ferguson to be governor? She doesn't have any business in the office."

"I saw Jack Dempsey in the park and shook hands with him. I heard Pitts talk. He is running for governor of California."

"Someone that knows how can use my racket. The strings won't wear out Daddy, teach mother how to play tennis and let her use my racket. Don't let Read use it. She will use it for a bat."

J. B. is with his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Hurt in California. His letter came from Long Beach. He has traveled extensively during the summer, and will return soon for the beginning of the school term. Young Thomas once wrote his parents when they were in New York and subscribed himself, "Yours truly."

State Press Has Editorial Answer

A writer in the Dallas News, who subscribes himself Sub-State Press, finds an editorial in The Reporter-Telegram interesting enough to answer in his own inimitable way.

"The slightly worried American who lies awake at night wondering how he can boost his $60 a week salary to $65 can be pardoned probably if he takes a keen, envious interest in the salary enjoyed by Mr. Eugene Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel," he quoted the Reporter-Telegram. He then wrote the following answer:

Mr. Grace, according to sworn statements, draws a salary of $12,000 per annum, which is slightly in excess of S. P.'s emoluments for battling for El Magnus. But under a sliding scale arrangement in ratio to the earnings of the corporation he represents, the head of the steel concern gets a bonus which runs his annual pay check up to the neighborhood of one million dollars. However liberal this may seem to those of us who toil for sums somewhat under its level, it is obvious that it is not to be paid. That is true of all remuneration given in exchange for service. A man can not be overpaid in wages, for the moment the boss decides that he is not earning what is paid to him the pay ceases. There is a school of thought which has evolved the union labor principle and which holds that a man has a vested interest in his job. But a job in which the capital investment is human industry and human brains only continues to pay dividends to its investors as long as he delivers. It is a simple equation that when productive energy ceases, the interest on the investment represented in this case by the wage scale ceases, too. At a small rate of interest Mr. Grace's services, figured to give an annual return at say 4 per cent, represent a personal investment in the man himself of $25,000,000. It is simple enough to say no man's personal self can be figured at $25,000,000 on the hoof. But on the other hand, was Pasteur worth that amount to the world? Is Edison worth it to all of us? Were the other men who have given us the marvels of invention, science and curative medicine worth it? What they represent in value to the world, one may represent to a given corporation in building power and driving energy. Sub S. P. does not say that Mr. Grace is worth his million-dollar salary. But if Bethlehem Steel is looking around for a new hired hand as slightly reduced wages, he will not haggle over terms.

INGHAM FAMILY GUESTS

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ingham, 1410 West Texas street, this weekend are their son, Clyde Ingham and wife from Wichita, Kansas, another son, Seth Ingham and wife from the Pyote ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingham from Kansas are here to meet their daughter, Viola, who has spent the summer, with her grandparents and will return with them to their home.

VOTED FOR IMPEACHMENT

"John E. Davis of Dallas county, democratic candidate for state treasurer, voted for impeaching late Land Commissioner J. T. Robison," W. F. Scarborough told The Reporter-Telegram.

The newspaper at Andrews will publish an anniversary memorial edition on the death of the "Grand Old Land Man of Texas" next week. It is understood that a celebration will be held in connection.

Naval Planes Will Land Here Monday

The squadron has been designated by the navy department to attend the national air races at Chicago, August 12-31, and the route east from San Diego passes through El Paso, Midland and Dallas.

The ships are expected to land at Midland airport about 9 o'clock.

McKees Return From Trip to the East

Roy McKee and Mrs. McKee returned Friday from a 30-day vacation trip with an insurance company group.
