SAINT LOUIS FLIERS RECOVER WORLD ENDURANCE RECORD

HAWKS IS AHEAD ON HIS TRIP

O'Brine And Jackson Seek To Stay Up 1,000 Hours

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13. (AP)—Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine retook the world's refueling endurance record from the Hunter brothers of Chicago, exceeding the Hunters' record officially by one hour at 9:52 this morning with 554 hours and 41 minutes of flying. Jackson and O'Brine continued flying toward a goal of 1,000 hours.

Flying in Rain ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13. (UP)—Flying through a steady rain, Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine piloted the monoplane Greater St. Louis passed the new world's endurance refueling flight record here today.

The record was established at 9:52 this morning when the plane had been aloft 554 hours and 41 minutes or exactly one hour longer than the Hunter brothers' flight last month. Great celebration at the field and in the downtown district was held when the new mark was set. The flyers say 1,000 hours aloft is their goal.

Hawks Ahead of Record WICHITA, Kans., Aug. 13. (UP)—Captain Frank Hawks landed here in his speedy monoplane at 10:28 today making a flight from the Pacific coast in six hours and 12 minutes. He was 44 minutes ahead of Lindbergh's record.

Hawks hopes to make the transcontinental flight in 12 hours or two hours and 40 minutes less than the Lindbergh. He paused only long enough to take gas and oil and roared away toward Indianapolis, the last scheduled stop before New York.

Took Off 2:16 A. M. GLENDALE, Calif., Aug. 13. (AP)—Captain Frank Hawks, holder of the east to west transcontinental airplane speed record, took off here at 2:16 this morning attempting to capture the west to east record from Colonel Chas. A. Lindbergh. Hawks landed at Albuquerque at 6:43 a. m., spent 15 minutes refueling, eating and took off for Wichita. Hawks landed at Wichita at 10:20 this morning, refueled and departed for Indianapolis at 10:35.

Stabs Wife, Then Takes Own Life

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13. (UP)—In the presence of his four-year-old stepdaughter, Robert Nelson, superintendent of a steel mill here, stabbed his young wife, Rachel, to death and then committed suicide with the same knife today. Police said the tragedy occurred after a party at the Nelson home and followed a quarrel over her reported remark that she still loved her first husband.

TEXAN GETS D. S. C.

COVE, Texas, (UP)—Posthumous award of the Distinguished Service Cross to George T. Dugat of Cove "for extraordinary heroism in action near Epinonville, France, Sept. 26, 1918," by the war department has been announced here. The D. S. C. citation relates "Corporal Dugat, in company with two other soldiers, while advancing well in front of the company as scouts, encountered eight enemy machine guns and four snipers, which by brave action and good judgment were put out of action and the enemy killed or captured. Corporal Dugat was killed Oct. 1, 1918, while on duty with his company.

Where Boy Scouts Will Set Precedent

When Boy Scouts of the four Midland troops officiate in laying the cornerstone of the new $300,000 Midland county court house Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, a precedent will be set. It is believed that this is the first occasion of its kind where scouts conduct the ceremony, fraternal orders usually being called upon.

LAUNCH CITY CLEAN-UP DRIVE

WEALTHY COUPLE, REPORTED HELD, RETURNED TODAY

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13. (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kern, sought since early yesterday as possible victims of kidnapers, returned to their home here today and denied having been kidnaped. Kern refused to discuss where they had been except to say "that's nobody's business. We were not kidnaped and that's all I've got to say."

Three Killed In Highway Collision

HARLINGEN, Aug. 13. (UP)—Jesus Luna, 25, Beatrice Alanis, 12, and her sister, Julia Alanis 9, were instantly killed when the truck carrying them collided with a sedan on the Lajalapa highway near San Benito Tuesday night. Four others were injured.

Ferguson Aligns With James Allred

AUSTIN, Aug. 13. (AP)—The Ferguson Forum, James E. Ferguson's weekly paper, today editorially endorsed the candidacy of Attorney General James V. Allred of Wichita Falls, who is opposing Robert Lee Bobbitt. The editorial said Bobbitt had gone "out of his way to abuse the Ferguson administration under instructions from Dan Moody."

COLTS SEEK OFFICE

Two former players of the Midland Colts baseball team are candidates for offices in Dawson county, news reports from Lamesa say. Gus Ragsdale, former Colts manager, is in the run-off primary for tax assessor; and Gus White, Lamesa ball player who helped the Colts in several games, is a run-off candidate for sheriff.

PROF. OFF TO MEXICO

FORT WORTH, (UP)—Dr. William J. Hammond, assistant professor of history at Texas Christian university, will go to Mexico about the middle of August to study British commercial relations with that country. Most of his research work will be confined to the governmental documents at Mexico City.

Prisoners Are Used To Help Clean Vacant Lots

Weeds must go! Citizens are already agreeing to cooperate in clearing Midland of weeds, and in clearing vacant properties of their slouchy appearance. The City of Midland inaugurated a weed clean-up campaign today, the work being done under supervision of Charles Nolan, city building inspector. Sheriff Audley C. Francis is giving valuable cooperation by working fined prisoners on the streets in the clean-up drive. The sheriff will have command of all work done by the prisoners, and this assistance, according to city officials, will be an essential factor in clearing the streets of weeds.

Citizens who have pride in their city and their own yards (and it is observed that nearly 100 per cent of Midland people have such pride) are expected to start cutting weeds today or tomorrow. Weeds should be cut on all sides of houses to the property lines, and even out to the street to help appearances, prevent mosquitoes, and help prevent the liability of a disease epidemic, officials say.

On suggestion of James N. Nolan, a director of the chamber of commerce, property owners wishing to hire laborers, Boy Scouts or others to cut their weeds, may call the Midland chamber of commerce, phone 39, and these workers will be sent out. They can be employed at extra reasonable wages. The weed campaign is meeting with unanimous and enthusiastic endorsement.

Weeds are guilty of making a city look slouchy and lazy and ill kept; weeds harbor mosquitoes; weeds breed disease germs in their shade; weeds in front of people's houses make other people talk ugly about their neighbor; weeds cause hay fever; weeds sap the soil.

The reason weeds in Midland must go is because the people themselves have decided the question. All of the people of the city or united in the scrap on weeds, and many people have decided to clear their vacant lots voluntarily, as they know the city has the legal right to hire vacant lots cleared and assess the charges against the lots and collect the charges along with taxes.

COTTON REPORT GIVEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP)—The census bureau today announced that cottonseed crushed the year ending July 31 was 5,014,562 tons compared to 5,061,058 tons the preceding year. Cottonseed at mills was 44,606 tons, compared to 41,606 tons the preceding year.

PAVING PROJECT OF 35 BLOCKS IS COMPLETED HERE

Midland's second major paving project was completed yesterday, a total of 35 blocks having been laid by the West Texas Construction company, ranging in type from heaviest concrete in the business section, to narrower and lighter types on residential streets.

The project, costing the city and property owners approximately $200,000, gave the city of Midland about 55 blocks of high quality pavement, the recent job including four alleys in the downtown section.

H. Woods, in charge of the construction company's operations here, said that the office will be maintained for some time yet, winding up affairs in connection with collections and details of completion. Montgomery and Ward, engineers of Wichita Falls handled the engineering work of the project.

R-100 Starts Home Minus One Motor

MONTREAL, Aug. 13. (AP)—The British Dirigible R-100 will start on its return flight to Cardington, England, at nine o'clock tonight without services of the forward starboard motor which developed defect coming over and was not repaired here as it is not believed will be needed with expected tail winds.

Midland Man Has Unusual Relics

A Midland man, T. S. Nettleton, upon reading a United Press story in Tuesday's Reporter-Telegram about a spiced apple 47 years old, "went one better" and produced for exhibition a spiced apple 48 years old. The apple was prepared by Nettleton's sister-in-law 48 years ago, in Minnesota, shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Nettleton, now living at 506 north Loraine street, were married. Cloves were stuck into the surface of the apple and its shape is perfectly preserved. The Midland man also has a daguerreotype photograph of his father and mother, made almost 100 years ago. He has a shaving mug similar to the one described in the United Press story and a number of other relics and antiques. They have been on display in fairs and other events in communities where the Nettletons formerly lived.

GODSEY IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Petroleum Building Accident Details Not Learned

J. T. "Jack" Godsey Jr., 16 years old, was dangerously injured late Tuesday evening in an elevator accident at the Petroleum building, and lies in a critical condition today at the Thomas Hospital.

Details of the accident were not given out completely today, pending investigation by building owners, relatives of the injured youth and others affected. It is reported that young Godsey, who had been working for a few days as elevator boy, was off duty, and that in some manner he was struck by an elevator while on a beam of the elevator shaft at the third floor of the building. The boy was rushed to the hospital for emergency treatment.

Donovan Gwyn was on duty with the only elevator which is operated after 6 in the afternoon, and Frank Smith, employe of a business institution in the building, is said to have been in control of one of the other elevators.

Parents Rushed Here J. T. Godsey and wife, parents of the injured youth, were in Hobbs when Godsey operates a string of news stands, and started for Midland immediately upon being notified. They arrived here after midnight, and it was only today after thorough examination and an operation to reset the fractured pelvis, that the extent of the boy's injuries were determined.

In addition to the fractures, internal injuries were indicated by spitting of blood, and severe cuts on the head and skinned places over his entire body resulted from the accident.

Scout Troop 51 On Over Night Jaunt

Boy Scout troop No. 51, with W. E. Sharp, scoutmaster, will go on an overnight hike tonight. Destination had not been announced this morning. Practically all scouts of the troop who are in the city had signified their intentions to go on the hike.

Economics, Music, On Lions Program

Musical numbers and addresses on business conditions made up the Lions club program today.

Ned Watson entertained with numbers on stringed instruments. M. C. Ulmer, Midland banker, gave an address on the "Signs of the Times."

Mr. Edwards and Mrs. Peters gave two vocal duets. Chas. Gibbs of San Angelo, prominent West Texas Lion, gave an address, refuting in a humorous vein the facts given by a humorist in his speech.

Frank Stebbeman, Midland attorney, gave a brief address. R. J. Moore reported on work done by him and M. M. Seymour yesterday, having erected Lions club signs at the east, west and south entrances of the city.

LAND STILL CHEAP

LAMESA, Aug. 13.—Five thousand acres of Dawson county land were purchased this week by Ross Berry of Lubbock from N. S. Locke of Amarillo for $73,000. All but 240 acres of the land is uncultivated and Berry plans to cut the tract into 340 acre farms for sale. Locke received $14.60 per acre for the land which is located 10 miles west of Lamesa.

Giant Search Light Is "Found"

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 13. (UP)—A search light installed during the World's Fair, and almost forgotten despite its tremendous power since, is to be fixed, and its rays pierce the 175 miles it is capable of on a clear night. The light is on the dome of the University City, city hall. It has a special lens five feet in diameter and an 80 inch projector. The arc light generates 250,000,000 candle power. The light was the largest ever constructed by the General Electric Company, which had to check back on records to verify the fact it had built it.

OKLAHOMA NAMES MURRAY IN WARM PRIMARY TUESDAY

WASHINGTON, August 13. (AP)—Yesterday's primaries in five states showed leading figures holding prestige, with Ohio democrats taking an inconsistent stand on prohibition, nominating the dry former congressman George White for governor.

Ohio Republicans renominated two dries, Governor Myers Y. Cooper and Senator R. S. McCullough, without opposition. Senator George W. Norris gained the Nebraska republican nomination over W. M. Stebbins. Arkansas gave Senator Joseph T. Robinson a three to one margin over his opponent.

Oklahoma democrats gave the blind former senator, T. P. Gore, a good majority, entitling him to run against the incumbent republican senator Pine.

Oklahoma democrats also nominated W. R. Murray over Frank Buttram. Alabama democrats nominated J. H. Bankhead, son of the former senator, for the senate.

Funeral Is Held For Andrews Man

Funeral services for S. W. James, 52, of Andrews, who died here yesterday after illness of several weeks, were held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Ellis Funeral Home. Interment followed at Fairview cemetery. The Rev. Leslie A. Boone, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiated.

NEED COTTON PICKERS

BISHOP, Tex., (UP)—Several thousand cotton pickers will be needed in the next ten days to begin gathering the fall cotton crop in earnest, reports from farmers in this section reveal. In the first week of August, 400 bales of cotton were ginned here, and the output is expected to gain steadily until past the middle of the month. Although cotton deteriorated some from the early drought, poison was used advantageously this year to stop the ravages of insects and farmers expect a large cotton yield than last year.

TEXAS AIR MAIL OLD

SAN ANTONIO, (UP)—Air mail isn't such a new innovation in Texas, after all, a scrutiny of postoffice records here revealed. Texas' first route was authorized in 1915, and a woman was designated as pilot—a woman bearing a name today enrolled in aviation history.

The first scheduled flight—from San Antonio to Seguin—failed to materialize because of high wind interference, doesn't detract from the credit of Miss Marjorie Stinson, who was duly sworn in as pilot and carrier.

A county wide picnic supper, at which a number of Midland farm women and men will speak on subjects pertaining to the short course held recently at the Texas A. & M. College will be held Friday evening at Cloverdale, it was announced this morning by Miss Genavieve Derryberry, home demonstration agent, who is sponsoring it. Mesdames Boyce Eldson, S. A. Pogue, S. H. Gwyn, William Amlett, Charles Collier; Miss Belle Wilson; Messrs. P. P. Barber and Frank Wendt will speak. Leon Goodman, representing the city and the chamber of commerce is also on the program. Basket lunches will be served, and more than 100 are expected to be present. All farmers and their families are invited. Miss Derryberry said.

Royalty Company Opens Office Here

The Keystone Royalty Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., has established Texas and New Mexico headquarters at Midland. Kenneth B. Yost, a vice president of the company, has moved to Midland to take personal charge of the company's business in Texas and New Mexico.

Urge Business Men Hear Farm Address

Business men as well as farmers will attend the open meeting Friday afternoon at 4:30 in the district court room to hear T. N. Carswell of Abilene explain the Federal Farm Bureau Cooperative plan of cotton handling. Carswell is a deputy district governor of the Midland Lions club and will hear Carswell Friday as an expression of respect to him, as well as to learn about the government's plan to assist the cotton farmers. A big attendance of dirt farmers is expected.

Suicide Attempted By Screen Star

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13. (UP)—Lina Basquette, screen star and former Premier Densmore of Ziegfeld, attempted to commit suicide today because she despaired of ever regaining the custody of her daughter, Lita Warner, 4. Antidotes were administered to save her life. The child was given into the custody of relatives of Sam Warner, Lina's former husband, when she decided to remarry.

DRIVE RIGHT INSIDE

AMARILLO, (UP)—Advertisers of the new miniature automobile forgot to mention banking. Dick Galle did not need a reminder. Employees of the National Bank of Commerce started climbing furniture when a raucous honk broke the comparative silence, and there sat Dick in a neat little sedan. "I want to make a deposit, and I'm in a hurry," said Dick as he nonchalantly alighted. Completing his transactions, he re-entered the machine, backed out the door and departed.

DAWSON AT SHORT COURSE

LAMESA, Aug. 13.—Twenty-one Dawson county farmers, farm women and 4-H club girls and boys attended the Texas A. & M. Agricultural short course this year, according to W. W. Evans, county agent. The local party returned by way of Galveston where they enjoyed a short vacation.

PROGRAM OF CEREMONY COMPLETED

Scouts To Officiate; Public Invited To Attend

Boy Scouts of Midland, in officiating at the laying of the cornerstone for Midland county's $300,000 court house Thursday morning, will set a new precedent. Along with ceremonies by Boy Scouts, all citizens of Midland and Midland county will be represented through city and county officials.

The program begins promptly at 10 o'clock, a platform having been erected for the ceremony at the southeast corner of the new building. Grouped about the platform on both sides of the opening which has

Citizens who have small relics or objects which will be of interest in future years are allowed to bring them to the cornerstone laying, to be sealed away with objects from the old building and with papers to be consigned to the cornerstone compartment, County Judge Hill said this morning.

been left for the cornerstone, will be County Judge M. R. Hill, District Judge Charles L. Klapproth, the four county commissioners, S. R. Preston, L. M. Estes, Donald Hutt and Holly E. Roberts; Kenneth E. Ambrose, head of the local scout council, and Marcos Williamson, scout executive; pastors of Midland churches; County Sheriff A. C. Francis, Mayor Leon Goodman, and all other city and county officials. The four scout troops will be grouped about the outside of the platform with their leaders.

Program Impressive

The Rev. Leslie A. Boone, pastor of the Methodist church and chairman of the Boy Scout court of honor, was requested by county officials to work out a program for the cornerstone laying, and the impressive program was accepted at a meeting this morning. Boone will state briefly the purpose of the assembly at the new court house.

The Rev. Thomas D. Murphy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will give the Temple Reading from the Bible, the scriptures upon which all formal cornerstone layings are based.

Presentation of flags by Boy Scouts, each troop taking part, will follow. Prayer will be offered by the Rev. O. W. Roberts. (See CORNERSTONE page 6)

THE POWER OF THE ELEMENTS

The recent drought which threatened crops and pastures in this section, and the present dry weather which is causing all agencies to be called to relief of sufferers, call attention to the power of the elements and how little man can do to overcome or change them.

Not so long ago there was a slogan in vogue called "Back to the farm." Today the situation has been reversed. Two hundred farmers at Wilmington, Ohio, rode into town the other day and asked the county commissioners to give them some work, so they could earn money with which to support their families. Rain was only a dim, cool memory to them. Their cattle and sheep were thirsty. The sun had baked their pastures, dried up their crops.

The county commissioners immediately started work on some roads in order to answer the request of the men. Such a situation makes us realize how dependent we are on the elements. A man who owns land and cattle and horses is supposed to be established. But sometimes even he meets a situation which he can't face.

The ancient statement that the weather is the only thing which everyone has in common with everyone else, certainly has proved in the prevailing condition. Weather affects our dispositions, our pleasures, our activities, even our financial condition.

There is nothing that we can do about it. As yet no instrument has been invented which will blow up a thunder shower for a hot afternoon in August, and scatter June breezes about 7 o'clock on a wintry morning.

When we come up against a menacing weather condition such as the one which has prevailed this summer, we realize that wonderful as the inventions of man are, they are useless toys compared with the elements.

The range of human endeavor is almost microscopic when compared with the wide play of the wind and sun and seas.

Back at the beginning of creation a promise was made that summer and winter, seed time and harvest should not perish from the earth. Without rain harvest is impossible, nor can the soil be prepared for seeds.

However, we can do nothing specific when a dry sizzling spell grips the nation. There are hazards in everything, whether you are investing in the Wall Street market or watching crops dry up on an Illinois or West Texas farm. Life is pretty evenly divided in that respect.

COTTON AND UNEMPLOYMENT

A Midland land owner and farmer once remarked, humorously, "The cotton boll is the emblem of poverty." At this time, one almost believes that he was speaking the truth, with the low quotations of the daily market reports, and with the estimate of the 1930 crop, yet with all of its trouble and the anxiety it brings to the cotton grower, King Cotton still possesses a magic touch.

With the nation suffering from considerable unemployment, the south has found relief within recent weeks because of opening of the cotton picking season. For a few months, at least, those who would otherwise be out of work, can go from place to place, keeping the wolf from the door by picking cotton.

King Cotton still possesses the magic touch which releases a stream of gold—a stream which inundates the whole South. And by the time this seasonable activity ceases, unless our economists are as far from the truth as they have sometimes been, the full tide of prosperity will have returned to the land.

For some time mining activities have been below par in the western states.

Prices have been so low as to make an adequate profit impossible. In addition, the demand for base metals, because of the industrial depression that characterized the beginning of this year, has not been so great as was expected.

The mining industry, of course, will recover. Metals are vital to our progress, and it is believed that the market will soon return to a more normal condition. But the situation is interesting as an illustration of the fallacy of the reasoning of those who have been attempting to increase mining taxes.

It requires no seer to imagine what would happen had such efforts been successful. A temporary unfavorable condition within the industry might have become permanent.

While We're Passing Out the Medals!

Weather Experts Dampen Spirits of 'Rain-Makers'

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 13.—Except for local precipitation in the form of perspiration, or tears, you can't make rain. Even the storms of demands that something be done about it, the overcasting of a vast area with clouds of depression, and showers of appeals for aid to the government at Washington have been of no avail in abating the record drought and its accompanying heat wave.

There has been no rain simply because there was no moisture, according to the chief forecaster of the weather bureau here, Charles L. Mitchell. "One of the biggest factors in such a situation," he pointed out, "is the fact that the more rain a district has the more it is likely to receive in the future, and the less that falls today, the less is likely to fall tomorrow."

"Rain reaching the ground and bounds of "rain powder" from New Mexico, the powder to be sprayed on clouds from an airplane.

It still is widely believed that loud noises or explosion will produce rain, and many will point to the rains that have followed great battles in history. Even the government once had an idea that something of the sort might be true. So in 1891 Congress appropriated $9000 for experiments in rain-making. Most of the work was done in Texas under the direction of General Robert Dyerforth, as a special agent of the Department of Agriculture. He set off large quantities of dynamite and exploded hydrogen-filled balloons. Sure enough, a little rain did fall, but weather men knew it was already on the map and would have come down anyway.

Bombed the Heavens

In 1911 and 1912 the late C. W. Post tried to scare some moisture from the skies near Battle Creek, Mich. After one thorough bombing came a lousy shower that was hailed throughout the world as proof that rain could be jarred from the clouds. But the fact was generally overlooked that on the same day rain fell from the Pacific Ocean to beyond the Grate Lakes.

There is a way by which rain could be made, according to W. J. Humphreys who, as meteorological physicist of the United States Weather Bureau, once wrote a book on the subject. But he points out, that the trouble is with the engineering and economic phases of the problem, which would have to duplicate the method used by nature—the forcing upward of lower, humid air to high levels so that it would be condensed and fall again. Way back in 1841 such a scheme was actually patented. One plan was to build a giant tube about 1500 feet high through which the hot moist air from the earth would be forced into the cool skies. To check a rainy spell, it would have been necessary only to reserve the blowers and pull the chilled air down to earth!

A serious proposal by Australian scientists in 1903 was to install open pots of chemicals, which would generate hydrogen gas that would rise and in doing so create an upward whirl. But to have generated enough gas to cause a real current resulting in a shower would have taken the patient scientists, according to Humphreys, at least 280 years.

Putting the problem in more definite engineering terms, Humphreys calculated how much force would be necessary, on an average day, to raise the lower air sufficiently to result in a half-inch rainfall over the comparatively tiny District of Columbia. The result was 75,000,000 horsepower, which all would have to be generated within an hour.

Big Fires Cause Rains

Large forest fires are known to create such upward air currents, and it has been proposed that certain areas should be burned off so that some rain would fall. It would work. But such a method would be analogous to that of the boy who got rid of the rats in his father's barn by burning down the building.

Other methods proposed for rain-making range from piping the cold air down from the arctic to building screens which would catch and divert drifting banks of fog toward the continent. Some have wanted to put cargoes of ice in balloons and let them drift in the upper air, and others would scatter dust over the

The Town Quack

Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.

Before the rains fell here last week, some bird remarked that a wise crack about the weather came under the head of dry humor.

Do you remember way back yonder two or three weeks ago when something was said somewhere or other about tree sitting? Well, down at Beaumont a boy had been up for 500 hours when he was advised by his parents that they were moving to Kerrville. The youth was heart broken, but managed to stick to his limb until the folks agreed to leave the old grandmother there to re-fuel the tree sitter as long as he stayed up. When last heard from, the young ape-boy was still up, hoping school would start in Beaumont before it did in Kerrville.

An eminent author, who for short is called Eugenia Bankhead Hoyt-Hoyt Butt Lee, is quoted as saying "A woman in love has no conscience or judgment." From her long list

Almost any candidate has a chance in this weather. One in a southwestern state ran for senator on a platform which would have given a cow to every farmer in the state. He lost, it's true, by some fluke. But Alfalfa Bill Murray, who won the first Democratic gubernatorial primary in Oklahoma by a two to one majority and is likely to be the next governor, promises to rent out the governor's mansion and live in a garage in the back yard in case he is elected.

Illinois gazes pop-eyed at the unprecedented spectacle of a woman Republican candidate for the Senate running against a man with pink whiskers. To wit, Ruth Hanna McCormick and James Hamilton Lewis. The candidate with the pink whiskers demands a return of the days when a man could drink and see pink elephants instead of going blind and seeing nothing at all.

Dwellers on the burning prairies of Nebraska thought they were seeing double for awhile when two candidates named George W. Norris were found filed in the Republican senatorial race. The Nye campaign investigating committee is trying to find out whether it of names, Eugenia should know, if each one of them represents a marriage or divorce.

And now Jim Harrison is taking out on his vacation. Editors may come and go, bookkeepers and job shop managers may come and go, but the Town Quack goes on forever.

I'd like to be on a job like old Erasmus Tack, popular and nationally famous column writer in the Amarillo News and Globe. After clearing up the Payne case, he went to El Paso to look after Henry Ainsley, who is sick and can't write his column, announcing that when he got through and caught up with his sleep, he would be back writing his own column in the Amarillo papers. That's what I call a soft job. When he wants to take out, he takes out, and when he wants to come back, he comes back, and the public just sits and misses him and feels proud when he gets back. Not so with me. This column started last October, and I haven't missed an issue since, nor do I intend to.

was the heat or something less excusable which persuaded Grocer George W. Norris of Broken Bow to mix things up by filing against Senator George W. Norris. Fortunately a supreme court judge who had the benefit of an electric fan kept Grocer Norris off the ballot.

You get away from this year's primaries and elections and you find out that presidential talk is centering on a former partner in the House of Morgan, Dwight W. Morrow. Ten years ago anyone who suggested such a thing would have been crated up and sent away. During this kind of weather in Washington, however, it is commonly agreed that anyone who wants to come down here and live for four years can have the job for the asking.

The only beneficial effect anyone has yet noted from the hot, dry spell is that not a single government official for the last month has felt up to making any boasting statements about the national prosperity.

President Hoover himself was so wilted and defeated by the situation that instead of promptly naming a commission to deal with the Chileans he went off to the cool banks of the Rapidan.

M. M. Griffin, living in a two-story house in the north part of town, had just sustained a fire which wiped out all of his belongings.

The Midland Reporter published an editorial against passage of the proposed parcels post law.

Even in 1912 the famous El Paso political ring was a subject of vilifying editorials.

The story of an Indiana man, who had just bought his first automobile, a Flanders "20", was printed in the Reporter. On starting the machine the owner had it well underway before he discovered that his instruction book had blown off the seat and he did not know how to stop it.

The Beehive Bakery, in a display advertisement, boasted that it had just received a (load of flour and meal. "Come around and let us make us a price."

A foot note at the bottom of an inside page column said, "You know where or not your subscription is paid up."

An insurance agent, in his advertisement, published a list of citizens to whom his company had paid sickness indemnity.

A handsome south side residence was reported to have sold for the consideration of $1,500.

Driller Byron Robinson reported that he had brought in a well on the Henson place which was good for 400 gallons per minute. Total depth was 51 feet.

A two column article branded the proposed parcels post law as "a dream of socialism."

Basham Shepherd & Co., advertised spraying material for all kinds of fruits and gardens. A picture of half an apple into which a worm was eating his way served an attention compeller.

An editorial called attention to the fact that although the Reporter had been sending out statements of subscription accounts the results were "far from satisfactory."

A classified ad of Miller's studio was as follows: "Wanted to trade photographs for mlo maize cane, or young hens."

Oscar Midkiff, in from his ranch south, was still on crutches as result of his recently broken ankle.

The Reporter carried a story describing "a flurry of excitement" which prevailed after news was received here of the robbery by two highwaymen of the First National bank of Seminole.

Mr. Hainey, the assistant cashier, scoured $3,500, looked Mr. Hainey in the vault, mounted their horses and rode off west. The robbers had cut telephone wires between Seminole and Midland making it necessary to relay the call here by way of Lamesa.

Local Housewives' Choice Recipes

Hostesses often select as part of their refreshments some delicious cookies. Today you may use Mrs. W. S. Blackman's recipe for macarons.

Brown bread is especially good when served with vegetables and now you may use Mrs. W. W. Wimberly's recipe for bread.

Macarons: 3 cups of Kellogg corn flakes 1 cup of chopped nuts 1 cup of shredded cocoanut 1 cup of shredded cocoanut White of 4 eggs, beaten until stiff and fold in 1 cup of sugar and 1 teaspoon of vanilla. Add cornflakes, cocoanut and nuts. Drop on buttered paper and cook for 20 minutes. Keep the pan hot until the cookies are removed, if not they will stick.

Brown Bread: 1 pint of sour milk, 1 cup of molasses, 1 cup of sugar, 2 pints of whole wheat flour, 1 pint of corn meal, 1 teaspoon of soda, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1 cup of raisins. Mix the sour milk, molasses and sugar, soda and salt. Then add the whole wheat flour, corn meal and raisins. The mixture should be very stiff. Mix well and fill greased cans half full. Place lids on cans and steam for three hours. Remove lids from cans and place in a medium oven and bake for a half hour. —Mrs. Wimberly.

A MEXICAN REVOLUTION LEFT HIM BROKE. JUST A FEW YEARS LATER HE WAS A HIGH-SALARIED MOVIE STAR.

FAST SUCCESS STORY NO. 9 RAMON NOVARRO

His Spanish forebears conquered Mexico... won the country in ten brief years. But Ramon alone conquered America, conquered Europe, and all points east... in scarcely more than a camera's flicker. For Ramon gave the world a thrill!

And that's the tale of another young conqueror, OLD GOLD cigarettes. New England surrendered in just two months. "You win, OLD GOLD!" said the Middle West. From coast-to-coast the victory spread. And OLD GOLD in just one year became the country's fastest growing cigarette. OLD GOLD, like Novarro, offered the world a brand new thrill. Finer tobaccos gave a mellow taste. Better tobaccos ended throat-scratch.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR EL PASO GAME MAY FOLLOW INVITATION

Midland Men to Serve as Officials in Race Meet at Amarillo Aug. 30

OPENING GAME OF BULL DOGS TO GET HEAVY PUBLICITY

Invitation from 1,100 students and members of the faculty of the new Austin high school of El Paso has been extended, through Wilbur W. Wimberly, assistant principal and former Midland man, for Midland people to fill a solid special train and attend the game between that school

Negotiations were started today by the Midland chamber of commerce toward chartering a special train to carry a proposed Midland delegation to El Paso for the football game with Austin high school of that city September 27.

Rates for the train were asked, a tentative schedule being outlined by officials of the local chamber, with brief stops at Odessa, Pecos and other neighboring cities.

and the Midland Hi Bulldogs September 27.

Wimberly's letter was referred to as "invitation number one", with a promise of many more letters if local leaders do not "fall immediately for this special train idea."

Wimberly promises on behalf of El Paso citizens and civic organizations to meet Midland 75 per cent of the way in any publicity campaign, pledged the complete cooperation of the El Paso chamber of commerce, and said that the 50 to 100 former Midland citizens now living in El Paso will "boost this Midland day" through letters "to Midland relatives and friends."

First of Season
The game with the Austin high school team of El Paso will be the first of the Bull Dogs' stiff eight-game schedule, and in spite of the fact that the El Paso aggregation will be chosen from 1,100 high school students, Coach L. K. Barry and his eleven will invade the border city with determination to win for Midland honors that will live for years.

Local sport fans see in the idea of a special train an extraordinary opportunity for Midland to give moral support and backing to the local squad, to get better acquainted with the Bull Dogs as a football organization, to cement the school spirit more closely into the minds and hearts of Midland people, to advertise Midland before the more than 100,000 El Paso citizens, and to enjoy a holiday trip at small cost.

The Austin high school is new in El Paso, and will begin with the backing and full support of the better class of citizens. To say that the El Paso people want the new school to win its first game would be putting it mildly—they have no idea but to win it with a bang!

Coach Barry, with his seasoned veterans back on the job, his improved practice grounds and better equipment, and a team spirit far ahead of what he started with last season, will be probably better equipped to go up against the strong El Paso school in an early season game than any team in West Texas. Midland has everything to win, and the growing idea of invading El Paso several hundred strong indicates that every effort will be made to win!

BLOSS IS MANAGER TWO DAY EVENT OF TRI-STATE FAIR

Midland men will be officials in the race meet to be held at Amarillo August 30 and September 1, the event being staged under the auspices of the Tri-State Fair of that city.

Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the Tri-State Fair, has appointed Wm. Bloss of Midland as manager of the meet, Harry L. Haight presiding judge, and C. H. McMillan of Amarillo starter.

O. L. Taylor, former advertising manager of the Midland Daily Telegram, is secretary of the fair. Hawk, who has achieved a tremendous financial success for the fair organization, is now serving as president for the second term. In addition to the great "free gate" fair which he manages each fall, he has race meets, theatrical performances, athletic contests, rodeos, carnivals and other attractions throughout the year, each time building up a profit for the fair association. The fair is becoming one of the strongest in the state and the southwest. Hawk is a large stock holder, and is vice-president of the Midland Publishing company, and is general manager of the Amarillo News and Globe.

Enter Local String
Bloss will see to it that good entries of race horses from over the country will participate in the meet, taking a full entry from the Bloss-Buchanan stables. He will leave tomorrow for San Saba to interest race horse owners in taking fast animals to Amarillo.

Five races will be run on each of the two days, starting at 2:30 each afternoon of Saturday, August 30, and Monday, September 1, or Labor day.

Good Purses Up
On Saturday, the event will be as follows:
First race, purse $75, two-year olds to carry 110 pounds, three furlongs;

Second race, purse $50, cowboy race, quarter mile;

Third race, purse $100, three year olds to carry 106 pounds, older horses to carry 114, half mile;

Fourth race, purse $125, four year olds to carry 11 4/5 pounds, five and a half furlongs;

Fifth race, purse $150, four year olds and up, to carry 114 pounds, one mile.

Labor Day races are as follows:
First race, purse $75, two year olds, to carry 110 pounds, half mile;

Second race, purse $100, three year olds and up to carry 106 and 114 pounds, five furlongs;

Third race, Labor Day donation purse of $150, three year olds and up, to carry 106 and 114 pounds, five and a half furlongs;

Fourth race, Amarillo Derby, $150, three year olds to carry 106, four year olds to carry 114; one and one-sixteenth mile;

Fifth race, purse $100, four year olds to carry 114 pounds, one mile.

Facts Given On Growing Rabbits

By JOHN MILLS, In "Fur Animals"

Domestic rabbit raising is an interesting and profitable business. The rabbit furnishes nutritious meat for human consumption and fur used in the manufacture of coats, trimmings, hats and other articles of dress. It breeds and matures rapidly, being ready for market as broilers or fryers in eight weeks, and in this length of time hogs, sheep and beef are just getting started. The rabbit takes but little room, requires a minimum of capital and labor and returns start in ninety days from the date the doe is bred.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has just issued a report showing a decrease in the consumption of meat in 1929 over 1928. Beef, veal and pork all show a falling off, lamb and mutton show a slight gain. What part the consumption of rabbit meat has had to do with this showing is hard to say. However, of this we are sure, that the people of Los Angeles ate one million dollars worth of rabbit meat last year. Why shouldn't they? Domestic rabbit is all white meat like breast of chicken and contains more protein than beef and pork and is exceptionally wholesome and easy to digest. Markets are rapidly developing in New York, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and other large eastern cities offering unusual opportunities to the grower.

For many years the path of commercial rabbit raising has been strewn with blasted hopes, thwarted ambitions and failures. The readers can probably recall to mind some friend who started out with high hopes but finished condemning the business. Many such failures are traceable to the breeders themselves, who, in order to sell fancy stock at a high figure gave the novice some very poor advice. Many such people are still abroad. Most of the failures were from a lack of any authentic and reliable information on the subject. On these failures, however, a great industry is being built. Safe and sane methods have been adopted based on scientific research and experiments and something to eat and wear is being produced for an eager, market at a substantial profit to the producer. This is being done to such an extent that it promises to surpass some other lines of stock farming. The Government and some of the higher institutions of learning are endeavoring to supply the growing public demand of scientific and practical source of reliable information on the subject is that furnished by D. Monroe Green of the National Rabbit Experiment Station. Mr. Green for ten years was with the U. S. Department of Agriculture first as Animal Husbandryman and later as Rabbit Expert and while in that capacity conceived and directed the construction and policies of the

Government Rabbit Experiment Station

This is what Mr. Green says: As time went on it became evident that only a small number were receiving help in comparison to the number interested. This made me all the more anxious to render a greater service, as I realized that the thousands of people in all parts of the country who were starting to raise rabbits or would like to do so should have unlimited authentic advice, instruction and assistance whenever desired if they were to succeed and thus assist in the development of the rabbit industry.

There was little doubt but what this could best be done by mail through a school providing a practical home study course covering every phase of rabbit raising, killing, dressing, marketing and other subjects, supported by an Experiment Station where research and experimental work could be conducted and The National Rabbit Experiment Station was founded to fill this need. The Experiment Station studies the problems of the grower and conducts tests and experimental work in breeding, feeding, housing, increased production, rapid development and the prevention and control of disease that the most practical and authentic advice can be given at all times.

Having a knowledge of the subject, the next step is the stock.

A pair of high grade animals is worth more in the long run than the same money spend over a dozen or more scrubs or animals of just ordinary quality. Whatever breed is decided on, get the best. A scrub eats just as much, requires the same care, but does not produce the quality of mat or fur. When you have surplus to sell, you will find that people want the best and if you have high quality stock you can always command a better price.

The next logical step is proper housing. Rabbits must have comfortable hutches and for convenience these should be 2 1/2 feet deep, 4 feet long and 2 feet high. Hutches must be kept sanitary and so placed that the animals will have an abundance of fresh air and sunshine although they must not have the direct rays of the sun on real hot days. Mr. Green states that a hutch with five-eighths inch galvanized hardware cloth floor is best.

It is easier to keep clean and sanitary. Furthermore, it is a year round hutch and is adaptable to all climates. Rabbits can also be raised successfully in yards or colonies.

COACHING SCHOOL AT A. & M. DRAWS FAMOUS ATHLETES

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 13.—Names of numerous athletic stars, old-timers who have done their share in making inter-collegiate athletic history of the past and who are now taking active part as athletic coaches, are included in the list of those who have signified their intention of attending the first annual coaching school at the A. & M. College of Texas, August 18-30.

Advance inquiries from Texas, Arkansas, New Mexico and Louisiana indicate that the total attendance at the school will reach 200. The names of many of those attending the school will be familiar to followers of intercollegiate sports in past years. For former Texas Aggie stars, particularly, the school will resemble a home-coming while the University of Texas, Texas Christian and Baylor are other Southwest Conference schools that are expected to be well represented.

Former Aggies who are expected to attend the school include Heimle Weir, stellar gridster in 1922 and now coach at Vernon high school; Bones Irwin, tackle on the championship Aggie eleven in 1925, now coaching at St. Mary's University, San Antonio; Henry McClellan, former Aggie end who is now coach at Gilmer and who was the high school mentor of J. G. (Bull) Floyd, captain-elect of the 1930 Aggie gridsters; Dan O'Neal, 440-yard dash man at A. & M. two years ago, coach at Brenham high school; Johnny Pierce, Corsicana high school coach and formerly basketball and football star at A. & M.; Tommie Mills, captain and quarterback of the Aggies last year who will coach at Bryan high school this fall.

Other former stars whose names will be familiar to fans are Harry Phillips, guard on the Texas Longhorn team of 1928, now coach at the El Paso School of Mines; Joe Ward, Denison high school mentor who several years ago was a scintillating back with the Longhorns; Roscoe Minton, Stripling high school (Fort Worth) coach and captain of the Indiana University gridsters of 1919; Robert George, guard with the champion T. C. U. Horned Frogs last year; Blair Cherry, captain of the Horned Frogs in 1923, Matty Bell's first year at T. C. U.; Lil Dimmitt, Beaumont high school mentor and former Southwestern University star; Keifer Strickland, star cager at Baylor in 1923.

The advertising columns are "News" as much as the editorial columns. Advertising is packed with news. News of the latest styles, of a new food, of an improved household utensil, of a powerful and low-priced automobile, of trips to Europe and all parts of the world—and so on. Advertising has become "news," and people depend on advertisements for accurate information about things they wish to know.

Reading advertising is a useful and profitable habit. It saves time, by telling you where desired articles may be purchased. It saves money because advertised merchandise is more dependable as to quality and durability than non-advertised wares. And, advertising is accurate. You can trust the "news" that you read in advertisements. Read them as you do the editorial columns.

Advertising is "news" of the latest and best in merchandise, . . . keep posted by reading the advertising columns daily

EFFECT OF NIGHT BASEBALL ON BATTING AVERAGES TOUGH ON SCOUTS FOR MAJOR LEAGUES

By GAYLE TALBOT JR., Associated Press Sports Writer.

DALLAS, Aug. 13. (AP)—The major league ivory hunter never has had the softest snap in the world culling the marts for the championship...

which is the more promising player? Schinkel was released for failure to hit, yet the fact remains he was hitting .362 before baseball...

Although the Dallas star has shown the greatest improvement after dark, there are others who have found the innovation far from distasteful...

Among the leading clubbers who fell off under the strain of jumping from day to night engagements were Stuvengen, Waco first sacker, who slumped from .297 to .333...

Only two of the leading 10 batters at the halfway point have managed to hold their own or to gain since the lights came on...

These five popular flyers, participating again in the Women's Air Derby, will be in Lubbock August 21. They spent a few hours in Midland last year when the derby carried them over this route.

Lubbock's new municipal airport may be dedicated with the arrival of the score or more of women flyers.

FREUDIAN SAYS HANDWRITING IS EASILY CHANGED

PARIS, August 13. (UP)—Female handwriting undergoes marked changes after marriage, according to Doctor Pierre Menard, ardent Freudian and eminent French graphologist.

Commenting on the theory of the basic importance of the sex instinct in practically every phase of human conduct—the tenet so dear to the heart of Sigmund Freud—Doctor Menard asserts his conviction its influence has been noted on handwriting by carefully recorded experiments.

The French scientist recently made a collection of letters and postcards written by 18 young girls immediately before and after marriage. From the group he chose letters written by three subjects a week before and a week after they had acquired husbands.

So much for the mere graphic change. Doctor Menard, scientific student of character by means of handwriting, has undertaken to interpret the results thus gleaned. He contends that the graphic modifications noted indicate the following characteristics:

1. Increased regularity of writing.
2. Freer, less constrained movements (improved spacing).
3. Less egotism (smoother, less angular writing).
4. Increased activity, generosity, artistic sense (firmness of writing, longer finals, more graceful form of letters).

Judge Charles L. Klapproth will speak briefly on the history of Midland county.

Mayor Leon Goodman will give the history of the new court house, with details of the bond election, letting of contracts and other facts.

Deposit of old relics removed from the cornerstone of the former court house will be made by scouts from each troop.

Kenneth E. Ambrose, chairman of the scout council, will express thanks to county officials for the part assigned to the boys in officiating at the ceremony.

Deposit of new items, to be placed in the cornerstone of the building will follow, various citizens taking part. Scouts will deposit troop rolls and badges. Other relics may be placed by citizens. Hill To Speak

The stone will then be swung into place, and County Judge M. R. Hill will have the honor of applying the mortar to seal it. Following this ceremony, the judge will give a brief address, representing county officials.

A volume of the Bible will be deposited, prior to this, by Paul T. Vickers, representing civic organizations.

Boy Scouts will then about face, all officials on the platform will rise to their feet, and the scouts will give the oath and pledge of allegiance to the flag. The scout benediction will close the ceremony. During the delivery of the scout oath, a photograph will be made of the entire crowd, to be sent to newspaper and periodicals over the nation.

Sparks Named As Southland Agent

DALLAS, August 13.—The appointment of a second representative in Midland, in the person of W. J. Sparks of that city, has been announced here by the Southland Life Insurance company. Sparks' appointment was made through J. V. Whaley, district manager for the company with headquarters in Sweetwater.

The Southland Life is regarded as one of the fastest growing companies of the state, having since organization in 1909 reached the total of more than $158,000,000 of insurance in force.

WORST FISH YARN
LAMESA, Aug. 13.—Now I'll tell one. A catfish with legs and with its gills protruding from the side of its head was caught by a Lynn county fisherman in a lake north of Tahoka this week. The curious freak was on display at a local store owned by W. D. Shipley. People who saw it stated they believed it was a cross between a catfish and a water dog. The animal was six inches long, ow white color, with an unusually long tail fin and had four legs, each with four toes.

WRONG PLACE TO EAT
BLUFFTON, Ind. (UP)—Charles Smelzer, farmer of near Bluffton, suffered a broken rib and bruises in an unusual accident. He had seated himself in the shade beneath a wagon to eat lunch after hitching his horses to a wagon just ahead. Owner of the forward wagon, unaware that Smelzer's wagon was tied to his, started to drive away. The other team followed, drawing Smelzer's wagon over him.

MULES RILE COURT

LONGVIEW, Texas, (UP)—Several lawyers were threatened with a possible stay in jail during a trial for title and possession of two mules here Friday.

Evidence tended to show that J. A. Richardson of Hallsville lost two mules in January, 1929. The animals were taken up by Roy Whitehurst and kept until several weeks ago. Richardson sued for title and possession. Judge W. R. Hughes entered judgment for $82 in favor of Whitehurst and returned the animals to Richardson. Arguments, fast and furious, started and were ended with the court's threat to send some of the attorneys to jail.

HITS YOUNG DRIVERS

DENVER, Colo., (UP)—A series of automobile accidents in which drivers under 15 years of age were involved caused Charles H. Armstrong, secretary of state, to call attention of Colorado sheriffs to a law governing the age of drivers. Letters were sent out by Armstrong to the sheriff of each county in the state pointing out that it is unlawful for any person under 15 years of age to operate or drive a motor vehicle.
